LADONIA BANK IS ROBBED

$5,000 Taken and an Escape in Car Is Made

LADONIA, July 22. (UP).—Two bandits robbed the Farmers & Merchants bank of $5,000 today. They fled in a Buick sedan which carried an Oklahoma license number 418824, taking Misses Hazel Parvin and Dona Bell Partley. Both were released a short distance out of town.

A. L. Bartley, cashier, W. N. Graves, assistant cashier, and J. R. Farland, director, were made to lie on the floor while the vault was rifled. Graves was forced to assist in collecting the money.

A second bandit fired volleys from a machine gun over the heads of curious citizens who gathered outside.

A posse pursued the bandits and police of Dallas and Greenville were notified.

The robbers overlooked $40,000 in bonds and $500 in currency. Graves said one was disguised by a false scar and other face markings.

Officers Present

Class Plan Sunday

Officers of the Evangelists class who will take part in the presentation of a complete class plan at the First Baptist church Sunday morning are: Mrs. Winston Borum, teacher; Mrs. H. N. Phillips, assistant teacher; Mrs. R. E. Witty, president; Mrs. J. T. Walker, first vice president; Mrs. Mabry Under, vice president; Mrs. Fred Chapman, third vice president; Miss Druella Lord, treasurer; Mrs. H. M. Becherer, secretary; Mrs. C. H. Oliver, class hostess; Mrs. C. E. Pope, choicest; Mrs. O. L. Walton, pianist; Mrs. D. E. Scott, Mrs. George Halton, Mrs. T. E. Neely, C. L. Stanley, Miss Mary Wallace, Mrs. Frank Stubbeman, court captains and Mrs. P. F. Bridgewater, reporter.

Thieves Busy

Over the Night

Petty thieves plied their art last night, a night after pistol shots had been exchanged between property owners and thieves trying to steal automobiles and chickens.

The automobile of B. Fuller was stripped last night of battery, tools and other equipment.

Joe Pyron and Joe D. Chambers left equipment and other effects from their automobiles parked at the playground ball diamond on South Main.

Fuller's car was parked in his garage at 1000 W. Wall.

Younger Set

Goes Juvenile

CHICAGO (UP).—The younger married generation of Chicago's North Shore have taken advantage of the depression to enjoy again the pleasures of childhood.

Mrs. Robert Wales, of Winnetka, has skated on the rink at the station each night to meet her husband, and the couple skate to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert White, carrying out the childhood motif, have turned a spare room in their home into a game room. All chairs and tables have been removed, and the floor is painted to represent a huge backgammon board. Guests sit on cushions, and move the counters around the board with small garden rakes.

William Watkins, of Lake Forest, remembering the itch of the small boy with a knife to do some wood carving, has placed several rough tables in his game room, where guests are invited to carve their initials.

RETURN FROM CLOUDCROFT

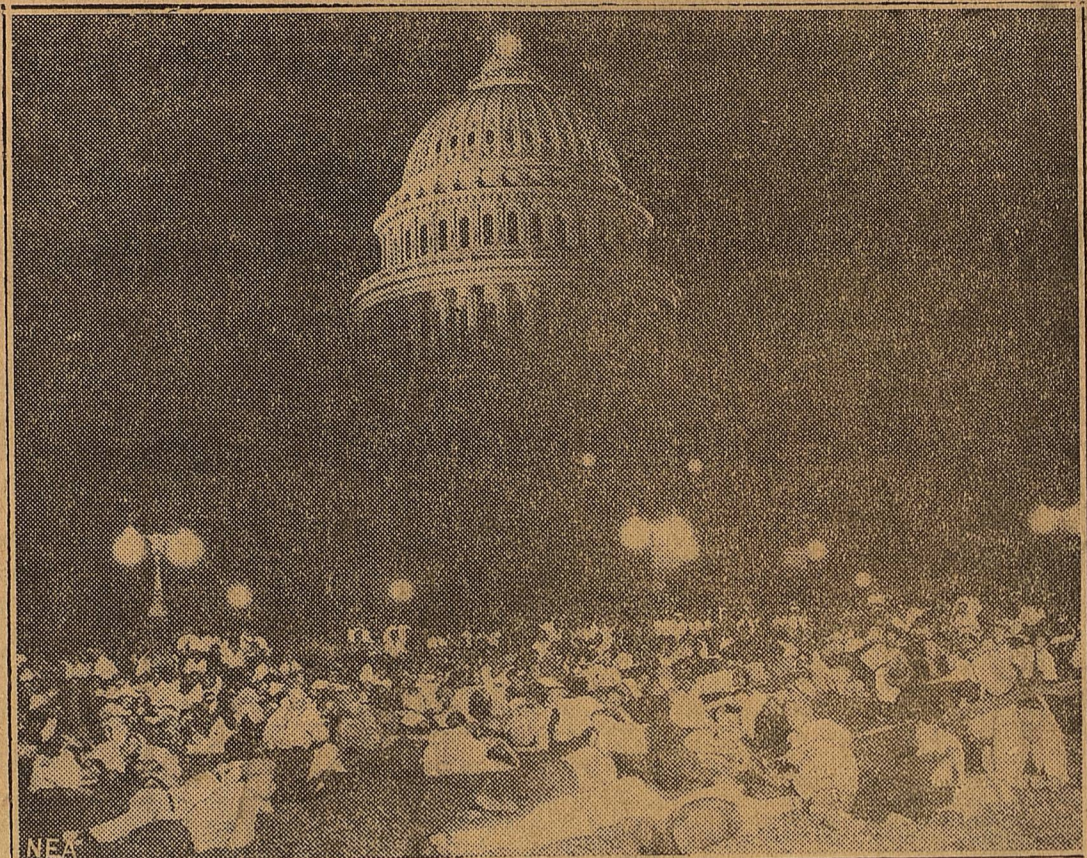

Addison Wadley, Ralph M. Barrow, D. H. Roettger and Harry Tolbert returned last night from Cloudcroft where they spent several days playing golf and enjoying mountain recreation. The "foursome" makes an annual affair of the Cloudcroft trip.

Vote Early, Get Results Sooner

Vote early! That is the plea voiced today by Homer W. Rowe, county democratic chairman, in behalf of election judges and clerks.

The ballot is unusually long," said the chairman. "If half the voters wait until the late evening hours to vote they will throw a terrific strain on the election judges and clerks, and make it impossible to get the ballots counted quickly. It is just as easy for most people to vote early as late. I appeal to voters to go to the polls Saturday as early as possible, so the clerks won't be swamped and get into a jam at the last minute. We all want to know the results as soon as possible, and the sooner we vote the quicker we will know them. Let us all vote early."

OFFICIALS OF ROAD CAMP SAY WHY MOVE MADE

Early work to start on widening State Highway No. 1 through Midland county made employment of extra labor on the highway in Midland, Martin, Reeves, Ector, and Ward unnecessary as has been done in the past few weeks. D. C. O. Wilson, state highway foreman, said in Midland Thursday.

The Midland chamber of commerce consulted with Wilson regarding the discontinuance of the road camp at Midland. Wilson said that when the highway widening started, a big camp would be established if storage ground could be procured. The chamber of commerce Thursday guaranteed the storage ground, which it expects to get without cost.

When Wilson was told of the discontinuance of Midland people about removal of the camp he said that it was likely only temporary and that when the new road was completed, the maintenance camp would likely be re-opened. Contrary to reports, the regular monthly payroll at Midland was about $300, but had been larger lately due to employment of extra labor. This has been stopped in all counties where the road is to be widened, Wilson said.

The two men who were moved from here this week had been transferred here only temporarily, Wilson said, because of the fact that the state had some unexpended funds, which were available for use in extra work on road shoulders.

The highway foreman assured chambers of commerce officials that the new work to start soon, and the probable re-establishment of a maintenance camp, would far more than compensate Midland for the temporary discontinuance of the Midland camp.

The highway foreman expressed appreciation to Midland people for the manner in which they had "about discussing the camp matter."

G. B. Finley, division engineer, Baltimore, said in reply to a chamber of commerce letter to him relative to discontinuance of the Midland camp:

"It was necessary to make some changes in our personnel in that county, and for the time being it was deemed advisable to move the camp from Midland. This change probably is only temporary."

NUTT'S CAR BURNS

Recently when K. E. Nutt, Sr., and K. E. Nutt, Jr., Lovington, N. M. men well known in Midland, were driving in their pasture about a mile and a half from the Hi-Lonesome ranch house, their Chevrolet roadster burst into flames. They had no fire extinguisher, and made an unsuccessful attempt to put out the fire by the car belonged to K. E. Jr., and had been driven about 800 miles and was a total loss. The car was not insured.

RECOVER FROM ILLNESS

Several Midlanders are reported recovering from illness.

Mrs. Leon Goodman, who has had the flu for the past week, was feeling better today. Mrs. O. B. Holt Sr. was taken ill Monday on the return trip from a visit to Baltimore. Mrs. Mattie Donovan, who has been ill for some time, had a partial stroke of paralysis Sunday, and T. S. Paterson, who has been ill in Dallas, has returned to his home here.

RETURN TO MIDLAND

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Watlington have returned from Temple, where they underwent treatment in a sanitarium.

gation—conducted this impressive "all-night siege" before the nation's legislative building. Defying police orders against camping on the Capitol grounds, the veterans chose this means of bringing more forcibly to the attention of Congress their demands for immediate payment of the bonus.

What happened later was so unlike anything that had ever happened before in that spot that your correspondent took quite a few notes. Here are some of them:

A Picnic Without Food

Vets won't be permitted to sleep on the grounds again. Band plays the Pilgrim's Chorus. Boys and girls holding hands on the grass. Kids with velocipedes. It's a picnic, but no food in sight. The vets had a few beans, some stale bread and some coffee for dinner.

Fort Worth (UP).—Still hale and hearty at 88, is the lone Texas survivor of General Nathan B. Forrest's famous Confederate cavalry band.

The yellowed company roll that Lipscomb cherishes recently had a mark down across the name of Washington Stephenson Dallas, who was buried a few weeks ago.

Lipscomb, now vice president of the Grapevine Home bank which he helped organize, is still active and his mind is still keen.

He recalled the stirring days when he followed the famous Confederate leader.

Forrest's escort was gotten up in '62 by Captain Montgomery Little, a boyhood friend of the leader. Felix Molloy was the first man killed, beyond the 800 or 900 of them are soon mingled with a crowd four times as large.

An airplane roars overhead, underneath a round, white moon.

The cops say, monotonously over and over again, "Keep moving. Keep moving. Keep moving."

Comes what is perhaps one of the greatest demonstrations of just "milling around" of all time. The crowd merely circulates among itself. Everybody inches, snuffles, walks, wanders, or wiggles.

GAS BLAST AT ABILENE CLAIMS ONE

Three Others Injured From Accumulated Gas Fumes

ABILENE, July 22.—An explosion of gas which had accumulated under the store floor wrecked the Singer Sewing Machine company at 1025 North Third street Thursday afternoon, bringing death to one Abilene woman and injuring three other people.

Mrs. R. C. Winters, 36, wife of a local attorney and public accountant, succumbed at the West Texas Baptist sanitarium four hours after the blast. The injured are Mrs. Russell Stephens, who is in the hospital suffering from bruises over the body and severe shock, and A. O. O'Dell and Bernice Cundiff, both of whom received slight bruises and cuts about the arms and legs. A fifth person in the building, Mrs. Agnes Wilson, was not hurt.

Felt Over Big Area

Shock of the explosion, which occurred about 3:20 o'clock, was felt throughout the main business district of the city and in parts of the residential section on the north side. The gas apparently had accumulated in a two-foot space between the wooden floor and the pavement. The store did not have a sign, as it is an addition to the main building and the basement did not extend under the addition.

Brother to Rescue

Charles Lehrer, brother to Mrs. Stephens, was the first to reach her. He had picked the woman up and stood to the door before he realized who she was. A pink percale dress caused him to look again at the face of the woman he was carrying.

The woman looked so ghastly I did not recognize Sis or Mrs. Winters, who lives across the street from me," he said. "Three of us boys, standing on the corner of North Third and Cypress streets when the explosion occurred, rushed to the building. One woman was lying on a door frame, in the center and about five feet back from the entrance. We picked her body up and passed it on to others who had come in.

Boards and pieces of timber covered the body of the second woman, whom we thought to be dead. After clearing away the debris I picked up the limp form and started to the door when I noticed the material of her dress was familiar. I had seen it last night to a widow in Montana. The man declined to have his name used, but believes he has tentatively identified the youth.

Two Just Walked In

Mrs. Stephens was placed in an ambulance said she and Mrs. Winters had just entered the office of the Los Angeles Examiner one day this week under the name of "Saves $68,000 for Government on $70,000 job."

He was Lieutenant Thomas J. Kelly, brother of Otis A. Kelly, postal employe of Midland. He was graduated from Annapolis in 1917 and did sea duty aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi.

The Examiner carried the following story, in part:

"Saves $68,000 out of an appropriation of $70,000 is worthy of recognition. Lieutenant Thomas J. Kelly, U. S. N., residing at 1227 East Ocean boulevard, Long Beach, has just received a letter from the secretary of the navy commending him for his 'resourcefulness, ingenuity, and application to duty,' which made the saving possible on an engineering project at the Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 1, Taft, Cal. Engineers in Washington estimated that the work to be done would cost $70,000 and commissioned Lieutenant Kelly to undertake the task. He, who was on duty at the field, saw how the work could be done, obtaining the same results at a cost of less than $2,000 and went ahead and did it. The $68,000 was returned to the treasury. Lieutenant Kelly is assistant petroleum inspector of the naval petroleum reserves in California, with headquarters in Los Angeles."

MAKES VISIT HABITUAL

STOCKTON, Calif. (UP).—Either Louis Ariola, 9, is fond of nurses at the emergency hospital or he is just plain unlucky. His fingers were severely mangled when he dropped a cement bench and was treated at the hospital. He reported to the hospital for two weeks to have his fingers dressed.

TAXI TO THE JAIL

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—He was drunk, and Henry Dean knew it. He reasoned that the best place for a drunken man is in jail. He called a taxi and was driven to the County Jail. He walked in, asked for Sheriff Hackney, and was told the Sheriff wasn't in. Dean insisted he be locked up, so Chief Deputy Seaton Garrett complied with the request.

Big Crowd May See Horse Race

The biggest crowd to gather at Cowboy park for a special race is expected at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon to see the Harry Payne Whitney gelding George Keith, distance horse, race over the three-eighths mile against Billy B. L. E. Cook animal.

Much attention is directed to the race due to the distance being shorter than George Keith normally runs. Billie B. is recognized to be much faster on the start, and is exceptionally fast over short distances.

There will be no cost attached to seeing the race.

Pretty "Snooty" About It, Too!

Even a camel's hair overcoat, of course, would be worth more than $9.98. So don't take that sign hung around Mr. Camel's neck too seriously. A jokester put it there to illustrate the plight of the animals in the Philadelphia Zoo, who may be sold at auction unless funds are raised to care for them.

There have been no recent civic appropriations for the zoo.

UNIDENTIFIED YOUTH IS BURIED HERE THURSDAY

Burial of the dismembered remains of an unidentified white youth, about 18, was made Thursday afternoon from the Ellis mortuary, the Rev. J. A. McCall, pastor of the Church of Christ, officiating.

The boy was killed early Thursday morning when, presumably, he awakened from sleep on the T. & P. right of way and leaped in front of freight engine 650, east bound. No papers or other identification was found. Pictures were taken in the morgue by Duard Scott, Reporter-Telegram staff photographer, and a set of teeth were mailed by an oil man last night to a widow in Montana. The man declined to have his name used, but believes he has tentatively identified the youth.

Kelly's Brother an Officer The Navy Invested Well In

A handsome young naval officer peered out from the front page of the Los Angeles Examiner one day this week under the name of "Saves $68,000 for Government on $70,000 job."

He was Lieutenant Thomas J. Kelly, brother of Otis A. Kelly, postal employe of Midland. He was graduated from Annapolis in 1917 and did sea duty aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi.

The Examiner carried the following story, in part:

"Saves $68,000 out of an appropriation of $70,000 is worthy of recognition. Lieutenant Thomas J. Kelly, U. S. Lieutenant Kelly is assistant petroleum inspector of the naval petroleum reserves in California, with headquarters in Los Angeles."

POLITICAL RALLY

BIG SPRING—Candidates for county offices of this county will complete their canvass with a political rally here Friday night.

The vote this year promises to be a heavy one, there being 3,885 paid poll taxes, 450 exemptions. The absentee vote was the heaviest ever recorded in the history of the county. More enthusiasm is being manifested in the governor's race than any other candidate for state office.

ELECTION PROGRAM

Voting place: American legion hall, basement of court house.

Time of polls: 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Election reports: Broadcast in front of Reporter-Telegram, beginning 7:30 p. m., bulletins every 15 minutes; musical program and amplification through courtesy of Mike Connor and Frank Smith.

Papers containing sample ballot available at Reporter-Telegram.

ELECTION PARTY IS LATER ON

Polls Open at 8 in American Legion Room Here

LONGVIEW, July 22. (UP).—The Longview News-Journal said today it had learned by reliable authority that Rangers will assist in policing Gregg county ballot boxes tomorrow.

The paper said a plan had been discovered which involved the casting of absentee votes in Longview boxes and actual voting Saturday in various precincts.

Suspicion was aroused when it was learned that 1,000 absentee votes were cast in Gregg county. Total voting strength of the county is only 5,000.

The polls for the democratic primary will open Saturday morning at 8 o'clock in the American legion room, basement floor of the court house, according to Homer W. Rowe, democratic county chairman. The polls will close at 7.

Rowe urges that voters cast their Four Midlanders will speak in Odessa. W. H. Pratt will speak for B. Frank Haag, candidate for representative from the 88th district. Haag is campaigning in McCamey today. Leon Goodman will make two speeches, one for Governor Sterling and one for Congressman Ewing Thomason. Duke Kimbrough and Frank Stubbeman, candidates for district attorney, will speak.

ballots as early as possible so that election results may be released quickly.

The Reporter-Telegram will give a big election party beginning at 7:30 in the evening. Arrangements have been made for complete coverage through the Texas Election bureau, which will send telegraph messages every 15 minutes. County, district and precinct votes will be announced as fast as they can be received.

One hundred and seventy-two absentee ballots were cast this year, as opposed to 250 of last election.

Political activity here during the past week has been brisk, and is culminating in a foment of campaigning as candidates buttonhole everyone in sight.

A candidates speaking will be held in Odessa tonight, and Midland district candidates have been invited to take the stump. Leon Goodman has been asked to speak for Governor Sterling and for Congressman Ewing Thomason.

Space in front of The Reporter-Telegram office will be roped off Saturday night so that traffic will not disturb the election party.

Through the courtesy of Mike Connor and Frank Smith, radio amplification will make the broadcast stronger. Records will be played over the system between broadcasts. Two amplifying horns will be angled so as to carry the broadcast to those who park their automobiles on nearby streets.

STATE CANDIDATES CLOSING CAMPAIGN

AUSTIN, July 22.—The first state democratic primary of 1932 was near its end today and approach of the zero hour found candidates for offices, high and low, lambasting opponents in one breath and pleading with voters for their suffrage in the next.

Candidates for governor planned to close their campaign tours tonight.

THOREAU—WILL HIS IDEAS BE ACCEPTED AT LAST?

It is hardly surprising that the celebration recently held at Concord, Mass., in honor of the 115th birthday anniversary of Henry David Thoreau did not attract more attention.

Only a small crowd attended, and news of the event got scant attention outside of Concord. And this, in spite of the fact that Thoreau ranks as one of the greatest thinkers and writers the nation has yet produced, is only natural; for Thoreau preached a doctrine that has a strange sound in the America of today.

Thoreau, as you doubtless remember, went to a little pond on the edge of Walden, built a little cabin there and lived as a sort of hermit. He wanted to prove that most of us spend our lives struggling to get things that don't really do us much good when we get them, and he undertook to prove it, not only by his writings, but by his way of living.

But the nation has got a long way from the "simple life" program as Thoreau saw it. If America two decades before the Civil war was too much engrossed in a frantic effort to get non-essential things and do non-essential deeds, what would you call it today? Thoreau's time was a time of placid leisure by comparison.

Thoreau never lived to see the era of mass-production and mass-distribution, of installment purchasing plans and high-pressure salesmanship, of speeding automobiles and blaring radios. The sworn enemy of the go-getter, he passed from the scene long before the go-getter really came into his own. Perhaps it is just as well. His own age found him a bit freakish; ours has even less time to listen to him.

But it may be that the man's philosophy will yet come into its own. In the last few years we have had abundant cause to wonder if our high-speed society is really getting us anywhere. We are not quite as sure, now, as we were three or four years ago that an ultra-complex civilization is man's noblest achievement.

Sooner or later we are apt to turn back and look for a more easy-going, less hectic way of life—one in which the accumulation of material things counts for less and human happiness bulks larger. And when we do, we shall recognize the greatness of Thoreau.

CONGRESS' RECORD

Congress came in for rather more than its share of criticism during the session just closing. When the session is reviewed dispassionately, it is easy to see that a great deal of hard, important work was accomplished.

The "lame duck" amendment was passed and sent to the states. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was established and the home loan banking proposition was put through. A vast new tax bill was drawn up and put into operation, and a healthy slice was taken out of federal expenditures. A large-scale relief bill was voted.

To be sure, not all of the bills were passed as promptly as they might have been passed. Not all of them were faultless in construction; not all of the important work that faced Congress got accomplished. But judging things in the large, it is clear that Congress did a great deal of work, and did it, in the main, fairly capably.

THE OHIO MOUND-BUILDERS

News that skeletons of six "mound builders" have been found in an Indian mound in Ohio is interesting, in that it gives us a new reason for hoping that more light will be shed on the mysterious race that built the middle west's astounding chain of mounds.

Probably everyone living in the middle west has seen at least one of the works of these pre-Columbian people. They are scattered all the way up and down the Ohio valley, and they lap over into the upper Mississippi basin. Serpentine mounds, rectangular enclosures, pyramidal structures—they are exceedingly abundant, extremely ancient in appearance, and deeply mysterious.

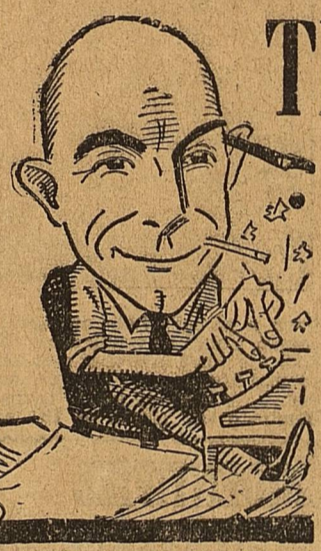

No one knows who built them or what purpose they served. It seems that their builders had a fairly high degree of civilization, and no one with even a passing interest in the American Indian can fail to be stirred by the hope that this new discovery may add a little bit to our knowledge of them.

Andy Northington has become a baseball prognosticator. He predicts the results of games in which the electricians will play, forecasting defeat for the opponents. Anyway, he didn't miss on the news boys' team last night.

I don't know whether the announcement of Aubrey Legg's removal to Eagle Pass will be in this issue or not, but I have been tipped off that he is being transferred to a new and larger job with the Texas Electric, and I hate to see him go. I stand flat footed and make the assertion that there has not been a community worker in Midland since Aubrey moved here who was more ready to do his part and no one did the job better than he did. Any organization with which he was connected could depend upon him to carry more than one man's end of the load, and he was always ready to help the other fellow in a pinch. Eagle Pass (and Piedras Negras) will gain a valuable man when Aubrey moves there next week.

However, it looks good to me to see the company keep a local man on the job instead of sending in another one, badly as we need additional population. Joe Chambers is a good hand and will fit right in with his promotion.

Wasn't that a nice little rain? It was just right to aid crops, pastures, lawns and gardens, where it hit. Let's hope that the showers keep coming until we have had another general rain. A good rain over the whole county right now would make the feed crop, one of the best ever raised in this section. I don't care how high or how cheap feed gets, no farmer or ranchman ever got hurt by having too much of it. If you can't sell it for a profit, you surely can feed it to the stock, and if you don't need it all this year, it may come in mighty handy next year.

L. H. Tiffin was seen in Fred Middleton's Tailor shop this morning looking through the samples. Do you suppose this indicates his intention to buy a pair of pants?

A fellow told me he was paying his electric bill with cash to avoid the tax, but congress beat him to it, placing a tax on electricity as well as checks.

A wisecracker says that in the race between the two candidates for vice president, the old game of cowboy and Indian is being revived.

Russia has barred foreign lipstick, so maybe we haven't been making them red enough.

And the election is hotter than the weather. Down at Palestine they threw fresh eggs at Dan Moody when he was making a speech for Governor Sterling. Dan ducked and it splattered up against Judge B. H. Gardner, just missing the widow of the late Governor T. M. Campbell who was on the platform with a group of other ladies.

There is no excuse for hoodlumism in any form. Every speaker has a right to be heard and those who would interfere with anyone making a public speech on any public question isn't a good citizen or a good anything else. He's just naturally a disturber. The one great right that has been preserved in this country is the privilege of free speech.

Of course the hoodlums hurt their own cause. C. C. Woodson, editor of The Palestine News, has been leading the fight for Ferguson. After the meeting he said:

"The throwing of that egg means that Sterling will carry Johnson county. I give up."

"Will you marry me?" "No." "Why not?" "You've got a face that only a mother could love."

"Did you hear about my inheriting $50,000?" "Well I could become a mother."

A movie actor was in some sort of a lawsuit. He was on the witness stand and in answers to questions he described himself as the world's greatest movie celebrity and said that he was the handsomest man in the history of the world. The jury soaked him right.

After the trial his lawyer jumped all over him. "Why did you make those statements about yourself, you fool?" said the lawyer. "I realized what would happen," replied the actor, "but I was under oath and I just had to tell the truth."

A lady went into a fish store to purchase some fresh fish and the dealer showed her some. "I don't like the looks of them," she said. "If it's looks you want you should buy goldfish," he replied.

DEWARE MAKES COMMON SENSE A MAIN FORTE

BY GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP)—Charles A. Deware of Brenham is making his political debut in campaigning for the four year term as state railroad commissioner in the democratic primary election.

"My greatest asset, I believe, is my common sense," That is Deware's own summary of his life. Deware is a native Texan who looks you squarely in the eye. He was born in Jefferson Marion county. He attended Jefferson high school, and later Allen academy at Bryan before going to Texas A & M. college.

His is in the oil and insurance business at Brenham, the thrifty county seat of Washington county, is married and has two children. He does not profess to come to the voters of the state as a savior or a superman. He engages in no blare of trumpets, and tells no fictional stories of his career.

Instead, he frankly tells the voters in advance that he expects to make mistakes as railroad commissioner. "I will not dodge them, neither will I pass the buck," he said in discussing his expected mistakes.

"I believe any one really trying to serve will make mistakes. It seems that we learn more by mistakes than in any other way. I will try to profit by those of the multitudes who have gone before me so mine may be rare as possible."

Deware makes it plain that if he is elected, he will recognize that he is only one member of a three-man commission. "I expect to respect the opinion of each commissioner, and of every citizen," he said, "while reserving the right to have my own."

Specifically, he views motors as offering a new mode of transportation that has come to stay. He says it will be his object to see that it is fettered with as few rules as possible to keep it properly controlled.

"I believe my first duty is to the public in general," he said, "and if its interest is properly safeguarded, the truck problem will be properly solved. I will not be the representative of any clique, organization or corporation."

He does not live in a fairy tale, so expect no miracles from him, he tells the voters. "I possess no Aladdin's lamp, so will be unable to accomplish the impossible. I do promise that I will not be awed by any dealer showed her some. "I don't like the looks of them," she said. "If it's looks you want you should buy goldfish," he replied.

group, threats of political extinction or propaganda. I will hear all the facts, attempt to separate the wheat from the chaff, and make a simple, common sense decision on problems that come before the commission."

Man Explodes Snake Theory

LONGMONT, Col. (UP)—There is nothing to that old backwoods theory that a rattlesnake will look up the barrel of a rifle until you pull the trigger and blow it into a snake's hereafter, according to "Denver Dick" Griffith.

"Denver Dick" gave a rattler several chances to peek up the barrel of his rifle, recently, but the snake would have none of him. "He looked everywhere but up at the rifle, and every time I pulled the trigger and tried to put a 22 slug in his face, he was looking around admiring the scenery," Dick said. "So I killed him with a rock."

British Planes Fly Chickens

LONDON (UP)—Now that the general human public has grown accustomed to travel by air, the aristocrats of the animal kingdom are taking it up.

Thousands of one-day-old pedigreed chicks, hatched in London, now are having their first square meal in Moscow, transported by fast plane to grow up on Russian poultry farms.

Imperial Airways, which has a special department devoted to this branch of the air service, discloses that its planes also transport hatching eggs, racing pigeons, pedigreed dogs and cats, lions, tigers, bears, monkeys, Zoo specimens of all kinds, and of every citizen," he said, "while reserving the right to have my own."

Specifically, he views motors as offering a new mode of transportation that has come to stay. He says it will be his object to see that it is fettered with as few rules as possible to keep it properly controlled.

"I believe my first duty is to the public in general," he said, "and if its interest is properly safeguarded, the truck problem will be properly solved. I will not be the representative of any clique, organization or corporation."

Church Serves Devote, Dancers

LONDON. (UP)—For three days a week, old St. Mary's church, in Clapham, S. W., is a real church. On the other four days it is a dance hall.

Couples dance up and down the aisle to music supplied by a jazz band in the chancel. Dancers "sit out" in the choir gallery, or are served refreshments in the choir vestry. The vicar's vestry is a dressing room. The why and wherefore of it all is that, for 40 years, the church has housed the local Reform club, which has sublet part of the building to the Clapham Christadelphians. These latter hold the parties.

Absence

By HELEN WELSHIMER

I MISS you so—sometimes when it is evening I play a game, pretending that I hear Your step upon the stair and turn to find you.

YOU do not talk of ships and long adventures That filled the hours while you were away— Your words are sweet with all the old enchantment Of foolish things I've longed to hear you say.

YOU have new roads to travel each tomorrow. And gayer quests, but somewhere you must know I keep a lamp far-shining in my window. In case you come—I miss you, miss you so!

Helpful Health Suggestions

By Martha Bredemeier County Health Nurse

Question: How shall I disinfect thoroughly after contagious illness? Answer: For cleansing articles and rooms that have been used by a person ill from contagious disease use an abundance of hot water and soap and let it in all the air and sunshine possible.

Question: What will make a little boy stop biting his nails? I have tried all sorts of bitter things besides "rewards and punishment." Answer: You might use tincture of asafoetida—its unpleasant odor has been known to break up some stubborn cases.

Question: So much is heard about iodine these days. Where can I find it most in foods? I am not supposed to take it out of a bottle, am I? Answer: Iodine is obtained, not in the form of a drug, but in the food we eat. It has long been agreed that sea foods are highest of all in iodine content.

Question: Is this new-fangled "typhoid" just the same as plain old rabbit fever? What is it like? Answer: Chills and fever, weakness, and frequently an ulcer at the site of the infection are the chief characteristics in the usual type of disease. The germ of the fever is found in the blood or vital organs of the infected animal. The germs enter the human body through a sore or cut on the hand.

Question: Gasoline is excellent for removing gum that has grown attached to a place in a rug or carpet. Precautions should always be taken thoroughly to cook all rabbits or squirrels suspected of any taint of typhoid. Also never prepare for eating a sick animal. Always wear rubber gloves when dressing rabbits or squirrels.

Question: Corn on the cob is more tender if it is plunged in boiling water and not allowed to remain in it more than four minutes. A pinch of sugar as well as salt added to the water, improves the flavor.

Question: Moth balls scattered through the upholstery of furniture will prevent moths from lodging in it during the summer.

Question: More than 25,000 persons in India have died from snake-bites in the past year in spite of treatment given by district dispensaries.

Ocean Flight in Yucca Melodrama

A flight across the ocean is the last word in airplane thrills. The possibility of a tragedy at any instant, and the utter helplessness of a tiny speck of humanity in the middle of the ocean should there be any mechanical failure, serve to maintain the pilot's nervous tension almost at the breaking point, and to raise the feat to a point of high adventure which is not equaled by any other enterprise attempted by man.

All the intimate details of a trans-Atlantic flight are shown in "Scandal for Sale." Universal's sweeping drama playing Sat. at the Yucca theatre with a cast headed by Charles Bickford, Rose Hobart and O'Brien. In this powerful screen play O'Brien accompanied a pilot as a passenger, and when the engine fails in mid-ocean the two men solve the problem in a way to make the audience gasp.

AT YUCCA TODAY James Cagney is at the Yucca today in the fast moving comedy, "Winner Take All," a boxing picture.

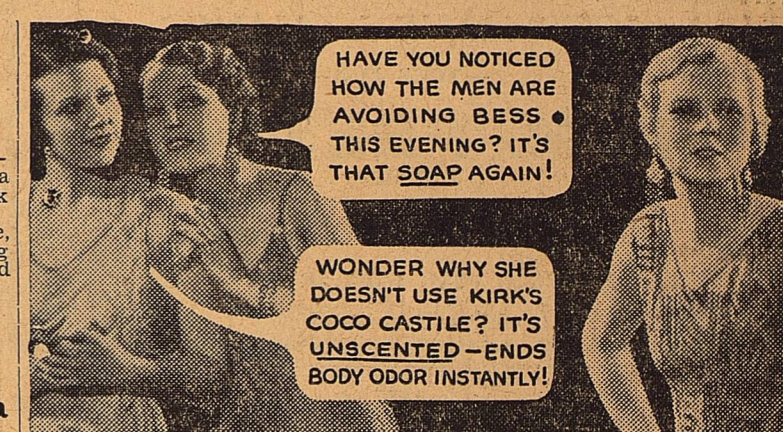

Ronald Colman As Reckless Adventurer

Recklessly adventurous rather than romantic, Ronald Colman comes to the Grand theatre Sunday and Monday in "The Unholy Garden." Samuel Goldwyn's first screen presentation of the year.

For the first time in two years, Colman is no longer the suave polished English gentleman. Instead, he is an outcast and a renegade, hiding out with a dozen other refugees from the law in a strange outpost at the edge of the Sahara. Disheveled and unshaven, hair tousled and clothes mussed, he is a sharp contrast to the immaculately groomed hero of "The Devil to Pay," "Raffles" and "Bulldog Drummond," his earlier pictures for Mr. Goldwyn.

Samuel Goldwyn has procured a commendable cast in support of the star of "The Unholy Garden." It includes Fay Wray, Estelle Taylor, Tully Marshall, Wargn Hymer, Ullric Haupt, Henry Armetta, Kit Guard, Lawrence Grant and Lucille La Verne.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE to the People of Midland County The 88th Legislative District of Texas is composed of 13 counties in West Texas, and they are widely scattered. I have done the major part of my campaigning in counties other than my own. It has been several years since a Midland man has been in the State Legislature, and I have believed that my strongest campaigning belonged in counties other than our own. I have campaigned diligently and earnestly, and have presented myself to the people of the district for election on my own merits. I am asking the people of Midland County to give me a large majority when you go to the polls tomorrow. I am making this request in your interest, and I would not make it if I did not firmly believe that I can represent you at Austin as you would have me do. I shall appreciate every vote cast for me. We believe the people of Midland are fair

Midland, Martin and Ector counties, the extreme east end of the district, have furnished the State Representative for the 88th district for many years.

Pecos, Reeves, Ward, Loving, Winkler, Jeff Davis, Presidio counties, the western majority of the district, have not furnished the representative for many years, but are now asking the people of Martin, Midland, Andrews and Ector counties to be fair and give the western half of the district a chance to furnish the State Representative this time.

We stayed out of the race when Mr. Bryan, Mr. Webb and Mr. Satterwhite, ran for this office. We supported them and did not ask for the Representative. Now, the western portion has increased in population and importance in mutual affairs until it is nothing more than right that we have the Representative this year.

BE FAIR - VOTE FOR WED E. REID OF PECOS COUNTY FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE 88TH DISTRICT

Mr. Reid is not a politician. He is not seeking political preference. He has refused to make a campaign for the office. He has merely agreed to give his time to the people of the district if elected and get into the collar and fight for our rights down at Austin. He will do it. He is capable, honest, trustworthy. Give him a chance. Vote for him and we guarantee you will never regret it.

STRAUGHAN OUTPITCHES GEMMILL AND ESTES KEEPS UP TERRIFIC HITTING; HARDWARE HAS PICNIC

By HERB ROUNTREE

The Texas Electric line, or whatever it is, over The Reporter-Telegram manifested itself more than ever last night, when Andy Northington's club took a 12-6 game from the Newsies. Errors and sharp hitting featured the game, Straughan outpitching Scotty Gemmill and the Electricians getting 14 hits, most of them properly clustered.

Estes again hit for the circuit. Gemmill, wrong for the second time this season, sent Red Snyder into the delivery box during one frame, and came back to the mound refreshed the next inning, but his mates could not hit Straughan and the game slithered along on errors and a tide of Electrician hits.

Midland Hardware romped through another practice session, beating Southwestern Bell 14-3. Bell made nine errors. Last night's games displaced the Newsies from a tie with the leaders, Tesco and Hardware, and dropped the Phenomenon to last place. Two games will be played tonight, Hokus Pokus and Cowden-Epley at 7, United and Petroleum Drug an hour later.

HATCHER USES SLOGANS IN A COMEBACK RACE

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP).—W. Gregory Hatcher, former state treasurer and present candidate for the four year term as state railroad commissioner, has the distinction of having two of his slogans adopted by candidates for the commission. One is using on his campaign literature "A public office is a public trust," an old democratic slogan which Hatcher used in his race for treasurer, coupled with "and shall not be used for private profit." His "Follow the Law" platform of this campaign is used in different phrases by J. J. Jack Patterson, a candidate for the six year commission place.

Hatcher was a candidate for the same place two years ago. At that time he polled 339,878 votes for it and was beaten by former Governor Pat M. Neff, who has since resigned from office to become president of Baylor university. Neff's lead was less than 70,000. Hatcher was state treasurer for six years. He was first elected in the same campaign Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and Attorney General Dan Moody. He disagreed with the governor's office and when he ran for re-election, was opposed by the Ferguson forces.

His platform of three words: "Follow the Law," is probably the shortest enunciated by a state candidate.

Hatcher's residence is in Dallas. During his terms as state treasurer, he lived in Austin, returning to Dallas after that and resuming his law practice.

CULBERSON A NAME LONG IN TEX. POLITICS

By GORDON K. SHEARER

AUSTIN (UP).—The name of Culberson, long famous in Texas politics, is again before the people in the present democratic primary campaign. Olin Culberson, cousin of the late U. S. Senator Charles A. Culberson, is a candidate for state railroad commissioner. His parents were related to General Sam Houston. Olin Culberson is Texas born. He is 45, son of W. A. Culberson, who conducted "Culberson's Select school" at Hillsboro for 35 years. Culberson now is a resident of Jackson county. Before leaving Hill county he became active in political affairs there and served as county clerk and county judge. While county judge, he became president of the County Judges and Commissioners' association, one of the strongest official organizations in the state. For more than 12 years he has been secretary of the State Volunteer Firemen's association, another powerful organization. An ex-service man, he is a member of the American legion and has served upon its state executive committee.

He has become a candidate for what is known as the "short term" of four years. It was made vacant by the resignation of former Governor Pat M. Neff. Governor Ross Sterling named former Mayor E. O. Thompson of Amarillo to serve as Neff's successor until the voters fill it by election. "Prompt dispatch of all business and employment of the most rigid

Big Chandelier Now Installed

NEW YORK (UP).—The world's largest chandelier, 25 feet in diameter, burning 60,000 watts, has been designed and is being built by Foster Gunnison, lighting engineer, for installation in the second largest theatre in Radio City. The fixture weighs three tons and is so large that a special ventilating system has been designed to carry off the intense heat of some 400 flood lights and their special lenses. A special elevating system to raise and lower the sectional louvers, permitting workmen to climb in and clean and replace bulbs, also has been designed. The entire theatre, according to the inventor, can be bathed to any intensity of red, blue, green, or amber.

Gunnison is well known in the illumination field for his pioneering work in modern electrical fixtures. He is the first to adopt the Louver system of flood lighting in this country, is chairman of the Competition Committee, and the motivating force of the Society of Illuminating Engineers, which recently conducted the first nationwide illuminating contest under the auspices of the American Institute of Architects and the Beaux Arts Institute.

economy in office" is announced by Culberson as his platform, coupled with fairness and equity to all.

Bead Is Clue To Lost Race

ERIE, Pa. (UP).—Belief that descendants of the "lost tribes of Israel" found their way to the shores of Lake Erie is based on an Egyptian bead of peculiar design found here more than a century ago. The relic, now on display here, was dug up by a farmer, Francis Carnahan, as he was clearing land east of here in 1825. Archaeologists who have examined it declared it similar to three others in America, all of which were found in a tomb of Saccara, Egypt. Four other glass beads of the same design are in London museums, two of which cannot be traced while two were discovered by Celts.

Rev. D. L. G. Olmstead, archaeologist, said the beads were Egyptian antiquities of about the year 3,000 B. C. In tracing the course of the beads to other parts of the world it was pointed out that they possibly were taken from Egypt by the Israelites. The "lost tribes" are believed by some historians to have migrated to the north of Europe, intermarrying with the Norsemen.

The bead found here might have been brought to America by Norsemen in 1100 A. D. There is other evidence that the roving seamen actually did reach America about that time.

Midland Will Go Nearly Solid For Sterling

WHY?

Ferguson Record

1. Under Ferguson, government by proxy, with an impeached Governor as the husband of the nominal Governor, himself not legally responsible for the acts of his wife in her official capacity.
2. Under Ferguson, an indirect government thereby making government in Texas a subject for jest and laughter.
3. Under Ferguson, Texas in debt and the treasury unable to respond even in prosperous times.
4. Under Ferguson, the patronage to reward friends and to punish enemies of the Fergusons.
5. Under the Fergusons, wasteful handling of government resources and extravagance in the expenditure of public funds.
6. With Jim Ferguson again as the husband of the Governor would there not be a repetition of the past—a lavish use of the pardoning power—pardons granted before the gates of the penitentiary closed on the criminal?
7. Is not the past a prophecy of the future? Under the Fergusons there was wasteful expenditure of highway funds; money expended on vanishing roads; contracts in the Highway Department that produced suits by the Attorney General who recovered for the State, over attorneys representing the Ferguson administration, more than $1,000,000 on road contracts.

Sterling Record

1. Under Sterling direct responsibility in the Governor's chair.
2. Sterling restored public respect at home and abroad for Texas government and Texas citizens.
3. Under Sterling, Texas setting the example to other States in wise and efficient management of state finances; the government solvent even in a time of economic stress.
4. Under Sterling powers of government used without fear or favor for the interests of all.
5. Under Sterling conservatism and economy producing a saving of $11,000,000 in the State's finances in two years.
6. Under Sterling wise use of pardoning power to reward convicts for good behavior, pardons and paroles given only after a large part of sentence served.
7. Under Sterling a dollar's worth of highways for every dollar spent; open contracts openly arrived at, and permanent roads to show for the money spent.
8. Ross Sterling entered office a millionaire; comes out a poor man. No profitable wood and water carrying for him. Protected dependent children of Texas by the passage of a Child Welfare bill which was promised in his platform. The Child Welfare Department has been established, and functions under the direction of the State Board of Control. Under Ross Sterling the Texas Governorship Has Been Restored to Respectability—The Past Two Official Years Have Been the Best Since the Days of James Stephen Hogg.

This space paid for by Midland Men who stand for Honest Government and who believe Ross Sterling is the best man for the plain people of Texas.

GREAT HEAVENS! TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO TO-DAY AND YET THE TIME HAS SLIPPED BY SO FAST! HOW THRILLED I WAS!! POP HAS BEEN A GRAND HUSBAND IT WAS MY LUCKY DAY

WELL, I THOUGHT IT'D BE NICE TO TAKE THE AFTERNOON OFF AND DRIVE INTO THE COUNTRY SOMEPLACE FOR DINNER AND DANCE.

SOME OTHER TIME, MOM. I GOT A DATE TO PLAY GOLF WITH JEROME BEATTY AND—

POP! HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN WHAT HAPPENED TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO TO-DAY?

FORGOTTEN? NOT ME! THAT WAS THE DAY I FIRST BROKE A HUNDRED!!

SALESMAN SAM Where the Blame Lies! By SMALL

LISSEN, YOU BUMS! EVERY TIME I TURN AROUND I SEE YA FIGHTIN'! WOT'S THE IDEA?

AW, NO MATTER WHAT CORNER I PITCH MY GRIP ON, HE COMES ALONG AN CAMP'S BESIDE ME! I CAN'T SELL A THING—IT'S HIS FAULT!

DON'TCHA B'LEIVE HIM, COP! EVERY TIME I CAMP ON A CORNER, HE'S ALWAYS THERE AHEAD OF ME! I CAN'T SELL A THING, EITHER! IT'S HIS FAULT!

WELL, I'M ORDERIN' YA BOTH TO TAKE A SNEAK! NEITHER OF YEZ KIN SELL A THING FROM THIS CORNER

AN' THAT'S MY FAULT!

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS OUR BOARDING HOUSE By AHERN

THER AINT NO HAIR GITTIN IN YOUR EYES, IS THERE? WELL, WHY DO YOU KEEP YOUR EYES CLOSED SO TIGHT ALL TH' TIME IM, CUTTN YOUR HAIR?

WELL, I MIGHT HAVE A WEAK HEART AN' I'M ASCARIT I MIGHT SEE A EAR DROP ON TH' FLOOR.

SAY!—JUST WHO ARE YOU, ANYWAY?—GIVE US A LOAD OF Y'SELF!

WHO AM I? EGAD, SIR! HARR-R-RUMF— I AM MAJOR AMOS HOODLE— SOLDIER—SCIENTIST— INVENTOR—EXPLORER— BIG GAME HUNTER— ARCHAEOLOGIST—LECTURER— POLITICIAN— AND NOW HEAD OF A DETECTIVE AGENCY!— DOES THAT SUFFICE, SIR?

SEE, MORGAN, DIDN'T I TELL YOU? HE'S ABSOLUTELY CRAZY!

THAT DOESN'T HELP YOU, MAJOR!
