LOOKING AFTER CHARITY WORK

Winter is coming on fast. Jobless people are to be found everywhere and they are moving about everywhere. Some of them want work and others take advantage of the unemployment situation to insist that someone owes them a living, to ask for help instead of work.

A comparatively well dressed man went to a Midland back door yesterday and asked for a meal. He didn't precede his request by asking for an odd job. When reminded that he should be asking for work he replied that no one could get a job now. He was told that he could dig up a flower bed and do a few odd jobs around the yard for a meal. In the final wind up, he elected to try the next house and was fortunate in getting something to eat without having to work.

Charity work in these times is a tricky business. Midland is fortunate in having a well organized welfare association. The investigating committee does not hesitate to act quickly in emergency, but it takes time to look into the doubtful cases which often develop to be unworthy.

Money for charity purposes in these days of alleged depression, must be disbursed wisely and effectively for the benefit of those who really must depend on the public for livelihood.

The Midland Community Welfare Association is not making a drive for funds, but there are many people giving money to charity who would do well to have the money disbursed systematically through the organization. There are many citizens having useful bedding and clothing that is lying idle and that could keep poor people from the cold.

Keep in touch with the welfare association. Report charity solicitors to it, contribute through it and help it to help Midland and Midland's charity cases.

CREATING ODD JOBS

If this thing keeps up, Texas is going to be prosperous whether or not she wills it. The Dallas owner of a large skyscraper has agreed to spend $25,000 for improvements and repairs not absolutely needed, provided other owners will go and do likewise. Citizens all over the state are pledging themselves to buy made-in-Texas products. State and counties are launching ambitious road-building programs. Cities are instituting major projects in public works. Public utilities are making way for tremendous expansion and extension of facilities. New payrolls are being created, old ones enlarged. Truly, the silver linings of the clouds of depression begin to show themselves.

REFORMERS ALWAYS BUSY

Checkmated at every turn in their campaign to establish any startling immorality in modern youth, the habitual alarmists and professional reformers have turned their slanderous artillery upon modern motherhood. If they honestly interpret their personal observations, it must be admitted that these "wolf-cryers" travel in a fast, wild crowd; but most of us object when they seek to impute similar immorality to the young mothers of our own acquaintance. This attitude was aptly expressed by Frank Willford, Jr., prosecutor in Harris County, when, in a recent speech, he said, "The mother of your children and the mother of my children were becomingly and worthily that name which was hallowed by your mother and mine." It is to be regretted that the sacred institution of motherhood is not secure against the vile implications of these self-appointed guardians of the public morals.

R-101 Investigation Heavy Job for British Laboratories

By MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Writer.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Lord Amulree, an old man of 70, who has accepted the post of Secretary for Air in the Labor cabinet of Great Britain, has taken on his shoulders one of the heaviest tasks that has befallen a Briton in our time.

In response to insistent newspaper and public demand he has opened a rigid inquiry into the causes of the terrible disaster to the airship R-101, which involved the death of nearly 50 people, including his predecessor, Lord Thompson.

While Sir John Simon is conducting the active investigation, it is upon Lord Amulree that the heaviest responsibility falls. Upon his decision will largely depend whether the British will continue to build airships.

REQUIRES MASTER INVESTIGATOR

Both the inquiry into the disaster and the decision as to the future policy on airships, require the master mind of a master investigator. Premier Ramsey MacDonald has made no mistake in his man, for Lord Amulree is one of the greatest investigators in British public life. Born the son of a Scotch farmer, he was sent to Edinburgh University by the self-sacrifice of the family and soon became a famous lawyer. He was knighted and became known to the public as Sir William Warrender Mackenzie. During and after the war the government called him into service and he became known as an industrial peace-maker.

In 1918 he served on the War Cabinet Committee on women in industry and also occupied the chair of the arbitration tribunal set up under the Munitions of War Act. For six years he was Chairman of the British government industrial delegation which went to the United States and Canada in 1926, and in 1926 presided over the committee which inquired into the acts requiring early closing by shops. He has recently been the head of the government committee investigating the licensing laws and the liquor trade. In fact there are very few inquiries in which he has not had a hand. Last year he was one of the two peers created by advice of the Labor Premier, taking the title of Lord Amulree. He is the fourth septuagenarian to enter the Labor cabinet, the others being Lord Parmoor, who is 78, and Lord Passfield and George Lansbury, who are each 71.

He has now tackled the greatest problem of his whole career. The British public has been shocked to the depths of its heart by the R-101 disaster. The air is filled with rumors that it was known that the giant airship was not air-worthy; that she was overweighted and under-engineered; that she had not had sufficient nor satisfactory trial trips; and that she was sent out on the fatal trip for India against the better judgment of some of the experts. It has gotten to the point where it is said that the permanent staff of the Air Ministry is virtually on trial. One newspaper bitterly said:

"The odds against the truth being allowed to come out during the inquiry into the R-101 tragedy are incalculably enormous because the Air Ministry holds all the trump cards, and it is the Air Ministry which stands in the dock, and its conviction means its destruction. It is fighting for its life."

WILL BE GUIDED BY MACDONALD
If Lord Amulree falls in the investigation it is certain that a considerable portion of the press will open a heavy fire, not only at him and the Air Ministry, but upon the entire Labor government. Lord Amulree, of course, will be largely guided by the advice of Prime Minister MacDonald. And the latter has been struck to the heart, not only by the disaster as a whole, but because it robbed him of one of his dearest friends, the late Lord Thomson, who was his particular and chosen comrade in the cabinet.

Lord Amulree, new Secretary of Air in the British Labor Cabinet, upon whom falls the final responsibility for the successful handling of the investigation into the cause of the disaster of the R-101, giant dirigible.

INSECT DEATH RAY

LONDON.—Hundreds of insects endangered the garden of H. Neal, a Tunbridge electrical engineer, so he set out to devise a death ray with which to combat them. With some old coils and an ordinary accumulator, he devised such a weapon. Now all he needs to do is to touch the leaves of a plant with a forked copper wand and all the insects on the plant are killed without injuring the plant itself.

Rivals Meet as Team-Mates in "Maybe It's Love"

To two of the football players on the "all-American" eleven in "Maybe It's Love," the Warner Bros. Vitaphone collegiate comedy at the Ritz theatre, the stadium in which the "Big Game" was filmed and recorded brought memories of another struggle.

Russell Saunders and Ray Montgomery, all-American selections from the University of Southern California and University of Pittsburgh respectively, recalled the eventful New Years Day when U. S. C. met Pittsburgh in the intersectional game a year ago at the famous Pasadena Rose Bowl.

Saunders and Montgomery were pitted against each other in that historic contest with "Russ" in the backfield and Ray at guard in the line. In "Maybe It's Love" they play on the same team in the respective positions in which they gained all-American fame.

Howard Harpster, star quarterback from Carnegie Tech, was also somewhat familiar with the gridiron in the huge Rose Bowl as it was there his team practiced before meeting Southern California eleven last year at the Los Angeles Coliseum. Saunders also played against Harpster in this intersectional battle.

Joan Bennett, Joe E. Brown and James Hall play the featured roles in "Maybe It's Love" the screen play of which was written by Joseph Jackson, William Wellman directed.

STAGE TO RANCH

LONDON.—Thirty years ago Joseph Tapley was the matinee idol of London. Today he is a successful rancher in Ontario, Canada. After his stage career, Tapley left England and started out in Canada as a timberman. Then he took to cattle and for the past twenty-five years has been engaged in building up one of the richest ranches in the Dominion. He recently visited here with his daughter.

Capital Prepares for Brilliant Social Season With Unusually Large Number of Debs Preparing to Make Their Bow—White House Will Hold 12 Receptions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Washington so-city—official, unofficial and semi-official—will try to bear up bravely through the long hard winter in spite of the depression reported from various sections of the country.

Rather than omit any of the customary ostentation and expense the capital will keep a stiff upper lip and, according to all signs and reports, make this social season just a little bigger and better than ever. Thus it will contribute to the stimulation of business and the solution of the unemployment problem, boosting the catering business, the floral business, the servant business and various other businesses.

Local experts are thoroughly convinced that Washington is now the capital of American society. They point to the unprecedented number of debutantes parading to Washington this season for coming out parties and the indubitable fact that nowhere else is there such a congregation of high federal officials, distinguished diplomats and private citizens of wealth.

The White House itself has abandoned the old modest custom of having but nine formal functions a year. There will be 12 White House receptions in December, January and February—dinners for the cabinet, the vice president, the chief justice and the supreme court, the diplomats and the speaker of the House and receptions for diplomats, judges, senators, representatives, the army and navy, the officials of the treasury, post office, interior, agriculture, commerce and labor departments, and one on New Year's Day for whoever wants to come.

High government officials who deplore results of this year's elections are expected to try to forget their sorrows by entering more determinedly than ever into the so-called social whirl. This is a lame duck year, with nearly a score of senators and many congressmen slated to leave Congress on March 4. Some of these will have to have their last fling and some will be unusually active socially to promote personal campaigns for good federal or private jobs.

Diplomats will put on a good series of shows. Even the Latin-Americans, despite the South American revolutions, are expected to be more active than usual. This is the first season in a number of years that nearly all those countries have had full diplomatic representation here, the most conspicuous reinforcement being made by the new Argentine ambassador, Senor Malbran. Great Britain will be christening her big new embassy and the attaches there also anticipate a big year.

Incidentally, each social season here seems to be a better one for the gate-crashers. The enormous affair at the Turkish embassy the other day in honor of some anniversary or other brought out all the more distinguished crashers as well as most of the amateurs.

Most of the big mansions, including a few which often have been kept closed in past winters, are open again, indicating the general trend. There has been a social migration toward old Georgetown, where some very unsightly old shanties have been re-done into things more or less lovely at no small expense.

The big swell hotels report that ever in the country if one is to judge from the unusually large number of expensive affairs for which their ballrooms and lesser rooms have been hired in advance.

Big parties for debutantes are being given one night after another. Among those on the coming-out program are Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's daughter Katrina, Mr. McCormick's daughter Katrina, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Dodge's daughter Dorothy, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahncke's daughter Adele, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.'s daughter Grace, Colonel U. S. Grant 3rd's daughter Edith, Congresswoman Ruth Baker Pratt's daughter Phyllis and Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde's daughter Caroline.

As an example of the way folks are bringing their girls to Washington for debuts, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Doherty of New York have taken and when he happened to make right smart of money he began to venture into most everything. He heard of game cock fighting and sent away for a high-priced cock. But there was a mistake somewhere as a duck instead of a rooster was shipped.

Mike scratched his head when he saw it. He scratched his head some more when he looked down and saw the web feet.

"You don't look like you could fight much," Mike said to the duck. "But I will say that all hell couldn't tip you over."

School isn't what it used to be. When I went to school in them days when schooling was schooling the teachers imparted information to us. But now it seems that whenever the teachers want to know something they get up some questions and tell the pupils they have to find the answers.

Well, as I have been saying all this year, you never know what Herbest will do next.

A doctor advised a "tired business man" who came to him for a diagnosis that he needed to rest more. "Go home in the evenings and relax," the doctor said. "Can't do it, Doc. we have modern furniture at our house," the tired business man lamented.

A Scotchman came to this country. About 10 years later he returned to his home. When he left his father and brothers were clean shaven, but upon his return he was surprised that all had long beards. He inquired as to the reason. It was explained to him that when he had left 10 years before that he had taken the family razor with him.

Pat was considerable of a sport over a huge apartment at the Hotel Mayflower for Helen Lee James Doherty, Miss Doherty's debutante ball the night after Christmas, the hotel predicts, "will probably be one of the most dazzling ever given in Washington."

Blackshear, Ga.—Mrs. L. E. Thornton, of this place, tells how she was benefited in a case of weakness by taking Cardui.

"I was very weak," says Mrs. Thornton. "My back gave me a lot of trouble. I felt like my back was sprained. I was very nervous and restless. I did not sleep well at night. I was so tired in my back. It seemed to hurt me when I tried to turn over. I did not want anything to do with it. I was in bad shape. I thought I would try Cardui. The first bottle seemed to ease the pain some in my back. I took another bottle, and then I felt more like eating. I noticed that I had more strength and my work seemed easier. My back didn't feel so awfully bad when I had to stand. I could sleep better and felt more rested when I got up in the morning. I took six bottles of Cardui. I certainly think Cardui is a good medicine for women." Try Cardui in your case.

Fifty Women Honor Miss Pearl Wimberly at Miscellaneous Shower At the Home of Mrs. J. E. Hill

By MRS. PAUL T. VICKERS

The party rooms of the home of Mrs. J. E. Hill were decked with ferns and autumn flowers in rich shades of red, orange and lavender Monday afternoon, when more than fifty women of the First Baptist church complimented the popular bride-elect, Miss Pearl Wimberly, with a party and miscellaneous shower.

Mrs. M. B. Robertson, president of the women's work, conducted a short business session, hearing reports from all standing committees.

All ages of the church were represented on the delightful musical program which included a vocal solo, "Exactly Like You," by Dolores Barton; piano duet, "Pride of the Regiment," by Nedra Gem and Ina Bess Hicks; vocal solo, "All for You," by Miss Lena Solomon and a solo, "If God Left Only You," by Mrs. A. J. Florey.

After a dainty salad plate was passed, the honoree, with her mother, Mrs. W. W. Wimberly and other guests, was invited into a room where she found an array of lovely gifts on display on tables arranged with orange flowers and green tulle bows.

Mrs. J. E. Hill, Mrs. R. V. Lawrence and Mrs. Paul T. Vickers were the house committee and Mrs. M. R. Hill, Mrs. B. C. Girdley, Mrs. R. J. Moore and Mrs. A. J. Gates composed the refreshment committee.

Herman Spaulding was in Midland Monday afternoon, en route from Lubbock to Crane.

Barney Hubbs and Fancher Bell, Peos newspaper men, stopped in Midland Monday afternoon. They were going to Sweetwater on a business trip.

Mrs. Elliott H. Barron returned this morning from a two weeks visit in Dallas and Henderson.

Mrs. R. L. Ellison returned to her position at the Texas Electric Service company yesterday after an absence, during which time she submitted to a major operation.

Christian Women Meet for Monthly Session

About twenty-five members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Christian church were guests at the home of Mrs. M. E. Cole Monday afternoon when the society held its monthly program and business meeting.

Dates for the annual pure food show were discussed and it is expected that the show will be sometime the latter half of this month.

Other business included reports from standing committees on the work they have conducted the past month.

Mrs. Victor Smith conducted the program and was assisted by Mrs. George Ratliff, Mrs. L. B. Pemberton, Mrs. H. H. Meeks and Mrs. Howard Peters who told of her recent trip to Washington to attend the international convention of Christian churches.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. B. Anderson, served refreshments.

Food Sale to Be Held by Ladies

The ladies of the St. Ann's Catholic church held a business meeting at the church Monday afternoon.

Plans were perfected for a food sale to be held at the M System store No. 2 on Wednesday before Thanksgiving. Pies, cakes, dressed poultry, salads, cranberry jelly and other delicacies will be on sale. Special orders will be filled.

Winter Mode Calls for Woolen Frocks

Woolen frocks for work and play is the style edict of winter 1930. Neat, natty and new is the Jane Degny golf suit at the left, of flaring tweed skirt and cardigan blouse, made of heavy Scotch tweed in the new gray and white combination which everybody who is anybody on the links is wearing. This suit has four pockets, two on the skirt, two on the blouse, and atop this tricky tailored feature comes a Peter Panish collar designed to make anyone look young. Rich, red and Russian is the novelty wool frock, right, for the office or school room. It is buttoned with square red bone buttons, belted with a wide patent leather belt in the same red, from William Bloom. The side-fastened collar has a scarf end and if it should get too warm, the neck can be opened to fashion a softly draped throat effect.

Demonstration Clubs to Resume Regular Meetings

Following a month of visiting county and state fairs, Miss Genevieve Derryberry has completed her outline for the month's work among the county home demonstration clubs. She has announced that she will meet all clubs at their regular dates this month.

Wednesday afternoon, she meets with the Stokes club at the home of Mrs. I. C. Graham at 2:30. Elections of officers will be on the program.

Yearbooks being completed by the club women are to be in the demonstration office at the time of each of these meetings.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

During a busy season like this every housewife wants recipes for quickly prepared dishes. Do you like the two that are given today?

Corn Meal Muffins
1 1-2 cups bread flour
1-2 cup corn meal
4 tsp. baking powder
1-2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. sugar
1 egg
1-3 cup canned milk
2-3 cup water
2 tsp. melted butter

Sift flour, then measure. Resift with other dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Beat egg, add milk, diluted with the water, and butter. Stir liquid quickly into dry ingredients. Pour batter instantly into oil muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. This batter may be baked in corn stick pans.

Oyster Stew
2 cups milk
2 cups water
1 slice onion
1 slice celery
2 stalks celery
2 springs parsley
Bit of bay leaf
4 tsp. cracker crumbs
1 pt. oysters
3 tsp. butter
Dash paprika
Salt

Scald milk and water, with onion, celery, parsley and bay leaf 20 minutes; remove celery, onion and bay leaf and add crackers. Heat the cleaned oysters, in their own liquid until the edges curl. Add to milk and season with butter paprika and salt. Serve immediately.

Home Mission Week to Be Observed by Women

A combined business and Bible study meeting was held by the women of the Presbyterian auxiliary at the church yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Andrew Fasken presided at the business session. It was decided that the auxiliary would observe the week, Nov. 9-16, as home mission week. On Friday, Nov. 14, of that week, a special program will be held and the mission book, "Our Near Neighbors," will be reviewed under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Caldwell.

The annual party of the society will be on November 24. Committees for the affair were announced as follows: entertainment: Mrs. R. C. Crabb, W. H. Sloan, Frank Day, Lloyd Martin and J. L. Greene; menu: Mmes. A. Harry Anderson, F. E. Cragin, W. G. Whitehouse, and Hayden Miles; decorations: Mmes. J. A. Finlayson, J. M. DeArmond, and T. R. Wilson; invitation: Mmes. T. D. Murphy, L. O. Smith and Jno. G. Gossett.

The next weekly meeting of the women will be Monday afternoon when the entire auxiliary convenes at the church. Mrs. W. G. Whitehouse and Mrs. L. O. Smith will be hostesses.

Following the business, the Rev. T. D. Murphy taught the third and fourth chapter of Romans.

Methodist Auxiliary Continues Study Of Mission Books

Covering chapters of the mission book, "Trailing the Conquistadores," at each weekly meeting, members of the Methodist auxiliary will soon complete the mission study.

At the Monday meeting Mrs. Coffee gave a map talk on the lesson topic, "Problems of the Porto Ricans." Mrs. J. S. Nolan discussed "Economic," Mrs. J. D. Young, "Public Health," Mrs. M. J. Allen, "Education," Mrs. T. S. Nettleton, "Christian Service the Solution." Mrs. W. A. Black read a devotional scripture from Isaiah.

MAKE IT YOURSELF.

Your apartment dwelling friends are sure to welcome a Yuletide gift of a window box in which bulbs have already been planted.

You can buy a plain wooden box not wider than six inches and about a foot and a half long. Or you can make such a box easily, if you happen to be at all handy with tools. Get a galvanized tin to set it in, so that when you water your bulbs the window sill won't get wet.

Paint the box and the tin the color of the woodwork in the prospective recipient's home. Or if you prefer, paint the box a gay tone, the yellow that the daffs will be, or Chinese red, something that will go with the woodwork well.

If you do use a neutral tone for the window box, stencil or paint onto it a decorative motif of some kind. This year silhouettes are good, or a conventional floral design is always good.

Fill the box with pebbles and plant paper narcissus bulbs. Or if you fill it with dirt, you can plant anything you like.

ABOUT NEW BLOUSES
Pin-tucking, shirring, sun-pleating, box pleating and other handwork will be the prize feature of the new blouses.

CRITICISM DIRECTED TOWARDS ROUGH PLAY EMPLOYED BY SEVERAL ELEVENS BUT FOOTBALL IS FOOTBALL TO MANY

The football world is sharply divided on the subject of rough play directed against star players.

DISTRICT 8 TANGLE

By R. C. HANKINS

It isn't often that a staff man on this newspaper has to write column after column of charges made against Midland sportsmen.

TEXAS EXPECTED TO OCCUPY LARGE PLACE AT A. P. I.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 4. (AP)—More than 100 of the leading figures in the oil industry in Texas will attend the meeting of the American Petroleum Institute in Chicago November 10-13.

About to Be Sold Animal Falls Dead

It must have been embarrassing to the prominent stockman who had been trying to sell the fat calf this morning to a butcher, for, just as the cattleman got through pointing out the qualities of the calf it fell over dead.

BAPTISTS WILL FLOCK TO MEET IN AMARILLO

Although Amarillo is located far to one side of the state, several thousand Baptists are planning to attend the Baptist General Convention of Texas when it gathers there in annual session Nov. 12-14.

Inspector Lists Deals in Cattle

Monthly report of cattle sales by L. E. Beyer, inspector, to the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, as published in the current issue of The Cattleman, is as follows:

Perhaps there is something to be said on both sides. It would not do to make football a game in which politeness took the place of honest bodily contact. But it is necessary to attack so savagely and with intent to maim an individual because he is a star and likely to score a touchdown or two if not weakened by roughing?

This business of deliberately setting out to wear down a star is not good for the game. The boys are putting a little too much emphasis on victory when they do that. The attacks on Booth and Murphy were unnecessary and caused ill feelings, in addition to giving a couple of likely lads concussion of the brain.

There was one real thrill to say the least. That Yale-Army game which had nothing to do with the play. After Booth had been carried off on a stretcher, limp and white, the Yale stands sank disconsolately and unclenched their fists.

Then, in the fourth quarter, there appeared on the side lines a figure in football togs, wearing the magic numerals "48", Abie's own number. There was a roar of delight from the Eli cohorts, and the entire west side of the Bowl was on its feet, cheering madly.

After which, of course, the youngster in question peeled off the "48" sweater and doffed his hood and revealed himself as quite another player who had donned Booth's sweater for warmth. The stands subsided, but it had been the one real kick of the game.

Oil Slash--

monthly and a loss to royalty owners of $63,378.30.

The next heaviest loser will be Winkler county, where daily average production of 60,056 barrels will be worth $9,608.96 less daily, a reduction of $288,268.80 monthly and a loss to royalty owners of $36,033.60.

Football Party--

campus cutie and sweetheart of Brown.

William Wellman, famous for his screen stories of modern youth, directed "Maybe It's Love." Sidney Mitchell, Archie Gottler, and George Meyer, wrote the theme song, "Maybe It's Love," and other tuneful melodies heard in the picture.

"Speedy" Mason Is Linked in Divorce

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4. (AP)—Divorce judgment against L. C. Turman, oil man, granted his wife on October 2, was set aside today at a hearing on Turman's motion for a new trial.

Over in the other end of the football district, McCamey to be exact, has resulted a bit of dissatisfaction concerning the recommendations of the district football committee that McCamey be thrown out of the season's schedule for "flagrant violation of the eligibility rules." Whether the team played ineligible earlier in the season this sports writer does not know.

But here's where the rub came in. McCamey has a man named A. Garland Adair who writes the McCamey News and this man grabbed off a wild theory that Head Coach Barry of the Midland high school was responsible for charges being placed against McCamey and set afire.

So, while McCamey is business like in trying to get the charges routed, Adair keeps up a howl that not only affects the ears in those who have the sporting instinct, but is as far-fetched as it is unwelcome.

Students will be made up of sections from several Texas cities. These sections will converge at Denison on the evening of November 8.

Midland Students May Vie for Prize

With application blanks mailed to the presidents of 500 high school senior classes in Texas, plans are going forward for the first annual awarding of $16,000 in piano scholarships at Simmons university by the John Sebastian Bach Music foundation, according to Prof. Irl Allison, director.

The winner of the $60 scholarship in Midland county will be determined by the record filed on the application instead of through county contests as previously announced.

Students who win the first year scholarships will be given preference over all others during their four college years. The finals to determine the $200 scholastic winners will be held at Simmons in the fall as previously announced.

Adair goes on to say that Midland instituted ineligibility charges against McCamey because the Bulldog team could not afford to play McCamey, offering as a reason Midland's certainty of being licked. I'm sorry to have Adair say that. It doesn't sound good. I don't believe I know of a team anywhere that has resorted to such an expedient.

Stars shine because they are in a white hot gaseous state of combustion, which produces both heat and light.

Dismiss Jury After 50 Hour Conference

GREENVILLE, Nov. 4. (UP)—After deliberating for more than 50 hours, the jury in the J. H. Curtis case in which the defendant was charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Pennington Malow, 17, was discharged.

Inaugural Ball Plans Started

AUSTIN, Nov. 4. (AP)—Elaborate preparations for the inaugural ball, in honor of Texas' next governor, are being made by a committee of Austin citizens who recently started a campaign to raise $6,000 to finance the ball and entertainment features.

200 Rushing S. W. Lake Job Completion

SWEETWATER, Nov. 4. (AP)—Two hundred men are employed at Lake Sweetwater by the contractors on the new million-dollar reservoir.

City Editor of Lubbock Is Here

Charles C. Watson Jr., city editor of The Lubbock Avalanche, is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Watson, 304 N. Pecos, the remainder of the week.

Elections--

complete victory for either could come only as a product of a political convulsion of which there is no symptom visible.

Alabama has gone through a fiery campaign with John Bankhead, wealthy attorney and coal operator, as the regular Democratic nominee, opposing Senator Thomas J. Heflin who was read out of the party for supporting Herbert Hoover for president and is running as an independent or "Jeffersonian" Democrat.
