San Jacinto Day Feted By Texans

As thousands of Texans marked San Jacinto day on the world's war fronts by fighting anew for freedom, others at home took part in traditional ceremonies.

At Houston the annual commemoration was carried to the battlefield where 108 years ago Gen. Sam Houston and his small army caught Mexico's Santa Anna napping near Buffalo Bayou, and though outnumbered won a decisive victory.

Allied Planes Smash German Communications

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, April 21 (AP)—Allied warplanes, diverted temporarily from assaults on Balkan rail targets, smashed at German communications in Italy yesterday, with U. S. heavy bombers blasting Venice harbor and pounding other targets from Ancona to Trieste.

In all, Allied planes flew more than 2,000 sorties yesterday, destroying 10 German craft for a loss of eight of their own.

On the ground, meanwhile, German troops on the right flank of the Anzio beachhead were observed taking up both their own and Allied mines.

Heavy artillery duels raged again in the Cassino area where patrols also were very active.

Senate Groups Study WPB Plan

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Three senate committees began separate studies today of a War Production Board decision freezing civilian production at present levels in critical labor areas.

Chairman Truman (D-Mo) of the war investigating group instructed Chief Counsel Hugh Fulton to review the WPB action in the light of the committee's recent annual report urging a greater output of civilian goods to prevent the home front economy from "wakening."

With the order under new study by a senate subcommittee considering war contract termination and other legislation to smooth the path for quick conversion of spare facilities to civilian requirements, a small business subcommittee announced a full-fledged public inquiry starting next Tuesday.

Reds Beat Back Powerful Nazi Tank Attacks

German Infantry Also Turned Back By Russian Army

MOSCOW, April 21 (AP)—Powerful German tank and infantry attacks have been beaten back by the Red army near the Estonian border town of Narva and at the foot of the Carpathians more than 800 miles to the south, a Soviet communique announced today.

The German blows were directed against the Russian bridgehead on the west bank of the Narva river southwest of Narva. More than 2,000 Germans were reportedly left dead on the battlefield and many more slain in repeated attacks.

The German-Hungarian counter-offensive at the foot of the Carpathians, first announced by the Russians two days ago, spread yesterday from the east of Stanislavow to the south, where the Red army was credited with hurling back furious attacks.

At least 2,300 Axis troops were killed, the communique said, but the Germans continued nevertheless to exert "relentless pressure on our positions from two sides" and "violent engagements went on throughout the day."

Grim battles were reported continuing in full swing at the outskirts of besieged Sevastopol, meanwhile, and front dispatches said that thousands of Germans and Romanians drowned in the Black Sea as Soviet bombers and torpedo planes kept up hourly attacks against convoys seeking to reach Romanian ports.

The Russians said Bombers attacked two convoys Monday night, sinking a 3,000-ton transport and another of 2,000 tons, and on the following day swooped on two more convoys, sinking a 5,000-ton transport and numerous smaller ships and barges. Axis troops jamming the Sevastopol docks were being pounded by Russian artillery commanding nearby heights, the dispatches added.

Japs Reported Sending Help

SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, April 21 (AP)—With the monsoon less than a month away, the Japanese were reported officially today to be sending reinforcements to the Kohima area in northern India, where a besieged Allied garrison was relieved earlier this week by a column dispatched from Dimapur, 35 miles to the north.

Allied forces, however, were said to be making steady progress in cleaning up roadblocks. The Japanese, who have made several unsuccessful attempts to take Kohima in recent weeks, have lost 400 men in recent fighting around the village, field dispatches said.

At the same time it was disclosed that British and Indian troops had advanced 30 miles northeast of Imphal to a point about 35 miles from Kohima.

Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese forces in Northern Burma, meanwhile, were advancing steadily southward along the east bank of the Mogaung river toward Kamaing, which is about 50 miles west of the important enemy supply base and communications center of Myitkyina.

Jive Jargon Jams Cogs In Judge's Think - Tank

LOS ANGELES, April 21 (AP)—Undecided whether or not a genuine jitterbug can walk out of a spin, Superior Judge Henry M. Willis today took the "jive case" under advisement after four days of testimony about floogie-boos, ickies and hepatics.

Actress Florida Edwards is suing the Hollywood Canteen for $17,250, alleging she fell and injured the base of her spine when a "jive happy" Marine seized her, whirled her around and failed to catch her.

It was jurisprudence in the courtroom and jive in the corridor, where hepatic witnesses waited yesterday to testify.

"They didn't invite me out there," lamented Judge Willis. "Tell me," he asked Louise Squire, "can one walk out of a spin, or can't one?" "Well, I threw Connie Roberts (another witness) three times, and she spun," Miss

Jap Lifelines Are Now Snapping Off

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21 (AP)—The lifelines of the Japanese Pacific empire are stretching and snapping one by one.

That was the way Vice Adm. David W. Bagley, commander of the western sea frontier, today described the trend of events in the Pacific war.

"We have demonstrated our superiority over the Japanese in amphibious warfare," Admiral Bagley told the San Francisco Commonwealth club. "Our maturing experience and offensive power permit broader and bolder operations."

The future of America in the Pacific was at stake, he declared. In the great battle of Midway in June, 1942, he called that "an ultimate testing ground for the Japanese concept of an invasion force, with that force operating under conditions more favorable than ever again are likely to be vouchsafed to our enemies."

Out of the U. S. victory at Midway the admiral concluded, came an axiom of naval warfare—that command of the sea is essential to invasion operations. "Japan most prematurely presumed such command and supremacy at Midway," he said, "and gambled away an empire in an attempted short-cut to conquest."

As a consequence of a subsequent campaign of bleeding the enemy of strength by constant and wearing attrition Admiral Bagley suggested "it is even possible, if improbable, that the imperial fleet may eventually be scuttled to preserve the quaint myth of its invincibility."

He declared: "If the imperial navy makes a stand, it will be annihilated. But if it remains in hiding we shall proceed to new land bases even nearer to the homeland."

Bagley cautioned that "we must not match the enemy's folly in over-extending lines of communication to the breaking point."

But he said we must reach China before we can stage the final assault upon Japan, "and we must reach the Asian mainland without waiting for a fixed base to be completed at every way-point."

He called Truk and Rabaul "only way-points on the long, long road to Tokyo," however formidable an advantage they may be to the contestant possessing them.

Japs Cut Vital Peiping-Hankow Railway Line

Chinese Civilians Face Possibility Of Another Famine

CHUNGKING, April 21 (AP)—A new threat to China, including the possibility of a man-made famine affecting 20,000,000 civilians and hundreds of thousands of soldiers, developed today as strong Japanese forces striking from the west drove across the Peiping-Hankow railway in northern Honan province.

A Chinese army spokesman said the Japanese offensive, embracing between 50,000 and 60,000 troops, was spearheaded by contingents from Manchuria where until now Japan has kept the flower of her army even through the seven years war with China.

The Chinese surmised, the spokesman said, that the Japanese were making a bid to smash the Chinese grip on 150 miles of the Peiping-Hankow railway which would permit the enemy to link his north and central forces in China.

The Japanese are fanning out in three main columns. Aside from seizure of communications, the Japanese were believed bent upon securing the rich wheat crop now ripening in Honan.

The crop is the hope of millions of Chinese who in 1943 suffered the ravages of one of the worst famines in China's long famine history, and who subsequently were afflicted by plagues of locusts and floods.

The spokesman said the present fighting was the most serious since the Japanese were beaten back in the battle of Changteh last year in the drive on Changsha south of the Yangtze.

Price Control Is Successful

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Jesse Jones declared today the price control program has been a success, particularly in aiding thousands of workers, with fixed salaries.

Testifying before the house banking and currency committee, the secretary of commerce said subsidies have had an "immeasurable effect" on persons who have not received pay increases.

"We have things pretty well stabilized now, and I don't know of any new subsidy programs anticipated," he added.

The Texas said it was "not extravagant" to say that the nation has saved $3 to $5 for every $1 spent on subsidies.

He reported from June 7, 1943, to March 25, 1944, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation spent $342,000,000 on meat subsidies and $57,000,000 on butter subsidies. From December 1, 1943, to March 26 he said $4,356,000 was spent on the flour subsidy.

Representative Kean (D-NJ) criticized Jones for authorizing roll-back consumer subsidies, contending they were not authorized by congress.

"When the law was drawn up I don't see how any member of congress could foresee what was going to happen," Jones replied. "Congress gave the president power to declare certain items critical and strategic and use subsidies for them. This authority was used on various materials."

Cologne Battered In Raid RAF Throws 1,100 Aircraft Against Anti-Invasion Hub

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—The RAF threw the crushing weight of 1,100 aircraft into an attack on Cologne, a German anti-invasion transport hub, and three other rail targets in France and Belgium last night with a massive bombardment of perhaps 4,480 short tons.

Only 16 bombers were lost in the tremendous night operations, including a Mosquito followed yesterday's dusk attack on Adolf Hitler's Atlantic wall by a fleet of 750 to 1,000 Flying Fortresses.

An air ministry communique said a great weight of bombs was dropped in the four-ply assault. In less than 72 hours Allied air invasion forces in Britain had sent over 9,000 planes roaring against the European fortress with close to 15,000 mixed tons of explosives.

Today bomber formations, including American Marauders, skipped across the channel, continental radio stations closed down, and Spitfires harassed the military objectives in northern France that were hit by 2,500 tons of explosives by the Americans yesterday.

In addition to Cologne, rail targets hit in the RAF assault last night were Ottignies, 15 miles southeast of Brussels, Lens in the Pas-de-Calais area of France, and La Chappelle on the outskirts of Paris.

The RAF's fleet of minelayers also went out. Beaufighters of the coastal command made a foray against shipping off the Dutch coast, hitting one large escort vessel with a torpedo and damaging two smaller vessels.

The attack on Cologne was described as very heavy. Returning Lancaster crewmen said the bombing was well-concentrated and they could see the glow of fires 200 miles away.

Water Test Being Cleaned From Shot, Others Are Planned

Cleaning out operations were still in progress on the city's test well No. 3 in section 28-30, W&NW, northern Glasscock county, Friday as preparations were made for drilling wells a mile and a half to the northwest in section 22-29, W&NW.

The test which was shot (No. 3) was drilled purposely to define the structure on the incline being sought in that area. It made a fair light producer before shooting and the city was watching to see if the blast would materially affect production.

The No. 4 well in the same section, by far the heaviest producer to date, continued to look as though it had tapped a copious supply. The proposed wells in section 22-4 are up the same draw in which the No. 4 well is located and from them the city hopes to get some idea of the volume of water moving down the formation.

Sailor Writes Parents Of Rescuing Stassen

MADISON, Wis., April 21 (AP)—"We may have rescued the next president," a Wisconsin sailor wrote his parents in a letter describing the rescue at sea of an officer he identified as Lt. Cmdr Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor and republican presidential possibility.

In a letter to his parents, he said: "The other day something happened that I think you might be interested in. Just a few weeks ago we were patrolling in front of one of these islands when someone saw small boat ahead. We came close and noticed that they were having engine trouble. We took the passengers aboard and one of them was Stassen. I've read where he's being wanted as a candidate for president. Well, maybe we saved the next one."

Nation's Press Should Stress Responsibilities

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—President Roy Roberts told the American Society of Newspaper Editors today that the nation's press has talked too much about its "freedom" and too little about its responsibilities.

On that theme Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star, dedicated the twenty-second annual meeting of the society to "responsible journalism" and, in his official report prepared for opening the conference, laid out these three immediate and paramount problems:

Winning the war — since Hitler and the Japanese can hope to avert defeat only by cracking the Allied home front, the first job of American newspapers "is to keep the home front sound, be constructive rather than destructive in criticism, and stand for the one goal of complete victory."

Foreign Policy — Despite differences in details, there are fundamental principles on which all factions can agree, he said, "however the election may come out—only thus can any really democratic government such as ours function in foreign policy."

To guide and to inform the American people sanely and constructively in all the animosities a political campaign naturally will arouse is one of our first duties now," he declared.

Roberts' report opened the two-day program, which was organized to give member editors, of whom more than 250 were in attendance, maximum chance to learn about the war at first hand from the men who are running America's part of it.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Gen. H. H. Arnold, air force commander, were scheduled for an off-the-record luncheon conference today with the Admiral Ernest J. King, navy chief, and Lt. Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, marine commander, slated for a similar session tomorrow noon.

Aged Journal To Be Published

HOUSTON, April 21 (AP)—One hundred and eight years after it was dropped on the battlefield of San Jacinto, the journal of Col. Juan Nepomuceno Almonte, aid to General Santa Anna, will be published in Texas for the first time.

The journal was picked up on the battlefield by Anson Jones, later third president of the Republic of Texas, and sent from Galveston to his friend, James Gordon Bennett, publisher of the New York Herald.

Under the heading, "Singular Disclosure," the Herald printed the journal serially between June 27 and July 1, 1836. The journal then dropped from sight within the bound files of the Herald.

A long hunt by Samuel E. Asbury of Texas A. and M. College, one of Texas' foremost research historians, re-discovered the journal. It will be published by the Texas Historical Society in a forthcoming issue of the Texas and Southwestern Historical Quarterly.

Sellers Seeks Rehearing On Negro Ruling

AUSTIN, April 21 (AP)—Attorney General Grover Sellers of Texas had bid for support of other southern states in seeking a rehearing of the U. S. supreme court decision opening state democratic primary elections to negro participation.

Sellers dispatched a rehearing motion to the tribunal yesterday and sought permission personally to argue it before the court.

"I hope that every southern state filed a 'friend of the court' motion also and asks to be heard," he asserted.

The supreme court on April 3 held that Lonnie E. Smith, Harris county negro, was deprived of his constitutional rights when he was barred from participation in a primary because of color, was to deprive the applicant of his constitutional rights.

Sellers took direct issue in his rehearing motion, asserting among other things that:

Under state law the party may prescribe the qualifications of its members as a privilege of a voluntary association.

Primaries are regulated by state law but the state can not one word with respect to the persons who are entitled to vote in the elections.

The 15th amendment to the federal constitution in no way guarantees the right to vote in a non-governmental election when the denial of such right is the result of action on the part of a private association.

Statutes of the state relate exclusively to the method of voting in a primary and do not touch upon the qualifications of voters.

At a press conference announcement of filing of the rehearing motion, Sellers declared that the court's opinion was so broad that apparently there was no possible device to exclude negroes from party primary elections as long as the state on the general election ballot recognizes the party nominees.

"In view of this opinion, I would not be surprised to see the Jim Crow law go next," Sellers asserted.

Naval Air Transport Makes Daily Runs

SEATTLE, April 21 (AP)—Daily freight and passenger runs from Seattle to Alaska have been in operation by the naval air transport service squadron five for almost two years, the 13th naval district revealed today.

Service was installed in July, 1942. The Japs still were encamped on Kiska Island when the first 8,000-mile round trip to Attu was made, but the Nats pilots simply flew their unarmed cargo planes around them.

Freight cargoes for an average month range from 450,000 to 800,000 pounds, with an average of 170,000 pounds of mail, and 3,500 passengers, mostly military.

Casualties on the run have been extremely rare.

Navy Concentration Equals Dunkerque

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—The Berlin radio said today the American and British navies were massing "the greatest concentration since Dunkerque" in British home waters for the western invasion.

"Troops are leaving London, which is becoming more and more deserted by British, American and Colonial troops," the broadcast said.

"Every day now troop trains are leaving London stations, taking men to channel ports and to ports to the south and east coasts."

The Vichy radio, also broadcasting invasion rumors, declared the main invasion blow from the west would be timed with new Allied assaults in Italy and the Balkans.

News Publisher Indicted By Jury

DETROIT, April 21 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Ed A. Nowack, publisher of a political weekly at Lansing; Mrs. Dorothy Gertrude Martin, former chief clerk of a Lansing ration board, and her husband, Frederick J. Martin, former Lansing theater manager, on charges of conspiring to violate rationing regulations.

They are charged with conspiracy to "transfer and assign" of stolen gasoline coupons.

Named as co-conspirators but not defendants were two Detroiters alleged to have purchased coupons from Mrs. Martin. They are Alfred Belasco, former gasoline station operator, and Howard Bruce, theatrical booking agent.

William G. Fitzpatrick, special assistant U. S. attorney said Nowack now is in Cuba. He said federal agents believed Nowack was responsible for arranging a Detroit market for large numbers of coupons stolen from a Lansing ration board.

Extradition proceedings will be started if necessary, Fitzpatrick said, to return Nowack to face the indictment.

In a separate indictment Mrs. Martin was charged with selling 19,200 C-2 coupons to Belasco for $1,920 at her Lansing apartment the night of March 6, and selling 115,000 B-2 and C-2 coupons to Bruce and Belasco on Feb. 13. Fitzpatrick said the payment for these coupons was approximately $12,000.

An audit of the ration board Mrs. Martin had served as chief clerk since Nov. 1, 1943, was reported to have disclosed a shortage of 407,296 coupons good for 2,036,475 gallons of gasoline.

Nowack is publisher of the Michigan State Digest, political weekly. In 1932 he qualified as a candidate for the republican nomination for governor but withdrew.

Labor Draft Plea Is Bid For Action

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—

The latest army-navy-maritime commission plea for a labor draft is their all-out bid for action by congress which has cold-shouldered the idea for months.

Until now the agencies have emphasized what they considered the "moral" effect of a labor draft, saying it would boost the spirit of workers at home and troops abroad.

Now they soft-pedal the morale angle and stress the manpower shortage created by the army draft, giving figures to show why a labor draft is needed to fill the gap.

Labor has consistently condemned the proposal. So has business. After the three agencies made their big play late yesterday, business still stood firm against a draft.

Some may think the agencies stepped down a peg when they said in a joint statement: "Legislation of universal application is not in our opinion, necessary."

No one ever has said it was. It couldn't be universal in its application. Men in essential jobs would not be drafted for other essential jobs. But the draft would certainly be universal in its implication.

All workers everywhere in non-essential jobs would be subject to such a draft.

Heads of the three agencies called a conference yesterday with some of the most powerful manufacturers and businessmen to hear why they wanted a draft. Then the agencies' public statement was issued.

TO DISCUSS PLANS

They did not explain in that statement what kind of draft they favored or how it would be carried out. Later Senator Austin (R-Vt.), also at the meeting, added a verbal footnote. He said:

"The agency heads endorsed at the meeting the labor draft bill he authored months ago. It has been getting nowhere in congress. That bill takes in all men between 18 and 65, all women between 18 and 50.

The women in that age group would have to register. The men already are registered with selective service. Because of essential occupations or domestic responsibilities, some would be exempt from a labor draft.

The law—if the bill became law—would not be administered by selective service but by specially created boards. Appeals could be taken clear up to the president.

The penalties would be civilian, not military, and would carry a maximum prison term of six months and a $1,000 fine. Trial, of course, would be in court.

Yesterday and Today

Comparatively few people realize how thoroughly the modern Sunday school is organized to take care of every age in Bible study. From the Cradle Roll with its nursery group, and its first teaching class to the Adult department the modern Sunday school makes adequate provision for each of its members.

Of course the Bible is the text book but experts in its interpretation have so arranged the lesson materials as to make its truths available and understandable to each age group. For the little ones simple Bible stories which introduce great Bible characters, and treat of God and His relationship to His world, are presented through pictures and narratives told in child language. For older children character building lessons and passages on how to become a Christian, and the meaning of Church membership are given. For young people and adults ponderous Bible doctrines are considered, calculated to strengthen Christian living, and stimulate the spirit of missions and evangelism in the hearts of church members.

This type of organization also lends itself to a better social arrangement of the Sunday school personnel. Within these age groups a spirit of congeniality is found and developed which is conducive to permanency of fellowship and common interests. Teachers, and officers are specially trained for each age group which guarantees intelligent leadership.

You and your children will find a welcome and a blessing in one of these church schools.

Song Of Bum's Is Echoing Through Subway Tunnels

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Baseball Writer

Brooklyn's perennial spring song, "Leave us go root for the Dodgers, Roger" echoes through the damp tunnels of the BMT subway again today as the Flatbush flock comes home to see what has been making the New York Giants tick and the other clubs change partners and circle around for the second opener.

St. Louis gets its first gander at the unbeaten Browns when they take on the equally spotted Chicago White Sox and the Yankee stadium opens up for the first time this season to present the world champs and Washington, the experts' 1-3 pennant picks. Cleveland entertains Detroit at home and the venerable Connie Mack sends out his A's for home front inspection in a tilt with Boston.

In addition to the Ebbets Field inaugural, other National League "turnout" openers will find St. Louis at Chicago, Cincinnati at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at Boston.

More pitching battles are indicated all along the line although the hitters staged a partial comeback in yesterday's series finales. Despite the boost given by the Giants' 10-8 win over Boston, the records show that an average total of less than six runs per game were scored in the first 20 scheduled tilts.

Early Wynn couldn't have been better if he'd been pitching all summer than he was in blanking the A's with two singles for Washington's 5-0 win. Dick Siebert and Buddy Hall were the Philadelphia "spoilers." The Sene put on a weird base-running exhibition in the fifth when Roberto Ortiz slid into third base on a triple to find Stan Spence waiting for him. Stan had to leave and was tagged.

out in a run down. Sigmund Jakucki, a 31-year-old righthander from Galveston, Texas, who holds an Army medical discharge, broke into the American league win column for the first time by hurling the Browns to an 8-3 edge over Detroit although he allowed nine well-placed hits. Vera Stephens helped him along with a double and single that drove in three.

Fritz Ostermueller was even more liberal than Jakucki but also lasted all the way in pitching Brooklyn to an 8-3 decision over the Phils. The veteran left-hander allowed 18 hits but his mates clawed four Blue Jays for 14, including four by Augie Galan. Fourteen losers were left stranded.

The home run power has been concentrated in the New York Giants who lashed out with circuit clouts by Mel Ott, Joe Medwick and Ernie Lombardi again yesterday in their 10-3 slugfest win over Boston. Medwick had a double and two singles in addition to his homer as the Giants swept the series. Cliff Melton, Mel Ott's pitching nominee, was knocked out in the ninth when the Braves rallied.

Thomas De La Cruz, a stylish Cuban from Havana, did the best hurling job in the National in Cincinnati's 8-1 verdict over Chicago. The rookie who was the mainstay of the Syracuse staff a year ago hooked up with Les Fleming in a tight duel that was broken up by Ray Mueller's smash into left with the bases loaded in the ninth.

St. Louis made it two in a row over Pittsburgh but the Pirates belted Morton Cooper out of the box before succumbing to reliever George Munger, 5-3. First Sacker Ray Sanders' two doubles driving across a pair of runs and Emil Verban's three singles led the Red Birds attack.

Local Teams Are Entered In Meet At Abilene Sat.

Teams from the commercial and physical education departments will carry the Big Spring high school banner into the regional intercollegiate league meet at Abilene Saturday.

The typing team, composed of Celia Westerman, Mary Helen Lomax and Martha Hobbs is conceded a good chance of figuring in the regional contests. Miss Westerman and Miss Lomax finished first and second, respectively, at the district meet in Midland last week and Miss Hobbs was fifth and not far from the top at that. The shorthand team won without opposition and therefore enter the regional meet as a darkhorse. Members are Nina Faye Hill, Adelle Bonner and Charles Partridge. Instructors are Mrs. J. R. Harl and Mrs. A. C. Klover.

One of the chief athletic hopes of John Dibrell, coach, is Kenny Partridge, who specializes in the 100-yard and 200-yard dashes. Kenny won both in the district and is being counted upon heavily to place in the regional. Pee Wee Simmons, most versatile of the tracksters, has been ailing with a sprained ankle, but it has come around. Now well it has mended will determine his chances in the pole vault, and 200-yard low hurdles. Leo Rusak may break into the shot or broad jump placings. He also will toss the discus as will Jay Boyle, whose best bet, however, is in the broad and high jump.

Donald Webb, who improves daily, may break into the mile and Ben Aguerre will run the event also. Hugh Cochran is entered in the 800-yard run and Jim Bob Chaney in the 120-yard high hurdles. If there is a 440-yard relay entry, members will be Partridge, Simmons, Chaney and Rusak.

When the area champions are determined, they will clash in a semi-final for the southern title. Four area champions will compete for the northern championship.

At a central point to be selected, the southern and northern sectional winners will play a second army air force "world series" sometime between August 12 and September 1.

Representatives of the five teams in the Louisiana-Texas-Oklahoma area meet here today to draw up a schedule and playing rules.

A double round-robin schedule will be adopted, giving each team a home-and-home series with one of the other four clubs, of a total of eight games. The area winner will be determined on or before July 28. Opening day was set back a week from the originally planned April 23.

To get the war over and bring our boys home again, we must do as our commander says. And when the war is over, we must become vocal."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
PHILADELPHIA, April 21 (AP) — The usual quota of about 2,000 athletes will turn out for Philadelphia's annual circular celebration, the Penn Relays, next week and Athletic Manager Jim Swartz will have more than usual quota of headaches.

By reinstating races for parochial, junior high and elementary schools, off the program since 1935, Swartz was able to maintain the meet's reputation for size. . . . But Jim has been having a heck of a time trying to learn who will run for some of those navy schools and service teams that get new men every few days. . . . Anyway, it's a tossup whether the spectators of the folks who run the meet are dimmer when it's all over.

It was the start of his 19th season with one club, a mark achieved only by Gabby Hartnett with the Cubs. . . . The Washington Redskins already have an advance sale of $90,000 for the 1944 football season. . . . Joe Labrum, Penn tubthumper, still would like to find a program for the first relays in 1995. . . . "I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men... and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away... either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

Problem To Be Solved

Results of a survey by the Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N. J. for the National Physicians Committee for the Extension of Medical Service are significant on two scores.

They reveal that a big majority of the people are opposed to federalized medicine. They also disclose that an equal majority thought that something could and should be done to make it easier for people to pay doctor and hospital bills.

It is an indictment against our society that millions have, for one reason or another, missed out on all that medical science could have done for them. There must be some way that this condition can be largely overcome. Efforts to pass the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill in congress is ample evidence that if private initiative is not exercised to meet the issue, something will be done to bring medicine within the field of government.

The people want and are entitled to, adequate medical attention. They want to pay legitimate charge for it, and on the basis of the survey mentioned, they favor some plan of pre-payment.

Despite all the righteous screams by the AMA and subsidiary groups over "socialized medicine," the real key to the situation is not in raising a bugaboo over federalized control, but in answering the question of finance for the average fellow. There must be an understanding between the profession and the great bulk of people on this point.

Significant progress in pre-payment has been made in certain medical and hospitalization fields. Business is wisely awakening to the fact that it has a responsibility toward its employees in removing worry about medical expenses. These are hopeful signs and point to one step. There are doubtless others if the profession as well as the people will but search instead of resist ways to bring this vital protection into the hands of even the most humble man without any stigma whatsoever.

Handy Man To Have Around

Before long our farmers will be planting to produce food and fiber in another vital war year. They will be faced with higher production costs, less labor, and an erratic price schedule.

In the face of all this—despite his groans and moments of despair—the farmer will probably come through with his goals if he gets a break on the weather. His work week may not be held within the 40-hour bracket—and he won't get time and a half for that 40-odd extra hours he will put in each week, but he'll get the job done.

His income is not assured, but with ordinary luck he is certain of a living. He's a pretty handy fellow to have around and we hope he does well.

Washington—

Stop-Dewey Movement Next?

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — It isn't easy to convey in words the impact with which Wendell L. Willkie's overwhelming defeat in Wisconsin and withdrawal from the GOP presidential nomination race hit Washington.

Whether we like it or not, the United States has to go about its democratic business of electing a president in this year of global war. Whom it elects and for what reasons may have greater effect on the future than any election in its history.

There was no doubt here that the Republican party was at the crossroads and going into its convention in June with the possibility of branching to the conservative right or the liberal left. There was no doubt either that Willkie represented that left more forcefully than any one on the Republican horizon.

The caliper compass was invented in 1540.

In one swoop, the state of Wisconsin removed Willkie from that horizon. How and why it happened isn't important now. What is important is what effect it is going to have on the coming presidential race.

Early reactions here were confused. Willkie's total defeat and withdrawal caught the most astute political observers here flat-footed. Even leaders of the stop-Willkie movement wouldn't have bet one to ten that the Wisconsin primary would turn out as it did. And if Washington is a cross-section of the country politically that it's supposed to be, the turn of events has left some Republicans as confused as anybody else.

Only three things are clear: 1. Willkie is definitely out of the picture as a presidential nominee. The Stop-Willkie movement has succeeded beyond the wildest dreams of its leaders. 2. Willkie definitely will remain a political influence and whom he campaigns for may be one of the

by DeWitt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

There has been widespread acceptance of the startling thesis that Russia will emerge from the war as dominant power of the eastern hemisphere, and concrete evidence in support of this idea is accumulating as we enter the final stages of the conflict.

One indication of the trend is the manner in which numerous European countries are orienting their policies, in greater or less degree, towards Moscow. This is particularly noticeable in eastern and southeastern Europe, but it's by no means confined to that zone, for we even find France—as represented by the Committee of National Liberation and General De Gaulle in Algiers—going out of its way to make overtures to Russia.

A notable example of this tendency is provided by doughty little Czechoslovakia—early sacrifice on the altar of Hitlerian appeasement. One of the milestones in this trend was the signing of a pact of mutual assistance and post-war cooperation between the Soviet and Czechoslovakia last December. Then in February President Eduard Benes announced that Moscow and his country were working for a Slav alliance, including Poland, to secure peace in eastern Europe.

Pursuant to that we have an article by Dr. Benes in the May issue of Free World magazine in which he emphasizes the Nazi and fascist forces of reaction. The doctor is one of the world's distinguished statesmen and so merits attention when he says:

"I look on this war as an historic action to put a final stop to the pan-German drang nach osten (drive to the east). This war has been a vivid demonstration that there must be friendly and loyal collaboration among Poland, Czechoslovakia and Soviet Russia."

Of course, Dr. Benes' declaration doesn't indicate weakening of the friendship among Czechoslovakia, America and Britain. Indeed, it may fit the truism that world peace depends on cooperation among the big three—America, Britain and Russia. However, the orientation towards Moscow is evident and it will be surprising if, among others, Poland, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Finland and Romania don't follow suit in due course.

more important factors in the November elections.

3. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, whether he likes it or not (and I don't think he does) is now definitely No. 1 on the list as the next GOP presidential nominee. His handwagon already is becoming overloaded.

Some think a segment of the Republican party will now turn its attention to a Stop-Dewey movement, recalling the fishy eye he was given by many at the 1940 convention at the governor's conference at Columbus, Ohio, last summer, and at the GOP postwar conference at Mackinac Island, Mich., a couple of months later.

Willkie's action may unite the Republican party behind the youthful governor of New York state, but there will be a number in the parade who will have little heart in it. Among these will be the isolationists, so-called. Unless Gov. Dewey repudiates statements he has been making on and off the record for several years, he's no more "isolationist" than Sen. Claude Pepper, the "interventionist" torch bearer.

You'd Be Surprised— Funny Little Creature Is Seahorse

By GEORGE STIMPSON

One of the most curious creatures of the deep is the fish known as the seahorse. It has a head like a horse, a tail like a South American spider monkey and a pouch like an opossum.

The seahorse swims in an upright position and glides along slowly through the water by means of rapid wave-like movements of the dorsal fin, which suggests a tiny propeller, revolving in the middle of the fish's back.

This odd fish is unique in having a prehensile tail with which it can anchor itself to moving or fixed objects.

The fish is largely defenseless and depends to a large degree on its resemblance to aquatic vegetation to escape from predatory fishes.

The female deposits her unfertilized eggs in the brood pouch of the male, where they are fertilized and carried until hatched.

The head of the seahorse is bent at right angles to the trunk, a fact, in addition to the long snout, that gives the fish its popular name.

The young are about half an inch in length when "born." Although they are threadlike and transparent, at birth they resemble their parents and do not undergo a metamorphosis.

Seahorses make almost inaudible, snapping sounds that some experts believe serve the purpose of communication.

The covering of their bodies resembles the shells of beetles more than it does the scales of ordinary fishes.

Their eyes are set in their heads in such a way that they can move them independently of one another and look forward and backward at the same time.

These fantastic feeble little creatures are nearly world-wide in their distribution throughout the seven seas.

My personal crying towel, carried on my rounds as a service to thespian friends, is seldom dry.

I had it handy for Hedy Lamarr today, but Hedy wasn't using it. The beautiful lady had stars in her eyes—the light of discovery. "It's like a new world," she said, referring to the Warner Bros. factory where she is presently working, on loan from Hedy's own M-G-M. It is the first time she has been loaned since M-G-M let Walter Wanger make her beauty famous in "Algiers." She is with Paul Henreid and Peter Lorre in "The Conspirators," a story of Europe's underground.

Hedy said it was all so different here, so nice. She picked up a movie trade paper and pointed to

Once Beautiful Mansion Converted Into Home For State Art Museum

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

The huge wrought-iron gate that for 15 years barred the public from more than a fleeting glimpse through the trees of Laguna Gloria is now swung open faithfully every Sunday afternoon and many Texans are taking their first good look at the future home of the state art museum.

The Texas Fine Arts association's plans for the museum are still in the formative stage. Generally, the idea is to establish a museum which will put on exhibition the cream of Texas art and artists from aboriginal to modern days.

While the architecture of the former Sevier mansion is definitely NOT native, everything else about the estate recently deeded outright to the association by Mrs. Clara Driscoll of Corpus Christi is deep-deep Texan.

The 28-acre estate is on the spot where Stephen F. Austin once dreamed of building his home.

When Austin first saw the place it was on a point of land at the confluence of the Colorado river and a small creek, now a sloping peninsula extending into Lake Austin. It is heavily wooded with live oaks, elms, blackjacks and mountain cedar, etc., and only a small part of the grounds have been formally landscaped.

The house itself is somewhat in disrepair, but Mrs. Roger Roberdeau, president of the Texas Fine Arts association, believes that expenditure of a few thousand dollars would put it in perfect condition and adapt it for museum purposes.

The association already has a substantial nest-egg in the fund for re-conditioning the three-story house. When Mrs. Driscoll presented her former home to the association, she also made an outright gift of $5,000 and visitors at Laguna Gloria have volunteered additional gifts. Most of these have come in small amounts, but several substantial checks have been dropped into the plate at the back door of the house, where visitors now enter.

Mrs. Roberdeau hopes that more Texans who would like to see the state's best native art permanently housed and placed on exhibition will NOT only make cash contributions, but let the association know what their ideas are. Just now she is especially interested in tracking down the best examples of aboriginal art — Indian paintings or sculpture—which will have its place in the museum.

"A committee to select the best will be named, and the decision as to what shall be placed in the permanent exhibit will be theirs," said Mrs. Roberdeau.

"In general, the plan is to make this distinctly a Texas museum, with Texas subjects and Texas artists. It will in no sense compete with the Texas Memorial museum since this is to be first of all an art museum, but we do feel that the furnishings, too, should be frankly Texan."

Laguna Gloria, whose gates once guarded the capitol grounds, was once the scene of many a glittering dinner party with the vivacious Mrs. Driscoll, then Mrs. Hal Sevier, as the hostess. Governors, high state and national officials, and many a celebrity have been guests there.

Said Mrs. Driscoll, when she handed over the deed of Laguna Gloria to the fine arts association: "Half my heart went out when I gave it. In the future what I once possessed so proudly will be used for the youth of Texas, something to educate them to preserve the things that are beautiful in life."

"The nicest feature is, he works without Wheaties and I can have his share for breakfast."

You don't need to rivet up a little Frankenstein, just to snatch his Wheaties. There's plenty of those good whole wheat flakes.

And when Wheaties "second-helping" flavor gets to work you'll be glad you can have all your appetite demands.

Pappy Predicts Fourth Term To Be State Goal

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.), back from a visit to his home state, predicted today that most of the Texas delegation to the democratic national convention "will be bought and paid for by the new deal dynasty" to support a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

This will be the position of the state's party leaders, he declared, notwithstanding the fact that the average Texan is "fed up on this unnecessary rationing and regimentation by official Washington."

"It's my guess the Texas delegation to Chicago, the majority of them, will be bought and paid for by the new deal dynasty," O'Daniel said in an interview.

"While they may do some shadow boxing for a while after they get there they'll eventually come up and lick the log."

Commenting on his trip to Texas, he said he "visited people in the stores, barber shops, farms and ranches, people in the homes" and found Texas "willing to make any sacrifice to win the war."

"But they're fed up on this unnecessary rationing and regimentation by the Washington bureaucrats," he continued. "They're just waiting until election time rolls around to get at the only ones they can get at—and that's the elected officials who have permitted this dynasty and bureaucracy to grow up here in Washington."

The nation will hear from Texas this year at the polls. They're going to register their dissatisfaction with conditions on the home-front.

On his trip to the southwest O'Daniel spoke in Oklahoma just before the special second district congressional election there in which W. G. Stigler, a democrat, won over E. O. Clark, a republican. His attack on the Roosevelt administration, which Stigler endorsed, was popularly interpreted as intended to support Clark.

O'Daniel said he had heard that certain democrats were declaring his speeches had drawn out labor votes, that aided in Stigler's victory.

"In the first place I didn't enter into the election contest," he asserted. "I made the same speech I have made in other states."

"In the second place, if something did stir up the labor vote to support the democrat, it only goes to prove the statements I have been making that the labor racketeers are using all their powers to influence elections."

"I'm a democrat. I spoke under auspices of the Jefferson Democratic Club of Muskogee."

Maj. W. E. Turner, public relations officer at the Big Spring Boulevard School, attended a meeting of PROs in the Gulf Coast area Thursday at San Antonio.

Police rushed to a night spot in the north-west part of town at 10 p. m. in response to a report on a dead negro soldier. They found him "dead," but only to the world for he had gone a wee bit too heavy with his cups.

Students from Forsan high school came here to hold their annual dinner here this evening, using the Ray Fuller post VFW home.

Jessie Sneed, negro, paid a $25 fine in city court Friday after entering a plea of guilty to an assault charge. She was booked Sunday evening after her husband, Jim Sneed, was cut in an altercation.

A divorce was granted Friday in 70th district court in the case of J. E. Hendrick versus Etta Hendrick.

Did you wonder why you couldn't get into banks Friday? Not if you were up on Texas history, for it was San Jacinto Day, observed in commemoration of the day when Sam Houston's men, after prolonged retreats, charged Santa Anna's army during the Santa hour at San Jacinto and in one deft stroke won the Texas war for independence.

OPA Informational Visits Here Friday

Arthur V. Bullock, Lubbock, informational specialist for the Lubbock district Office of Price Administration, said here Friday he believed there was a growing understanding by the public of the OPA major objectives in price control and rationing.

This, he indicated, made for more ready administration of the program. Policy of his division, he said, was to work as closely as possible with local people in the dissemination of information, simply to give out information and not to defend any policy or regulation.

In some places, he said, a local individual had assumed responsibility of handling OPA regulations, and in these cases the program appeared to function with more ease.

Troops Going Into Battle Talk About Everything Except War

By WILLIAM L. WORDEN

Substituting For Hal Boyle

ABOARD AN AIRCRAFT CARRIER IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 24 (Delayed) (AP)—On a combat mission, this U. S. aircraft carrier is churning through a flat, starlit sea tonight, but the fighting men aboard are talking about everything except war and women.

This ship is going again into battle, as it has so many times before. Yet on the decks where men gather for a little air before slumber time—in the wardrooms—around the card tables—the men talk about a million peacetime things but not of impending battle.

On the forecastle two junior officers argue about the inventors of television. On the deck above two seamen discuss baseball. In a cabin a junior grade lieutenant, once a Dartmouth football and basketball player, outlines a plan for post-war study of the theories of government.

An ensign, hearing a quotation from a poem disparaging Baltimore, takes exception to it. Another junior grader talks about his home town.

They talk about mechanics, about cities and towns, about athletics, about whiskey, and about getting back to port.

There is little conversation about politics and much less about sex than one might expect.

This ship is a veteran of the Pacific war and many of its men have been away from home and their women for a long time. Pictures of wives and girl friends still stand on decks and lockers. There is no shortage of nudes on bulkheads but distance and infrequent mail have reduced talk about women in general to a surprising minimum.

People ashore, trying to picture an aircraft carrier loaded for action, visualize pilots pacing the ready rooms nervously, mechanics fussing over motors, armurers checking machine guns, frantic laughter as the men prepare for the fight.

That's a dramatic picture but not a true one. There is no more tension than in a club room back in the states.

Group Opposes Draft Of Labor

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—A "try-to-get-it" attitude was the reaction of the house military committee today to a joint army-navy-maritime commission request for labor draft legislation.

The joint recommendation followed by less than five hours the committee's report on draft deferments generally and 4-F's in particular. Briefly, the committee held that existing law was adequate to allow government agencies to force into limited military service 4-F's and men between 38 and 45 who refuse to take jobs in essential industry when jobs are available.

The committee long has opposed compulsory labor legislation and without its backing such legislation cannot reach the house floor.

"We have spoken and we meant what we said," Chairman May (D-Ky.) declared when asked the joint recommendation might persuade the committee to alter its position. "My committee made a report saying we do not need new legislation after hearing heads of the government agencies involved. Just why they should wait until right after we have made our report before they make their recommendation is beyond me. If they have any recommendations for legislation they should come to congress with them."

After warning of a manpower crisis which may imperil the biggest military project in history, the army-navy-maritime announcement said labor draft legislation was urgently needed to keep vital war plants staffed with replacements for workers sent to war. Most of the 1,390,000 men to be taken into the armed service during the rest of this year, the announcement said, "must be drawn from vital industries."

The plan recommended would provide for voluntary recruitment of labor for draft-stricken war plants, and that failing, for resort to the principle of national service.

"That is our judgment. It is based upon facts," said the announcement made jointly by Navy Secretary Knox, War Secretary Stimson and Maritime Commission Chairman Land.
