HUGE TANK GASOLINE EXPLODES

Dynamite Explosion Fatal To Three In Kentucky

COALINGA, Calif., Jan. 30. (UP)—With a blast hearable twenty miles, a 12,000 gallon gasoline tank at Kettleman Hills district exploded today killing one. Four others were missing, Charles Phillips was the dead.

Flaming gasoline was thrown about, setting fires and causing explosion of a second tank the same size. A half-million dollar absorption plant was believed doomed.

No trace of four workers in the plant were found.

GANGSTERS USE BOMBS CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—(UP)—The fifth bombing in the last 24 hours blew a two-story house into bits and wrecked several adjoining. Officers laid the offense to an Italian extortion gang. Residents of the neighborhood were terrified. Thirteen were injured.

Witnesses said the bomb was so powerful that it lifted the building several feet and splintered it.

DYNAMITE KILLS 3

ASHLAND, Ky., Jan. 30.—(UP)—Three men were killed and four buried under tons of rock by a premature explosion of dynamite today. All were members of a railroad construction gang. The bodies of Beecha Welman, Charles Scott and a man named Conley were recovered. Rescuers said there was little hope of finding the other four alive.

Injunction Has No Effect On Midland

Rural education in Midland county will not be seriously affected by the injunction granted in San Antonio last week restraining state school officials from distributing $5,000,000 state aid money, as this county's quota of the fund has been received and partially distributed, according to County Superintendent M. R. Hill.

Five dollars of the $17.50 state apportionment money for each scholastic in the county has been received; $2.50 of the amount was paid in September, $1.50 in October, and $1 in January.

The state aid fund received recently is based on recommendations of the rural school inspectors who have a code of requirements which must be met before reports are submitted.

Of the aid, Valley View received $128, Stokes $235 and Prairie Lea $228.

CC Banquet Tonight Get Name in Directory New Road and Company Today and Tomorrow

By R. C. Hankins

The chamber of commerce meeting tonight is not being held for a select few. It devolves upon every member of the body to go, as much from civic pride as from consideration of being on the "inside." Officials will see to it that special preparation is made to seat more than the number for which provision was originally made.

A new telephone directory is going to press in a few days. It is obligatory that every citizen who wants a telephone installed in his residence or house of business make application to the telephone company immediately, in order that his name can appear in the volume. A great loss in time is recorded each year through having to call "information" for numbers that would be in the directory if a little time had been spent at the right time.

Beginning of construction on the Andrews road has a value not recognized by some of those who went so far as to be among its principal advocates. The future of the Midland area is bound up in avenues of trade, and that one to Andrews and thence to Seminole and the Hobbs, N. M., country is an answer to a pressing economic need.

Midland now has its own cattle loan company. This is firmly rooted in a banking institution which has come to be recognized as one of the strongest for a town of this size in the state. This should insure pride in local organization, and center money in Midland which has been taking devious routes to the north and middle west.

Paul L. Young, C. A. McClintic and Arthur Yeager are laying sidewalks. A simple statement. Other towns would probably see little significance to the fact. But to Midland this means the securing of more than a pavement upon which to walk. It means Midland people will eventually get free postal delivery—in case other civic spirited people follow the lead of these, who with Clarence Scharbauer, W. Edward Lee and a few others, pioneered the new move which is being espoused by the chamber of commerce.

Pay your auto licenses today or Friday. Afterward it will be too late—unless you would like to pay a 20 per cent penalty. In case you elect to disregard either the payment on time or after time, you may be held culpable for disobeying the state statutes and pay as much as $200 in a single fine.

Friday is the last day for payment of poll taxes or otherwise qualifying by obtaining voting credentials. This, the first announcement in the political calendar for the year, serves to remind the voting public that Texans will elect a new set of officials.

CHAMBER COMMERCE HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

PROGRAM FEATURE IS SHORT

From 200 to 250 Are Expected At 7 O'clock

Rounding out one of the most successful years of its organization, the Midland chamber of commerce will tonight make its annual report before an expected banquet crowd of from 200 to 250 persons, at the crystal room of Hotel Scharbauer.

Special accommodations have been made in an elastic manner which will, at the last minute, take care of more people than were at first expected.

This was decided this morning when it became known that Midland people were more interested in the short program to be offered than before any other banquet held by the body.

Carpenter Speaks John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power & Light Co., Dallas, will make a 20-minute address on "The Progress of West Texas." T. S. Hogan, former Montana senator, and Midland capitalist who erected the 12-story Petroleum building and the $300,000 Yucca theatre, will speak briefly on "Now What?" Mrs. Roy Parks will sing. Leon Goodman, mayor of Midland, will act as toastmaster.

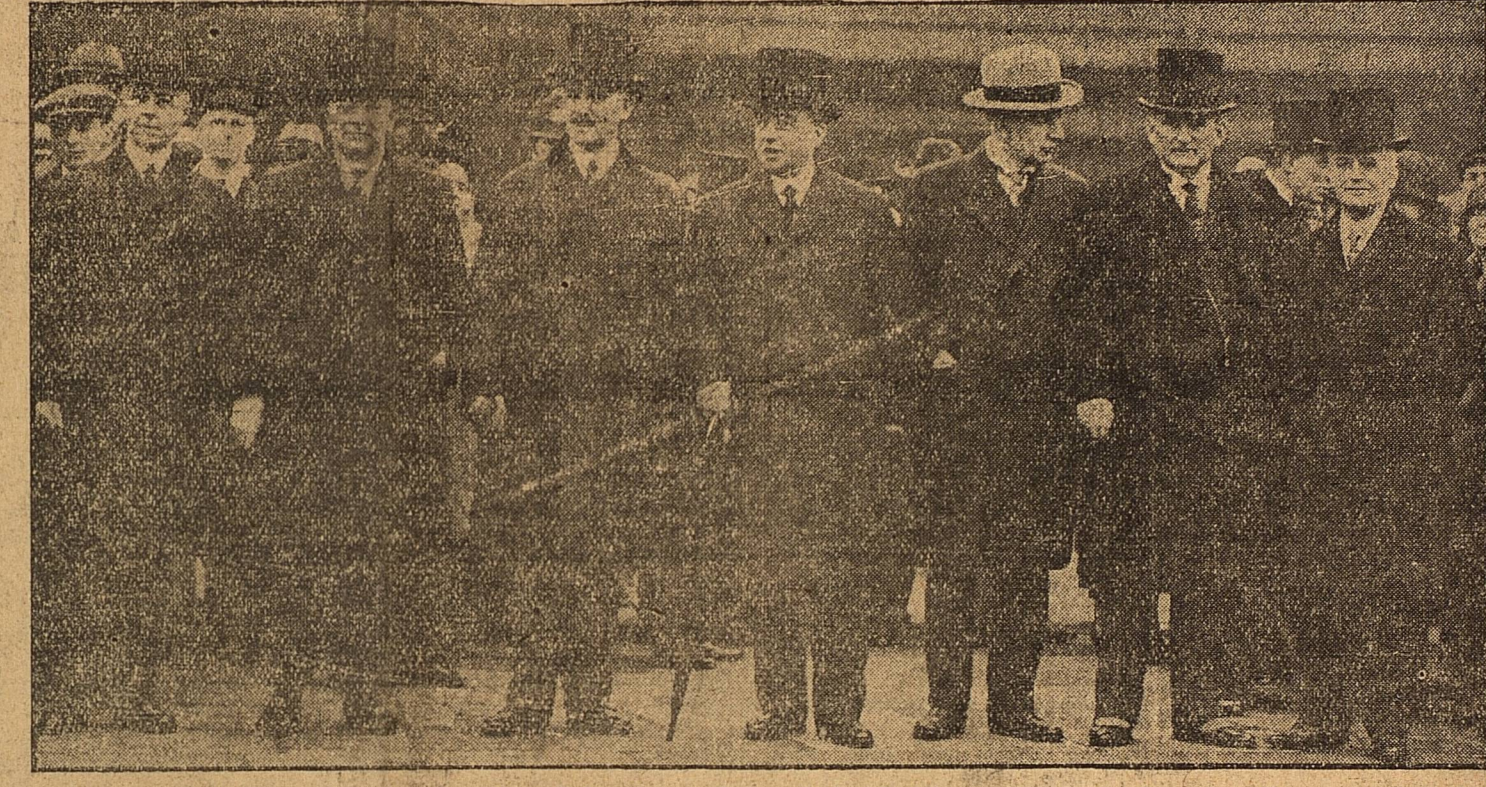

A nominating committee, composed of Aubrey S. Legg, George D. McCormick and John O. Nobles, will recommend 21 persons for the posts of directors of the organization during the new year. Nominations may be made from the floor by any member of the chamber, also, it has been announced. The nominating committee is merely acting in the capacity of making recommendations. All names presented by this committee are understood to have been talked with, and their acceptance as nominations secured.

Program Brief The banquet is scheduled to last approximately an hour and a half. Actually, scheduled time is one hour and 26 minutes. Mayor Goodman, more than anyone else, has a reputation for handling a meeting strictly according to time limit, though this is one of the most difficult tasks facing a toastmaster. Up until noon, 141 tickets had been sold, although some of the committeemen in charge of this sale had not reported. Members of the committee are Paul L. Young, C. A. McClintic, R. D. Scruggs and A. P. Baker. Caterers have announced that a piping hot dinner will be served those who arrive on time, which will be "strictly at seven o'clock," officials in charge said.

Would Keep News Out Of The Home

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—(UP)—Representative J. M. Ackerson, Navasota, would bar daily newspapers from every Texas home he told the home committee. He declared such cases as the Fantages, Brady and Paris divorces should be spread by children. Ackerson was formerly a book store proprietor. "So you see I know what I'm talking about," he said.

COMMITTEE GETS CONSIDERATION NAVAL METHODS

LONDON, Jan. 30.—(UP)—The question of how to measure naval power: whether by the total tons or by tons in separate categories, a problem which has vexed naval limitation negotiations for years, was put in the hands of a special committee by the London naval conference today. Secretary of the Navy Adams, and Ambassador Hugh Gibson, were the American members. The plan was adopted on the motion of Secretary Stimson, American delegation head, at a full session conference permeated by a general willingness to compromise, but marked, nevertheless, by plain reiterations of diverse national viewpoints.

Road Construction On Route From Midland To Andrews Started Today

Work started Thursday morning on the Andrews-Midland road. The chamber of commerce let a contract Wednesday to have the road grubbed a total width of 60 feet, which is 30 feet wider than the present road. This is on land donated by Andrew Fasken through the C ranch.

The grubbing should be finished within two weeks or less time, and work on making the road a fast thoroughfare will then start. Sam Preston, a chamber of commerce director, with a chamber official made a personal survey of the necessary work Wednesday, and plans were completed for actual work to begin today.

Midland will work the road to the bad sand, and Andrews will build the road from the town of Andrews to Fasken and from Fasken through the sand.

It can not be definitely stated when the road will be completed, but it is hoped to finish it next month. The Andrews county commissioners court will rush that end of the road with all possible speed.

Woman Attacked By FIRST GOT AFTER FOWL Eagle On Wall Street

Out on West Wall eagles are coming to not only select cries, but are getting so used to bipeds that they are getting to be nuisances.

Take it from Mrs. L. F. Boone. Mrs. Boone was aroused from her household tasks Wednesday afternoon by the cackling of a rooster. She went into the yard to see what the fuss was about. A large eagle was chasing the barnyard fowl around the yard.

Mrs. Boone immediately yelled at the wild bird. Far from causing any cessation of the chase, the eagle transferred his attention to Mrs. Boone who at once began a scamper for the house.

But not until she had been thoroughly frightened. The eagle flew an estimated distance of 50 feet in her direction, perched himself on a fence near her and tried to grab her with his strong talons and curved beak. A neighbor, V. E. Jackson, rushed out of his house and shot the bird.

INSANITY BASIS BRADY DEFENSE; COUNSEL RESTS

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—(AP)—John Brady's counsel rested conditionally today in his murder trial as the end of the acknowledged slayer's attempt to prove insanity neared. With the understanding that two more witnesses would be put on the stand when they appeared here, the main case closed. The state not being ready with a rebuttal, recess until two o'clock was taken.

The prosecution called 27 witnesses today including Doctors Joe Gilbert, J. M. Loving and nine Texas University professors. Dr. W. L. Brown, El Paso, swore he diagnosed Brady nine years ago, and found him "mentally unsound."

HUTT ON BALLOT FOR RE-ELECTION AS COMMISSIONER

D. L. Hutt, prominent ranchman and county commissioner of precinct number three, is announced today for re-election. Having served one term, Hutt has been very active in the conducting of that county's business and his friends urged him to place his name on the ballot for re-election.

Dining the period of preliminary work on plans for the new court house, Hutt made all of the trips with the other commissioners, attended all of the meetings even to the extent of postponing an important trip several days.

Funeral Friday For Stanton Resident

Funeral services for Mrs. J. C. Stevenson, mother of Mrs. Burton Boone of Midland, will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at the Methodist church in Stanton.

Mrs. Stevenson, who had lived in Stanton for more than 20 years, passed away early Wednesday at Austin where she had been under treatment. She was 74 years old. She was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Florence Konz, there.

Residents of Stanton and surrounding country have long recognized the Stevenson family as among the most substantial citizens. Surviving members of the family are Mrs. Burton Boone of Midland, Mrs. T. E. Woods of San Antonio. (See FUNERAL, on page 6)

Pat Murphy Here For Time Today

"Pat" Murphy, congressional candidate of San Angelo, was in Midland today, visiting voters and ex-servicemen, with whom he served in the army during the period of the Great War.

Reared in the cattle country, he said to The Reporter-Telegram he favors legislation for the stockman, and that, if elected, he will do everything to secure the type of legislation necessary to further the livestock industry.

Murphy has returned from El Paso and other western towns of this district. He said several clubs had been formed to promote his candidacy on the present trip. "I am sure," he said, "I can do something to further Midland's claim to a federal building. If elected, I shall do everything in my power to assure erection of this building."

SEVERITY OR KINDNESS?

Apparently there are still people in this country who are afraid that we are treating our criminals too gently. Judge Edwin O. Lewis of Philadelphia, delivering his charge to the January grand jury, warned the jurors not to be too sentimental when they paid their regular visits to the county's penal institutions.

"A prison sentence of even 30 days is intended to teach a man a lesson so that he will not commit crime again," said the judge.

"We do not send men to prison to have a happy holiday. So many of those who have been recently released have been committing crimes of violence that we are more than ever disposed not to relax in our duty or to show sentimental tolerance and sympathy for criminals."

This is all very well, and certainly no one will deny that we want to protect ourselves against robbers and murderers in any way we can. The only trouble is that our present regime, which is at least fairly harsh, isn't doing it very well.

Sheldon and Eleanor Glueck of Harvard recently studied the careers of 500 criminals in Massachusetts penal institutions. They made some interesting discoveries; among them, the discovery that 80 per cent of 510 men discharged from the Massachusetts reformatory went right on committing crimes after their release.

"Why should this regime reform anybody? In my experience there few tougher and more unyielding structures in the world than a bad habit. It does not change as the result of a few months of forced, unpaid and unpalatable labor."

The one essential condition to reformation of a criminal, he says, is:

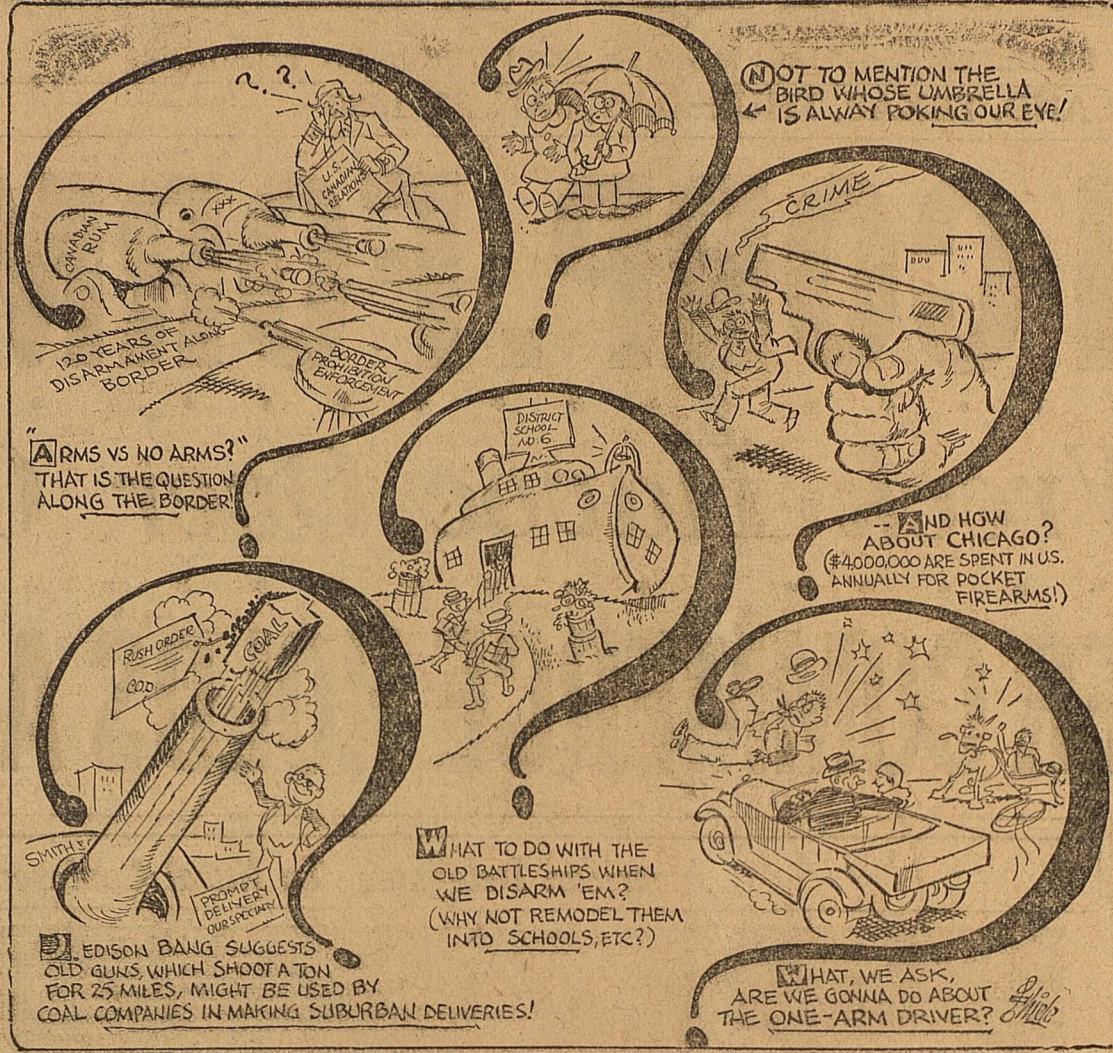

"That someone should come to know and to understand the man in so intimate and friendly a way that he comes to a better understanding of himself and to a truer comprehension of the world he lives in."

For the criminal, says Dr. Cabot, must have a new interest in an honest job, and a new affection for some one for whose sake it seems worth while to behave more decently.

All of this is a long way from the severity advocated by Judge Lewis. But there is at least an even chance that these Harvard investigators know quite as much about the problem as the Philadelphia jurist. Certainly our present system isn't getting us any results. Might it not be worth our while to give the other a trial?

Of course, it would be complicated and expensive. We would have to spend much more thought and money on our prisons than we do now. It is not as easy to put understanding and affection into a thug's soul as it is to lock him up and feed him bread and water. But it might be worth trying, even so.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Peace Can Be Worse Than War, for the Nation That Gets Beaten—Hungary's Plight is Emphasized by Propagandist Seeking Revision of the Treaty of Trianon.

By RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The hellishness of war is only equalled by the hellishness of peace for nations which get licked. The latter lasts longer.

So much one gathers from an unusual little woman from Hungary who is now here working toward the ambitious aim of upsetting the Trianon Treaty, under which the allies sliced up most of Hungary among surrounding nations and gave the Hungarians a hopeless future which is only marred by the condition of Austria.

Her name is Mrs. Arpad Guillaume. She was born in England and her husband is a field marshal in the Hungarian army. While Marshal Guillaume was fighting the Russians in the war his wife was serving as head of a large army hospital. Toward the end of the Italian front, he was taken a prisoner and held in Italy for a year.

Escaped Red Raiders. While he was there the Communists took control of Hungary. They raided his home, intending to seize Mrs. Guillaume as a hostage, but a few hours before she had escaped with her two children to the home of an English family where she was safe.

Now, because she speaks English and because she is vice president of the World League of Women for Hungary, she is completing a series of propaganda lectures in this country, most of which have been heard in the middle west.

"The Trianon treaty," says Mrs. Guillaume, "was signed in 1920, when everyone was sick and tired of treaties, and no one paid any attention to the Hungarian delegate when they asked for plebiscites in the territory which neighboring nations were determined to take away."

"The Hungarians held their country for a thousand years. They had the most perfect geographical position in the world, with the high Carpathian mountains on three sides and the broad Danube river on the fourth. For centuries the Hungarians had barred the Turks from invading western Europe."

"In 1914, when the crown council met at Vienna after the murder of the Austrian archduke at Sarajevo, the only one who protested dispatch of the famous sharp ultimatum to Serbia was the Hungarian prime minister, Count Tisza, who said Hungary had everything to lose and nothing to gain by war. He was overruled, as he was again later when he protested against unrestrained submarine warfare.

"But all this had no effect upon the allies. They handed 36 per cent of Hungary to Rumania, 22 per cent to Czechoslovakia, 7 1/2 per cent to Yugoslavia and 1 1/2 per cent to Austria, to make Hungary lost most of her natural resources, including all of her oil, salt, gold and silver and 29 per cent of her timber, and 55 per cent of her factories. The port of Fiume was taken away and given to Italy, leaving no outlet to the sea.

"Once Hungary had eleven million people, but today three and a half million pure-blooded Hungarians live in territory ruled by her neighbors, many of them deprived of rights of citizenship.

"The countries surrounding us can put five million men under arms in case of war and are equipped with the best modern armament. The Hungarian army is limited to 35,000 men and is denied warplanes and other indispensable weapons of warfare.

"The greatest poverty prevails in what is left of our country. Bankruptcies last October were double those of the same month the year before. Suicides, 50 or 60 times as common in Budapest as in London, increased 30 per cent in 1929 over 1928. Hungary has to import everything—even wood with which to build and coal to burn.

Robbed of Their Homes

"Before the Trianon treaty was signed over countries moved their armies and civilian officials into the territory they wanted and dispossessed Hungarian families shipping them in trainloads into Budapest where they lived for years in the same railroad cars. The unemployment problem is enormous."

Mrs. Guillaume seems sure the Trianon treaty will be revised, as the Hungarian National Federation has asked the League of Nations to do.

"It must be revised if the peace of Europe is to be preserved," she says. "Of one hundred million people in Central Europe there are thirty million of minority populations under foreign subjugation. There can be no hope of permanent peace with a situation like that."

Mrs. Guillaume believes American public opinion may force a revision—if only she can get it aroused.

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

State Press in the Dallas News seems to think Charlo, who recently wrote me a letter about having the date for paying auto licenses changed to July 1, didn't get justice in this column. He even comes out flat footed and says Charlo should have written him, State Press, in the first place. Read this attempt of his to usurp the duties of the Town Quack:

Having appealed in vain to the Midland Reporter-Telegram, a gentleman named Charlo, of the city aforesaid, brings his problem to this column. Here it is pertinent to suggest that those suffering from ingrowing idea or a fungus inspiration should not go elsewhere to be quacked, but apply to this prescriptionist. Charlo of Midland wants a law passed. We all do, but individually we differ as to the urgency and benefit of our various measures. Charlo thinks automobile licenses should be issued July 1, instead of Jan. 1, as at present. State Press sees merit in this proposal. Christmas costs so much money it is difficult for father to pay off at the store and the tax collector's window the same week. If all taxes were payable July 1 it would stimulate business. The crops always look good at that time of year, therefore the people are cheerful, though hot. In January, on the contrary, the weather is gloomy, the prospect drear and the robins begging for meat and drink. This makes taxpaying twice as hard as it might in better weather when the birds are singing. It is true that nobody has any money in mid-summer, but that is a minor consideration, one that would cure itself, perhaps.

I misunderstand Jim Harrison

He uses Old Dutch all time on the silverware, but what he said was he got in bad for cleaning the celery with Old Dutch. Whoever heard of such folly. All of which reminds me of the essay of an El Paso school girl, saying that steel wool comes from hydraulic rams.

And now our society editor wants to call Hankins the "Toothless Texan."

DANCE HALL TALKING HIT, OPENS TODAY

Bringing the work of one of the greatest of modern novelists to the talking screen, "Dance Hall," motion picture adaptation of the story by Vina Delmar, opens today at the Yucca Theatre. It is the first time that a story of this sensational successful author has been transferred to the screen.

Originally written by Radio Pictures, and published in Liberty Magazine, "Dance Hall" has had millions of readers. It is a realistic, human story of a little hall-room hostess and two rivals for her love, told in the manner which has made best sellers of "Bad Girl," "Loose Ladies" and "Kept Woman." Miss Delmar's successful novels.

Olive Borden As a Blonde Radio Pictures, producer of "Dance Hall," has adapted the story faithfully. Careful selection of the cast resulted in Olive Borden being chosen for the leading role with Arthur Lake, one of the screen's leading younger actors, featured with her. Miss Borden's fans will be surprised to see her with blonde tresses, instead of her well-known jet black hair. The change, although most effective, is temporary. Miss Delmar's heroine Gracie Flynn, was a blonde so Miss Borden appears with golden hair for this production only.

Joseph Cawthorn, who scored outstanding hits in "Street Girl" and "Jazz Heaven," gives another of his inimitable comedy characterizations in "Dance Hall."

Woman Forsakes Pots For Hammers

CINCINNATI, O. — (UP)—From proprietress of a delicatessen to the role of building contractor was just a step for Mrs. Berl R. Davis, Cincinnati's only feminine builder and mother of an 11-year-old boy.

After more than a year in her present occupation, Mrs. Davis says she wouldn't exchange a rule and claw-hammer for the most profitable store in the city. She learned how to read blueprints and distinguish a joist from a rafter while operating a restaurant during development of a real estate sub division. A building superintendent, gang foreman, carpenter, plasterer and laborer all served as her tutors.

When the project was completed and the workmen moved on to newer fields, Mrs. Davis closed her restaurant and opened a delicatessen. It, the erstwhile proprietress admitted, closed of its own volition, so she turned to building. Her first achievement was a house for herself and shortly afterward she entered partnership with another contractor. After erecting 40 homes, the partnership dissolved and the feminine member launched upon her own resources.

At present she has three houses under construction and 11 employees on her regular payroll. "A woman," Mrs. Davis commented over a set of blueprints, "can be a success just the same as a man."

Colonial Card Club Meets

Mrs. J. S. Schow, 413 West Indiana avenue, was hostess to the Colonial Card Club at their regular meeting for bridge yesterday afternoon.

Colors of yellow, green and rose predominated in table appointments and floral decorations, and were prettily carried out in the salad plates served at the close of the game.

Mrs. M. C. Ulmer held high score, and Mrs. B. G. Crafa received cut prize. Others playing were Meses. J. A. Finlayson, J. O. Garlington, John Edwards, Tom Combs, W. G. Whitehouse, and E. A. Verdier, a guest served as her tutors.

THE FLOWERS THAT BLOOM IN THE SEED CATALOGUE—HOW TO CHOOSE THEM "The flowers that bloom in the Spring"—tra-la or no tra-la—will be those which you select most carefully from the seed catalog these wintry evenings.

For continuous bloom throughout the season select plants which flower in early spring, in mid-season and in autumn. Some—violets and zinnias, for instance—bloom continuously. You will want some annuals for showy garden effect, others for cut flowers, and the perennials will be planted for permanent beds. Here are a few suggestions:

"Antirrhinum (or the snapdragon) of grandmother's garden) are excellent for color effect in bedding, and are good for cutting. There are three classes—very tall (three feet high); the 'giants,' a trifle lower; and the modest half-dwarfs, about a foot high.

"Centaureas (commonly called Corn Flowers) are annuals, the seed of which may be sown early in spring in the garden. They are excellent for cutting and the plants are not particular as to soil as long as it is rich. They require full sun. Montana is a blue flowered perennial variety.

"Coropsis Grandiflora is a favorite perennial owing to its great quantity of graceful flowers on long stems. Seeds sown early in the open ground will produce flowering plants the first year.

"In hot, dry soils, Nasturtiums do very well, but they thrive best under better treatment—rich soil with moisture is needed. Sow seed in the garden, as soon as the ground is warm. The spicy leaves make a good addition to salads.

"In light soil and a sunny location and for hot, dry places, the annual Phlox does well. Seed sown in the open ground when danger of frost has passed, will soon produce plants which will completely cover the ground with a carpet of gorgeous color throughout the season.

Accepts Chair In Anniversary Project

AUSTIN, Texas.—(AP)—Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, Secretary of State, has accepted the chairmanship for Texas of the National Women Voters' League tenth anniversary memorial project. It is planned to celebrate the tenth birthday of the league at the 1930 biennial convention which will be held in Louisville, Ky., in April by creating a National Roll of Honor and raising a memorial fund to forward the work and establish the ideals of America's outstanding women leaders in the suffrage and citizenship field.

Each State is expected to make nominations of its pioneer women to be enrolled and have their names inscribed on the memorial tablet at Washington. Mrs. McCallum is author of a book on Women Pioneers. She said she would, with the help of local committees, work out and present to the Texas League board a set of standards to be used in deciding upon the eligibility of names to be proposed for the National Roll of Honor. After the board has acted on the standards, Mrs. McCallum and her local committees will enter on the research work necessary to be certain that the names proposed are ones deserving of the honor of being so commemorated.

"The Most Thrilling Game I Ever Saw Pitched" -- Gregg's Victory in 1913

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of articles in which Billy Evans, former big league umpire, recalls thrilling deeds he has witnessed on the diamond.

BY BILLY EVANS

For a game packed with thrills, each succeeding inning appearing to outdo the one before, I must hand the palm to a contest that featured Vean Gregg southpaw pitcher of the Cleveland Indians. The game was staged in the 1913 post-season series between Pittsburgh of the National League and Cleveland of the American League.

Vean Gregg should be rated as one of the five greatest southpaws in baseball history. I umpired Rube Waddell when he was at his best, Eddie Plank when he was outstanding and all other great left-handers of the last 25 years, but none of them boasted a curve ball that compared with Gregg's. When he had control, he was almost unhittable. Gregg's curve was a fast breaking drop ball and was as puzzling to right-handers as left.

Selected as one of the umpires to officiate in the Pittsburgh-Cleveland series, I looked forward to seeing whether Gregg would prove the same effective pitcher against the National Leaguers as he had been in the American. It didn't take long to have the matter proved in the affirmative.

Gregg was used in the second game of the series and beat Pittsburgh 2-1 in the 11 innings. He allowed seven hits and struck out the same number. It seemed he had two strikes on nearly everybody who came to bat, but registered only seven strikeouts. Falkenberg had plunked Pittsburgh 3-0 in the first game of the series.

Off to a two-game advantage, it seemed that Cleveland would breeze through an easy winner. However, the third game went to the Pirates 4-3 in 12 innings, while in the fourth and fifth contests, Cleveland was blanked 5-0 and 3-0. The situation had changed, Pittsburgh was now in front with three victories against two defeats.

It was apparent that the sixth game would be the big thriller of the series, for Cleveland had to win or even the count. Gregg was pitched against Hendrix, spitball star of the Pirates.

For sensational pitching that game will always live in my memory. Bob Emslie, veteran National League umpire, was calling balls and strikes in that battle and in our dressing room after it was over said in all his career, covering more than 30 years as an umpire, he had never seen anything to come even close to matching Gregg's sensational hurling.

Cleveland won the game 1-0 in 13 innings. In the first nine innings Gregg struck out 14 men, retiring practically half the team himself during the regulation session. In the four extra innings he added five more strikeouts, 19 in all, or practically half of the 39 putouts of the game.

That game broke the spirit of the Pirates, Cleveland winning the seventh and deciding game of the series on the following day, 4-1.

posts for the added point. His longest run of the season was 92 yards for a touchdown on an intercepted pass. Against Baylor he caught 14 of 17 completed passes and intercepted five tosses.

Schoonover does other things besides football. He is captain-elect of the Razorback quintet. College Humor named him All-America forward in basketball last winter. He plays first base and pitches on the baseball team and maintained a batting average of .340 last spring. Schoonover was popularly acclaimed the man who had done the most for his university last spring. He was a "straight A" student all last year and now in his senior year is Arkansas' candidate for the Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford University, England.

BIG SPRING CAGE TEAM COMES BACK TO ITS OLD FORM

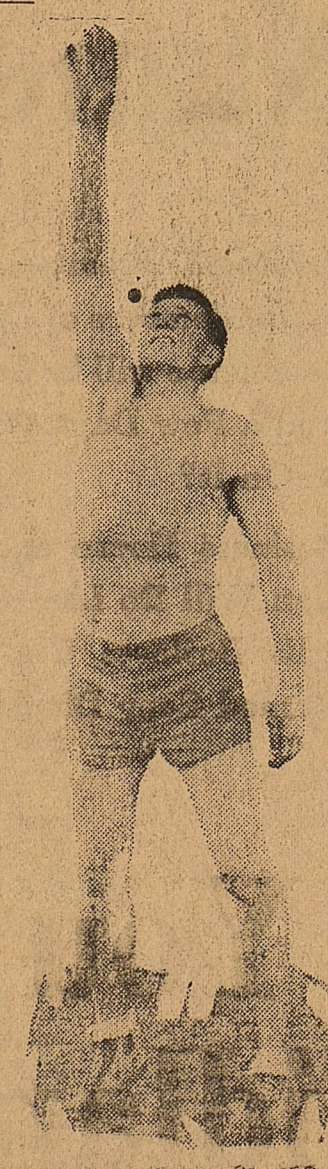

BIG SPRING, Jan. 30.—The Big Spring Steers after suffering defeat at the hands of the Cisco Lobos, recovered and took the sixth game of the season from the Cleburne Wolves and are now awaiting the invasion of the Abilene Eagles on Saturday night, lead by Coach Mayhew.

The Abilene players now hold the district championship with four of the members on the team who starred in the victory. The possible Big Spring line-up for Saturday as announced by Coach Stevens is Bell and Hutto, forwards, Pardue, center, Howie and Flowers, guards. Coach Mayhew will feature Captain Smokey Allen, football hero. The steers have only lost two games out of sixteen played in the local gymnasium.

A writer on musical subjects says the jazz music heard in the night clubs takes the edge off the diners' appetite. The prices help a trifle, too.

BIG FROG CENTER APPEARS CERTAIN TO LEAD MATES IN HIGH SCORING

Captain Roy Eury of the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, who is finishing his third successful year as a member of the Purple cage team. The big frog center is a graduate of Polytechnic High School in Fort Worth. Eury was high scorer for the Frogs last year, and from all indications will have that honor again this year. He is among the leading scorers of the conference this season. Weighing close to 200 pounds and standing well over six feet, Eury makes an ideal center. He has not been out-jumped consistently in any game this year.

CANYON TEACHERS TO BUCK AN OLD STUDENT'S TEAM

CANYON, Jan. 30.—Bernice Graves, former Buffalo Star athlete, will lead his basketball team against his Alma Mater, Friday and Saturday of this week, when they come to Canyon for two games with Burton's Buffs.

The Buffaloes took the boys from the Big Bend country into camp earlier in the season for two games. The first being 41 to 29, and the second 41 to 17. But the boys, that made the trip to Alpine are not looking on the Lebo games as set ups at all.

COSDEN WELL IN ECTOR COUNTY COMES IN

OFFSET TO LANDRETH WELL DRILLS IN WEDNESDAY AT ABOUT 3586-92 FEET; 20 FEET HIGHER THAN OTHERS

Cosden No. 1-A Next Expected Completion; T-1 To Be Completed As Gasser

By TURNER E. CAMPE

ODESSA, Jan. 30.—The Cosden Oil company No. 1-B University in Ector county field, 14 miles west of Odessa, came in Wednesday for 100 barrels at 3586-92 feet.

This well, a south offset to Landreth No. 1-S University that came in for 1,000 barrels and 1,650 feet, 20 feet higher than either of the Landreth wells which are on each side of it. The Cosden A-1 to the north of the north Landreth well also is believed to be higher, though a recent correction in measurements make the exact footage uncertain.

Another good producer, second recent completion on land of the University of Texas, has been added to the new Ector county pool. This is the No. 1-B University of the Cosden Oil company, which is reported flowing 1,000 barrels daily by 10-minute heads after only a slight penetration in the big pay.

First trace of oil was logged from 3,568 to 3,570 feet, with a little gas at 3,572-74 feet. The well began flowing at 3,589-90 feet and at this time is reported to be increasing.

Measurements indicate it is some 20 feet higher than either of the Landreth wells which are on each side of it. The Cosden A-1 to the north of the north Landreth well also is believed to be higher, though a recent correction in measurements make the exact footage uncertain.

However, in the case of variation of this amount, it is usually due to variation in measurements, especially when pipe measurement is used.

Landreth's No. T-1, south well in the university land, will be completed as a gas well and the rig skidded, probably east, following failure to get a bit out of the hole. Tools were blown up in the hole when it encountered an estimated 18,000,000 feet of gas at 3,135 feet.

At one time it was thought all tools had been recovered, but one bit was still in the hole, and enlargements at the bottom by action of the gas allowed it to fall in such a position that it could neither be recovered nor pipe set by it.

Next completion in the pool is expected to be Cosden's No. 1-A, north University well, drilling below 3,000 feet and about to set pipe just above the expected pay. It will cement this pipe.

not obliged to run every two years will be on "easy street" insofar as campaigning for re-election is concerned, but everyone else, including the 18 congressmen, will be required to stand for re-election.

It is an "off year" only for presidential candidates. Bringing in of the Cosden well in Ector county has elicited reports from the chamber of commerce of that county to the effect that no dry hole has been encountered there since production was discovered. That is something. And Midland shares interest with Odessa in the fact.

cattle, and its officers say it will offer cattle loan facilities unexcelled anywhere. The company will not confine its operations to Midland, but will serve the general area adjacent to Midland, thus helping to make Midland an even greater district city and cattle headquarters city.

Money in this area that has heretofore gone to Fort Worth, Dallas, Kansas City, Chicago and other cities to buy loans, may hereafter be handled at Midland, thereby leaving Midland money at Midland, and at the same time accommodating cattlemen of this area, officers of the new Midland company point out.

Every man on the board of directors is now actively in the cattle business, or has had wide experience in handling cattle paper. Local cattlemen who learned of the organization said Thursday that the company should prove a great asset to the cattlemen of this area, and an asset to the city of Midland in its desire to serve all of this area.

Daily Market Report

Trading on the cotton market in the early part of the morning was extremely active and excited more than in many months with prices declining sharply under general liquidation, forcing prices to new low levels for the season. Active months selling over $1.00 a bale under the previous close became quieter towards midday when the list was 13 to 17 points net lower on morning.

Cables were coming lower than due because of textile news generally, with renewed liquidation on opening of market. Values declined sharply. March in New York selling at 16.32, May 16.59, July 16.80 and October 17.04, or 14 to 24 points net lower. There was the greatest pressure in new months.

BOBBITT RULES ON "BOLTING" PARTY TICKETS

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—(UP)—While political parties have the power to prescribe the qualifications of their own members, they do not have authority to bar any person, either as candidate or governor, because such person voted against a party nominee at an election previously held, Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt ruled today.

Senator Thomas Love, Dallas, gubernatorial candidate subject to the July democratic primary, a self-confessed party bolter, asked the attorney general for a ruling.

AVOID THE THREAT of the weight of age

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

You men who would keep trim and fit... you women who covet the tantalizing curves of the truly modern figure—when tempted to do yourself too well, light a Lucky instead. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.
