The Voice of Labor Vodka at New Year's Age Small Matter France Kicks Over

By R. C. Hankins

Those 40 men who expressed their belief in need for a more general employment in Midland of Midland county laborers met a responsive chord when they called upon the mayor of the city, the chamber of commerce and influential business men.

Unknown to a majority, perhaps, of the delegation, the mayor as head of the city government and as president of the chamber of commerce, went to contractors on city extension projects now in progress and asked that white men be favored for the limited jobs.

It is said here that the contractors were favorably inclined to cooperate. A check-up would show that local white men have been given preference over those from a distance where this has been possible. Save where skilled workmen are technically able to do a certain phase of work better than the untrained laborer, local men have been employed.

Because Mexicans work in the ditches, however, is no indication that white men are not given chances. But what white man can compete with the standard of living known to the Mexican laborer?

New Year's tradition was too deeply rooted to be wiped out by a legal edict in Russia, although the combined forces of attempted popular sentiment and governmental decree were exerted in an effort to bring this about.

Business was in order for a day, consigned to the background allotted in Russia to many other holidays. But in thousands of Russian homes vodka flowed and men and women conversed in the thick tongue induced by that spirit.

There are just two rules for keeping a husband-fed him well and give him plenty of affection. These words were spoken by Mrs. Eugene Self, 63, in comment upon her recent marriage with a youth of 20.

The affairs of nations cannot always be guessed at, even by the philanthropists of those several governments, Tallyrand said in the crushing days following France's failure to crush the army of the Iron Chancellor.

The mayor said there are plenty of laborers in Midland and Midland county, and that the city government and the chamber of commerce frown upon a further influx of workmen for that reason.

THIRD MAN MAY HAVE TAKEN PART

Deputy Who Found Bodies Gives Evidence

GONZALES, Texas, Jan. 2.—(AP)—J. S. Tate, city night watchman, and A. C. Strickling, deputy sheriff, were shot to death in a gun battle here last night.

The men were found mortally wounded by Deputy Sheriff Ruel Vasburg who said Tate had told him that Strickling, apparently under the influence of liquor, had approached him demanding that he "stick 'em up."

Tate said the deputy opened fire without another word, and that after he had been shot down, he pulled his gun and shot Strickling five times.

Francis is now serving his fourth term in this office, and has seen his duties grow from a county of some 2,500 inhabitants to one of 10,000 or more; and has seen the law enforcement job go from a quiet town and county to a city and district in which the population has been at some times shifting, with a coming and going of notorious gunmen, law evaders and law violators.

FARRELL MACDONALD TALENTED IN FOUR LINES OF ENDEAVOR

The comic assets of Farrell Macdonald emphasized in "South Sea Rose," Fox Movietone's all talking picture starring Lenore Ulric and the current attraction at the Ritz Theatre, were developed in virtually every part and every type of occupation.

But Macdonald was finally lured back to the theatre and after dividing the next few seasons between concert and dramatic pursuits he obtained his first film job at the Biograph studios in New York.

"My, we used to have dances," she said. "They often lasted all night. The biggest dances we held in the old wooden court house that has long since gone the way the present one is going now. If anything out of the ordinary ever happened, we girls never knew it. Everything was carried on perfectly; no one ever became too rowdy. We had real feeds, too. The long tables spread with food, which was only the ordinary thing at our dances, would deserve the name of a banquet nowadays."

The Big Parade of 1929 . . . A Review of the Year

FRENCH FLYER HAS GREATEST AERIAL RECORD

PARIS.—(UP)—Jacques Corsin, 32, who was an "ace" in the French air service during the final years of the war at the age of 20, has been recognized by the Aero club as the pilot with the greatest flying record—4533 hours, or 272 consecutive days and nights in the air.

In 12 years since he obtained his pilot's license, the French youth has flown 1,000,000 kilometres, has carried 10,000 passengers and never had an accident. He is now pilot of one of the commercial planes of the French Air Union.

Born in 1897, Corsin engaged in the French army at the outbreak of war in 1914 as a boy of 17. He went through the fighting at Verdun, Ypres and elsewhere and won his stripes as a sergeant and the Croix de Guerre.

He went into the aviation in 1917 and was cited in army orders for his brilliant air fighting. After demobilization he went to Peru to teach army fliers and while there performed some sensational feats on the plateau of Cino de Pasco at 4500 metres altitude.

Since 1921 he has been a commercial pilot, flying the Paris-London and Paris-Marseilles routes. His best feat was a flight of one hour 37 minutes between Paris and London.

"There is absolutely no danger in commercial flying, for the construction of planes has advanced to such a point that there are less accidents in airplane travel than in train travel," Corsin said.

"Ma" or "Pa" Ferguson—Which Will It Be For Governor? Possibly Both

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 2.—(UP)—It is now pretty well settled that the coming race for governor will have a former Governor Ferguson as a candidate. The question that is agitating Austin is whether it will be "Governor Ma" or "Governor Pa."

Until the formal announcement, which is expected just before the opening of the special session of the legislature, the question will not be answered. Some believe that both may file applications for a place on the Democratic primary ballot and one withdraw later.

The opening of the session of the legislature bids fair to be also the opening of the 1930 political campaign.

Fight Looms

All indications point to a merry fight over prison legislation. This is one of the two topics that Governor Moody has decided to submit to the session. A majority of a prison centralization committee that was authorized by the last legislature has reported in favor of building a $4,000,000 industrial prison near Austin. This committee was made up of nine legislators and the nine members of the state prison board. As a majority of the members of the legislature opposed the recommendation of the majority of the committee, the reaction of the legislature to the report will be interesting.

The report will be sent to the legislature both by Governor Moody and by Bob Barker, secretary of the committee. The resolution calling for the committee specified that it should report to the legislature when next it met.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Intermediate Orchestra meets in the studio of the Watson School of Music tonight at 7:30.

Visitor Here I A NO AUTO FOR HIM. NO "Horse Flesh" Man

In vivid contrast to the thirty-hour schedule of air plane travel across country and the sixty-hour schedule of passenger trains is the sometimes thirty-hour to the mile schedule of Isaac Sacks, a veteran of the road, who is paying Midland an official visit today.

Attired in the traditional boots and riding breeches of the western plains country, his brown shirt open at the collar, Sacks arrived in the city early this morning with his family—two Shetland ponies, "Babe" and "Spot," and a German Shepherd police dog, "King."

The three dumb animals are his sole companions on his transccontinental tour which started from Chicago months ago and which will eventually take him to the west coast.

Running his hand over the smooth well-cared-for wheels of his tiny green wagon, he denounced the modern means of travel.

"Automobiles? I've never ridden in one and never expect to—and the same holds good for airplanes.

"Babe and Spot may get sick occasionally and sometimes I have to stop for a few days when they get lame—but I ain't never had to make any kind of a forced landing—and don't intend to," he declared, pointing to the little Shetland ponies peacefully eating oats from a feed bag.

"I'll be back in Chi in about 2 years, in time to be present at the 1933 World's Fair—in the meantime, I'm going to see the country and plenty of it."

Two years ago, Sacks made a similar trip down the west coast, covering in all about 7000 miles. He started on his "barnstorming" tours about five years ago, he said, and declares emphatically that it is the only life.

Both of his Shetland ponies and his pedigree dog appear to be in the best of condition.

"If there ain't enough for all of us to eat—they get it," Sacks said, fondly rubbing the mane of "Babe."

"I wouldn't trade 'em for half a dozen railroad trains or a whole flock of airplanes."

Navy's Tenders for Fighting Ships Are Essential Parts of Fleet—And Highly Expensive Affairs, Too

Two of the new tenders used by the U. S. navy. Above, the U. S. S. Dobbins, a destroyer tender. Below, the U. S. S. Holland, flagship and tender for the battle fleet submarines.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eleventh of a series of articles on the strength of the U. S. navy, especially as compared with that of Great Britain. The articles are of especial interest in view of the approaching naval arms limitation conference at London.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington Correspondent for The Reporter-Telegram and NEA Service

The smaller naval fighting craft, destroyers, submarines and planes, are severely restricted for space and so the navy has tenders to care for them.

These tenders are good-sized and built to accompany the fleet. They are fitted with repair facilities and have storerooms for provisions, fuel, water and other necessities peculiar to the particular type of craft they serve. They may be considered as so many floating garages and supply bases.

Tenders vary in length from 225 to 500 feet, in displacement from 1500 to 14,000 tons and in number of personnel from 150 to 500 officers and men. They are armed with 6-inch guns.

The submarine tender Holland, stationed at San Diego as flagship for the battle fleet subs, cost $6,400,000 and the two destroyer tenders

TAX EXTENSIONS GRANTED ONLY IN REAL NECESSITY

Abuse by taxpayers of the privilege of securing an extension of time in which they may file their income tax returns will no longer be tolerated according to orders issued by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and announcements made in this District by Collector G. C. Hopkins.

Heretofore, tax experts, with a long list of clients have been in the habit of asking and securing extensions, chiefly on the ground that they have more clients than they can physically attend to around March 15.

"The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has authorized me to advise all taxpayers and all representatives of income taxpayers that only in those cases shown to have genuine merit will extensions of time for filing be granted," said Collector Hopkins today.

"The records show that for several years the extensions privilege has been abused, and that in many cases taxpayers or their representatives have habitually requested extensions year after year so that delayed returns have been the rule rather than the exception.

It is believed, therefore, in these, as well as in many other cases the delay was occasioned primarily by undue exercise of the privilege afforded taxpayers of securing extensions of time rather than by meritorious causes, hence the recent instructions to all collectors to grant extensions only upon the showing of a good and sufficient cause. In other words, extensions will be granted only in those cases in which, by reason of the circumstances involved, the taxpayers could not have filed timely returns through the exercise of ordinary diligence.

This is to advise representatives of taxpayers that wholesale requests for extensions (a long list of clients) presented at the eleventh hour, accompanied by no better reason than "impossible to collect date", or "physically impossible to reach all" will not be granted.

We advise representatives of taxpayers who have a large clientele to commence operations immediately after January first and not wait until March fifteenth to file returns.

We advise taxpayers who depend on others to prepare their returns to furnish all data to their agent immediately after January first. The return can then be prepared but not filed and tax paid until March fifteenth."

THANKS, BILL AND VIC

The publicity department of the Lamesa chamber of commerce is "on location" night and day, as indicated by the interest that body has in sending out news "copy" to papers over this area of West Texas.

"We just ain't got no more of your news envelopes and would appreciate your sending us some more as soon as possible," said a note this morning from William A. Wilson and Vic Lamb.

A business of $200,000.000 has been built up out of materials dumped into wastebaskets. There's a value in those poems people send to newspapers, after all.

DONKEYS WORRY MADRID

MADRID.—(UP)—New York has the problem of disposing of abandoned automobiles, but in Madrid it's abandoned donkeys. Every once in a while a little donkey is found on the streets, either lost, or abandoned by an owner who could no longer afford to feed the animal.

The difference between an abandoned automobile and an abandoned donkey is that the automobile occupies space, but eats nothing, while the donkey does both. The City of Madrid spends quite a bit of money every time a donkey is found on its hands, and is therefore anxious to get rid of him as soon as possible. Auction sales are announced, but frequently no buyers are immediately found.

TO ORGANIZE FAIR

LAMESA, Jan. 2.—The organization of a permanent Dawson County Fair association will hold the attention of three Lamesa business men during Spring following their appointment as a committee during a recent meeting of the directors of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, to study and recommend a plan for a permanent fair association for each season. This plan will take the load of expenses and major details of the annual fair off of the shoulders of a few citizens and place them in the hands of one responsible body composed of the entire county. It is pointed out by F. T. McCollum, chairman of the committee. Carl Roundtree and W. B. Collins were named on the commit-
