GREATEST MURDER HUNT STAGED

Close Ohio Bank After Huge Shortages Are Detected

ACCOUNT OF DOHERTY IS BIG LOSER

Amos Shafer Is Under $30,000 Bond For Shortages

CINCINNATI, June 10. (P)—The Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust company here failed to open its doors today as a sequel to the arrest of A. O. Shafer, former district sales manager of Henry L. Doherty and company, on charges of embezzlement.

The bank was taken over by officials of the state banking department who said that Shafer's alleged shortage may aggregate $1,500,000. Of this amount, the bank is said to be involved to the extent of $550,000. Shafer is charged specifically with embezzling $10,162.50. He was released on $30,000 bond.

Was Big Depositor
CINCINNATI, June 10. (P)—The Cincinnati branch of Henry L. Doherty & Co., was one of the biggest depositors in the Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust company which was closed today by O. C. Gray, state superintendent of banks, after a shortage of at least $575,000 was found in the bank account of the Doherty company.

Examiners and county officials said that shortage of more than $1,000,000 existed in the accounts of Amos Shafer, former district manager of the Doherty company, and that the seriousness of the shortage is emphasized by the fact that the bank's capital is only $637,000, according to the March report.

Officials said that the shortage was caused by Shafer's stock market gambling operations.

Shell No. 1 McKinney, approximately three-quarters of a mile northwest of Humble's discovery well, was coring at 4142 feet, in line.

Ohio No. Northrup, offset to the State A-1, was at a total depth of 3850, and running 7-inch casing.

Delegates will remain one week, Mr. Murphy returning immediately. Among the leaders who are to take part in the work of the conference are: The Reverends W. M. Anderson, Dallas, B. O. Wood, San Angelo, Thos. W. Currie, Austin, T. V. Langham, Palestine, V. A. Anderson, Belgian Congo, B. D. D. Greer, San Antonio, W. R. Hall, El Paso, H. M. Lewis, Lubbock, W. H. Foster, Galveston, E. The former president and his wife, shown here, cordially invited photographers to their home, but tersely requested in a telegram: "No reporters."

WALSH WOULD ASK MORE POWER FOR LOBBY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, June 10. (P)—A proposal to ask the senate for specific power to investigate political activities was made today by Senator Walsh, democrat of Montana, as a way out of the problem resulting from defiance of the lobby committee by Bishop James Cannon Jr.

Walsh, acting chairman when Cannon refused to answer questions and walked out, said he did not know the attitude of the other committee members toward the suggestion. Informal conferences are in progress in an effort to decide on procedure.

Wimberly's Car Is Recovered by Webb

A light sedan belonging to Wallace Wimberly, 211 South Dallas, was recovered in Odessa Monday, by Sheriff Reeder Webb. The machine had been stolen exactly one month before, from the Petroleum building.

Wimberly drove to Odessa to see the car and refused it when he found it badly damaged from hard driving over roads in the oil fields. He ordered it placed in storage and informed the insurance company with whom a policy on the car is held that the machine had been found.

The automobile had two flat tires, the engine had been damaged, and the upholstery practically rendered unfit for further usage.

The theft of this car was the opening of several similar offenses in Midland and in surrounding towns.

LAMESA, June 10. (UP)—Culminating a dispute over the marriage of their children, one man is in a hospital and another is under $1000 bond, as a result of the fourth shooting affray this year in Dawson county.

Bill Snow received a broken leg when one of 20 shots from an automatic pistol pierced his left leg. A. A. Smith surrendered to O'Donnell officers and was liberated on bond.

MAYFIELD PREDICTS WINNERS

Thos. Love and "Ma" To Go With Him Into Run-off

MEXIA, June 10. (UP)—Earl B. Mayfield, candidate for governor, said here today that all politicians are picking him to lead the ticket in the first democrat primary and believe Mars. Miriam Ferguson or Thomas B. Love are the most likely opponents in the second primary.

The withdrawal of Governor Moody unaffected Mayfield's campaign, he said. He speaks at Teague this afternoon.

HAYDEN MILES IS STANDING 3,000 IN WATER TODAY

Further indication that the Andrews area has just broken even were reported at local oil offices this morning when scouts said that simultaneous with the better indications of the Deep Rock Oil company No. 1 A. R. King that the same company's No. 1 Hayden Miles, one and a half miles south of production, stood 3,000 feet in sulphur water. Total depth was 4395. Swabbing was being restored in order to try exhausting the water, which was hoped to be coming from above the 4342-foot level, where a rain-bow show of oil was encountered.

To offset disappointment registered in No. 1 Miles, Deep Rock's No. 1 Mathis, one and three-quarter miles east of production, had its first showing of deep oil in brown lime at 4,352 feet. Reports are that lime is showing heavy saturation. Drilling continued at that depth with the test gassing considerably.

No. 1 Mathis is 900 feet from the south and west, line of section 4, block A-46, public school lands. Since the test started gassing at the estimated rate of 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 cubic feet daily, many operators in the Andrews County region have shifted their attention from the No. 1 Miles.

Deep Rock is experiencing some difficulty in cleaning out to bottom on its No. 1 A. R. King, but during swabbing tests made over the weekend, officials have estimated production will reach 500 barrels daily, at least, and may climb to 1,000 barrels under favorable producing conditions.

Limit Date Is Set On Boy Scout Camp

A general announcement for all scout troops of Midland was issued by Field Scout Williamson this morning, relative to applications for the boy scout camp to be held within a few days on the Concho. Reservations may be made as late as Wednesday, June 11, he said.

Blanks are to be had at the city hall office of the scout leader.

Troop 52 will hike overland tonight, and Troop 54 will meet on the lawn of the First Baptist church, at 7 o'clock.

JAIL OR SKEETERS

LLANO, Texas, June 10. (P)—A jail may not be the best in the world to live but is better than being bitten continually by mosquitoes in the opinion of Pete Ellington.

Recently Ellington escaped from the jail at Llano and after spending one night in the open fighting the mosquitoes decided to return to prison. He called up Sheriff Dan McDonald and told him that he was ready to return to jail and instructed the official where he could be found.

Ellington was awaiting transportation to Huntsville to start serving a two-year sentence on charge of burglary.

KELLY FIELD CADETS LAND IN PURSUITS; MORE HERE JUNE 16

Next Group to Mark Last for 4-Month Period Here

Thirteen government pursuit planes and two observation two-seaters landed during the morning at Sloan field, and began taking off directly after noon for El Paso, where they will remain overnight before flying cross country to Kelly field, where they are stationed.

The pursuit jobs were P-1's, the observation planes O-2's. The flight took off at 10-minute intervals during the morning from Ft. Sill, Oklahoma and began landing in Midland slightly after 9:30.

Lunch was eaten at the field office and the same order of takeoff was observed, beginning at 12:15.

The group represented the second of three flights of the pursuit contingent of Kelly field, the cadets to graduate June 21. This flight marked their last, the "graduating" cross country flying and navigation tests. They were taken through altitude ranging from sea-level to that of Midland's 3,800 feet, with even more rarified air yet to be encountered.

The last flight of the pursuit group will probably land in Midland June 16, according to Lieut. Robison, flight commander. There will be no other flights of cadets into Midland until the passage of four months, the time set for the graduation flights of another class of cadets.

Lieut. Robison told The Reporter-Telegram that the level, expansive field at Midland averts many accidents because of its superiority, that the "sea-level" type of flyer would have trouble in landing in "altitude" unless the ground were level and smooth, especially if he flew fast landing planes like the P-1's. Service facilities were also praised.

SLAYER OF AGENT SOUGHT IN ROUGH MOUNTAIN SLOPES

ALTURAS, Calif., June 10. (UP).—Posses searched the rugged slopes of Modoc county today for Rodney Selby, 35, mountaineer service station proprietor who shot and killed one federal prohibition agent and seriously wounded another.

The shooting occurred when Albert A. Brown and Robert A. Davis attempted to arrest Selby after they had asked and allegedly been given drinks at the lonely mountain service station.

Brown died en route to the hospital.

PARK IS DEDICATED

BIG SPRING.—Big Spring's new city park was formally dedicated here Sunday, the services being attended by hundreds of people. Short talks were made by Mayor J. B. Fickle, Tom Coffee, and Mrs. B. Reagan, chairman of the City Federation Park committee. The immense crowd took part in singing led by Damon P. Dean. Music was furnished by the local band led by O. Dubberly. The Kiwanis wading pool for children was dedicated several weeks ago. This pool was sponsored and erected by this organization. The park is located about two miles from town on 160 acres of land owned by the city under which lies the city wells. Benches and tables, electric lights, cable, have been donated to the park by the business interests of the town.

DR. ELLINGER LEAVES FOR POST GRADUATE COURSE

Dr. and Mrs. M. G. Ellinger left Midland Sunday for St. Louis and Chicago where Dr. Ellinger will spend some time taking post graduate work in surgery. He also plans to take work under the noted Dr. Foley of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Ellinger will go on to Milwaukee to spend the summer with her mother.

A Cool Type of Stenographer

Smiling Ruth Skeen, a St. Petersburg, Fla., stenographer, has found the key to coolness in hot weather. Here's how she appears at work—clad in shorts and shirt—in the office where she is employed. "I find I can turn out more work when I'm dressed comfortably on torrid days," she says. Maybe Ruth can—but how about the other people in the office?

Winner Plane Race at WT CC Takes off Into West

WICHITA FALLS, June 10. (P)—Mrs. Dena Childers, about 50, was shot fatally and her daughter wounded at their home today. Officers were seeking the estranged husband of the daughter. Police were informed that the shooting occurred soon after the man appeared at the women's home.

Loy Mitchell, one of the pioneers of the Big Spring airport planning committee and now a pilot for "Doc" Conner of Hobbs, N. M., took off this morning for the west, after spending the night.

He was flying the Lockheed-Vega in which he has broken several records recently, and did not give his destination, save to remark that he might land in Lordsburg for refueling and then take off immediately for Los Angeles. The Wasp motor is to be overhauled, as it has had slightly more than 250 hours at top speed "put on" it during the past few weeks.

Mitchell, formerly manager of the Big Spring field, was mentioned in a large state daily as having made more than 250 miles an hour in the craft while running away from a storm which was blowing hard on his tail. He landed in Sweetwater after running off from the blow and landed his craft "downhill" just in time to come to a stop as the storm, catching up, unroofed houses and blew trees out of the ground.

The plane is the one Mitchell flew when he lapped most of the entrants when he won the open speed event at the air show held in conjunction of the WTCC in Abilene recently.

Andrews To Have Jail And Office

Plans for a two-story jail and records building for Andrews county, drawn up by Voelcker and Dixon, architects of Wichita Falls, were approved by county commissioners there yesterday when presented by J. W. Lawless of Midland, representative of the firm. Contract for the structure will be let July 14. Lawless said.

The office of the county clerk will be downstairs, and the jail will occupy the upper floor.

Press Backs Chicago Organized Search For Killer

CHICAGO, June 10. (P)—One of the greatest murder hunts in Chicago's history was organized today. Police, state attorney's men, private detectives and the organized power of the press joined to trace down the man who killed Alfred Lingle, 39, Chicago Tribune reporter, yesterday.

Rewards of $30,000 are posted, $25,000 by the Tribune and $5,000 by the Chicago Evening Post.

Lingle is the first newspaper man to have been murdered since Don Mellett, Canton, Ohio, editor, who was slain in July 1926 after a crusade against gangsters there.

Lingle's 18 years as a reporter was devoted to police investigation, a job that brought him in contact with the most "big shot" gangsters here.

Lingle was shot to death in the midst of a crowd of race fans in the Michigan boulevard tunnel of the Illinois Central railroad.

He had just emerged from the eastern end of the pedestrian tunnel, leading to the Randolph street terminal of the railroad, when his assailant fired several shots. He fell dead, struck in the back of the head. The assassin fled to the street and disappeared.

Personal enmity, rather than gangland revenge as an incentive for the murder, was advanced today by Commissioner of Police William Russell, who said that gangsters did not slay in such fashion as the man who shot Lingle down. Belief was expressed that an expert killer fired the shot.

SHELL TO BUILD HOBBS PIPELINE; WINK CONNECTION

Construction of the third pipeline to Hobbs, from the Wink area, is to be undertaken by The Shell Oil company, according to information given out here today.

A 22-mile 8-inch line is planned from a Shell station to be located in the southeast corner of section 16, township 19 south, range 38 east to the southwest corner of section 19, township 22 south, range 37 east, intersecting the 6-inch Texas company line which runs from New Mexico to the Shell tank farm at Wink.

A gathering system will be complete in two weeks. Some oil should be gathered within two weeks, but it will be three weeks before oil will be run to the tank farm.

THE GLORY OF TEXAS

Representative Garner's proposal to carve Texas into five new states has a good deal to be said for it, on strictly practical grounds, and doubtless has even more potent arguments from certain political standpoints; but for purely sentimental reasons we hope that nothing comes of it.

Texas, after all, is in a class by itself. Its sheer bigness makes it a unique state. Texans have always gloried in it, and the rest of the country can glory in it likewise. When you talk about Texas you can toss "biggest" "largest" "greatest" and other superlatives around in carefree fashion. All of which is very stimulating, for some reason or other.

But suppose this tremendous state is sliced asunder to make five new states. Where would our superlatives go then? Why, right out of the window, of course. The prospect is desolating. We need one state of gargantuan proportions; need it for the sake of our national self-esteem.

ONE WAY TO MEET A PROBLEM

Sometimes when a business organization suffers from over-production it calls on the government for relief. Sometimes, however, it tightens its belt and sets out to help itself.

A writer in the current issue of World's Work tells how the California fruit growers recently found themselves with more fruit than they could market profitably. Instead of howling about bad times, they promptly sent trade scouts to South America to develop better export markets. The scouts were enthusiastically received. It developed that since the seasons are reversed, California's fruit crop comes off the market just when the South American crop is off.

Now a trade conference is scheduled for August, with every indication that the Californians, by their energetic and intelligent handling of the situation, are going to find a good way out of the problem that beset them.

WHAT AVIATION NEEDS

A couple of years ago leaders in the aviation industry were talking eagerly of the day when airplanes would be as common as autos; the day when the average citizen would own his own plane and would gad about the country in it, for business or pleasure, as nonchalantly as he now does in his auto.

Now it is becoming apparent that that day is a good deal farther off than was then supposed. William B. Stout, famous Detroit airplane manufacturer, contends that it is the fault of the industry, which has failed to improve the design of the plane so that the ordinary man can operate it.

"Things are going to be different," says Mr. Stout. "We are going to fix it so that a man can take a couple of lessons on Friday and fly his plane home on Monday." Mr. Stout has exactly the right idea. When planes become that simple, aviation as an industry will boom just as the auto industry boomed. But it won't until that day actually arrives.

A Sporting Proposition, at That!

Briand's Plan Opposed By European Press

By MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Writer.

LONDON, June 10.—The grandiose plan of Aristide Briand, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, for a United States of Europe apparently aroused little enthusiasm in the countries concerned, England will have none of it. Germany looks at it askance. Italy responds that words are beautiful, but armaments are more beautiful. Poland is dubious. Russia simply sniggers with sardonic glee. Even in France the so-called pacifist statesman has not met with unanimous support.

A careful survey of the European press, so far as it has expressed any editorial opinion upon the plan, reveals the following facts:

In Great Britain, practically every great paper in London expresses itself against the plan. Their thesis is that while Great Britain is of Europe, it is also outside of Europe. Its colonies and its self-governing Dominions give it world-wide interests. Only Britain and the Irish Free State would be closely interested in a United States of Europe. But such a union would have not the slightest interest for Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

Bulk of Press Against Plan In Germany the bulk of the press, regardless of home political sympathies, is against the plan. All of them see Briand trying to perpetuate a Europe shaped by the Treaty of Versailles, so that no frontier rectifications can be made. The Germans, or at least the republican parties, have reconciled themselves to the loss of Alsace and Lorraine, but they are not content with the loss of Danzig, with the Polish corridor that leads to that town and cuts right across German territory; nor with the frontiers dividing one from the other parts of Silesia.

In Czechoslovakia, the press, true to its friendship for France, in the main extends a hearty welcome to the scheme. On the other hand, Poland, France's especial pet in eastern Europe, astonishingly enough through four of its leading papers adopts a distinctly skeptical tone. The idea is that the time is not yet ripe for even a modest attempt at a United States of Europe.

Italy's response was not given so much by the press, which is a mere echo of Mussolini, but by the Duce himself. In flaming words in a speech at Florence he made his speech about beautiful armaments being better than beautiful words. And the vast crowd—one of the biggest ever assembled in Italy—dotted the 'I's by shouting with thunderous unanimity—"Down with France."

Russia Not Interested In Russia the semi-official Izvestia says Briand is merely trying a little capitalistic stabilization which is doomed to failure. The imperialists will find it impossible to form any kind of new international combination.

In France several big papers Le Temps, Journal and Petit Parisien join with radical papers like Ere Nouvelle and Le Quotidien in saying "yes," but a reactionary paper like Echo de Paris and a Socialist paper like Populaire, edited by Leon Blum, leader of his party, both say "No."

In general all over Europe there is skepticism as to Briand's motives. In most instances, it is believed that France is only trying in this way to secure more security for itself and fortify itself in the political hegemony of Europe.

It is expressed in a nut shell in the Observer, London's greatest Sunday newspaper, which says: "Here, indeed, is matter for a Aristide Briand, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, whose proposal for the establishment of a United States of Europe has met with much opposition.

weeping philosopher. Of all living Continental statesmen, Briand has the best right to be called a good European; yet every line of the document in which he has given body to his conception of the Continent's future proclaims the Frenchman. So utterly is man the slave of his circumstances, so completely is aspiration confined within the framework of conventional thought. The United Europe of this memorandum is a Gallicised Europe—Napoleon's empire brought up to date and given a more respectable title. It is a perpetuation of conditions singularly favorable to France, a fixation of states along lines traced by victors in all the bitterness of hard-won triumph, a scheme of policy which concentrated all diplomatic threads in Paris.

See Danger to United States

Thinkers, taking the long view, see in Briand's plan an attempt to form a United States of Europe which may make races economically to the United States of America and ultimately also to the British Empire, which Lord Beaverbrook and others are now trying to convert into a sort of British United States for tariff and trade purposes. Briand and his friends have stoutly denied any intention of fighting the U. S. A. with trade weapons. But the high protective tariff wall proposed by the American Congress is not forgotten by European editors.

"L'Evening" of Paris thinks a European combination can only be successful under the stress of urgent circumstances. Then it puts into words what is undoubtedly in the thoughts of many European statesmen and big business men:

"A European federation can only be formed against someone. Peoples unite only against an immediate danger, against a hostile force. American economic imperialism will furnish us this occasion."

Daily Washington Letter

By Rodney Dutcher This Furore About the Mythical Hugo N. Frye Has Senator Boomboom McWhorter All Worried — He Won't Believe So Good a Republican Never Really Existed

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Things look pretty bad right now, says Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter, and if the Republican party hopes to do any business in the fall elections and get itself into position for 1932 it had better call in the services of that distinguished pioneer Republican and patriot, Hugo N. Frye. Probably there never was a time when the aid of such a man as Frye was so sorely needed, the senator says. And inasmuch as Vice President Curtis, Secretary of Labor Davis, Senator Joe Grundy, National Chairman Claudius Huston and other eminent G. O. P. leaders have lavished their tributes on Frye, McWhorter expects his suggestion to receive prompt and favorable attention.

Yes, They Praised Him

It will be recalled that Curtis, Huston, Davis and the others were invited to a "sesquicentennial dinner" in Hugo's honor the other night. Hugo was described as a veteran of the Mexican War who had settled in Elmira and established the Republican party in upstate New York for "protection of prosperity" and "freedom in the land of the free." Well, the party bigwigs reported their immense regret that they couldn't attend, but they sent fulsome eulogies of Frye to be read at the banquet.

Jim Davis said it was "a pleasure to testify to the career of that sturdy patriot who first planted the ideals of our party in this region of the country." And, "If he were living today he would be the first to rejoice in evidence everywhere present that our government is still safe in the hands of the people."

Senator McWhorter scouts reports from Ithaca that Hugo N. Frye has only lived in the imagination of some Cornell students. There can be little doubt, he says, that Hugo was a real person and a genuine Republican pioneer.

"Do you think that Curtis and Huston, those monumental minds, would ever have praised a mythical person so highly and have let it be thought that they knew all about Hugo N. Frye when they really never had heard of him?"

"Why, such a thing would tend to make people think that they were not altogether sincere and that they didn't know much about the history of our great and glorious party. Absurd!"

Senator McWhorter possibly has more interest than anyone else in proving the actuality of Mr. Frye. He couldn't get away to the dinner, neither to the right nor to the left. Just as I reach the crossing, she reaches it with the new car. Maybe the brakes will work and maybe they won't, but she doesn't try them to find out. She just comes on through. I put on both feet on the pavement, leap in the air and describe an arc back to the First National bank sidewalk. Or if I have gone too far, I half run, half jump and half fly to the little red stop sign at the center of the street, feeling the fender of the car brush the tail of my coat, if I have on a coat, and if I don't I feel the fender even closer.

Now, I had confidence in the car stopping because the stop sign was there. My confidence didn't help a bit, however, if the car kept coming. Stop signs are no good if the car doesn't stop and they are no help to a pedestrian if they serve as an invitation for him to get his neck broken. When I get my hoopy, I'm going to stop every time I get to a stop sign, no matter what town either, but he contributed several anecdotes about Frye to be read aloud, and even recalled fondly how he had learned the first tenets of Republicanism while being dandled on Mr. Frye's knee.

When it was suggested to the senator that there might be some trouble getting Mr. Frye to come and save the party because Mr. Frye was supposed to be dead, McWhorter replied that it was no easier to prove that he was dead than to prove that he was alive.

"There are all kinds of jobs in the party which Frye could do for us now," the senator explained. "Anyone who enjoys such unstinted confidence and respect from our leaders as he does could do anything. He might even be able to persuade Mr. Huston to resign, which is more than all the rest of the party has been able to do. "Then let him bring some sunshine and happiness into the White House, where there hasn't been any for a long time.

He Could Fix the Tariff

"He was always a grand old protectionist and I am convinced that he could make suggestions about the tariff act which would make it acceptable to somebody, somewhere, sometime.

"If he couldn't smother the wet and dry issue completely he could at least tell us how to beat wet Democrats with dry Republicans in wet states.

"Some day in spare moments he could go over and wipe out the Democratic publicity bureau. The Democrats never dared null any of that stuff when Hugo was in his prime.

An Electric Range Brings Comfort to Your Kitchen

The housewife's real appreciation of an electric range comes in the summer. She is already aware of the greater ease of cooking, the tastier foods and the simplicity of the electric range, but when the electric range brings freedom from fatiguing kitchen heat, she realizes the full worth of electric cookery.

The electric range is designed so that its intense heat is confined almost entirely to the vessels on the heating elements. Not enough heat escapes to raise the temperature of the average kitchen two degrees. No open flame sends currents of heated air throughout the room, and hence the kitchen with an electric range is as comfortable as any other room in the house.

Notice the difference in the kitchen of a friend who owns an electric range. A comparison will prove to you that an electric range brings comfort to the kitchen. See the newest types of electric ranges the next time you are in our office.

The couple are now at home at the White House.

Paris Predicts Trousered Ensembles Here To Stay

There is a "gob" of style in the sailor's suit of pajamas (left) which Tollman makes of blue shantung to fit over a blue, black and yellow jersey swimming suit. The flaring trousers are given a feminine touch in the bows that gather them in under the knees and the little sleeveless jacket is finished off with a chiffon scarf in matching blue, yellow and black. For the boudoir, luscious cool-looking green panne velvet is used by Philippe and Gaston for both trousers and jacket of a sumptuous pajama suit (center). For a vagabond beach pajama suit (right), Heim uses blue, black, green and white stripes of heavy tussor silk to make flaring trousers and a circular cape.

Home Mission Work Discussed By Auxiliary Women

"Facing Our Task Among the Hills" was the theme of the afternoon program of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Monday.

The program opened with songs and a devotional. "More Than Conquerors" led by Mrs. R. C. Crabb, the leader. Her talk was based on the eighth chapter of Romans.

Mrs. Crabb talked on the subject of the afternoon and most interestingly told of some of her personal experiences in the work among the hill people: Mrs. T. R. Wilson discussed "The Wages of Sin is Death" and Mrs. J. M. DeArmond told of the splendid work that is being done for the women of the hills, along the line of rug making and sewing.

During the social hour Mesdames A. B. Schneider and Andrew Pasken served refreshments.

Seventeen members were present and one guest, Mrs. J. D. Norwood of San Antonio.

Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Hall with their son and daughter of El Paso were visitors in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Thos. D. Murphy yesterday. Dr. Hall is pastor of the Manhattan Presbyterian church in El Paso and will be remembered by Midland people for having conducted a revival meeting here three years ago. The Hall family is enroute Kerrville to attend the Young Peoples' conference.

HOW TO SHOP Gold Plated Of Jewels Are Cheaper Grades

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN, Author of "The Shopping Book"

THERE is a great difference between gold-filled and gold-plated jewelry, with the former the more desirable.

Gold-filled means that the gold is filled or lined with brass. For example, 1-4 or 1-10 gold-filled jewelry means that the fraction given is the brass to give it strength. The quality of gold-filled jewelry depends upon the amount of gold used in proportion to the amount of pure gold used in that article. Gold-filled articles usually are stamped to indicate the grade of the solid gold used, such as 10 or 14 karat. If the quality of the gold is not stamped, you are safe in assuming that it is not more than 10 karat.

On the other hand, gold-plate jewelry is base metal with an outside film of gold-plate. Only the cheaper grades of jewelry are made in this way.

THE AGE FOR LOVE By Ernest Pascal

(Reviewed by Eileen Bayer) As far as I'm concerned, this book is all about Mrs. Bunk's little girl, Lotta. I think it is a supreme waste of time to read it. Or, for that matter, to write it. It is a moth eaten theme, and perhaps is supposed to illustrate for the thousandth time what a beautiful futile gesture love and life really are to the artistic souls. I think a more fitting title would be "A Pain in the Neck."

You may gather from all this that I don't like the book. You are absolutely right. And the worst part of it is that it is very well written. It shows that Ernest Pascal, draft him, could write a really good book if he wanted to. But he won't. I suppose such romantic drivel as this sells better.

It is mainly about a certain Jean Hurd, who is so dreadfully misunderstood, so vaguely unhappy, so desperately desirous of being different. She doesn't want to be like everyone else. (Did you ever really see anyone who was exactly like everyone else?) The hot polloi offend her sensitive soul. It is all just too bad. I think any woman who has had to get in and make a few sacrifices in her life will resent this book. After all, it is about the easiest thing in the world to sit around and cry for the moon, to be miserable because no one (unless it is a good looking unmarried man) understands you.

Perhaps in my coarse, unsympathetic way I have missed a certain subtle fragility in Jean's character. All I can find is weakness, and a great capacity for distorting facts. The book jacket states airily that

Baptist Women Have Auxiliary Meetings Monday

Three auxiliaries of the Women's Missionary Society of the Baptist church met in separate sessions Monday afternoon.

Walker Auxiliary Members of the Walker Auxiliary met in the church parlors for work. During the afternoon a quilt was completed. Ten members were present.

Lockett Take Exams Exams were taken on the mission book "Lottie Moon" by four members of the Lockett Auxiliary who met at the home of Mrs. B. C. Girdley. Plans were also made to send clothing to an aged minister's wife.

Reagan Has Business Meeting Mrs. B. A. Wall's home was the place of meeting for the Reagan Auxiliary. Plans were also made by this group to assist an aged minister's wife. During the study hour the book "How to Pray" was finished.

"Jean knows precisely what she wants because she has the courage in her heart that lets her take life in her hands and examine it bravely." That sounds fine, but it really doesn't mean much. All I can find that she wanted was her own way, and another term for that would be Supreme Selfishness.

It is written easily, at times brilliantly. The characters are real, (as large as life and just as annoying). Pascal has a definite flair for conversation, for terse, vivid word pictures, for dexterous characterization. It is a pity he wasters a real talent on such stuff as this.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

A delicious Osgood pie and ginger ale punch would be splendid for any cool afternoon dessert. Both of these are simple and any housewife can use them when unexpected company comes in.

Osgood Pie

2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon vinegar, Lump of butter, 1-2 cup raisins, 1-2 cup of nuts.

Beat yolks lightly. Add sugar, butter, vinegar and spices. Beat whites stiff and mix into above. Add nuts and raisins. Bake filling and crust together. This will make one pie. It is delicious either plain or with ice cream.—Mrs. A. P. Baker.

Ginger Ale Punch

1 pint of ginger ale, 1 cup of grape juice, 3 tablespoons of lemon juice, 3-4 cup of pineapple juice.

1 to 3 cups of sugar, 3 cups of crushed ice. Bring pineapple juice to boiling point then add sugar and boil five minutes. Cool and add lemon juice and grape juice. Mix thoroughly. Pour over crushed ice, stir well, then add ginger ale. Stir up and serve immediately.—Mrs. J. R. Collins.

Braucher Picks Sharkey to Win; Gob's Skill, Experience Greater

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 10.—Two men, bare to their waists, fighting in a little patch of white light, surrounded by semi-darkness from which peer thousands of eyes.

That is the picture of a heavy-weight championship prize fight—the Sullivan-Corbett tradition renewed—at Yankee Stadium the night of June 12. That is the picture, except that there is no Sullivan or Corbett in there Thursday. In their stead are an experienced but determined slugger from Germany—Max Schmeling—and a former sailor from Boston—Jack Sharkey.

In 59 minutes, at most, it will be over. Fifteen three-minute rounds, or fewer, will decide which is the mightier of the two men. A quick blow may end it in a few minutes. Or it may drag on through the allotted time with neither yielding.

Just as in a cock fight when one of the birds is killed the battle is over, or in a dog fight when one of the brutes is slain, this combat between men may end in any round, with the winner standing over the limp figure of his senseless victim while the referee counts to ten.

From the gallery gods will come the piercing whistle so familiar to the scene of prize battle. There will be the scraping and pounding of thousands of feet. There will be booning or cheering as the tide of battle turns one way or the other. Thousands of eyes will watch as the beaten man reels.

Under the light close to the arena men will peck at typewriters, pound telegraph keys, talk into a microphone, to tell the world what is happening in the ring above them. What will happen in the ring above them?

Here are the factors, and you can write your own answer. Jack Sharkey is a skillful boxer and a hard hitter with long experience in the affairs of the ring.

Max Schmeling is younger. He is not as skillful a boxer, but carries a quick right hand that can land with crushing force after traveling a short distance. He is determined.

Sharkey has fought some great fights. On certain nights, against certain foes, he has seemed unbeatable. But there have been other occasions when there was anything but a fighting man.

Schmeling has been beaten by third-rate fighters—Larry Gaines and Gypsy Daniels. But in every one of his fights he has been a fighter. He never has sought to evade the issue or win or lose by stalling.

Schmeling showed courage in beating Risko and Paulino—especially Risko, after it seemed certain that the German must lose. Sharkey is emotional. When he fought Scott he was hysterical. What he will do under stress and pressure of tough going no one can guess. Balanced against that is the fact that in point of detached skill and power he seems to be the German's master.

Because Sharkey can win, I think he will. Looking ahead to the fight, I believe it will be over quickly. Sharkey will win by a knockout. I am sorely tempted to attach a great number of "ifs" to that prediction. But the die is cast. Lay on, Macduff.

New Train Service Given Hobbs, N. M.

Exclusive passenger service was started Sunday over the Texas and New-Mexico line from Monahans to the present terminus at Hobbs. One train will be made up at Monahans with express and mail service along with necessary passenger coaches. The train is scheduled to leave immediately after the arrival in Monahans of No. 7, west bound morning train, and will arrive in Hobbs at 2:15. On its return trip it will leave Hobbs at 5:00 o'clock p. m. and arrive in Monahans in time for connections with No. 6, eastbound, which leaves at 8:25.

The officials of the Texas and New Mexico road report that traffic is growing steadily over the new route, not only with passenger but express and mail volume. Also freight traffic increased greatly after the sudden development of the Hobbs area. At the same time trucking between the railroad points and every section of the new field is on the increase, supplies, machinery and equipment going from supply houses operating in the field but who do not yet have stock there. The extension into Lovington will further increase business of the new road when it is completed, since every indication points to northern spread of the field and associated development.

SAN ANGELO SPECIAL

SAN ANGELO, June 10.—San Angelo citizens will participate in all celebrations to be held along the new three million dollar Santa Fe over which first train service to Sonora will be started July 1, it has been announced here by W. C. Blanks, chairman of the railroad division of the San Angelo Board of City Development.

A special train will be operated over the new line to carry a delegation of San Angelo citizens to a celebration to be held at Sonora July 1 and 1. Mr. Blanks said. In addition to the large local delegation that will make the trip, between 50 and 100 citizens of Sonora and vicinity will journey to San Angelo by automobile to ride the special train over the new line. Mr. Blanks was told by W. R. Barnes, chairman of the Sonora committee in charge of plans for the celebration there. Mr. Barnes will be in San Angelo Monday to discuss celebration plans with officials of the Board of City Development.

A device has been perfected which enables the discovery of "failure points" on railway rails. No one can tell how many lives that research has saved.

SCOUTS STILL ON TRAIL, BUT THEY ARE OIL MEN NOW

TULSA, Okla.—Advancing civilization may have curtailed but it has not rendered obsolete the pioneering work of the scout. He is still employed in numbers by the petroleum industry.

When an oil company starts operating in a field previously undeveloped, it is necessary to have accurate information of the progress of all the wells in that area. It is the oil scout's job to obtain these data, and he gathers information concerning drilling depths, locations, formations, production and other vital factors. He works outdoors, covers a vast amount of territory, usually by motor car, and makes it his particular business to see all, hear all, and tell all for his company.

Naturally in an industry so far flung in its operations, it is almost impossible for a single scout to cover hundreds of square miles. To overcome this difficulty the scout meets frequently with scouts from other oil companies in a session known to them as a "check meet" to exchange information and check their data so that every report may be complete and correct.

Three-Fourths Ton Metal off Highway

CANYON, Texas. (AP)—Fifteen hundred pounds of nails, tacks and various kinds of metal were picked up from the highway between Amarillo and Hereford, through Canyon, a distance of 50 miles, in one week. A magnetic nail picker was run over the highway by T. W. Ziegler, county supervisor of state highways. The machine was made in the state highway department shops in Amarillo. It contains a large magnet with power sufficient to lift a nail buried three inches in the dust. The machine moves along the outside of the highway and covers a width of nine feet.

Moscow Letter

By EUGENE LYONS,
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW. (UP).—There is a growing number of "American Oases" on the Soviet deserts.

You arrive in a rickety droshki shaken up like a cocktail over the Moscow cobblestones, to visit an American engineer. You pick your way gingerly across a muddy pock-marked court-yard and finally you reach the apartment to find:

An American radio in full blast. The latest jazz pieces on an American phonograph.

A coffee percolator, vacuum cleaner and other American domestic appliances.

A selection of popular periodicals. In the kitchen an assortment of the best-advertised breakfast foods and canned goods.

Since few Russians have the courage to mix with foreigners, the company at the apartment, too, is likely to be 100 per cent American.

If ever there was a race which carries its civilization and comforts along with it in its wanderings, it is the conglomerate race of Americans. Except for the limited space, there is very little in an American home in Moscow to indicate that it is located in the Soviet capital and not in New York or Des Moines.

The American colony here is growing by leaps and bounds. Scarcely a week passes without leaving a new deposit of Americans on the Russian soil—chiefly technical experts engaged to help industrialize the Soviet Union or mechanize Soviet farming.

It is estimated that there are more than 2000 Americans already settled in the capital on a more or less permanent basis; the contracts running anywhere from six months to three years. In addition there is always a transient American population of several scores and another 200 scattered through the country.

For the use of engineers and technicians who are here for a considerable period, especially those with families, the government is erecting special apartment houses, with bath and other comforts deemed essential to the species

Americano.

Thousands of sea-going vessels, river craft, motor boats which remained in private hands have just been nationalized by a decree of the Central Executive Committee and turned over to the Commissariat of Ways and Communications.

The decree applies to sea-going craft exceeding 50 tons, river or lake vessels exceeding 25 tons and motor-boats of 15 or more horsepower.

Provision is made, however, that where motor or sail boats or row-boats are used for pleasure or sporting purposes but not for business, they may remain under private ownership.

Cardui Proved Helpful to Lady In Her Effort To Recover Lost Strength.

Muskogee, Okla.—"About a year ago I began taking Cardui," writes Miss Myrtle Blake, of 202 1/2 S. Cherokee Avenue, this city. "I had been sick all the winter before. I was feeling bad. I was in bed for three weeks.

"I had the headache all the time, and couldn't keep anything on my stomach. I lost weight until I looked like a shadow of myself.

"I tried a good many things, but nothing seemed to help me. I kept going down and losing strength. "My mother had known about Cardui for some time and had me take it. After three weeks of this treatment I began to feel better. I was improving so much, I kept taking it. After three weeks I began gaining in weight.

"I looked and felt much better. I feel so much better this year, and look like a different person.

"I took the Cardui Home Treatment for several months and can recommend it."

Cardui is a reconstructive tonic, of genuine medicinal value.

LIBRARY REPORT FAVORABLE WHEN COMPARED WITH OTHERS OF STATE

The library was opened to the public April 10, 1929. In closing the report with March 31, 1930, we are falling short of the full year by ten days. Even these ten days would make an appreciable difference in the figures for the year, but it seems wiser to close with a month rather than in the middle of one, and April 10 is nearer March 31 than it is to April 30.

We opened the library with 2218 books on the shelves. Of these 780 were purchased by the county; 1430 were carried over from the old Midland public library, 8 were gifts. During the year we have added 1030. Of these 884 were bought, 50 were gifts, 35 were carried over from the old library, and 61 were old library books which we had re-bound.

We have discarded 22 because they were worn out, and have withdrawn 2 because we deemed them unfit for the shelves, that is, objectionable. We have lost 29, 19 of which have been paid for. Some of those reported lost may yet be recovered, though it is not likely. And there are some we have given up hope of recovering, but have not reported lost because we want to allow them a longer time.

We have then at the end of our first year 3195 volumes. I should like to take an inventory before making this annual report, but this particular season is a bad time for it. I will, however, attend to that just as soon as a quiet time comes, and will report the results to you promptly. The first week in September is an ideal time for it, or the first week of school might be better.

We have registered 1782 borrowers. Of these 1146 are adults; 636 are children. Of the adults a third are men. For a long time the men formed forty per cent of the adults, but I find that on an annual basis they have dropped to a third. However, we have far more women who are merely registered—far more women who are inactive borrowers than we have men who are such. Practically all of the men who have taken the trouble to register are good steady readers. The children are about equally divided between boys and girls. These figures are, of course, not strictly accurate. There have been deaths and removals from the county, and a few cards have been cancelled because of misdemeanors. But it is best to let the file stand uncorrected between registrations, depending on a new registration every two or three years to keep the file alive and up-to-date.

The proportion of adult fiction is all that could be asked; it is unusually good. The proportion of children's books might well be a little larger, though it is not bad at all. One-third of the total is right. We have turned over the book-ten times, basing the count on the present stock without regard to the fact that more than half the additions were made during the latter half of the year. Basing it on the stock with which we opened, the figure is well over 14. Either figure is enormous. If a public library turns over the stock four or five times in a year, it is held to be doing good active work.

In proportion to the population we have lent more than 3 1-2 books per capita, basing our count on a population of nine thousand, which from the present census returns appears far too high. I direct your attention to the figures of the other county libraries of Texas, that is, to the only figures I have available, these being published two years ago. Incidentally, too, the average for the United States is just a fraction over two.

Dallas 2 1-2, Cooke 2, Potter less than 1 1-2, Wilbarger less than 1, Lubbock 2. Let us think I take undue credit to myself I want you to know that I do honestly think that these figures reflect more honor on the Midland county type of citizenship than they do on me personally. These people want a library and should have one. And I mean a good one—not just a nominal one. On the other hand, I can just as honestly say that I have tried to make the library a happy, friendly place, a place where people would want to come, a place where they would feel at ease and at home, where they would bring their friends. A public library in any community should be a community center in every sense.

So They Split the $149,000

It was a house divided against itself when $149,000 dropped down out of a clear sky for the Dougherty family, pictured above, in Brooklyn, New York. The winning ticket in the English Derby sweepstakes of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada was made out in the name of Edward P. Dougherty, 19, lower right, a $20-a-week stock clerk in a brokerage firm. But his father, Daniel Dougherty, left, an apartment house doorman, claimed the prize money, saying he gave Edward the dollar to buy the ticket. Dan, Jr., upper right, another son, claimed a 50 cent half interest in the ticket. It finally was agreed to split the $149,000 three ways.

WEST TEXAS TEACHERS PULL OUT HAIR AS PROBLEM OF FILLING TEAM IS UP

CANYON, Texas, June 10. (AP)—Mentors of the Buffaloes, grid machine of the West Texas State Teachers college, literally are tearing their hair in an effort to evolve some kind of a plan whereby the holes knocked into the 1929 team by graduation may be filled to advantage. A galaxy of stars from the vaunted 1929 team will be missing when the roll is called for candidates next fall.

Four regulars from the flashy backfield of last year will be among the missing, including Tarp Newman, fullback, Pat Gerald, halfback, McInnis, halfback, and Jones, quarter. Gerald's broken field running and Newman's line plunging were outstanding features of the play of the Buffaloes in T. I. A. A. circles last year.

Coach Claude Reeds is looking to the freshman students to fill the gaps. Under the T. I. A. A. rules, freshmen students who enroll before October 1 are eligible to participate in intercollegiate contests. Among the lettermen who will return are Weldon Logan, all-conference tackle and captain, Powell, Clark and O'Donnell in the backfield, Cooper and Gilliam, guards, McLendon, Jamieson, Layne, Haley, Burk and Penick, linemen.

Some splendid freshman material is expected to be available from the high school teams in the Panhandle.

Thought Victim of Gangsters

A background of gang feuds and racketeering was seen by police in the murder of a woman—identified as Anna Margaret Urbas, pictured above—whose body was found in the Harlem River at New York. Miss Urbas was reported to have been the sweetheart of Eugene Moran, at one time bodyguard of Arnold Rothstein and who, like Rothstein, was mysteriously slain.

ABILENE PLANS FOR JULY 4TH RACES—TRACK IS TREATED

ABILENE, June 10.—Plans for the annual Independence Day automobile and motorcycle race program at Abilene are being perfected this week. The five-eighths-mile dirt track is being treated with calcium chloride and entry blanks are in the mail for a hundred or more race car pilots and cyclists. One hundred laps of automobile races on the card are interspersed with five and ten-mile motorcycle dashes. The total purse is $3,200. The speed car events drawing $2,500 will be made for both race classes.

With sanctions of the American Automobile association and the American Motorcycle association, the races will be staged by the West Texas Fair association of which Louis Montgomery of Abilene is president. The race program will begin at 1:30 in the afternoon with time tryouts. Main track events are scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

M. B. Hanks has been named to referee the events. G. A. Creswell is official starter and W. R. Calhoun, assistant starter. The AAA representative is D. H. Jefferies. Drivers will meet at the Abilene chamber of commerce offices at 8 o'clock on the night preceding the races to secure pit tags and passes and to hear an outline of rules and regulations. Sets of official race statistics of the AAA contest board have been sent to the drivers.

Attendance and interest in this year's Fourth of July dirt track contests are expected to outstrip races of previous years.

BILLIE DOVE QUEEN OF COWGIRL CABARET

A "cowgirl cabaret," with the girls and boys on the dance floor appearing in gala Wild West costumes, provides one of the many colorful scenes for Billie Dove's latest First National and Vitaphone starring vehicle, "The Painted Angel" which comes to the Ritz Theatre tomorrow.

Miss Dove portrays a night club hostess in this colorful story of the Great White Way, and sings and dances for the first time in her screen career. Edmund Lowe plays opposite the star, and Millard Webb directed the picture, which was adapted from Fannie Hurst's story, "Give This Little Girl a Hand."

The Ritz was built in 1928. It is affiliated with the R & R group, operating more than forty houses in Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma, and is operated by J. Y. Robb. A second theatre is being planned for Big Spring by this company to cost approximately $300,000.

NO UNEMPLOYMENT

SAN ANGELO, (AP)—Because business and employment conditions in San Angelo and territory have improved to such an extent that it is no longer needed, the city employment agency has been closed. The agency was organized early in March and more than 200 persons were supplied with work. During the last 15 days of May less than a day was obtained through the agency and applicants were scarce.
