Sherman Man Refuses Prison Post to Help Home Town

Filled Park Due to See Midland-Marfa Game Thursday

BIG CROWD INVADERS SCHEDULED

Barry Admits Marfa Is Stronger On Paper

When the Purple warriors of Marfa clash with the Gold of Midland Thanksgiving in Midland for the championship of District 8 of the Interscholastic League Athletic section, more color than ever assembled in Midland is due. Local dopsters point to the influence of psychology in the prediction that Cowden Park's stands will overflow and the field be ringed by a howling margin of packed humanity on that Turkey Day afternoon. Midland's Bulldogs, fresh from a rest that culminated slashing play which put them suddenly into the potential win column, have had plenty of publicity over the western part of the state as a result of the re-vivified fight of the aggregation.

Marfa Strong
Marfa, known to have one of the fastest machines ever to dig cleats in fields dedicated to West Texas high school competition, has had teams of copy paper sent to composing rooms of newspapers recently. It may be that fans of the two elevens will come from throughout the entire Permian Basin of West Texas to see the teams battle.

In a telephone conversation with the high school this morning, Professor W. W. Lackey, superintendent of city schools said that season tickets held for play of the regular seasons will not be valid for admittance on the date of the Marfa-Midland tilt.

"Those tickets were for the eastern half competition," Mr. Lackey said. "Admittance to the Thanksgiving game will be $1 for grown-ups, 50 cents for students."

Coach Concedes Strength
Coach Barry of the Bulldogs, in announcing his line-up for the game, said this morning:

"We anticipate the Marfa bunch will probably have the strongest team that has ever invaded Midland, but it does not follow that we lack confidence and determination to win.

"I have talked with some of the coaches who have lost to Marfa this season, and know in a general way the strength and weakness of that crew. The visitors have two fast and shifty backs, each with four years' experience on the club, and they are poison on line plunges and end runs.

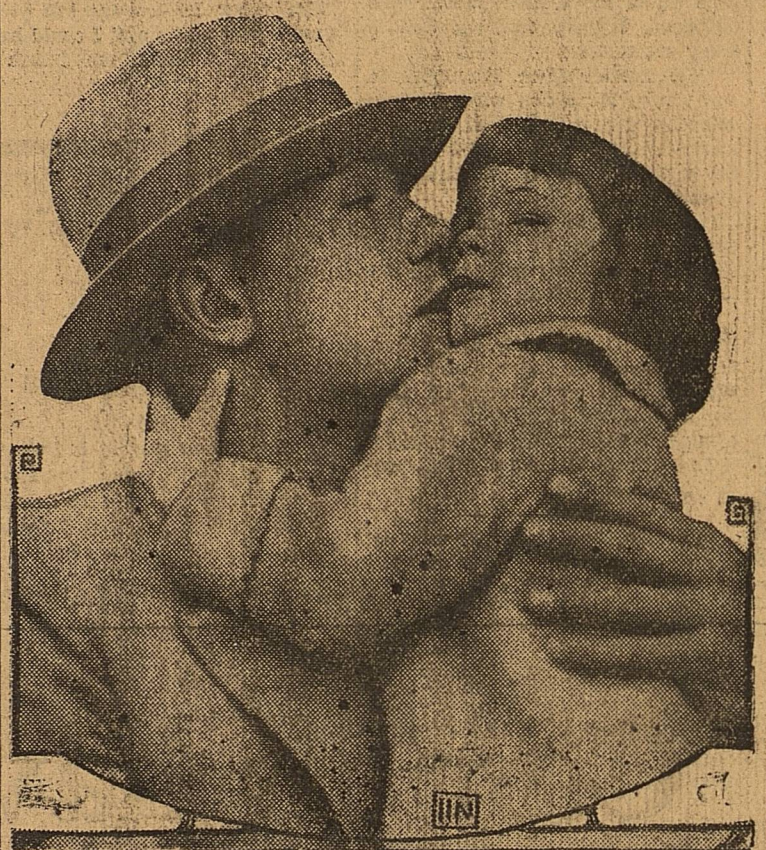

"Marfa has us licked to a frazzle on paper—but Cowden Park is not paper. The Marfa team has us outweighed about 12 pounds to the man and has weight where it counts most. Beside the four-year veterans in the backfield, Marfa boasts five other men who are playing in their third year. This is an advantage which will be hard to overlook.

Deprecates Win
"Marfa's 47-0 win over Rankin was due partly to the fact that Rankin had four regulars out of the line-up at that time, however, and does not reflect, necessarily, the comparative scores which would seem to hurt Midland, who lost to Rankin.

"One coach has described the Marfa team as fast and powerful. They use a very versatile formation which permits all sorts of plays, and work a criss-cross and spin play with precision. The team handles the ball in a manner suggestive of clockwork.

"Now, it happens that the Bulldogs are pretty fast and we have a few plays in which you can't find the ball with a microscope. Offensively, I believe we have much in reserve that we have not shown yet. We showed 200 per cent improvement between the Odessa and Pecos games. We have done little but drill on signals since we played Pecos." (Continued on Page 6)

Sharkey Visits Holy Cross Shrine With His Afflicted Daughter

The shrine in Malden, Mass., is still drawing thousands to the grave of Father Patrick Power, where miraculous cures are reported daily. Jack Sharkey, well known figure of the pugilistic world, visited the grave a few days ago with his four-year-old daughter, who was born blind in one eye. The heavyweight is shown above embracing his daughter while he hopes that she may be cured.

Law's Delay Blamed For Action of Mob

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Nov. 26.—(UP)—Law's delays were blamed generally for the lynching of Marshall Ratliff, convicted of participation in the Santa Claus robbery of a Cisco bank in which two officers were killed. The robbery took place December 23, 1927. Ratliff's case still was before the Court of Criminal Appeals here on a motion for rehearing a year and eleven months later.

This motion for rehearing was submitted to the court on October 9. It will not be "abated" upon the court being furnished affidavit of his death.

Summary Given
With the assistance of A. A. Dawson, state's attorney before the Court of Criminal Appeals a summary of the necessary steps between a criminal charge and punishment had been prepared.

In a felony case (one punishable by imprisonment or death) the case may originate either with filing a complaint or by a grand jury indictment. If the charge is made by complaint, it cannot be tried until a grand jury had indicted. The defendant must have two days after return of the indictment before being sent to trial. Trial court dockets are usually so crowded that he is more likely to have two months than two days.

New Trial Application
If he is convicted in the trial court, he has two days in which to make application for a new trial. This may be merely a formal application. It can be amended at any time before the end of the court term at which he was tried.

If the trial court refuses to grant a new trial, as is usual, the defendant then has 90 days to prepare a statement of facts to be presented to the Court of Criminal Appeals. After that it is the duty of the district clerk to prepare a transcript to go to the Court of Appeals. No limit is placed upon the time the clerk may require for this. In courts with many cases the delay is usually considerable in preparing this record.

1,000 Cases Yearly
When the appeal thus prepared is sent to the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin, it is docketed. It is then set down for hearing by the clerk of the court and attorneys notified of the date of the setting. The time between appeal and hearing depends upon the number of cases that already are pending. Records of the court show ruling in about 1,000 cases a year.

If the appeal is filed in June, it has to go over a hearing until after the first week in October as the court by law is in vacation for July, August and September.

Juggled by Judges
When the arguments have been heard by the Court of Criminal Appeals the case is assigned either to one of three members or to one of the two commissioners appointed by the governor to assist the court. After the judge to whom it was assigned has reached a decision, he writes an opinion setting down the reasons for his conclusions. That opinion then is read at a conference attended by the five judges.

If any one disagrees, he states his objection. It is considered by the five. The decision then reached by two of the three judges of the court becomes the ruling. The two members of the commission who assist the court have no vote in making this decision. If the case is affirmed, the defendant has fifteen days in which to ask a rehearing. That goes through the same course.

Opinions are handed down on Wednesday of each week during the nine months the court is in session. Mandates give the order of the court are sent back to the court from which the cases were appealed on the succeeding Friday after final action of the court. If a new trial has been granted for error in the first trial, the case starts all over again.

Death Sentences
If the case is one in which less than a death verdict was returned by the jury, the prisoner has been sentenced at the end of the court term at which he was tried. In that event, after the mandate of the Court of Criminal Appeals has been received, the defendant goes to the penitentiary whenever a penitentiary agent arrives to take him there. If the verdict has been death, the prisoner is not sentenced until the Court of Criminal Appeals has acted and sent the mandate to the trial court. The trial court then can impose sentence at any time but the execution cannot take place until thirty days after the sentence.

A second motion for rehearing can be filed at any time before execution in a death penalty case or at any time for other defendants. It does not stay carrying out of the sentence and has seldom resulted in a stay.

BOARD ASKS SIMMONS TO RECONSIDER

Is Given Until Dec. 10 To Accept Position

HOUSTON, Nov. 26. (P)—Lee Simmons, Sherman, today listed three reasons for his not accepting the general managership of the Texas prison system to which post he was elected by the prison board Monday.

"We have three big projects at home. The first is the Woodman Circle home; the second, a dairying program, and third, the new consolidated Presbyterian college. I feel that I am headed at Sherman," Simmons said.

The board persuaded Simmons to reconsider his refusal, and gave him until December 10 to change his mind.

ECTOR COUNTY NEW LOCATIONS CAUSE ACTIVITY

ODESSA, Nov. 26. (Special)—Surveys having just been completed, six new locations have just been made by the Cosden Oil company and Landreth Production company at Pennwell, fourteen miles west of Odessa in Ector county.

The Cosden Oil company unloaded its first rig Monday, on the S. E. Corner, S. 1-2, of N. E. 1-4 Section 2, University Block, and has made another location on N. E. 1-4 of same section and Block and two other locations in S. E. Corner, S. 1-2, N. E. 1-4, Section 1, University Block. The Landreth Production company has made locations in S. E. Corner, north 1-2, of N. E. 1-4 of Section 2, and another in N. E. Corner of N. 1-2, S. E. 1-4, Section 1.

This activity will doubtless require others to drill at an early date. Some of these tests offset the Penn-Atlantic-Humble on which the first Ector county producer was brought in and this same company is at this time drilling an offset to its first well and going down right along at approximately 1100 feet.

Any number of tests are being looked for about the first of the year on the Connell ranch as the leases expire on the property in 1930 without production. In this same area, we are informed the Llano Oil company will drill in the N. W. Corner of Section 18, Block 44, Township 3 south, also the Penn Oil company will start a test in January on some acreage purchased from Devonian Oil company near the south line of Township 1-North, block 44. There are unconfirmed reports that both the Shelly Oil company and Wentz Oil company will drill in the southern part of the same area in Ector county. Two townships have recently been plotted and a number of lots sold in the vicinity of this field, one to be known as Pennwell and the other Hilton.

WOMAN BANISHES BURGLARS

CHANDLER, Ind., (UP)—When Mrs. Louise Saberton was awakened from sleep by robbers ransacking her store next door she promptly flashed on the store lights from a switch in her home. Then she seized a gun and got busy. The robbers fled when she began firing. As they left in a machine they retaliated by firing several shots into the side of her house. They took no merchandise.

MIDLAND PEOPLE NOT RESPONDING TO ROTARY DRIVE

Midland people are not responding wholeheartedly to the old clothes drive being sponsored by the Rotary club, according to Malcolm Meek, president of the club.

Ample publicity has been given the drive and headquarters have been established at the chamber of commerce offices, at which place people have been asked to telephone if they have something they wish to give.

The present need is among the children. There are some who would be in school if they had clothes to wear, according to Rotarians, and there are some who would be protected in part from the ravages of winter if they had just a little more clothing.

The drive for the clothes will be ended Wednesday night, and President Meek is making a last appeal to the citizens of Midland to do their part in a worthy cause.

District Court At Odessa Starts Dec. 9

ODESSA, Nov. 26. (Special)—On December 9 the regular fall term of 70th District Court will be held at Odessa, Judge Charles L. Klapproth presiding, with quite a heavy civil and criminal docket, there being some 40 civil cases and eight criminal. There are major criminal cases, five of the eight being for embezzlement. Most of the civil cases are those that have been transferred from other courts.

Lamesa Water Supply Soon To Be Ready

LAMESA, Nov. 26. (Special)—With the completion of the $19,000 metal water reservoir sometime in December this city will have a water supply large enough for a city twice the size of Lamesa, it is thought by the city water department. At present the department is drawing water from two of the three wells here. Both of the wells average from 200 to 250 gallons of water a minute, according to E. C. Cook, superintendent. The metal reservoir is said to contain over 250,000 gallons of water.

DRIVER JAILED AFTER KILLING TEXAS WOMAN

HOUSTON, Nov. 26. (P)—Tom Murray, 22, is in jail today charged with failing to stop to render aid in connection with the latest traffic fatality of the year in which Elma Magee, 20, Palestine, was killed last night.

The formation is running similar to the Phillips-Coffee area the nearest producing wells and higher than in Turner No. 1 which was abandoned on account of being unable to shut off water after drilling through thirty-five feet of oil sand. The well is three miles from nearest producing wells and is located 1,650 feet from the east line and 330 feet from the south line of section 18, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey.

GIRL ENDURANCE FLIERS ORDERED DOWN; GO AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—(P)—Bobbie Trout and Elinor Smith, girl fliers seeking to establish a new refueling endurance record, landed their plane at 2:55 this morning when their gasoline supply gave out.

The flight sponsors said that the fliers were ordered down when the refueling plane was unable to make contact in the dark with the endurance ship. The girls had been in the air 18 hours.

Another attempt is being planned.

Luncheon Clubs Will Have Joint Luncheon

The Rotary and Lions clubs of Midland are to meet in a joint luncheon Wednesday at the regular meeting hour of the Lions. This plan gives the Rotarians their Thanksgiving dinner with their families, inasmuch as the regular luncheon day for that club is on Thursday.

This same plan was carried out last year with much success. Members of both clubs say they appreciate the fellowship on such an occasion and are going to make an annual affair of it.

The program of the joint session follows: invocation, the Reverend Thomas D. Murphy; orchestra selection; reading, "The Grateful Man," Miss Leona McCormick; vocal solo, "Fallen Leaf," by Logan, Mrs. M. F. Peters; and a Thanksgiving address by the Reverend Leslie A. Boone.

Manager Is Here

Hall De Galmo, Colorado City garage owner and former field-manager of the Midland airport, is in Midland today transacting business. "I am not surprised at the strides Midland has made in getting army designation for the port, not the strong plea which can be made, and is being made, in Washington for the establishment of an airmail line through this point," he said.

"It is recognizable to everyone that Midland is logically an air center, and there is no one but who will concede this city a trail blazer in that direction."

MRS. STATON, AN OLD SETTLER, IS TO BE BURIED

BANDIT DERAILS TRAIN TO GET $500 IN LOOT

CHEYENNE, Nov. 26. (P)—Loss by passengers robbed by a bandit last night after he caused the derailment of a westbound Union Pacific Portland limited was estimated today to be $500. The highest single loss was $100.

The railroad showed that there were only 25 passengers on the train. The bandit made a thorough search of all of them.

Dead Officer Here Only Recently

Lieutenant George T. Cuddihy, naval flyer who was killed when testing a Little English combat plane, Monday, was in Midland recently, coming here as an escort to an official of the Eighth Corps Area.

Lieutenant Cuddihy was testing the speed and test qualities of the small machine and was buried ten feet in the soggy earth when the plane fell. Those who saw the accident said the plane sliced through the clouds at about 10,000 feet elevation, dived approximately 1,000 feet and then went into a spiral spin as part of the plane fell off.

Ground, softened by recent snows, gave way when the plane struck, and it was two hours before the body of the veteran flyer was recovered.

PREFERENCE POINTING TO THIS PLACE

Disrupted Order As Every City Wants Airmail

The desire of small communities and large cities over Texas and the Southland prevented the harmonious working out of plans set by the interdepartmental committee at the Washington hearing for a proposed transcontinental airmail route establishment Monday, and plans for today's session found no relief from congested arguments and proposals.

That Midland is to be considered strongly in the decision as a compromise point on either proposal selected by the com-

MIDLAND STRONG

Others who presented arguments in favor of the Dallas-Fort Worth route included Jack Holt, manager of the Fort Worth Association of Commerce; Mayor Thomas Hayden of Abilene, Monte E. Owen, Sweetwater; E. A. Kelly, Big Spring; Paul T. Vickers, Midland; S. E. Stratton, El Paso, and H. E. Messenger, Pecos.

Regardless of what route is adopted, Mr. Vickers asked it be through Midland. Mr. Kelly declared Big Spring had the only lighted airport between Dallas and El Paso and was exactly midway between the two cities. In urging the Dallas and Fort Worth route, Mr. Kelly said the distance from Fort Worth to El Paso was only thirty-five miles greater than from San Antonio to El Paso, the latter route, he said, serving west of San Antonio the "unpopulated area known as the goat country."

Four Proposals

Postmaster General Brown listed four major proposals for the route, extending from New York west through Kansas City, Atlanta, New Orleans and St. Louis to San Diego and Los Angeles.

Representative McCloskey of Texas urged that the route pass through San Antonio, and Representative Collier of Mississippi made a plea that service go direct to Meridian, Jackson and Vicksburg, Mississippi, and Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas. Representative Lee of Texas sponsored the route via Atlanta, through Fort Worth and Abilene to the west coast.

Emphasizing the necessity for congressional appropriation for establishment for the proposed route before it could be decided upon, the

AN IMMINENT DANGER

"While we are producing oil and its products in far greater quantity than any other nation—and have from 1857 to 1928 produced 65.4 per cent of the world's output of petroleum—this country by no means has a corresponding percentage remaining of the world's known petroleum resources," says the Detroit, Michigan, News. "By extreme and high pressure methods for one, by boring down 8,000 to 9,000 feet at $150,000 and more per well, we keep up our enormous output. But in face of the facts, how long is our domestic self-sufficiency in supplies of oil and gasoline to continue?"

Almost every oil authority is of the opinion that if present over-production and waste continues the ultimate result must be a ruinous oil shortage. Yet our laws, out-moded and inadequate in dealing with modern conditions, literally force oil producers to waste our resources by allowing irresponsibles to produce as much oil as possible—regardless of demand.

The United States relies on an adequate, fair-priced supply of oil products as a necessary adjunct of its social and industrial life. Researches in the field of substitutes promise little hope of success in the near future.

Other "domestic self-sufficiency" in oil supplies may not be the permanent thing it seems. Oil waste is a criminal folly. Unless it is stopped, the future progress of the United States may be menaced.

OUR NEW AIR PROBLEM

The recent crash of an airplane on a roof in the heart of New York City, in which the pilot was killed and his passenger escaped by a parachute leap, has brought to mind again a problem that threatens to become increasingly serious as time goes on.

Certainly, as air travel expands and the number of planes in the sky increases, we can expect more of these dangerous crashes in thickly populated city districts, unless preventive steps are taken. Thus a new menace to life and limb, like the traffic problem brought by the automobile, appears inevitable unless the situation is met now.

Sane, commercial flying should not suffer by being forced to detour miles off regular routes to avoid flying over cities. These pilots, who know their business, rarely have accidents and when something does go amiss they usually have enough ability to handle their ship safely.

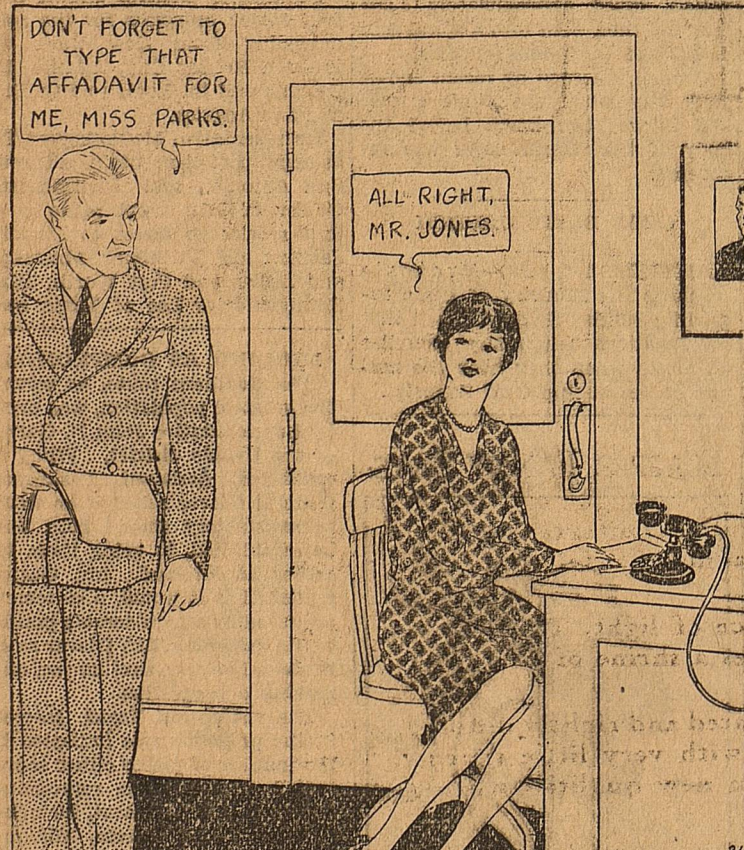

The flyers who should be kept away from over cities are the inexperienced student-pilot and the reckless stunt flyer who thinks it amusing to cut dangerous capers over congested areas where he can get a bigger audience. The student-pilot should be relegated to the country for his own good, the stunt flyer for the public's safety.

Aviation is no longer a spectacle; it is now an established business with millions invested therein. The rattle-brained stunt flyer whose lust for a thrill breeds needless accidents that reflect unfavorably upon the whole aviation industry is perhaps the greatest menace to its sound development.

Every city should have adequate laws to protect itself against this new menace from the sky. One plane falling into the heart of a theatre crowd, for example, might kill and maim scores of persons. Then, of course, adequate steps would at once be taken to prevent the recurrence of such a catastrophe.

But why not prevent it from happening the first time?

Delivering the Goods—And How!

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The rarity of cases wherein the fitness of an appointee to a federal judgeship is seriously questioned has attracted national attention to the fight over the confirmation of Albert L. Watson of Scranton as the judge for the newly-created middle district of Pennsylvania.

In this fight Pennsylvania's peculiar politics have once again been brought down to Washington for scrutiny. Mixed up in the case are those famous fellow-sufferers Joe Grundy and Senator David A. Reed, National Committeeman W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Governor Fisher and a Mellon or two.

Watson was appointed one of the three common pleas judges of Lackawanna county in 1926 by Governor Clifford Pinchot, a vacancy existing. Seeking a full elective term, he ran for both the Republican and Democratic nominations to succeed himself and was defeated on both tickets. His opponents point out that during his 20 months on the county bench he was reversed by the superior court on eight of the 10 cases in which appeals were taken from his decision. They also accuse him of mixing too much in politics while on the bench.

Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Republican national committeewoman, initiated Watson's candidacy for the federal judgeship. A member of the Scranton bar promptly filed a protest with Senator Reed. But Reed went to Europe for about six weeks and meanwhile it appears that the support of Vore-Mellon-Grundy leaders was lined up for Watson. The Watson candidacy was aggressively promoted by Judge George W. Maxey, Republican boss of Lackawanna county, but it appears to have been shy of support from members of the Scranton bar. Maxey got the support of Atterbury and Atterbury recruited the support of other politicians outside the district. Atterbury has testified that Reed, on his return, had "some objection" to the appointment.

But Reed apparently changed his mind and decided that Watson was just the man—within two weeks after his return.

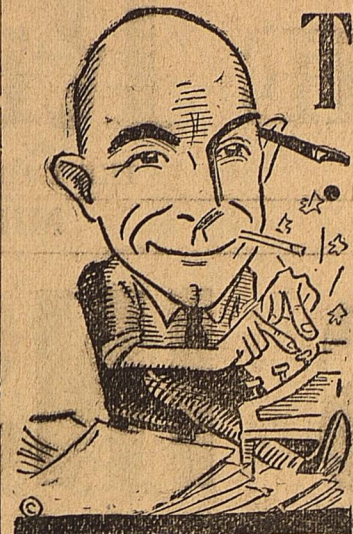

A gathering of Pennsylvania politicians was held in Grundy's suite at the Mayflower Hotel. They discussed, among other things, the case of Watson. Governor Fisher was there and so were State Chairman Edward Martin, former State Chairman W. L. Mellon, Attorney-General Cyrus Woods and A. Boyd Hamilton, secretary of the state senate. So, according to Grundy at any rate, was Senator Reed. Grundy has testified that all the political leaders present were favorable to Watson. At any rate, three days later Reed filed his endorsement of Watson.

The Justice Department withheld approval of the appointment for more than five weeks. It received a letter from U. S. Circuit Judge Joseph Buffinton protesting against the Watson appointment on the ground that "he is not qualified" and that while "he has strong political support" he "is unfit for the federal bench." Judge Buffinton explained that this was the first time in his 37 years as a federal judge that he had written the president about a judicial appointment. There came also a petition signed by a majority of lawyers in Watson's home county endorsing his principal opponent.

Reed and Martin called at the White House and "took steps to hurry up the attorney general's decision one way or the other." Two days later, June 8, President Hoover sent the appointment to the Senate with the Justice Department's endorsement.

In September, Senator Norris, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, had this cablegram from former Governor Pinchot: "Sorry I ever appointed Watson. Once on bench traded original principles for nomination by machine. Defeated in election mainly by disgusted former friends. Emphatically oppose his appointment." But despite emphatic opposition from the senior federal circuit judge, the governor who appointed him and most of the district bar, the politicians still demand Watson. As a majority of the judiciary committee favored him the issue has had to be fought on the Senate floor.

Not the least interesting phase of the case is the apparent discrepancy between Grundy's story and Reed's story of how the two of them got together on Watson—if they did. Of the hotel conference where the Watson matter was discussed, Grundy told the Senate lobby committee:

"The senator from Pennsylvania was there. He dined with us very courteously. . . . he went over the merits of Mr. Watson and was of the opinion that he was the most available man."

But Reed, in the course of a sworn statement before the judiciary subcommittee considering the Watson confirmation, said:

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Grundy never, so far as I knew, knew there was a vacancy, knew that Judge Watson was a candidate, or that anybody else was, or made any recommendation whatsoever about it."

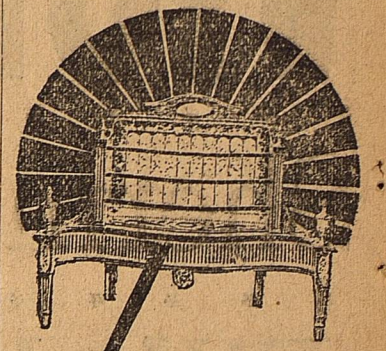

The seeming discrepancy has proven very puzzling. Probably that dog that won the prize recently for having the most fleas started from scratch.

Work Among Foreign Element Subject For Presbyterian Society

"Bi-Lingual Americans" was the subject studied by the two Circles of the Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary Monday afternoon.

The call to worship was, "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation, to everyone that believeth."

Roll call was responded to with the name of nationality making up American life.

The theme for the Devotional was "God is no respecter of Persons," and the scripture lesson was found in Acts 10:34-43.

Circle One met at the home of Mrs. Andrew Fasken. Mrs. T. C. Heard acted as leader.

Mrs. J. B. Chapman spoke on "Strangers to Christ and to America." Mrs. Chapman discussed the work carried on among the Cubans, Czecho-Slovakians, Chinese, Hungarians, Italians, French, Mexicans and Syrians by the Presbyterian Church in the U. S.

Mrs. Andrew Fasken spoke on the work among the Jews which is carrying on at the Immanuel Neighborhood House in Baltimore, Maryland and at the Northminster Neighborhood center, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Arthur Stout, chairman of Circle One, presided during the business session. Circle One will give a Food Sale on Saturday, December 14th at M System No. 2. Committees were appointed to cooperate with Circle Two in the rummage sale to be given in Little Mexico Saturday.

The December meeting of the Circle will be with Mrs. John Adams and Mrs. J. M. DeArmond will be leader.

Mrs. Fasken served pressed chicken, salted wafers, coffee and mints to the following:

Mmes. Harvey Sloan, J. A. Finlayson, J. B. Chapman, Arthur Stout, John Adams, Harry L. Haight, R. L. Mitchell, T. C. Heard, J. M. DeArmond, W. P. Knight, and Miss Laura Hitchcock.

Circle Two met with Mrs. R. C. Crabb.

"Make Me a Channel of Blessing Today," led by Mrs. T. D. Kimbrough was sung by the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Thomas D. Murphy gave the scripture reading and Mrs. R. C. Crabb led in prayer.

Miss Lucile McMullen gave two readings which impressed upon the hearers a lesson of love for their fellow man.

The discussions of the work done by the Presbyterian Church among the several nationalities in the United States were ably given by Mmes. Margaret Houston, T. R. Wilson, C. O. Gibson, L. O. Smith, and T. D. Murphy, each one of whom brought some interesting facts.

In closing Mrs. C. W. Alcorn read the hymn, "Must I go With Empty Hand?"

Mrs. W. G. Whitehouse presided at the business meeting, during which plans were made for the pie sale to be held on Wednesday, the 27th of November at the White House grocery and for the rummage sale to be held in Little Mexico November 30.

Business Meeting Of Christian Society

A large collection of canned goods and clothing was given by the women of the Christian Missionary Society Monday afternoon, the fruit, preserves and such being boxed and sent to the Juliette Fowler Orphan Home, and the clothing to the poor French in Louisiana.

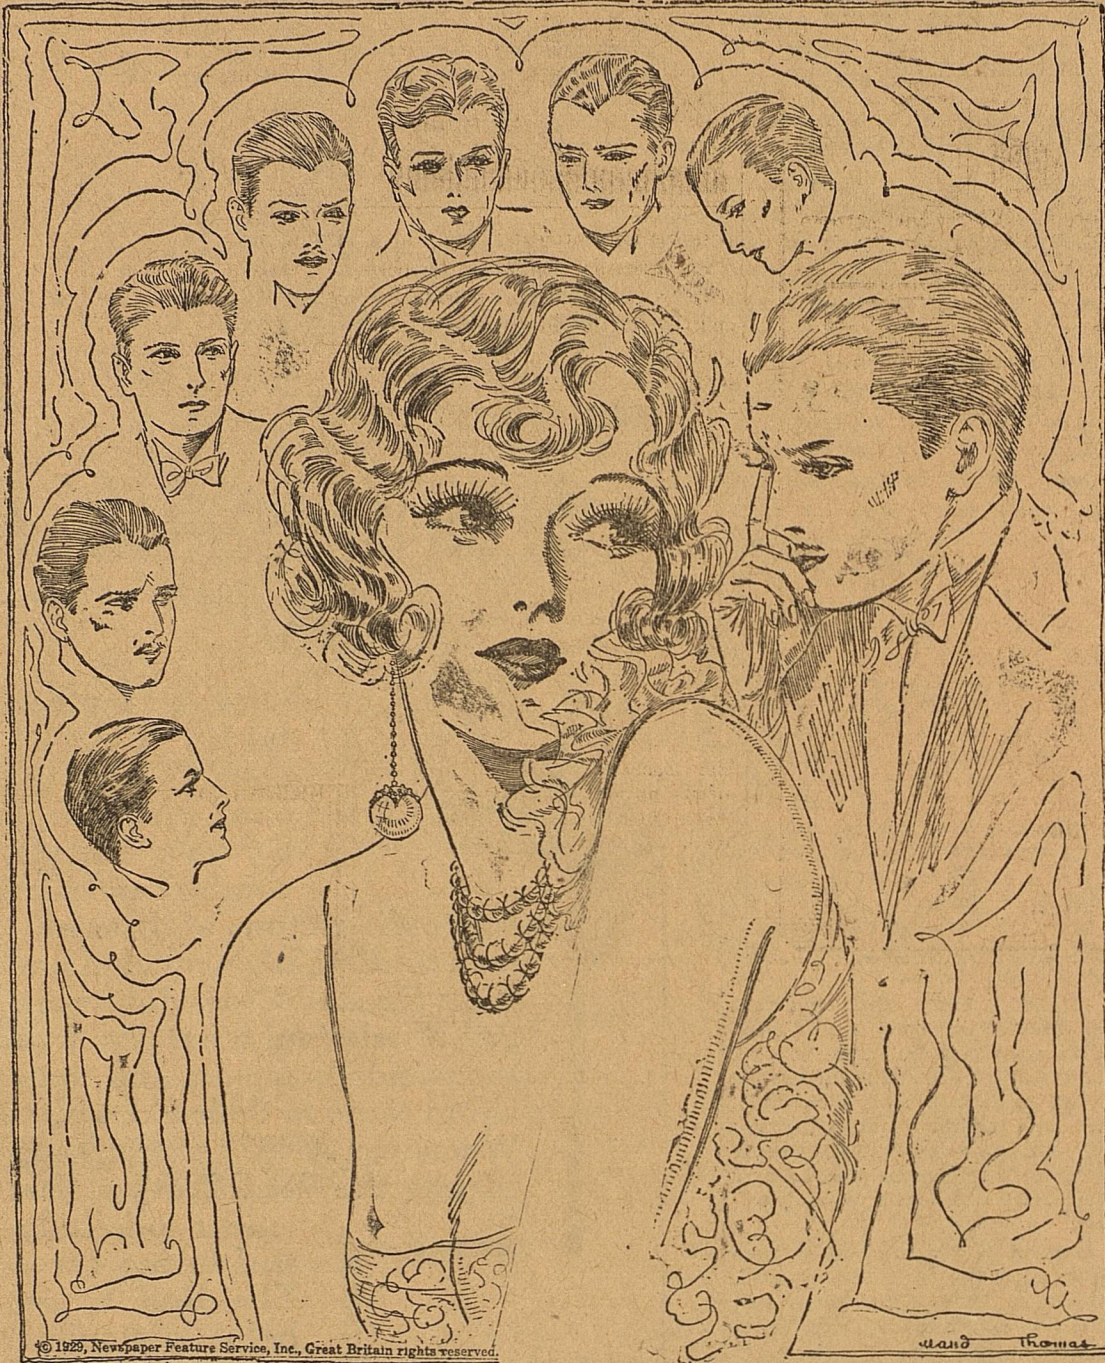

In the business meeting, in which all three Circles of the Society took part, it was voted to buy a piano for the beginners department, part of the funds from the Pure Food Show to be used for this purpose, and it was also agreed upon to have the beginners and primary Sunday School rooms repaired.

A report of the Pure Food Show was given, in which it was learned that A. B. Anderson had donated all the lumber used during this show. The women had expected to pay for this and were pleasantly surprised to know that Mr. Anderson had been so generous.

What to Do?

By Maud Thomas

When a girl has "gone big" at a Winter Dance and her gay laughter and frivolity leads all who meet her to think she is just another butterfly, what is she to do? After she gets home and sits dreaming before the mirror while she slowly takes off the glittering jewels and shimmering gown, before her mind's eye pass all the men who laughed and danced and treated her as they did all the other butterflies. And she remembers, that she does have her serious times, times when she is thoughtful and real and sincere. One face from the many stands out most clearly, and it is because she caught the glimmer of interest in his eyes, and she wonders if HE saw beneath the veneer of frivolity and knows her for what she really is. And she determines that HE is the man who interests her most, and to whom she will show all the sweetness and realness of her true self. That's "Dan" getting in his little work and before long, who knows?

Methodist Missionary Society Continues Special Study

The two Circles of the Methodist Missionary Society met separately for study Monday afternoon. Interesting discussions were reported at both meetings.

Circle One Circle One met in the home of Mrs. John Edwards.

In a short business session, Mrs. S. R. Preston spoke of the Junior and Intermediate work being done by Mrs. Frank Prothro and Miss Genavieve Derryberry.

The devotional was given by Mrs. L. A. Boone and was Luke 10. The study for the afternoon was the fourth and fifth chapters of the Mission Book, "Roads to the City of God." The subject was "Inter-Racial Problems."

Mrs. J. D. Young, leader of the study hour gave an excellent review of the preceding chapters, after which several special topics were given, as follows:

"Personnel of the Conference," Mrs. J. M. Prothro. "Speakers Before the Committee," Mrs. O. E. Holt, Sr. "Contrast to Racial Problems in Latin America," Mrs. John Edwards.

"The Council Cited Several Ends Which We Should Work To," Mrs. H. J. Osborne. Seventeen members were present at this meeting, and the women were proud of the fact that they added five new members to their Circle. The new members were Mrs. Iva Noyes, Miss Genavieve Derryberry, Mrs. J. E. Monteith, Mrs. R. L. Quinlan, and Mrs. M. C. Ulmer.

The next study lesson will be on December 9, with Mrs. L. A. Boone. Circle Two Mrs. H. C. Barnes' home was the meeting place of this group, who had thirty-one present, with three new members, who were Mrs. H. A. Holt, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. L. L. Brooks.

The devotional was Matthew 15: 28, and was given by the leader, Mrs. Guy Green. The same lesson was studied as by Circle One, with Mrs. Smith Umberson, Mrs. Guy Green, Mrs. Harry Pace, and Mrs. Charles Coffee giving the special subjects.

Mrs. Guy Green also gave a short discussion of Chapter Six of the Mission Study book.

Mrs. A. P. Baker will have the next meeting in her home on the 9th of December.

MISS DERRYBERRY SPEAKS

That eating too much of the wrong things and not enough of the right things causes most human ailments is a health philosophy gaining many converts among farm families, according to Home Demonstration Agent Miss Gertrude Derryberry. Last winter brought much unnecessary illness to many rural districts, but now many of these households are awaiting winter with grim batteries of canned fruits and vegetables on pantry shelves. It's a part of Lubbock county's rural health drive planned by Miss Louise Baird and carried out by women and girls in the home demonstration clubs. Since June they've been studying dietary requirements and canning home grown stuff against winter's onslaughts.

From recent questionnaires received it has been found that 22 farm housewives made canning budgets, and that more than 10,000 containers of food stuffs were canned by 50 who replied, or an average of more than 200 cans per family. The canning budget as suggested by the Extension Service provides various food stuffs in the right proportions to enable a balanced diet to be supplied the family through all the winter months. It consists of 48 cans of leafy vegetables, 140 cans of other vegetables, 130 cans of fruits, and 40 cans of meats for a family of five for six months.

Meals are balanced according to the adequate diet which calls for 1 1-2 pints of milk daily per person; at least three servings weekly of leafy vegetables, and two servings daily of other vegetables; fruit every day and citrus fruit or tomatoes three times a week or oftener; and two servings daily of such protein-rich foods as meat, beans, cheese, nuts or eggs.

Visualizer. Decorator. Artist. THE ECONOMY TWINS

Possibly the greatest contribution which has been made to modern civilization is the electric light. It has turned night into day, increased the efficiency of man's work, made possible comfortable and healthful hours of reading as far into the night as man has felt the urge to follow his studies or his pleasures.

The modern Texas home is a palace of light. Through the use of proper light the simplest home becomes a shrine of beauty. Light is a decorator and an artist.

The home with light, properly located and rightly diffused, is made comfortable, healthful and beautiful with very little expense. Simple furnishings, simple decorations take on new qualities when given the proper lighting background.

The Texas Electric Service Company has made a special study of lighting for the modern home and would be glad to work with you in giving your home the best possible lighting arrangement at the lowest possible cost.

When you have really given serious thought to the lighting possibilities of your home you will be delighted with the changes that can be economically made.

Their Face—And Also Their Voice—Is Their Fortune

1—Kathryn Crawford... she's developed one of the best singing voices in Hollywood and promises to star in the talkies.
 2—Marion Byron... made her debut with Buster Keaton and has since played feature roles in five big talkies.
 3—Carole Lombard... started as a Mack Sennett bathing beauty, and just look where she is now!
 4—Dixie Lee... another one of those New Yorkers who has carried her success with her to Hollywood.
 5—Lillian Roth... she was becoming famous as a "Blues singer" when the talkies lifted her from behind the footlights.
 6—Mary Doran... another product of the New York stage who appears to be on the path to movie stardom.

As you probably know the 13 Baby Stars are the young actresses selected each year by the Wampas as having the best opportunities of attaining stardom. Nearly all of them have vocal attainments.
 Like in previous years there are about half a dozen girls who are outstanding for their work and practically certain to be among those chosen. They are Carole Lombard, Marion Byron, Kathryn Crawford, Lillian Roth, Mary Doran and Dixie Lee. Of these three are strictly screen players and three have been imported from the New York stage. All are under contract to various studios except Miss Byron who is free lancing.

NO PROSPECT SEEN IN SPEEDING UP CRIMINAL CASES IN APPEALS COURT

AUSTIN, Tex.—(UP)—No prospect of speeding up disposition of criminal cases in the Court of Criminal Appeals is in sight within at least two years. Two methods are possible. Both require an amendment to the state constitution. An amendment to the constitution cannot be considered until the regular session of the state legislature in January, 1931. Any proposed amendments would then have to be referred to popular vote and, if carried, would likely require later legislative action to determine details.
 One plan would be to shorten the vacation of the court. The constitution now makes it mandatory for the court to recess in July, August and September. The other way would be to increase the court membership and let it divide into sections. A commission of two members has been authorized by statute to help the court but under the constitution all cases must be decided by a majority of three judges. The commission has no voices in decisions.
 The court as now constituted and with a nine months term, besides its minor cases, in two years has had to pass upon 156 cases in which the defendant had been given a death verdict or virtual life imprisonment by a sentence of twenty-five years or more.
 There were 48 cases in which a life was at stake, 18 with life sentences, one with a sentence of 101 years and 26 with 99 year sentences each.

 Of these cases 86 have been finally affirmed, 33 have been reversed and sent back to the lower court for retrial; 10 have been dismissed and 27 were pending when the court adjourned last June.
 The time taken between filing of appeal and final action in the court in some of the state's famous cases is shown by the following list:
 Harry J. Leahy, murder, death sentence, appeal filed June 9, 1927 and final disposition February 8, 1929.
 J. R. Silver, robbery, death, appeal filed June 28, 1927; final action July 23, 1928.
 Juan Flores, murder, death, appeal filed August 26, 1927; final action January 27, 1928.
 Robert F. Blake, murder, death, appeal filed October 17, 1929; final disposition, July 13, 1928.
 P. W. Howard, murder, death, appeal filed December 2, 1927; final action Jan. 25, 1929.
 J. A. McKenzie, murder, death, appeal filed January 3, 1928; final action December 1, 1928.
 O. C. Wells, murder, death, appeal filed Feb. 4, 1928; final action Nov. 30, 1928.
 Henry Helms, robbery, death (companion case to Marshall Ratliff) appeal filed August 3, 1928; final action April 19, 1929.

Interesting Sidelights On New Pastor Given

A somewhat delayed clipping from The Harlingen Star relative to the activities of the Rev. L. A. Boone, new Methodist pastor here, has been received by this paper.
 The article gives some interesting incidents in the new pastor's life, and is given in part below:
 "Reverend Boone, or 'Les' as his many friends call him came to Raymondville, his first charge, in 1923 and has remained here ever since, being recalled year after year by the popular demand of the citizens of Raymondville as well as those of his congregation.
 "Leslie graduated from Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas in 1916, receiving his A. B. degree there. In 1917 he received his A. M. degree and in November enlisted in the 346 Inf. at Camp Pike, Ark. He was transferred to Camp Dix, New Jersey and went overseas with the 87th Division, in July, landing in France early in August, 1918. He served with the 346th all the time of his enlistment, as a file clerk in the states, and as a Regimental Dispatch bearer while overseas. He was seriously injured in the line of duty while overseas but recovered and returned to Camp Stuart, Newport News in April, 1919 and was discharged at Camp Pike in May, 1919.
 "Following his discharge he taught history in the Asheville, North Carolina high school, then was made head of the Department of Education and Bible in Meridian College. In 1922 he engaged in the insurance business in West-laco and the next year, 1923, entered the ministry in the West Texas Conference of the Methodist church and was sent to Raymondville as his first charge.
 "Upon his arrival here he found a congregation of 36 members with no church property. Through his untiring efforts he leaves a church and parsonage costing $60,000. The church owns a block of ground in the center of the town and has just completed a new Young Men's Bible Class and Boy Scout building and leaves a congregation of 350.
 "Reverend Boone has been active in all civil developments and clubs and especially the American Legion of which he has been chaplain for the entire six years of his residence in Raymondville, and in 1928 he had the honor of being elected as chaplain of the American Legion, Department of Texas.
 "Raymondville and Willacy county will miss Reverend Boone and his family but they feel that in the change he has gained, as he will have a charge, where his

PROBLEM OF HEART ILLS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Heart disease is one of America's real public health problems, even greater than that of tuberculosis or cancer, according to the U. S. Public Health Service.
 New statistics gathered by the government show that 223 persons out of every 100,000 die from heart disease and this menace is increasing.

"Heart disease is particularly a disease of early life," U. S. Surgeon General Cummings said. "Practically 75 per cent of all cases of heart disease develop in children under 10 years of age, compared with about 12 per cent in persons over 40 years of age."
 Cummings said a health survey in Florida, Illinois, and Missouri revealed that three out of every 100 persons had heart disease.
 "Heart disease may be congenital or acquired," he continued. "Little can be done to prevent the development of congenital cases beyond increasing attention to the supervision of expectant mothers. Acquired heart disease is most frequent due to improper habits of living and to the infections, particularly those of the rheumatic group."

"It has been shown that the incidence of certain infections and rheumatic diseases, in association with damaged hearts, is very high; scarlet fever in 12 per cent; diphtheria in 16 per cent; chorea in 15 per cent; rheumatism in 44 per cent and tonsillitis in 66 per cent of the cases.
 "Faults of personal hygiene and improper habits, such as lack of exercise, over-indulgence in stimulants and improper food are very conducive to generative changes in the heart muscle."

abilities can have full sway and they feel certain that the citizens of Midland will appreciate him as have those of Willacy county and wish him and his family all the joy and happiness that can possibly come to one who deserves it as they do."

THE RED CROSS

Like a mother taking a hurt child to her bosom, the Red Cross extends comfort and succor to the victims of disaster. When American soldiers lay wounded and ill during the War, the Red Cross did its bit. When the angry Mississippi burst its bonds, rendering thousands homeless and outcast, the Red Cross came to their aid with tents and food. If you only knew—you rundown, anemic women—who are dragging yourself around on your "nerves"—what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. A. M. Owens, of 1716 Taylor St., Rt. 5, Box 34, Little Rock, Ark., says: "I was so weak I couldn't walk across the floor. I had spent a fortune trying to get well and would be in my grave if it weren't for Tanlac. Now I eat and sleep fine and have gained 22 lbs."

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 10 years have recommended it to men and women who need a quick "pick up" that will put them on their feet and give them a new interest in life.

So confident are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

FROG KILLS JINX

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Cy Miller, Texas Christian University student from Cameron, Texas, has revealed to the world just why the Horned Frogs have been winning all their football games. Cy has a live baby horned frog which attended both the State and Baylor games in the pocket of its owner, who claims that he has a sure jinx against defeat.

"The frog has been on a fast, but if his jinx works on the S. M. U. game he is going to have a regular feast of red ants," Miller says.

George Bernard Shaw says he is not a gentleman. He fails to name his accusers, however.

TEAMS RATED FAR DOWN THE FOOTBALL LADDER BEST AFTER ALL

FROG STADIUM IS TOO SMALL FOR TURKEY DAY

FORT WORTH, Nov. 26.—The Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, still free from the injury jinx that usually bothers most football clubs, are going into the final stretch this week after winning nine consecutive games. Before the season started, Baylor and Texas were supposed to have "miracle" teams, and T. C. U. was rated fourth by most critics. S. M. U. was placed no better but now, as the last game approaches, the Frogs and Mustangs will battle for the conference championship on the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

The annual battle between the Texas Aggies and Texas University, which is held at College Station this year, will hold much tradition for the alumni of the two schools, but the game will lack the color and intense interest that is to be found in a game of championship caliber. It is doubtful whether Kyle Field will be filled to its 35,000 capacity on Turkey Day, while it is a certainty that if Clark Stadium was as large every seat would be taken.

Athletic Director L. C. Wright of T. C. U. is preparing for a crowd of around 20,000, but the demand for seats is far in excess of this number. At that, the crowd will be the largest that has ever witnessed a football game in Fort Worth. The increasing interest in T. C. U. football will do much to further activity toward building a new and large stadium.

With the hospital list still threatening, the Frogs nevertheless hope to have their full strength on the field against the Mustangs. Grubbs, T. C. U.'s star quarter, far from well in the game against Baylor, has been ordered by physicians to rest Monday and Tuesday. Several others on the squad are still suffering from heavy colds.

Pass defense will come in for much attention at the hands of Coach Francis Schmidt. Frog supporters are confident they can down the Mustangs if they can stop their aerial attack. No running attack has fooled the Frogs for long this year, and there are none who believe that the Mustangs can consistently pierce the Frog line.

Cy Leland's habit of making 90-yard runs is attracting as much attention to T. C. U. as its undefeated and untied team that places it in the ranks of the football elect. This fleet West Texan has attracted attention of the All-American pickers. National mention is not new to Leland. His speed on the cinder track last spring put him in the national limelight then.

Atkins' work at center is also coming in for much favorable comment. If the Frogs are victorious over S. M. U. Saturday, at least four T. C. U. players are sure to place on the mythical all-conference eleven. It is difficult now to see how Grubbs and Leland can be left off of the all-conference team, and Brumbelow and Atkins are conceded by most sports writers to be leading candi-

Schools Should Hire Grid Teams

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(AP)—"I think it would be a good idea for universities to hire football teams just as they hire dramatic artists to give concerts," said Dr. Herbert L. Willett of the University of Chicago, when he spoke at Texas Christian University here.

"I do not think athletes in general are detrimental to a school," he continued, "but there is too much emphasis being placed on football, track, tennis and baseball do not have the same devastating effect."

a new hearing.

The mandate of the Court of Criminal Appeals in either a death sentence or an imprisonment case is the same except that in imprisonment cases the costs are assessed against the defendant. If he is to be executed no costs are added.

After sentence appeal can be made to the governor. He refers such appeals to the pardon board. That board advises the governor, but he can act independent of their report or contrary to it. Stays of execution frequently are granted to permit this board to have time to complete its investigation. Only two of the three members provided by law for this board have been appointed so that they must do the work of three.

T. C. U. authorities Monday began the erection of 1200 additional temporary seats at the south end of Clark Field. There will be seating capacity Saturday for some 19,000 fans, and it is certain that the largest crowd that ever saw a grid-iron contest in Fort Worth will be on hands for the battle.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF TEXAS

To all to whom these presents shall come: Thanksgiving Day has since its inception meant to the American people just what the term implies—a day for the giving of thanks. We as a people have been richly blessed during the past year, not only have we benefitted in industry and commerce—we have enjoyed many spiritual and social blessings. No war nor national disturbance has marred our peace and tranquillity.

We should on this day of the year especially take stock of our manifold blessings and render thanks as a nation to Almighty God, the Giver of all gifts.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DAN MOODY, Governor of the State of Texas, in accordance with the Proclamation of the president of the United States, the laws of this state, and with the beautiful custom prevailing throughout the country, do hereby designate Thursday, November the twenty-eighth, A. D., 1929, as Thanksgiving Day and call upon the citizenship of our State to appropriately observe the same by the rendering of thanks to Our Maker for His blessings.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused the Seal of the State to be impressed hereon at Austin, this the twenty-first day of November, A. D., 1929.

DAN MOODY,
Governor of Texas.

Watt L. Saunders,
Assistant Secretary of State.

postmaster general said, initiation of the service could not be made before next July.

This did not lessen the ardor of the pleaders. They listed claims for immediate service, as well as needs of the states concerned for the future.

William G. McAdoo, representing the Southwest Air Fast Express, incorporated, and Southern Skyline, incorporated, submitted a proposal to contract to carry the mail over a route between New York and Los Angeles via St. Louis or via Atlanta. Portions of the routes, he said, are already in operation, carrying passengers and express, and he added that his companies were ready to initiate service promptly and to advance funds for lighting a route on assurance of reimbursement.

New Orleans' demand for the route was backed by representatives of Mobile, Houston, San Antonio, Brownsville and other towns and cities that would be served by this most southerly route. Army centers in Texas must be closely connected with air mail. Midland, through recent designation, is one of these.

Seeking particularly that the line extend through Birmingham, Major Sumpter Smith sponsored a route through Louisville, Nashville, Birmingham, Shreveport, Fort Worth and thence west.

Concurring with Representative Garrett of Texas, Representative Garner of Texas sought consideration for the extreme southern route, via New Orleans, Houston, San Antonio and El Paso. Representative Williams of Texas asked that the line include Wichita Falls, Texas among its stops. Representative Hastings of Oklahoma said he spoke for the entire delegation from his state in urging the route through St. Louis, Oklahoma and Texas.

"A break may decide the game, but I am of the opinion that if we lose it will be because Marfa has it on us in weight and experience so badly that we cannot overcome the handicap.

"The Bulldogs are going to fight as they never have fought before, and that's certainly saying a mouthful.

"The Dogs are in fair physical shape. We have a few with slight charley horses, wrenched knees and backs, but hope that they will be in such condition Thursday that these handicaps will be negligible."

THANKSGIVING WORDS!

But to Us They Mean More

You of Midland and Vicinity have made many days thankful to us. But today, we put them all together and are happy to tell you that we do not measure the depth of our Thankfulness—because it is bottomless. We do not measure the volume because it cannot be compassed. We do not select the superlative in each of its tones, for to do so would make a picture to express every emotion as we turn all the pages of the past year. We are thankful for each page
