SOLVING THE PROBLEM
KELSO, (UP)—Skunks used to bother the cook of a Weyerhaeuser lumber camp near here. Then the chef discovered that the animals chase cats. As long as he has cats to throw before the advancing skunks, the cook is no longer worried.

Here's the sign that has been ordered for motor cars of federal prohibition agents in order to protect innocent citizens against bandits who represent themselves as officers. Amos W. W. Woodcock, left, newly appointed prohibition director, is shown displaying the shield which will be flashed when his men stop suspicious looking automobiles on the road. At night the sign will be illuminated by flashlight.

MIDLAND HORSES FASTEST SEEN IN WORKOUTS ON AMARILLO TRACK, MIDLAND CORRESPONDENT DISCOVERS

By R. C. HANKINS
AMARILLO, Aug. 29. (Special).—With the arrival of Official Starter C. H. McMillan with his starting machine, and the expected unloading of 21 horses before Thursday night, preparations for the Amarillo Fall Race meeting to be held at the Tri-State Fair park, August 30 and September 1 are beginning to draw to a conclusion.
Fourteen animals are already stabled and workouts are given each morning.
Possibly the fastest string of race animals here are from the Buchanan-Bloss stables of Midland. These include three 8-year-olds. Foreign Relations, 14 times a winner in the same number of consecutive races; Delhi Boy, a mile-and-a-quarter horse that once won on the Pimlico track; and Issocles, said by Manager Wm Bloss of the race meeting to have won 15 important races in the east. Three 2-year-olds, Tom Cat, Piccolo Pete and Four Mile each have won a race and a second place in two starts, and Red Star, a mare, and George Keith are winners in the 4-year-old class. The latter won at Miami last year, breezing along in a five-eighths in less than 1:14 and the mile in 1:40.
Most of the Midland horses are good mudders, especially Delhi Boy.
Oscar Sullivan of McLean has three promising horses. Little Jess, a 5-year-old that won first money over a field of 14 starters at Clayton, N. M., July 31; Black Bess, 4-year-old Waggoner mare that easily outdistanced two fields when she made her racing debut at Clayton the same day, and Spark Plug, untied colt for whom flattering offers have been made.
Carl Heffner of McLean will enter Dungan, an aged dun streak of 12 years, in the quarter.
Jockey Carter Arrives
With the arrival here Wednesday of Jockey Carter, the possibility of the T. O. Atwell stables of Brownwood shipping Lilliputian, Brownwood horse that won the Brady derby last week, was seen. Manager Bloss had the jockey, rider of the horse, wired Atwell Wednesday. Carter has ridden at Tia Juana, Havana and other noted race courses and says he has never booted in a faster mount than the Brownwood horse.

Seek Midland Queen For El Paso Rodeo

Who wants to be Midland queen at the annual rodeo and live stock show at El Paso Oct. 3, 4 and 5?
El Paso has written Spencer Jewell asking him to name a queen. All of the town queens will be guests at various social affairs and at all shows connected with the events, but will have to take care of their own transportation and living expenses. The queen should be able to ride horseback, but that is not required.
Any equestrienne or, as for that, any mere pedestrian, who aspires to be Midland queen, should see Jewell, who will do the crowning.

The housekeeper said she heard a man call and ask if he were John Krusky, and on affirmative response fired seven shots into his body.

Four Escape Vernon Jail Through Hole in Wall

Sheriff Here Advised Of Two Escaping Rankin Jail

VERNON, Aug. 29. (AP)—Cutting a hole through a brick wall, four prisoners escaped the Wilbarger county jail here at 4:30 this morning. Officers said that Ernest Oglesby, of Eastland, under sentence totaling 99 years in West Texas counties, engineered the break. He is under three years sentence at Vernon for auto theft.
Partners in the escape were George Allen, sentenced to four years for burglary; Marion Sanders, under ... years sentence from Bonham for burglary; and Don Coffey, awaiting trial for burglary.
Bars between two cells were sawed and a hole opened through a brick wall of the jail. A blanket was dropped from the hole to the ground, allowing the escape.
The jail breakers made their getaway in a small roadster registered in the name of Sanders' mother.
A sheriff's posse is instituting search for the escaped prisoners.

Jailbreak at Rankin

Sheriff A. C. Francis had received no communication from the sheriff's office at Vernon relative to the jail break there this afternoon. DEFENDS CHARGES VOTING IMPEACH JOHN T. ROBISON

John E. Davis, defeated candidate for state treasurer in the recent run-off primary, and publisher of the newspaper at Mesquite, writes a friend in Midland that he was done an injustice through publication of an advertisement just before the election that he had voted for the impeachment of John T. Robison, late land commissioner.
"As a matter of fact, the statements contained therein are untrue," Davis wrote. "I did not vote to impeach the land commissioner or to sustain the charges of impeachment, nor would I have so voted. I had been a friend of Mr. Robison's from the time he was chief clerk in the land office and I was clerk to the land committee in the House and always voted for him."

"I think that he did one or two things that were wrong in his handling of the 1-cent assessment fund and in accepting as presents rebate checks and I would have voted for a motion to administer a mild rebuke or reprimand to him for that, but stating that, nothing he had done justified impeachment or removal from office.
"We never did take any vote on the question of sustaining impeachment charges, but I voted 'No' on the motion to dismiss the entire matter, which is quite different from the way it is stated in the advertisements."

Oil Men Make Up Texon Polo Team

Oil men, as well as cattlemen, farmers, business people and professional men, as well as cattlemen, farmers, business people and professional men are invited to come and bring their wives and children. Many women attend the Cowboy park programs.
Spencer Jewell and B. W. Floyd have gone to heavy expense to build a fine polo field and a good race track. Constantly growing crowds indicate that Midland people appreciate the efforts of the two men to give Midland people high class amusements.

Bloodshed Follows Attempt At Arrest

EUGENE, Oregon, Aug. 29. (AP)—With two officers shot dead and two others wounded in a prolonged attempt to arrest a suspected moonshiner, a huge armed posse today invaded the dense woods near Marcola, pursuing Ray Sutherland, 67, alleged killer.
Oscar Duley, Eugene policeman, and Joe Saunders, deputy game warden, were fatally shot attempting to arrest Sutherland's son, Baude, the latter when he was stalking the elder Sutherland.

Final service of a series of union meetings during the summer by four Protestant churches of Midland will be held Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the Methodist church. The Rev. George P. Brown, pastor of the First Baptist church, just returned from a vacation to points in Georgia will preach.
Special music has been arranged, and the service is expected to be one of the most powerful of the series. Excellent crowds have attended the services at the Christian, Presbyterian and Baptist auditoriums when the Reverends Boone, Peters and Murphy preached; and it is believed that church attendance in general in the community has been increased through holding the union services.

BEEN IN SESSION ALL WEEK

Payne Haggard When Interviewed By Midland Man

AMARILLO, Aug. 29. (CP)—A. D. Payne, confessed inventor of a bomb which killed his wife, was formally indicted for murder by the Potter county grand jury which ended its long session at 12:30 o'clock today.

A true bill was returned in open court before Judge Henry Bishop. The grand jury had been in session since Monday. District Attorney E. W. Thomerson indicated that he would ask that the trial date be set for late in September.

With Payne's 20,000 word confession in their hands since Monday afternoon with instructions from Judge Bishop to investigate the bombing case first, the indictment had been expected at each hour of adjournment.

Local Man Interviews

R. C. Hankins, city editor of The Reporter-Telegram, working this week on the Amarillo Globe-News to gather experience in the methods used by larger dailies, tells of his interview with A. D. Payne, confessed bomb slayer of his wife at Amarillo recently. The letter is not the story written from the interview, but merely the city editor's personal reaction to impressions of the prisoner. The letter follows:
I went with Harry Montgomery to the jail, after first passing through a committee composed of everyone from District Attorney Thomerson down to commissioners and sheriff! I went to the jail and got the very thing I'd secretly wanted ever since reading of the bombing case.

Payne was not taciturn, neither was he what one would describe as committal. He was talking in the cell with his brother, a gray-haired man of dignity, and who showed plainly the disillusion that comes as an outcropping to a sensitive man who finds that a relative he loves is not only not what he had always thought, but is a criminal.
Painful Eyes
Payne himself had the furtive eyes of a trapped animal. It does not lie within the rights of one who is not a psychiatrist to say a man is insane or not, but I would not shut my eyes and toss a coin before making myself convinced about the matter; Payne showed early that afternoon (Monday) that he was normal at least he was abnormally so. No man is able to

THAT "FIRST POT SHOT"

Referring to The Reporter-Telegram's editorial of Tuesday concerning the announcement of the proposed Texas and Pacific Northern railway as "the first pot shot from close range" and "the first dissenting voice," The Big Spring Daily Herald editor, our good friend Wendell Bedichek, more familiarly known as "Beddy," finds plenty of material for his "Home Town Talk" column Wednesday.

The Herald editor, however, gives us too much credit. The editorial, written before any official action could have been taken by Midland, was purely an expression of the newspaper and did not necessarily represent any community opinion.

Suggestions that a better route would be for the Santa Fe to build through Midland, connecting the Santa Fe lines terminating at Seagraves and Sterling City, were likewise no suggestions from the Santa Fe.

If, after this editorial, any material for a fight to bring a north and south railroad through Midland had presented itself, The Daily Herald is assured that The Reporter-Telegram would have burned the printers' ink until somebody had come out on top; but falling in blinging out such material, and finding the leading minds around Midland rather concurring in the opinion that Midland has no sound claim to a protest, and that Big Spring is to be congratulated upon her splendid good fortune, The Reporter-Telegram gladly joins in the hand shaking.

Although as yet no official action has been taken by Midland, it is likely that Big Spring will find this neighbor-city one of the strongest allies in an organized fight to get permission for the new T. & P. line. Surely, Midland has no desire to protest as new railroad for Big Spring just to keep Big Spring from getting it, although if Midland appeared to have any likelihood of getting the line, Midland would be foolish not to fight for herself.

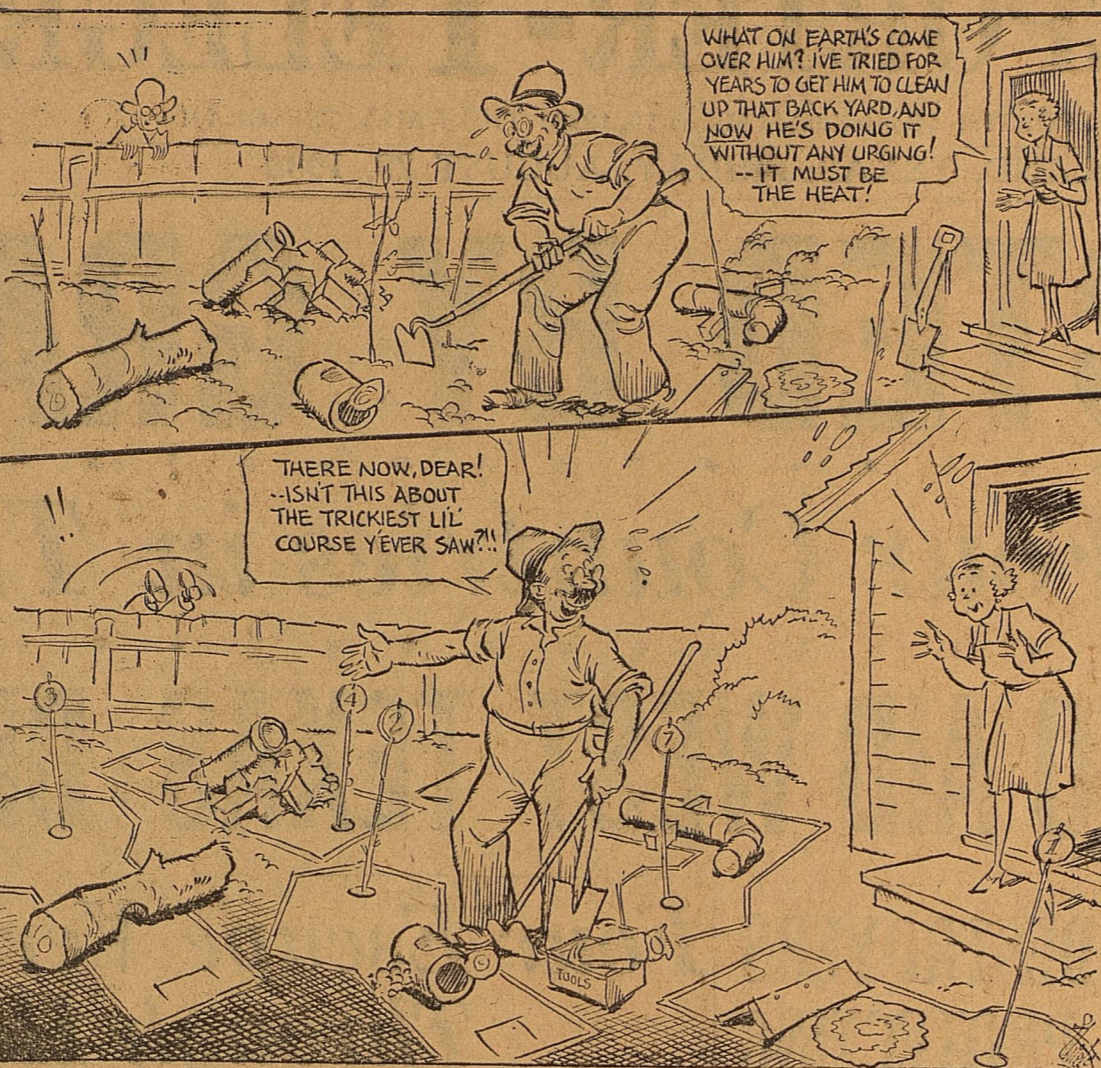

We might even refer Editor Bedichek to newspaper reports from Oressa relative to a fight planned by that city to secure the north and south line through that city, argument which was advanced by Midland on her own behalf six years ago, and so on through the years.

However, in extending our belated, but not insincere, congratulations to Big Spring and to the Herald editor, we want to reprint the "Home Town Talk's" comment on the Midland editorial.

The fight is forming; the lines are being drawn. Now is the time for all good Big Spring folks to come to the aid of their own interests, you might say.

The first pot shot from close range aimed at the Texas & Pacific Northern's application to build a great railroad through a great country comes from the editor of the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

Yessir! Perhaps This Craze for Miniature Golf'll Have Benefits

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

Now That Mr. Huston Is Out of the Republicans' Skeleton Closet, It's Safe for the Party Propagandists to Start Hurling a Verbal Barrage at the Democrats' Mr. Raskob

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29. — Mr. John J. Raskob is going to be the big issue of the fall election campaigns — if the Republicans have anything to say about it.

The party in power expects to make Mr. Raskob a very effective target. As long as Mr. Huston was the Republican chairman his party wasn't in any position to say anything about the other party's chairman. But now the lid is off and the fun begins. The Republican theory is that if they yell "Raskob!" often enough they will save themselves a lot of votes that might otherwise go Democratic.

Mr. Raskob decided after the 1928 election to step into the background and allow Mr. J. J. Shouse, as chairman of the party's executive committee, to take over active direction. Nevertheless, the Shouse job and the Democratic publicity campaign were Mr. Raskob's ideas, and it was Mr. Raskob who produced the money without which these ideas could never have been realized. The G. O. P. will try to picture Mr. Raskob as the malevolent old Mephistopheles who sits behind the screen and insidiously pulls the strings.

The great war of publicity being waged by the two parties takes one back to the pre-Civil War period when political parties kept able journalists as editors of partisan newspapers in Washington to fight their battles for them. Each party has hired an able newspaperman to fire off its propaganda barrages and recently interest in Washington was heightened as these two gents took to shooting their wads at each other and each other's methods.

The Democratic publicity chief is Charlie Michelson, former correspondent of the New York World, yourself so constantly, you know. I've had it right on the tip of my tongue several times but it didn't come out. I haven't even mentioned it to my wife.

You know one of the compensations of the life of the editor of any newspaper is to get a "big story" ahead of the others. When it's the editor of a paper of The Herald's size getting a big story ahead of all the other papers of the state, from the smallest to the largest, it's a kick.

Thanks to Mr. Somerville and the exceedingly pleasant relations this paper holds with the T. & P. officials The Herald was able to notify the Associated Press first of the T. & P. application and the first news of it broadcast to the nation was dated "Big Spring, Texas."

Back to Midland's case. Here is the lead editorial from Tuesday's edition of the Midland Reporter-Telegram:

IS THE TERRITORY SERVED? News carried in this paper yesterday of a proposal by the Texas & Pacific Railway company to construct a new line, 333 miles long, from Big Spring north through Lamesa, Brownfield, Lubbock, Dimmitt, Hereford, Vega and Amarillo was on the surface something for all T. & P. towns to crow about. On the other hand, all T. & P. towns besides Big Spring may well take time to check over the news. Midland, for instance, would hardly receive any benefit.

They're Living on Borrowed Time!

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 29.—If aviation's famous Caterpillar Club had a formal organization, the 95th pursuit squadron of the army air corps, stationed at Rockwell Field here, would undoubtedly be known as the club's strongest subdivision.

No fewer than 11 officers and men on the pursuit squadron's roster are "living on borrowed time," as the flyers say—they are alive today only because they used their parachutes when disaster overtook them in mid-air. All have jumped for their lives within the past two years.

The tales they tell are among the most hair-raising aviation can offer.

Dives Through 64 Planes Below Him

A year ago last May, for instance, two planes collided over Norton Field, Columbus, O. One pilot was killed. The other—Lieutenant A. F. Salter, of the 95th pursuit squadron, was not. Salter prepared to jump, with his parachute soaked by gasoline.

But he dared not open his chute. Below him in the air, were 64 planes. If he used the chute it would drop him among them and he would be killed by their propellers.

Two Escape After Crash in Mid-Air

Lieutenant A. S. Merrifield and Lieutenant J. D. Kreysler were practicing combat maneuvers last May. Their planes collided 4500 feet above the earth while each was going 120 miles an hour. Despite the terrific force of this impact both men escaped alive, floating down in their parachutes. Their chutes opened at 3000 feet.

Lieutenant R. W. Gaetz was doing a slow roll at 3000 feet when his safety belt broke a year ago. His plane was upside down. He fell out, head foremost, pulled his rip-cord and came down safely.

The commander of the squadron—living on borrowed time, like the others. Last April his plane went into an outside spin 800 feet off the ground. He cut his belt, pulled his rip-cord, was thrown clear of the whirling propeller, and came down by parachute, all in the space of 800 feet.

Lieutenant P. B. Balfour was sailing 800 feet above the ground in a seven-ship formation last fall when a cadet flyer crashed into his ship from the rear, the propeller destroyed the tail of his plane. Balfour came down unhurt in his chute. The cadet was killed.

Cheats Death By Leap in Dark

Youngest of the Rockwell Field Caterpillars is Lieutenant E. P. Kiesling. While a cadet at Kelly Field he got lost on a cross-country night flight, and his gasoline gave out. Unable to find an emergency landing field when he dropped flares, he "baled out" and came down 3200 feet to safety, landing right beside a barbed wire fence. His plane hit the ground, took fire and was destroyed.

The four enlisted men who have joined the Caterpillars are Corporal W. L. Green and Private M. E. Stokes, P. V. Lockwood and T. Wasilevich. They were over Fresno, Calif., in a big transport plane when the propeller of the right motor gave way. This set up such a strong vibration that the left motor began to fly to pieces. The four men jumped as fast as they could, and the lack of their weight enabled the pilot to glide the plane to a safe landing. All escaped without a scratch.

Hold Record as Caterpillar Unit

These men don't have to read thriller magazines—they make their own thrills. In fact, it is probable that there is no aerial experience that some member of the squadron has not undergone. There has been everything from being tossed out of an inverted plane while flying upside down, by the breaking of a safety belt, to diving through a sea of whirling propellers with their knife-like blades.

From available records, this squadron holds the world mark for forced jumps from disabled planes. It is said to have by far the largest representation of any United States unit in the Caterpillar Club—that mythical organization of aviators whose members have saved their lives by parachute jumps—and probably the largest representation of any unit in the world.

All of them, as flying men say, "are living on borrowed time."

Considerably less than one percent of American men are graduates of a college of any kind.

SPeAKS TO COLLEGE GRADs

JACKSONVILLE, Tex. (UP).—Henry Edwards, prominent citizen and journalist of Tyler, was the principal speaker at the closing exercises of Lon Morris college summer school. The moral issues of modern life formed the basis of the address, delivered in the college auditorium.

Nineteen candidates were announced for the Associate in Arts degree, bringing the total number of graduates of the college department to over 100 for the year. Among those receiving honors in scholarship were Mary Frances Wherry of Tennessee Colony, Oreta Bigger of Tencha, Virgil McClure of Malakoff, Thursia Lee Rider of Palestine and Lou Ella Wilkinson of Troup. Dean D. E. Hawk presented the class their degree.

GETTING AIR-MINDED

VIENNA.—Although aviation in Austria has progressed slowly, the past two years have seen it take a firm hold and start to grow. There are now five authorized landing fields in the country, 40 registered Austrian planes and 42 pilots, ten registered companies with flying schedules and eight without flying schedules.

When Harry Haight wrote that letter to the editor, complaining about the two columns and a few inches extra, it took The Star-Telegram to tell what the defeat of Fergusonism and Moodyism meant, the only reason Harry's letter didn't run into the same length was because it was set only one column wide and in smaller type.

I'm still wondering which was the longest and hardest to read, the Star-Telegram editorial or Harry's protest. And if I'm not careful I'll have a column or two written griping about it. I'd better stop right here.

FERTILIZER PROVES WORTH TO FARMERS

LONGVIEW, Tex., Aug. 23 (UP).—Fertilizer has proved its worth in Gregg-co.

A recent farm tour conducted by County Agent Ross McSwain revealed that cotton which was fertilized stands excellent chances to produce a good yield despite the drought. Several farmers who used fertilizer on a large scale say that with the aid of the recent rainfall their cotton will go beyond expectations.

When drought first began to make its presence evident, some of the fertilized cotton seemed to succumb more quickly to the heat than an unfertilized land. Some of it wilted and foliage looked discouraging.

IRRIGATED COTTON DAMAGED BY PESTS

ELECTRA, Tex., Aug. 23. (UP).—Both boll worm and leaf worm are causing damage to cotton in the Wichita Valley irrigated district southeast of Electra, according to reports from farmers who were in town this week.

Hot winds had already cut short the bumper crop expected in the section where plentiful supply of water for irrigation is available and the insect pests are making still further inroads into fields which a month ago were said to have promised more than half a bale to the acre.

YOUNG-LOOKING DAREDEVILS, AREN'T THEY?

Here are seven officers of the army's 95th pursuit squadron who have escaped almost certain death within the past two years by making emergency parachute jumps which, with similar feats by four enlisted men, is said to constitute a record for one unit. Every one of these men owes his life today to one of those thin, silken bubbles, floating downward from a disabled plane, and the sketches show how some of the most dangerous of these leaps came to be made.

What to Expect From Hose!

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN Author of "The Shopping Book" Written for NEA Service

Silk hose are sometimes made of a fabric which has been woven, cut and seamed up. They do not "run" as knitted hose will but, on the other hand, they do not give, and they will get holes easily as a result. There is also a glove silk fabric which is knitted in the piece and cut and seamed.

Rayon is less elastic than silk and therefore does not conform as well to the shape of the foot. It should never be rubbed in washing as it loses its strength when wet. When these defects are overcome, a very important future may await rayon in this field.

Of cotton hose, lisle is the best quality. It is made of a fine, hard-twisted yarn. A mixture of cotton and wool may be more satisfactory than pure wool because it shrinks less. It also reduces the cost of the fabric, enabling the customer of limited means to obtain a warm stocking at a low price. Pure wool is widely used for outdoor wear and is, of course, the warmest stocking.

GREEN GLOVES

For formal evening wear, the latest gloves are an off-white in a soft delicate green tone. They blend nicely with all colors and are decadently exotic looking.

Overcrowding the refrigerator prevents circulation of cool air and cuts down its efficiency.

MODERNISTIC MANNER

You can get original design and very unusual color combinations of color if, instead of painting a hanging book shelf one tone you pour on five or six colors, letting them blend and run together. It is entirely up to chance what kind of a design you get but it is apt to be a fascinating picture, whatever it is.

Lettuce or other salad greens may be crisped in very cold water containing a little vinegar or lemon.

TEXON HORSES HERE FOR GAMES WITH POLO TEAM

Twenty-four well groomed and fleet looking ponies belonging to the Texon polo team have been unloaded, and are being limbered up by trainers at Cowboy Park for the games with Midland Sunday and Monday.

Midland polo men say the Texon horses are fine animals and have every appearance of being able to work with the riders for a fast series of games here.

The Midland players themselves are now better mounted than at any time since polo was taken up here three years ago, and those who see the games Sunday and Monday will find some blooded horses in action.

"SONG OF WEST" ALL COLOR FILM SHOWING AT THE RITZ

It was only the middle of last week that hundreds of local theatre patrons witnessed the screen version of the all color operetta, "Song of the West," which proved to be one of the most pleasing pictures of recent date.

Following its success, the Ritz announces the showing Sunday and Monday or another all color operetta, "Rainbow," Vincent Youmans, author of such notable operettas as "Hit the Deck," "Rio Rita" and "Louisiana Lou," is also author of "Song of the West." Among the song numbers to be heard in the picture are, "I Like You as You Are," "The One Girl," "I Want a Man," "The Bride Was Dressed in White," "Along the Covered Wagon Trail," "John Barleycorn," "Come Back to Me," "Song of the West," "My Mother Told Me Not to Trust a Soldier," and many others.

The story takes you from Fort Independence across the two thousand miles trek to stormy California in the gold rush days. The spirit of pioneering is caught up in the gorgeous songs of harmony which lends a background of dazzling color to the rugged adventure and strange romance. Hundreds of people appear in the cast. Although a tremendous drama forms the theme of the thrilling story, the comedy element is also an outstanding feature of the colorful spectacle. Joe E. Brown and his mule "Cleopatra," keep the laughs evened up with the thrills and dramatic incidents, even though there were no other humor in the picture according to reports from those who have seen the production. "Emperors of Harmony," the sensational negro quartet who made such a hit with their negro plantation songs in "On With the Show" add many stirring and comical touches to the picture appear-

Underworld Arsenal Uncovered in New York

A gangland arsenal, equipped with enough weapons for a fair-sized war, is pictured above after it had been seized by detectives in Brooklyn, N. Y. The array of underworld fighting material—more formidable than any uncovered in New York police history—includes bombs powerful enough to destroy a large building, hand grenades, machine gun stocks, tear gas and fountain pen pistols. Steel vests for wear by gang gunmen are shown in the lower part of the picture. Detective Alexander McConeghey (at right) was one of the three officers who discovered the nest of munitions after they had trailed to the scene a sedan belonging to the wife of Jack (Legs) Diamond, notorious gangster. Three men and a woman were arrested.

Payne reiterated his desire to be executed speedily. "It would be better," he said, "and the (his) relatives could forget the details of the tragedy faster."

Montgomery asked concerning Payne's belief in capital punishment, asking whether it really punished the criminal upon which it might be inflicted. At the right moment, while a group of possibly 18 prisoners was marched through his cell, iron collars on their necks, he smiled and said:

"My defense attorney seems to think so." He indicated by a sweeping gesture the men marching through his cell. "And he tries to convince me that is better—or would be better." Once while referring to the incident of the prisoners marching through he laughed aloud.

That was the only interview given after the arrest, as far as I could learn. Immediately after he signed his confession implicating himself, newspapermen did get to see him for a brief time, but Montgomery and I got to him one hour before Thomerson put the cap on interviews (except for letting a psychologist of Canyon Teachers college get material from him which might not be used against him through the professor appearing later as a witness.)

Mistaken Identity This fellow C. E. Hankins who persists in staying lost—just as soon as I was introduced to District Judge Bishop I thought he was going to give me a French salute. The district attorney, in whose office we were at the moment, lifted his eyebrows as though he had just joined cause of action in a most important case. The answer to the notice I was getting was found in the judge's acknowledgment of the introduction:

"So you are alive!" I ask you what would one answer in such a case.

His next words showed what he was thinking: "So you are the Plainview man?" But I was not the Plainview man and pretty soon I was in the judge's court and saw him give me a baleful glance as I dropped a newspaper on the floor while he was instructing the grand jury that had just been accepted.

The courtesy of public officials here is striking. Montgomery, on the courthouse and jail run, meets nothing but the most considerate aid every time he asks a question of the police. The sheriff shows him everything, tells him everything. He had been attacked the night before by an insane person, but the News did not carry the story because a brother of the poor man is an influential Amarillo citizen.
