Mayor's Proclamation Designates 'Little Theatre Week'

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN IS INITIATED

Mayor To Address A Group At 'Home' On Monday

Massed behind a proclamation issued Saturday by Mayor Leon Goodman, who designated Oct. 14-19 as "Little Theater Week," five groups composed of Little Theater directors and interested co-workers will begin Monday morning a canvass of Midland in order to recruit membership for the dramatic organization.

Colored ribbons will be pinned on the lapels of those who joined the organization in order that successive solicitation of the same person will be averted.

Membership in the organization is of three classes—active, subscribing and patron. Payment of registration fees in the later two classes insures admission to all plays given by the Little Theater during the year, a total of five productions.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION I, Leon Goodman, mayor of the City of Midland, by power vested in me through that office do through appreciation of the value of the fine arts upon a community, designate October 14-19 inclusive, "Little Theater Week." Because of the collective interest in amateur productions of the drama, the wholesome interest which attaches to same, and the value such activity has in educational progress, the designation has been made with sincere trust that Midland people subscribe to the Little Theater movement in such ready response that its present and future seasons may be assured.

(Signed) LEON GOODMAN, Mayor.

Membership Classes An active member is he who takes part in "playing in" on productions, and those who aid through stagecraft—building scenes, painting scenery, doing light effects, make-up, costumes, and the like. This fee is $2. A subscribing member pays $3, which represents the price of a season ticket to plays. A patron member is one who pays a minimum of $10 to the organization in order to advance it more materially.

Subscribing members are cited to the advantage of paying the additional $2 which constitutes an active member, thus availing themselves of the privilege of attending monthly "open" meetings of the body, hearing read papers on stagecraft, original "workshop" plays, and other interesting data on the Little Theater. Visiting artists and directors are expected to address these open sessions during the season.

Mayor Makes Address Mayor Leon Goodman will initiate the drive Monday, when, at 9:30 in the Masonic hall, "Home of the Little Theater," he will address committees charged with the success of the drive. Everyone interested in Little Theater is asked to be present.

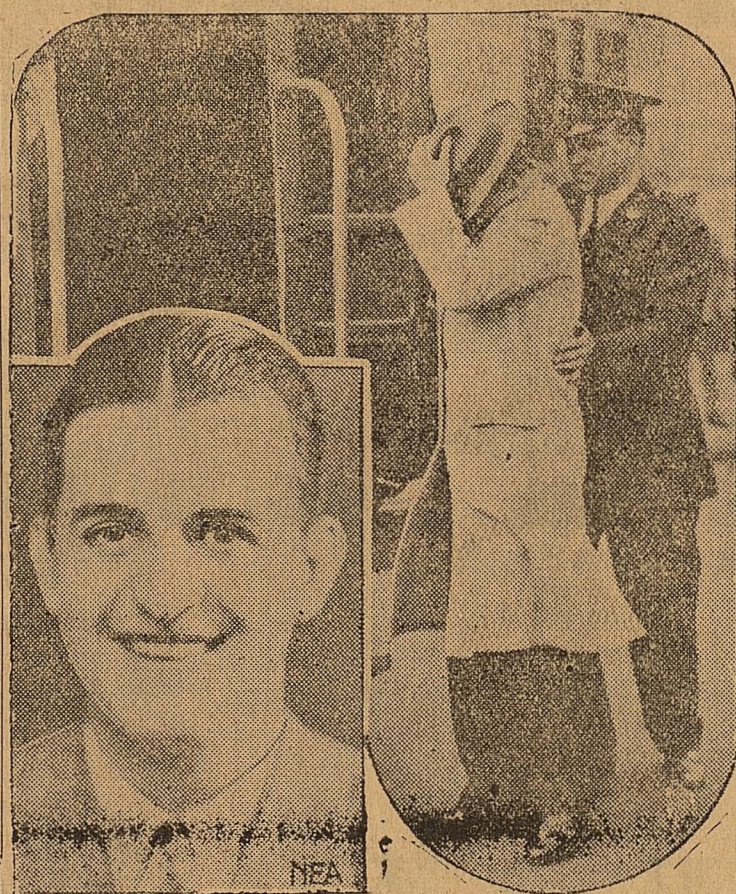

Goal set provides for 500 subscribing members to the organization, with a liberal admixture of patron and active members.

All plays for the year have been selected except for the second production, the director of the group, Mrs. George Abell said to a meeting of directors last week. These include comedies, a mystery play and a drama.

Work on "The Whole Town's Talking," first comedy to be produced, is proceeding three nights each week.

The greatest season for amateur drama yet to be experienced in Midland is about to be launched, it is thought by those who are ac-

The crime took place in a hotel at Washington, D. C., and is said to have followed a quarrel. At the left is a closeup of Dayton; right, he is shown entering a patrol wagon after his arrest.

Schools for which trustees will be nominated by the committee include Baylor University, Baylor College at Belton, and five or six Baptist schools and academies over the state, or all Baptist schools in Texas, except Simmons University and the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Grissom-Robertson Opens At Lubbock

The opening of the new Grissom Robertson Store at Lubbock is planned to be one of the Gala events of the season.

Everything is to be carried out in Spanish. A ten-piece orchestra dressed in Spanish costumes is a feature.

Each of the Grissom Robertson's twenty-six stores is to furnish a model at the opening. Miss Marion Rader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Wadley, who is district manager of the West Texas division, will represent the Midland store at the opening.

All the directors and their wives will be present.

This store will be one of the largest and most elaborate in West Texas, having a floor space of 12,200 square feet exclusive of the balcony, which will be occupied by a Radio and book shop.

The ready to wear will occupy the entire back fifty feet and be 50 by 86 feet. The entire store is newly equipped with $35,000 worth of Grand Rapids store equipment. The window space across the front and along the south side of the building give this store something like 140 running feet of window space.

BREAK OUT FOR A BIG BAT SPREE

Ten Runs On Ten Hits Scored In Fatal Seventh

Blasting their way through the seventh inning to a dissonant clatter of breaking records, it took the Athletics of Connie Mack's American League entry in the World Series only one half inning to demonstrate their superiority over their National League rivals from Chicago.

The game saw the Mackmen break three World Series records of all time. When 14 men faced a pitcher in the seventh inning, hammered out 10 hits, scored 10 runs, and began and ended the slaughter with a pinch hitter—fans of the nation and sports writers found something to talk of for weeks.

Bubbling world series hopes of the Cubs were knocked into a cockeyed hat in this seventh inning when the Americans hammered four pitchers to a 10-8 win.

The Cubs entered the fatal inning with eight runs ahead. The Athletics had only garnered three hits off Ruth. Al Simmons started the massacre, however, with a home run, and devastation grew as Hack Miller lost an easy fly in the sun from the bat of Haas and that went for a home run.

Jimmy Dyke's rousing double ended the rally, scoring the ninth and tenth runs.

BREEDER-FEEDERS ASKED TO ATTEND DALLAS BANQUET

Individual letters from Frank P. Holland, president of the Texas Breeder-Feeder Association, to Midland men are most enthusiastic in promotion of the movement established for the future in Midland a few months ago, and more recently made into a state organization in Dallas, asking attendance at a banquet to be given Oct. 17 in Dallas.

Tickets were sent complimentary in each invitation.

Excerpts from a representative letter follow:

"The Breeder-Feeder movement has received the heartiest endorsement from every interest in the state, as evidenced by the many letters we have received. The psychological and economic conditions are right for this movement to be built into the most potent factor for Texas prosperity that has been proposed for many a year.

The first feeder show at the State Fair and the auction sale which follows are merely the entering wedge for the work that must be done in placing Texas in the ranks of balanced farming states, with home-finished meat from home-grown feds.

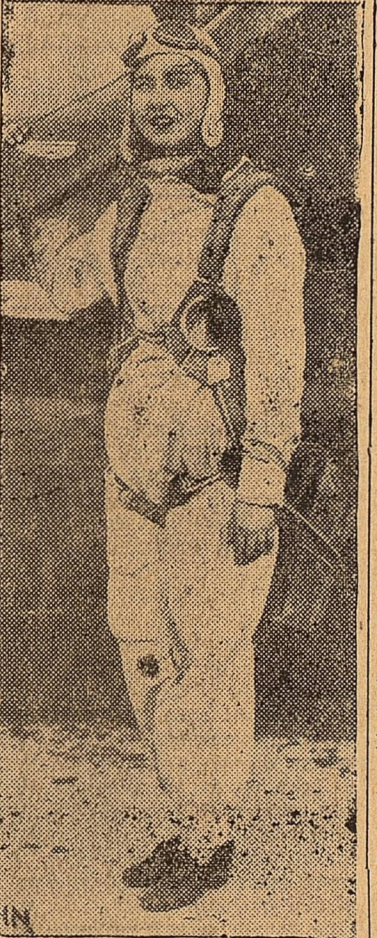

"A union of the interests of breeders with those of farmers will bring more prosperity to both, and it is the aim of this association to bring every force possible to bear on the objective of combining the product of the range and of the farm in one highly finished product. We need and request your assistance, not merely for the moment, but until these objectives have been measurably achieved.

"The banquet will be the first great get-together of farmers and stockmen looking to closer co-operation in the future."

MAC DONALD HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY WITH NOTABLES

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(UP)—Ramsay MacDonald today spent his birthday at the Market Hotel in a luxurious suite more than 3,000 miles away from Loxsmeith, where he was born 63 years ago in a fishing shack on the bleak Scottish shore.

Surrounded by representatives of the United States government, and officials of other countries, the British Premier spent a happy day resting and recounting the fruits of his visit to this country, his first to America.

Secretary of State Stimson and others explained it was impossible to set in cold print a detailed exposition of the MacDonald-Hoover conversations.

TWO MEN JAILED; OTHER OBJECT OF A GREAT MAN HUNT; ROBBERY MOTIVE

Mrs. Ossie Spires, Who Formerly Lived Here Has Bullet Shot Through Skull; Trio Men Enter Hotel For Money

While police, peace officers and citizens scoured the Crane City territory and a cordon of officers at a distance was thrown around principal roads to intercept escape, Ray McKenzie, better known as "Slou," and Jack Gibson were behind jail bars in Crane City, held as suspects connected with the shooting before midnight Friday of Mrs. Ossie Spires, former Midland woman, and the clubbing of the woman's husband during an alleged robbery of the Cottage hotel.

Mrs. Spires, alleged by witnesses to have been shot with a .45 revolver, was brought to the Thomas hospital in Midland at 4 o'clock Saturday morning in a McCamey ambulance. Dr. W. E. Ryan, called in on the case, issued a bulletin early Saturday explaining that the bullet wound in the woman's forehead slightly to the left side, and passed through her skull, the point of exit being high over the left ear. She was resting comfortably, and was conscious early Saturday afternoon. Witnesses who came to Midland with the woman departed, except one, for their homes in Crane early Saturday morning.

PENN WELL SHUT DOWN; MUCH GAS IS ENCOUNTERED

Shutting down at a total depth of 3744 feet after flowing 300 barrels of oil by heads during a 24-hour test which began at 7 o'clock Friday morning, the Penn well in Ector county, 14 miles west of Odessa, as thought on the verge of being drilled deeper into the lime, Saturday afternoon.

The well, which has showed increased production each additional foot drilled, was described by Midland oil men Saturday afternoon as producing a half million cubic feet of gas. No water has shown.

Over the last 12 hours of the 24-hour test, the flow was from heads each two hours, 178 barrels of oil flowing into the two recently constructed 1,000 barrel storage tanks.

Gas heads were being formed every two hours.

Initial production began when the pay was topped at 3,725 feet. After a test, the well was shut down for construction of the storage tanks.

A report made Friday night on the well reads:

Testing the R. R. Penn No. 1 Kloh-Rumsey, Ector county, 14 miles west of Odessa for further production the well was developed six feet farther into the pay Friday, making a total depth of 3,742 feet. Little noticeable change was made in the well. The well was being drilled in the pure gray lime with no showing of water.

The well made two heads Thursday night, Friday morning it flowed again, and at noon made 85 barrels in a 20-minute flow. The well was on a gauge and connected with storage in time for the flow at noon. Again Friday afternoon, immediately after being bailed, the well flowed for 17 minutes, stopped four or five minutes and flowed again for 10 minutes with a total of 65 barrels.

The men are supposed to have worked with a casing gang at Royalty, Texas.

RECOGNITION FOR NEGROES

Congressman Oscar DePriest, negro, elected at and serving from Chicago, demands social equality for himself and wife at the nation's capitol.

Indignation was expressed recently in state legislatures, in leading newspapers and by citizens of the whole country, and especially in the south, when Mrs. DePriest was invited to a luncheon by Mrs. Hoover.

It was never intended by those who wrote the constitution which laid out the national government that negroes should share social equality with whites, and it is time that the congressmen who feel in their hearts the social standards which have made the country worthwhile "stand pat" and keep the negroes from having established a precedent which will result in shame for the nation for years to come.

And now comes the news that a negro athlete, an Olympic champion, is to be married to a white girl of German parentage. They will make their home either in England or in British Guiana.

The negro is captain of the New York University track team. Imagine the opinion the couple will create for America when they settle in another country.

HOW HIGH IS TOO HIGH?

A study just completed by experts of the American Institute of Steel Construction reports that it is structurally possible to build sky-scrapers 2000 feet in height, but that considerably less than that—around 70 stories is the economic limit.

The experts figured that a 2000-foot building would not pay. On the other hand, where land values are high, they assert it pays better to erect a tower of 60 to 70 stories than one of half that height.

All of this, of course, is from the standpoint of the building owner. The thing now needs to be figured from the viewpoint of the city as a whole. It is a grave question whether the giant skyscraper may not do a city more harm than good, by increasing traffic past the saturation point. What is needed is a study that will show just how many skyscrapers the large city can bear.

ENEMIES NO LONGER

The story of the nine former German soldiers who are living in Lancaster, N. Y., and making buddies of the members of the American Legion there, makes mighty pleasant reading.

The incident proves, for one thing, that our war with Germany left us with no such heritage of hatred and distrust as the Civil War, for instance, bequeathed to the country. A scant 11 years after the armistice, veterans of the rival armies are glad to fraternize with one another.

War's worst feature is the business that follows in its train. We seem to be discarding the bitterness of the World War very rapidly. It can't be done too fast.

Daily Washington Letter

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—If it had not been for the active efforts of a veteran American newspaperman, Prime Minister MacDonald probably would not have made his important visit to the United States. Apparently the idea never occurred to anyone else.

Mr. Edward Price Bell, who was for 25 years correspondent in London for the Chicago Daily News, told the suggestion to MacDonald and was the first to advise President Hoover that MacDonald would like to come.

Bell is a man about 60 years old. Lord Northcliffe called him "the best journalist America ever sent to Europe." After studying and writing about international affairs for three decades, Bell came to the conclusion a year ago that Anglo-American relations were in an unusually bad way and that it was very much worth somebody's while to try to head off a possible war between the two countries which might in time develop if the situation were allowed to go from bad to worse.

He talked to Hoover about it and found that Hoover was thinking much the same thing. Later he was to find that most of the more prominent American and British statesmen agreed that the existing mutual misunderstanding and near distrust between the two countries was deplorable. Hoover thought it was largely up to the newspapers to change public opinion. Incidentally, former President Coolidge once expressed an identical idea to your correspondent.

Hoover told Bell that he was especially anxious to see naval expeditions reduced in both countries, feeling that increased armaments were both an unjustifiable economic burden and a menace to world peace. Bell went to Canada and discussed the situation with MacKenzie King, who felt the same way. Then Bell sailed for London, talking a great deal en route with former Secretary of State Kellogg.

Bell was on a journalistic mission of good will. "I thought that if the heads of the two governments didn't have brains enough and power enough to keep us out of war, something was very wrong," he told your correspondent. "Until we could establish the principle that no war could occur between us we were in greater or lesser peril."

He found an impression in England that Hoover was unfriendly to the British and set out to correct it. He recruited many of his old friends on the British press, including the famous J. L. Garvin of the London Observer, to help in the effort to create a better understanding of American motives. Garvin credited Bell with sweeping away a general misconception and called him "the best unofficial ambassador the American people ever sent to our people." Other British newspapers heaped praises on him.

Bell first proposed the Washington trip to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who said that he would "love to see the president and go over everything of interest to our two peoples, laying all cards face up on the table." Baldwin regarded "a frank interchange of views of the greatest moment" and authorized Bell to report that to Hoover. Bell did. Sir Austin Chamberlain, minister of foreign affairs, was enthusiastic over the idea and so were other British statesmen with the exception of Lloyd George.

MacDonald Was Eager Baldwin was voted from office in the elections and Bell turned to the new premier, MacDonald, who told him to tell Hoover that he was eager to go to Washington. Bell promptly sailed for the United

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Every citizen who loves America is shamed and humiliated by the destruction of American traditions and institutions going on in this day. Wile and infamous stories of lust and brutality fill our newspapers. The public taste for the spectacular and the unusual is being catered to the exploitation of some of the fine things of our life. The sacred institution of the home and the purity of womanhood is endangered. We are shocked when we see the account of court proceedings of a most vile and brutal assault boldly told in a big daily paper. We feel that such things were better left unpublished. It is bad enough for citizens to have to sit on a jury and listen to the dirty things that go on in society without the general public having it served up to them with their daily papers.

We particularly want to express our disapproval of the picture of a negro athlete and his white bride appearing in our local paper. We know that such matings do occur although it is infrequent. We of the Southland abhor it. It fills us with indignation. Such a marriage offends not only white people but the negro as well. The negro with racial pride despises his brother who forms a relationship. Instead of advancing the negro it brings only greater misery and increases the agonies of race conflict.

Our valued newspaper The Reporter-Telegram renders us a great service in Midland. It opens its columns to everything good for our town and we want to express our appreciation for the fine spirit of its service. It frankly invites criticism even when such criticism is adverse to itself. So we frankly state that we do not see that any good States and made a full report to Hoover. Unofficial messages were then exchanged between the two capitals and MacDonald's journey was arranged.

Bell was born in Parke county, Ind., was educated at Wabash College and began newspaper work in Terre Haute. He has covered wars, rebellions and race riots and has lectured widely in English public schools about the importance of Anglo-American friendship. He continues to hold a high position with the Chicago Daily News.

can come from this picture on Friday's front page issue. We feel that the very showing of it tends to inflame race prejudice. It tends to raise that frightful bogie so fearsome to the men of the South, that of racial intermarriage. We feel that it is harmful to the negro whose destiny can never be fulfilled except as he works it out as a negro. A mongrel race was never God's plan. Now this couple intends to live abroad where such matings are less odious than to us. We feel that we should be spared the sight of their pictures in our newspapers. Stanley Haver.

Tech Enrollment Passes 2,000 Mark

LUBBOCK, Tex., Oct. 12.—With an enrollment this term of 2,830 students, 300 more than at this date last year, Texas Technological College has exactly the same number on the faculty, it is pointed out by President Paul W. Horn. And he states further that even with this twenty percent increase in student body the appropriation made by the State to pay salaries is $10,000 less than last year and the amount for maintenance is $17,000 less. Also the appropriation for the summer session is one-third less although 1,300 students attended the last summer session.

Notwithstanding the serious situation there is a very fine spirit of cooperation and the best of feeling in evidence on all sides. President Horn further points out. The present situation, according to Business Manager W. T. Gaston, makes it necessary for the administrative and teaching forces at Texas Technological College to learn a new meaning for the word "economy." Both he and the President, however, feel certain that the fate of Texas will not allow the institution to be crippled or hampered in its growth.

Passengers Increase Over Airline Here

Midland passengers over the line increased proportionately when, during the first six months of their operation, the three passenger lines of Southern Air Transport, Inc., transported 3,400 passengers 724-

475 miles, Victor F. Grima, general traffic manager of this second largest subsidiary of the Aviation Corporation has written here.

Passenger service has increased rapidly from month to month, doubling in some instances," Mr. Grima said. "It is hardly to be expected that it will continue to increase at this rate indefinitely, but so far there has been no indication of a let-up. Ever since August 1, when the fare was reduced, there has been a sharp increase in patronage."

Not only were all these 3,400 passengers carried during the last six months without a single one being so much as scratched, Mr. Grima said, but all told, in the regular course of business, Southern Air Transport Inc., has flown two million miles carrying mail, passengers and express, and in training students, without an injury to anyone. This mileage, he explained, includes taxi and sight-seeing trips.

"Flying an average speed of 92.1 miles an hour, the passenger planes flew 98 percent of the miles they were scheduled to fly," Mr. Grima said.

BIG SPRING, Tex., Oct. 12.—The city schools show an increase of 419 students compared with this time last year, according to W. C. Blankenship, superintendent. The enrollment shows 2,219 students compared with 1,800 last year. The appointment for funds for last year was $21,000 compared with $41,000 this year. Estimated valuation last year was $6,873,000 compared with $9,097,375 this year. Outstanding bonds amounted to $284,500.

Behind the Scenes
in Hollywood

By DOROTHY MERZOG
HOLLYWOOD—In frustrated sleuth circles, the story persists that Maude Adams is in town. This bureau learns that the local papers have gone so far as to assign their crack reporters to unearth her whereabouts. If here, Miss Adams has successfully evaded discovery.

The more recent report asserts that the erstwhile star of Sir James Barrie's plays has come to Hollywood and is absorbing motion picture technique via the extra route. This is intensely romantic, but scarcely characteristic of the actress.

attention to Gov. Smith's books will not be the detailing of events in his political rise—though this is told in his direct and simple style—but the political ideas he expresses, plus his own impressions of the late presidential campaign.

Al Smith introduces himself as a lad in the fish markets during the middle eighties. The East Side boy becomes an assemblyman, and alderman and finally a governor.

But there is a political innovation suggested which is likely to cause more than a little chatter in Washington circles. He defines the position in life he believes a defeated candidate for president should hold. After all, he points out, millions of voters believed in the beaten one and are still entitled to some consideration. He would amend the constitution to make the second-place holder a United States senator at large.

And he has some vivid personal recollections of high moments in the campaign—fanatical partisanship met with in the southwest and of his reaction to various sort of hysteria and prejudice encountered. It's a fascinating human document.

ST. LOUIS HOST TO DAIRY SHOW IN HUGE ARENA

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12.—(UP)—The new $2,000,000 Arena adjoining exposition buildings through which St. Louis expects to establish itself as the dairy capital of the world was formally opened today with the National Dairy Show which will continue through October 19.

Built primarily as the permanent home of the National Dairy Show, the Arena will be used throughout the year for athletic activities, conventions, expositions, the presentation of grand opera and various other events. The National Aircraft Exposition, which is international in scope, will be held there next February. The National Poultry and Better Foods Shows, National Horse Show and St. Louis Fair will be held this month in conjunction with the National Dairy Show.

Oval in shape, the Arena proper is 475 feet long, 276 feet wide and measures 1175 feet around the exterior, close to a quarter of a mile. Distance from the floor to the highest point in the roof is 135 feet. The Arena, with a seating capacity of 21,000, has the largest indoor seating capacity of any permanent structure in America, with the exception of the new Madison Square Garden in New York. As there are no supporting columns—the roof being of Lamella construction—the entire floor space is available for athletic events or gatherings of any kind. The buildings are located in the southwest section of the city, directly opposite Forest park.

Thrones Expected
Between 250,000 and 350,000 persons attended the National Dairy Show. Members of 4-H Clubs from 35 states, who were awarded free trips to St. Louis, participated in the program at the show. More than 1400 head of pure bred cattle, 300 more than have been shown at any of the 22 preceding exhibitions were entered in the show. Exhibitions of the latest types of dairy machinery constitute one of the outstanding features of the eight-day exposition.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

Schools can't cover all the ground and give to children all the knowledge in life.

A child going to school learns many facts; he learns about the world, its countries and people, in his geography; he learns about the things these people have done in the past in his history; and he learns many other things, but not all the things. That would be impossible.

There is other knowledge to be gained besides that which the school teaches him, and in one way it is the biggest of all. It is knowledge of the world about him. Things going on every week, every day, every hour, at home, in other cities, other states, and across the sea.

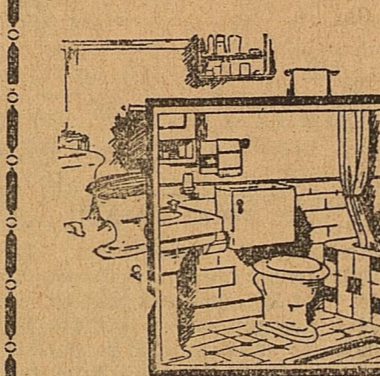

Schools haven't time for everything. As it is, they crowd into their curriculums all that they dare in the way of facts. The schools have another task greater and bigger than keeping children merely informed. There is the labor of brain development, cultivating the mental processes of reasoning, memory, concentration, judgment and selection.

Learning in School, and Out
What schools do primarily is to prepare the soil of the brain for knowledge and to plant what seed they can. If a child can pick up other knowledge outside of school, he is just that much ahead.

That is why it is urgent and indeed necessary for parents to keep themselves informed of world events and to pass these things on to the children.

So many things are occurring every day of vibrating interest and vital importance. History isn't past—it's present! Dead history is interesting—living history is life. There are thousands of other interesting

Informed motorists

say, "Buy an EIGHT"

The informed demand today is unmistakably for the Eight. This swing of public preference is developing with unprecedented rapidity. Nobody can predict what chance a Six will have in next year's used car markets.

Consider the facts: During the first seven months of this year, in 43 states,* registrations of new cars over $1000 showed a 94 per cent increase in Eights—and an 18 per cent decrease in Sixes.

Every high-priced American car is an Eight. In fact, over 41 per cent of all American makes of cars are Eights.

And Studebaker, enjoying its seventy-seventh successful year in business, sells more Eights than any other manufacturer in the world.

So why pay as much or more for a Six when you can have a champion Eight by Studebaker—holder of 11 world records and more American stock car records for speed and endurance than all other makes combined? A Studebaker Eight, brilliant with the power, the smoothness, the flexibility that only an Eight can deliver. An Eight as economical as the thriftiest Six. And styled with a notable smartness all the way through.

CONSERVATION OF FISH AND GAME 50 YEARS OLD

AUSTIN, Oct. 12.—(P)—Although the greatest development in fish and game conservation in Texas has been registered within the past six years, the movement was started more than 50 years ago, according to Will J. Tucker, executive secretary of the state game, fish and oyster commission.

The first conservation attempt was a complete failure, Tucker said. The federal government tried to stock Texas waters, as well as those in other states, with anadromous fish such as herring, California salmon and Potomac shad which live in the sea and ascend the rivers to spawn. More than 5,000,000 of these fish were placed in the principal rivers of Texas but all died. Before the experiment was proved a failure, however, the legislature in 1879 passed a fish ladder law because the anadromous fish could NOT climb mill dams.

Variety Of Study Pursued By The Little Theater

Members of the cast of "The Whole Town's Talking," first production of the Midland Little Theater group, are finding more to engross their attention than learning lines and how to conduct themselves so no one will guess that they're amateurs. So many different angles of stage-craft enter into the production of the play that members of the Little Theater find an outlet for their artistic and creative ability, their use of tools and paints, their understanding of color, and their originality in designing sets and costumes, as well as their love of play.

Little Theatre work as a whole is composed of several interesting and distinct parts. As a member of a working organization, members are not confined to any single line of Little Theatre work. For instance an individual has a natural interest in makeup—creating a character with paint and initiative is Art itself; but changing a character from natural to artificial and making him life-like is indeed fascinating. Just such work is to be done this year as already outlined by Mrs. George T. Abell, director of Midland Little Theatre in their repertoire of work shop plays.

Another important and educational part of the Little Theatre work is found in the selecting of plays. The field from which to choose a play of plays being almost unlimited, reading and discussing the plays is a fascinating past time to those interested in present day playwrights and authors.

In fact, a membership in a Little Theatre organization is distinctive in the field of art as the work furnishes a most diversified and educational opportunity to any one who appreciates these things. From a personal and social acquaintance and association, membership is a great benefit whether you are a subscribing, active or patron member in as much as you are supporting a worthy civic and much appreciated local organization for the progress of our town.

DRAMA OF MODERN YOUTH

"Wandering Girls," the Columbia picture which comes to the Grand Theatre today is a drama of modern youth. Dorothy Revier is featured, and the supporting cast includes Mildred Harris, Robert Agnew, Eugene Besserer, William Welsh and Armand Kaliz.

Dorothy Howell wrote "Wandering Girls," which Harry O. Hoyt adapted to the screen. Ralph Ince, noted producer and director, directed this production.

"OLD PAPERS" TAKEN FOR WRAPPING COST $88.50

NELIGH, Neb., Oct. 12.—(UP)—When George and Minnie Talbert, Sidney, Neb., were preparing to move from Clearwater, Neb., a young son was sent to the office of the Record for old papers to pack the furniture.

No one was in the office, so the youth helped himself to a bundle of what he believed to be old papers.

The bundle happened to be a year's file of the Record. Editor H. W. Mitchell brought suit for $500, was awarded $88.50 damages.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

Sometimes I don't wonder at the increasing divorce rate and the so-called decline of family life. Or rather, I should say, I wonder why more families do not dissolve than do.

The other evening I had dinner at a restaurant with a man and his wife. As we sat down and the waiter hovered about handing us menu cards, my host asked me what meat I would like to eat. I told him I would like lamb chops.

"But this place," he said, "is famous for its sea foods. You really must try their lobsters."

"Perhaps she'd rather have the lamb chops," suggested his wife.

"She doesn't know what she is talking about—she has not had her lobsters—it is marvelous here. If she just wanted lamb chops we could have gone anywhere."

TART WORDS

He ordered lobster for three. He ordered salad to suit himself. I don't remember that he had any option about anything more until dessert.

"I'll just have coffee," I said. "Indeed you won't," said he—"you are going to have cherry tart. There's no place in the city where you have them like they do here."

His wife protested, "Don't order anything with cherries for me, dear—you know I don't like them."

"You just think so," he returned indulgently. "The cherry tarts here can't be beaten. It's just an idea of yours that you don't like cherries. Everybody ought to like them—waiter, we'll take three cherry tarts, and coffee."

His wife did not eat the cherry tart, but she said nothing, and I don't remember that anything was said about it.

After dinner she said to me: "What would you like to do this evening?" I said I would love to go directly to their house and see the new things his wife brought home from Europe.

"Go home nothing," said Friend Husband. "There's a swell new show down at the Standard, and we can just make it if we hurry. Hey, taxi!"

We stepped into the taxi and went to the theater. I didn't want to see this particular review, and I know his wife did not—but we went.

HOLDING A CLUB

After the theater, he asked our pleasure again. I said I would like to go home immediately.

"Don't be silly," said he, "the night is yet young. Let's go over to this new night club and take a look at what's going on." There was no use protesting, against going, or against the supper he insisted upon ordering.

The amazing thing about this man was, that always he asked what you wanted to do, and did exactly what he wanted to do. Your wishes only bounced against a wall and back again.

And I could understand a wife who would suddenly revolt against this sort of treatment. I could perfectly understand, too, the amazement of the husband if she did, and I could hear him saying and saying honestly:

"I can't understand women. I gave her everything she wanted. I spent all the money on her that I could afford—and more. You simply can't understand a woman."

BEAVER DAM, Wis., Oct. 11.—(UP)—At a recent family reunion here forty persons ate sparingly of an egg 100 years old. The egg was brought from China by Miss Hazel Taylor, a member of the family. The egg, which had been preserved for a century bore mystic inscriptions on its shell.

"DRAG" IS SECOND BARTHELMESS' TALKIE

"Drag," the new First National Vitaphone feature starring Richard Barthelmess, which comes to the Ritz Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday is the second Vitaphone feature with dialogue and sound in which Barthelmess has appeared.

The first was "Weary River," which became an instantaneous hit throughout the country and is still breaking records everywhere. It thoroughly established Barthelmess as a speaking star of the first rank and made him one of the most brilliant box-office stars in the cinema firmament.

"Drag" presents the star in a dramatic narrative concerning a young, ambitious newspaperman who goes to a small town to edit the local weekly paper. While there he falls in love with a girl and after marrying her finds himself supporting a whole family of parasitic "in-laws." He composes a musical show called "The Love Prince" for the local Women's Guild; its success encourages him to go to New York, sell his play, and find that happiness which so eluded him in the small town.

"Drag" is based on the novel by William Dudley Pelley and was directed by Frank Lloyd, who also made "Weary River." The supporting cast is headed by Lila Lee, Alice Day, Katherine Ward, Margaret Fielding, Lucien Littlefield and Tom Dugan. "Drag" is a hundred percent all-talking picture.

BOY FIRES VILLAGE

KARCEW, Poland, Oct. 12.—(UP)—A boy of seven went hunting for his rabbit one dark evening not very long ago. He traced his pet to a pile of brush wood behind his house. Coaxing failed to bring the rabbit out of hiding place, so the boy set fire to the woodpile to see whether that would bring the animal out. Result: Two hundred residents were rendered homeless when fire destroyed the village.

MIDLAND HI GETS DRUBBING FROM RANKIN IN FAST GAME HERE

BARRYMEN OUTFISHED AND OUTPLAYED BY CARMIN WARRIORS FROM UPTON COUNTY SEAT

Rankin high school, led by its plunging, heady, perfect passing and punting backs, Monroe, Garner, Taylor and Williams, easily beat the Midland high school, 13-6, Friday afternoon at Cowden Park.

Only for a brief ten minutes did the Barrymen show any of the coaching they had been absorbing all season. The red jacketed men from Rankin swarmed the line, sucked in the ends and backs, passed over the whole crew and, in general, mused up the Midland territory in the park.

And, yet, the game did not necessarily have to get into the Rankin coffers. Midland had chance after chance to take a break which might well have gone for touch-down. An intercepted pass was dropped by Hallman when he had the whole field ahead of him, and there's no gainsaying the fact that the Midland back is a whiz when he gets going. Several times there was an end loose and White was back in position ready to pass. The fact that he didn't get the pass to within shouting distance of the racing flankmen was not due to anything save his own clumsiness. Protective backs blocked perfectly for him. Not a Rankin man penetrated the sanctum of his position. On the other hand, the club may be given an alibi in the assertion that Rankin, as a football machine, is a machine that, well-oiled and greased, sweeps along with beautiful precision. The team was far stronger than Stanton who beat Midland.

15-0 The Week Before
Few times during the game could the student of orthodox football have criticized the attack directed by the little general behind the red line. Passes gotten off fast and with deadly accuracy. Punts were high spirals that went true and far. Line plugging was hard and forceful. Nothing wrong with the whole 17 men brought along by Coach Moreland, who himself played a stellar game at half for the feared pack from Colorado College in 1923.

Speaking of generals, the little Burris of the Hound aggregation showed some sparkling on his own. Time and again, he grabbed punts and made his way up the field when it seemed he must be stopped in his tracks. His passes, too, showed improvement. Had his teammates played the game with him, the score would have been materially different—and there's no chance of a doubt.

Rain Doesn't Deter Baseball Fans Here

Weather conditions fraught with rainfall and heavy fog meant little to a large crowd of Midland baseball fans as they watched the Athletics and Cubs play the fourth game of the World Series on The Reporter-Telegram's Playograph board, Saturday.

Little Theater

quainted with preparations which have been made.

All Asked To Join
Every person in Midland will have a chance to join the Little Theater. The following groups, with headquarters listed, will approach everyone during the week with the request that alignment with the organization be made: At the First National Bank—George D. McCormick, Homer Epley and Mrs. Elliot Cowden; Petroleum building—Dr. L. B. Pemberton and George Glass; Post Office—Mesdames Homer W. Rowe, Ellis Cowden and Charles Goldsmith.

A group of assistants will be present to aid those listed above. "Svege" Swenson, president of the Little Theatre, stated this morning thanks to Mayor Leon Goodman for his proclamation of this week as "Little Theatre Week."

Swenson said, "In behalf of the Little Theatre of Midland, I wish to thank Mayor Goodman in proclaiming next week as 'Little Theatre week.' The feature of the week will be to interest Midland in the Little Theatre, and to launch a membership campaign. Membership is open to all who may be so interested, and we are anticipating the hearty co-operation of all Midlandites. The stage is all set for a prosperous and entertaining season, but what we do need is more members, thereby assuring the splendid confidence shown us by our own city management."

Local Football 11's Play Here Monday

Junior high school plays the "C" high school team at Cowden Park Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Both teams, nucleus of later day high school squads, are described as fast and full of fight that makes for color.

Principal C. S. Hereford is the junior high coach, while the "Cs" are coached by Archie Estes and "Cy" Foster.

Hereford said this morning that the game should go against his squad 40-0, due to the "C" team outweighing his charges 15 pounds on the average.

At no place in the British Isles is the sea more than 80 miles distant.

The Distinguished Foxx

Jimmy Foxx, who distinguished himself with a home run in the first game of the world series, repeated in the second game, driving the pill into the temporary bleachers when two men were on in the third inning.

Midland Hardware Lands Big Contract

Award of contract for office furniture to be placed in the new city hall has been made to the Midland Hardware and Furnishing store, George D. McCormick, manager of the store, announced Saturday.

Beautiful walnut furnishing will be used throughout.

Midland Surgeon To Chicago Meet

Dr. John B. Thomas left Midland Friday night for Chicago, where he will attend a week's session of the American College of Surgeons.

For seven more weeks, Dr. Thomas will spend his time in New York and Philadelphia clinics, where he will witness the most interesting surgical operations performed in leading hospitals.

Daily bulletins issued by famous surgeons will provide an elective guide from which may be selected the operation course for the next day.

Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. M. R. Shelton, sister to Mrs. Thomas who has been visiting in Midland this summer, accompanied the surgeon.

Dr. Thomas has been attending the annual meetings of the society of surgeons, with but three exceptions, since he was admitted to the fellowship in 1919.

Latest News From Field Called In

Reports from the Winkler field telephoned The Reporter-Telegram Saturday:

Shull-Terry No. 1 drilling in sandy lime at 3333 feet, with a slight showing of gas.

B. F. Faber No. 1 State, total depth 56 feet, in quicksand and awaiting a rotary rig.

McKinley No. 1 located and shut down.

Humble A-Kloh at C-1 drilling at 1100 feet in lime.

Nothing Exclusive In Dad-Son Banquet

There will be nothing of an exclusive nature in the Father and Son banquet to be held for Midland county fathers and their sons on the night of October 21, in the crystal room of Hotel Schubarber.

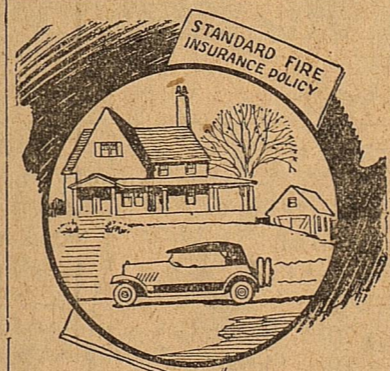

Everyone older than 21 years is invited to come, whether he has a son or not. By calling either of the five Midland scoutmasters, a boy can be secured for the night.

A ticket admits two, the "father" and the "son." Several bachelors have already borrowed boys for the night.

The history of the banquet plan is an interesting one. The ancient Romans and Carthaginians once held banquets at annual intervals for the purpose of training the youth of the noble empire in the manly art of speech and comprehension of terms. Priam's City of Troy was not without its observance of the custom.

From those early dates on through modern time the custom has persisted, and Midland is one of the Texas cities to observe the occasion this year.

Wallpaper can be washed with a soft cloth and benzine.

Intersectional Games

There are four choice intersectional games on today's program:

Yale vs. Georgia at Athens.

Nebraska vs. Syracuse at Syracuse.

Notre Dame vs. Navy at Baltimore.

Vanderbilt vs. Minnesota at Minneapolis.

There are other big games on the program but these four are stand-outs. If you can pick four winners out of the above group, you can turn tens into twenties all day long.

Yale, Syracuse, Notre Dame and Minnesota are favored to win. Chances are that two of these will lose.

Georgia has Yale in a nice spot to beat the Eli. Georgia has been pointing for Yale since the training season opened. Already beaten, Georgia can take chances. Yale may have the better football team and yet lose to an inspired Georgia eleven, playing before a home crowd in its own stadium.

It is the first time Yale ever crossed the Mason and Dixon line to play a southern team and the longest trip a Yale football squad ever made.

Syracuse almost slipped up on Nebraska last year, losing a questionable 7 to 6 game. One play in the game aroused quite a bit of comment afterwards and many competent critics expressed the opinion Syracuse scored a safety and should have won, 8 to 7. The play was ruled a touchback and Syracuse lost. Both have veteran teams. Nebraska had a hard game with S. M. U. last week and a long trip on top of it. Coach Dana X. Bible may not have the Cornhuskers quite ready for Syracuse.

There is a familiar saying around the smoke shops—"Don't bet against Rockne and God." Notre Dame beat the Navy last year, 7 to 0. Both have better teams this year. Notre Dame has a great halfback in Martin Brill, who played one year with Pennsylvania. He will bear a lot of watching. Navy has a rugged defense. It should be one of the best games of the year.

Dan McCugin's teams are always hard to beat. This year's Vanderbilt team appears to be stronger than usual. The Commodores are apt to test Minnesota to the limit before the Gophers win, if they do.

Among the other big games today are the following:
Purdue vs. Michigan at Lafayette.

Wisconsin vs. Northwestern at Madison

California vs. Washington State at Berkeley.

Chicago vs. Indiana at Chicago.

New York vs. Fordham at New York.

Ohio State vs. Iowa at Columbus.

Princeton vs. Brown at Princeton.

Troop 54 Organized In Boy Scout Move

Troop No. 54 was organized Friday evening at 7 o'clock. It is sponsored by the First Baptist church. This is the fourth troop to be organized in Midland. James P. Harrison will be the scout master with Claude O. Crane and Charles Nolan assistant scout masters. Following are the names of the charter members of this troop.

- A. D. Roberts
- Billie Myerick
- Renfro Richmon
- Frederick Mitchell
- Durwood Richmon
- Billy Fine
- John Roden
- Clark Brashear
- Elbert Greenhill
- James Walker
- Brooks Roberts
- Landon Huntsman
- O. W. Roberts

This troop is to have a Cub patrol for members who are not old enough to be eligible just to be scouts. They will be working and when they are twelve will receive their badges and uniform, provided they can pass the test.

The troop met on the Baptist church lawn, where the business was conducted, after which the boys were guests of Assistant Scoutmaster Claude O. Crane, at refreshments. All boys 12 years or older that do not already belong to troops are eligible to join.
