

PLAN STOP OKLAHOMA DRILLING

Second Head Made By Ector County Wildcat Monday

Cubs' Shortstop Errs, and the Athletics Win Game, 3-1

GAME WAS DECIDED IN 9TH INNING

Ehmke Fans Hornsby And Wilson With Two On Base

BULLETIN Errors made by English proved the undoing of Chicago in the first game of the world series, and the Athletics copped 3-1. Fox hit a homer in the seventh. The single Cub score came in the ninth, when the bases were loaded. Tolson struck out to end the hectic inning.

With a full throated roar, more than 50,000 rabid baseball fans rose as if by impulse in Wrigley Park, Chicago, today as Charley Root, foremost flinger in the National League, took the mound, wound up characteristically at the "Play Ball" of Umpire Bill Klem, and flung the first ball of the colorful world series past MacMillan, lead-off hitter for Connie Mack's Philadelphia contenders.

easily the greatest sporting event each year in America started. At the last minute, the wise old manager of the Athletics switched his pitching selection from Earnshaw to Ehmke, and his wisdom showed to Ehmke, and his wisdom showed to Ehmke, and his wisdom showed to Ehmke.

The stands were filled at an early hour. Ticket "scalpers" had been busy all night. Some of the row of humanity standing before the gate office openings had spent the night there. Many whole families brought their lunch, and ate it in the grandstand or bleachers in order that they might see the game.

Representatives of every known nationality were present at the series, and shop girl, street sweeper, motion picture star, big business executive rubbed elbows at the gate—all trying to do the same thing, get a place in the stands where they could see the classic which is more colorful than the Grand Prix, Saratoga, Churchill Downs and other classics combined.

The street in front of The Reporter-Telegram was lined with automobiles and baseball fans at 1:30 when the Playgraph board began recording the game.

Crop Estimate Is 14,915,000 Bales

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A cotton crop of 14,915,000 bales this year was forecast today by the department of agriculture.

The condition of the Texas crop was estimated at 47 per cent and production was estimated at 3,950,000 bales. The department said the crop condition generally is 55 per cent of normal.

The census bureau today announced that 5,905,650 running bales of cotton have been ginned prior to October 1. Texas ginnings are 2,130,179 bales.

The department of agriculture's report said that "crop development in Texas and Oklahoma has brought to light small open bolls, also a small number of young bolls on plants which could benefit from early September showers."

Cars Damaged In Collision Today

Mrs. Harry Sadler sustained minor bruises when her car overturned, this morning about 9 o'clock, in a collision with the automobile of W. D. Godby.

The accident occurred at the corner of Texas Avenue and North Loraine. Both cars were bent up from the sudden impact, but although the Ford sedan driven by Mrs. Sadler was turned over, only one glass was broken. Mr. Godby took Mrs. Sadler to the Thomas Hospital, but she was found not to be seriously injured.

Midland Hi Versus Rankin Here Friday

The Midland High school football team engages Rankin's grid squad at Cowden Park, Friday afternoon at 3:30, announcement from the office of the superintendent of Midland schools, W. W. Lackey, said.

Friday was an open date. The Midland team has played only one district game, that with Stanton last Friday. Midland lost, 15-0. The week before Midland lost to Colorado in an unofficial game, 6-0.

Winborne Catches 50-Pound Catfish

One hundred and fifty pounds in five fish!

This would have been today's best fish "story" had it not been for the fact that the fish were exhibited. John Winborne, Lynn Butler, Elmer Strawn and Jack Pirtle went to Palaros, colorful Mexican village to the east of Chihuahua City. A peculiar hunch that sometimes is provident to sportsmen told them not to carry much load in the way of rations, that they were to come back with their cars' running board heaped with fish.

And they did. The first night on the Rio Grande netted 150 pounds of catfish. Winborne caught the 50 pounder on a trout line. Throw lines were also used.

Bait used was crawfish, bought at Big Spring. "A peculiar thing," Winborne said, "was to be seen in the way the crawfish lived. We kept them here a night before leaving for the border, fished with them two nights, then threw away live crawfish."

Greatest Airplane Not To Visit Here

Contrary to announcement of Thomas Fowler, pilot of a Universal Airlines, Inc., trimotor Fokker, who landed here September 28, the new thirty place F-32 Fokker, world's largest land plane, will not land in Midland within the next few weeks, a letter received from W. C. Canby, assistant to the vice-president of the airline, said.

The great plane was formerly announced as ready for a tour over the northern transcontinental air route to the west coast, where it would be exhibited before taking the southern route back to the east coast, which route would bring it through Midland where landing had tentatively been arranged.

The letter was in reply to formal invitation of the chamber of commerce.

"When the ship is ready to begin a series of visits the route will be arranged so as to give Midland due consideration," the letter said.

Hoover, MacDonald Discuss Peace Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(UP)—A general suggestion giving practical application to the Kellogg Peace Pact, disposing of freedom of the seas, is an issue understood today to be figuring in the discussions of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald. It was understood today that an important statement concerning the discussions will be forthcoming within the next 48 hours, giving an outline of conclusions reached.

MacDonald returned from the British embassy luncheon with the Canadian minister today.

STORAGE IS SHIPPED TO PENN WELL

Impossible To Make Estimate Yet On Production

With the eyes of the oil fraternity on the Penn-Humble wildcat on the Kloh-Rumsey lease in Ector County, 15 miles west of Odessa, material is en route for three 1,000 barrel storage tanks which will be erected with all possible speed so that the well can be given a test.

Another head was made last night at 8 o'clock, although it was impossible to estimate the number of barrels of oil, according to Midland oil men.

The first head was made Monday morning, when within 10 or 15 minutes, from 150 to 200 barrels of oil flowed, being thrown over the top of the derrick.

The hole cleaned itself out when the first head was made, and it is not known how much oil rose in the hole thereafter as the bailer has not been run into the well.

Although they are expecting a comparatively good well, local oil men discount the fact that it is as large as was reported in daily papers today. No orders will be given for drilling deeper until the storage is provided.

The test is located on section 7, block 44, township 3-south, Ector County, 2,640 feet from the east line and 330 feet from the south line of the section.

Reserve Standing Space For Series

"X" marks place where body was found" did not work out on Missouri street in front of The Reporter-Telegram today.

Today's equivalent should have to read, if explanation were necessary, "X" marks place where Vice-President Arthur Johnson stands.

The baseball executive of the West Texas League wants to see the World Series baseball games played on the Playgraph board of this newspaper. He came to the office early this morning and inquired facetiously "to reserve standing room."

The printer's devil, accordingly, went out and marked the "X" in a large circle. He wrote the name of Johnson in characters legible to every passing automobilist.

Tourist Travel To West Coast Gaining

Winter tourist traffic over the Broadway of America has already started, according to J. H. Jamieson at El Campo Moderno. He says there are 100 or more cars a day passing through Midland carrying tourists from the east who will spend some of the winter months on the west coast. They declare that the northern routes are already experiencing cold weather, while they can travel over the Broadway of America in comfort almost any time of the year, Mr. Jamieson says.

Little Theater Is Getting Members

Mrs. W. H. Sloan is the first subscribing member of the Little Theatre this year, it was learned this morning when season ticket sales were checked.

With the initial production, "The Whole Town's Talking," well under way, it is expected that a drive to be initiated next week for membership will result in several hundred new members.

Colorado State Prison Riot

An aeroplane picture of the Colorado state prison at Canyon City made while it burned. The prison was set afire by rioting convicts, who made a bold attempt to escape. The rioting ended only after seven guards and six convicts were dead. The guards were cruelly murdered and four of the dead convicts committed suicide.

Midland Men Fly To Opening Of Port; Write Communistic Flight Log Enroute

Midland aeronautics had a great day Sunday when the Standard Airlines, Inc., airport was officially dedicated at El Paso. H. M. Becherer, field manager of the Midland Municipal Airport, K. E. Ambrose, chairman of the aeronautics committee of the chamber of commerce, and "Dusty" Waller, manager of Hotel Scharbauer, flew to the opening, distributed colorful ribbon badges with the Midland imprint on them, made arrangements with aeronautical journals to print Midland air news, met nationally and internationally known figures in the flying "racket," and talked over a radio hook-up of Midland's eminent position as the "Air Center of West Texas."

Range Conditions Good Near Midland

W. B. Hale of Abilene, owner of a ranch southwest of Midland, was here Monday looking over his property. He went out with Bill Bryant, whose ranch lies nearby, and on his return to Midland said cattle and range conditions were the best he had seen for a long time.

Ira F. Lord, representing the Midland Chamber of Commerce, is leaving this afternoon on a ten day trip to farming communities of Texas to give out literature and to spread information about Midland County's farming opportunities.

He has crop exhibits to show these who are interested, and will give full information about the low priced farm lands.

Although Mr. Lord did not give his full itinerary, he said he would go first to Rannels County and would follow out a course to communities where substantial farmers may be interested in seeking a new location.

Midland Men To Lend Their Sons

As a result of the question of how men of the county might get boys "for the night" in order to be qualified for entry to the "Father and Son" banquet on the night of Oct. 17, Claude Crane and Fred Wemple have been cited the inquisitive for reference.

Each of the men is reported in city census statistics as having enough sons for lending other men not so fortunate.

RANCH LEASE AND CATTLE SALES IN MIDLAND COUNTY

A. J. Skinner, Midland ranchman, has leased 20 sections of the Jax M. Cowden range in Crane county, and plans to stock it for the winter, it has been reported here.

Sale of 44 cars of steer and heifer yearlings from the Clabberhill range is reported to have been made by Ellwood and Arnett to Roy Williams of Amarillo, the heifers being shipped to Dalhart and the steers to winter pasture near Elk City, Oklahoma.

Fifty Who Landed Here To Get Wings

When 119 students of the Army Air Corps at Kelly Field, San Antonio, are graduated October 12, 49 cadets who have landed in Midland within the last month with cross country flights will receive their wings.

The class, the largest to be graduated since the close of the great war, includes 47 West Pointers.

The West Pointers, who are second lieutenants, will be transferred to the air corps, to increase the number of pilots needed in the five-year air expansion program. The remainder will be given reserve commissions and 57 of these will be given active duty.

Handicapped by a lack of funds to provide for qualified pilots, the air corps has been confronted with a shortage of pilots under the program which calls for 1,650 regulars and 550 reserve pilots. Many pilots have finished the flying course and gone into commercial flying.

In the last 16 months, 370 pilots have been turned out. Despite this, the air corps has only 1,005 flying officers and 87 officers undergoing training, although the program calls for 1,237 active flying officers at this time.

Under a new regulation, however, future graduates of the advanced flying school will remain in the service two years to fill out the requirements of the program.

Air corps headquarters announced that a progressive trend had developed in the number of students graduating at the advanced flying school which "indicates not only that a superior class of students are now entering, but that constant improvements are being effected in methods of training."

Piano Is Bought For High School

The Board of Education has purchased the Mrs. Foy Proctor Bush and Lane piano to be used by the music classes in the high school. This is the piano which has been used in the laboratory meeting, and C. W. Pos' of the Texas Music Company recommends the instrument as one of the best second-hand pianos to be found anywhere, the instrument having been well cared for and being now in good condition.

The instrument was bought at a low figure by the school authorities. The music department in the high school has enrolled over 100 pupils, and will ask for one whole unit of credit from the State Department this year. Miss Trna Solomon, who is in charge of the department, is pleased with the progress of her work, and with the addition of this piano for her department.

Hold 19 In Jail At Stinnett Today

BORGER, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Nineteen persons, including five suspended city and county officials, are held in the county jail at Stinnett today under general order No. 6, victims of a dragnet thrown around Borger nine days ago.

Federal agents today are tightening a net around more than a dozen persons who are believed to form the largest criminal conspiracy in the history of the Panhandle. The evidence has been gathered by undercover agents for more than two months. All 19 are held without bond.

FLUSH POOL OPERATORS IN ACCORD

Would Curtail All Operations Until End Of Year

TULSA, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A plan to curtail the production of oil in Oklahoma for the rest of the year was approved unanimously by the flush pool operators of the state in a harmonious meeting here today.

The plan is the outgrowth of a conference which was begun Monday by operators of the Oklahoma City, East Earlboro, Logan County, Greater Seminole, Allen Dome, Sackatawa and Pearson St. Louis pools, the flush pools of the state, who seek a plan to limit production to the estimated needs for the rest of the year.

Forecasts of general optimism for the future, tempered, however, with notes of conservatism, were given by those at the helm of the industry. Several factors entered into the promising predictions, outstanding among them being the spirit of cooperation which has developed among oil companies in conservation and stabilization.

Utilization of oil pools, a new plan inaugurated to stop wild drilling campaigns, was described by the American Petroleum Institute head as "the hope we have for permanent stabilization." Twenty-five unitized operations are being carried on the Mid-Continent field, he said. Under the arrangement, companies holding leases in a compact area join together in drilling development after the first well has been brought in sharing proportionately with their acreage in the costs and in the production. In this way only one well is drilled at a time, doing away with mad drilling scrambles.

Inspection Blanks For Fire Prevention

Fire Prevention Week has started with activity on the part of speakers, school children, teachers and parents.

Claude Crane, member of a committee appointed by the city council to advertise the necessity for cleanliness and subscription to safety factors, made four speeches in the city schools Monday, as well as a talk to assembled workmen at the Atlantic tank farm.

Home inspection blanks were distributed this morning to school children. These, after they have been signed, will be turned in for a tabulated report to the committee in charge of fire prevention.

NEW OIL FIELD DISCOVERED

With the discovery of oil in the Penn well west of Odessa, another potential field has probably been brought to the attention of the oil fraternity.

Within the past few months, since the Crane, Winkler and Lea County fields have been proven, two new fields have been discovered in Pecos County, two in Ward County, additional territory has been proven in Lea County, and now comes a new area in Ector County.

These new pools just serve to bear out the prediction of heads of major companies that the development of the West Texas territory would last for from ten to thirty years, and that after that it would probably be on the basis of steady production for years to come.

CHILDREN TAKE THE LEAD

Results from publicity on the plans for Fire Prevention Week show that school children of Midland are taking the lead in observing it.

In the fire prevention poster contest, hundreds of children were at work yesterday making their drawings to submit for the prizes.

The educational value of this contest is more than one would think at first. While these children are searching for ideas to be used in their drawings, they are absorbing knowledge of the ravages of fire and are thinking of means of prevention.

If adult citizens of Midland would give even a fraction of the thought the children are giving to fire prevention, Midland's good fire record would be still better, and fire losses would be reduced to the minimum.

Temporary Postal Positions Open

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced that it will receive applications until November 2, 1929, for certain temporary positions in the Bureau of the Census in Washington, D. C., in connection with the Fifteenth Decennial Census, according to Miss Elma Graves of the postoffice in Midland.

The positions for which examinations are to be held are junior clerk, junior calculating machine operator, and junior tabulating machine operator, with an entrance salary of $1,440 a year, and under eard-punch operator with an entrance salary of $1,260 a year.

These examinations are open to all citizens of the United States, both men and women, who meet the requirements.

It is expected that a large number of appointments will be made. The length of service will probably range from one to two years in most cases but in no case will it extend beyond December 31, 1932.

Full information regarding these examinations can be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board at the post office or customhouse in any city, or from Miss Elma Graves at the local post office.

"RED-HEAD" JOINS CIRCUS

A genuine taste of the real life of a circus performer was provided for Clara, Boy in her latest, all-talking Paramount release, "Dangerous Curves" which comes to the Ritz Theatre today and Wednesday. Miss Bow moved her dressing headquarters to "Clown Alley" which is circus argot for the space between the trunks in the clown tent.

She plays the part of an equestrienne and a female clown in the program. An entire circus unit of 200 performers and "big top" employees was used in the sequences of the picture. Richard Arlen is Miss Bow's leading man in the picture. He appears as a tight-rope walker.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

As an "investor" in the boyhood of your community you are naturally interested in receiving dividends on your investment. Your dividend will not be payable in dollars and cents but rather in character development in the boys of your community. You may receive your dividend every day by watching these boys who are taking part in the Boy Scout program and seeing them developing the qualities that make for good citizenship.

The ultimate aim of the Boy Scout movement is to develop character in boys and train them for citizenship. This end is reached by means of a series of appealing tests which develop a boy physically, mentally and morally, and by means of which he may advance in rank in the movement, receiving for each rank a distinctive badge. The entire program however is founded on the Scout oath and the Scout law which every boy upon becoming a Scout must learn and promise to live up to in his daily life.

The Scout oath is: "On my honor I will do my best, 1. to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout law; 2. To help other people at all times; 3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

The Scout law is composed of 12 laws as follows: "1. A Scout is trustworthy, 2. A Scout is loyal, 3. A Scout is helpful, 4. A Scout is friendly, 5. A Scout is courteous, 6. A Scout is kind, 7. A Scout is obedient, 8. A Scout is cheerful, 9. A Scout is thrifty, 10. A Scout is brave, 11. A Scout is clean, 12. A Scout is reverent." Surely there could be no better rules of life for boy or man.

At the present time there are three Boy Scout Troops in Midland with a fourth troop being organized at the present time. The troops already in operation are Troop 51 of the Methodist Church of which Rev. Stanley Haver is scoutmaster; Troop 52 of the Christian Church of which G. W. Breneman is scoutmaster; and Troop 53 of the Presbyterian Church of which Rev. Thomas D. Murphy is scoutmaster. The new troop is being organized by the Baptist Church and Claude Crane will be scoutmaster.

These four troops will be adequate to take care of the boys of Midland and your cooperation is requested in giving every boy in Midland who is of Scout age, 12 years or older, an opportunity of becoming a Scout and receiving the benefits of the wonderful scouting program.

Midland is a part of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, which has supervision over 15 West Texas counties. The Council headquarters is at Sweetwater but in order to better serve the field the Council has been organized into five Districts with an Administrative Center in each district. These centers are as follows: Midland, Big Spring, Colorado, Sweetwater and Snyder.

Each Administrative Center is or will be completely organized with all officers and committees necessary to promoting and supervising the work in the district. The officers of each district are members of the Area Executive Board which is the governing body of the council. This plan of organization gives Midland as much voice in determining the policies and plans of the council as any city in the council.

Officers of the local organization are as follows: Kenneth A. Ambrose, general chairman; W. I. Pratt, vice-chairman; Homer Rows, secretary; Committee chairman: B. G. Grafa, finance; B. Frank Haag, court of honor; John P. Howe, educational publicity; W. I. Pratt, civic service; David M. Ellis, reading; Ralph Bussey, leadership training; J. E. Hill, camping; and Claude Crane, troop organization. These men compose the executive committee of the Midland district and are responsible for "Scouting activities in the district."

A. C. Williamson is Scout Executive of the Buffalo Trail Council and a representative of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America is responsible, working with and through local Scout officials, for the promotion and supervision of Scouting within the limits of the Buffalo Trail Council. Mr. Williamson became executive of the Council August 1, and since that time has devoted, and will continue to devote, a generous share of his time to Midland but the final success of the Scout movement here depends on each of us.

Your support financially is helping to make possible for our boys this wonderful program of scouting. Your first step is to be a boyhood member.

W. E. AMBROSE, Local Chairman. H. W. ROWE, Secretary.

BOY'S LEGS SERVE AS BAIT TO WISCONSIN MUSKELLUNGE

COUDERAY, Wis., Oct. 8.—(UP)—A pair of bleeding legs belonging to five-year-old Biddle Houlton bore witness to the prize "fish story" of the season here.

Biddle's screams from the pier where he sat dangling his feet in a lake brought his father to his side in time to frighten away a large muskellunge that was biting the boy's legs.

On the World's Airways

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD United Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(UP)—The country has been promised "flying nurses" to attend its ill in peace and war.

This promise was made by the Registered Nurses' Aviation Association of the Civil Air Corps of the U. S. A., an organization having headquarters in Chicago and members in eight states. They are banded together to learn to fly their own planes and educate the public to appreciate the importance of fast air transportation in emergency cases.

In a statement of its plans the association pointed out that had nurses active at the scene of the Mississippi flood disaster known how to fly, a considerable saving in time and money would have been effected in relief work.

They also mention the important service a nurse may render by reaching seriously ill persons in isolated places by plane.

Members of the organization already have begun their study of aviation and expect soon to be competent pilots.

Miss Ruth Nichols, only woman flier in America to hold the coveted transport pilot's license for both land and sea planes, has just completed a nation-wide tour of 32 cities in 45 states. Her journey's totalled 12,000 miles. This is said to be the longest solo tour ever made by a woman.

Her jaunt was made in the interest of the aviation country club movement, long established in England, but just now gaining hold in the United States. Miss Nichols was selected to "sell" the idea to socially prominent people in the various cities visited, because she is an aviation enthusiast who files for love of the sport.

Her tour resulted in the organization of clubs at Washington, D. C., Memphis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Louisville, and Pittsburgh.

Several of these aviation country clubs now are functioning, notably, one located near New York City. Their aim is to give air-minded people a gathering place where they may learn to fly and meet others who share their enthusiasm for aviation.

Military leaders have shown marked interest in development of these clubs. They believe civilian pilots who could fly military planes without much additional instruction are of great value to the national defense.

The business of exporting airplanes to South American and Asiatic nations who are just now beginning to buy modern types is becoming an increasingly important one. Recent reports from the Commerce Department show the United States is obtaining a large part of this trade. This was corroborated by the announcement from the Ryan Aircraft Corporation that it has sold 30 Ryan biplanes in foreign countries in 18 months.

Superiority of performance of American planes and their simplicity of construction which allows them to be piloted and serviced by comparatively inexperienced men were advanced as reasons for the popularity of ships made in this country.

While some of the European manufacturers have placed emphasis on speed, American plane-makers have striven for ease of handling and a high safety factor, according to informed opinion in aeronautical circles.

The University of Colorado has a "flying coed." Her name is Miss Grace Joseph and she is reputed, by the use of a plane, to rise at 7 a. m., and attend an 8 o'clock class at the University in Boulder which is 30 miles from her home.

HUNTERS AFTER DUCKS FIND THAT MOOSE IS AFTER THEM

RICE LAKE, Wis., Oct. 8.—(UP)—The tale of two hunters who went after ducks only to have their car nearly wrecked by a big moose was told here recently.

The hunters were Dr. A. S. White and Ray Fitch who displayed their damaged automobile as proof of their story. The men were driving along an untraveled highway, they said, when a giant moose jumped from the side of the road and ran head on into their car.

The windshield of the car was broken, one headlight was torn off, a hole was gouged in the top and the radiator was punctured in the peculiar accident. The moose rolled from the hood of the car and disappeared in roadside undergrowth not seriously hurt.

That Brutal Overseer Roasts in Hades! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Wise legislation has halted the ancient prejudice that dictated the exploitation of child labor for selfish gain. Guided by AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE it has routed greed. No longer are little children forced into slavery.

"toasting did it"

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Love is pretty terrible when a thousand or so miles make it long distance. Ask Nick Stewart, he knows. Sue Carroll tramped down Arizona ways with "The Lone Star Ranger" kumpany. Knick, being "between pictures," decided he'd chase down and say hello.

Mr. Fox, however, N. G. ed (no good-ed) the idea. Nick tried a second time. Mr. Fox nodded okeh. Then it rained; sheets of rain. Sue wired Nick not to come as cloud-bursts had washed away the railroad tracks. Undaunted, Nick made a third attempt. He wrote Sue he was coming sure as fate. Sue had to wire don't, as the kumpany started inland for scenes the next day and would camp some 90 miles from the railroad.

Nick has been plenty disconsolate these past few weeks, but it won't be long now. Sue is slated to return to Hlicksburg come Saturday. Pauline Garon has decided to chuck Hollywood and return to her first love—the stage. Polly has appeared in plays out here from time to time, but her present decision sees her enroute on the first "legit" leg East. She has signed to play a featured role in George Scarborough's naughty effort, "Bad Babies," opening in San Francisco the early part of this month.

The picture business is de-luxey for a fickle at this penning. Many of the so-called "screen" familiar aren't finding jobs as easily as they did before. Pauline Garon, for example, is an effervescent little actress who suffered professionally by being categorized a flapper. With the flapper in the story discard, Polly hasn't worked as steadily as formally. Hence her decision to return to the legit. She will combine pictures in New York with the stage, if opportunity is generous.

Olive Borden and Arthur Lake have been spotted together frequently in late in dance halls in and around Venice, the local Coney Island. The two are cutting up in "Dance Hall" on the RKO lot and decided to absorb title atmosphere, which they have done; sometimes with director Mel Brown along. They have also been practising what is described to this bureau as new terpsichore steps looped in the startling title: The Dumb Drag. If they vivify that name they should be intriguing.

What happens to that serialistic production epic, "Hell's Angels," may or may not be a thought, nev-

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
© 1929 by NEA Service Inc.

Charles M. Schwab told in a recent speech some of the things he learned from Andrew Carnegie when he was a young man getting his start in the Carnegie mills.

One of the finest pieces of advice he got from the old steel-master, Mr. Schwab said, was about worry. "When you go through the mill, you'll see a hundred things every day to worry you, things you don't like, but that you can't help. The best thing to do is to forget it."

Mr. Carnegie warned him, "Never worry about things you can't help. It's good advice for everybody and it's particularly good for children, that is for some children—the kind of overly conscientious, too earnest, too serious children who can't enjoy life for worrying over things that go wrong."

Suffering from Mistakes
Take the child with an inferiority complex. How he suffers for mistakes he's made! Things he simply can't forget! He broods for days and tosses sleeplessly night after night about some little thing that everyone else in the world has forgotten but himself.

It's really tragic to think that a boy will pack a whole ton of misery and shame in his sensitive heart for weeks because he could not kick a goal and lost the game for the home team. Or that a girl won't walk up a certain street any more and still gets hot and cold all over when she thinks of the way she tripped and fell and broke a dozen eggs where a hundred people could see her!

It isn't always things they do themselves that rankle and make the long night hours hideous for these poor children.

The boy's chum may have gyped him to go to the movies with someone else.

The girl may have been deliberately "cut" by the new neighbor across the street when she was trying to be friendly.

Worries of School
Sometimes it is school. Failure to lead a class, or a mark half a point below that of a rival.

All worry we can't avoid, but some worry we can. And there is no question about getting the habit. It grows with age, too. Once a worrier, always a worrier! No worrier can take big responsibility, either young or old.

Then why not learn to forget and teach children to forget, too, all the miserable little things that life holds for everyone?

Dallas is rapidly taking on appearance of a regular frontier city—with more than 150 contestants who will appear in the State Fair champion rodeo, meandering about the streets with 10 gallon hats, high-heeled boots and loud silk shirts in style, a regular rodeo atmosphere prevailing the city which is getting ready to act as host for the 43rd annual State Fair of Texas, Oct. 12-27.

Modern Mothers Help Create New Slogan

Millions More Each Year Turn To Famous External Method of Treating Colds

Each year more and more mothers turn to Vicks VapoRub, the modern external treatment for colds, because it is just rubbed on and cannot upset children's stomachs, as "dosing" is so apt to do.

Originally designed and first used largely for children's colds, this better external method gradually spread as one enthusiastic mother told another. Years of actual use also proved it equally effective for the colds of grown-ups. Today the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing" and Vicks—a household word in America—is used in more than 60 countries abroad.

The ever-growing demand for Vicks is shown in its familiar slogan, expressing the number of jars used yearly. First announced when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Yearly"—later raised to "21 Million"—the figures are again being changed, as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

him when he is grubby and gloomy (fancy that—that a thought that Rudy has his grubby, gloomy moments!) She must look charming while he is in a temper, and he admits he is terrible when he gets mad.

Brains? Not Essential!

Rudy admits he's not sold on the smart woman if she wears her brains on the outside. If she has charm and looks, and is crazy enough about him, she can go easy on the gray matter.

If Rudy is really expecting to find such a girl, he will never find her except in his own mind. Fortunately only an ideal, carefully cherished, and never incarnated, could ever fill the bill.

Other young men have put in such an order, and in accepting the substitute offered, found the high degree of adventure and hazard involved in matrimony.

If one did not know that Life had its own neat way of showing up its mortals in our folly, one might hope Rudy found this dream girl, married her, and experienced that bitter irony—to get what you want—and then not want it at all, and realize that you had the wrong idea all the time.

Ideal Will Elude Him

Fate has allowed us all this slight amelioration; instead of getting what we want, most of us take what we get. So we can erect this defense for ourselves; well, this was never my idea, anyhow.

There is no danger Rudy will find his ideal, so he can always keep her enshrined in his heart. And he will never need to know how dull, colorless, boring and unintelligent she would be. His masculine vanity need not be disturbed by knowing that he was all wrong.

"So the high-life racket got you, you cheat!"

The story of a woman who played with fire

"THE best little party-pal on earth!" The girl responded with a glorious smile. How alluringly gay and beautiful she was! No wonder men idolized her, showered her with gifts, called her "Queen" of the city's night life!

They did not know that behind those laughing eyes lay a cloud of misery—that her gaiety was simply a mask to hide a heart that was heavy and sad. How she despised these fools, their wild parties, their kisses. How little she suspected that she was doing this for him, her sick husband—that the might be restored to health and happiness.

But one night, something went wrong. In the midst of the merriment, a wave of giddiness swept her. . . Dawn found her at her own gate, arriving with numb intelligence to piece together the dim, half-formed pictures of what had happened.

COP REFUSES $100 BONUS ACCOMPANYING RUM OFFER

BUTTE, Mont.—(UP)—Donald Le Morreles' theory that "money talks" received a rude shock in the city police station here.

Donald offered Patrolman Thomas Calpin a drink.

"I wouldn't take a drink for $100," the officer declared.

"I'll call you on that," Le Morreles offered, and produced a $100 bank note.

The policeman took one look at the yellowback, another at Le Morreles, ordered that gentleman to leave the station and when he demurred, locked him up in a cell for the night.

Midland Men—

plane, completed the distance in 13 minutes and 43 seconds and was awarded second prize while A. E. Cameron, of Los Angeles, won third place with a time of 14 minutes and 25 seconds.

Mayor Thomason and members of the local chamber of commerce were loud in their praise of the new Standard terminal, and officials of the Standard Airlines, who had brought this aeronautical development to El Paso.

The official dedication program started at 2:00 p. m., and was opened with the band playing "America."

Mayor Thomason was the first speaker on the program.

Following Mayor Thomason's speech, the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" while Mayor Thomason and Jack Frye raised the American flag and the Standard Airlines flag on the pole in front of the administration building.

Among the notables who were introduced to the crowd were Brig. Gen. C. J. Symmonds, commanding officer at Fort Bliss, and General Francisco Del Arco of the Juarez Garrison. Mayor Arturo Flores, of Juarez, attended the dedication and exchanged a few words of international relationship. A special program of aeronautics was put on by pilots Lee Flanagan and Burrell

Smith for the amusement of the throngs.

Shops Inspected.

The shops and hangars of the new airport were open to the public for inspection. While the majority were interested in the mechanical department of the field, the artistic administration building and the air depot came in for a large share of attention. Few had anticipated seeing such a permanent structure and were pleased with its elaborate design and decorations.

Following the regular dedication program which ended about 4:00 p. m., many El Paso citizens were given an opportunity to see the city from the air in one of the Standard Airlines planes piloted by Jack Frye, president of the company.

As a souvenir of the flight and occasion, Frye, acting as pilot on the scenic flights, personally signed the passenger stub of each ticket.

The day's program concluded with the arrival of the scheduled east-bound passenger plane from Los Angeles with a capacity load.

Among the passengers aboard were Wesley Cook and William Lightman, delegates from the Aero Clubs of the Los Angeles public schools to the schools of El Paso. It is the purpose of these club representatives to investigate the activity of high school clubs in El Paso and aid in the organizing of more clubs.

Wesley Cook was recently announced winner of the Southern California airplane model contest. Both boys plan to visit the schools here today and return to the coast tomorrow.

"Dusty" Waller, secretary of the newly formed Aero Club, was drafted as scribe when the three flying ambassadors elected to prepare a flight log for The Reporter-Telegram. Here's how it sounds, taken as it was in the air, and with two dictating while the other wrote and occasionally added a thought of his own:

Off at 1:25:9. C. S. T. No wind. Sun not up. Day zorn about ten minutes ago. Now 6:30 and Ambrose is asleep. (He's not saying much) Motor revving up 1600 at 1000 feet. Becher crabbing slightly into light southwind that springs up with the morning. Odessa slightly to the north.

Bech isn't flying this thing. He has turned loose both hands and it looks like he is going to shove or have breakfast—no, he was just fixing his safety belt.

We are climbing a little. Ambrose was just awake for a minute, but he has joined "porphy" again. Bech is likely to go to sleep any minute, maybe. Maybe not. He hasn't touched the stick for ten minutes and I am hiding the copy of the morning's Reporter-Telegram that we are carrying along with us.

I wonder who will be sick first—Kenneth or me?

6:42, and the lights of Wink are ahead of us. Looks like a ferris wheel at a county fair. More light now and there is a little haze loc on the horizon. Not bad. Will probably lift after the sun comes up. These dry lakes look like well kept putting greens.

Several little ranches below us. We are up early. (These ranchers below give indication that they have done a long day's work already, however).

6:43. The sun is rising over the horizon. Gorgeous. Believe we will see it rise daily.

We are passing over the second pumping station now. Wink is just ahead. The south wind is slightly stronger.

Glad Kenneth brought this gum. We are now about 50 miles out of Midland, and in 27 minutes.

The oil tanks of Monahans are visible. Look like a bunch of white ducks on a pond. Kenneth claims he sees Kermit hovering on the horizon to the north. Confess I don't see it.

Passing over the other pumping plant. We are well over the sand dunes now. "Watch Wink Grow." A fire on the outer edge of Wink throws a smoke smudge that would make the navy green with envy. Hundreds of oil tanks with their black and orange and aluminum colors.

Too bad Bech didn't bring his home work or some knitting. He might make himself useful in SOME way. The ship is flying itself.

7:05, over Wink. Looks like one would need an amphibian to land here. The reflection from the tank farms makes it much lighter up here. Just like being in the beam of mirrors.

It has been so long since Bech had hold of the stick he has forgotten where he left it. Ambrose is informing me that we have seen all we are going to see in the way of civilization. Real cheerful, no?

Sixty miles in 40 minutes. 90 miles per hour. At the rate we are flying we should be over Colter's. On the pipeline at 7:45 on the dot. Should cross the Pecos at 7:30—now let's see.

Ambrose awake now and reading The Reporter-Telegram, incidentally working me overtime by showing the things to write down. Bech has joined him now. It is now 7:23, almost an hour out and Bech has just sighted the peak through the haze directly ahead.

More tank farms to the left. Pipeline directly under us.

Exactly one hour out now and we are more than 90 miles from home. Ambrose just said "Look at the wild cat." The scribe jumped and looked over his side. It wasn't an animal at all.

7:30 straight up. We are now-w-v directly over the Pecos river, flying at 1500 feet and the motor turning up 1600 in a steady drone.

Bech says he will go up from 7,000 to 8,000 feet before long. Over Olla now, and I can't keep from remembering the difference between now and two weeks ago when I was through the place. Hot and dusty and tired. And now, cool and refreshed and comfortable.

Air getting slightly bumpy, but still more comfortable than in any other form of travel I've seen.

We climb to 2500 feet. Bech is looking around as though in search of enemy aircraft. Over his shoulder, down over the side of his compartment, and all around. I think he is looking for The Reporter-Telegram. (If we keep on giving that paper so much space, we will have to charge 'em for it.) But the paper is going to stay in the back of the cabin....

By the way, it is 7:50 and we are reading about Lady Mary Heath, famed English aviatrix who made known certain facts of her philosophy in a landing at Midland before her crash at the Cleveland exposition recently. So engrossed were we that we passed Collier before noticing.

CONNIE MACK AND JOE M'CARTHY OPTIMISTS AT SERIES START

ALL REGULARS OF CUBS BACK SAVE ONE; CONNIE RELIES ON YOUTH OF HIS AGGREGATION

The world's baseball circus has started. Once more attention centers on Chicago. The whole world is watching. Division of opinion merely exists long enough to take sides.

Rival managers of the Athletics and Cubs, rival clubs of the series, say their teams are fit; but each believes the affray will be hard fought.

Managers Say—

Joe McCarthy, Cubs: "It looks like a tight series and a good one to me. You never can tell what will happen. I am making no predictions but I would be foolish if I wasn't altogether confident of my club. It will hit and hit will win the series."

Connie Mack, Athletics: "We are fit. Close series? Certainly. Two good clubs will meet. Starting pitcher? Not yet. I will not name him until tomorrow afternoon. The A's have played good ball all season and they will play good ball here."

Talk Exclusively

In copyrighted stories each manager wrote, each expressed his reasons for believing the series would be harder than usual; yet there was no doubt expressed by either of his team failing to cop.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the Cubs, felt elated at the return of Grimm, first baseman, and Zach Taylor. Gabby Harnett, catcher, is the only member of the Cubs who will not be able to get in there and fight.

Cubs Are Ready

The pitching staff of the Cubs, to quote McCarthy, is ready to pit its strength with that of the much touted Athletics.

McCarthy said that the kind of baseball which had won the pennant in his league should be able to repeat in the world series.

Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics since 1901, and seven times a pennant winner, thinks that youth will be served in the series, pointing to the fact that his young players will get going fast and stay fast. He appears in his story to be nervous over idleness of his club, due to wet weather, but is insistent that his boys should win.

The probable line-ups as announced by each manager:

This Twelve Year Old Midland Girl Seems Destined To Dance And Sing On Broadway

"I knew her when she was a little twelve-year-old girl and sang in Midland."
Comments like this will be made by Midland theater-goers a few years hence, if a little girl's ambition is fulfilled and her mother's and father's dream for her comes true. For if present plans have anything to do with the future of Virginia Nell Richardson, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Richardson, who, for the past several months, have been residents of Midland, she will be dancing and singing on Broadway long before she leaves the teens.

The little girl dressed in a ruffy blue costume sang at the Ritz Sunday at two matinees and one night performance. "The Wedding of the Painted Doll" and "Smiling Irish Eyes." The enthusiastic applause of the audience attested to not only the beauty of her voice but to her charming manner and personality, as well. Miss Lura Birdwell played the accompaniment.

Today the family is leaving for Phoenix, Arizona, where Virginia Nell will have instruction under a teacher of expression and dancing. In a short time, according to Mrs. Richardson, Virginia Nell will be taken to Los Angeles for a trial before vitaphone. Mr. Farmer, director of Baby Peggy, advised the Richardsons to have their little girl tried for movie work.

He directed Virginia Nell in several sketches and was convinced that her talent would win for her success of no small proportion.

When the little girl was three years old she won a picture contest in Dallas. At that time she was singing in theaters and a movie con-

Senators Divided On Liquor Amendment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Senatorial "drys" are divided today over the proposal of Senator Morris Sheppard, democrat of Texas, to make the purchaser of liquor equally liable with the seller.

George W. Morris, chairman of the judiciary committee, said prohibition enforcement might be broken down if such a plan is adopted.

Sheppard said he represented the views of the W. C. T. U. and of the Anti-Saloon League. Senator Borah said that government agents might be liable if they purchased liquor for evidence.

Daily Cotton Market

Dallas Cotton

While the government crop estimate was 14,915,000 bales, or an increase of 90,000 bales over the September 1 estimate, disappointed the majority of the trade, the cotton market experienced no violent fluctuations, prices being but 36 to 41 points from the previous close, October in New York selling at 18.40c, December 18.51c, January 18.58c, and March 18.85c during the late morning. On noon calls the list was steady, 34 to 38 points net lower.

The ginning showing was construed as bullish, while crop figures were considered as bearish; and around 18.50 for December in New York. There appeared some resistance due to the increasing interest shown by the trade. At no time during the morning was trading very active or excited, it being principally evening up to the report, and when trading ceased the active months were within 1 to 8 points of the previous close, and the first trading figures after the market reopened were 20 to 25 points under these levels. Towards noon, even after all details had been issued and no doubt analyzed, there was apparently no great interest in the market.

Judge Contest Case Up To Appeals Court

AUSTIN, Oct. 8.—(P)—The Griffin-Leslie contest case over the district judge-ship of Hidalgo County will be argued before the third court of civil appeals tomorrow. The case will be taken under consideration by the court and it may be many weeks before a decision is reached.

SHIPS BEAT MARRIAGE LAW

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 8.—(P)—The Dallas-Oklahoma City ship on the daily Braniff Airlines service has been named the "Honeymooners" Special by pilots on the run, because of the number of Texas couples who ride the ship into Oklahoma to get married, thereby avoiding the three-day notice of intention law.

tract was offered the parents, but they refused to consider it. Now they feel that Virginia Nell's training and study has prepared her for a career, and hope she may enter the movies.

She has studied voice and expression lessons ever since she was just a baby. And her dancing has been done under several excellent teachers. Fay and Bird Hoffman of Waco, dancing instructors under whom Virginia Nell received training, expressed themselves as assured that the child has a bright future according to Mrs. Richardson.

Dressed in a fresh little print dress, her blond hair framing her round face and bringing out the deep brown of her eyes, Virginia Nell spoke freely of her hopes of dancing, admitting that if she couldn't be singing or dancing she'd rather read. "The Little Colonel" books are her favorites just now.

"I sing everywhere," she replied when questioned as to her audiences. "I've been on the stages of most of the theaters in Houston and Waco and Dallas and Fort Worth and—just every place I go, I sing."

She is in the 7A and likes to go to school. Besides her school work she has had other lessons since a very little girl, and she has always made excellent grades in her class work. Last year the child's heart was weak, and her expression and voice lessons were given up at the doctor's orders. It was then that the family moved to Midland.

"I feel fine now, and I'll be glad when I'm taking dancing lessons again," she remarked, her eyes shining with anticipation of the work in store for her. "Mother's going to put me under Ruth St. Denis. I think she's beautiful."

Soldiers and Texas Rangers Help "Wickedest City" Clean House

(By NEA Service)
BORGER, Texas, Oct. 8.—When the bad days of the old wild west come back to earth in real life they generally turn out to be scandalous rather than romantic.

Which is why the boom oil town of Borger, established on the limitless plains of the Panhandle 2½ years ago, is today very carefully watching its step, with a company of state troopers under command of Brig.-Gen. Jacob Wolters and five hard-boiled Texas rangers looking on.

Borger is young, but sophisticated. Its hectic, though brief, career has caused it to be called by some "the little Chicago of the southwest."

In its short life—brief even as things are measured in the new west—it established the reputation of being one of the wildest towns in America.

It brought the old wild west back to life. Men wore six-guns openly, on the streets. Saloons—many of them—ran without interference.

Presiding Elder To Visit Methodists

A meeting of great importance will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Methodist church to which every Methodist of Midland is urged to attend. Dr. Fisher, presiding elder of the San Angelo district will preach the sermon after which the final quarterly meeting will be held. This meeting is of special interest because the officers and stewards will be elected for the coming year including the officers of the Sunday school. The second year of Rev. Stanley Haver's pastorate closes with his departure to the West Texas Annual Conference on October 21st. Rev. Haver urges that every Methodist attend this meeting and show their loyalty and interest to the cause of the church. Inasmuch as hundreds of the members of this church have made reconsecrations it is expected that a great congregation will meet Dr. Fisher tomorrow night.

Two Cars Bombed In New Orleans Monday

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—(AP)—With no more to work on in the way of a clue than in other previous cases since the street car strike started, police today are investigating the bombing last night of two other street cars.

The cars were bombed within five minutes of each other and the rails were torn up. The cars were damaged slightly, but no one was injured.

Main Street of Borger, where national guardsmen and Texas rangers have taken charge in an effort to suppress a crime wave, is pictured above. Below are Brig.-Gen. Jacob F. Wolters (center), in command of the troops; Ranger Sergeant J. B. Wheatley (left), who has taken over the sheriff's office, and Sheriff Joe Owenby (right), deposed by order of General Wolters.

two of them, Captain Frank Hamer and Tom Hickman, brawny and competent, each wearing two six-shooters and carrying a magazine rifle. In a day or so they were joined by three more. They strolled up and down the main street and Borger's bad men stayed indoors and kept quiet.

Now the state troops are on duty, and the comings and goings of Borger are carried on under the eyes of fully-armed guardsmen. The Rangers and the militia officers are conferring on ways and means of landing all of the town's undesirables in jail. One of General Wolter's first acts was to remove city and county officials from control and place Texas Rangers in their jobs. Mayor

Glenn A. Pace was arrested on a charge of trying to get a witness in a murder case to leave town and placed under $3000 bond.

The better element of Borger rejoices at the presence of the soldiers. The local Chamber of Commerce and the Borger Rotary Club, both recently organized are doing everything in their power to help them make Borger a decent place to live and drive out the undesirables who have given the town such a bad name.

Apparently the job will be done. Borger's bad days are numbered. By the time the Rangers and guardsmen go away this three-year-old boom city of 15,000 will, in all probability, be as safe and law-abiding as any city in Texas.
