Dixiecrat Candidate Will Present Platform In City

It is no secret that the States Rights Democrats are concentrating their heavy fire on Texas, plotting an intensive campaign designed to grab the largest bloc of electoral votes in the South.

That they are meeting with some success in their efforts is shown in Harris county on August 28, an din the domination they are exhibiting in other population centers of the state.

It is not entirely surprising, then, that no less a personage than the Dixiecrats' presidential candidate, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, should include West Texas in his campaign tour. Gov. Thurmond will be in Big Spring on Thursday, and will make a major address in Lubbock Thursday evening.

One does not have to be entirely in accord with the states' rightsers' views to want to accord the visiting dignitary a cordial welcome. Gov. Thurmond is a man of recognized stature and ability, and has a distinguished record as a public figure. About the only people who really have it in for him, as we understand it, are the Democratic readers who think he ought to be read out of their party.

The Dixiecrats candidate will afford West Texas a chance to get an undercount range. For that, a visit by the presidential candidate and his policies at standing candidate is to be welcomed, and Gov. Thurmond is due a real West Texas welcome.

European Rehabilitation Not Yet Put On Permanent Basis

Despite the fixed purpose of the Congress of United States to make the Marshall Plan a pump-priming measure for European recovery, the nations receiving it are little if any distance on their way to become self-supporting and resume their place in the world as independent nations.

There is continued objection, to the urging of administrators of the fund, to put their financial affairs in order, to stabilize their money so that their people will know when they go to bed that their francs or lire or gulden or whatever they call their money will be worth the same next morning. They are using our money and merchandise, and asking for more.

Greece objects to the salaries we are paying the men stationed there, as being too large in proportion to what Greek officials are being paid, though it is all our money doing the paying. France changes "governments" every little while because the people's representatives object to measures that are intended to hold prices and wages down until the country returns to a solid foundation. Holland is "borrowing" our money and using millions of dollars of it to maintain and increase military and naval forces in Indonesia to prevent the natives selling tin and rubber under the prices set by the Dutch cartels.

All these things are scattered instances of what is being done, or not done, in the Europe we have set out to rescue from need. It is all very discouraging to those of us who are not politicians, and not using the public money, taxed from private individuals to further political fortunes. We are in it up to our necks, or deeper, and when and how to get out is all a problem that is as yet not near a solution.

World Council Of Churches Takes Punch At Capitalism

By MAX HALL
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (AP) — The World Council of Churches, an organization of Protestant churches in more than 40 countries, meeting at Amsterdam, has been having an argument over capitalism.

This argument has stirred much interest and curiosity especially in the United States, the largest capitalistic country in the world.

Here's what it's all about:

Thursday the Council received from one of its sections a report entitled "The Church and the Disorder of Society," which said in part:

"The Christian Church should reject the ideologies of both communism and capitalism, and should seek to draw men away from the false assumption that these are the only alternatives. Each has made promises which it could not redeem."

YESTERDAY CHARLES P. TAFT, A United States delegate, objected to the wording of the report which was released while he was absent from the Council sessions.

Taft, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, said he would fight for an amendment changing ing "capitalism" to "laissez faire capitalism." He said this is the kind of capitalism the majority of the section had in mind, and not capitalism in all its variations.

In economics, laissez faire is the doctrine which demands that the government stay out of economic affairs. It opposes governmental interference intended to regulate or foster industry or labor.

If the writers of the Amsterdam document condemn both laissez faire capitalism and communism, what do they favor? They favor something in between. They don't necessarily agree on what this is.

DR. JOHN C. BENNETT, ANOTHER American delegate who had a lot to do with drawing up the original report, told reporters it is difficult to define this middle road. He said it could not be defined in terms of a label, such as socialism, but would mean "experimentation between certain limits."

A correspondent for the Chicago Daily News quotes Bennett as saying: "There can be no hard and fast Christian economic system, but the closest thing to what we have in mind is the democratic socialism in England."

Great Eduard Benes Driven To Misplaced Trust By West

CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S EDUARD BENES, died a victim of misplaced trust, for there is no doubt his stout heart was broken by the Red rape of the republic which he helped form and twice served as president.

Benes placed trust in Bolshevist Russia, only to see the government of the little republic seized by Communists in a coup last February. He would have stopped the tragedy if he could, but in the extremity he was helpless.

He had gambled on Moscow's professions of good will and he had lost.

THE CONQUERING COMMUNISTS, reportedly backed by an infiltration of Russian police, browbeat Benes until he was a wreck. Then came the violent death of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, son of Dr. Thomas Masaryk, co-founder of the republic and Benes' lifelong friend. The Communists said Jan Masaryk had jumped to his death from a window of the foreign ministry, but some who claim to know say he was the victim of foul play.

It was then that Benes resigned the presidency — a broken disillusioned man. The "Communist government still called him "president" in the official announcements as he lay in death. And well they might, for Benes lives on in the hearts of his enslaved people. He remains their leader as they struggle through the dark valley of servitude towards the light of a new freedom.

SO BENES WAS THE VICTIM OF A misplaced trust, but one hazards the belief that history will say he had no other choice than to cast the lot of his people with Russia. He had seen Czechoslovakia made the pawn of mistaken efforts at appeasement by the western European powers—He who was more western in his ideals than many westerners themselves. He had seen his country's Sudetenland sacrificed to the ravenous demands of Hitler. Finally he had seen Czechoslovakia overrun by the hobbled boots of Nazi military.

Small wonder that Czechoslovakians felt the western powers had sold them down the river. Small wonder that when the world war finally was over, Czechoslovakia should have looked towards Moscow for security.

I think we must conclude that while Benes' trust in the Soviet Union was misplaced, yet events over which he had no control forced him to his decision. His fate and his beloved country's fate can be charged to appeasement.

Show Belgian Goods

MALINES, Belgium (AP) — A floating commercial fair will leave Belgium next November to bring an exhibit of Belgian goods to prospective buyers around the world. The 10,000 ton ship "Captain Parrot" is now being refitted to contain 250 exhibition stands which will be made available to Belgian manufacturers.

The ship is scheduled to sail from Antwerp to Pernambuco and Rio de Janeiro. From Brazil she will go to Buenos Aires, then to Valparaiso, Callao and Acapulco, Mexico. After a visit to Los Angeles and San Francisco, the ship will go through the Panama Canal to visit Venezuela, New Orleans, Havana, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. # John L. Lewis's Intimates Whisper A Tale That He Will Retire Soon

By ROBERT ALLEN
For DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis intimates are whispering a startling report about him.

They say he is seriously considering retiring as president of the United Mine Workers at the union's Oct. 2 convention in Cincinnati.

Poor health is given as Lewis' reason.

The 68-year-old miner czar has had a number of sick spells in the last few years. He is suffering from a circulatory ailment that affects the heart. The past two months Lewis was in seclusion at a Montana health resort, on the advice of his doctors.

If Lewis does quit, his successor will be UMW vice president, Tom Kennedy. Short, quiet-mannered, soft-spoken and friendly, he is the direct antithesis to the turbulent and melodramatic Lewis. But the two men are very close. They grew up together in the union, and Kennedy always has been intensely loyal to Lewis.

When Phil Murray broke with Lewis and threw up the UMW vice presidency to become CIO boss, Murray asked Kennedy to come with him. Kennedy stayed with Lewis.

Lewis' retirement plan, according to intimates, does not include complete separation from the UMW. He will retain an active hold on its affairs. As a sort of president emeritus, drawing his $25,000 salary as a life pension, Lewis will continue a member of the union's multimillion-dollar welfare fund.

If Lewis steps down, he will do so at the peak of his power and with his union larger and more prosperous than at any time in its stormy history. Miners are drawing more pay than ever before, receive bigger pensions, and the UMW treasury bulges with over $10,000,000 in government securities.

TOLD OFF

Phil Murray did some harsh talking to Wallace Hackers at the CIO executive board meeting that voted to support President Truman for re-election.

The leftists tried to block this, but were voted down overwhelmingly. Murray made no bones about his resentment at them.

"Union leaders who do a lot of yammering about civil rights aren't helping us very much in our own fight for civil rights in the South," he declared. "The CIO is the only organization which permits white men and black men to join the same union and to share equally in the benefits both are fighting for. Let those who clamor about the plight of the Negro and labor in the South show whether they are doing as much as we are."

"Empty talk is one thing, and doing something is another. The CIO is really doing something about civil rights, and that's a lot more than can be said for certain elements doing a lot of loud bleating. The CIO is not going to permit itself to be stultified by any ideological splinter group."

Albert Fitzgerald, head of the leftist-controlled United Electrical Workers, had vigorously opposed the Truman endorsement. But after Murray's scorching blast, Fitzgerald kept silent.

SHORTS

Walter Reuther is certain of overwhelming re-election as head of the powerful United Auto Workers. The attempt of Richard Leonard, former vice president, to stage a comeback against Reuther is getting nowhere . . . The AFL's press relations section, long one of the most ineffectual in Washington, has sunk to a new low. Capital newsmen completely disregard it . . . One surprise at the CIO executive board meeting was the disclosure that Lee Pressman, former general counsel who was recently accused of being a Communist before the House Un-American Activities Committee, and an associate lawyer had charged the union $84,000 to fight a court case against the Taft-Hartley Act . . . When George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer, was asked if he would support Governor Dewey, the reply was, "I have never voted the Republican ticket in my life and I don't intend to do so this year."

James Carey, whip-smart young CIO secretary, so far has traveled over 50,000 miles this year, chiefly by plane . . . Labor chiefs make no secret of their intention to seek a fourth round of pay increases if the labor market remains tight next spring and prices continue high.

STICKING

William Green is not quitting his AFL presidency this year—some certain ambitious younger labor chiefs have been hoping he would.

Green, 75 years old, will run for another term at the AFL convention in Cincinnati, Nov. 15. His re-election is certain. It will make his 25th consecutive term.

Not in the best of health, Green has been wavering on retiring for several years. There was considerable inner AFL talk about that last year. But with the stormy John L. Lewis then an AFL vice president and presumably waiting for an opening to grab Green's place, the latter decided to stick. Subsequently, when Lewis "disaffiliated," talk again rose on the possibility of Green stepping out.

But he has again decided to stay another year. Green feels the inner AFL situation is still too unsettled.

The two most likely prospects as his successor are George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer, and George Harrison, head of the Railway Clerks Brotherhood.

Smart, aggressive, and former head of the New York State Federation of Labor, Meany has been itching for Green's job a long time. Also able, Harrison is generally more popular than Meany. For Harrison, the $20,000 AFL presidency would mean a $5,000 cut in pay.

OMITTED

There was a very good reason for the absence of "Big Bill" Hutchison, long-time carpenter boss, at the AFL executive board meeting in Chicago that organized a special campaign committee to support President Truman. Hutchison was not invited.

An ardent Republican, he headed the labor division of the Republican national committee for 1932 to 1944. Hutchison's opposition to the Taft-Hartley Act is credited as the reason for his not holding the same post this year.

Berry Aims His Talents At Family Film Trade

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Berry will talk."

That message, whispered into the phone by an MGM aide, was a signal for action. Wally was just back from a trip to Europe and was willing to converse.

Berry the inscrutable! Berry, Hollywood's best-known, best-loved screen sleep!

I hastened out to Culver City and found the actor plumped in a chair in a studio office. His face was shaven, his hair combed, but the Berry informality wasn't lacking: He was in shirt sleeves with the collar spread wide.

Berry talked about his film following, a band of enthusiasts only slightly less rabid than supporters of the Brooklyn baseball club. "A lot of men like my pictures," he divulged. "They're seeing those pretty boys on the screen all the time."

"I also attract a lot of kids—and that's a good thing. Because the old man and old lady want to go along to the show that two or three of their brats are going to."

"And they'll know they'll be getting good clean entertainment with a few laughs thrown in. They won't get any filth in my pictures."

Berry has been a film commodity since the early flicker days when he played a Swedish parlor maid. He has weathered every kind of cycle. "For awhile, I played nothing but kings," he recalled. "Then it was sea pictures and I didn't shave for two or three years. Then it was westerns, then I played Mexicans and so forth."

In his next opus, "The Big Man," he returns to his screen sparling mate, Marjorie Main.

"We do a picture together about every two years," he said. "That's enough." He added that it's a backwoods story of the early 1800's, "and she can let herself go—spit tobacco and everything."

The next film will be his last under his contract with MGM, where he has stayed two whole decades. Would he sign again? "I don't know—they haven't discussed it."

Then he smirked, "I'll find a job somewhere—always have."

County Courthouse Is Nerve Center Of Area It Serves

For a place which perhaps maintains a more complete history of the individual and his business than perhaps any other single function in the world, less is probably known about the county court house by the persons who pay toward its upkeep than any other single business.

The local court house, which is in every other county-seat serves as the capital and nerve center of the community to which it caters, is situated here in the heart of the business district—at Third and Main street—but with many it might as well be surrounded by a moat.

A majority of the people approach it rarely. Once they do enter the building, they likely as not need a guide to show them about the place. Invariably, they enter the wrong office when seeking information.

The local court house houses such offices as the county clerk, the county superintendent, justice of peace, county treasurer, county auditor, tax-collector-assessor and sheriff's office, all on the first floor, and the district clerk, county judge, commissioners' court room, district judge's chambers and the county surveyor, as well as the district court, all to be found on the second floor.

The county clerk is commissioned to record warranty deeds, deeds of trust, chattel mortgages, keep minutes of the county commissioners' meetings as well as maintain up-to-date records on births and deaths and issue marriage licenses.

The county superintendent is a central working point for school business as operated outside the city. Statistics on all scholastics are maintained there.

Justice court, where all cases not falling under the jurisdiction of the county and district courts (e. g., traffic and bogus checking cases), is presided over by the justice of the peace. That individual also issues arrest warrants and is commissioned to conduct marriages.

The public probably is familiar with the duties of most of the other functions. The county judge not only sits on the bench in county court cases but serves with the commissioners' court as well. The district clerk maintains a file of all cases heard in district court (both civil and criminal).

Damage suits and felonies are always heard in district court.

The court house also serves an important purpose during elections. Four voting boxes from all precincts within the county must be forwarded there for final checking.

Persons would be doing themselves and their county a favor by becoming more familiar with the duties of their public servants.—TOMMY HART

Quitting White Collar New American Success Story

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A WHITE COLLAR friend of mine says he has decided against buying his infant heir a set of nursery blocks.

"I'm going to bring him home a stack of bricks to play with," he said grimly. "And instead of sending him to college I'm going to make him study up on the entrance examinations for the bricklayers' union."

He said he had decided this after reading that union bricklayers here now get $38 for an eight-hour day—that's $135 for five days. And overtime brings extra rates.

"What's the use of raising my boy to be a white collar worker," sighed my friend, "if he won't earn enough even to send the collar to the laundry?"

He was half-kidding, but there is no doubt that the new look for the white collar class is beginning to be "the frazzled look." Today it is the man in overalls who is the glamor boy on pay night. His jeans rustle with the tender music of many bank notes.

worker—he's fallen on evil days. His prestige and pocketbook are lower than the underbelly of an earthworm. Momentarily at least he is the lost generation, the man squeezed hardest by the high price of porkchops. He has to fight so hard now just to keep up appearances that he no longer can afford to play the great American game of keeping up with the Joneses. This is particularly true if neighbor Jones hoists a hammer for a living or flexes his muscles in people's bathrooms.

For the man with the callous—the bricklayer, the plumber, the carpenter, the farmer—who mail for money. And he paints the town red on Saturday night, while the white collar man sits at home glumly pondering why he frittered away his youth learning to conjugate "amo, amas, amat" when he could have been learning a trade.

Sons of white collar fathers are taking off their coats in order to make more money than their fathers ever did. Going from shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves in three generations" is no longer a record of family failure.

It's the new American success story.

Removal Of Our European Troops Would Aid Situation

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Little more was to be expected at this time than the tentative and precarious arrangement about Berlin which may now have been arrived at. For in the larger conflict between East and West there is a stalemate. Neither side is prepared to decide the issue by war. Neither side is compelled to surrender on the vital issues. They are too irreconcilably divided to settle by agreement.

In the diplomatic negotiations of this summer both sides have recognized the existence of this stalemate. Both have realized that they need to prolong the stalemate and that all they could agree on was that this was not the time for the showdown. The conflict will, of course, continue. But the diplomats have probably succeeded in avoiding the showdown, for which no one was ready, and in holding the conflict just below the level of open and uncontrollable violence.

There may, therefore, be a pause. That at least is the optimistic view, and if it is correct, there may be time to prepare and improve our position before the next crisis develops. I venture to believe that we can do that if we grasp the opportunity, which is still open to us, to define clearly and concretely a doctrine addressed to all the nations and states of Europe on the expansion of the Russian Soviet Empire.

The doctrine would call not for the containment of Russia by America in the center of Europe but for the retirement of Russia from Europe and the restoration of Europe to the Europeans.

There are, I know, difficulties and objections which have inhibited us from taking this position. I have been made well aware of them, having discussed this thesis in print for a year, and privately with many responsible public men on both sides of the Atlantic and on both sides of the iron curtain. But if the reader will bear with me, I should like to sum up what seem to be the compelling advantages of our declaring, explicitly and in measured language, that the paramount objective of our European policy is to end the occupation of Europe by non-European powers and to restore to the European nations the control of the destiny of Europe.

I hold that such a declaration would clarify the real issue of the conflict, and would in the course of time exercise an influence on events not unlike that of the Monroe Doctrine a century and a quarter ago. The Monroe Doctrine declared our intentions to end the expansion of alien empire over the two American continents. We ought to declare our intention to use our influence to bring to an end the unpardonable and intolerable expansion of alien empire over the continent of Europe.

I have little doubt that our influence would mount if we made this, rather than containment, our declared objective in Europe. For then we should be identified with the liberation of Europe, with the pride, honor, and hopes of the Europeans, and not—as I think we are today—with the idea that the European continent is an expendable object in the struggle between Russia and America, and not with the idea that the Europeans who value freedom must take sides with us as the lesser of the two unpleasant evils offered to them.

Collectivization

KATOWICE, Poland (AP)—The productive capacity of Poland's millions of peasants soon may be absorbed in a sweeping collectivization scheme. Leaders of the Communist Workers' Party, which wields the top power in this country, are demanding that all peasants' farms production be "socialized." The first big step in that direction is under way in Upper Silesia. Members of the Peasants' Self-Help Union approved "stimulating and radicalizing the peasant masses in joint work for the cooperative movement."

Eight "mutual help villages" are operating and 40 more are planned. In one district, the sponsors say, collective effort has increased the efficiency of farms and the farmers have built several miles of highway and rebuilt their barns. Communist leaders say socialization is the only way to raise living standards of the average farmer and prevent him from being exploited by the peasant who is financially better off.

There's a serious, well-intentioned attack in progress on the indiscriminate wearing of dark glasses.
Eye doctors and organizations like the National Association for the Prevention of Blindness point out it's silly or worse to mask the eyes with heavily tinted lenses in situations where eye protection is unnecessary.
It's a real safety menace to wear the average pair of dark glasses at night—particularly driving a car claim some of the experts. Very few of us are in actual need of them in softly-lit rooms, like nightclubs.
Nevertheless, dark glasses are definitely a vogue. There's even a theory that many people wear dark lenses when they don't need to because they are insecure and, like ostriches with their heads in the sand, feel hidden behind the frames.

But none of the current efforts, let me tell you, is going to banish unneeded dark glasses from the bridge of the nose. No matter how sensible the arguments, they will fail unheeded. What they've got to do is to provide a substitute, a stylish one.
Pick up any fashion magazine, any season of the year. Those issues devoted to summer modes show mannequin after mannequin, slim, casual and lovely, in perfectly fitted slacks, shorts and bathing suits. And wearing dark glasses.
If a girl is at all fashion-conscious—and who isn't—she soon gets the idea that goggles with tinted lenses must be worn to complete the costume, whether the sun is shining or thunder is rumbling overhead.
Take a periodical showing winter styles. There are the models again, in marvelously tailored, expensive ski and after-ski clothes, there are the dark glasses again, dangling smartly from the wrists or banding the eyes like a Mardi Gras mask. It is pretty apparent that a girl wouldn't dare boast her toes at an open fire with her eyes immodestly uncovered for all the world to see.
Take the movie stars. Are they ever caught unposed and unaware without cheaters that stand out black and startling?
It wasn't sensible advice that spelled the end of Grandmother's tightly laced corsets and hour-glass figure. Grandma suffered, swooned and even took a physical beating changing herself into a fashionable mold. She only called the whole thing off when a fashion edict was issued.
The people who want to police up the dark glasses situation will just have to start working on the people who design and merchandise clothes.
There are those of us who can't see across tea table without an optical assist and who remember all too well Dorothy Parker's admonition about girls who wear glasses. We are the myopic—a word we prefer to "near-sighted,"—and we've loved every minute of the dark-glasses vogue. For the last few years, equipped with our fashionable frames, we have felt trucked and secure from speeding trucks. Myopic people, for some strange reason, would rather confess to shoplifting than admit for one minute they can't see very far.
We'll be the ones who really suffer if the sensible people prevail. We'll have the same old choice left to us: Whether to squint, fall to see acquaintances on the street and count every street crossing a hazard or see everything through clear, unattractive, untinted eyeglasses. Probably most of us will choose to squint.

Lack Of Tresses May Be Distressing

By BETTY CLARKE
Now it's the lack of tresses that distresses. All the glamor experts say you'll be wearing long hair come fall. Only it won't be your own hair.
Hairdressers had just persuaded the girls to cut their hair off, and along came milliners in fall fashion shows, showing their chapeaux worn with added tresses. As one milliner stated and demonstrated by removing the added hair-piece from the nape of the neck of her model, "Most of the new fall hats look ridiculous with short hair."
The reason for this is that many of the hats are worn straight on the head, with the back of the hat shallow. Such a hat calls for more hair in back than most of today's sheared women possess.
Hairdressers can't see any reason why the girls should be upset. After all, they say, you can hop the comfort and fun of short hair, yet achieve the long-haired look whenever you want it, just by adding a braid, chignon or curls.
Most women will have to decide for themselves if that is what they want. If they do, it won't be difficult to find the tresses. You can even get budget priced ones by mail order. These are said to match the hair sample perfectly and to be easily arranged at home.

Miracle Healer Has Jeep Trouble

BANGKOK, Siam, Sept. 6 (P.M.)—Mam's "miracle healer" is in a good old-fashioned hospital today. He tried to drive a jeep by intuition.
The "healer" is Samanen Noi Ratanakosin, 12-year-old novice Buddhist monk. For months, crowds of hundreds daily have been coming to him in the belief his touch healed all wounds and cured sickness.
En route in a jeep to use his powers on a bedridden patient, the young monk suddenly announced he felt an "intuitive inspiration" that he could drive a jeep. He'd never driven one before.
The jeep owner, Nat Bunsue, gave him the wheel. Samanen Ran into a bus. His miraculous powers did not halt the bleeding from scalp wounds. Bystanders took him to a hospital.

Stasey, Bosch And Mendez Hit Homers As Hosses Win

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

More than one experienced baseball man who has seen a sample of Longhorn league play this year has stated without reservation, that the organization is probably the best of the 25 Class D league operating in these United States.

If that be the case, then the Big Spring Broncs, by any measuring stick, could be referred to as the top D team throughout this broad land.

The Hosses have just romped to the full season's championship for the second year in a row. True, the scrap was much tougher this time than in 1947 but the Cayuses combined good pitching with consistent hitting — they led the league in team clouting — and fair fielding to come through with flying colors. All Big Spring should feel proud of them, for they performed like true champions when they had to and, no matter what their faith in the playoffs, their feat of pacing the pack cannot be overlooked.

The league's pennant is awarded annually to the team winning the Shaughnessy round but most every one recognizes the full season pace setter as the king. A titlist simply cannot be decided in one or two short series.

LOCALS NEVER HAD SUSTAINED LOSING STREAK

The Big Springers hooped to the fore and stayed at or near the top throughout the eventful campaign. Their longest losing streak was four games. That bumpy stretch came early in the season when they were hobbled by Vernon thrice and then dropped the first of a two-game set to Midland.

STASEYS WON SEASON'S SERIES FROM ALL TEAM

Over the season, the locals compiled a record considered very difficult in baseball, that of winning the year's series from every opponent in the league.

When the Hosses throttled Vernon here Sunday, they sewed the final stitch in that championship fabric. The Dusters came to town all even in games last Saturday played with the locals. Each contingent had gained nine decisions. The sweep of the two-game set enabled the Staseys to win that particular round, 11 to 9.

THREE SERIES WEREN'T DECIDED UNTIL LAST SETS

Both Ballinger and San Angelo still had a chance to fight the Broncs to a standoff until their final meetings but the resident nine rose to the challenge on each occasion.

The margin of the Ballinger series was 11-8 favoring Big Spring — one game of the engagements was not played while the Hosses succeeded in nudging Angelo 12 times in 20 tries.

Big Spring has done even better against the other clubs in the league. Del Rio fell before the Cayuses 15 times in 20 games. Odessa felt the sting of the Bronc offensive 12 times in 19 outings. Midland was thrashed 11 times in 17 contests with two games still to be played.

Sweetwater dropped 12 of its 20 games to Big Spring. The Indians, incidentally, were the only team to hold the edge over Our Town in 1947 and that by one game.

H. G. HAMBRICKS MUST BE CHAMP BRONC ROOTERS

Probably the Bronc's champion rooters are Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hambrick, formerly of Stanton and now of Cisco.

The Hambricks have seen the Hosse perform whenever they were in this vicinity. They departed last week to assume new jobs in Cisco — he becomes the grade school principal there and she will teach — but they plan on returning next weekend to see as many games of the playoff as they can.

Incidentally, Hambrick is hopeful of starting a girls' basketball team in Cisco. He was a very successful coach at Stanton, twice took his teams to the state meet at Hillaboro.

VISITORS RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hart and family of Dallas, who have been visiting friends and relatives here, have returned to their home. She is the former Estia Henderson.

PLAYOFF SERIES OPENS AT VERNON WEDNESDAY NITE

The Big Spring Broncs and Vernon Dusters, opponents here Sunday in the final Longhorn league game of the year in Steer park, will open their first round playoff series Wednesday night in Vernon.

The Broncs and Dusters will battle on the Vernon diamond again Thursday night and then return here Friday night. Steer park will be the scene of action for three games if that many are needed to decide the first round victor, and then if more hits are required they will shift operations back to Vernon. Four victories are required to determine a winner in a playoff series. The Hosses will complete their regular season schedule tonight in Midland where they will oppose Harold Webb's third-place Indians in a holiday doubleheader. The first game of the bargain is booked for 8 p. m.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mrs. G. W. Radnof, who underwent major surgery at the Big Spring hospital Saturday, is reporting doing very satisfactory. Mrs. Radnof's mother, Mrs. Martha Hamilton, Decatur, Ill., arrived Friday to be at her bedside.

Locals Wind Up Home Campaign

The Big Spring baseball Broncs rang down the curtain on their 1948 home schedule by thumping the Vernon Dusters, 8-6, before approximately 1,000 fans Sunday.

Booming home runs by Manager Pat Stasey, Ace Mendez and Ortillo Bosch helped decide the issue, which kept the Hosses' league lead at four games over the second-place Odessa Oilers. It was numbers nine, 15 and four, respectively, for Stasey, Mendez and Bosch.

Every one on the Big Spring roster saw action in the eventful struggle. Stasey used four pitchers, four infielders, five outfielders and two catchers in the two hour, seven minute swiftness.

The North Texans started out breathing fire and brimstone, cooled off for a while and then surged again in the late innings only to fall when the chips were really down.

The guests had their biggest chance in the sixth inning when they chased Julio Ramos, the Hosse's second pitcher, after loading the sacks, but Freddy Rodriguez came on to put out the fire by striking out Gwin Simons, Cotton McCaskey and Harry Scherling in succession.

In the very next inning, the Dusters routed Rodriguez, after Freddy had issued two bases on balls to populate the bags but this time Peerless Pancho Perez came to the rescue and secured the catches. He did it by pitching one ball, Simons forcing Eddie Jacome at third.

Jimmy Perez, who started on the firing line for Big Spring, didn't retire a man though he couldn't be saddled with all the blame. Ernie Klein mopped up a certain double play ball on Hap Holliday's hopper. It remained for Ramos—who was destined to be the winning pitcher—to ease the Steeds out of a bad spot in that round.

Ten misplays marred the bout, six of which were committed by the Cayuses.

The Big Springers treated their former team mate, Larry Shaw, like a cousin. Bosch's two-run round tripper in the fourth was the big blow.

DIAMOND DUST—Lloyd Rigby, usually one of the better fielders in the league, had a bad time of it, committing three bobbles. Rigby hit a 3-0 pitch off Ramos in the third and popped to Ray Vasquez. Justo Azpiazu almost fell while accepting McCaskey's tall fly in the third. Klein showed speed in beating out a punt in the fourth inning. Rigby went for a pitch in the fifth and the bat flew out of his hands, going half way to the Big Spring dugout. Lupito Gonzalez failed to anchor himself on second base after taking a throw from Rigby and missed a double play, although he did nip Bobby Fernandez at first. The win was Ramos' second of the season as against two defeats. Ace Mendez stole two sacks during the contest, bringing his total to 40 for the season.

Red Devil, Rex Mobley Clash At Grapple Club

All the requisites for a pulse-quickening imbroglio will be in evidence at the Big Spring Athletic club on East Third street this evening.

Two matches Promoter Pat O'Dowdy thinks will be worthy of any one's time and money will be unexcelled. There may be a festive air, what with this being a holiday and all, but the four principals will be hard at work.

The feature attraction will pit Sammy Kohen, perhaps better identified as the Red Devil, a dour, sullen, villain of villains. He's had any list of rogues who have ever grappled here, and that is saying a lot since some of the most famous meanies of the ring world have worked in and out here.

Mobley will be the popular favorite, and, if he drapes Kohen around a ring post and does it with foul tactics, that will probably be okay-doke with the onlooker. In the other duel, Bill (Ace) Abbott of Abilene is going out against George Curtis, the fair-haired youth from Tennessee.

Proceedings set underway at the Sportatorium at 8:30 o'clock.

Lomakin in Sweden

GOETEBERG, Sweden, Sept. 4.—Jacob M. Lomakin, Russi expelled consul general to New York, arrived in Goeteborg this morning, stirring up excitement such as used to occur when Gre Garbo paid one of her rare visits here.

Chicago is the only team in the All-America pro football Conference which carded no exhibition games for 1948.

Crues Ties Joe Hauser's Mark

Amarillo's slugger outfielder, Bob Crues, gets two chances tonight to tie the record of 69 set in 1933 by Joe Hauser of Minneapolis of the American Association.

The 29-year-old outfielder last night hit two home runs against Pampa to tie the record of 69 set in 1933 by Joe Hauser of Minneapolis of the American Association.

Crues and Amarillo play a doubleheader at Amarillo tonight as the West Texas-New Mexico League season comes to an end. Pampa took the decision from the Gold Sox, 13-12.

In other games, Albuquerque defeated Lamesa, 7-5; Clovis downed Abilene, 13-11, and Lubbock and Berger split. Berger won the first game, 12-9, Lubbock the second 22-3.

Home runs were cheap last night. John Bottarini, R. C. Oley and Dave Teyema hit them for Pampa; Doug Lewis, Paul Halter and Dick Goutkas for Amarillo.

In the Lubbock-Berger doubleheader, Parr Fowler hit three homers for Lubbock and so did Frank McAlexander and Don Moore. Moore got all of his in the second game. Virgil Richardson also socked one for the Hubbers, while Leon Mitchell hit two, Gordon Neil, Eddie Carnett and Bob Ferguson one each for Berger.

Lee Zamora was married to Miss Stella Navarro in a home plate ceremony at Albuquerque, then pitched the Dukes to victory over Lamesa.

Four Abilene errors helped Clovis to three runs in the eighth and that was good enough to win.

The 1948 nine-game exhibition game schedule of the All-America pro football Conference is the most ambitious yet tackled by the three-year-old loop.

Red Devil, Rex Mobley Clash At Grapple Club

George Curtis, the fair-haired youth from Tennessee. Abbott is getting along in years and has Curtis beaten in experience by several years. He's still a durable man, however, and should make Curtis hustle all the way. There'll be no rough stuff in that one, unless one or the other has been smitten with the Red Devil's tricks.

Lomakin in Sweden

GOETEBERG, Sweden, Sept. 4.—Jacob M. Lomakin, Russi expelled consul general to New York, arrived in Goeteborg this morning, stirring up excitement such as used to occur when Gre Garbo paid one of her rare visits here.

Chicago is the only team in the All-America pro football Conference which carded no exhibition games for 1948.

FINALS OVER 36 HOLES

Roden Faces Bill Maxwell In Invitational Finals

Just as every one had expected them to do, Bill (Red) Roden and Billy Maxwell, both of whom are representing the local course, waded into the finals of the 18th annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament Sunday.

Today the two were to tangle over 36 holes on the sun-baked country club course for the crown that Roden now wears.

Roden disposed of the veteran Oble Bristow in the semi-finals Sunday, 3 and 2, after outting Chick Trout, the aging Lubbock linkman in the quarterfinals, 3 and 2.

Bristow had advanced earlier in the day with a 5 and 4 win over Van Ligon, Midland. Trout survived his test with Bobby Maxwell, Big Spring, 4 and 3, to get at Roden.

Maxwell gets more impressive with each outing. He stopped Spud Cason, Fort Worth, in the semi-finals, 5 and 3, after knocking off Bill Crook, Big Spring, in the quarterfinals, 6 and 5. Cason had manded Bob Farmer, Odessa, in the quarterfinals, 4 and 3.

It was the first all-Big Spring final since Doug Jones surged past Eddie Morgan back in 1938.

Europe Farmers Look Enviously At A Bumper American Harvest

By The Associated Press
 European farmers beset by a late spring and heavy summer rains are looking enviously at an American bumper harvest picture that is without parallel in the nation's history.
 The all-around crop prospect in the United States is one of such abundance that the country's transportation and storage facilities already are being strained to the limit.
 For most of the countries in Western Europe, on the other hand, unfavorable summer weather, plus shortages of machinery and manpower in some areas, will mean crops generally below prewar levels.
 But even so, the European harvest promises to be a heartening improvement over that of last year—with production of some commodities expected to be double the 1947 figures.
 The situation in America shapes up this way:
 The winter wheat crop of nearly 1 billion bushels already has been harvested—bringing the total winter and spring crop to 1,284,000,000 bushels, the second largest in history. Log jams at elevators and rail shipment embargoes have characterized the winter wheat harvest, and prices have dropped below government support levels.
 America's record-smashing corn harvest of more than 3,500,000,000 bushels now is almost a certainty. Farmers are racing to put up additional crib space to handle the crop. Grain traders think it will test the whole government price-support program, possibly cracking it to pieces.
 The oat crop, virtually all harvested, will be the third largest in history. Rice will set a new record. Grain sorghum production beat all previous marks. Flaxseed production will be the second-largest in history. And the soybean crop is expected to reach a new high.

Forty-Four Games On Schoolboy Card

By The Associated Press
 Forty-four games this week will send the Texas schoolboy football campaign for the city Conference and Class AA merrily on its way. Seventy-four of the 110 teams in these two divisions have tilts Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.
 Half of the city conference teams—and there are 26 of them—will swing into action. Among the Class AAs, 22 of the field of 84 schools will play.
 Feature tilts send Austin to San Antonio to battle Brackenridge the defending state champion. Austin (Houston) at Harlingen, Kerrville at Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio), Odessa at Lubbock, Abilene at Breckenridge, Denison at San Angelo and Waxahachie at Corpus Christi are other top games.
 There will be a couple of inter-sectional contests with El Paso High entertaining Roswell, N. M., and Marshall playing host to Fair Park (Shreveport).
 There are no district conference games and most of the 44 carded will be interdistrict affairs.

LOVE IS BEYOND JUDGE'S POWER
 NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—A romance which went through a magistrate's court episode a year ago is having an orange blossom finale.
 Mrs. Beatrice Ghilomi, pretty 25-year-old war widow with Anthony Lambro, 19, have announced plans to be married next Saturday.
 The prospective bridegroom's father, Peter, has given his approval. In June, 1947, the father had objected to the love affair, largely because of the difference in ages.
 The father, charging disorderly conduct against the widow, told a magistrate that "she keeps my boy out until 3 or 4 a.m. It's not good for a boy of his age."
 Dismissing the complaint, the magistrate said, "I can't do anything about two people in love."

Four Power Talks May Be Resumed Soon In Moscow
 MOSCOW, Sept. 6. (AP)—Four-power talks on Germany may be resumed in Moscow this week, authoritative informants said today.
 While the talks among the four military governors in Berlin have not broken down nor even approached that stage, these sources said they have not been running as smoothly as could be hoped.
 Still, some progress is being made and considerable progress has been reported in the technical committees which are assisting the governors. In Moscow the general outlook on the Berlin situation now appears to be one of guarded optimism.
 Originally the negotiators here gave the military governors in Berlin a week, according to the best reports, and that time limit would run out today. There are indications, however, that more time will be given the Berlin negotiators and that the Moscow talks may not be resumed before the end of this week.
 The Communist party organ, Pravda, carried a lengthy commentary this morning criticizing the western military governors in Berlin in connection with the meeting at Bonn, where Germans from the western zones are writing a constitution for a West German state.
