ODESSA HOST TO GREAT CROWDS AT AMERICAN LEGION FETES

"Philosophy, except so far as it enables one to bear losses with equanimity, is not a business asset." -Lord Riddell.

TO-DAY PROGRAM CROWDED

Rodeo, Barbecue on This Afternoon; Services

ODESSA, June 7.—(Special)—The City of Odessa, in honor of having the 16th district convention of the American Legion department of Texas, is decorated like "the little red church on the hill", banners and bunting fly from every building in the business section.

MIDLAND ATTENDS As many as 200 Legionnaires and other residents of Midland expect to attend this morning's services and the afternoon's varied program in Odessa, Sam K. Wasaff, local commander of the legion, said Saturday before going to Odessa.

"Soup to nuts," the boys will be served from "bacon and beans" at the chuk wagon.

Opened Saturday A dance opened the convention Friday night, at the Elliot hotel. A little Juarez was arranged so that ex-service men could find each other and review wartime incidents and talk over the times, sorrow and joy that they had together, whether they were in the training camps, at Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel or in the Argonne forest.

The general program follows: The convention opened at 1 p. m. Saturday with registration of delegates at the legion hall. At 3 all Legionnaires, who were inclined toward golfing, were guests of the Odessa golf club; at 7:30 they were invited to attend free shows in local theatres.

Services This Morning Drinks and sandwiches were served to the guests. On Sunday morning religious services for the Legionnaires will be conducted at the Palace theatre by the Rev. Robert Butler. All local churches will cooperate with individual services in reference to this.

At noon Sunday the Legionnaires guests and citizenship will assemble at the legion hall for an old-time chuk wagon feed, as above stated, of bacon, beans, dried peaches, coffee, tea, "gold fish" and preserves.

Boy Here Battles a Fish in Cold Water Of the Rio Grande

Days and nights on the Rio Grande offer many degrees difference in temperature, especially when one bakes in the open oven during the day as he trudges around with a camera in the rough country of the Big Bend, and swims in the river at night, baiting trout lines and taking off fish.

Chester Harris found that this night swimming was made all the more exciting when he tried to take a 30-pound cat fish off a hook. He was 200 feet from the American side, and in water eight feet deep. The big fish, when freed, dragged the Midland boy under twice, and battled him all the way to the bank, where it required combined work of W. L. Brasher and W. A. Silk, his kinsmen of Mangum, Okla., to land him.

The swimming party, two younger boys included, left Midland early Wednesday morning for a select site in Brewster county. They returned this morning, after having been delayed on their trip home by rising creeks that caused detours totalling 50 miles. The round trip was 617 miles.

SPECIAL EVENTS TO BE STAGED ON JULY 4TH HERE

Midland will engage Abilene in three polo games next month, playing the invaders July 2, 4, and 6, those in charge of the games announced Saturday.

Information relative to several cities of the south playing in Midland July 4 was erroneous, that occasion being a tournament to be played here during the fall, informants said. At that time Memphis, Tenn., Houston, San Antonio and other large cities will be here with their ponies.

Races will play a great part in making the celebration on the Fourth the finest held in years. There will be handicap races for half-bred ponies. Clarence Scharbauer offering a liberal purse to the winner. Only two year-olds will be entered in this event, known as Hotel Scharbauer handicap.

Twenty head of horses are training for other racing events. All races, except the Hotel Scharbauer handicap, will be arranged to suit the horses entered.

As one of the prime features of the Fourth, a probable matched race between Foreign Relations, horse of the Buchanan-Bloss stables here, and a horse from an East Texas stable, is being considered.

Horses have already been entered by B. W. Floyd, 2. Spence Jewell, the Scharbauers, 3. the Bryant boys, one each, Alvin Roberts and Lloyd Burris.

The Midland polo team has not yet been selected, but workouts are being taken daily. A better string of horses will be used than ever in a match here, the men say.

FOUR DEAD AS PLANES SPIN DOWN

Fierro Fails for the Second Time in Two Days

The announced transatlantic attempt of Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith was scheduled to start long before dawn this morning, four men were dashed to their deaths in aerial coffins, and one non-stop flight failing, made up the high spots of aviation news late Saturday.

The transatlantic attempt will be made from Dublin in the British Isles, and in the "Southern Cross." The plane accidents were in Oklahoma and in the Canal Zone.

Col Roberto Fierro failed again in his attempt to fly his Lockheed-Sirrus non-stop to New York, having to land on a small seabor island.

"Southern Cross" May Hop DUBLIN, June 7. (AP)—Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith hopes to take off on an attempted Trans-Atlantic flight Sunday morning if weather reports are favorable, he said today.

The plane, "Southern Cross," should be far out over the Atlantic by daybreak.

Only one westward airplane crossing has approximated success, that of the German craft "Bremen," two years ago, in which Colonel James Fitzmaurice, of the Irish free state, was a distinguished figure.

Oklahoma Crash CLINTON, Okla., June 7. (AP)—Franklin D. Peters, Oklahoma City pilot, and Stanley Haas, passenger of Clinton, were killed this afternoon when the plane owned by the junior division of the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce crashed near the edge of town. The plane was flying at a low altitude and a wingover and slipped, falling between two residences.

Fierro Loses Bearings NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Col. Roberto Fierro, Mexican aviator, made a forced landing on a barren island of Jamaica bay late today, in a flight from Montgomery, Ala., to Roosevelt field, New York.

The flyer said he temporarily lost his bearings.

He glided to a perfect landing on the new emergency field of the New York City police air force.

Nothing was the matter with his plane and he expected to take off soon for his destination. He expects to start his attempted non-stop flight for Mexico City early next week.

Next Sunday Sees Initiation of a New Tri-County Baseball League

Six Teams In Race; Split Season Is Agreed To

Organization of six baseball clubs into the Tri-County league was consummated at a meeting in Odessa Friday evening. Officers were elected and rules governing play formulated.

The league is to be made up of two teams in Midland, the Bushers and the Oilers, Odessa, Pennwell, Stanton and Valley View (Lenorah).

Nash Tucker, Odessa hardware merchant, was elected president, and Dickey Dickinson, with the Gulf here, secretary-treasurer.

Each team is to retain for itself all money taken in at the gate, but will pay $25 fees before the season. Before the second half of an agreed-on split season starts another $25 will be paid into the treasury of the league. The $300 thus collected will be given the winning team in the playoff between first and second half winners.

Sixteen games will be played by each club, eight in each half of the season, and there will be enforced the "14 player limit."

Games will be played only on Sunday afternoons, the schedule for Sunday, June 15, the beginning of the season, being as follows: Odessa at Valley View (Lenorah), Penwell at Stanton.

Bushers vs. Oilers at Cowden Park, Midland.

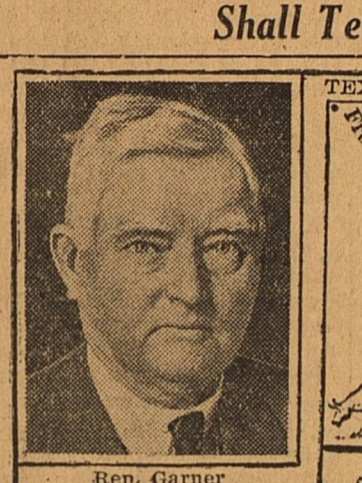

The Midland Bushers play the Westbrook nine this afternoon at Westbrook. Girdley is to pitch for Midland.

Wade Heath is back in the Midland line-up after being out in the last game.

The Oilers play Odessa in Midland this afternoon, at 3:30.

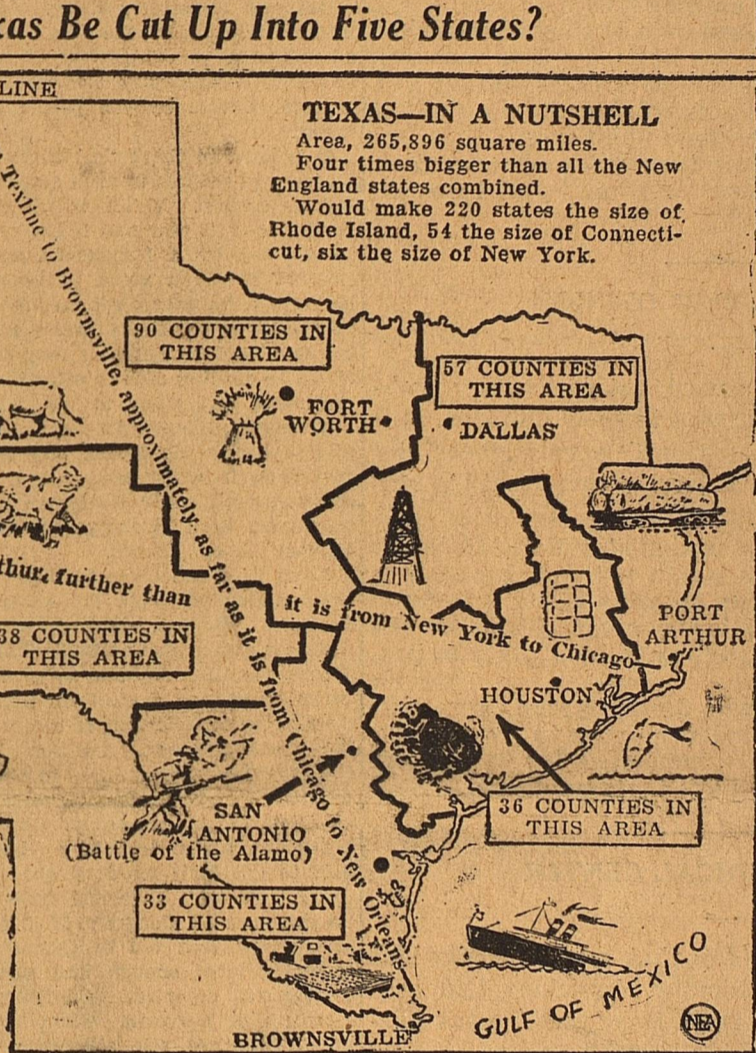

Kinner Executive Lands at Airport

Vice-President Kinner of the Kinner airplane engine manufacturing company of that name, landed at Sloan field Saturday, enroute to New York. He had been in Los Angeles. He was flying a Waco Kinner biplane.

What would be the result if Texas, biggest state in the Union, should be divided into five states, as suggested by Congressman John C. Garner of Uvalde, Tex., veteran Lone Star solon and the Democratic leader in Congress?

GALVESTON BIDS FOR DEMOCRATIC STATE ASSEMBLY

AUSTIN, June 7. (UP)—Galveston is first in the field with a definite effort to secure the state democratic convention. State Senator T. J. Holbrook and John L. Darrouzet of Galveston came here today to make plans to take the convention there.

The state democratic executive committee will select a place at its session here Monday, Holbrook said. Galveston has not had the convention since 1912.

FOUND NOT GUILTY SAN ANTONIO, June 7. (UP)—Walter Du Menil, 24, was found not guilty of murder in connection with the slaying of his sister's divorced husband, John Harper, a year ago by a district court here today. Self defense was his plea. The court held a night session, concluding the trial.

Pursuit Cadets to Land at Airport

Approximately 17 army pursuit planes, P-1 jobs, are expected at Sloan field Tuesday, bound for El Paso, where they will spend the night before returning to their base at Kelly field, San Antonio.

This is the second of a group of three flights of the graduating class in pursuit training, the third flight expected here next week.

Bombardment and observation flights preceded the first group of pursuit cadets by several days.

The ships will fly to Midland from Fort Sill, Okla.

WOMEN IN ONE OF THREE GANGS THAT GRAB OFF $37,500

RICHMOND HILL, N. Y., June 7. (UP)—Two women led a group of five bandits in a successful raid on the Richmond Hill National bank today and escaped with $37,500.

Two women and three men, all wearing masks and carrying pistols, appeared before opening time, ordered the porter inside and tied him up behind the cages. They waited quietly as other employees appeared, bound them and placed them behind the cage.

When the manager appeared and opened the vault, they seized the cash and escaped in a waiting automobile.

TCEA ELECTS NEW OFFICERS; VICKERS PRAISED BY BODY

New officers elected by the Texas Commercial Executives association which closed at Plainview Saturday were: M. E. Melton, Texarkana, president; John Boswell, Wichita Falls, vice-president; W. A. Spencer, Temple, secretary-treasurer.

Spencer succeeds Paul T. Vickers of Midland as state secretary. Vickers returned home Saturday afternoon.

The monthly News Letter issued from Midland for the past 13 months was declared by leading officials of the association to have been the best issued in the history of the organization, and the Midland secretary was given a vote of appreciation. The book of papers will be issued this month from Midland.

Lieutenant Allen of Dallas in an address to the secretaries declared nine of every ten aviators who flew east and west across Texas stopped in Midland because Midland has one of America's best known airports.

Frank P. Holland, publisher of Farm and Ranch at Dallas, declared in a banquet speech at Plainview that the Midland chamber of commerce deserved high praise for its part in initiating the Texas breeder-feeder movement.

Mrs. Vickers was on the speaking program at a banquet Friday night. Two and a half days of strenuous study were spent by Texas secretaries; ideas were exchanged and advice of experts heard. Plainview was one of the best hosts T. C. E. A. has ever had, the Midland secretary said.

Aged Magistrate Of New York Dies

NEW YORK, June 7. (UP)—William McAdoo, 76, chief magistrate of the city of New York, and assistant secretary of the navy during President Cleveland's administration, died suddenly today. He had served in municipal posts in New Jersey, was a member of the New Jersey assembly, and had served in congress.

STUPENDOUS COUP WORKS OUT TO-DAY

Lands from Airplane And is Accepted; Ministry to Form

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 7. (AP)—Former Prince Carol, who has returned dramatically to Rumania to seek the throne he once renounced for the love of a European beauty, will be chosen king by the chamber of deputies and senate in session at 11 o'clock (4 o'clock Eastern Standard time) Sunday morning.

One of the most surprising coups known to the history of dynasties will be enacted when the prince, who under the detronement law,

QUEEN TO RETURN MUNICH, Bavaria, The dowager Queen Marie of Rumania arrived here tonight and the press was told that she would return to Bucharest June 14 instead of remaining in Germany four weeks as planned.

This statement followed upon earlier information that her plans would be unaltered by the return of her son, Carol, to bid for the Rumanian throne he renounced in 1925.

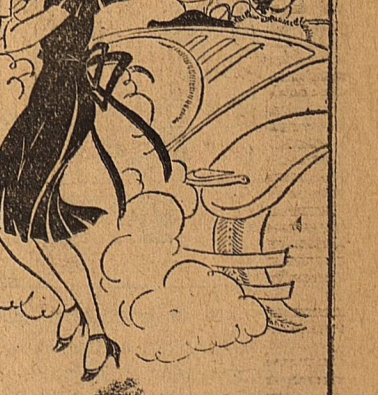

still has five years to serve in exile for what amounted to a ten-year expatriation following the famous affair which set the political tongues of the world wagging five years ago when he went to Paris and married a famous beauty in preference to awaiting his succession to the throne, is named king.

Carol flew in the night to his country, donned the uniform of a Rumanian general, issued a proclamation and, with his friends in both houses of the government rallying to his support, caused the downfall of the ministry of the powerful Maniu and caused the boy king, Michael, Carol's son, to become a mere boy again.

Strongly Supported With the peasantry strongly in favor of him, the army having been at times mutinous for his return during the five-year period, and with both houses of government being filled with his supporters, many of them his personal friends, it came as an easy undertaking to gather about him a rising wave of strength that threatened to grow into an insurrection against government authorities in case resistance were offered.

ELIMINATING BALLYHOO EXPENSE

Recommendations by the secretary of the Midland chamber of commerce to members of the Texas Commercial Executives' Association, in session at Plainview this week, that the "hullabaloo" or "ballyhoo" parts of conventions be eliminated, thereby saving to communities thousands of dollars annually that have been spent for nothing but to attract attention of fun seeking crowds, comes as sound advice.

Many a town has spent $1,500 on a parade stunt, or to take a large group of fun makes to a convention, just to attract attention for the minute. This attention, even though it is calculated to describe in some way the resources of the city, is but a scant glance from the hordes attending the convention. Such advertising is high priced and seldom worth the money. This money, spent judiciously for legitimate advertising or publicity during the year, would go a long way.

In like manner, the host city spends thousands of dollars on the kind of entertainment that attracts no one but the carousing, camp following, crowd that gets no good from the convention and puts nothing into it.

Conventions are being placed on a business basis, that is if they are to endure, and the host city that provides facilities for business sessions, banquets, sight seeing; and then leaves it to the organization holding the convention to pay its way, is doing the business like thing.

The day when every town that holds a convention should give a barbecue or some "blowout" just to outdo some other city is past.

EXPRESSING PUBLIC OPINION

There is no better way to work out community problems than for citizens to give voice to their opinions. It is for this reason that The Reporter-Telegram cheerfully publishes letters to the editor, as long as they meet the reasonable requirements of the paper.

No one cares to read an unsigned article. Opinions which are not backed up are worth nothing, hence it is the rule of the paper not to give space to them. Scandalous articles are not printed for obvious reasons, this paper not caring to be involved in libel suits or to be a party to personal attacks.

However, those citizens who desire to give expression in a constructive and open minded manner to community, state or national affairs, are commended for taking advantage of the opportunity to have them published.

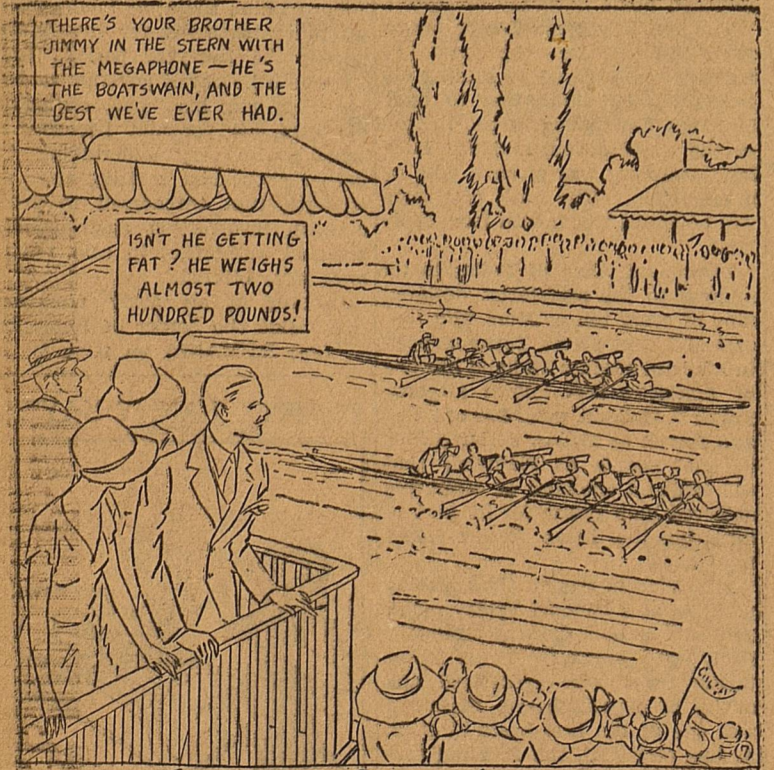

MIDLAND A MEDICAL CENTER

Announcement made Friday that arrangements had been made whereby all legitimate physicians and surgeons of Midland may use the facilities of the Thomas Hospital comes as a community-wide benefit.

A great territory surrounding Midland needs just such a service. The hospital has served oil fields and the surrounding country to a great extent since it was opened, and its more liberal use foretells for Midland an even greater opportunity for services.

The clientele of all Midland doctors will thus be served with no necessity whatever for going outside the city for hospital facilities. Although individually owned, the institution becomes a city-county hospital without the expense and obligation to tax-payers.

Prohibition Forces Will Be Well-Advised if They Prepare for a Spirited New Fight with the Wets—Recent Tendencies Show a Stiff Wet Dry Contest Is Near

WASHINGTON—The drys probably won't make any mistake if they start collecting their snivels of war to fight the rampaging wets.

No day goes by without finding the issue in the news in one way or another. A certain proportion of recent developments may be considered so much noise, as usual, but the most astute observers of public affairs admit that there are certain definite trends under way and if these trends turn out to be mere feeble swings of a pendulum the drys may consider themselves lucky.

Walsh and Jones Shift It may or may not be significant, but it certainly has been startling to find such distinguished bone drys as Senator Wesley Jones of Washington and Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana repudiating one of the favorite arguments of the Anti-Saloon League, to wit: Prohibition reference don't mean anything and the drys don't vote in them, anyways. Organized drys have consistently opposed such referenda.

Jones, author of the famous "Five and Ten" law, and Walsh, who has always been at least equally dry, have each agreed to support a constitutional amendment modifying or repealing the eighteenth amendment in case the people of their states vote for such a thing. And Morris Sheppard, the eighteenth amendment's own daddy, said he would give "serious consideration" to such a vote by the people of Texas.

It is hard to think that there is no tinge of politics in such surprising statements. Walsh is up for re-election this year and is likely to be opposed by a Republican wet. In 1926 Montana voted to repeal its state enforcement act, so Walsh knows his constituents aren't any too dry, even though they may no object to electing drys to office. His statement isn't going to do him any harm. Sheppard's won't hurt him, either. He hasn't any wet opposition to worry about, but in common with other statesmen he may have been looking at the Literary Digest figures.

Jones does not come up for re-election this year, but it's an undeniable fact that a Republican state convention met at Bellingham, Wash., the other day and by a bare majority adopted a platform plank demanding modification of the prohibition amendment. And some of the boys didn't spare Jones in their criticism. It was rather incumbent on Jones to say something.

For years the drys have been able to tell their senators what to do and the wets have had little or no influence on Congress. If it develops now that wet sentiment is becoming large enough and sufficiently well organized to influence members of Congress who have heretofore owed sole allegiance to

Letters to the Editor

STANDS BEHIND THE MAYOR

Dear Sir:

I do not claim that I exactly elected Leon Goodman for mayor, but on election day, he and I and Clarence Scharbauer and Johnnie Nobles and A. B. Cooksey and a few other good looking citizens of assorted sizes and ages marched to the polls and as Goodman stood right next to me as I cast my ballot he knows that I did not renig. And as I stood next to him when he voted I know that he didn't vote for his opponent, naturally. I also know that the rest of the ornamental gang that was with us slapped him on the back on the way out that they voted for him also, or else they are a bunch of pikers, and I am of the opinion that any one calling Clarence Scharbauer and Johnnie Nobles and A. B. Cooksey and the rest of the good looking citizens of assorted sizes and ages, pikers had better beat it to old Mexico and hang around there until Gabriel blows his horn, or whatever he blows. Therefore, while I do not claim that I exactly elected Goodman I might claim that my claim for so doing is just as good as any of those that claim they did. Now the meat of this thing is this: Goodman, among other good things he has done and is doing, about the best thing is his attitude on reckless auto driving. I have a car that cost me a hell of a lot of money. I have almost wrecked that car a dozen times dodging those reckless drivers that Goodman is trying to suppress. I have also almost wrecked that car by dodging a lot of kids driving their old mans car when said kids should be at home playing with their dolls instead of trying to show-off around the streets of Midland. I want to tell you that Mayor Goodman's attitude will account for a lot of us staying a bit longer on this foot-stool than if he disregarded the danger that is at all times present with us because of the careless, reckless and incompetent driving, not only in this city but along the highway. When Goodman gets his dander up don't try to get funny with him. He comes about as near as meaning what he says as any man in public life. And don't try to palaver him if you are in the wrong. It won't work at all. His method of handling this confounded nuisance of reckless driving is going to save lives and when he runs for governor a whole lot of us good looking citizens of assorted sizes and ages are going to vote for him.

HARRY L. HAIGHT.

GIVES COUNTY OPINIONS

Editor Reporter-Telegram:

At the beginning of my political career I told the voters of Precinct No. 4 what I would do if elected commissioner. Consequently the object of this letter is to acquaint you and the rest of the world with the fact that I have made my word good; and then some.

Before going further I want to say that I have the utmost respect and friendly feeling for my co-workers, namely: our county judge and the commissioners of precincts 1, 2, and 3. They are high class men in every respect, and big in the regard of our county.

But, to the subject matter at hand, Frankly, in my opinion, in recent years the legislative department of Midland county—which, of course, is the commissioners' court—has turned down the greatest opportunity to do the hero act that any legislative body ever had, that is to put the county on a self-sustaining or money-making basis than all other factors of our resources combined.

Near the beginning of my work I argued for more adequate shipping facilities for livestock producers. Perhaps that was the railroad's business, but lack of competition prohibited their interest in the matter. If a farmer has a few cows to ship, he is obliged to haul them in a truck, or risk them being run down by an auto. If a cowman has a herd, they are often bugged near or in town, and if they are coming from North Side trouble is often encountered in crossing the highway and railroad. I took this up with the chamber of commerce and commissioners' court, but failed to interest anyone.

As to our county roads, we have spent approximately $100,000 out of the road and bridge fund since January 1st, 1928—in my opinion, $25,000 to $30,000 more than they are worth; notwithstanding the fact that we need more and better roads, and I want them.

We have bought machinery and equipment that were not practical. We have bought good equipment that has not been used. We have built road-beds with high centers and long sloping ditches, difficult to travel in all weather and expensive to maintain.

We have not handled the tax situation as I thought it should have been handled; we have favored a few big individuals when we could have made these big fellows more money by doing justice to the average man.

What have we done for the farmer? Nothing; and he is the very bird that changed the price of our fertile soil from $1.50 per acre to $30. He is the lad who built the town up from something like a half dozen mercantile institutions to what it was before the oil industry. He is the fellow that the chamber of commerce ceased to beckon to just a few short years ago. Remember how the publicity department used to cry out a love speech to the farmers on trades day afterwards? It isn't paid to strain itself that way any more.

I heartily welcome the oil industry, am as strong for it as any man in Midland county, but I want to pay that debt we owe the farmers. We could have done it, we can still do it; and it will help everybody else more than it will the farmer. Our court has pulled a few big stunts, but I have asked for nothing big. All I have wanted were little things—little things that would grow big; things that would make a better and greater Midland county, without risk of money; things that would produce an ever-increasing property value.

I have argued for a 5-cent bounty on rabbits, for only three or four months in each year, the growing season, when crops are tender and subject to damage. The motions that I have made to that effect were always lost for want of a second.

I have argued for a little spot in town to be used as a market square; just a little spot where we could water and tie a horse, park a wagon or truck, loaded with fresh watermelons and various other vegetables and farm products. What a convenience that would be to the producer and to the busy housewives of our city! Just a little spot where a cow-puncher could throw his reins over a post at the watering trough, while he went for a sack of "the makins." As it is there is a city ordinance prohibiting our home people from peddling produce in the business district.

Our county and home demonstration agents are perhaps as good as the State affords; but do they make us $100,000 per year? Their monthly reports are excellent; however, in most of them appear to me to be in news item form. Illustration A: "During the month of August Mrs. Z sold 18 pounds of butter, canned 14 pounds of fruit, and sold 9 dozen eggs." Illustration B: "During the month of June 48 farmers were visited, 19 office calls, and 27 telephone calls. Also 6 flocks of hens were culled, 2 peach orchards pruned, and two more farmers decided to terrace their fields next year." For over a year I have wanted these reports to carry the names of all farmers and farm women that were served, but I can't get it. Our agents cost the State and county approximately $7,000 per year. That suits me fine, as long as we get our money back. However, our geographical location and the number of farms that we have put a doubt in my mind. Here is a way, though, that we could spend $7,000 per year on our farmers and at the same time make the chamber of commerce $100,000: We grow about 4000 bales of cotton in Midland annually. That don't grow on 8000 acres, but on 10,000 instead, $7,000 worth of certified cotton seed would increase the value of our lint cotton and gin run seed $25 per bale. Think of it, $100,000 for the indirect members of the body of the chamber of commerce; to be spent with our local retail merchants!

Here is another thing I have barked about: $1,000 invested in registered, bred Jersey heifers every year for five years would make the chamber of commerce a million dollars in less than 10 years. (I guess somebody will try to smoke that.) Sell these heifers to our farmers on a credit, 5 years' time at 5 per cent interest; and, as some one might have said 2600 years ago, "And we all prospered!" Think of how that would ever mount the increase in county values. Think of the contentment our people would receive from continuous, profitable employment.

Our geographical location and climatic conditions make it possible for Midland county to become one of the greatest dairying centers in the land. Midland county couldn't lose anything in that. Midland county could declare an emergency and do that. Our county money on deposit brings less than 2 per cent interest. Then why not use a little of it on the farmers in a safe, sound, and sane manner? Think again of the transformation our farmers have brought about. Think of how they have wrestled with the rattlesnakes, how they have bucked the sandstorms, hail storms, and dry weather. Think of the battle they have had with jackrabbits, the raven, and the coyote; the leaf worm, flea, hopper, and various other pests, too numerous to mention, including chuck for middle men.

When I argue for our farmers in court, I get no co-operation. My co-workers brand our farmers and the farmers of every new farming country as a restless, roving, dissatisfied class of people; if not in words, in action. In my mind the farmers of Midland county are the cream of the farming land. In no part of the South are the farmers more progressive in nature, more home-loving, more quiet and hard-working, more liberal and hospitable than in Midland county and this section of the west.

Some months ago, at a regular meeting of the commissioners' court, I asked our home demonstration agent why she could not accomplish anything in Precinct No. 4. She answered me before the court in words to this effect: "The farm women of your precinct do not give me the proper cooperation." I think she made a mistake. Her decision was too hasty. I have been in country homes from Midland northwest to the center of New Mexico, from Midland northeast to the line of Oklahoma, from Midland southeast to the Gulf of Mexico, from Midland southwest to the Mexican border, and never have I seen a group of country women that possessed more politeness, more kindness, more liberal and friendly hospitality than the women of Precinct No. 4 of Midland county. I make this statement without uttering:

Our court house is past history; all but paying for it. Our oil industry will probably be past history before the court house debt is paid. Then will our stockmen and farmers be immune to taxation? Absolutely not. We will have cowmen and farmers for many years to come. Our county has thousands of acres of fine grazing lands that can never be farmed, on account of surface formations; and good that it is that way. If the entire county were in one good sandy field, the

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

If you want to have some sport Monday, drop around to the West Texas Office Supply and ask Earl Horst what he is standing up for. Of course, he may not be able to stand up. He may not even be at the office.

Horst has planned for three years to go to the ranch with Frank Norwood to help him round up and brand, but for some reason he never seemed to get away on time. This year, all excuses failed and he went yesterday.

Holds the Cut

Leaving town in time to go on the drive, Horst was adequately mounted with a borrowed saddle and a weed-slicked horse, and after holding up the animals head clear around the drive, was allowed to hold the cut.

This went on well until noon, when the cows and calves were driven into the corrals, although Horst by that time was a little saddle sore, especially where his supporters rubbed his legs because he failed to turn them on the outside.

Exhausted and famished, he fell in on the red beans and fresh beef like a demon, and when he had devoured about twice what he would ordinarily eat, and had imbibed about a gallon of water from the cool pipe leading to the tank from a good "gyp" well, he was in good shape to go to sleep.

In the Branding Pen

But about that time the boss yelled, "Boys let's get started," and they headed for the branding pen. Horst stood by and watched them separate the cows and calves, marking at the way a cowboy stood at the gate and beat the cows over the head with a rope, turning them back and letting the calves get through the gate; and aside from inhaling a lot of dust, Earl was in comparatively good shape to start flanking.

Throwing in with a cowboy from a neighboring outfit, Horst elected to take the hind legs, and after letting the first calf kick him in the belly three or four times, began to sit flat on the ground and get a good hold on the top leg with both hands, and to push the bottom leg in the other direction with both feet, meaning of course the calf's hind legs. After letting two or three calves kick his flanking partner, he caught on wonderfully, but by that time he was winded.

Carries Dope Bucket He was then relieved and was instructed to carry the "dope" bucket around to those cowboys working on animals of the stronger sex. The smell of the branding iron against the calves' hair and hides, the fogging dust of the branding pen, the sickening odor of the dope bucket, and the intense heat of the sun which seemed always just a little way off from a cloud, just about put Horst on the blink.

Eats "Oysters" However, on last report, he was able to attend an "oyster supper" and expected to be back to work sometime from Monday to the last of the week.

Day of Pentecost Is Being Observed

(Editor's Note: With some of the local churches observing today the day of Pentecost, a suggestion of one pastor that the second chapter of Acts be published is herewith carried out, with the recommendation that readers of The Reporter-Telegram read it today.)

ACTS, 2.

CHAPTER 2.

And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting.

3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them.

4 And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven.

6 Now that this was noised abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded, because that every man heard them speak in his own language.

7 And they were all amazed and marvelled, saying one to another, Behold, are not all these which speak Galileans?

8 And how hear we every man in our own tongue, wherein we were born?

9 Parthians and Medes, and Elamites, and the dwellers in Mesopotamia, and in Judaea and Cappadocia, in Pontus, and Asia.

10 Phrygia and Pamphylia, in Egypt, and in the parts of Libya about Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, Jews and proselytes, 11 Cretes and Arabians, we do hear them speak in our tongues the wonderful works of God.

12 And they were all amazed, and were in doubt, saying one to another, What meaneth this?

13 Others mocking said, These men are full of new wine.

14 But Peter, standing up, said to the eleven, lifted up his voice, and said unto them, Ye men of Judaea, and all ye that dwell at Jerusalem, be this known unto you, and hearken to my words:

15 For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, seeing it is but the third hour of the day.

16 And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams:

17 And on my servants and on my handmaidens I will pour out in those days of my Spirit; and they shall prophesy:

18 And I will show wonders in heaven above, and signs in the earth beneath; blood, and fire, and vapour of smoke:

19 The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come:

20 And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved.

21 Ye men of Israel, hear these words; Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you by miracles and wonders and signs, which God did by him in the midst of you, as ye yourselves also know: 23 Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain:

24 Whom God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death; because it was not possible that he should be holden of it.

25 For David speaketh concerning him, I foresaw the Lord always before my face, for he is on my right hand, that I should not be moved:

26 Therefore did my heart rejoice, and my tongue was glad; moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope:

27 Because thou wilt not leave my soul in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption.

28 Thou hast made known to me the ways of life; thou shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, let me freely speak unto you of the patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre is with us unto this day.

30 Therefore being a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loins, according to the flesh, he would raise up Christ to sit on his throne;

31 He seeing this before spake of the resurrection of Christ, that his soul was not left in hell, neither his flesh did see corruption.

32 This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Therefore being by the right hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this, which ye now see and hear:

34 For David is not ascended into the heavens: but he saith himself, The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand,

35 Until I make thy foes thy footstool.

36 Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ.

37 Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said unto Peter and to the rest of the apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we do?

38 Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.

39 For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this upward generation.

41 Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls.

42 And they continued stedfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers.

43 And fear came upon every soul: and many wonders and signs were done by the apostles.

44 And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and

Book War Looms as Publishers Pro and Con on Dollar Copies

By GENE COHN, NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK, June 7.—What price books?

Is the current dollar book controversy just half-kid, as they say in the trade, or is it the real McCoy? Now that the excitement has subsided following the announcement on the part of several important publishing houses that they are lowering the prices of certain book lists, a consensus of impersonal opinion seems to be that they may or may not know where they're going, but they're on their way.

But where personal opinions get more personal there's an open and shut battle pending.

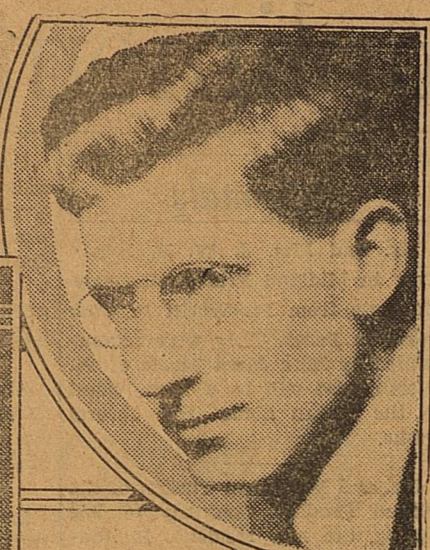

And to date, the one person certain to profit is a "public relations counsel," retained to put up an intensive propaganda fight for the $2.00 and $2.50 fiction products. Such phrases as "cultural catastrophe" have begun to appear and it's possible to hear cries of "author, author . . . where will the poor author get off?"

Affects Limited Class
A survey of the entire situation indicates that, following the first fireworks, a confusion of words slightly beclouded the exact situation. Let the buying public grow too enthusiastic over the bargain possibilities, it must be explained that—during the experimental period, at least—there will be no general avalanche of new book titles at one dollar per each.

Stanley Rinehart, of Farrar and Rinehart, one of the pioneers in the price slashing move, states that the one buck bargains will cover only about 25 per cent of the list. These will be made up of "popular fiction" titles.

The selection is aimed at the "people who read for entertainment."

"We believe that the public for romances, adventure and mystery has hardly been touched in the past," chorus the Messrs. John Farrar and Rinehart, who but recently celebrated their first year as a publishing house. We believe that the $1 price will interest countless more readers and greatly increase both sales and reading. Within a few days of our policy inauguration, sales had picked up phenomenally.

Some of the pioneer publishers in the move for $1 books are pictured here. John Farrar, upper right, and Stanley Rinehart, left, declare the lower price will bring an enormous increase in book sales and the number of readers. Max Schuster, lower right, of Simon and Schuster, plans to issue paper bound fiction at $1 or even less.

More serious work will, he admits, be priced about the same as usual.

Some Big Names
One glance at the list handed out by Nelson Doubleday, of Doubleday, Doran Co., indicates a similar idea, "though the name of H. G. Wells and one or two other of the "major leaguers" of bookdom may be found on it.

Max Schuster, of Simons and Schuster, had already planned to issue next season's fiction in paper bound editions which would sell at a dollar, or even a bit less. And first in the lists of the popular priced sellers was Albert Boni, with his Paper Book Club, which gave members their selections at slightly less than 50 cents. When the other announcements were made Boni stated that he was already prepared to put out a book store edition of these paper books at half a dollar.

Meanwhile reprints of popular sellers had found their way into the drug stores and chain cigar stores where they were being carried home for a single dime.

The Baker and Taylor Company, leading wholesalers, state that this addition of books to the soda fountain-lunch counter features of the drug store was "doubtless the inspiration for the move. A tremendous production of books, the dollar idea must result in loss. That the author or must prepare to take a loss in royalties and depend upon a double sale to cover this loss. That the bookseller, who has had a particularly hard year, is placed in a very tough spot. If the corner drugstore and cigar store are to add to his troubles with keen competition, his lot is pictured as an unhappy one.

And if he is deluged with cheaper books, what is he going to do with titles already on his shelf for which he paid a high wholesale figure? While marking time the price-cut pioneers expect some sort of show-down by winter. "If our experiment proves successful, you'll see them all jump in," they say.

Many Reports Current
However, it is admitted that whether the policy be that of price reduction or otherwise, the public is going to see a flood of high grade reprints upon the market at low prices. Century will soon have a carefully edited library of colorful travel books. There are reports of a "Blue Ribbon" library expansion of considerable size and other whisperings can be heard at any cross-road.

The questions that persist are these: How about the bookdealer? How about the author? How about the publisher? Dazzling figures waved before the eyes tend to show that, unless a vast response can produce mass

TWO SENSATIONAL MURDER CASES TO TRIAL THIS MONTH

TEXARKANA, June 7. (AP)—The trial of Drew Wiley, 22-year-old Cass county farmer, for the murder of Rube Huff, of Queen City, Texas, on June 16, and the trial of Lester Cooper, 21, for the slaying of Paul Hunter, 23, his best friend in a Texarkana undertaking establishment, on June 23, will be features of the criminal docket of the current session of Bowie county district court.

Wiley, whose case was brought to Bowie county on a change of venue from Cass county, will be the second member of the same family to face trial for the slaying of Huff as the aftermath of a dice game near Sulphur river on the night of April 2. The father, Hugh Wiley, has been convicted in connection with the slaying and given a four-year sentence.

A plea of self defense will be entered by the youth, his attorneys said.

The altercation which resulted in the slaying of Huff started during a dice game at a picnic given by Huff. The latter engaged in a fist fight with young Wiley over a dice point. The father interceded, and was bested. The Wileys left the scene and the fatal shooting occurred about 30 minutes later when they and Huff met in a cornfield. In the trial of the elder Wiley, the defense claimed that Huff attempted to draw a gun, while the state contended that the Wileys ambushed Huff.

The trial of Cooper is expected to be sensational. Both were working in the embalming room of an undertaking establishment when the fatal shooting occurred. After an argument between the pair, who were roommates and close friends for years, Cooper is alleged to have left the embalming room, gone to his room, obtained a gun, and returned and shot his roommate to death while he was working over a corpse. Cause of the argument has not been explained.

first sandstorm would probably kill every living creature. But Midland county will likely produce more and better cattle 25 years from now than she has at any time back of this date.

Midland county can, with a little help from her legislative department with proper legislation, be made the brightest star of the southwest.

My time with Midland county as my home is crowding a third of a century. I have witnessed the transforming of Midland county from a cow county strictly to the cattle, farming, and oil center that she is today. I have seen the day when Midland county probably had more antelope than she now has registered cattle, and perhaps more prairie chickens than her domesticated fowl of today, and I welcome this change or transformation.

Every industry in Midland county is thriving today, but our farmers. On account of the unusual spring weather many of them have planted two or three times. Their seed and feed are gone, and their credit is weakened. But are their bankers to blame? No. Our banks were here before our farming industry began; they know the uncertainty of the farming industry, and are forced to operate on sound and safe principles. They now have "chilled" paper on some of the best farmers in Midland county.

As a matter of fact our county has been slightly over-rated as a farming center. Too much publicity has gone out to the effect that many farmers hit here broke and paid for good farms with one crop. Those instances are about as scarce as hens' teeth. Nothing is ever said about the farmer who came here with a little money, made a crop or two and went broke. There has been propaganda issued in the past pertaining to free rodent poison for the farmers. In reality the free poison hasn't cost the county the price of a good Jersey bull.

In conclusion I want to say that I am again a candidate for commissioner of Precinct No. 4 and also school trustee at large. As a member of the county school board the rural people know how I stand. I have not a single plank to change from my original platform of '26. I have done more than I said I would do, and if again elected I shall try to beat that. Since my induction into office I have attended every regular meeting and every called meeting of the court when notified, save one and the meetings consisting of various trips over the country for the purpose of inspecting courthouses and jails. My reason for not making these trips or tours is solely personal. But, at that, Midland county has lost little on my part. I am no architect. I know nothing of architecture; and, besides, we were paying one of the best architects in the South about $15,000 to do the job. Yours for a better Midland county, HOLLY E. ROBERTS.

Favorite tested recipes from Midland women's own cook books are to be published on this page during the next few weeks. As far as possible every local housewife will be reached but in some cases it will be impossible. The department will appreciate any woman bringing or mailing her choice recipe to the society desk if she cannot be reached by telephone.

Recipes to be introduced today are selected from the cook books of Mrs. A. Harry Anderson and Mrs. Kenneth Ambrose. Both are well selected for summer time dishes and any housewife will find them helpful for the hot summer days.

Pineapple Ice Box Dessert
1 box of graham crackers
1 box of marshmallows
1 cup of whipping cream
1 small can of crushed pineapple
1-4 cup chopped nuts

Crush crackers into fine crumbs, cut marshmallows into fourths, mix pineapple and juice into marshmallows and allow to stand a few minutes. Stir in cracker crumbs, then add nuts cut fine and mix thoroughly. Set in cold part of ice box to chill. Serve in dessert dishes topped with whipped cream.—Mrs. Ambrose.

Rub inside of mold with a clove of garlic, do not put garlic in salad. Place the pimento strips in the mold first, then the artichoke, being careful to keep the stem of it up. Around this put the other vegetables cut in small pieces, using your own judgment as to amount in each mold.

Have ready a prepared package of lemon jello to pour over the filled molds. Chill and serve on crisp lettuce leaves with mayonnaise mixed

Valley View Women Present "No Men Admitted" Friday

And it was just superlatively fine. No affectation, no one tried to out-shine some other. It was a simple, highly effective, natural interpretation of Harriett N. Connell's very pleasing, "No Men Admitted." From curtain rise to the last fall of the improvised screen to stage activities there was one continuous wholesome, mirth-inspiring scene to lift the spectators out of the hum-drum of work-a-day routine. The score or more who went out from the city Friday night to enjoy this effort on the part of Valley View neighborhood certainly had a rare treat over those who staid at home.

Misses Ora Robertson and Belle Wilson as Anne Martin and Cherry Martin sisters; Mrs. Wilson as Susan, their housekeeper; Mrs. Seales as Olga, their maid; Mrs. Earl Pain as Miss Marjorie North, the invalid; Mrs. Gilbert Brunson as Dr. Janet North; Mrs. Hobbs as Miss Chloe Lanning, the poetess; Mrs. Lewellen as Mrs. G. Thaddeus Upham, the grass widow; Miss Leona Booth as Miss Bina Sadder, the detective; and Mrs. Robertson as Mrs. Lela Preston, the politician—why, everyone of them were immense; While Will M. Midkiff in an Irish skit was recipient of a storm of approval.

One candidate for county treasurer, one for sheriff, three for county clerk, one for commissioner of precinct one, and one county judge were among those out from town, and those hospitable folk, a hundred or two, made the visitors welcome, and to actually feel that they were, wholly.

It was good to be there. It was good to come in touch with the sincerity of a bit of country life, to feel its hospitality, and to receive the whole-souled invitation to "come again" This writer will. The baseball boys and fans of Valley View neighborhood are going to give a box supper out there next Friday night, June 13th, to which an invitation is freely broadcasted. You'll miss another treat if you don't go. C. C. WATSON.

Belmont Bible Class Studies Book Of Proverbs Friday
The home of Mrs. O. E. Strand was the place of meeting for the Belmont Bible Class Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Thomas D. Murphy, teacher, directed the lesson study based on the book of Proverbs. This was also observed by the members answering roll call by reading a verse from Proverbs.

At a pleasant social hour Mrs. J. S. Noland was co-hostess. Interesting parlor games were played for which Mrs. Murphy was high winner. Closing the evening, the hostesses served party refreshments.

Miss Laura Jesse of Midland went to Abilene to spend the weekend with friends.

There will also be a dramatization of "The Power of the Cross." A brief sermon by the pastor will follow.
Immediately following the morning service the members will gather on the lawn of the church for dinner. We are inviting you to come and enjoy the day with us. We can promise you that the ladies of the church and others will be there with well-filled baskets.

You have an opportunity here.

City Young People Have Out-Of-Door Program Friday

An out-of-door program was something delightful for the members of the Cariscan Young People's League Friday evening. The group gathered at the Presbyterian church early in the evening and motored to Cloverdale park for the fifth meeting of the year.
The program followed this outline: Song—"In the Garden"; sentence prayers; lesson subject—Opportunities for Training, leader; Edyth Sundquist, "The Demand from Trained Christians by Velma Biliby. Christ's preparation in Nazareth by Margaret Bevins, Christ Training His Disciples" by Georgia McMullan, leader's talk and a reading by Miss Lucille McMullan.
After the program jolly games were played and refreshments were served.

W. C. T. U. Women To Observe Birthday

Observance of the first birthday of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be celebrated on June 12 by holding an institute at the Presbyterian church starting at 10:30 o'clock. Lunch will be served at the noon hour. The afternoon session will open at 1 and continue until 3.

spread is a novel way of using this important green. Wash parsley and pat dry between soft towels. Mince finely or put through the fine knife of the food chopper. Combine one-half cup minced parsley with four tablespoons creamed butter. Add a few grains of salt and a little lemon juice if extra piquancy is needed. Spread on this slices of whole wheat or white bread. Garnish each sandwich with a tiny sprig of crisped parsley.

Veal and fish are both improved if served with a parsley sauce. A plain white sauce made with milk or made with half milk and half veal or fish stock becomes parsley sauce when two or more tablespoons of minced parsley are added just before serving. If the parsley is allowed to stand or boil in the sauce, it loses its bright green color.

There is a straight parsley that is used as greens. The branches should be stripped from the main stalk for this is tough and requires longer cooking. Wash thoroughly and add a few tablespoons water to the kettle in which they are cooked. Cook uncovered and serve with butter and lemon juice.

It's interesting to remember that parsley was used by the ancient Greeks, reference being made to it in the Iliad.

The Romans used it as a symbol of mourning. The Carthaginians found it in Sardinia and introduced the herb to the inhabitants of Marseilles.
There are various quaint superstitions connected with parsley, some surviving to the present day in England and Scotland. Since parsley is such a rich source of iron use it frequently in your menus. Even little children may have it finely minced with their baked potato. When parsley is used simply as a garnish, be sure that it is well washed and crisped and encourage children in the habit of eating it.
Always discard the heavy stems when preparing it for mincing or a garnish.

Interesting facts are constantly being discovered about foods of all sorts and now we are told that parsley has even a higher percentage of iron than spinach.

After the chemists established this fact the dieticians stepped in and told us that parsley could not be eaten in the same large quantity that spinach is. However, less parsley is needed to provide an appreciable amount of iron.

Parsley has long been one of the most popular and attractive garnishes, but now housewives are looking for way to work it into their menus.

Parsley butter for fish and potatoes and parsley sauce for almost any vegetable are excellent means of adding iron to the diet.

MIDLAND'S OWN LEFTY MOORE LEADING TEXAS LEAGUE BATTERS

HAS PARTICIPATED IN ONLY 61 BAT TRIPS, THOUGH

DALLAS, June 7. (AP)—Although Gene Moore, recently converted from a pitcher to an outfielder by Dallas, was slamming the ball at a .443 clip, Oscar Eckhardt, Beaumont outfielder, still was the nominal leader of the Texas League batting race through games of Thursday. Moore went from Midland to Dallas.

Eckhardt, who has led the league for eight weeks, had an average of .394 in 180 times at bat, while Moore had attained his fat average in only 61 trips to the plate. Other leading hitters in over 50 times at bat were:

Munson (Waco) .390; Rye (Waco) .366; Schinkel (San Antonio) .364; E. Brown (Houston) .358; Blackerby (Dallas) .343; Mallon (Fort Worth) .339; Hunt (Houston) .338; Bettencourt (Wichita) .337; Levey, Wichita Falls, and Hock, Houston, led the scoring parade, each with 47 runs. Rye of Waco had scored 46 times, Schinkel, San Antonio, led in total hits with 80. Bonowitz, Fort Worth, had 78.

Among the extra-base specialists, Bonowitz was leading in doubles, with 21. Fitzgerald and Burns, both of the Spudders, had 20 two-baggers apiece. Joe Moore of San Antonio had batted six triples.

Riding the crest of his team's winning streak, Larry Bettencourt of Wichita Falls took over the homerun leadership. Two circuit wallops against the Exporters Wednesday ran his total to 15, two more than have been credited to Bill Kelly of Fort Worth.

Oscar Tuero, Shreveport's ancient spitballer, was the league's leading chunker with a winning average of .875, but Hank Thormahlen, acquired by the Panthers from Waco, had won the most victories, 10. Stout of Houston had chalked up 67 strikeouts.

PLANE TAXIS
BERLIN.—A cheap airplane-taxi service is in effect in Germany. Single-engined machines are used and the charge is about 25 cents a mile, regardless of the number of passengers carried. These air-taxis will serve as transports to any place on the Continent.

IN THE WORLD OF AVIATION

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD, United Press Aviation Editor.
WASHINGTON, June 7. (UP).—Just as the naval world 30 years ago watched with interest a race for superiority between heavy armor and long-range guns, military authorities today are observing a contest for scientific supremacy between forces of aerial attack and repulse.

Along with the development of swifter and more maneuverable military planes and of more efficient machine-guns and aerial bombs, goes a parallel development of anti-aircraft rifles, devices to record the approach of attacking planes, and giant search-lights to spot them at night.

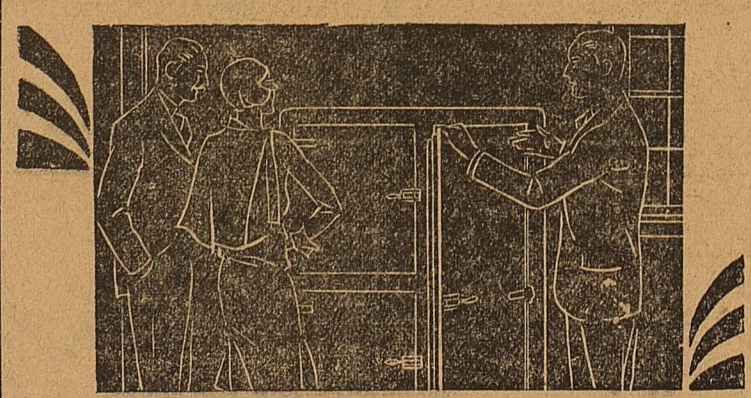

The day when the man of little money and less leisure will fly his airplane almost as regularly as he now drives his car is foreseen by the Commerce Department as it takes note of a tendency among manufacturers to develop a low-priced, safe plane for the average citizen.

"The private owner will appear at the airport on Saturday afternoons and Sundays, or in the evenings at various times through the week, just as he now goes to his garage," the Department said in a recent statement. "With an airplane he can double or treble the distance he used to cover on recreational drives in his car, but nevertheless the flights will be with one eye on the airport, so to speak."

"At vacation time he may venture out along the airways where he can see more, cover more territory, and still be within reach of service and air navigation aides."

The great obstacle to be overcome, as the Commerce Department sees it, is the length of time it takes to become a pilot. "Reputable air schools require eight weeks to train even a private pilot, the most elementary class. Hence, the popular plane of the future must be one that can be operated with a maximum of safety by a person with minimum of training."

were novelties and some people still doubted the existence of airplanes will be paraded before 1,200 automotive engineers when they celebrate the 25th anniversary of the organization of the Society of Automotive Engineers at French Lick, Ind., May 25 to 29.

Among the exhibits will be the early Manly aeronautical engine, the airplane motor the Wright brothers made with their own tools, a great variety of early motor cars, and the early Curtiss motorcycle.

Two Texans have found still another use for airplanes—as a steed for hunting eagles.

A rancher near El Paso was greatly vexed because eagles were killing so many of his lambs. Shotgunners fired from the ground proved futile against the birds. Finally C. E. Robey, a pilot, and H. S. Bernhardt, an expert shot, volunteered to make an aerial raid on the neighborhood's eagles.

They spent an entire day in the air, chasing the big birds in a Consolidated Fleet plane and firing volleys of buck-shot at them. Nine eagles—one with a nine-foot wing-spread—were killed in one day.

The rancher's lambs now graze in peace.

Midland Invited to Big Golf Tournament

AMARILLO, June 7.—An entry list that is expected to eclipse in numbers any tournament ever held in the Panhandle, if not in the entire state, is looked for when amateur golfers from the Panhandle and a large section of West Texas, western Oklahoma and eastern New Mexico, gather here August 9 to 10 for the Panhandle Amateur golf tournament, sponsored annually by Hillcrest golf and country club.

One reason for the unusual interest in the tournament is the prize list, said to be the most elaborate ever offered in an amateur tournament anywhere in the Southwest. The awards will total around $5,000 in value, and will range from an automobile down to half a dozen golf balls. The grand prize is a Chrysler sedan, given by the Panhandle Motor company of Amarillo. The second award is a Kelvinator electric refrigerator, the donation of the E. E. Finkler Jewelry company. Other prizes include a screen grid radio set, an elaborately carved cedar chest, a century-old inlaid table, fashioned from more than 4,000 pieces of wood, leather goods, golf club sets, sport clothes, silverware, silver trophies, fishing tackle, costly jewelry, novelties and many others. A total of more than 90 prizes will be given. Midland has been invited.

These are vividly colored to suit the wearer's taste. It is said that the ties will last longer because they will not fray or wear out, but it is not said whether or not they will stretch out of shape.

NOW YOU TELL ONE
CRICCIETH, Wales, (UP).—A golf ball, driven by Captain W. E. Jones, playing in the Caernarvonshire championship, dropped into a nest in which a hen pheasant was hatching three eggs. Captain Jones clapped the ball out of the nest without injuring the pheasant or her eggs and holed out in four.

SHOOTS "SCOOTERS"

The pet armadillo was prowling around in the basement of the biology building and alarmed a student watchman who let fly several bullets at "Scoots."

FERGUSON OUTLINES CRIPPLED HEAD POLICY AS ON EVE OF BANDISHMENT IN CASE "MA" IS ELECTED GOVERNOR

BELTON, Texas, June 7. (AP)—James E. Ferguson in an address here today opening the campaign of his wife for the Democratic nomination for governor dwelt at length on the prison system and defense of the number of pardons granted by Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson during her 1925-27 administration.

"We hear something of the penitentiary these days. Let me have my say. I claim to be some pumpkins on this question.

"Neff and Moody bragged about them not giving any pardons. The legislature appropriated about $8,000,000 to foot their bill. All of Neff's honor crowd ran off and took many with them never to return, Moody's convicts just write their own pardons and bid Dan adieu and hundreds have quit the drive and the taxpayer is called on for more millions.

"If you elect my wife governor, instead of talking about selling the farm and building five million dollars worth of buildings, when the state is broke, she will ask the legislature to appropriate $500,000 with which she will fix up the buildings at Huntsville and the camps on the farms so they can't dig out and pardon about 2000 of the convicts. The for good records and good behavior and tell the rest to go to work and if they make good they may get pardons, too, and, believe me, will hear Farmer Jim's lick and hum in the Brazos and Trinity bottoms once more, and the taxpayers will hear a new song about the penitentiary.

ALL DRESSED UP

Bell hops and maids of the Scharbauer hotel have received their new summer uniforms, and the summer furniture has been in for several days. The uniforms of the bell hops correspond in colors to the furniture.

The map gives a clear idea of Texas' great size and its wide diversity of products. They range all the way from mining, cattle and sheep in the west to grain and oil in the central portions and cotton, corn, timber, rice and sugar in the south and east. In the extreme south, near Brownsville, are citrus groves and winter truck farms.

The world's largest turkey producing region is around Cuero, Texas, southwest of Houston. Each fall turkey farmers drive them to market in droves. Just as cattle are driven.

Fisheries form an important industry in the cities bordering on the Gulf of Mexico. Texas now grows more cotton (five million bales) than any other state, the principal producing regions being in the Houston and San Antonio areas.

Division into five states would give the people 10 United States senators, instead of two as at present. It would also necessitate changing every United States flag by the addition of four stars. The state's estimated population is 5,600,000.

In population, Texas ranks fifth among all the states, being exceeded only by New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio.

Representative Garner says that the consent of Congress would not be necessary, as Texas was granted authority, upon its admission to the Union 84 years ago, "to form new states of convenient size, not exceeding four in number and in addition to the said State of Texas."

Of cheering news to children is the report that tendergreen, a vegetable similar to spinach and kale, is being grown near Beeville, Tex.

As Cannon Defied the Senate

This photograph shows Bishop James Cannon, Jr., as he appeared on the witness stand in Washington when he accused his Senate questioners of "persecution" and refused to answer their questions about his southern anti-Smith campaign in 1928. Members of the Senate lobby committee warned him that he would have to "take the consequences" of his refusal to talk.

Brewing disorders have constantly been heralded in the small principality, but the queen-mother Marie has brought armed force to the fore at critical moments and, until Saturday, resisted every movement that tended towards restoration of her son.

A powerful Rumanian count has been charged with forming a new ministry.

The picturesque prince, tired from hours in the air and two forced landings between his country and Munich, his takeoff point, said: "I have come with no other thought than to restore to my country the peace it once had, to banish hate, to resolve out of growing disorder in government an order that requires me. I have brought no hate, but only goodwill."

Only the liberal faction resists Carol, conservatists and Socialists having been his staunch supporters during most of the period of his voluntary exile.

A group of additional flowers has been added to the collection being used in a painting done by Mrs. Rippeteau. She is trying to find every flower that grows within the limits of the county. As new ones are brought her she paints them in to her picture, which is on display at the chamber of commerce office.

CHICAGO, June 7. (AP)—A Chinese laundry worker was shot fatally today. Police believed the slaying was connected with recent tong war killings in other cities in which six Chinese lost their lives.

Dr. L. O. Hayes, for the past two years associated with Dr. John B. Thomas, announced Saturday that he is leaving Midland to become school physician at the North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

He will study this summer at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., assuming his duties at Denton in September.

Mrs. Hayes, during their residence here, has been a teacher in the junior high school. The doctor's mother has also lived here during a part of that time.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Hayes here are receiving news of their departure with regret. Dr. Hayes' resignation here took effect Saturday.

A wild chase staged by Marshal Jones of Odessa came to abrupt end near Midland when the officer, driving Sheriff Webb's big car, skidded to a stop and arrested an alleged car stealer, who had passed through Warfield running at a fast speed, with his lights off.

The car driven by the man was recovered and returned to Ben Melton, Odessa, trucking contractor.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Abell made a trip to Fort Worth and Dallas and, as a consequence, their family has increased by one. Mrs. Abell found an infant in one of the maternity homes, and adopted it. The child is nine months old, and has been named Lynn Thomas.

Though Konjola works quickly and many sufferers are greatly benefited in a week, a complete treatment of from six to eight weeks is recommended for thorough results. Konjola is sold in Midland at Mayes-Young drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Fort Worth Man Relieved Of Severe Attack Of Rheumatism, Eagerly Praises New Medicine.

"For over a year I suffered with muscular rheumatism," said Mr. Joe B. Connelly, 504 Belknap street, Ft. Worth. "My entire body was a mass of aches and pains. Finally I was forced to give up my work and was confined to bed. The pains were so severe that I had to be moved very carefully and was helpless and bed-ridden for three months. My nerves were completely gone and I felt at times that I could not bear my suffering another day.

"I sent away for my first treatment of Konjola and was amazed at the results. Within three weeks I was able to get up and around without assistance. Gradually the pain and soreness left me and I began to feel my old self again. My nerves settled, constipation was completely banished, and I do not remember when I have felt as well as I do now. Konjola worked wonders in my case."

TEXAS PROFESSOR IS UNDER CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 7. (UP)—Dr. John W. Bowyer, professor of Southern Methodist University at Dallas, was released on bond today after the automobile he was driving fatally injured Charles R. Conner, 50, clothing salesman, here last night.

A technical charge of manslaughter was filed against Bowyer. Witnesses said the car was going about 18 miles an hour and Bowyer tried to dodge Conner. Bowyer was visiting in east Tennessee towns.

Legion Endorsement Report Not Correct

Reference made by The Reporter-Telegram to American legion support of E. E. (Pat) Murphy, candidate for congress from the sixteenth district, was incorrect, the following wire from Maj. Turner E. Campe, secretary-manager of the Odessa chamber of commerce, resulting in a check which revealed inaccurate transcription of notes made on the lecture of the candidate Thursday evening:

"I note in the Friday issue of your paper an article quoting E. E. Murphy as saying he had the endorsement of the American legion. This is an error, for in his speeches Mr. Murphy makes it plain he does not claim to have the endorsement of the legion.

"He undoubtedly will get the larger per cent of the soldier vote, but Murphy is fighting hard to keep the legion out of politics. He did justly criticize Thomason, who published on his campaign literature a purported endorsement of the legion, but Murphy made no statement that he had the legion endorsement."

Semblance of Names Creates Confusion

One business firm had received a wire from McAdoo Friday night, filed in Los Angeles, and couldn't see how the former secretary of the treasury had died in New York. William McAdoo was the magistrate of New York.
