BULLETIN

The most horrible air tragedy in the history of lighter than air craft resulted Saturday when the R-101, pride of the British air fleet, fell in flames near Beauvais, France, carrying 46 members of the crew and passenger list to death.

Lord Thompson, British air minister, was among the 46. Seven men were saved.

An explosion is thought to have scattered flame to the inflated gas bags in the great dirigible, the largest ever constructed.

The tragedy ranks with that of the lost Dixmude and of the blasted Shenandoah.

The craft was the next one to be turned out after the famous R-100.

MIDLAND'S BIG OPPORTUNITY

A year ago a few Midland physicians and surgeons, attending the meeting of the West Texas Medical society, landed for Midland the 1930 convention. This, in itself, was an achievement and indeed an honor to the city.

Midland's resources, including cattle, oil, cotton, industries and citizenship are usually pointed out to the visitors in the welcoming address.

One of these, however, must be self evident and that is the resource of citizenship, in reality the greatest asset Midland has. But unless Midland citizens demonstrate this resource in concrete form the visitors will not be impressed.

On Monday night, a banquet is being given at which Midland people are playing host to the visitors. These visitors are not only the leading doctors of West Texas but included in the group are some of the outstanding physicians, surgeons and specialists of America.

Failure of Midland people to respond to this opportunity of fraternizing with the visiting medics would be disastrous. It was largely through efforts of a few people that the convention was brought here, but it is the duty and privilege of every citizen to be on the greeting committee. Tickets are on sale at all drug stores. Men and women are invited and should respond to the occasion and make reservations without delay.

PREVENTION IS CHEAPEST

Fire Prevention Week, as a national custom, has become one of the most important events observed by American people. The week has been set aside, not as a time for observance of methods of keeping down fires, but as an educational reminder that such methods should be observed every day in the year.

Prevention of fire is one of the most economical acts that can be done. In Midland, for instance, it is far cheaper to pay annual fire insurance premiums as protection, than to do everything possible to prevent fires than it is to allow blazes to occur. The fewer the fires, the cheaper the insurance rate in any city; and no fire loss is really covered by insurance.

Prevention of fire means prevention of loss of life and injuries, and efforts directed in this way are humane. Poster contests, such as are being fostered in Midland schools by the fire prevention committee, are going a long way toward education in cutting down fire losses, and deserve commendation.

Midland should enter wholeheartedly into the work of Fire Prevention Week which starts today.

The city has first class fire fighting equipment, a well organized volunteer fire department in addition to the paid force; but, without cooperation of the public, the fire department cannot keep losses down as they should be.

Midland has an enviable record, having enjoyed for several years the maximum good fire record credit on fire insurance premiums, granted by the state fire insurance commission because of Midland's low loss ratio as compared to insurance premiums paid in.

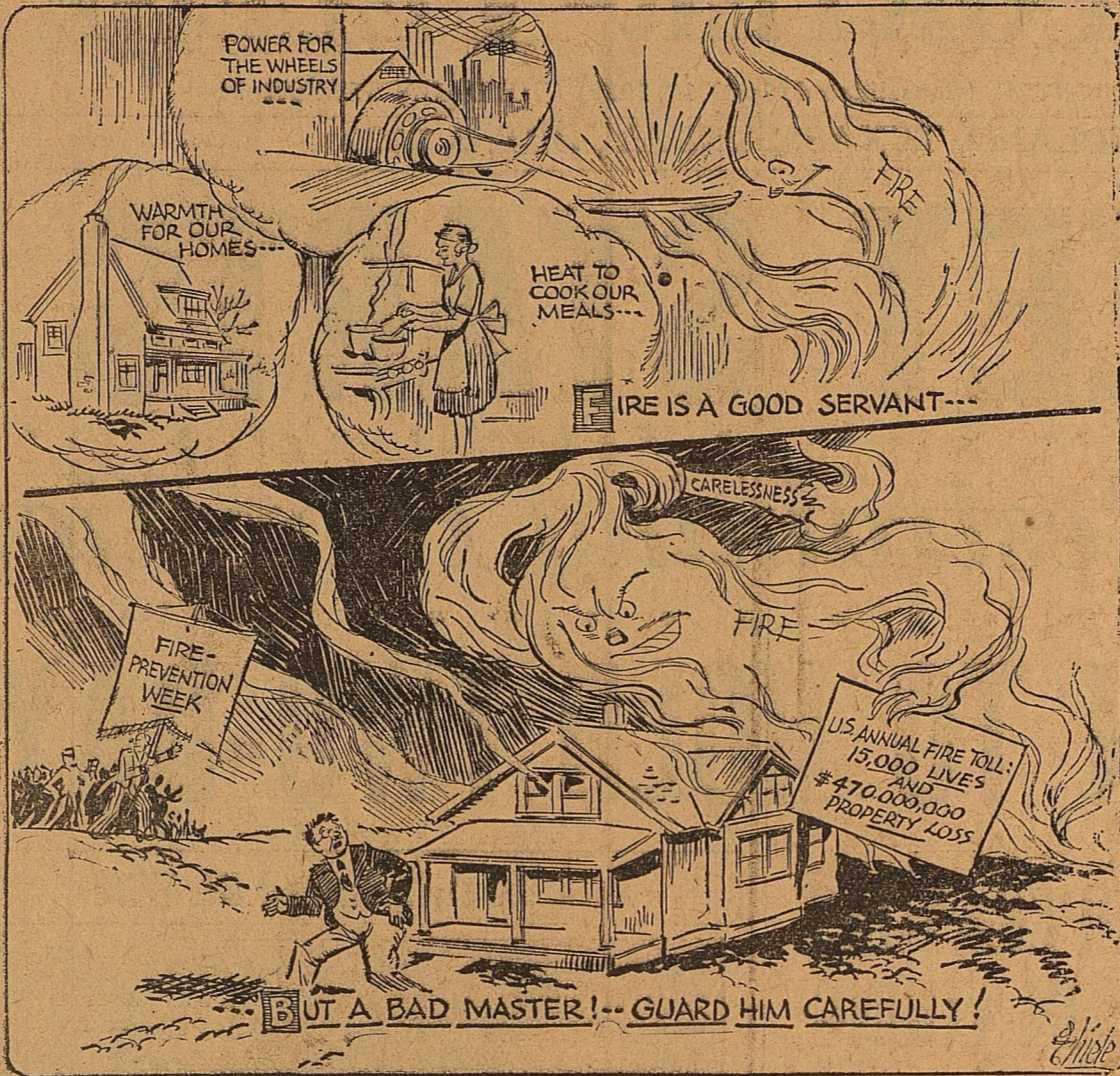

A NEW "SNYDER-GRAY CASE"

It has been several years since Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray, infatuated with one another, conspired to kill Mrs. Snyder's husband and clear the path for their sordid amours. The two were promptly arrested and convicted and in due time they were put to death. It should have been a warning.

But since then we have read of many, many replicas of that crime. The latest comes from Ohio, paralleling the Long Island case almost exactly.

Strange, how perverse human nature can be! People see the crime and imitate it. The swift and dreadful penalty that is exacted seems to worry them not at all.

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

Uniform Small Loan Law, With Its 42 Per Cent Interest Rate, Was Planned to Combat Loan Sharks, but Foes of the Bill Claim This Rate Is Itself "Commercial Cannibalism"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Congress has been asked to give its blessing to a 42 per cent rate of interest on loans to poor people through passage of a bill establishing 3 1-2 per cent a month as the maximum legal rate on loans of $300 or less in the District of Columbia.

This uniform small loan law, which seems to be of especial interest at a time when many persons are broke and borrowing, is sponsored by the American Association of Personal Finance Companies. The law's praises were loudly sung at the association's recent convention here, which was addressed by government officials, state loan supervisors, bankers, a governor, professors, labor leaders and others.

In 25 states, it was explained, small loans companies were doing business under the law, which provides for state licensing and control. The law has the support of the Russell Sage Foundation, based on an extensive survey of the needs of impetuous persons who can't borrow money from banks and the facilities available to them.

Eighty per cent of the population has to employ "with regularity some form of small loan credit," Dr. Julius Klein of the Commerce Department told the convention. A great deal was said about the vicious tactics of loan sharks in states which didn't have the association's pet law and about the need for educating the public as to the high aims and usefulness of money lenders of the class assembled.

Nothing was said about 42 per cent until the People's Legislative Service here busted out with an exclamation of "commercial cannibalism," by which it meant the interest rate permitted by the uniform law and the Bowman bill establishing it for the District of Columbia. The Bowman bill was reported favorably by a House subcommittee after hearings last May.

Then was revealed a wide difference of opinion about the benefits of the law. One group holds that it checks the loan sharks who would be charging from 100 to 240 per cent interest and that 3 1-2 per cent a month is quite reasonable when applied to small personal loans. The other contends that such a rate is outrageous and that any money lender who exacts it is himself in the loan shark class.

Leon Henderson, director of the Russell Sage Foundation's department of remedial loans, is the most conspicuous individual advocate of the proposal legislation. He presents figures to show that 3 1-2 per cent is justified by the cost of doing business in small loans and by the necessity of attracting capital to the business if poor people are to be able to get them. He regards the bill as a philanthropic proposal.

"At different times they have attempted in this country to put the legal rate all the way from 6 per cent to 60 per cent," he says. "But the question is what rate will supply the capital because people are going to have loans. Last year we had about $2,500,000,000 loaned in this country in sums of $300 or less and about $1,500,000,000 was borrowed at an average cost to the borrower of about 30 per cent and the other billion at a minimum of 180 per cent."

La Guardia Leads Attack
Congressman La Guardia of New York, Hull of Wisconsin and the late Lampert of Wisconsin have been the most vigorous critics of the Bowman bill.

"You will never get through an inhuman, thieving proposition of this kind, 42 per cent interest, and then pretend that it is a bill to wipe out loan sharks, an eleemosynary measure to help the poor people," La Guardia told Henderson at the hearing.

Lampert called the bill "a vicious, damnable method for blood-money gatherers to legally pilfer the pockets of the poor."

Enemies of the bill call the Association of Personal Finance Companies the "Loan Shark Trust," and point out that the government lends hundreds of millions to railroad magnates at 6 per cent, to shipping magnates at 3 1-2 per cent, to foreign governments at 4 per cent or less and to farmers at 6 to 8 per cent legal interest.

The People's Legislative Service says the "movement for 42 per cent interest on small loans slipped badly in 1929."

"Seven states turned it down cold. In 13 state legislatures (all that met) efforts were made to repeal the laws allowing it. . . . Four states did lower the rate."

CREDIT IS SOMETHING YOU CAN'T BUY

There is one thing I have never been able to figure out, and that is why a man, who having been extended credit by a merchant, and when owing that merchant, will go to another merchant or another town and pay cash for merchandise, when he could have bought and paid cash to the merchant who favored him when he didn't have the cash.

I asked a man who did this for an explanation. At first he said he didn't know, then admitted he was afraid the man he owed would think he should pay the $20.00 on the bill instead of buying more, and he wanted what he had bought. Such an attitude is wrong, it isn't fair to the merchant or the debtor.

Credit is something you can't buy. You have to earn it and a man with good credit has something as valuable as money and should be guarded the same as money.

The credit of the people of a community is an important factor, when it comes to industrial extension, much more so than many people realize. How the people of a community pay their bills is an item often seriously considered by industry in considering a town for location of a factory.

Not long ago a representative of an organization of negotiators told me a certain town was rejected as possible location for a factory with an annual payroll of six figures, by

Medics Honor Midland by Coming to City; Now City Is to Honor Physicians

The coming of the West Texas Medical society to Midland Monday and Tuesday has a greater significance than the casual resident is apt to notice. A convention may be a convention—or it may be vital testament to a given quality in a town.

It is the quality of this city that Midland would believe caused the medics to turn their steps this direction. There was little upon which to base an alternative. The invitation was made before the house by a Midland physician and it was immediately decided to come here.

There are several larger towns in West Texas than Midland but few of them so modern as to compete with Midland in caring for a convention.

On Monday night, Midland shows the medics that they are welcome. A banquet is to be given in the ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer. Tickets were placed on sale last week and will be sold until noon Monday. It is up to Midland to take every ticket offered, those in charge of the campaign say, thereby attesting to the appreciation the city feels at being honored by the society's convention. It is felt that at least 100 residents should be present.

Some of the most noted doctors in Texas will be present at the convention. These physicians will discuss medical subjects that should be intensely interesting locally, and therefore of much value.

Committees will meet the medics at the depot and entertain them while in Midland. Louie Arrington is chairman of the welcoming committee Monday, John Bonner Tuesday.

one of his clients because the records for a period of several years showed the native residents to be poor pay. This client, he said, made it a policy that all employees must pay their bills promptly and an employee sued was equal to discharge, therefore the client would not consider that town.

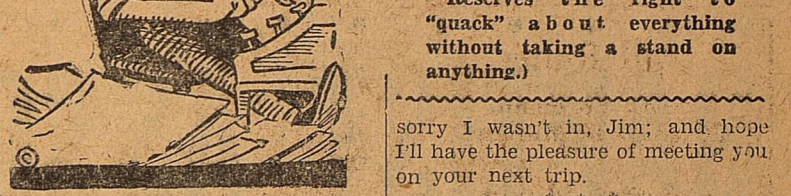

This country has been built up on credit, but there are many communities that are being torn down by it, because some people take advantage of it.

To have a good, live town, you must have up-to-date snappy stores, and no merchant can have the kind of stores you would like to trade in if his capital is tied up in slow accounts.

Owing a man money is nothing to be ashamed of, in fact it is a credit to you. You should be ashamed however, if you can pay what you owe and don't or owing one merchant spend your cash money with some other merchant.

sorry I wasn't in, Jim; and hope I'll have the pleasure of meeting you on your next trip.

Jim said he learned more about what Aubrey Legg really does around here through the Quack column than through Aubrey's official reports.

Here are some of the guesses that have come in on the identity of the mustached fellow whose picture appeared in this column yesterday. Hy Pratt, Dr. Ryan, Chas. Chaplin Jr., C. Hankins, Fred Brown, Donald Hunt.

Since taking it upon myself to investigate strangers, I have run into some funny situations. While I was watching a fat man who had two bulging and leaking suit cases the other day, he became frantic and started out of town, hoofing it down the highway. Now I don't want to put people to such inconvenience, but I do believe in checking up. At the bottom of this column is a picture of me and the man who became frightened when I looked him over too closely.

Those were the days when the livery stable did a good business. A sign on a post where livery buggies were driven out bore the following warning: Whip light. Drive slow. Pay Cash before you go.

Jim Edwards, advertising manager of the Texas Electric Service company, was here from Port Worth Friday evening. I hear that he made a special trip around to The Reporter-Telegram office to get acquainted with the Town Quack. I'm

FIND OLD SKELETON

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (UP). — Archaeologists from the Rochester Museum or Art and Science have begun extensive excavations on the farm of Roger P. Clark at Willow Point, near here, following the discovery of a 1500 year old skeleton believed to be that of an Indian of the third Algonkian period. In addition to the skeleton, a large pot with impressed designs and fragments of other crockery were unearthed, leading to the belief that further excavation might reveal relics ranking with the most important archaeological finds in the state.

HOUSTON FIGHTS FOR HER RIGHTS IN SOUTHLAND

HOUSTON, Oct. 4. (AP).—Defending its claim that Houston is the second city in the south in population, the local chamber of commerce will intervene in a suit filed on behalf of Atlanta, Ga., against the director, W. M. Steuart, to officially designate the population of Atlanta at 360,629, instead of 270,367. The Houston chamber contends that the larger figure is not applicable to Atlanta since it includes persons allegedly residing in a large area not actually within the city limits proper except by act of the Georgia legislature. Commenting on the decision to intervene, President R. C. Kuldell of the Houston organization said: "The claims of Atlanta are fast becoming a matter of national ridicule. While we have none but the most friendly feelings for Atlanta, at the same time we do not countenance such methods as her officials uphold in a futile grasp for second place. "It seems much to Houston to be called the second city of the south. Her rise to second place proved one of the great surprises in the national census. Houstonians should not for a moment condone efforts to defraud her of that position through political boundary fixing."

District Federation President Greeted Midland Club Women

Mrs. Greenleaf Fisk Speaks on Work Of State and District Organizations to Large Group at Scharbauer Saturday

With the keynote of her address the opportunity for service of the present day federation woman by assisting the state and district organizations in realizing their objectives, Mrs. Greenleaf Fisk, president of the Sixth District of the Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke to a large group of Midland women in the ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer yesterday afternoon.

At noon yesterday, Mrs. Fisk was honoree at a lovely appointed noon luncheon in the dining room of the hotel, with members of the executive committee and delegates from several study clubs as hostesses.

Compares Women

Turning the pages of history back to the general Federation of Women's clubs, Mrs. Fisk compared the woman of today with the woman of the last century in club work. She told of how the pioneer women became tired of their quiet life and banded together in a small way for self culture and self improvement.

Education of the woman and how it has broadened her life and vision were spoken of as among the most important changes during the past decade. "Education has made woman a useful citizen," said Mrs. Fisk.

Objectives adopted by the state's president, Mrs. E. F. Lindsay, when she was elected last year, were classified by Mrs. Fisk as beautification, extensive health programs, need of clean women in high schools, general federation programs and aided subscriptions to the Texas Federation News, the official organ of the organization. The greatest objective of the state at the present time is the completion of the building headquarters at the state capital, said the speaker.

District Objectives

Goals which the districts are reaching include the scholarships for Sul Ross students and the payment of dues in order that the clubs may receive recognition at the state meeting in Houston this fall.

Closing remarks by the visitor were of encouragement to the local federation and wishing them the reality of a service chain linking them with the state, nation and the world.

Dr. Ryan, city health officer, spoke to the women preceding Mrs. Fisk, on infantile paralysis, its dangers and the best precautions to observe.

Musical selections presented by Midland fine arts instructors at the afternoon program were given by Mrs. Marion F. Peters, soloist, and Mr. Wallace Wimberly, pianist.

Luncheon for Visitor

The dining room at the Scharbauer was beautifully appointed with masses of roses and ferns which outlined the tables. Members of the executive board who met to honor Mrs. Fisk, found their places marked with colorful rose cards.

Mrs. John Haley, president of the club, presided at the table, and Mrs. Paul T. Vickers introduced the guest.

Those attending were: Mmes. J. L. Crump, Harry Tolbert, A. J. Gates, J. M. White, John Haley, F. F. Elkin, Paul T. Vickers, C. M. Goldsmith, Harvey Sloan, J. D. Young, Homer Rowe, T. D. Murphy, M. B. Embroidering the Facts of Fashion

Embroidery returns to the scene of chic via Paris. On a white satin evening skirt (left) Patou places a georgette tunic blouse almost entirely embroidered in pearls; note the long sleeves. The cape of an evening ensemble (center) shows the same embroidery as the dress, emphasizing the downward movement of the cut. Another formal ensemble (right) from Patou reveals a modernized version of the use of embroidery as a trimming; the pattern is carried out in tubes and pailletes in silver and crystal, combined with very pale gold and copper threads on dead white crepe Billitis.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 4. RECALLS TIME WHEN STANTON WAS NOT SO HARD TO BEAT AS PRESENT

Midland has not always had so much trouble in winning football games from Stanton, if what a Stanton man remembers of the old times is borne out in the charts.

"Say, ain't that Jim Harrison over there checkin' them plays on the chart?" a tall fellow asked of a Reporter-Telegram staff writer at the Stanton game Friday.

"Yep, that's the boy."

"Well, I just wanted to be sure, I haven't seen him since about twenty, I guess it was. That reminds me, we use to have more trouble with your boys than Stanton is havin' over the last three year."

"Seein' Jim out there reminds me of somethin', Midland was over to Stanton to play us. They beat us bad—sixty-three to nothin'. Jim was doin' all the kickin' that day and booted nine straight extra points after Midland touchdowns.

"But the funny thing about it was, that I went over to Midland about the next week and saw somethin' I have remembered ever since. Jim booted two more points after touchdowns and then, because Pecos had substituted their ball in the last half and the oval looked more like a banana than a football, Jim missed one. And the Midland coach got riled and hot and bothered cause Jim couldn't kick more'n eleven goals in a row!"

Fryar made 4 over the line. Burris made 3 through the line. Midkiff made 3 over left tackle, making first down for Midland. Burris hit the line for 3, but Midland drew a 15-yard penalty for holding. White punted to Henson on the latter's 35-yard line, where Henson fumbled and Midland recovered. Burris was thrown for a 3-yard loss on the first play. Burris failed to gain at the line. White punted out on Stanton's 7-yard line.

Henson made 7 through the line. On the next play, Henson punted to Burris on Stanton's 40-yard line and Burris returned the ball 15 yards.

Fryar made 4 through the line. Fryar made 3 more yards through the line. Hallman hit the line for a yard gain. Fryar hit the line for 3 yards and first down for Midland. Burris failed to gain at the line. Hallman made 2 over left tackle. A backward pass, Fryar to Burris, was good for one yard, and the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter

On the first down of the fourth quarter, White attempted a field goal which was short and to the left.

Stanton took the ball on the Stanton 20-yard line and punted to Burris on Midland's 41-yard line. Burris ran 15 yards before being downed.

Fryar made a yard through the line. Fryar added one more yard through the line, but Midland drew a 15-yard penalty for holding. A backward pass from Fryar to Burris was completed but with no gain. White punted to Epley on Stanton's 35-yard line, and Epley was thrown for a two-yard loss on the first play. Henson made 2 around the end, then punted over Midland's goal line.

Starting on their 20-yard line, the Bulldogs started a march with Midkiff making 6 yards through the line. Fryar added 3 yards through the line. Fryar made 3 yards over right tackle for first down. A short pass from Burris to Johnson was good for 4 yards. Burris made 4 yards around end. Fryar made 2 yards through the line. Midkiff hit

COLORADO TO PLAY IN STADIUM ON NEXT FRIDAY

Fighting stubbornly, the Stanton Buffaloes maintained the two-year-old jinx over Midland Friday, holding the purple and gold Bulldogs to a scoreless tie.

Despite paper talk, which gave Midland a potential margin of three touchdowns over the Stanton team, the Midland eleven threatened to score only once during the whole afternoon, and that by a place kick. In fact, the game was far from being the fight session expected, both clubs punting frequently. A check of the chart shows that the two teams played almost equally in the other's territory. Stanton showing a slight edge during the first half, and Midland led the last two periods.

The Midland game might be summed up as a medley of short gains, poor timing, line leakage, straight-up charging, incorrect blocking, illegal holding and a few other general ineffective failures to play the brand of football the Bulldogs are capable of displaying.

Team Is Sluggish

On the other hand, the Stanton game was something like this: fight every minute for offensive formation that should have been battered into the consistency of pancake dough; fight from defensive formation that found the forward wall sadly out of position; timing of sorts that allowed Stanton backs at intervals to run through yawning holes in the Midland line, to be pulled down helatly by the Bulldog secondary defense. And, apparently, an irrefutable fact, the whole Stanton club playing slightly over its head all afternoon.

There is no doubt but that the Midland team was sluggish. The club could not run its signal drill well last week, because of injuries from the 53-18 win over El Paso's Austin high game the week before. But the principal factor lacking in the Midland offense and defense was fight. The Doggies simply didn't have it in any distinguishable form—unless one excepts Booth's going down under punts, or possibly White's getting off of some fine punts. This latter showing was lessened, however, when the man booted one clear through the low hanging clouds for less than a yard gain one time when the wind was in his teeth.

Stanton Is Jinx

For the third successive year, Midland has been touted as stronger than Stanton—and four three years the results have stood out salub against the figures envisioned. Three years ago the result was a scoreless tie. Last year the Buffaloes came to Midland and went places and did things, chief of which was to float a 15-0 win on the tired purple and gold tie. The scoreless tie of Friday makes the aspect assume proportions not easily reconciled to the known strength of the district champions, and is causing a definite draft towards a sentiment that places the weaker Stanton team as an ogre on a pedestal.

Whether over-confidence was responsible for Midland's failure to get going is not known. Certainly there was no confidence expressed by Head Coach Barry to his men during the week. A more patent weakness seemed to be failure of the whole club to take the game seriously, to fight.

the line for 2 yards and a first down. Hallman was thrown for a 3-yard loss and Fryar hit the line to regain it. White punted to Henson on Stanton's 34-yard line.

Stanton fumbled on the first play and received a 15-yard penalty for holding, and gained 6 yards of it back on the second down. Henson punted out of bounds on Midland's 42-yard line.

Midkiff hit the line for 7 yards. Burris added 7 yards on a cut-back play for first down. Burris was thrown for a yard loss as the game ended.

Summary of game: First downs—Midland 7, Stanton 2. Passes attempted—Midland 5, Stanton 2. Fasses completed—Midland 4, Stanton 1. Passes intercepted—Stanton 1. Yardage gained from scrimmage—Midland 130, Stanton 70. Total yardage gained—Midland 197, Stanton 75. Punts—Midland 10 times for an average of 33.7, Stanton 9 times for an average of 33.6. Loss of yardage from scrimmage—Midland 27, Stanton 29.

Officials—Big Jim Cantrell (TCU) referee; Moore (A. & M.) umpire; Sims (Baylor) head linesman. Time of periods: 12 minutes.

Likely to Come Back

It is generally believed, however, by those who saw the game—and there was a mob present—that Midland is stronger by far than the club that beat Marfa last year for the district championship. The Barry charges are just as fast, have more beef and, by all rights, should be smarter. It is apparent that the club will have to be better general than it was in the Friday game, when several bad mistakes were made by the quarter. It is generally believed that the coach will fall back on Fryar to call the plays in the future. He is a cool, husky young fellow who thinks fast and who should be in the line-up as much as possible—for he is fast and can gain with the best of them. Parker is a great little fighter and ball totter, but slightly hot headed to call signals. He wants to be in there, not planning.

That Midland will come back and display its entire strength seems to be a foregone conclusion. For the last three years the eleven has been slow in starting, but has ended the season in a convincing manner. That Midland, with all its sluggishness and lack of machine-like synchronizing, made more than twice the yardage of the Stanton team, out-punting and out-passing that aggregation as well, makes it appear that, once the infusion of fight is felt, the club will run through the other teams of the district for a winning average.

But a tie game is a half-loss in the column of averages—and the club is going to do what it is going to do in a hurry, or sooner.

The lineups:

Midland	Position	Stanton
Johnson	le	Henson
White	lt	Smith
Fleenor	lg	Eubanks
Finnell	c	Metcalfe
Foster	rg	Hogue
Booth	rt	Blocker
McCall	re	Whitson

Burris	lh	Sale
Midkiff	rh	M. Henson

Substitutions: Sherrod for Pinnell in the second and fourth quarters, Gibow for McCall in the fourth, Fryar for Burris in the second, Fryar for Parker in the fourth.

MICKS KICK LOOSE IN FOURTH FOR 20-14 WIN

The wily Mustangs of SMU lost their most colorful classic since the school was established a few years ago—when they failed to hold the Fighting Micks of Notre Dame Saturday, and took the smaller end of a 20-14 score. It was a great moral victory and an echo of the great one-point loss to the Army last year.

The game was one of the most important in the country, and went a long way towards showing the great strength of the Texas Methodist school's team, hailed as one of the surest bets for the Southwest conference championship. The Mustangs scored first. Notre Dame came back with a 93-yard gallop and another marker. Within a few minutes the Micks pushed over their second touchdown and converted the extra point, making the score 14-7. SMU evened the count, but, in the last quarter, the turning point came suddenly and Notre Dame scored the third touchdown, which proved to be the winning marker.

In the meantime, Texas A. & M. lost an interesting match with the Nebraska Cornhuskers, interesting because Saturday was the first time Dana Bible had been able to beat Matty Bell. The two were old rivals in the Southwest conference, Bell at TCU and Bible at A. & M. Twice did the purple Frogs tie the Aggies in those days and twice they won. The Saturday score was 13-0, and the game was stubbornly contested throughout.

Baylor suffered a 20-7 reversal at the hands of the Purdue Boilermakers, one of the strongest teams in the country. The Baptists' strength cannot be accurately estimated from the game, due to changes in the Purdue line-up, it is believed. Baylor is one of the teams feared in the Southwest conference this year, and may prove a dark horse in the loop.

It was up to Texas university to decide whether a Texas team would win an intersectional tilt over the week-end. In the third inning the Longhorns were hammering away at the Centenary defense, trying to score. The game then was a scoreless tie, both teams steadfastly plunging twice and then punting, and neither getting much advantage in yardage gained. Texas beat this club last year, 20-0, in Austin.

Greece has begun an extensive public work program, including water supply, drainage, reclamation and irrigation projects and road construction for the economic development of the country.

RAIN REPORTED OVER GREAT AREA OF THE STATE

DALLAS, Oct. 4. (AP).—Virtually all parts of Texas shared what in some districts was the most appreciable rain fall in months Friday night and Saturday.

Rainfall in Midland Friday was 29 inch. Rains to the west were reported as heavy nearly to El Paso, with intermittent showers to other directions.

Girl Buys Car for 99 Cents at Sale

Miss Pearl Jones probably buys butter at two cents a pound with a dozen eggs thrown in, so lucky is she.

Saturday evening she bought an automobile at the Scruggs Buick company for 99 cents. Yes, you read it right—one cent less than a dollar.

It all happened after a sales address by Harry G. Little, sales promotion manager of the El Paso zone. There was a contest among nine persons for determination of the one who should throw down the 99 pennies and drive the automobile home, and Miss Jones was that one.

The car was bought in connection with the big used car sale being made by the motor company.

Letters to The Quack

R. F. D., 1 Midland, Tex., Oct. 4, 1930.

Town Quack, City. Dear Quack: Having some rhubarb to sell, I was thinking of advertising it in your paper until I noticed last night that a store had two ads in the paper and on the front page you referred to the store and misspelled and misnamed the style of the firm-name so I decided that advertising in your paper did not pay since both of your force overlooked this mistake indicating that you all don't even read the ads yourselves.

I don't imagine the proprietor of that store noticed the error as he very seldom pays any attention to a thing like that.

Mr. Quack, could you recommend your advertising to sell rhubarb? If so, here's the check.

Yours, ANXIOUS ANNIE.
P. S. I believe that man with the moustache in your column last night was Mr. Iley Pratten of Haas' store, A.A.

Angelo Publisher Tells of Britain

LONDON, Oct. 3. (P).—Houston Harte, West Texas publisher studied conditions in Great Britain for a month this summer and even probed the question of the security of the British throne.

Nobody, the San Angelo man found, could conceive of England without a royal family. Monarchy is an invaluable bond of Empire, holding together under the Union Jack the heterogeneous family of nations of all climes, races and colors. The Prince of Wales is Britain's greatest ambassador of good will. The entire reigning family of Windsors serve their country with such intense devotion that the throne is impregnable.

The government, and Harte found this meant the labor government too, staunchly supports the monarchy. Royalty handles the social side of government. Prime Minister MacDonald and his colleagues are left alone at their offices. Royalty attends the functions and holds the courts and receptions. Lines of thousands of handshakers to meet the prime minister, such as great President Hoover at the White House, are unknown.

Britain's economic problems were of absorbing interest to Harte. Unemployed number more than 2,000,000 and the "dole," unemployed insurance, is a major political issue. So is the tariff issue, and just now vigorous campaigns are being waged for an empire tariff policy.

Headlines picturing a gloomy future for Britain are daily features of the press. England piled up her great wealth during the hundred years following the Napoleonic wars. Now the nation is living on this capital. On every hand America's growing economic importance is thrust upon the British. Naturally they do not like it.

An empire tariff policy, with tariff walls around the great dominions and the far-flung colonies like the tariff walls around the United States may be one solution of the problem.

The only thing certain is that the United States is getting the blame for the necessity of this action. The slogan of the country seems to be "Buy British Goods."

55 NAMES ON BALLOT

McALLEN, Tex., Oct. 4. (P).—The general election ballot in Hidalgo county will be a long one. Three parties will place candidates in the field and altogether there will be 55 local office seekers.

The parties represented are the democratic republican and "good government" groups.

Coach Barry Says

"That the Bulldogs did not fight Friday was apparent to everyone on the side lines. The team was just as slow and stupid as it was timid. The only thing that was consistently good in our play was the way Booth and the ends got down under White's punts.

"I was as disappointed as any Midland fan and will see to it that the team gets the working over and the panning that it needs but I must say in the interests of the team and clean sports that we are not playing football for the purpose of supporting side line wagers and we do not intend to consider criticism from those who are disappointed solely because they may have lost money on the game.

"All of the defects that the Bulldogs showed Friday can be remedied within two weeks or less. Failure to take practice seriously during the preceding week was really the cause of our poor showing Friday. I believe that I am the only one who knows enough about the blocking assignments on our plays and the relation of one play to another, and the capacity of each man, to really know what was wrong with the team Friday. Not one of those whom I have heard gripe has even come close to diagnosing any of the specific ailments of the Bulldogs, though of course, anyone could tell in a general way that the good old fashioned fight was lacking in every particular.

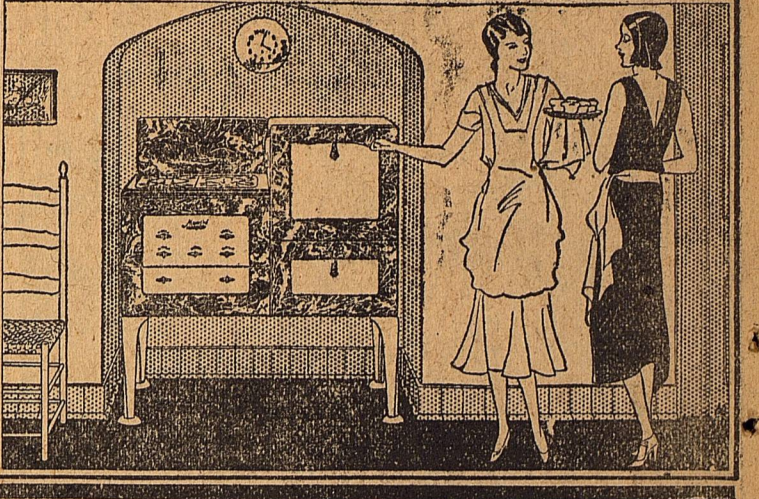

"Stanton fought a beautiful fight and won the admiration and respect of every Midland player. Whatever criticism we make of ourselves, it was by no means a case of our being so rotten, but that Stanton was plenty good. Stanton will not be run over this year and I would not be surprised to see them undefeated in this half of the district."
