LOCAL LEADS FOR TEXAS GOVERNOR

Local Races Incomplete as Precinct One Count Lags

FEW RACES WON SANS RUN-OFF

Record Vote Is Piled Up in Midland County

Out of the maze of an incomplete count in Saturday's battle of the ballots, few district and county races were decided early Sunday morning. Precinct 1, the city of Midland, which polled nearly 1700 ballots had turned in a count of less than one-third its total.

It appeared that J. H. Fine, candidate for tax assessor, and Mrs. Mary L. Quinn, candidate for reelection to the office of county treasurer, would win without a run-off, and it was believed that district Attorney W. R. Smith had an excellent possibility of winning in the same manner over T. D. Kimbrough and Frank Stubbeman.

Whitely W. K. Wilson had a comfortable lead over Joseph A. Seymour and Sam K. Wasaff for county attorney, it was believed a run-off would be required in that race.

A. C. Francis appeared to have won the sheriff's race over Sam Preston, the earlier voting showing him claiming almost three to one, in Precinct 1. Mrs. Nettie C. Romer, candidate for reelection to the office of district clerk, was leading Gilbert Brunson 537 to 220. Elliott H. Barron was in the fore of C. E. Dunagan, 452 to 304. Mrs. Susie Graves Noble was not contested, and her vote stood at 648.

J. T. Beasly in Precinct 2 commissioners' race over B. T. Graham by two votes. The two were tied in the primary of last year and decided the issue by the flip of a coin.

In Precinct 3, Donald Hutt had no opposition for commissioner. Carl Smith won the Precinct 4 commissioners' race over W. M. Stewart, obviating a run-off.

A run-off between B. Frank Haag, Midland candidate for representative from the 83rd district, and J. E. Cotten of Crane, appeared likely, but Haag was leading comfortably.

Resubmission ballots in Midland county were voted only in Precinct 1, with the count listed as 743 for and 291 against.

Complete results of the Midland county balloting up to an early hour in this morning are found in the tabulation on the back page of this issue.

ECTOR COUNTY MAKES LATE REPORT HERE
Finals for Ector county showed the following information: Precinct 1 to Midland, W. R. Smith led Duke Kimbrough 625 to 88 for district attorney, with Frank Stubbeman running third with 61.

Alfred B. Webb of Ector county received 599 votes to 227 for his opponent, Parker. Webb's father, County Judge Webb, had a comfortable lead over his opponent.

In Andrews county, incomplete returns showed District Attorney Smith leading Frank Stubbeman 48 to 14, with Kimbrough third with 9. Incomplete returns from Martin county, with four boxes unreported, gave Smith a majority vote of 228, Kimbrough 156 and Stubbeman 114.

An earlier report from Ector county, at a moment when 300 of the total 844 votes had been counted, gave Haag 139 votes for representative, Colten 95 Reid 57 and Cranmer 3. Ector voted 218 for Thomason by congressman, to 142 for Jackson, Ken Regan led for senator with 132 votes, Berkeley 34, Stuart 42 and Fuller 37. From left to right, "Ma" Ferguson, James V. Allred, B. Frank Haag, W. R. Smith and C. V. Terrell, leaders of interesting races in the democratic primary balloting Saturday. "Ma" Ferguson, former governor of Texas, and a former governor herself, led the present governor, Ross S. Sterling, 81,815 to 63,530. Allred, youthful attorney general, led 117,308 to 53,189. B. Frank Haag, candidate for congressman from the 83rd representative district and a Midland man, had the comfortable lead of 1220 to 820 over J. E. Cotten of Crane county. "Bob" Smith, district attorney of 70th judicial district, appeared likely to obtain a majority over his two opponents, T. D. Kimbrough and Frank Stubbeman, Midland men.

Better, Eh What? Infinitesimally

McCamey, leading oil city of the Crane-Union area, which struggled along for a long while with inadequate water, now not only has plenty of good water, but it is slowly getting better. McCamey water is one-sixteenth of a million softer than it was a year ago. These are the figures of the eminent Dr. E. J. Schoch of the University of Texas. Figures quoted by Dr. Schoch to prove McCamey water is getting softer are: sulfate shows a reduction of from 81 to 56 grains and an increase in calcium from 64 to 82, which is a net loss in hardness.

The school at El Paso will be under the auspices of the Popular Dry Goods company. Saxon said, and visiting coaches and football players will not be charged for the course. They will pay only their living expenses.

Saxon has coached the School of Mines for the past six years, during which time he has made the remarkable record of winning all except three football games, losing only to Texas university, Simmons, at a moment when 300 of the total 844 votes had been counted, gave Haag 139 votes for representative, Colten 95 Reid 57 and Cranmer 3.

Ector voted 218 for Thomason by congressman, to 142 for Jackson, Ken Regan led for senator with 132 votes, Berkeley 34, Stuart 42 and Fuller 37. Sterling led for governor with 178, Hunter 117, Ferguson 78.

OIL COMPANIES MAKE TREATY

CHILD HURT IN FALL FROM TREE BUT IMPROVES
PARIS, July 23. (UP).—Representatives of the world's leading oil companies signed an agreement for general restriction of production through which it was hoped that many ills of the industry would be solved.

The agreement was reached after discussion of several weeks during which Rumanian interests were reluctant to sign, pending assurance that Russia, not represented at the conference, would cut production. American delegates expressed satisfaction since the agreement was expected to remove the present unhealthy competition on European markets and to restore friendly relations between American Socomey-Vacuum interests and the Royal Dutch Shell interests. The two recently had practiced "cut throat" competition.

Chief of Police Andy Norwood said more than 20 inquiries had been made from several states, and sev-eral prints of pictures made by Duard Scott, staff photographer for The Reporter-Telegram, had been mailed.

Two Royce City youths, Leo Melody and Eugene Florence, visiting Albert Luard of Stanton, said the pictures looked like a boy they traveled with from Fort. Worth to Sweetwater. They said he called himself "Sammy" and that he was affected with hay fever. He told them he was going to Los Angeles, where his uncle was a contractor.

The Memphis woman, Mrs. Earl Cowen, said her son was going to Montana, she believed.

STERLING, HUNTER NEAREST TRAILERS

The Texas electorate translated its voice Saturday into the form of sweeping strokes of freshly sharpened pencils as choices between several hundred candidates for state, district and congressional and local offices were marked, and the vox populi was directed to the question on resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution, balloting determining whether the question will be submitted to the 73rd congress of retaining or repealing the amendment to conventions especially elected to consider that issue by itself.

Of more interest to the voters than issues were the candidates' races. True to pre-election forecasts, Mrs. Virginia Ferguson of Travis county showed indications of leading Ross S. Sterling incumbent for governor. Finals for the night as shown in the two fifteen report of the Texas Election Bureau gave

THE PIONEER PERIOD ENDS

He would be stolid indeed who failed to get an emotional jar out of the news that for the first time in history more people are leaving America than are arriving. The answer, of course, is obvious—hard times. The land of promise doesn't gleam quite as brightly as it used to, and as a result the number of immigrants to the United States is only about one-third the number of emigrants. This condition, beyond any doubt, is only temporary. Yet it does bring to a full stop one of the most amazing movements of people in the story of mankind—the movement that began before the 18th century was over and that ended just the other day. Even though we have seen and read about this movement since we were children, we don't always appreciate its magnitude. Consider the bare facts. At the time Washington began his first term as president, what is now the United States contained perhaps five million people—counting all the Indians, the Spanish and French at New Orleans and the Spanish and Mexicans in the southwest and along the west coast. Today it contains upwards of 120,000,000. In less than a century and a half an almost empty continent has been filled up—filled up so thoroughly, indeed, that now there is no room in it for ambitious immigrants from beyond the seas. The world's most dazzling era of expansion is over at last. The last moments of the pioneer period are finished. In the next few decades this change is going to have profound effects on every aspect of national life. The days of easy money, boom times, ever-new opportunities are done for. Life is going to be less fluid, class lines are going to harden, the path from the log cabin to the great mansion is going to become a little more difficult to travel. But those are things for the economist, the sociologist and the historian to discuss. At the moment we can get only the emotional side of it. A period in history has come to a close. The people of the United States are beginning a new day.

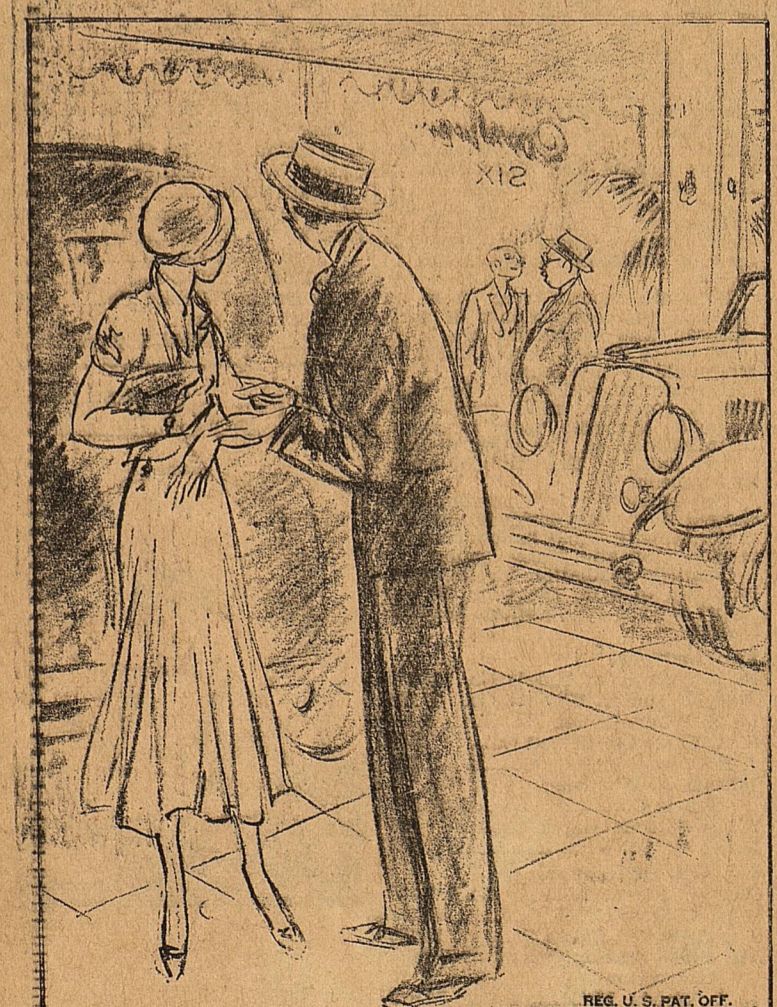

A NEW STEP FOR SAFETY

Massachusetts authorities are reported to be getting ready to make a strict check-up on the tires used by Massachusetts motorists. It is said that the state motor registrar is preparing to order the driver whose tires are badly worn to equip his tires with a new set or surrender his driver's license. Here is an angle of the safety campaign that is often overlooked. Everybody knows that the driver whose car has defective brakes or faulty headlights is a menace to all other drivers; but how often do we stop to think that the driver whose tires are worn down to the fabric is in the same class? A tire of that description is apt to explode at any moment. A blowout at a moderately high speed can throw a car completely out of control and cause a disastrous wreck. A campaign to rule all worn-out tires off of the highway might be an exceedingly sensible step.

THE COUNTY PROBLEM

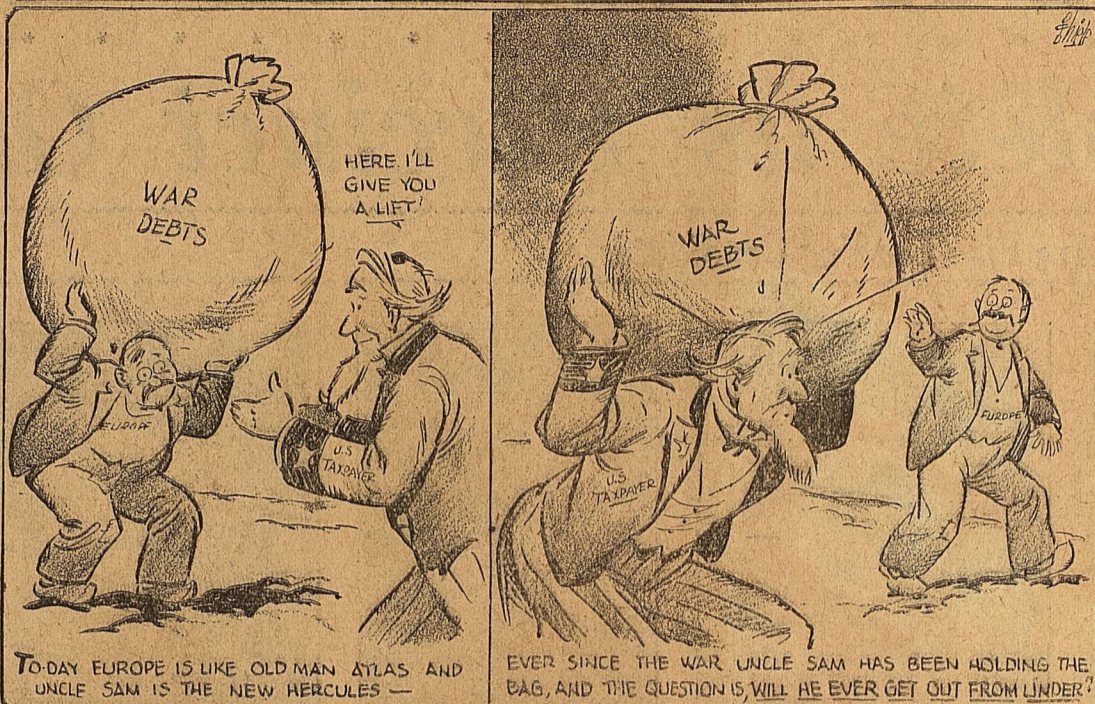

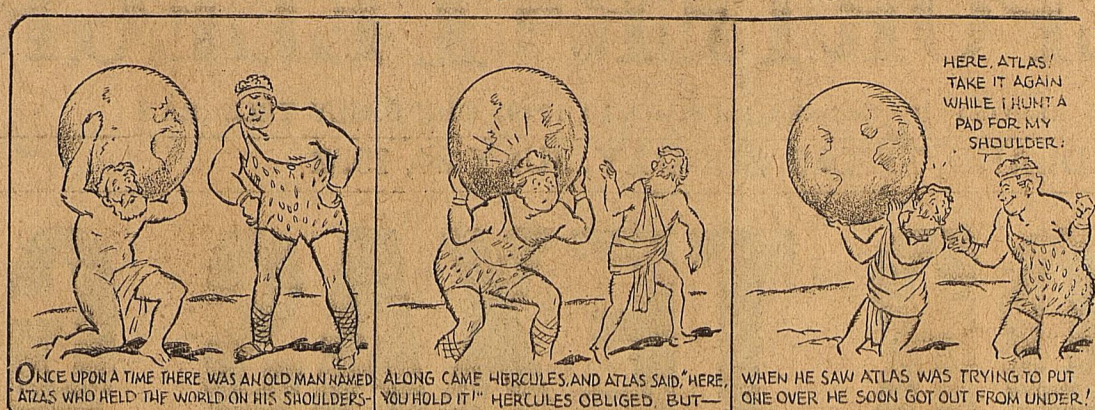

When the high cost of government is discussed, the organization of the typical American county ought not to be overlooked. For one thing, counties are far too small and consequently far too numerous. County lines were fixed in the old days when all travel was by horse or on foot. Today, with automobiles as common as they are, the average county could be four times as large as it is without working any hardship on anyone. The result is that we support far more governmental units than we need to. Each of these units has the power to tax and the power to spend; and the upshot is that a tremendous amount of money, in the aggregate, is spent needlessly. If only the taxpayer can get real relief, there must be a sweeping reorganization of the old county government machinery in every state in the union.

Brothers and Crazy Cousin Of Town Quack Visit Here

The Town Quack's five brothers and a demented cousin, Jitterwhisk, arrived in Midland Saturday, rolling off the blind side of an early passenger for a stay of three weeks. They started six months ago for the Olympics, but have been thrown off freights so often they have given up hope of arriving in California before the end of the depression. "A cafe, my dear, is a water bottle, not a long-necked animal," said Jitterwhisk, rubbing his mustache and long whiskers. "I cannot tell a barbequeed lie. He was silenced by Judge Solon Quack, who told Jitterwhisk he was so bogged he couldn't rub two quarters together. JITTERWHISK QUACK

Shridu Quack. He was once quite a philosopher. He remarked at once the size of Rountree's pants legs. "I wear them big enough to take three steps before the pants move," Rountree informed him proudly. "That's nothing," Etoain told him, "when I was a gay young blade, I several times ran all the way home without my pants moving from where they were. Lucire Quack is a banker, or was until the state examiner made his periodical inspection. But Lucire was already on his way here by that time. With all his money in his pockets he is a pipe for anything school of hard knocks. He used to do a little visiting at night, some of that kind not rated as home jurisdiction, and would jump out the window when the husband hammered on the door. Once his wife was told of his infidelity and promptly said she was going straight home to murder. Banker Quack is quite a linguist. MAY CHECK CANCER

NEW YORK—A possible check for cancerous growths has been discovered by Dr. James B. Murphy and Dr. Ernest Strum of the Rockefeller Institute. The two scientists have found substance in healthy embryonic skin that tends to check this malignant growth, it is said. Tests on rodents proved effective in about 60 per cent of the cases treated.

MAYBE HE'S RIGHT

MONTREAL—Dr. William Burnes Curry, English educationalist, is firmly convinced that the art of milking a cow is a more important part of the education of a child than learning to memorize Greek conjunctions. In England Dr. Curry's curriculum for children from 2 to 15 included the care of animals. Neither Greek nor Latin are included in any of his courses. It is estimated that between three and four per cent of all people are left-handed.

Ronald Colman At Grand Today

An unshaven and disheveled Ronald Colman, without his striped trousers, his Oxonian speech or his Chesterfieldian manners, is the not inconsiderable promise in "The Unholy Garden," the new Samuel Goldwyn picture which comes to the Grand theatre today and Monday.

In this adventure melodrama by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, Colman is seen as Barry Hunt, a gentleman adventurer, a rogue who has seen better days and honest ways.

The suave, polished and manly Colman is here to be known as Ronald Colman in "Bulldog Drummond," "Raffles," and "The Devil to Pay" is gone.

"The Unholy Garden" is a recklessly minded and a recklessly dressed adventurer, as indifferent to dress and appearance as he is to morals and manners.

In other words, "The Unholy Garden" is Samuel Goldwyn's answer to the fans demanding Ronald Colman in a picture of action. For "The Unholy Garden" is action, as much action as his memorable "Beau Geste."

Yet in "The Unholy Garden," as in all Colman pictures, the light romantic touch is still there. The star is still a persuasive lover, touchingly gallant even as a philosopher.

Fay Wray and Estelle Taylor have the principal feminine roles.

Hatton Elected Lions President

LOS ANGELES—Charles H. Hatton for Wichita, Kans., was elected to the presidency of Lions International in the final session of the Lions convention which closed here yesterday.

Hatton is president of the Peoples Finance company of Wichita and holds offices in several other large corporations in Wichita.

As chief of the 2650 Lions clubs throughout five countries, Hatton states that "Lionism will make no departure at this time from its established policy of making haste slowly in over-sees expansion."

However, he continued, "there will be no marking time until economic conditions get better. We look forward confidently to the time when Lionsism will be established in every city and town on this continent that desires to build a better citizenship and a better community in which to live."

"It is a question whether any association of any kind has ever equalled the records of the 17,050 activities carried on last year by our 2650 clubs or has exercised an influence which has been so far reaching."

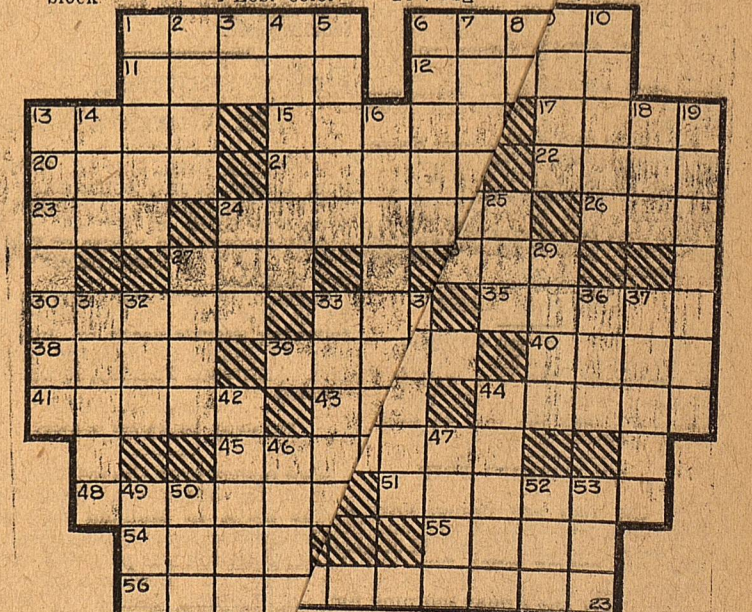

Any soil that will produce good garden crops will grow good roses.

Wedding Service at Dusk Unites Miss Myrtle Whitmire and Mr. Ben Golladay; Event on Parents' Wedding Anniversary

Before a beautiful background of greenery and garden flowers, Miss Myrtle Whitmire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Whitmire, became the bride of Mr. Ben Golladay at the Whitmire home, 818 North Baird street, Friday evening at dusk.

The event also marked the 31st wedding anniversary of the bride's parents who have resided in Midland since their marriage.

For the quiet ceremony, the bridal party stood in the doorway between the living and dining rooms which were massed with colorful blossoms. A huge trelis of greenery dotted with flowers formed the wedding altar. Baskets and floor vases outlined the setting.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Willis Blackburn of Corpus Christi, sister of the bride. Miss Lucille McMullan presided at the bride's book.

"I Love You Truly" was the pre-nuptial solo sung by Mrs. Paul T. Vickers who was wearing a dinner frock of red chiffon. Instrumental accompaniment was played by Mr. Ned Watson who also played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the bride, served as maid of honor wearing a summer model of pink print.

The bride, entering alone, was becomingly dressed in an afternoon outfit of beige crepe, fashioned with a deep lace yoke and trimmed with bands of tiny pleats. She wore a lovely shoulder corsage of orange blossoms.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride and groom left for a week's honeymoon, after which time they will return to make their home on their ranch eleven miles south of Midland.

For her going-away suit, Mrs. Golladay selected a smart black crepe two-piece frock worn with an Irish crochet blouse. Her hat was a white straw trimmed with bands of pastel colors.

Well Known Here Both Mr. and Mrs. Golladay are members of well known farm families of Midland county.

During the past five years she has been employed in the Midland public schools as a teacher of art. She was valedictorian of the class of 1923. She later entered the University of Texas, majoring in architecture. In the university she was a member of two national honorary fraternities, one an architectural organization and the other a debating and literary club. Both here and in Austin she was active in literary and religious circles.

Mr. Golladay, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Golladay, is interested in the ranching business. He is a graduate of the Maypearl high school and later was a student of John Tarlton college and Abilene Christian college.

Smart Dinner Gown

BY JOAN SAVOY NEA Service Writer

There is something divinely alluring about slim white gowns when the moon comes up and the orchestra finds a waltz. White knows how to be youthfully appealing at the same time that it looks sophisticated enough to know what the dance is about.

This dinner dress uses simple modeled lines, divinely slender, until it reaches the accented pleated skirt, when it widens out in an intriguing manner. The sleeves, which are slightly puffed at the elbows, are made in one piece and doubled.

The neck is low with a youthful roundness, and the turban which points up, over the left eye, has a come-hither air, which is increased by two rows of demure white cheneille flowers.

Frederic March and Sylvia Sidny Co-Star in Crossed Society Drama First Time; But Are Called Perfect In Art

The selection of Frederic March for the leading male role in Paramount's "Merrily We Go To Hell," which is a picture dramatization of Cleo Lucas' startling novel of a year ago, is not a casual choice of the casting office, report studio officials.

The dramatic stature of Frederic March has increased materially in the eyes of the public in his latest films, "Strangers in Love" and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." In these pictures he reached the heights of dramatic artistry.

Today March stands almost alone in his capacity for an unusually great range of dramatic roles. It is this wide versatility that led Paramount officials to assign him his present difficult role.

As Jerry, in Miss Lucas' original story, "I, Jerry Take Thee, Joan," he has a part, in the dramatized version, "Merrily We Go To Hell," that is similar to the one he portrayed so effectively in "My Sin," with Tallulah Bankhead playing opposite him. Thus, again he plays the part of a truly lovable man beset with a craving for liquor, a habit that brings him to the verge of a domestic tragedy, in which Sylvia Sidny as his wife is his dramatic contra-foil.

March's success on the screen is the result of training, hard work, and an inherent dramatic talent, which with the years has come to full flower. He started life as a banker, but figures and finance proved uninteresting. He felt the lure of the stage and responded to its call. Fifteen years ago he started his dramatic work in the best of schools—a dramatic repertoire company and steadily advanced to the rank of a Broadway featured player. Then he was drafted for pictures.

For six years March has practically devoted himself to the screen. He has played many roles in pictures and early attracted the attention of fans. His dual role of Jekyll and Hyde is a classic portrayal of a dramatic masterpiece.

In "Merrily We Go To Hell," which comes to the Yucca theatre today, March for the first time co-stars with Sylvia Sidny.

IT IS EASY enough to buy wisely when you can see what you are getting.

But how about those products that you can't see?

Foods, drugs, toilet necessities—all hidden by a bottle or a package.

If you do not recognize the name on the label, how can you judge the value behind it?

You can't!

Shopping experience has proved this to millions of women. But experience uses bitter methods. Costly methods.

When you buy only those products which you see advertised regularly week after week, in newspapers and magazines—when you are guided by the names you know—you are safe.

But when you experiment with untried brands—substitute products which you are told are “just as good”—you may be sorry.

The manufacturer who knows the wisdom of advertising also knows the folly of false claims.

His integrity is the integrity of his product. Your good will is the rock on which he stands. If it crumbles, his success goes with it into dust.

The truthful, consistent advertising of any manufacturer is proof of his pride in the merchandise he offers you.

But it is even more than that. It is his promise of constant quality and definite purity. Of honest weight. Of full value in return for your money and your confidence.

These facts are published by this newspaper in an earnest attempt to help you buy more wisely.

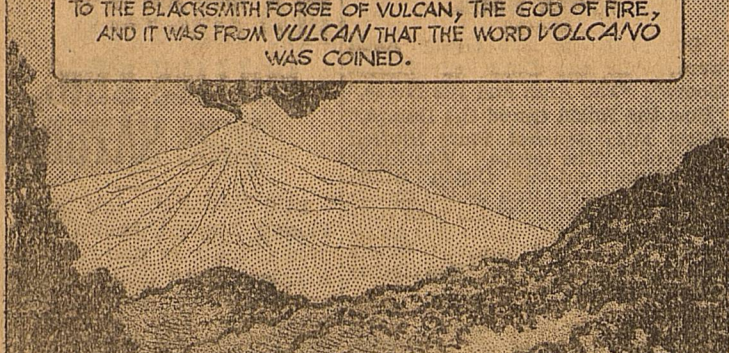

When you shop, accurate information is your best protection against the disappointment which often hides behind an unknown label.

AT THE LIBRARY
New books on the new shelf at the library are:
"Old Wine for New" by Deeping. "the story of Spencer Searsdale, bachelor, dreamer and idealist—a hack writer, whose trust in mankind remains unshaken by his World War experience or the sordidness of Post War London. Competed by circumstances to seek cheaper lodgings, he finds Eleanor Richmond, whose qualities of mind and heart prove a transforming influence which lead to literary success and supreme happiness."
"Robbers' Boats" by Zane Grey, with this book Zane Grey returns to the setting of his greatest triumph—the Utah of the "Riders of the Purple Sage" and "Rainbow Trail." Every quality for which Zane Grey is dear to his readers can be found in "this book."
"State Fair" by Strong. "Here is a gay novel about the Middle West—a story as American as Niagara Falls—and as elemental."
Moscow prisoners are employed for union hours at a reasonable wage, pay for their keep, and get two weeks' vacation every year.

UNITED CLUB MOVES INTO A TRIPLE KTIIE IN NOCTURNE AND COWDEN-EPLEY SHOWS STRENGTH IN HOKUS POKUS WIN

By HERB ROUNTREE
Cowden-Epley stepped into a tie for fifth place in the Nocturne league Friday night, defeating Hokus Pokus grocery 7-5.

United Dry Goods moved up into a tie with Texas Electric and Midland Hardware, defeating Petroleum Drug 8-4.

The Fords, last club in the first half, when they won only one game, hit seven safeties while the Groccymen collected only six. S. Allen sent eight men to the bench and played all over the general utility field area, several of his changes exceptionally hard. Martin hit a scratch blow that went for four bases, the ball fanning him most of the way around the sacks. The game was fast, being played in 40 minutes, the fastest of the second half.

Both the United and Drug clubs made a half dozen errors. Joe Pierce stood out with another home run. Woody made a grandstand catch of L. Nicholson's line drive that carried an almost certain two-base comeback.
