Fist Fight Follows Charge Made in the Legislature

AUSTIN, July 21. (AP)—The investigation of leasing oil and gas lands of Texas university was halted temporarily today when Representative Bob Long, Wichita Falls member of the house investigation committee, had a fist fight with J. O. Eargle, employe of the state auditor's department. Long had charged unethical practice in auditing the University books.

RIOTS FOLLOW IN MEXICAN ELECTION AND SEVERAL HURT

EL PASO, July 21. (AP)—Encarnacion Ponce and Juan Zaldiver were killed, five stabbed and a policeman was seriously injured as a mob engaged in fighting the police in Juarez yesterday on the occasion of elections in which Ortiz, engineer-contractor of Chihuahua City, was conceded as the elected governor of Chihuahua state today. Precaution against the recurrence of rioting is being taken.

MEXICO CITY, July 21. (AP)—Changes following the appointment of General Figueroa, under-secretary of war, announced here today included the naming of Matis Ramos as military chief of Chihuahua state.

Paris Man Approves Economic Movement

Heartly approval of the movement started by the Midland chamber of commerce to get government efforts at relief for the cottonmen is expressed in a letter from P. A. Spain of Paris, Texas. Spain is surprised to find a chamber of commerce, he says, that will flay government procedure. His letter follows: "Chambers of commerce are usually very slow about saying anything to reflect on governmental procedure, and especially are they careful not to modify the old worn-out newspaper propaganda of 'flourishing times.' "But the Midland chamber of commerce has done the unprecedented. It has 'flayed' the policy of low prices received by the producer of raw products throughout the nation, as compared with high prices paid by the consumers. That chamber is at least calling for more investigation. It should go further and name a remedy. "The farm relief board, backed by big business and the big press of the country, is making much thunder about stabilizing the prices of farm products, but so far prices have been dropping all the time. Cotton is still falling and wheat is the lowest in 17 years. "It is presumed that when the relief board gets prices down to suit them, they will then 'stabilize', and who can expect any other result from a farm relief law enacted by practically the same kind of congress that passed a law a few years ago to stabilize the price of cotton at 10 cents, when at that very time cotton was selling on the market at 25 cents to 35 cents? "It is said the '10-cent stabilizers' were thwarted in their collusion against the cotton farmer by some simple 'joker' which a Texan managed to insert in the bill. "Now this Midland chamber of commerce is memorializing high national and state officials from President Hoover down to state's attorneys praying for immediate action against the enormous and unjustifiable spread between the price the producer receives and the price the consumer pays. This is fine. It makes for justice to working people. "The only thing seemingly wrong with this Midland chamber of commerce is its inability to understand that these high officials can do nothing to change the situation. They are in no position to rule or influence prices unless in war times when laws are abrogated and military rule is enthroned. "No power or official, high or low in government, can or will remedy wrong prices until we get government money instead of private bank money, with which the government can purchase the raw products. "All over the world, for all time, past, present and future, the axiom (See PARIS MAN page 6)

Denies Charges of Beating Maid

Accusations that she beat her maid are "false and slanderous," declared blonde Kathryn Ray, above, Broadway show girl, in replying to a $200,000 suit which Ann Snowden, the servant, brought against her in New York. Alzaga Unsue, a wealthy Argentine and friend of Miss Ray, has been named co-defendant. Miss Ray has asked for a bill of particulars containing the maid's charges.

FAMOUS PAIR OF ROBIN FAME TAKE AIR FOR GRIND

ST. LOUIS, July 21. (AP)—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien, former holders of the refueling endurance record, took off this morning in a Curtiss-Robin monoplane hopeful of staying up for 30 days, thus decisively beating the Hunter Brothers' mark of 553 hours. The plane, Greater St. Louis, is similar to the St. Louis Robin in which they spent 420 hours in the air a year ago and was presented to them as a reward for that. Such comforts as air mattresses and a small radio were taken. The flyers expect to fly at a cruising speed around 65 miles an hour.

YOUNGS IN BOSTON

Historic spots near Boston are "filling," Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Young said in a card received this morning by The Reporter-Telegram. The Midland people spoke of going to Bunker Hill, going 221 feet into the air over the well known 204 steps that lead to the top. They are on a combination business trip and vacation.

LADIES' DAY RULE

Girls below 12 years of age will not receive the courtesies of free play on Ladies' day at the West Texas miniature golf course, the management has decided. This was found advisable because the course grows too crowded to accommodate the crowds, it was explained. Monday is the day set apart each week for this day. Lotta Williams, Ann Gordon and Mrs. D. T. Cooper won first, second and third prizes at a tournament at the course last week.

TWO RADIO STATIONS

Radio men Fell and Anderson are 'working' stations of the Western Air Express to the east and west from the station recently installed at Sloan field, they said Sunday. Regular weather broadcasts, information desired sent by pilots and regular company business are broadcast by the airline station. Sloan field has two radio broadcast stations, one being maintained by the government.

As Bad, Bad Bandit Takes Jewels in Screen Picture, Angelo Bandits Really Rob

SAN ANGELO, July 21. (UP)—While the theatre was showing to a "big house" a picture of convict life, three bandits entered the office of J. D. Jones, slugged him and took $2,500 in cash and diamonds valued at $5,000 last night.

The trio forced Jones to open a wall safe and remove Saturday night's receipts. Jones was counting the Sunday cash when the robbers entered. The bandits gagged the victim, sealed his lips with tape and placed an office desk over him.

He wriggled out 30 minutes later. Rewards totaling $1,500 have been posted.

Messengers Are Robbed

KANSAS CITY, July 21. (UP)—Bandits, employing identical strategy and thought possibly to be colleagues, held up money messengers of Piggly Wiggly and Safeway chain stores here today and obtained between $12,000 and $15,000 in two boulevard holdups. The money comprised the week-end receipts collected by supervisors.

HUNTER BROTHERS LAND SUNDAY AT SLOAN AIRPORT

The four Hunter Brothers, famed for their recent successful assault on at-that-time existing records for endurance flight, were in Midland Sunday morning, landing at Sloan field enroute to the west coast.

They will make theatre appearances there. John said, Walter said they would dicker with film executives towards making a picture. They were in three planes, two of them being well known to the public as the "City of Chicago" and the "Big Ben."

SATTERWHITE IS OPTIMISTIC; SAYS SMALL IS STRONG

"I am as confident as I can be that Clint Small will be one of the two high men of the eleven candidates for governor to be submitted to the democratic voters of Texas on Saturday, the twenty-sixth of this month," it was declared today by Lee Satterwhite, his campaign manager, writing from Fort Worth to The Reporter-Telegram.

"Close observers estimate a total of seven hundred thousand for the seven recognized leading candidates, which means one hundred thousand to each candidate if equally distributed. But summing up the vote as indicated from a close study it is my judgment that the two high candidates in the first primary will range somewhere between one hundred and twenty-five thousand to one hundred and fifty thousand votes. The next three candidates will range somewhere between ninety thousand and one hundred and fifteen thousand; the next two will range somewhere between sixty-five and eighty thousand.

"Senator Clint Small of Wellington will be one of the two high candidates, with a vote ranging between one hundred and thirty thousand to one hundred and forty-five thousand. Sixty thousand of these votes will come to him from the Eighteenth congressional district, from the Twelfth, Thirteenth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth districts he will receive fifty thousand, and from all other sections of the state he will receive an additional vote sufficient to put him in the run-off.

"These other candidates have been yelling their heads off that 'Small West Texas vote!' It begins to look by this time like the West Texas vote won't be so little. "Take a map of Texas and a ruler. Put that ruler down, and draw a straight line from Denison, on the Red river, right down through Fort Worth, to Del Rio on the Rio Grande. "In this split you will be able to begin to see definitely how Small is going to win. North and west of that line is the great West Texas, which admittedly will go almost solid for Small in the first primary. "But they tell you that West Texas is widely scattered and there are so few poll tax receipts. "All right, do some more figuring. Take a copy of the Texas Almanac published by the Dallas News. It is but a simple matter to figure that there are nearly three hundred thousand poll tax receipts in that area, or approximately one-fourth of the total of Texas. At the same time politicians estimate that only fifty-seven per cent of the poll tax receipts are voted, which will mean that in Texas there will be some seventy thousand votes polled, while in West Texas, Small's own territory, there will be some two hundred thousand votes polled. (See SATTERWHITE page 6)

MAYOR IS ASKED TO GIVE EVIDENCE IN CHARGES MADE

Agitation started by the City of Midland for less spread between the price received by the producer of raw products and the price paid by the consumer for finished products is receiving much attention.

Following is a special dispatch to the Dallas Morning News from its Washington correspondent:

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The recent complaint made to Washington by Mayor Leon Goodman of Midland that retail prices of wheat, meat, gasoline and other staples did not reflect the new prices being paid producers of the same has been answered by John Lord O'Brien, the assistant to the attorney general in charge of antitrust law prosecutions. Mayor Goodman suggested in his complaint that the federal government should take action to secure lower retail prices. Mr. O'Brien wrote Mayor Goodman in part: "The only federal statutes which he (the attorney general) has power to enforce are the antitrust laws which make illegal conspiracies or combinations in restraint of interstate trade. If you have any evidence tending to show violations of any of these statutes, this department will be pleased to give it immediate and careful consideration."

Mayor Goodman telegraphed his complaint to President Hoover, several cabinet members, including the attorney general and to Senator Tom Connally of Texas. Mayor Goodman Friday appealed to Senator Connally for aid in getting the federal farm board to stabilize the livestock market. It has been referred to C. B. Demman, livestock member, who was away from Washington Saturday.

HOFMEISTER ENDS REVIVAL SUNDAY; PREACHES TWICE

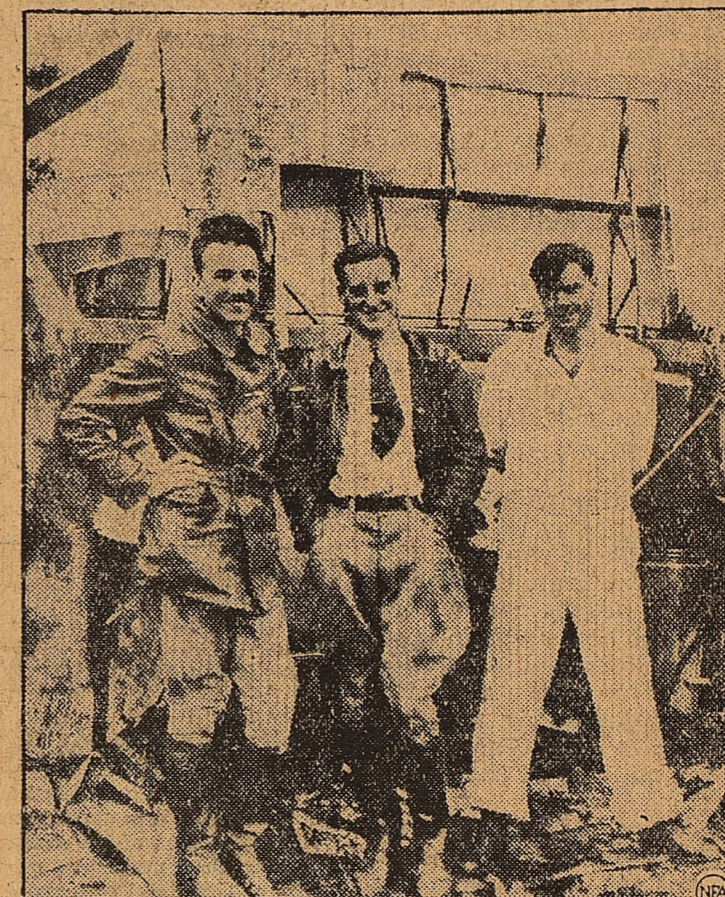

The Hofmeister tabernacle campaign closed last night with a capacity crowd. Many could not get into the building, Saturday night is said to be the greatest meeting of the series. The evangelist preached on the theme "Strange Things." Six went to the altar.

The evangelist said: "Everything about Christianity is strange. It breaks the commonplace of history. If we can read any part of the Gospel narrative without surprise, it is because we have become indifferent. Take the life of our Lord from His birth to His ascension, and the whole course is marked with wonder, amazement, sorrow, and unspeakable joy. Bethlehem had its unique wonder. The sermon on the mount was followed by the astonishment of all who heard its doctrines. Every miracle was followed by amazement and excited the wonder of friend and foe. "They wondered at the gracious words that proceeded out of His mouth." All the remarks about Jesus point to the distinctiveness or uniqueness of the man and His work. Loss of distinctiveness is loss of power."

Sunday morning the evangelist spoke on "The Good Shepherd." He pressed the problem of the need of loyalty between pastor and people. Following the morning service pictures of the crowd were taken. The choir and Mr. Morris were then grouped and photographed. At one o'clock the people gathered at the Roberts home for a tarrying meeting.

Sunday night the evangelist spoke on "Belshazzar's Feast." He warned of the social life of today. "The doom of Belshazzar is the doom of modern society," declared the speaker. (See REVIVAL ENDS page 6)

"K" Flyers to Try Again

Down but not out, the three flyers of the K of New Haven, pictured here beside the wreckage of their ill-fated monoplane at Bostwick, Ga., have announced they will try the 9000-mile, non-stop refueling flight between New York and Buenos Aires in another plane. Left to right are Garland P. Reed, Randy Enslow and James J. Garrigan, who saved themselves by parachute jumps when rain storms and a diminished fuel supply brought to an end their first attempt to make the unprecedented air voyage.

ODESSA EXPECTS MIDLAND PEOPLE AT POLITICAL RALLY TO BE HELD THERE TUESDAY AFTERNOON; GOODMAN SPEAKS

A county-wide political gathering will be held in Odessa Tuesday afternoon and evening, beginning at 7:30. State, district and county candidates have been invited to speak. Midland county residents have been invited through the Odessa chamber of commerce to attend. G. A. Land, secretary-manager of the Odessa chamber, says a large crowd is expected to gather at the speaking place. Mayor Leon Goodman of Midland has been invited to speak for the candidacy of R. E. Thomason, mayor of El Paso, who aspires to the office of congressman from this district. The request that Goodman speak came originally from the Thomason headquarters in El Paso. Indications point to a big Midland crowd in Odessa, it was said at the chamber of commerce office here.

Bishop Cannon Is Married; Leaves

LONDON, July 21. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church south, Thursday married Mrs. Helen McCallum at the Christ church at Mayfair, it was learned here today. The bride and Canon, Bishop of Africa, Brazil, Mexico and Cuba, today were en route to Brazil via Dederia. The bride, reported to be the bishop's secretary for a year, came over with him recently, living with Sir Henry and Lady Lunn.

Hobo Handbook to Be off Press Soon

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., July 21.—The next issue of the "Hobo News" soon will be issued. Jeremiah Boule, 56, weather-beaten and bronzed by many suns, is on a walking tour now, getting material. The latest stock market quotations won't be printed. Neither will the unemployment figures. Boule, after all, has his public to please and he is certain it isn't interested in stocks or work. In the paper, however, will be included: "What towns to avoid. "Towns where police are lenient. Homes guarded by fierce dogs. Homes where "and-outs" are freely given. "Harsh magistrates and bad jails. All this, Boule insists, is of vital importance to his circulation. Although he has a college education and once occupied a comfortable position, this strange editor now is a hobo and argues he knows the pulse of his readers. "In the olden days," he said, "in explaining how the 'Hobo News' was born, 'tramps used to rely for their information on signs placed on gate stoops and at the entrances to towns, by men who had gone before them. "That was unsatisfactory, for often these signs would be rubbed out, and I was constantly getting complaints from men who had struck bad patches of consequence. "As I went about, I used to gather information of all kinds and it struck me that it would be a good idea to pass it on in some way."

NEW WAY TO REDUCE

Mrs. Susie Graves Noble has found an exercise that is better from the reducing standpoint than the 18-day diet, she says. Mrs. Noble says a woman only has to campaign to lose weight.

WOMAN IS DRIVEN TO KILL THREE

Insane With Heat; A Relief Over Part Of the Nation

CHICAGO, July 21. (UP)—Partial relief from the scorching heat and withering winds of the last four days came to the middle west today, but the rest of the nation sweltered in record-breaking temperatures.

The number of deaths during the wave shot upward to 150 today. Cooling northwest winds pushed the mercury down in some sections, and the absence of humidity in most all of the states kept the death list from mounting still higher. The toll definitely ascribed to heat is 45. Drownings accounted for the other 95.

Runs Amuck in Heat GENEVA, Ill., July 21. (UP)—Heat shooting the mercury above 100 degrees drove Mrs. Charles Anderson to murder her husband and son, Willis, 13, with an axe, then set fire to their heavily mortgaged farm home and take her own life, Sheriff L. L. Urok said today. John Larson, the woman's brother, who was routed from an upstairs bed by the fire, discovered the three bodies this morning. Anderson's body, battered with an axe, was on the bed where the wife slept. The body of Willis was on a flaming bed.

The woman's body was in the living room. Apparently she had slashed her own throat and wrists after slaying the family.

Die In Snow SANTIAGO, Chile, July 21. (AP)—Heavy snow near San Gabriel, 44 miles from here, caused the deaths of four persons in an excursion party wreck today. Another is gravely injured.

Scouts Active Two Days of This Week

Scoutmasters of Midland will sit down at a "wide board" tonight when they cook their own dinner and spread it on the prairie. They meet at 7 o'clock at the city hall.

The board of review started this morning and will be over tonight. All boys who wish to qualify for tests may put in appearance as late as 6:30 today, or may take the tests Tuesday, as early as 9 o'clock and in the afternoon from 3:30 on. The program for the court of honor to be held Tuesday, beginning at 8:30, at the First Methodist church, follows:

Pledge of allegiance to the flag; "America" in chorus; invocation by the Rev. Thomas D. Murphy; address by Acting Chairman W. I. Pratt; candle ceremony by scouts; presentation of badges (Homer W. Rowe awarding second class badges, Dr. W. E. Ryan first class, John P. Howe life and star badges); talk by Executive A. C. Williamson and taps by the official bugler.

CRITICISM BY THE BLIND

One of the peculiar things about modern America is that so many intelligent and thoughtful people do not in the least seem able to understand it.

Pick up any magazine that is devoted to something higher than stereotyped fiction and cut-from-a-pattern success stories, and you find that the prevailing note, in any article that tries to assay the current era, is one of dark foreboding or downright despair.

That is not entirely surprising. There are tendencies in modern American life that are ominous enough, in all truth. But in many cases the gloomy prophets seem to have a complete misconception of our entire industrial civilization.

A writer in a recent issue of The New Republic, for example, remarks that we owe to Henry Ford "the discovery that our national welfare depends upon attaining the maximum rate of destruction of our national resources." Then, after asserting that Ford's theory calls on us to waste things we possess as fast as possible, he comes to the question of world peace and makes this amazing statement:

"For long we have worried about war, driven by a pre-industrial feeling that war is the enemy of mankind. But by the theory of the economic value of waste we find that war is the basis of culture. War is our great economic safety valve. For if waste lets up, if people simply won't throw out things fast enough to create new needs in keeping with the increased output under improved methods of manufacture, we always have recourse to the still more thoroughgoing waste of war. An intelligently managed war can leave whole nations to be rebuilt, thus providing work at peak productivity for millions of the surviving population."

This sample of the reaction of our intellectuals to the new trend in human society fills one with a sort of stupefied despair. For we have here not only a complete misunderstanding of the doctrine of modern industry, as exemplified by Henry Ford; we have also a ludicrous misconception of industry's attitude toward the tragedy of war.

We have a right to expect something better than this. The critics of this age of industrialism ought, at least, to set themselves straight on its fundamentals. The facile optimism of the success magazines is not born of any more shoddy thinking than the equally facile pessimism of some of our intellectuals.

A tremendous change is coming upon society these days. It is coming whether we like it or not. No amount of disturbed wailing will halt it. From our intellectual classes we should be getting—not blind outbursts of peevish alarm, but a genuine attempt to understand what is happening and how we can get the most out of it. Weird remarks like the ones quoted above do no one any good.

SHE HAD COURAGE, ANYWAY

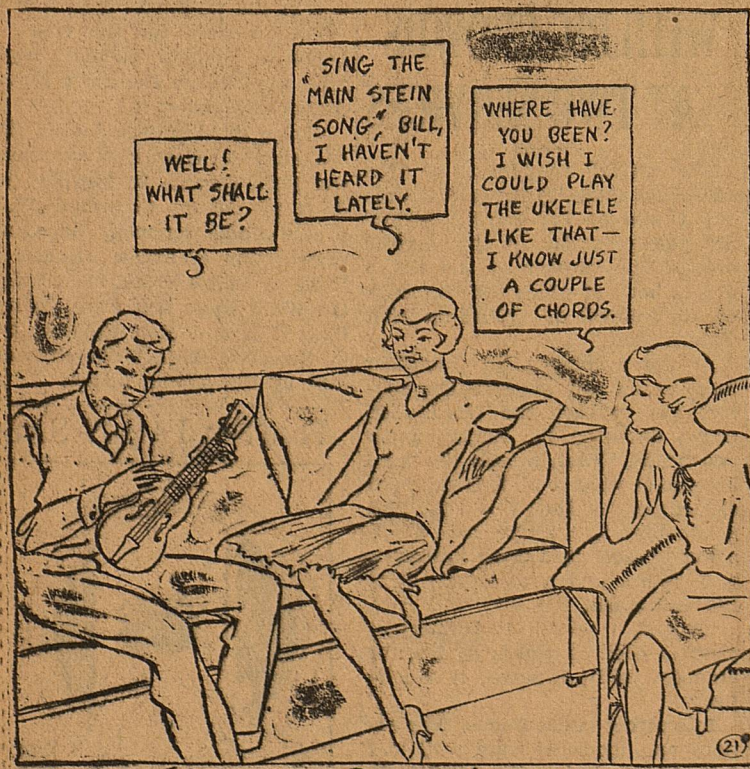

This younger generation often gets wild and makes some deplorable slips in conduct; but it seems, at all events, to be able to take its medicine without whining.

A society girl in Richmond, Va., disappeared from home recently. Her parents feared she had been kidnapped, and police hunted for her. Finally she was found, sharing an apartment in a nearby city with a married man. She was brought back home and the man was taken to jail.

Now it would have been easy for this young woman to have saved her face by adopting the kidnapping story. But she refused to do it. Instead she issued a signed statement to a newspaper, explaining that she had gone of her own free will, and that the man was no more to blame than she was.

You may deplore her action in going on this expedition all you wish; but you must admit that she at least displayed plenty of courage when the show-down came.

Archduke Voluntarily Goes to Prison To Speed Vindication of Famous Name

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, July 21.—Archduke Leopold of Austria is devoting most of the latter part of his American visit to solitary meditation on the futility of such regal gestures as he made the other day in behalf of the ancient house of Hapsburg. To put it bluntly, the Archduke—His Imperial and Royal Highness Leopold, Marie Alphonse Blanche Charles Antoine Beatrice Raphael Michel Joseph Pierre Ignace—is in a New York jail.

He went to prison voluntarily in order to hasten his trial on a charge of fraud in connection with the sale of a $400,000 Napoleon diamond necklace belonging to his aunt, the Archduchess Marie Therese of Austria. But having canceled his bail and moved into New York's gilded old Tombs, the prospect of a trial seems just as remote as ever. General Sessions Judge Rosalsky has decided that Leopold must await his turn, and there are many cases ahead of him.

"While I sit in my cell," said Leopold, "I often think of the story which our family tells about the Empress Maria Therese more than 150 years ago. I hope it will not be like my own case.

An Imperial Whim "The Empress was strolling one day in her gardens, which were very beautiful and full of the rarest of flowers. But on this day I tell about she finds a flower which is more beautiful than all the others. It is exquisite, but instead of picking it, she calls one of the Imperial officers.

"At this exact spot," said the Empress, "I want you to station a guard. Have him relieved every four hours." Then she went away and soon forgot about the flower. Soon it withered and died. Winter came and another year, and another. Finally the Empress died. Fifty years later someone in my family was curious to know why, all day and all night, a guard stood in a certain spot in the garden. Finally an old officer was found who remembered the incident of the Empress and her flower.

"By George, I hope nothing like that happens to me. My trouble already has lasted four months."

The scandal growing out of the sale of the Napoleon necklace has been painfully embarrassing to European members of the Hapsburg family, the Archduke indicated. Outcasts from their native Austria, which has been a democracy since the war, they have sought refuge in Spain. King Alphonso, himself a Hapsburg, has made Leopold's mother a guest of the Spanish court. She in turn has been cabling her son, demanding to know why he does not either confess or acquit himself of such a disgraceful charge.

Hapsburgs have been imprisoned before in the 900 years since the proud line began, but they were political prisoners. Never has a Hapsburg stooped to fraud or theft. Leopold declared, and now the good name of the entire family, as well as the protection afforded it by Spain, are dependent upon his speedy vindication in the New York courts.

Archduke Leopold of Austria, who is now a prisoner in a New York jail, is shown above in his uniform of an officer of a crack Austrian regiment.

may restore a Hapsburg to a European throne. If the trial of Leopold can be completed within the next three months, and if it results in his freedom, you may be sure that the Archduke will be in Hungary to take some part in the attempted coup.

To Return to Austria Even though he talked from behind the close-mesh screen which separates Tombs prisoners from the visitors, the dark eyes of Leopold glistened with excitement as he told of his plans.

"Of course I shall be freed," he said. "Then I shall go abroad. In Austria there are some things I shall attend to; no, I cannot tell you what they are secret, but I am not afraid. Much has been forgotten in Austria in the ten years which have passed. I will even be welcomed joyfully by many people."

The Archduke admitted that he has no money, so he may turn a trick or two by writing—perhaps a book about his incarceration in America. He also rather timidly confessed an ambition to land a nice job of some sort in Otto's government, when and if he is declared King and Emperor.

"You see, little Otto is only 17. He will need help. He will need older, wiser heads. No doubt he will turn to members of his family for guidance. For Hapsburgs always stick together. They may go their separate ways, even as I have, but when the need come they are loyal.

United States since 1927, has been associated with antique dealers and importers of furniture from Europe. An expert who can distinguish the genuine from imitation, his job was to examine and authenticate incoming shipments.

According to his attorney and his friends, the Archduke had nothing to do with the sale of his aunt's necklace except to identify it, in his usual line of business, as the one which Napoleon Bonaparte gave to his second wife, the Austrian Princess Marie Therese, in 1811. The necklace passed to the Archduchess Marie Therese, now 75, who after the World War retired to a modest cottage on the outskirts of Vienna, taking with her, rumor said, millions of dollars worth of jewels, some of them dating back to the time of Peter the Great of Russia.

Assumed Papers Genuine Leopold, knowing the necklace had not been stolen, did not question the power of attorney of a Col. Charles L. Townsend, bearer of the gems from Austria. Leopold is accused of having accepted $20,000 commission from the sale price of $60,000 after the necklace had been variously valuated at sums ranging from $100,000 to $500,000.

He was arrested after the Baroness Anna Eisenmenger claimed to be the genuine representative of the Archduchess and charged that the Archduke and Colonel Townsend had sold property not their own. Then the bogus agent speedily disappeared, and still is being sought. "It is," declared the Archduke, "what my pickpocket neighbor calls the 'tough break.' My people do not understand how, if I am innocent, I can so long remain in troubles in this free land of America. They cannot but wonder if I am a disgrace to the famous Hapsburg name.

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

President Hoover Doesn't Seem to Have Either a Colonel House or a Frank Stearns—His Advisers Come and Go, and Mostly It Seems, That They Just Go

WASHINGTON—President Hoover continues to get along without any "Colonel House" in his administration and he hasn't even any Frank Stearns such as Calvin Coolidge had. There have been many who apparently aspired, but none of them lasted very long.

Mr. Claudius Huston, if he ever relinquishes his tight clutch on the chairmanship of the Republican national committee, will just be one more trusted friend and adviser who has walked what might be described as the White House plank.

Claudius was "very close to Hoover" for many years. He was a Hoover campaign manager long before there was any Hoover campaign and he sat at the other end of a private wire leading to Hoover during the Kansas City convention. After he was made chairman of the national committee he was observed visiting the White House nearly every day.

Lobby Revelations Hurt Disclosures of the Senate lobby committee about Claudius fearfully embarrassed Mr. Hoover and everyone else except Claudius himself, so that this has seemed to be the one instance in the long series of parting of ways which was tougher on the president than the other fellow.

Mr. James Francis Burke, counsel for the national committee, who was conspicuous in the recent executive committee negotiations in which Mr. Hoover and all other party leaders sought Huston's resignation, emerged at the time from a period of White House eclipse.

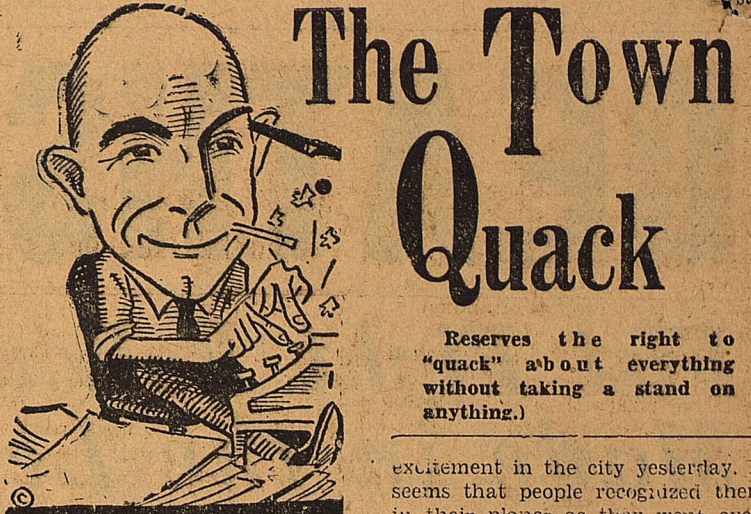

Burke for months had a desk at the White House and appeared to be Hoover's most confidential errand boy. One day last fall Burke moved out suddenly and there were various rumors in explanation—one gave as the reason Mabel Willebrandt's charge that Burke injected religion into the 1928 presidential campaign.

Mrs. Willebrandt was one of the campaign group whose usefulness was found to be about ended within a few months after election. The others included Dr. Hubert Work, Col. Williams J. Donovan and Horace Mann.

As secretary of the interior, Dr. Work was Mr. Hoover's close friend and active in the campaign for nomination. The beginning of his end came when he was appointed national chairman. After that it seemed as if Work had less, and less to do with political affairs. There were important Hoover supporters who publicly demanded his resignation right in the middle of the campaign and Dr. Work resigned a few months after the election in accordance with general expectation.

The beautiful friendship between Hoover and Donovan, who seemed to be unquestionably the fair-haired boy during the campaign, broke up after Donovan failed to get the attorney-generalship as he desired. Donovan was offered the governor-generalship of the Philippines, but he preferred to step out of the picture entirely.

Mrs. Willebrandt wanted to be the new head of prohibition enforcement, but her aspirations were met so coolly that I have been disappointed because Midland does not yet have an entry in the tree-sitting endurance tests that are going on over the country. I propose that Fred Wemple invite the boys up to his yard and put Midland on the map as being full of endurance youngsters.

I have received no encouragement of my idea of starting the home for disabled and useless politicians. The first encouragement which I need is to get my paws on that $50,000,000,000; then I can further my plans.

The editor is still holding down on expressing personalities in the political campaign. He doesn't have any strings on my voice, and I'm going to yell my head off Sunday morning when I read about my favorites winning by two or three lengths.

on," was the explanation. "Sometimes he stands ace-high and sometimes he doesn't stand anywhere at all."

EAR BOXING GOLFER SUED NORWALK, Conn. (UP).—Fifteen-year-old William Lengyel, carry at Shorehaven Golf Club, is suing Mrs. Filomena Cocchia, who boxed his ears, for $20,000. The boy, through his widowed mother, charges permanent impairment of hearing.

Hint Akerson Will Quit Lately there have been persistent rumors that George Akerson, head of the White House secretariat, would resign soon. Akerson was an important figure in the Hoover pre-nomination campaign and is usually mentioned as one of Hoover's closest "advisers."

Some men appear to fall from grace and then come back again. One "close to Hoover" was recently discussing another who had in times past been entrusted with many confidential Hoover missions and who was reported to have walked the plank.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

Mrs. W. B. Elkin selects as one of her most choice recipes one for chicken pie which will serve twelve. A date loaf recipe comes from Mrs. Frank Edsall's cook book for your use today. Copy these recipes, they will come in handy when you want to serve something different.

Chicken Pie

(Serve 12) Cook one hen until tender, take out bones and cut into small pieces. Cook 2 good size potatoes until done but not too soft. Cut in cubes.

Put ingredients with baking dish with 1-2 green pepper chopped fine, 1 stalk celery cut fine. Add thickening of milk and flour, add salt and pepper. Let this come to a boil in the oven.

Top with small biscuits made by this recipe: 1 cup of sweet milk, 3-4 cup of crisco, 2 heaping teaspoons of baking powder and a pinch of salt.

—Mrs. Elkin.

Date Loaf

1 pound of dates, 1 pound of nuts, 1 cup of sugar, 1 cup of flour, 4 eggs beaten separately, 2 teaspoons of baking powder, 1 teaspoon of vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon of salt.

Cream yolks of 4 eggs and sugar together, sift baking powder and salt into flour, then stir into egg and sugar mixture. Fold in well beaten whites, add vanilla and drop in dates and nuts a few at a time. Bake slowly for 1 hour and roll dates and nuts in flour.

—Mrs. Edsall.

"Paris Gowns" Regain Their Individuality

By ROSEETTE Written for NEA Service PARIS, July 21.—A little Paris gown! What glamorous visions of glitter and allure that phrase was wont to conjure up in a maiden's mind only a few years ago. A romantic creation, very extreme as to style, and of course replete with splendor.

Then standards changed. The completely elegant Paris gown shed its glitter, devoted itself to flattering its wearer rather than taking credit for itself. Standardization of styles also tended to obliterate the unusual gowns known at first glance as "Paris."

Now (although the French couturier really is a conservative at heart, every important collection has one or two ravishing creations that fulfill all the dreams of womanhood for Paris clothes.

These dreams come true, however, made heavy demands upon the wearer. She must be the exotic type, or she must be a celebrity of the stage. Or she must be mistress of millions, with a palatial setting of winding stairways, moonlit patios, parquets and limousines.

Turbans, flowing sleeves, bare-backed gowns, gossamer lace in gaudy lacquer red or stunning black, trailing trains, fluttering panels, gowns figured with jewels—these come in the category. Usually it is the cut that is extreme, the combination of colors that is arresting, the use of contrasting materials for trim that is startling.

Given the proper setting, nothing on earth can equal the breath-taking sight of the right woman in such a Paris gown. Divested of the right atmosphere or the right woman, such gowns seem gaudy or lacking in good taste. Therefore, the perfect effect demands the gown, the place and the girl.

Ben Wall is leaving today for a business trip to Austin. He will be gone until the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Stanley and daughter, Dorothy Bess, of Alpine, spent the weekend in Midland. They were accompanied to their home today by A. W. Jr., who has been visiting here this week and Misses Jean Verdier, Dorris Harrison and Evelyn Garlington who will be house guests of Miss Stanley for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Zant are expected to return this weekend from a month's tour of California and Colorado.

Al Cowden is in from his ranch in Jal, New Mexico, for several days.

Mrs. Ralph Bucy and children returned last week from a visit with relatives in Lubbock for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Zant are expected to return this weekend from a month's tour of California and Colorado.

Good Soap Is Safest Cleanser

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN Author of "The Shopping Book" Written for NEA Service

In the problem of cleaning, "elbow grease" still remains the most important factor; but for almost every type of surface some cleaning agent has been marketed as a ready help. The trouble is that these products sometimes contain chemicals which may either injure the texture of the surface treated or prove harmful to the user. In this latter class are preparations containing bichloride or mercury or cyanide of potassium.

Cleaning agents are divided roughly into the abrasives, such as steel wool, where the action is the simple one of scraping, and the solvents, which induce some type of chemical reaction. In this latter group are the various soaps and soap powders for laundering and dish-washing, and the dry cleaners for fabrics.

In addition there are the waxes for hardwood floors. It is in the solvents and floor waxes that the greatest danger lies.

The shopper has reassurance in the knowledge that a good soap is about as good as, and is safer than many patented preparations for quick laundering, and that benzine, the basis of commercial dry cleaning, can be obtained easily for home use.

LAST MINUTE HOME RUNS WIN FOR MIDLAND CLUBS ON SUNDAY

BUSHER HOMER IS PITCHER HOMERS BRUSHING UPSPORTS . . . By Laufer

DECIDING BLOW IN TENTH

The Bushers came back with a punch in the tenth inning of Sunday's game with the feared Lenorah team, Sheppard pouncing out a home run to decide the game. One was on base at the time.

This win kept the Bushers and Oilers rival Midland teams, in a tie for second place, but Penwell and Lenorah were shoved out of classification with the Midland entries of the Tri-County league, leaving Stanton on top and Valley View and Pleasant Valley in seventh and eighth places.

The Bushers were right when they should have been right, hitting the ball when hits meant runs, and fielded when heads-up ball handling was necessary.

The pounding of Stevens and the fence busting of Heath, along with that of Meeks and sheppard were individual features of the long-distance shelling.

Girdley started the game and was doing well until the fourth, when he ran into a flock of hits that filled the gracing air with baseballs. Manager "Doc" Ellis called on Forsey to finish the game.

It was a critical time, with three men on base and Bad Man Dad Pollock, pinch hitter, at bat. This man had batted in pinches seven times this season and only once had failed to connect for sizzling drives.

Mr. Bogy man delivered again, and how! He hit a three-two ball over the fence it hasn't been found yet, and the score was 10-4 against the Bushers.

The Bushers then got going. One was pushed over in the sixth, one in the seventh, and came up in the ninth with a score 10-6 against them.

Drama started. The first man went down, the next singled, then everyone got his war club connecting with the horsehide. Baseballs fell over the park like hail for a few minutes, singles, doubles, singles again—everything in the realm of ringing hits until the score had been tied.

In the tenth inning, Lenorah was held to one single and no score. The Bushers started as Heath hit to left field for two bases. Forney flied out, but Heath advanced to third. Meeks hit an easy roller to the pitcher, Things looked gloomy. Then Sheppard took the platter, cocked his eye, and gave one a ride that would be the envy of a gangster.

AIR HEALTH RULES

WASHINGTON.—Quarantine stations on all airlines throughout the world is the plan of the League of National Health Committee, according to Surgeon Gen. Hugn S. Cummings, of the U.S. Public Health Service. At these stations passengers and pilots will be inspected for the purpose of detecting contagious diseases such as cholera and plague.

When the tumble weed is mature it breaks loose from its roots, rolls up into a ball and tumbles all over the country, scattering seeds as it goes.

TO WIN OWN GAME

The Oilers came back behind in the eighth inning when Timmons hit a home run with one on to take the Penwell game 7-4. The Oilers had been trailing up to this inning by a single score.

Carroll Hill, pitching for the Oilers in his initial appearance, had everything until the seventh, when he walked one man and gave up four hits, one of them a double. Penwell scored four runs in this alone period, and two men were on base when Timmons took the mound.

This pitcher, who later homered to win the game, walked the first man to face him, leaving the bases filled, then whiffed in succession the next three.

In the eighth the Oilers started things. Cook flied out to short, Cunningham singled. Pope and Shoemaker got on bases as a result of errors made by the Penwell club and Cunningham and Pope were able to score by the same route, coupled with Robinson's sacrifice. Timmons hit a home run to score himself and Shoemaker.

Frigidaire Enters The Low Price Field

Hundreds of thousands of families that have been waiting for electric refrigerators to become cheaper will be interested in the announcement that Frigidaire corporation, a subsidiary of General Motors has entered the low price field with an all-porcelain finished model at a factory price of $157.50.

The new model is finished in gray porcelain, inside and out, and is built to standard specifications with many new features, according to a factory announcement. It has four and one-half square feet of shelf space; enough, it is said, to hold the daily milk and meat requirements of a family of eight.

Anticipated demand from a new class of purchasers, lower overhead, cheaper copper and other raw stocks, and many production economies that have been instituted now make it possible to bring electric refrigeration within reach of hundreds of thousands to whom price has been a barrier in the past," said E. G. Biecher, president and general manager.

While approximately only nine per cent of the existing domestic refrigeration market has been sold, millions of average income families are fully familiar with the advantages of mechanical refrigeration. Many, we believe, have been waiting for a responsible manufacturer to offer them a reputable product at a popular price.

The new model has an ice freezing capacity of two and one half pounds, an accessible cold control, tightly enclosed mechanism and satin finished, nickel plated hardware. A second model, one size larger, selling at ten dollars more, was also announced. Both are in the hands of dealers, available for immediate delivery.

A flexible ice tray to expedite removal of ice cubes was also announced. It will be available for the present Frigidaire users, the announcement said.

REUNION OF '80 CLASS

OLIVET, Mich. (UP)—The 1880 class of Olivet college assembled here recently for alumni day. Five in number, this is the first year the college has had a full class return to the campus after graduation, and the fact that it was their golden anniversary, they were given special recognition at all assemblages throughout the entire three days of commencement.

Road Mileage Produced by "Bond Plan" When Compared With "Pay as You Can"

Below is a release of Lynch Davidson, wherein he explains the two political road plans:

The construction of the greatest number of miles in a system of cardinal and connected highways built suitable to its traffic, in a reasonable length of time, at the lowest possible cost, was the intent of the legislature in establishing the highway department. The "state bond issue" proponents have studiously avoided and dodged making the comparison between the "pay as you go" plan and the "bond" plan as to the mileage produced by the respective plans, the length of time in which it can be produced and the comparative cost.

The lump sum figures have been given by Davidson and the details of these conclusions are available on application. All figures based on a four-cent gasoline tax and other highway incomes. Federal aid excluded, which offsets the cost of maintenance. Road cost based on estimated average of thirty thousand dollars per mile. Deduction for payment of eighty million dollar county road bonds at five per cent interest and five per cent of principal per annum as they mature has been made under both plans. Provision has been made for payment of the three hundred and fifty million dollar proposed "state bond issue", interest at five per cent and principal at five per cent per annum.

Davidson introduces figures to show relative costs of the two plans and ends with the following: "Texas now has approximately 18,000 miles of cardinal highways, six thousand completed and twelve thousand mostly graded, gravel, caliche and sand topping. Our highways follow substantially the route of our railroads, where the towns are located. There are only 18,000 thousand miles of railroads in Texas including sidetracks. It follows that our highway system does not call for much more than 18,000 miles, 6,000 miles of which are already completed, leaving 12,000 miles to be completed. From current revenues in ten years we can build approximately 14,000 miles, as shown above more than completing our entire highway system. In twelve years time, out of current, revenues we can build approximately 18,000 miles of highway, which means to say we can rebuild our entire designated highway system out of current revenues in twelve years time. Why issue bonds, mortgage the property of the citizens of the state, and assume an interest charge that would make our roads cost nine thousand two hundred dollars more per mile than under the "pay as you go" plan, and fix an interest charge of fifteen hundred dollars per mile per annum against the roads. The whole scheme is absurd, chimerical and ridiculous.

REAR TROUT IN ADULTS

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—Rearing trout to adult size before releasing them in Wisconsin lakes and streams is the aim of the state conservation commission and in keeping with this plan it announced construction of new concrete rearing ponds at the Westfield trout hatchery.

NEW AIRWAY

WASHINGTON, D. D.—Work has been started on a new airway between St. Louis and New York City. This route will entail the erection of five radio range beacons, twelve intermediate landing fields and fifty beacon lights. Only two sections of the route will involve new construction, as the remainder is being operated at the present time.

Club Speakers Are Now Cop Patrolmen

AUSTIN, July 21. (P)—A deplorable mistake in training state highway patrolmen, newest addition to the state's law enforcers, has come to light; they were not taught to make public addresses.

When the fifty motorcycle officers were put through their school here early this year, preparatory to taking the road they were taught first aid, mechanics, law and a host of other subjects to meet every contingency their superiors could imagine for a patrolman. But nobody dreamed the officers would be called upon to make speeches.

Numerous requests have been made, L. C. Phares, chief of the patrol, said, that the patrolmen address civic groups on the new methods of enforcing highway laws. When the patrolmen first took the road, the average motorist assumed he would be "blowbeaten" for every minor infringement. Instead he found a courteous officer willing to help him when his car went dead, to direct him on the right road, to bind up his wounds if necessary—in short, a sort of riding bureau of information and aid.

This was such a unique experience that there was an immediate demand for speakers before luncheon clubs, women's groups and others to explain traffic laws and duties of the motorcycle cops.

Especially in demand on the border is one patrolman who speaks Spanish excellently. His audience is an group of Mexicans willing to listen to his exposition of safe and sane driving on highways.

PROPOSING A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON NOVEMBER 4, 1930

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 11 of Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 11. In order to enable the Legislature to perform the duties set forth in the foregoing section, it is hereby declared all lands and other property heretofore set apart and appropriated for the establishment and maintenance of the University of Texas, together with all the proceeds of sales of the same, heretofore made or hereafter to be made, and all grants, donations and appropriations, that may hereafter be made by the State of Texas, or from any other source, shall constitute and become a permanent university fund. And the same as realized and received into the Treasury of the State (together with such sums belonging to the fund, as may now be in the Treasury), shall be invested in bonds of the United States, the State of Texas, or counties of said State, or in school bonds of municipalities, or in bonds of any city of this State, or in obligations and pledges issued by the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, or secured by such obligations and pledges, for the construction of dormitories and other buildings for the use of the University of Texas or in bonds issued under and by virtue of the Federal Farm Loan Act approved by the President of the United States July 17, 1916, and amendments thereto; and the interest accruing thereon shall be subject to appropriation by the Legislature to accomplish the purpose declared in the foregoing section; provided, that the one-tenth of the alternate sections of the lands granted to railroads, reserved by the State, which were set apart and appropriated to the establishment of the University of Texas, by an Act of the Legislature of February 11, 1858, entitled "An Act to establish the University of Texas" shall not be included in, or constitute a part of, the permanent university fund.

Section 2. Said proposed amendment shall be voted on by the electors of this State qualified to vote on constitutional amendments at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1930.

HONOR SONG INSPIRATION

LANCASTER, (UP)—The grave of Joe Selby, fugitive slave whose death at Rushville, O., near here, in Civil War days was the inspiration for Benjamin Hanby's song, "Darling Nellie Gray," is no longer unmarked. Chauncey Black, Lancaster wood carver and sign painter, made a tablet with a white enamel background which he has erected at the grave with the aid of George Kalb, 80-year-old Rushville historian who knew Hanby. Either a bronze tablet or stone marker is to be erected at the grave next fall.

It is said that nine out of every ten adults are afflicted with some form of foot defect.

K. C. HOME TRUST BANDITS TO DIE BY ROPE JULY 25

KANSAS CITY, July 21. (UP)—Dejected and afraid, bereft of the bravado of their gangster days, three men paced the floor of their cells here today and awaited death.

In a nearby room—fearful and gloomy with its four stories of dimly-lighted height—stood the scaffold upon which the Home Trust bandits will stand in the early morning hours of July 25 and fall to their deaths at the end of a rope.

The Home Trust bandits are Tony "Lollop" Mangiaracino, Carl Nasello and John Messino. As they fled after robbing the Home Trust bank during the Republican National Convention in 1928, sending a hail of bullets from their speeding automobile, they killed James H. "Happy" Smith, one of the most popular of Kansas City's patrolmen.

There was no hope remaining today for these three men. Their conviction on a charge of murder has stood, despite the strenuous efforts of attorneys to change it. The supreme court upheld the decision of the lower tribunal. Governor Henry S. Caulfield will not interfere with the hanging, he has announced.

Only the friends of their gangster days can save the Home Trust bandits now, and Sheriff Smedley has taken good care that no aid will be forthcoming from that source.

Over the mysterious grapevine that leads from the North End have come rumors that gangland will not submit meekly to the execution. Authorities have transformed the jail into a veritable fortress, bristling with armament in preparation for any possible attempt of friends of the bandits to rescue them by force.

"Lollop" today had none of the sartorial elegance which characterized his gunman days. In the stifling heat of his death cell he lounged practically unclothed.

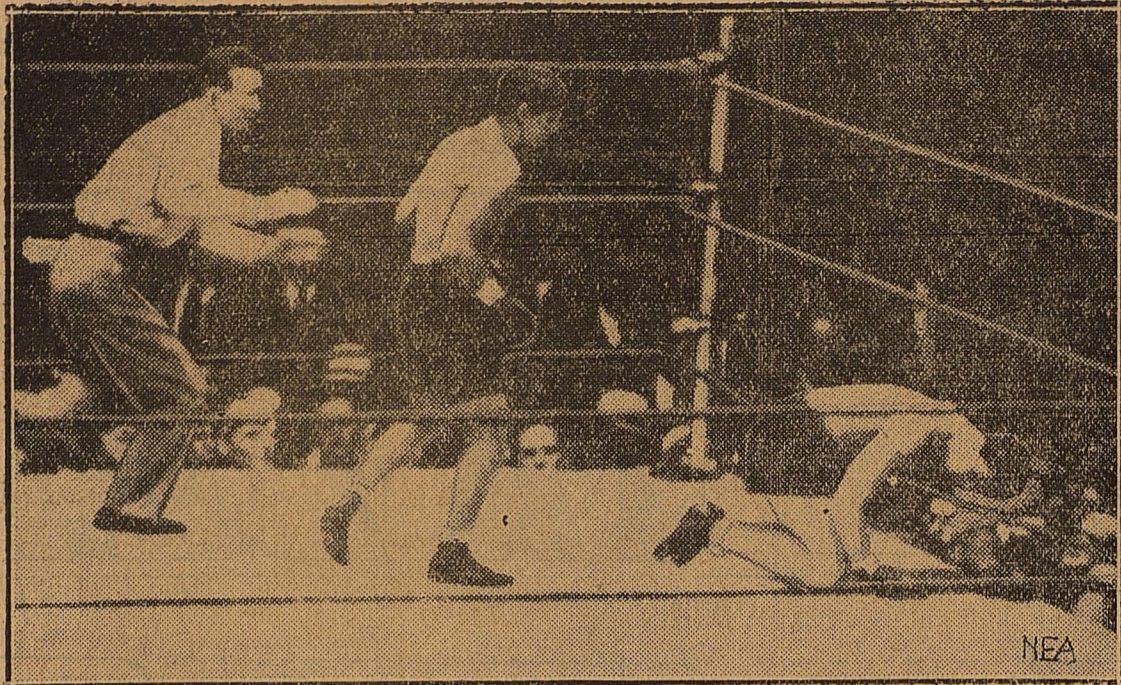

"I'll go up smiling," he said. But his eyes were afraid.

Messino was surly. He was a mechanic, a skillful driver. He piloted the bandit car as it careened through the streets after the bank holdup. He says he is not afraid to die.

Carl Nasello is the youngest of the trio. He has kept up a nonchalant front before reporters and visitors, but his eyes keep wandering down the corridor, at the end of which is the hangman's noose, and along which he will walk but once.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the execution. The scaffold has been enlarged so that all three can be hanged at one time. An electric button—one of five manned by deputy sheriffs—will spring the three traps simultaneously.

And It Didn't End in a Foul

Three times Sammy Mandell was crashed to the canvas by those stinging Singer mitts and three times he rose. Then came the fourth time, as pictured above, and Mandell fell into the ropes and rolled off to be counted out while flat on his back. With the count of 10, Al Singer, center, little Jewish fighting man from New York's Bronx sector, became lightweight champion of the world. The end was reached after one minute and 40 seconds of the first round. The above picture shows, left to right, Referee Arthur Donovan, Singer and Mandell, the defeated titleholder.

The doomed men's families were permitted to visit them several times this week. Little was said, but grief wracked the bodies of the little Italian mothers, garbed in the shawls and fineries of their native land.

No one could convince these women that their sons were guilty, but the state holds them responsible for the death of a policeman, and the Home Trust bandits must die.

er. The Roberts family entertained the crowd with special spiritual songs. An ovation was given the Rev. O. W. Roberts when his name was mentioned by Dr. Hofmeister in a few remarks of his personal appreciation for the minister.

Dr. Hofmeister and Mr. Roberts, both paid tribute to Judge M. R. Hill. Dr. Hofmeister said, "I would be ungrateful if I should allow this campaign to close without expressing my appreciation of Judge Hill for his liberal contribution in support of this campaign. We were entertained in the beautiful, modern and well appointed Camp Broadway by its owner, the Judge, during the past three weeks without one cent of cost to the local assembly. Midland should be proud of such Christian leadership." Mr. Morris was cheered by the people when Dr. Hofmeister paid tribute to the associate who has been with him for the past two years. The evangelist was presented an offering last night by the audience.

Dr. Hofmeister has not announced his next campaign as he has not settled which call he will accept. Dayton and Los Angeles are calling for a campaign under his leadership. All of the Midland ministers were in attendance and every church in the community represented during the campaign, Dr. Hofmeister said. He spoke highly of the co-operation received by the Reporter-Telegram.

Rev. O. W. Roberts said: "I am glad to say that Dr. Hofmeister is a real evangelist. He makes the work easier for the ministers. He is a great preacher of the word. I am well pleased with him and the splendid work he has done in Midland. I want him to come back."

Sterling's Driver Back Under Wheel

The man who was Ross Sterling's chauffeur 20 years ago when he was building the foundations of the Humble Oil and Refining company, is now driving his campaign car over Texas in quest of the governorship.

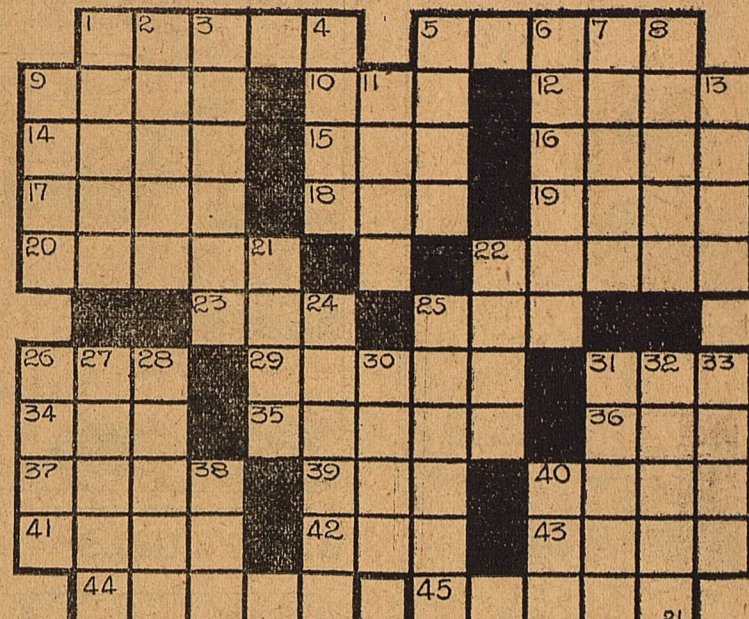

Much water has gone over the mill in the meantime.

In those strenuous earlier years, Harry Baker received a modest wage for his services as Sterling's chauffeur. Now he not only gets no salary, but is paying his own traveling expenses while piloting "the chief."

Henry Baker is now a wealthy man himself. His small investments in the great petroleum industry which he helped Sterling establish, made him a quarter of a million dollars. And for several years he has been building on to this fortune, through a stock and bond business in Houston.

Yet he is out in the July heat, fighting the dusty bumpy roads of Texas from morning till night to get "the chief" to his speaking places on time. And, as of old, he attends

It has been five years since they worked together, but Harry Baker has not forgotten "the chief."

Many Roads... which one shall I Take?

WHEN the long road dips sweetly down a hill and ends up in a blank and puzzled amazement at a jumble of cross-roads, unless you know your way, you'll push down hard on the brakes! And then look around to see where you're going.

Five roads jutting off in various directions of the compass. One road is yours. But a brief glance—and you're off! On the right road. For a sign was over each road to direct your way!

Just as the directions point out the way in a maze of roads; so does modern advertising guide you in the right direction through the multitude of products in present-day markets.

Advertising points the way, straight and clear, to economical and advantageous marketing. It distinguishes the good product. It directs your way by indicating the article best adapted to your needs.

Read the advertisements every day as carefully as you would the signs above the cross-roads. They point out your buying road as surely and as safely!
