The Secretary emphasized the fact that although the final movement establishing the World Court was on the initiative of the League of Nations, the Court took its existence and became effective, not by action of the League...

SECRETARY DAVIS STATES NEED FOR EMIGRATION LAWS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—(UP)—Consolidation or codification of the immigration laws, with an amendment to permit admission of some aliens on the basis of their adaptiveness to employment demands in the United States, were advocated today in the annual report of Secretary of Labor Davis.

The following specific recommendations were made by Davis:
Codification or consolidation of "scattered legislation" affecting immigration into "one comprehensive statute."

Organization of an air patrol to enforce anti-smuggling legislation.
Erection of a Federal institution in which arrested aliens may be detained, rather than in jails.

"I am convinced," Davis said, "that our present system of immigration control is lacking in one highly important particular, for, as I have repeatedly pointed out, there is no authority under existing law for selecting our immigrants with a regard to their economic or occupational desirability."

Conditions in Europe
Davis pointed to conditions in Europe, where, he said, 2,000,000 persons had taken preliminary steps to emigrate here, although, under American law, only 150,000 can be admitted annually.

"I would not increase the present quotas for this purpose," Davis said, "because I believe they are large enough already. But I would simply give a preference to immigrants who are needed here after the demands of preference relatives have been satisfied."

Bank Stops To See
Counterfeit Penny

A penny stopped the mechanism of a business office and a bank in Midland this morning.

The copper coin was brought to The Reporter-Telegram office. It was distinctly smaller, without sacrifice of individual features, from other coins of its denomination.

The coin was carried to a bank and an official finally pronounced it a government issue which had been tampered with by a prankster.

"Three Fools" Stand
Out In Production

Joseph A. Seymour, R. C. Montgomery, Charles Gill and Mrs. Don Carlos Davis promise to be the outstanding characters in "Three Wise Fools," second Little Theatre production of the year...

An uproarous plot, carefully woven with pathos and suspense, should keep the audience on the edge of its collective seat, judging from performance of the cast at an early Sunday morning rehearsal.

The supporting roles are well handled, almost without exception. Other members in the cast are: S. M. Warren, Arle Casse, Mrs. Duke Kimbrough, George Bennett, Mr. Allagood, Georges Vorbe, Charles Miller, Earnest Friberg and W. Edward Lee.

One of the features of the new presentation is the absence of characters seen before this season, S. M. Warren being the only member of the former production to play in the new comedy.

Tickets will be placed on sale Tuesday morning at drug stores and cigar stands. Those who have season tickets are asked to call Mrs. Dewey T. Ross early Tuesday morning, so that seating arrangements may be facilitated.

MINISTERS SAY
ATTENDANCE GOOD
AT ALL CHURCHES

Sunday was an unusually good church day, attendance at most all the churches reported as coming up to or exceeding the usual number of people, with only two churches having less than their general attendance.

Probably the special feature of the day was the Sunday evening meeting at the Presbyterian church which was conducted by members of the colored Methodist church.

Rev. L. A. Boone, pastor of this church, used as his subject for morning discussion, "Christ's Coming Foretold."

The orchestra, directed by Ned Watson, gave several numbers at Sunday School, Merwin Haag, accompanied on the piano by his sister, Addie, played a saxophone solo.

At the eleven o'clock hour, the choir sang special anthems. About the same number of persons as at the morning service heard Rev. Boone speak on "Men That Count," at night.

A good attendance was had at Sunday School, with not quite as many people as usual at the preaching hour when Rev. Thomas D. Murphy spoke on "Gospel of the Jubilee."

At night, the colored choir of the Methodist Church directed by the Rev. Henry Tyler gave an excellent musical program. Rev. Tyler also gave a short address. The offering, which totaled $21.56 was given to the colored church to aid them in finishing the uncompleted church building which was started some time ago.

Plane Falls; Woman
Is Dead After A Shock

DALLAS, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Accidents over the state during the week-end exacted a toll of nine lives, at least.

Cotton Hansen, pilot, and Miss Winnie Williams, passenger, were killed when a plane crashed at Stamford.

Four were killed in automobile accidents at Waxahachie and Glen Falls, when three members of a Mexican family lost their lives.

Raymond Priddy slipped in jumping from a moving train and was instantly killed.

Mrs. J. P. Starr, 70, died from shock suffered when her dress caught fire from an open stove.

Frank Vernon was killed in a collision between his truck and an automobile.

HAMMER ASSAULT
VICTIM TO LEAVE
THOMAS HOSPITAL

Mrs. Tom Wallace, who figured last week in a hammer case here, will be moved from the Thomas hospital today or Tuesday, hospital attaches believe. She will be taken to Houston.

The woman, who was beaten about the head by a hammer in the hands of a man whose name appeared on the register of the Broadway camp as "nephew," will possibly show permanent result of injuries received, it is believed.

She still has irregular moments of lucidity, in which she is able to talk, but for the most part her account of the affair which left her battered and bleeding, and drew mother hysterical with tales of seeing the choking and beating, has been unintelligibly told.

Negro Minister
Thanks Church

Thanks for a contribution given his church Sunday evening when his choir sang spiritual songs at the Presbyterian church, were announced today by Rev. H. Y. Tyler, pastor of the negro Methodist church.

Twenty-one dollars and fifty-six cents constituted the offering made the negro church, which has recently been built in the negro quarter of Midland.

THE FAR-SIGHTED VIEW

Every Chamber of Commerce probably has members who don't like the way things are run—so has every garage, grocery store, etc., customers who don't like the way things are run. But the big men, the thinkers and doers, recognize human frailties and go right on supporting the institution they belong to.

Take the case of John D. Rockefeller. John D. Rockefeller Sr., has been a member of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce since 1870, or a total of 59 years of continuous service. Doubtless many times during that period the President did not suit him or the Chamber did something he did not like or possibly the policies of the organization did not always conform to those of his own business; but he stuck. He knew that the Chamber of Commerce of Cleveland was working for the up-building of that city and section and he knew that his money was well invested. He remained on the inside where he could voice his objections where they would be heard officially instead of sulking and withdrawing his support. Let's have more far-sighted men like John D.

THIS COUNTRY IS REALLY BIG.

Cleveland, Ohio, has just completed a campaign in which the largest Community Fund in its history was subscribed. The goal was $4,650,000 and the amount was oversubscribed.

Leaders of the campaign were a bit fearful that the stock market crash might have a serious effect on this year's campaign. Workers were instructed as to how to counteract this reason for not subscribing to the campaign or for decreasing previous contributions.

Much has been said about how the public was in the market and it is undoubtedly true that a large number of people lost in the crash. But possibly, the number of people who lost is much smaller than assumed. There are more than 100 million people in this country, and it is true that a large percentage of them is not familiar with buying on margin, bull markets and selling short.

The success of the Cleveland Community Fund campaign on the heels of the stock market crash seems to indicate the number of market speculators has been overestimated.

LOSS TO DIPLOMAT SERVICE

Somehow, we regret to read the announcement that Dwight Morrow is to become a member of the Senate. Not that he doesn't deserve the honor. Far from that.

But his services as ambassador to Mexico have been so outstanding that we would like to see him stay in the diplomatic service. Any man who can bring such an improved relationship between two nations in the comparatively short time Mr. Morrow has been in Mexico deserves the highest commendation. He was to Mexico what Herrick was to France, and America needs more of this type of ambassadors.

Their influence helps bring about that better understanding between peoples that makes it much more difficult for nations to go to war.

"Mary" Christmas, Herself in Person!

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The Senate coalition of insurgent Republicans and Democrats which now has the national legislative situation by the tail probably will continue to function at least until it has outlived its usefulness.

It may even work as a coalition throughout President Hoover's first term. In that case it will sometimes vote against the administration and sometimes not; but it can be relied upon not to oppose with its votes anything which appears to be distinctly favored by popular sentiment. It will not, for instance, unite in opposing the administration's tax reduction program, which makes a hit with everybody.

The three main factors in legislation are the House, the Senate and the president with his veto power and his duty of recommendation. Each serves as a check on the other. The ideal situation from the White House point of view is one wherein substantial working majorities in each chamber are always willing to pass just such legislation as the president wants. But the executive and legislative machines seldom operate so smoothly together. Everyone remembers what a bad time Coolidge had with Congress. Taft spent his last two years with Democratic majorities, Republican senators wrecked Wilson and Harding would have had a most unhappy time with Congress had he lived.

Now this coalition in the Senate has found that it can do as it likes with the tariff bills and it undoubtedly is enjoying the prospect of using its power in the future. There is little chance of its being broken up or seriously damaged by the 1930 elections. There will be many measures on which its component elements will be completely at variance, but there will be frequent opportunities for cohesive action which will be too good to miss.

It would seem that the worst thing the coalition has done to Mr. Hoover has been the destruction of the supposedly comfortable Senate majority which his party had following the 1928 elections. Demoralizing the Republican organization in the upper house is not calculated to make a Republican president very happy, even though the Old Guard which expected to be in charge there does not like Mr. Hoover and Mr. Hoover does not like the Old Guard.

Relatively, the coalition has taken two main whacks at the president, and it expects to make one of them stick. The one it expects to make stick is the abolition of the president's power to raise or lower tariff rates. The other one is the export debenture farm relief provision which it voted into the bill. When the bill goes to conference the Senate conferees will be expected to agree to the removal of the debenture if the House conferees will agree to let the Senate's action on the flexibility clause stand. The coalition appears to have had this deal in mind when it tacked the debenture on the bill as if for trading purposes.

Undoubtedly the president banks heavily on the hope that the administration machine in the House

Lamb Raising Coming Source Of Revenue To Stock Raisers On The South Plains

LAMESA.—Lamb raising and feeding, cattle feeding and sheep raising may be made a source of revenue for many farmers in Dawson county, according to W. W. Evans, county agricultural agent, who has recommended the sincere study of feeding and raising livestock.

"Sheep are scavengers," Evans says, "and make profit from waste in many instances." W. C. Wright, Dawson county 4-H club boy, has a record of attainment during the last four years in clubwork that demonstrates what can be done with feeding livestock, Evans stated. Last week Wright placed on feed ten high grade Rambouillet rams, which he purchased from W. T. Murray of Abilene. He is feeding them and will fit them for exhibition at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show in that city, March 8-16. Wright's work in raising other livestock is outstanding, also, Evans noted. He is a breeder of pure-bred hogs and a score or more farmers in this and surrounding counties have obtained foundation stock from him.

A. H. Merrick, a Dawson county farmer, has acquired a considerably flock of sheep with a view of producing and finishing winter lambs for the Eastern markets. Mutton is a meat demanded the world over and Dawson county should specialize more in this type of livestock, Evans says. Dawson county has plenty of feed and the type of grazing lands that lambs are best suited to grow on.

Activities in raising other livestock in the county is being cited by the county agent. Lambeth and White Milling company is feeding 40 head of steers for the Fort Worth market which is another demonstration of economically marketing forage and grain. These spring calves have been on feed 90 days and are warming up for a prime finish March 1.

W. T. Williams is putting one car of 30 high grade home-raised heifers on feed this week at his farm two miles East of Hancock. He fed a car of heifers last year which were good enough to top the Fort Worth market April 1, fetching $14.50 per hundred pounds. These calves averaged 754 pounds in weight. They averaged ten and a half months old when they went to the feed pens weighing 450 pounds each in December. Williams believes there is more money in feeding his grain to good livestock at home than he is able to make with crops and grain when they are shipped out of the country and sold, according to Evans.

will eliminate both the objectionable items while the bill is in conference. When and if the bill is finally presented to him for approval he certainly will not want to veto it. It is inconceivable that he would approve it with the debenture clause remaining, but it is equally inconceivable that the House leaders would leave that in. On the other hand, if the bill comes to him with his power to change rates abolished it will be difficult for him to kill the whole measure simply because it deprives him of an executive prerogative previously granted by Congress. He will be virtually forced to swallow his first real defeat at the hands of the coalition. The coalition may not be able to jam much legislation of its own past the House and as long as it endures considerable compromise is likely. But as Congress undertakes to finish the tariff bill and to deal with quite a little important legislation the outstanding fact is that the Senate Republican insurgents or progressives are holding and effectively wielding the balance of power and that major legislation of a type to which this group is opposed is most unlikely to be forced through.

GOODFELLOWS ASK FOR MORE MONEY THAN LAST YEAR

The Goodfellow drive is organized and ready for work, according to J. D. Young, who said Saturday: "Things are getting under headway and taking shape for the Goodfellow club as rapidly as possible. So far, the condition is somewhat unique, in that it is one-sided. There are more calls for assistance than there are contributions to the club. However, this is due to the fact that there has been little time to give to the solicitation of the fund; while several appeals have been made for help during the week. In the next two or three days, all details will be worked out, including organizing of committees, and the work will be under way.

"Everybody should respond immediately with contributions in order that the success of the club may be assured, and work expedited in the distribution of the fund. Saturday saw the appointment of the following executive committee, who will confer and work with him for the success of the club: J. B. Wilkinson, president of the Midland National bank; M. C. Ulmer, cashier of the First National bank; M. M. Meek, president of the Rotary club; County Judge M. E. Hill, and T. B. Sudderth, of the Sudderth Chevrolet company. This committee is helping in organizing the other committees to be used during the holidays.

Goodfellow Club headquarters were established Friday at 111 Texas Avenue, which is the building occupied by the J. D. Young corporation. This office will be used for committee meetings and as headquarters for the club. The phone number is 609. Those desiring to communicate with Goodfellow club headquarters may do so any time during the day, as somebody in charge will always be on hand.

"Last year the club asked for $1,600, and received $1010. This year the club is asking for $1,250, in order to meet the demands that will be made upon it. It is hoped that contributions will begin pouring in immediately and this amount of money pledged early, that the committee may do its work intelligently."

Feeding Methods To Be Tested In Howard Poultry Farm Gets Large Order Shrubs

BIG SPRING, Tex.—Cattle feeding experiments for the U. S. Experiment Station here are now in prospect. Congress and the Texas legislature will be asked to make appropriations for such tests to determine the beef fattening qualities of grain sorghums. Since corn does not grow abundantly in Texas compared with other states the proposed cattle feed study would include investigations of the fattening qualities of kafir corn and other grains which grow more abundantly in West Texas. If the grain sorghums could be used to produce as good beef as the corn fed cattle then West Texas would have a chance in competing with the other states in the marketing of beef cattle.

Large Order Shrubs

"Twenty-five hundred dollars' worth of shrubs, trees and flowerers, the largest order of this type ever to be shipped into West Texas, arrived this week for the landscaping of the Lasseter addition and the Imperial Poultry farm, a mile west of Odessa," says the Odessa News-Times. "Work has been under way for some time, preparing the ground for the reception of these many plants, and the landscaping is now being done under the direction of H. E. Hall and Edward Pace, landscape architects. The plants were shipped here by the Sherman Nurseries, of Sherman, Texas."

YOUR CHILDREN

Children have a sixth sense. Beware—take care! When we think we're fooling them we're not kidding anyone along but ourselves...

"No, but very s-m-a-r-t." With which preamble we come to the subject in question.

A certain dean of a large university writes his experiences with parents. One of the things he resented most of all was the father who raised Cain when his son deceived him...

The dean seems to agree about this sixth sense. "Children know things intuitively," he remarks. "And it's only foolish to think we're pulling the wool over their eyes and letting them think we are paragons of perfection."

Of course, it's a big question. We don't like to think of our children arriving at the conclusion that our feet are of clay—that we are of the earth earthy, and all that.

I can't help thinking that this pose of perfection in parents, the idea that the king can do no wrong, is one of the biggest myths that ever was.

I know one pair of parents who stay out on an average of three nights a week until two and three o'clock. They tiptoe in and announce next morning that they got home a little after twelve—just because they've given orders to their fourteen and sixteen-year-old son and daughter that twelve is the deadline on the door mat.

Another father, when he's late for breakfast, and of course, at the office, won't acknowledge it. He'll remark: "There's not much going today in town. Doesn't matter whether I go at all or not."

Of course, we get into more serious things along this line. There's the ubiquitous cocktail-shaker. No use blinking that. It's a national institution. And where do all the shakers go from the 5 and 10 and department store? Into the Great American Home—three-fourths of them to be used by the great American parent.

Don't think the children don't know it. Of course they do. There's that sixth sense. Yet a good many parents are prepared to raise particular Cain if their sons go to college and light out on a few sprees.

Style and Color Important To Good Grooming, Says Claire Luce

EDITOR'S NOTE: Face, figure, and coloring dictate the kind of clothes a woman must wear, writes Claire Luce, American actress and world-famed beauty, today. The article below is the last of a series of six on "New Modes in Beauty" which she wrote for The Reporter-Telegram and NEA Service.

Women have made rapid strides in the art of good dressing during the past few years. They no longer permit themselves to be "talked" into buying an ill-fitting dress, of bad cut and unbecoming color.

Claire Luce discusses the art of dress.

When eggs are high in price, many of us hesitate to use them extravagantly in our everyday desserts. The part the dessert must play in the meal determines whether an eggless pudding can take the place of one rich with eggs.

There are various types of puddings that are exceedingly palatable even if they are made without eggs. Hot, cold, steamed and baked, the cooks' choice is wide.

Eggless suet puddings are especially good in cold weather. Their spicy aroma is appetizing and well-coming, while the suet itself has the virtue of being as easily digested as well as a cheap one.

Tapica pudding made with raisins, citron, nuts and currant jelly is delicately spiced to make it pleasingly piquant. This pudding should be most discreet, a natural rose rouge and a rachel powder, with a touch of orange in its foundation with a cerise lipstick for the day.

Most of the "harsh" shades should be avoided by the fair-haired girl. All of the pastel tones, particularly the beiges, pale rose, milie greens and blues, are flattering.

The brown haired girl, particularly if her eyes are blue, has a greater variety to choose from. Any smart shade—wine, blue, deep yellow, and beige. Gray is one to be avoided, unless her eyes are a gray blue and her complexion fair.

The true brunette, with dark tresses bordering on the "blue" tone, looks well in beige black and the darker shades that accentuate the mystery of her eyes and hair, such as dark green and violet and the rich tones of wine red.

Ivory white, black, cerise, and light dull yellow are effective for evening wear, and this type can wear the brilliant flame clothes better than any other. Her makeup ding is chilled before serving and is suitable to serve with pork. Cumberland pudding is made with vegetables and suet and is as delicious as it is inexpensive.

One cup grated raw carrot, 1 cup grated raw potato, 1 cup brown sugar, 1-2 cup chopped suet, 1-2 cup currants, 1-2 cup seeded raisins, 1-4 cup sliced and shredded citron, 2 tablespoons minced candied lemon peel, 1 1-2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-1 teaspoon cloves, 1-4 cup milk.

INGALLS REPORTS MIDLAND TRIP TO THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON.—Charles Francis Adams, the yachting skipper, Ernest Lee Jahncke, the shipbuilder, and David S. Ingalls, the aviator, have covered a lot of territory in all sorts of conveyances since they took over the job of running the Navy Department for the Hoover administration. Ingalls' report included a recent flight to Midland with Lt. Cuddihy.

The Secretary, Mr. Adams, outlined his own activities and those of his two assistants at the very beginning of annual report which was submitted today to the President, detailing trips by battleship, submarine, dirigible, airplane, automobile and other methods which had been made in the course of their duties.

First, the President was advised that Mr. Adams took office at 2:30 p. m., March 5; that Mr. Ingalls followed at 9 a. m., March 16, and that Mr. Jahncke came next at 2:30 p. m., April 10.

Detroit Tourists Say This Route Best

Driving from their home at Detroit, Mich., en route to San Diego, California, to spend the winter, T. J. McCormick and wife, with his father and mother who are 89 years and 88 years old respectively, stopped in Midland Saturday night and complimented this transcontinental route highly.

Driving a Studebaker President 8 brougham, they talked to Carl S. Reeves, local Studebaker dealer, and told him they are making their seventh trip across the continent, and after trying all other well-known routes, they find this one the best.

McCormick's mother insists that upon their arrival at San Diego, she must have an airplane ride. The Detroit man said they made as high speed as 82 miles an hour this side of Dallas. He said he is now driving his 19th Studebaker in the 27 years they have been manufactured.

Sydney Feuds Lead To Body Mysteries

SYDNEY, Australia.—(UP)—A marked increase in the number of underworld feuds in this city, is reported by the police who declared the feuds are resulting in many murders and vicious attacks.

Police say that there is nothing chivalrous about the Sydney gangster. With a victim at his mercy without a chance of retaliation he will shoot or slash at him, but when the odds are even the action will be postponed until a more favorable opportunity.

Hitherto the police have found it almost impossible to deal with the situation, but the new Crimes Act has strengthened their powers and now enables them to arrest habitual associates of convicted criminals.

The police at present are endeavoring to deal with the difficult problems of tracing the murderer of a man whose dismembered body—the head and legs being missing—was found in a bag in the bed of a creek near Narrabri, New South Wales.

Drilling Around Discovery Well In Ector County Shows Much Activity

ODESSA, Dec. 9.—The oil activity in and around the discovery well, the Penn-Humble, near Odessa is continuing daily. A marked increase in drilling will perhaps not be on a large scale until about the fifteenth of January, says Turner E. Camp, secretary-manager of the Odessa chamber of commerce, who says:

"Penn-York No. 1, one location south of the Penn-Humble-Kloh-Ramsey No. 1, is drilling at about 2,300 feet through salt, they have been going down rapidly, making about 175 feet of hole daily. Cosden No. 1, 330 feet south and west of the northeast corner of the south half of the northeast quarter of section 2, block 35, University Ector county, and Landreth No. 1, 330 feet north and west of the southeast corner of north half of the northeast quarter of section 2, block 35, University county, spudded in. Rigs are being completed and equipment is on hand for Corden's No. 2, and Landreth's No. 2 just adjacent to these.

"The Atlantic Oil Producing company and the Penn Oil company will drill a well for the Liano Oil company on the north half of section 18, block 44, township 3 south in Ector county as a part of the purchase price for the south half of this section, quite a cash consideration was also involved, the amount of which was not made public.

"This location will be about one mile southeast of the discovery well of the Penn-Humble and Atlantic companies which was brought in the first part of October. We are informed, but yet to be confirmed, that the Landreth Production company has purchased land adjacent to the main line of the T. & P. Ry., about twelve miles from town on which they will install an oil loading rack."

Nuggets Start Rush In Texas

SAN MARCOS, Tex.—(AP)—Gold! Texas gold!

A mountaineer, J. H. Hughes, was showing on the streets of San Marcos a vial in which he carried 18 small gold nuggets found in a rock pocket of a small hill stream hidden away north of here. The gold was worth little more than $1, experts said, but it was gold, gold of high caratage.

Hughes' work was hastened a bit, he said, by a story told him by an old mountaineer who had found several hundred dollars in gold nuggets washed into a rock pocket in the same stream. Hughes said he would go back to the fastnesses of the hills and with men from the west experienced in searching for mother lodes of the kind, find the source of the nuggets.

Oil Field Road In Howard Worked

BIG SPRING.—The Howard county road machinery has been placed in operation on the old field leading from the highway to Ross City by the commissioners court and the road will be put in first class condition according to George White, county commissioner. Other roads in the county are being given prompt attention after each rain and the roads throughout the county are in fairly good shape. Due to the heavy traffic over the oil field road it demands more attention than some of the other lateral roads.
