Greater Midland County Fair Is Seen for Next Year

Cadet Fliers Land Sunday; Another Group Here Friday

SQUADRON THIRD IN 20 DAYS

Minor Accident As Cadet Damages His Ship

Another detachment of U. S. army cadet fliers will land at Midland Friday, it was announced when 16 of 21 expected ships from Kelly Field, San Antonio, landed at the municipal airport Sunday morning.

Four of the planes were damaged in Oklahoma Saturday, three of them having to turn back to their Kelly Field base, and the other, that of Cadet R. S. Butler, having to be crated for shipping back.

Ship Damaged A wire was dispatched to the commanding officer at Kelly Field asking for mechanics and repairs for the damaged ship.

Plane Nosed Over The accident happened when Cadet Anderson took his eye off the field for a bare second when rolling at 35 miles an hour after landing.

First Accident Here "This mishap is the first ever to occur at Sloan Field," H. M. Becherer, field manager of the port and a graduate of Kelly and Brooks fields, said.

Later in the afternoon, Lt. Robinson landed. He had checked the fliers out of Ft. Sill and was the last to take off.

REVIVAL REACHED PEAK SUNDAY IN PUBLIC INTEREST

Interest in the Rayburn revival program reached a high pitch Sunday. The Sunday morning sermon, dealing principally with world missions, was a stirring plea for missionary work by Christian people.

The evening service, one of the features of the entire program, referred to in preliminary announcements as the "Quaker meeting," had almost a packed house.

He emphasized the fact that Christianity is a self-identifying life, separated from the worldly life. The Christian's job is to bring the world up to Christ and not bring Christ down to the world, he said.

Following the evangelist's stirring sermon, scores of professed Christians re-consecrated their lives publicly, pledging themselves to eliminate worldly practices from their lives.

Roaring Planes Do Not Disturb Church

A large audience at the Rayburn revival was not disturbed by 16 army planes flying overhead Sunday morning. While the noise on the outside was deafening, the planes did not pass close enough to the big building to interfere with the service.

Just as the congregation re-entered the house and began singing the first song, two automobiles met in a head-on collision. Both cars were wrecked but no one was hurt.

BUDGET IS SOUGHT BY DIRECTORS

Complete Awards Are Announced For Saturday

A greater and more elaborate county fair is seen for next year by County Agent Frank Wendt, who will later in the year make a plea to the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce that the group secure funds through the budget to be used for this specific purpose.

"It is hoped that livestock will be shown in next year's fair," the county agent said. "This exhibit, together with farm, home, dairy and garden products, should make the affair attractive to all classes of the population."

Miss Genavieve Derryberry, home demonstration agent, made a statement about the work of women and girls' clubs. "There will be much progress seen during the remainder of this and the first of next year in club-work," she said.

Complete results of judging at the Saturday fair, at which Pleasant Valley ranked first, Cotton Flat second and Valley View third, were announced this morning as follows:

Club Boys Cecil Randolph, 1st; J. T. Bell, 2nd; Marshall Heald, 3rd. Cotton Murl Heald, 1st; Cecil Randolph, 2nd.

White House Made Ready For Visit Of British Premier

This picturesque room in the White House—with its ornate high-backed bed built for Abraham Lincoln—is to be occupied by Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain during the time he is the guest of President Hoover in Washington.

Company's coming—and the White House will be all dolled up in a new coat of white paint when Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain arrives for his visit with President Hoover.

NEW BRICK BUILDING, ALSO NEW GROCERY STORE ANNOUNCED TODAY

Addition of another large brick business house to the rapidly expanding new commercial area around the court house square is to be started Tuesday, it was announced at noon today by W. S. Hill, who with Clifford and Carroll Hill, and R. B. Cowden will let the contract tonight for a store building on their lots at the corner of West Wall and Colorado Street.

With the announcement of the new building comes also the news of a new commercial establishment, a large grocery store to be operated by H. J. Neblett and Carroll Hill in the new building.

Both Mr. Neblett and Mr. Hill are experienced in the grocery business, having been engaged in the same line here formerly under different connections, and their knowledge of the demands of Midland trade, coupled with their advantageous location, will mean an excellent business house for the city.

BACK TO THE MIDDLE AGES

A prominent Pecos business man, in a letter to heads of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, condemns the arrangement of a bull fight at Juarez as part of the entertainment for the convention to be held in October.

He commended the organization for its efficient work, but says that in sponsoring this bull fight, it is harking back to the middle ages. Here is some of his argument:

If a delegate wishes to go to Juarez and imbibe to the utmost of the liquid dynamite offered there, it is his business and no one will suffer but himself. It is his head which will ache in the morning. But the bull fight—several bulls will be brought into the arena where they will be tortured until they are wild with rage, then a Mexican with a long sharp knife will butcher these animals and the blood will flow as they are slowly done to death, with never a chance to save themselves. But first there will be some horses, good faithful animals, but blind-folded for this occasion, and several of them will no doubt be gored by the bulls, and they, with their bodies torn to remnants, will be faithful to their unworthy master's command until their last breath is gone. And for what? To amuse a few hundred Americans who will leave the place sick and disgusted.

LIVE AT HOME EXHIBITS

The five community exhibits at the county fair here Saturday were excellent demonstrations of how Midland County farmers can "live at home."

The list of products in Sunday's issue of The Reporter-Telegram showed that practically every kind of pay crop, fruit and vegetable can be grown here, and if all of the farms of the county had even enough of these commodities to feed the families on the farms, there wouldn't be much necessity for borrowed money in Midland.

Many farmers of the county are producing their own meats, vegetables and fruits, as well as dairy products and poultry, but the whole county needs to go stronger on "living at home." Those who saw the community exhibits Saturday will have a new idea for their farming activities.

DANGER IN THE HOME

Mark Twain's famous remark that bed was the most dangerous place one could possibly be, since statistics showed that more people died in bed than any place else, is called to mind by figures tabulated on the eve of the meeting of the Annual Safety Congress in Chicago.

These figures showed that of the 96,000 accidental deaths in the United States last year, more than 24,000 took place in the home. Only automobile traffic exceeded the home accident list as a cause of deaths.

Apparently, one might deduce from this that next to the automobile one's own home is the most dangerous place one can be.

What is quite obvious is that we are a mighty careless nation of people. The home accident toll could be slashed to an inconsequential figure if we were anywhere nearly as prudent and thoughtful as we ought to be.

ERROR GRAMS

In all seriousness we make light of it.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around.

SPECIAL WRITER SAYS BUSINESS OVER U. S. GOOD; LITTLE SUMMER SLACK

WASHINGTON.—Following an unusually active summer, business entered the early fall season confident that conditions will remain satisfactory throughout the remaining months of the year, says Frank Greene in his monthly business review in Nation's Business Magazine, published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

There was little slackening of industry during the summer months, he writes, adding: "This was especially true of the heavy industries, iron, steel, automobile, farm implements, machine tools and so on, all of which operated their plants right up to the beginning of fall at the highest levels of the season on record. The lighter industries maintained a fairly high pace, although some, such as cotton goods manufacturing, felt it necessary to curtail production somewhat to avoid piling up excessive stocks."

"As fall drew near, however, the textiles and other light industries were observed to be generally increasing their operating schedules, whereas the heavy industries reduced their activities somewhat."

"Distribution net wholesale and retail in August ran well ahead of a year ago, as was evidenced by the gains in mail-order and chain-stores sales and the record movement of revenue freight on the railroads."

"August business failures were the smallest for that month since 1925, as were the attendant liabilities."

"With industry trade and finance all reaching new peaks of activity it might appear that August brought nothing but good news, but this was not the case."

"Crops suffered badly from lack of rain in nearly every area except the southeast. Dry, baked soil hampered farmers in plowing for winter seeding, hydroelectric plants reduced their output—this, incidentally, benefiting the coal trade to some extent—and many cities, especially in the east, complained of actual or impending shortages of drinking water."

"Corn and other coarse grains suffered severely from drought during August and indications were that yields of those cereals would be much smaller than a year ago or than estimates in the earlier summer months seemed to show."

"The cotton crop deteriorated heavily in the western half of the belt, particularly in Texas, but in the eastern section, conditions were much better than a year ago, on two years ago, when excessive rains and storms damaged cotton, tobacco and other cash crops. The price of cotton showed improvement during August and rose at times above the level of a year ago. The indicated decline in the size of the crops, the generally good outlook for fall trace in this country and the settlement of the British cotton-mill strike materially aided this improvement."

"One effect of the reduction in crop yields may be a decline in railroad tonnage, both as regards the hauling of crops and the transportation of goods bought with the proceeds of agricultural commodities."

"Freight ton-miles for the first half of the year showed a gain of 6.5 per cent over the like period of 1928, while gross and net railway earnings for the seven months ended with July showed increases of five per cent and 15 per cent, respectively. These percentages of gain may be shaded somewhat when figures for the full year are available."

"The textile and other light industries appeared to be stepping up operations as the country entered the fall season, but it must be said that in nearly every line, activities in August, as in other summer months, were much ahead of a year ago."

"The silk mills ran at a high pace, deliveries of raw silk for August being 17.4 per cent above a year ago and the largest for any month in the history of the industry. Raw-silk imports showed a gain of 4.1 per cent over last August and set a new high record. For the eight months ended with August gains of 9.5 per cent and 8.9 per cent were shown, respectively, in silk imports and mill takings."

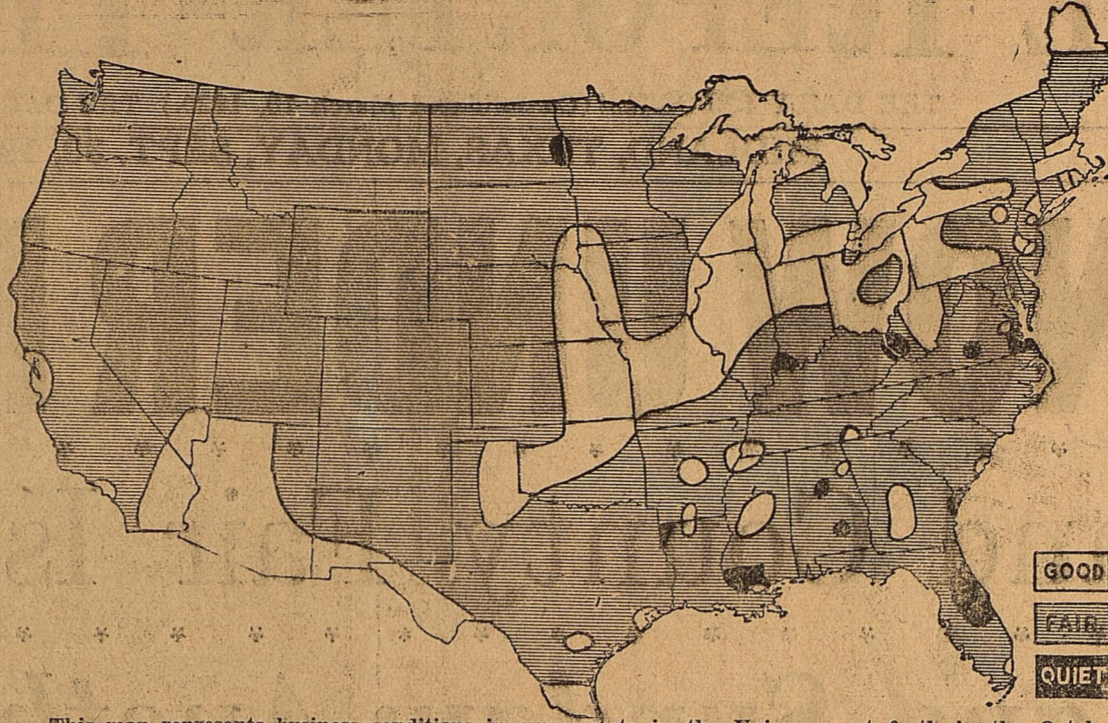

"Cotton-mill operations were curtailed somewhat during August and this was reflected in firmer prices for certain constructions. Trade in cotton goods was brisker after Labor Day holiday and the mills were said to be generally active."

"Woolens and worsteds have sold fairly well throughout the year with perhaps more emphasis on the latter textile, and woolen-mill operations and consumption of raw wool have run consistently above the levels of recent years."

"Consumption of raw wool for the first seven months of the year showed an increase of 12.2 per cent over the like period of 1928 but despite this increase, prices have not shown much improvement, owing to the heavy United States clip and large supplies elsewhere."

"Shoe production in July showed a gain of 6.4 per cent over the like month a year ago, while, for the seven months ended with July, there was an increase of three per cent. With this activity in the manufacturing plants, sole leather and some types of upper leathers were in good demand with prices firm and trading active."

"Building permit values in August showed a decline of 23.4 per cent from the same month a year ago, with New York displaying a drop of 45 per cent, while the cities outside New York fell off 18.6 per cent. For the eight months ended with August there was a decrease of 5.7 per cent from the corresponding period of last year. Brick production and consumption reflected the decline."

"Automobile production for August gained five per cent over a year ago and in the eight months ended with August there was an increase of 37 per cent the outputs setting new records for these periods. It seems certain that the year's production will far exceed that of any other year on record. Sales however, of new cars showed some recession as the summer waned, this being described as largely seasonal, and the used car problem continued a source of much complaint."

"The drop in car sales was echoed by a reduction in tire sales, and tire manufacturers, with heavy inventories, cut mill operations. Sales of automobile accessories held up better than did the movement of finished cars and tires."

"In August, which, it may be mentioned, had the same number of business days as a year ago and was, therefore, strictly comparable with that month, the mail-order houses displayed an increase of 30.6 per cent in sales, while the chain-stores showed a gain of 33.4 per cent over August a year ago."

"Sales of the two groups of retail establishments combined registered an increase of 32.5 per cent. For the eight months ending with August, mail-order sales rose 30.4 per cent, chain-store sales gained 27.5 per cent and the two combined showed an increase of 28.4 per cent. Department-store sales, as usual, tended to lag somewhat behind the other two branches of distribution."

"The whoopees of the cowboys vied with the blare of bands. As the parade wound its way through the streets the knights of the range with a penchant for roping lassoed their favorite from the street curb. A crowd greeted the galaxy of the champions as they doffed their big sombreros to the applause of the people on the sidewalks."

Mayor R. E. Thomson and W. D. Connel led the parade. Following were the color bearers, the Seventh cavalry band, and the Seventh and Eighth cavalry units.

Miss Eula Snyder, queen of the roundup, and her court received a big hand in their striking costumes. The queen's court and their escorts were composed of the following: Miss Pansy Jones, Alamogordo; Miss Gladys Richardson, Hurley; Mary Jane Stephens, Deming; Herndon C. Jones, Carrizozo; Miss Ruth Espy Fort Davis, Texas; Senora Emma Cuaron, Juarez; Miss Geraldine Coates, Marfa, and Miss Inez Marley, Roswell.

Next in line were the cowgirls, a business men's section, the Simmons cowboy band. Then came the cowboys and cowgirl contestants, all set for the stampee.

The galaxy of champion and top-notch contestants is the greatest ever assembled here for a rodeo and they kept down trouble between the cattlemen and the 'nesters.'

"Mr. Dixon and several others saw the country was bound to be in the hands of the nesters. He ran for sheriff on that ticket and was elected."

"The rangers were sent in when it became evident that there would be violence between the cattle owners and the nesters, and were there until things quieted down."

Three oldtime cattle ranchers had tried to keep settlers from coming into Hutchinson county and taking homesteads. This was cutting down the huge ranches of the cattle barons and making it difficult for them to feed large herds of cattle.

Bloodshed between the two groups was frequent and it became evident that something had to be done if the country was to grow and progress. The rangers took charge and the situation cleared up.

Words concerning sports and holidays are a stumbling-block to the Germans. Instead of translating the English into their own tongue, such words as "week-end" and "dirt track" have been adopted literally.

Allen Holder, Midland Roper, And His Horse In Colorful El Paso Stock Show

Allen Holder, well known Midland trick roper, and his mount, the famous Coondog, were in the parade that held the focus of all eyes Friday in El Paso as the first annual Southwest Range Stock Show and Roundup was launched.

More than 200 other ropers and riders were present. Picturesque as the rangeland ever was, the parade of the Southwest Range Stock Show and Roundup through the business district of El Paso Friday was a thriller for the eastern rubbernecker and chaps' whiskers for the westerner.

Contrasts of the old and the new were about as great as they could be, and the rainbow wasn't in it for color.

Bronzed cowhands from the desert country were decked out in their best paraphernalia, and the maids from the range country looked good enough for the heroine of a western thriller.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
© 1929 by NEA Service Inc.

Not many people know that the thing that swings our lives out of balance more frequently than most other things put together is fear in one of its forms. Specialists trace almost every complex back to it, pathologists look instantly for the "fear cause" in trying to straighten out mind affections—educators in child training lay all other things aside until they have convinced parents that first, last, and all the time, children must be kept clear of every form of fear. Now, fear is a big word. It's like sickness. There are dozens of kinds of illnesses—and there are dozens of kinds of fear. Roughly it can be divided into two classes. One is made of things that can be seen, or felt, or heard, such as water, animals, tramps, fire, punishment, pain, thunder, lightning, and height. These objective fears can be avoided altogether by using a little common sense when children are very little.

Combating Children's Fears Most parents are aware now of the absolute necessity of keeping these fears from ever having a beginning; also, if a child has unfortunately picked up an obsession, they've learned a lot about combating them until they are forgotten, such as getting him accustomed to the sight of animals by gradually showing him how kind they can be. The other fears are not so easy to deal with. New things—strange things—frighten some children into hysterics. Why, nobody knows. If a child is sensitive to new impressions, I should always take the precaution to prepare him, gently and without alarming him, so that any real shock may be avoided. It takes so little to upset a nervous, high-strung child.

MAC DONALD AND HOOVER MAY HAVE BIG QUESTION ON PROHIBITION TO FACE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(UP)—President Hoover and Premier MacDonald may find the international aspects of American prohibition a profitable subject for discussion while the latter is a White House guest next month. Well informed opinion, however, is disagreed regarding the likelihood of such a conversation between the two. But ramifications of the prohibition problem, as typified in the pending dispute over the Coast Guard's sinking of the Canadian rum smuggler "Im Alone," caused speculation whether the president and his guest would attempt to canvass the situation. Persons suggesting the idea do not pretend knowledge of the president's intentions.

Bridge And Dancing At Lake Home Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lake, 620 S. Colorado entertained with five tables of bridge Saturday night, at their home. Mrs. J. T. She received a box of bridge pencils.

Building In August Greater Than July

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 30.—Building permits in 33 cities of Texas reporting to the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas for August amounted to $9,802,000 against $7,834,000 in July and $10,654,000 in August, 1928, according to Bernard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau. Sixteen cities report gains, one was unchanged and 16 reported losses," Mr. Nichols said. "Abilene, Galveston and Wichita Falls show unusual gains over those in August last year. On the other hand, the losses were well distributed over the state. Only $18,000,000 worth of construction projects were let during August, a decline of 35 per cent from the month previous."

Ranges And Prices Better At Present

DALLAS, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Extremely dry weather during August, over North, Northwest and West Texas and some of the Southeastern counties of New Mexico, resulted in rapid deterioration of cattle ranges, but heavy general rains during the first half of September relieved the drought in practically all sections, the monthly business review for the Eleventh Federal Reserve District revealed. While cattle and sheep in some portions of the district had begun to shrink toward the latter part of August, livestock generally held up fairly well, the review says. Condition of the cattle ranges in Texas on September 1 was given as 75 per cent normal as compared to 85 per cent a year ago. The condition of sheep and goat ranges declined from 88 per cent on August 1 to 75 per cent on September 1. The Sept. 1 condition of cattle was reported as 83 per cent of normal and sheep declined 5 points during August. For the same month goats declined 6 points.

Business Review Is Read By 5,000

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—Subscribers to the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, now number approximately 5,000, an increase of nearly 20 per cent during the past year, according to Bernard Nichols, editor. This bulletin is issued by the Bureau to summarize the business, industrial and economic progress of the state during monthly periods. It is mailed without charge to individuals, firms and organizations interested in the various phases of Texas activities presented in the bulletin. Reports in the Review come from individual firms as well as from state, federal and international organizations. Among the sources of information Mr. Nichols has are 80 department stores in 26 cities of the state; 34 cities reporting building permits; 21 textile mills out of the 24 in the state; fourteen cities reporting bank debits; all cement plants in the state, numbering eight; Dun's International Review, reporting commercial failures; the secretary of state, reporting new corporations organized in the state; representatives of the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, who report to Mr. Nichols as the state agent of the bureau; all power and public utility firms in the state; various poultry associations; the Southern Pine Associations, reporting activities of lumber mills, and others. Live stock, fruit and vegetable shipments, cotton activities and farm reports are also included.

San Angelo Woman Gives Orgatone High Praise

"I'm Now In Perfect Health," She Says Among the many San Angelo people who have expressed their hearty and sincere approval of Orgatone, after putting the medicine to a practical test and deriving convincing results from it, none are more genuinely enthusiastic than Mrs. F. D. Addison, 316 W. First Street, wife of a well-known employe of the Oklahoma Natural Gas Company. "I certainly do give Orgatone credit for my great improvement," said Mrs. Addison, "for it has helped me over a nervous, rundown condition that has been with me for a good many years and for the last two years I have been going from bad to worse until I simply felt like I had no life left in me at all. "My stomach just seemed to go back on me entirely, for almost everything I tried to eat would ferment and form sour gas and give me such a puffed up, miserable feeling that sometimes I felt like I couldn't get another breath to save my life. "I couldn't sleep at all well at night and I became so badly rundown I was simply not equal to anything and for a long time I had to give up trying to do my own housework. If I hadn't heard about this Orgatone and given it a trial I don't know what would have become of me. "I am now on my second bottle of this splendid medicine and I can say positively and candidly that I have never felt better or stronger in all my life. I have gained in weight and strength and my stomach troubles have left me entirely. In fact, as completely as if I never had suffered with them a day in my life. "My food agrees with me perfectly now and I am not bothered with gas or nervousness in the least. I sleep just fine and if there's any reason to believe I'm not in perfect health I don't know what it is. I want to recommend Orgatone to my friends for it surely has proven a blessing to me." Genuine Orgatone may be bought at Midland, at the Midland Drug Company.—Adv.

DAVEY LEE LIKES NEW PLAY MAMMA NEXT TO UNCLE AL

Davey Lee found room in his heart for another favorite during the making of "Say It With Songs," Warner Brothers new all-talking and singing Jolson picture, now showing at the Ritz Theatre. Marian Nixon, his "play mamma" in the story, won her way quickly into the affections of the child and the result was a realistic mother and son relationship in the picture. All of this was the more remarkable because Davey has long since taken his "Uncle Al" who discovered him and who has never given up his great affection for Davey—very much into the family. Davey consequently has his "play mamma" and his "play daddy"—who is also his "Uncle Al" off the set as well as a very real mother and father. Perhaps a little good natured rivalry developed between Mr. Jolson and Miss Nixon over Davey's attentions, and it is so this only adds to the realism in the tender story, "Say It With Songs."

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

A man and a maid really should have $1000 to get married on and $50 a week to live on thereafter, if they want to avoid failure in marriage.

This is the opinion advanced by the New York Federation of Women's Clubs, after a survey made to discover why there are so many failures in the beginning of married life.

A properly furnished flat is a first essential, this organization contends. It budgets the $1000 nest egg as follows: Living room furniture, $339.50; bedroom, $263.46; bathroom equipment, $21.60; silverware, $53, china and glassware, $48.89; linen, $79.75; bed linens, $18.40; bed coverings, $27.25; kitchen equipment, $106.80.

This totals $969.74, leaving a slight margin for a honeymoon. EASY SAID, BUT— There is no question in my mind that young couples should have $1000 as a nest egg to begin marriage. But I am wondering how small a proportion of the great masses of working men and women ever see $1000 at any time of their lives and how many work all their lives for less than $50 weekly.

I have been acquainted personally with numerous young couples who have gotten married on their salaries, starting in with practically no furniture and gradually building up a home. There is something heroic in these young souls, it seems to me. Some of them make a fine go of marriage; some separate.

Most of these, however, had at least $50 a week salary. MONEIED MATRIMONY It is interesting to see a large body of women offer an economic reason for the failure of marriage. More often than the average comfortably-situated person will admit, lack of money is at the bottom of many failures in marriage.

It seems to me that this survey by the Federation should be considered in relation to minimum wage laws, government reports on what is needed for the average person to subsist decently, and general wage levels. The last government figures placed the living wage at $28 plus. According to the New York Federation's figuring, this should be much higher if the thousands receiving it are ever to have the hopes of successful marriage realized.

GRAVE HUMOR Something new in epitaphs appears on the huge granite tombstone which Dr. William P. Rothwell, of Pawtucket, has purchased for his own grave. "This is on me," reads the inscription, carved there by the request of the physician. Instinctively one smiles. That is exactly what the doctor wants. Having seen so much of sorrow and mourning in his three score years, this very human man desires to cause none of it when he goes. It is selfish, he argues, to want folks to mourn you. Why not bring a smile to their lips, if possible?

The inscription is unusually apt, the doctor's friends contend, for he always has been a genial man ever ready to entertain, and has a reputation for always reaching for the check.

Epitaphs have been too standardized for ages. Why would it not be appropriate to have the writing on one's tombstone mean some personal thing? And, why isn't it an excellent idea to try to leave something cheery?

Plan To Develop Mineral Resources

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas, addressed a group of officials of railroad, mining and other similar industries in Texas here Saturday morning. This group is seeking to form an active association for the development of mineral resources of the state. University representatives besides Dr. Cox at the meeting were C. J. R. Grossman, industrial engineer in the Bureau of Business Research, and Dr. E. H. Sellards, associate director of the Bureau of Economic Geology. Mr. Grossman is secretary of the organization, which held its first meeting here early in the summer. The subject of Dr. Cox's talk was the value of the Bureau of Business Research to such an organization.

The Circus Comes To Town

Sensational in the extreme are the new and novel features acts especially brought to this country for the annual road tour of The Al. G. Barnes Big 5 Ring Circus which will exhibit in Midland on Thursday, October 3, for two performances. Mr. Al. G. Barnes has for years been proclaimed by press and public as the most progressive outdoor showman in America. With this aim in view, and to keep faith with the circus goers of this country, he has engaged at considerable expense, more high class acts than ever exhibited at one time with any other circus. Among the many are The Flying Letourneaus, featuring Miss Babe Letourneau, the only woman doing a heel swing from a trapeze in mid air without the aid of a net; Klinkhardt's European Equestrian Midgets; The Davenport Family of Bareback Riders; The Famous Matlock troupe of Wire Artists; Miss Alma Taylor, featur-

SPANISH NATIONAL ASSEMBLY IS TO FACE A MOST IMPORTANT MEET SOON

By WILLIAM H. LANDER, U. P. Staff Correspondent.

MADRID, Sept. 30.—(UP)—History will be made in Spain this autumn when the National Assembly convenes, faced with the huge task of giving the country a new constitution.

The constitution that is to be supplanted is not very old—it was put into effect in 1876—but when the present regime came into power with the coup of Sept. 13, 1923, it decided that the old order of government must be junked, never to be brought to life again. Thus, two days after the dictatorship came into power King Alfonso acceded to the demands of General Primo de Rivera and suspended the constitution.

Primo de Rivera for more than a year has been engaged in the work of preparing the way for the termination of the dictatorship and the launching of a new machinery of government. He set 1930 as the goal for the achievement of this important step. The next few months are pregnant with potential development; a change of regime seems inevitable and the world is watching to see if it will turn to the right or to the left.

Projected Constitution

The first steps toward the enactment of the new organ of government have been taken. A committee of the assembly has drafted a projected constitution and a set of five fundamental laws. This was read in the National Assembly just before its adjournment in July and since then has been widely debated in the press.

One of the big criticisms of the government's procedure was the fact that the National Assembly was a body of picked men, chosen by the dictatorship, and therefore not representative enough to frame a new structure of government for the nation. This criticism was taken into consideration by the government, and soon there appeared a royal decree providing for the creation of 49 new seats in the uni-cameral assembly—eight of them to go automatically to all ex-premiers of Spain and ex-presidents of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate; and the other 41 to be given to various organizations and learned societies, for them to select their representatives. Among these, three associations of workmen were given nine of the 41 places.

The meeting of the assembly in October is awaited with much interest. Some of the political leaders in the forefront before 1923 may participate; others may refuse to take their seats. The very fact that a handful of key men may be present or absent from the sessions of the assembly when it converts itself into a constitutional convention may have a profound effect not only on the framing of the constitution, but on its acceptance or rejection when submitted to the country in a plebiscite.

Man, Scared In Midland When He Caught Corpse's Foot, To Ride Liner's Mastpole

Benny Fox, champion flag pole-catcher, and who was thus known until a race he staged with a corpse in Midland several weeks ago made him even better known, has a different record ahead of him.

He is to cross the ocean on a flag pole.

Fox, who for the past nine years has been a professional pole sitter, and who Friday terminated a 100-hour trick on a pole atop a hotel in Wichita Falls, has announced that in the near future he will perform a feat of endurance never before recorded in the annals of flagpole sitting.

Benny has received news that his agents have arranged for him to cross the Atlantic and return, perched on a high mastpole aboard the liner Leviathan.

He intends to go into training for the feat after filling an engagement in Amarillo.

Fox, who heard the news while still atop his pole on the roof of the hotel, admitted that it left him "kinda up in the air."

The story of the race with the corpse in Midland has well gravitated to the corners of the country. Fox arranged a desk in a Midland funeral parlor, believing the room to be a private office. He had not turned on the light.

Sitting on a small bed in the place, Fox started to work on a publicity sheet he was preparing. The wind blew the sheet aside and onto the bed. In reaching for it, Fox caught hold of a dead woman's foot.

The young man refused to fulfill the clauses of his contract, and left Midland that afternoon, claiming he was sick and that he would never come through Midland again.

MIDLAND AND STANTON LOOM AS DISTRICT GRID CONTENDERS

Southwestern Teams Have Hard Unofficial Football Games This Week

TEAMS BATTLE AT COWDEN PARK THIS WEEK; BARRYMEN SORE FROM COLORADO GAME

Midland High Bulldogs meet Stanton here Friday at 4 p. m. The game will be played at Cowden Park. The field is already in fair shape and very fast. It is expected that it will be put in ideal condition by Friday.

Midland fans who have heretofore regarded Stanton as a set up for the Bulldogs will be doing Coach Barry and his Canines a grave injustice if they presume that Friday's game will be anything less than a hard fought battle. Coach Irwin of Stanton, has a small squad but he does have some 18 real athletes on whom he has concentrated all his attention, and they are drilled to perfection. Two weeks ago Friday the Stanton bunch held Lamesa to a 6 to 0 score at Lamesa and showed remarkable form for their first game.

It is the opinion of the coaches and scouts in this district that Friday's game will have important bearing on the district championship and probably decide it. Those who really know football and who have seen both Stanton and Colorado play say that Stanton was as good against Lamesa as Colorado was a week later against the Bulldogs. In the Lamesa game, the Stanton crew displayed wonderful team work and had a very versatile offense. They passed long and accurately, punted well, and fought desperately.

The Stanton team will have had two weeks to get over their soreness and smooth out the rough edges and make ready to pour it on the Midlanders. Practically all of Barry's Bulldogs were crippled to some extent in the battle with Colorado. The backfield men are all suffering from charley horses and weak ankles and the strength of the line is pretty well shot. Barry hopes to have them all in there and fighting by Friday but will be seriously handicapped by not being able to hold hard scrimmages this week.

Barry has not attempted to pick out a "first string" so far but will probably do so today. Changes in the lineup will weaken the Bulldog offense to some extent due to the fact that the offense is rather complicated and several of the boys will have to learn the dope for new positions.

It is a well known secret that Stanton has long expected to cop the district title this year. They have an opportunity that comes but once in many years to a small school and they do not mean to lose it. The team, the school, and the fans have all the determination to win that such a group can have and the affair Friday will be a mighty struggle.

The Stanton fans are preparing to move the entire population of that city to Midland for about two hours Friday in effort to root the locals and encourage their team to out fight and out smart the Bulldogs.

The coaches and school authorities of both schools think the game will be close enough and important enough that all officials will be experienced professional officials from some other district.

The coaches have already agreed on 12 minute quarters and in accordance with a change in the rules this year which affects prep schools and high schools only, they have agreed that a man can be sent in twice in the same half.

marshal, Major Clarence Parker assistant provost marshal.

In the general order, the possession, sale or exchange of firearms and ammunition is prohibited within the affected area, except by permission of military authorities. Orders said that business property would not be disturbed, and another order prevents state rangers or the district attorney from interfering with calling persons before the military provost court. Anyone arrested for vagrancy will be turned over to the civil courts or to the military provost.

Governor Moody has announced the appointment of Clem Calhoun as Borger district attorney.

Sharkey's $100,000

Now that it can be told, it may be permissible to state that Jack Sharkey, or Paul Josef Cuckosny, received $100,000 for his recent fight with Tommy Loughran.

In the minds of all right-thinking citizens, this was too much money. Far too much.

It was unfair to charge the said citizens $26 apiece for tickets, and certainly Sharkey did nothing which would entitle him to $100,000.

How it came about that the Lithuanian received any such sum is interesting in that it reveals the character of the man who now is at the head of Madison Square Garden—W. F. Carey.

When Max Schmeling, misguided Teuton, ran out on his engagement with Sharkey, the Garden corporation still had the privilege of matching the Bostonian with anyone or no one.

An agreement which Carey had entered into with Sharkey called for Jack to receive $100,000 for his next fight. But the option which Carey held expired! Sharkey was a free agent. Madison Square Garden was free of any obligations toward the Lithuanian.

The Loughran Angle

When Carey finally found out that Joe Jacobs was giving him the "run around," as the boys say, he substituted Tommy Loughran as Sharkey's opponent.

This arrangement did not necessarily obligate the Garden to pay Sharkey $100,000—or anything like that sum.

It was obvious that Sharkey wasn't worth it.

But Carey is this kind of a guy. "Bill" went to his board of directors and told them that the Garden was likely to lose $50,000 or so on the Sharkey-Loughran engagement.

"Why do it, then?" demanded one of the more practical minded of the board.

"Well," said Carey, "we've kept Sharkey idle for some months under contract to us. His manager won't take less than the original guarantee. So we'll give it to him."

As a matter of fact, what happened was that Carey suggested politely—and properly—to Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, that $100,000 was a bit steep for the Bostonian's end of a fight with Tommy Loughran.

Jack wouldn't consider any lesser sum. So they paid. That's the kind of a guy he is.

AT THE AIRPORT

Lieut. L. Duncan, from Kelly Field, San Antonio, came Sunday to inspect Cadet Anderson's P-1 pursuit ship, which was damaged in landing, when a group of 16 planes from Kelly Field swooped to the field to re-fuel and have lunch.

Sgt. Wallace and Burt Wallace, flying a Curtiss Falcon, brought repair parts from Kelly Field for the damaged ship of Cadet Anderson, but the parts could not be used.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritcher landed Sunday and took Mr. Paul T. Vickers and Mayor Leon Goodman to El Paso. Mr. Richter is president of Standard Air Lines. He was flying a Fokker Universal.

A. C. Johnson, El Paso to Ft. Worth, in a Stinson Jr., monoplane of the Texhoma Aeronautical Distribution Corporation, with two passengers, landed shortly after noon.

HOUSEWIVES WARNED OF GERM DANGER IN CANNING

Miss Genevieve Derryberry, home demonstration agent, has issued a warning to housewives in the midst of the canning season, against the dangers of bacterial contamination in foodstuffs not properly prepared.

"Many women have been attracted by the large and relatively low-priced quantities of fruits and vegetables on the market to preserve them for this winter," she said. "That is a good plan, if the right preparations are taken. Preserved foods are wholesome when they have been safeguarded against the possibility of botulism or other bacterial growth."

"The experience of the Chicago Health Department shows that some illnesses and occasional death can be traced to subtle forms of food contamination. This can be avoided."

"What is required is a thorough penetration of the food by intense heat to render it sterile of germ life. This is effectively done by steam pressure cooking and canning."

"It is encouraging to note that this method is coming into general use through the efforts of food experts and leaders of various educational programs, such as the National Canning Contest. It has been instrumental in raising the general public health level."

"This means of precaution, in view of the canning season at hand, should assure the protection of family health when preserved food is opened later on for home consumption."

GREENIES PLAY AGGIES WHILE GENTS INVADE STATE STRONGHOLD; ALL STRONG GAMES

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 30.—"On to New Orleans," is the popular cry of Texas Aggie grid fans and former students of the college in making plans to attend the inter-sectional grid contest between Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggies and the Tulane Greenies of Coach Bernie Bierman in New Orleans, Saturday, October 5.

Reports from all parts of the state indicate virtually every section of Texas will be represented at the Tulane game. Special train is to be run from College Station to New Orleans by the Southern Pacific railway, making connections enroute with trains carrying fans from other parts of the state. Special coaches are to be run from several towns.

Particular interest is being shown by the grid fans from Houston and Waco and it is believed that a large number of ex-students from these cities will accept the invitation of the "old grads" in New Orleans to foregather there for the game.

The New Orleans special will leave College Station Thursday night, allowing the visitors plenty of time to take in the city before they return. A special coach carrying the Texas Aggie squad, coaches and trainer will be attached to the train. It is possible some of the students will make the trip, though the distance and time required will preclude any large attendance in this respect.

Just how many men the Aggie coach will take on the New Orleans trip, he has not announced but it is likely that almost the entire squad will make the journey.

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—With their first serious test behind them, the Longhorns are settling down to a week of preparation in order that everything will be in first class shape for the Centenary Gents when they invade Austin this week-end.

Without a doubt, the Gents are the strongest club outside of the conference that Texas will meet this fall, and this game will give the Texas mentors the last chance to see what their men can do under fire before swinging into the conference race.

Littlefield will have his entire squad of 45 men on hand for the Gent game, as the scrap which had been carded with St. Mary's for the B eleven was called off when the San Antonio school could not meet the eligibility rules asked by Texas. In the Saint game, he had only 24 men on hand to use in the fray, as the rest of the squad was in Abilene scrapping with Simmons.

State Looks Good There was all the difference in the world between the action of the Texas eleven in the Saint game and in the San Marcos scrimmage. Texas looked like a real football team Saturday, and broke forth with some good offensive and defensive work.

Cadet Fliers—

Cadet E. Patterson, Cadet D. S. Shipley, Cadet G. W. West and Cadet E. L. Anderson turned back to Kelly because of damages incurred in landing in Oklahoma.

Route of the flight from Kelly was through Dallas to Okmulgee, to Lawton, to Midland, to El Paso, to San Antonio, via Marfa.

Mrs. Louis J. Le Conte aided Mrs. H. M. Becherer in serving lunch to the officers, instructors and enlisted men, the latter of whom were a part of the class of 50 pursuit, 32 observation, 18 attack and 18 bombing pilots who will finish the Kelly class in October.

A detachment of the rest of the pursuit group will land at Sloan Field Friday morning, to make the third division to have landed in Midland within twenty days.

Sunday's flight landed 13 P-1 and three A-3 planes. The mechanics landed later in the afternoon in an A-3. This morning's visitor from Kelly flew the distance fast in a P-1 pursuit.

Shortly after noon Sunday, Mayor Leon Goodman and Paul T. Vickers, secretary of the chamber of Commerce, took off for El Paso as guests of Standard Airlines, Inc., in a large plane carrying Vice-President Richter of the line.

D. D. Johnson, flying a Stinson-Detroler monoplane for the Texhoma Aeronautical Distribution company, landed from El Paso enroute to Ft. Worth, at noon. He had as passengers Joe Reynolds of Fort Worth and J. McDuffee of Tulsa.

DETROIT, Sept. 30.—Martin Cohn, proprietor of the Study Club Cabaret, which burned with a loss of 20 lives 10 days ago, was charged with manslaughter in a warrant signed today by Judge Stein in recorder's court.

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 30.—(P)—Officers throughout East Texas were pressing the search today for 15 of 18 tubercular convicts, who Friday night tunneled their way to freedom from Wynne prison farm. Two were recaptured at Madisonville and one at Palestine.

The name "London" is derived from two Celtic words, "lyn" meaning lake and "don" meaning fort.

Economists and students of business say the retailer is an absolute essential in modern society.
 For many years it has been the prevalent belief that only the actual producer of raw or finished goods was an essential to modern life but analysis has proved that without the retail distributor—the grocer, the hardware dealer, the dry goods merchant, the filling station operator, the realtor, the automobile dealer, is essential to complex modern life.
 Now, since this distributor is essential, he must make a living. The only way he can make a living is to get a good break on local retail trade. When any considerable part of the population of Midland or any other community quits the local retailer and trades with some other retailer, the local retailer is forced out of business.
 Every time a Midland retailer is forced out of business, or has such a poor business that he barely makes both ends meet, the schools, the churches, the roads, the water system, the streets, and every other public supported institution suffers. These retailers pay a large proportion of the taxes.
 Hence, every time you get a little sore at the retailer and think his prices too high (higher than a catalogue price) just remember part of the money you pay the Midland retailer will go into your schools, roads, churches, streets, etc. What you send the catalogue man is gone forever.
