WINTER TOUCHES THIS AREA AS NATION'S MERCURY DROPS

FREEZE IS FORECAST TONIGHT

Temperature Reaches 36 Degrees Here Early Today

Midland was experiencing a touch of winter today as the mercury hung around 37 degrees at 6 o'clock this morning, dropped to 36 at 8 o'clock and then climbed slowly upward with 40 degrees at 10 and 42 degrees at one o'clock this afternoon. It was predicted that 42 would be the high mark as no sign of climbing was noted thereafter.

A slight rainfall, registering .08 of an inch, fell early today, being accompanied for a short time by sleet.

Yesterday's low temperature mark was 42 degrees, the maximum going to 76.

Fair and colder weather is the forecast for West Texas tonight, with fair weather Thursday. An Associated Press report says the weather bureau predicts temperature of 32 degrees, the freezing point, for West Texas tonight.

Freezes for Texas

Subfreezing temperatures, sleet, rain and scattered flurries of snow are on the calendar of government weather bureaus for various portions of Texas within 24 hours. Brisk winds from the Rocky mountains, where snow was drifting higher today, were scheduled to bring the first wave of winter to Texas.

Rain was predicted for the eastern portion. A norther will change the precipitation to snow and sleet in the extreme southwest.

At Medford, Oregon, William Godfrey, forest ranger, died of cold and exhaustion in a storm that has raged in the Pacific northwest since Sunday. Allan Larson of Fairview, Utah, was missing in a storm today.

Snow at Amarillo

DALLAS, Nov. 19. (AP)—Snow, rain and sunshine was Texas' weather combination today as cold moved in from the Rocky Mountains. Amarillo and Borger received the season's first snowfall, melting as it fell.

Temperature of 35 degrees and a 30-mile an hour wind reached Wichita Falls and Vernon. El Paso reported 33 degrees with rain and a trace of snow. Nearby mountains were blanketed with snow. Wind unroofed the home of C. E. Wright, whose family escaped uninjured.

Gainesville reported a sudden drop in temperature with a light shower. Dallas had a brief sprinkle.

Freeze Predicted The United States weather bureau predicted freezing temperature for the Panhandle and northern Texas within 24 hours. West Texas temperature of 32 degrees was forecast.

Western United States today generally saw a headlong flight of the protracted Indian summer. Western Kansas reported heavy snows at St. Francis and spring showers at Ellsworth and Hays.

Drouth is Ended

Heavy snowfall was reported in mountain passes by Denver stockmen. That area was jubilant as fair weather had threatened to deplete range land. Storage reservoirs were nearly dry.

Helena, Montana, reported 12 degrees below zero; Wyoming had snow from six inches to two feet. Southern California mountains reported heavy snowfall, frost warnings were issued at San Bernardino and San Fernando valleys.

PRAYER MEETING

The mid-week prayer service of the First Methodist church will be held this evening at 7:30.

Foreign Emissaries With King at Ceremony

LEFT—Highest dignitary of the emissaries sent by world powers to the coronation of Ras Tafari as Emperor of Abyssinia was Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester, third son of King George V. This first photo shows him, left, with the Ethiopian ruler, as they stood at salute during the playing of the national anthem in Addis Ababa. The long program of state ceremonies and religious rites (Abyssinia has been a Christian country for 1600 years) were unparalleled in modern times for magnificence and barbaric splendor. It was a $3,000,000 show, and is said to have exhausted the royal treasury.

ABOVE—Barbaric splendor and lavish pageantry such as the modern world never before has seen marked the ceremonies attendant upon the crowning of Ras Tafari Makonnen, 39-year-old prince who for 14 years has been regent of Abyssinia, as Emperor Haile Selassie I. Various feasts and colorful religious rites were prepared for the thousands of subjects and delegations of foreign governments who journeyed to Addis Ababa, capital city of Abyssinia. In this NEA Service-Reporter-Telegram photo, which was rushed by airplane to London and is the first to reach the United States, you see Ras Tafari, indicated by arrow, at the unveiling ceremony of a statue to the late King Menelik II. Grouped about the royal dais are native princes and foreign guests of honor.

LEGION HEAD MAY SEEK CONGRESS GENERAL PLACE

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (UP)—Ernest Cox, Corsicana farmer and state commander of the American Legion, today confirmed the belief that he will be a candidate for congressman at large from Texas in the event the state is not redistricted before the next congressional election.

Cox said he understood that State Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock also would be a candidate. It is doubtful who will seek the other place allowed by the addition of three Texas congressmen as announced in Hoover's official census report yesterday. Clint Small of Wellington was mentioned.

Cox served in the 39th, and 40th and part of the 41st Texas legislatures and resigned to seek the legion commandership.

Hip Flask Ban Is Asked by W.C.T.U.

HOUSTON, Nov. 19. (AP)—The Women's Christian Temperance Union convention here today, through action of the executive committee, appealed to merchants to stop advertising and espousing for sale or selling hip pocket flasks, saying that flasks are "used for transporting liquor for beverage purposes, hence contributing to violation of the law."

KILLED BROTHERS WHO TREATED HIM ROUGH, ADMITS

BELLEVUE, Ky., Nov. 19. (UP)—Breaking under police questioning, Samuel Kelly of Cincinnati admitted here today that he shot and killed Edward and John Gallagher, brothers, and seriously wounded Francis, another brother, as climax of a quarrel here today. "They treated me rough," was Kelly's only explanation.

SCHOLASTIC GAIN MIDLAND COUNTY AMONG LARGEST

Midland county was among the leaders in West Texas from the standpoint of gain in scholastic population over last year, reports from the department of education at Austin indicate.

Midland county shows a scholastic population of 2,115 for 1930, a gain of 409 over 1929. It received special mention by Austin newspaper writers along with Lubbock, Potter, Tom Green and other large counties for its increase.

Flight of DO-X May Be Abandoned

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 19. (AP)—Maurice Dornier announced today that he was almost certain the project of the transatlantic flight of the gigantic German seaplane, DO-X, will be abandoned on account of adverse weather all along the Portuguese coast and across the Atlantic.

MURDER BELIEF IS HELD

Small Boys With Guns Seen Near Place On Tuesday

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19. (UP)—Authorities are investigating the possibility that two boys found today decapitated on the International Great Northern tracks near here might have been murdered.

On one body was found a Michigan driver's license issued to Willard J. Mulder of Ludington, Michigan.

W. H. Ramps, foreman of the section crew, said he saw four boys with pistols yesterday near where the bodies were found.

Troops Patrol in Spain Revolt Area

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 19. (AP)—Fears of a revolution, which last night caused authorities to rush troops into the city with orders to shoot first and investigate afterwards if mobs assembled, apparently were subsiding today. Grim cavalrymen, looking like Texas rangers, continued to patrol with riot guns. Disorders also were reported at Seville, Barcelona.

Advertising for Revival of Press

Advertising for the Christian church evangelistic services to begin Sunday, Nov. 23, and continue through Dec. 7, was off the press Tuesday and will be placed in windows and other public places this week.

The Rev. Howard Peters, pastor of the church, will conduct the preaching services, assisted by W. P. Deatheridge, choir director and cartoonist.

THREE STEAMERS IN DISTRESS ON VARIOUS WATERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Ocean steamships were in distress in several places today. The crew and 550 passengers of the British liner Highland Hope were taken off the sinking ship to Peniche after the ship struck a reef off the coast of Portugal.

The Swedish steamship Ovidia was reported slowly sinking 400 miles off Cape Race, with an American steamer rushing to the rescue.

Another Swedish steamer, Panja, which left Danzig ten days ago was feared lost. It dropped out of sight in the South Baltic.

Deer Hunter Uses Primordial Weapons

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 19. (AP)—Deer hunting with a rifle may be all right for some nimrods, but Hugh C. Yantis of Austin believes in giving the animals a chance. So Yantis hunts with the same weapons used by the native Americans, the bow and arrow.

Yantis is superintendent of construction at the University of Texas.

For the past three years he has hunted only with his trusty bow and arrow but he has never been successful in killing a deer. He has, however, killed a large amount of small game with his primordial weapons.

Episcopalians Awarded Bid for Library Bldg.; Hope to Build Church

The Episcopal church body in Midland has been informed that its bid was accepted for the Midland county library building, and plans for the use of the building have been made, it was announced today by members.

Mrs. J. L. Crump, a member of the church, has donated two lots where the building is to be moved. The building is to be used as a parish house for various social and business gatherings, and plans now are to build a sanctuary, closed off by folding doors which can be thrown open to convert the building into a chapel at any time. The sanctuary is to be at one end of the building, and at the other a room for any visiting rector, and a kitchenette will be erected.

Episcopalians in Midland are few and they are therefore building slowly. The purchase of the building for a parish house is the first move toward realization of a church on the site donated by Mrs. Crump, at some future date. The group expects some day to have both a church building and a rectory.

OFFICIALS FOR GAME GIVEN OUT BY HIGH SCHOOL

Officials for the Midland-Stanton football game to be played on Lackey field, Midland, Friday for the sub-district championship, were announced this morning from the office of the superintendent of schools, W. W. Lackey.

Dr. V. A. Scott, Stephenville man who played football at Texas A. & M. college, will referee. J. N. Spikes, Lamesa man who is well known here from officiating in former Midland games, will umpire. He is a former Texas university man, Jim Cantrell, who for three years that ended in 1927 was a star football and basketball player with T. C. U., will be head linesman. J. C. Moore, former A. & M. college college player, will be field judge.

Ford Thought First To Bring Back Buck

J. B. Ford is believed to have killed the first buck of the season, contrary to an erroneous report received Tuesday. He and Mr. Ray of the Atlantic brought back two deer, one of which, the one Ford killed, was the biggest seen in this section.

Ford is described as one who gets his deer each year. They tell, hunters around this section of the state that he has not been known to miss a buck when the conditions were even.

Ford brought in one of the biggest bucks of the season last year.

The Midland Hardware company is giving an expensive hunting knife to the one who shoots the largest buck during the season.

Lions Orchestra Praised by Body

The members of the Lions club believe that no organization of its type in Midland has a better orchestra than the one directed by Lion Ned Watson.

The orchestra is composed of Lion Watson, Fred Middleton, Walter Elkin, Thomas and Dr. D. K. Ratliff, with Mrs. Holt Jowell as accompanist.

Each Wednesday this orchestra plays while the Lions are eating, and the gratitude of the members is shown by the glad hand given the musicians.

CHILD IN HOSPITAL

Wallace Jones, 7-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jones, who was rushed to the Thomas hospital late Tuesday evening for an emergency appendicitis operation, stood the operation well, and is resting nicely today. He shows promise of a rapid recovery, reports from the hospital today said.

MARTIAL LAW FOR BETHANY

Sixty Injured and 100 Houses Are Destroyed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19. (UP)—A cyclone cut a 300 foot swath through the eastern half of Bethany, a town of 2,000 inhabitants, five miles east of here today. At noon, seventeen known dead had been counted and at least 60 persons were injured. More than 100 houses were destroyed.

Three companies of national guardsmen were ordered to the village by Adjutant General Charles Barrett when he returned from a tour of inspecting the ruins. Pillage of houses resulted in the declaration of martial law.

Casualties were brought to Oklahoma City in ambulances and private cars. Crowds hampered rescue work. All communication with the stricken area was disrupted. Witnesses said the storm came from the south and lasted but a few minutes.

School Is Demolished

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—At least 17 are dead and 60 injured from a twisting windstorm hitting Bethany, seven miles from here, today. The storm demolished the Campbell Creek school near here, killing Marguerite Zurling, Delbert Sharp and an unidentified person. Miss Mary Proctor and several pupils were injured.

Bethany communication was hampered and rescue work was rushed. Many dead and injured were brought here. Three companies of national guard were ordered there.

Is Nazarene Center

John Hutchinson, who brought several of the injured here, said a hundred buildings were destroyed and there was a foot of water in the streets.

Bethany is largely populated with Nazarene church members. Bethany Penial college is located there. The surrounding area is thickly settled. The eastern half of the town was razed.

Swedish Ship Sends Distress Messages

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (UP)—The Radio Marine Corporation intercepted SOS messages from the Swedish steamship Ovidia, saying the vessel was leaking badly and sinking. The ship was about 1,000 miles east of Boston. Messages said the steamer Endicott was rushing to give aid.

Attack Probed

The Ohio department of the American Legion has announced an investigation of the action of members of the St. Clairsville, O., post, led by Nelson McQuillan, above, in hurling tear gas bombs into a grocery store that failed to close on Armistice Day. McQuillan remarked afterwards that he was sorry it was "necessary to impose patriotism on an American concern."

IRAAN PUMPER KILLED AS HE LIES BY BRIDE

IRAAN, Nov. 19. (AP)—A revolver flashed three times Tuesday the supposed message of jealousy in the heart of a divorced woman, and her former husband lay dead by the side of his bride.

Claude James Henderson, pumper on the lease of the Phillips Petroleum corporation, is dead, and his divorced wife, Avia Henderson, was held without ball as the result of the fatal shooting while he slept with his bride of two weeks at his side, at 2 o'clock that morning.

Arrested Nearby

She was arrested by Justice of the Peace D. H. Mitchell in a "dog-house" below the hill where the shooting occurred in a company camp. In her effects was found a letter addressed to a brother.

Henderson was shot twice through the breast and once through the chin.

Mrs. Henderson is said to have left Fort Worth Monday morning and to have driven steadily the 425 miles with few stops. She was hysterical after the arrest and was taken to Fort Stockton by Sheriff W. P. Rooney where she was placed in jail.

Mrs. Henderson, the recent bride grieved by the intruding woman and was bruised in the attempt to protect her husband.

Passed Thru Another Room

The slayer is said to have entered the home on the lease by the kitchen door, to have turned on the light in a room where another couple slept and then to have passed to the room where Henderson was sleeping. He rolled to the floor and died ten minutes after he was shot.

Henderson and the accused woman lived together here on the (See IRAAN PUMPER page 8)

PROMOTING NEIGHBORLY VISITS

High school football, as has been said in this column before, is a goodwill builder. Scores, or even hundreds of citizens accompany their football heroes from town to town, yelling themselves hoarse when a young freckled faced broken field runner intercepts a pass and upsets the dope bucket, bringing victory to his team.

Midland will have an opportunity to play host to Stanton, one of the nearest and most respected neighbors, Friday afternoon.

Stanton comes to Midland commanding admiration as well as respect. Looking at Stanton from the football angle, it is likely that no Texas town the size of Stanton, with population of approximately 1,500, ever turned out a better football team than the aggregation representing that neighbor.

To begin with, the Stanton youths tied the score with the heavier Midland opponents early in the season. Following up the good work, they have beaten the same teams Midland has beaten in the district and it is now time for Midland to reckon with Stanton to determine who may be eligible for playing the south half of the district.

Stanton football boys come by their grit and sportsmanship honestly. They come from good old solid folks, just like we have here in Midland. They don't have large numbers to draw from, hence they do a good job with the numbers they have.

Midland is honored to have this visit from Stanton Friday, and even though the Bull Dogs and Midland fans are fighting to the last inch in the game, Midland regards the occasion as a gala day, having Stanton as guest.

ENDING PROVINCIALISM

One of the things that modern America takes pride in is the fact that provincialism and sectionalism are rapidly vanishing. Automobiles, newspapers, magazines, radios and similar contrivances have widened every man's horizon.

In a way this is an excellent thing. It is doing away with narrowness and prejudice. The man who lives on a distant farm is not so apt to think that the city is a fabulous place of rampant sin and gilded wickedness; he has been there himself, and knows better. People are not "set in their ways" as they used to be, firmly opposed to any change; they know how the world is moving, and if New York takes up a new invention or a new custom today, the rest of the country will have it tomorrow.

However, there is another side to it. Provincialism can lead to warped minds and cramped horizons, but it can also lead to healthy strength and solid, well-rooted traditions. It can be expressed in ignorance and suspicion, but it can also be expressed in a wholesome sectional pride and a broad understanding and appreciation of one's immediate background.

A generation ago most Americans could be recognized at a glance as belonging to one or another particular section. The New Englander was utterly unlike the Carolinian. The middle westerner had nothing in common with the man from the Rockies. A man from California differed profoundly from the Texan.

Of course, there are still differences in speech, in minor customs and sometimes in dress and stature. But the old differences are gone. The man from Vermont and the man from Missouri think very much alike, today. They read the same books and magazines, listen to the same radio programs, buy the same kind of goods in their stores—and, as like as not, get in their automobiles and four through each other's state in the summer time.

In some ways, of course, this is a huge gain. But it is not all gain. Those old qualities bred by sectional differences were, in many cases, very fine. It is good for a man to feel that his own section is a place especially favored by providence. A young man growing up under such conditions stays near his home and gives his own native county or state the benefit of his talents. But today, if he lives anywhere in the east, he is apt to migrate at once to New York; if he lives in the middle west, Chicago is apt to claim him, or possibly Detroit; if he is a west coast man, Los Angeles or San Francisco will get him.

This acts as a drain on vast stretches of the country, impoverishing them of their most ambitious and industrious citizens. It is hardly a wholesome process. A return of a little of our old provincialism would not be a bad thing for us.

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

Really Serious Problem Facing Drys Is the Fact That Neither Party Can Win Presidential Election in 1932 Without Electoral Votes of States That Went Wet This Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—One way to look at the wet-dry situation in the next Congress is to accept the fact that the drys claim large majorities and that there consequently will be no change in the laws.

The other way is to acknowledge the fact that scores of members counted dry would be delighted to vote wet if they became convinced that it was politically safe and that in many sections the safety or even the urgent advisability of such a switch has been definitely indicated.

Although the drys insist that their majorities in both houses constitute an impregnable bulwark for the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment, it has always been a pet boast of some leaders in the Anti-Saloon League that fear of the league's strength was all that kept Congress from voting overwhelmingly wet at the first opportunity.

The wets always figured that way, too. Their investigations have shown that there were many wet-drinking, dry-voting members who were really opposed to prohibition and also some dry-drinking, dry-voting members who are finally convinced that the law won't work and that most people don't want it. Dry Took Licking The drys have really taken a bad licking in 1930 despite their protestations of content. When the wets swept through New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio, Illinois and other states where one party or both came out wet for the first time or where wet candidates were elected to succeed drys it simply can't be laughed off.

There has been a big trend this year, both popular and political, toward the wet side. The trend may be temporary and it may slow up.

And no one should lose sight of the significance given to the New York and Illinois elections by the woefully small votes polled by independent third candidates put into the field by the dry organizations to punish Republican candidates in those two states.

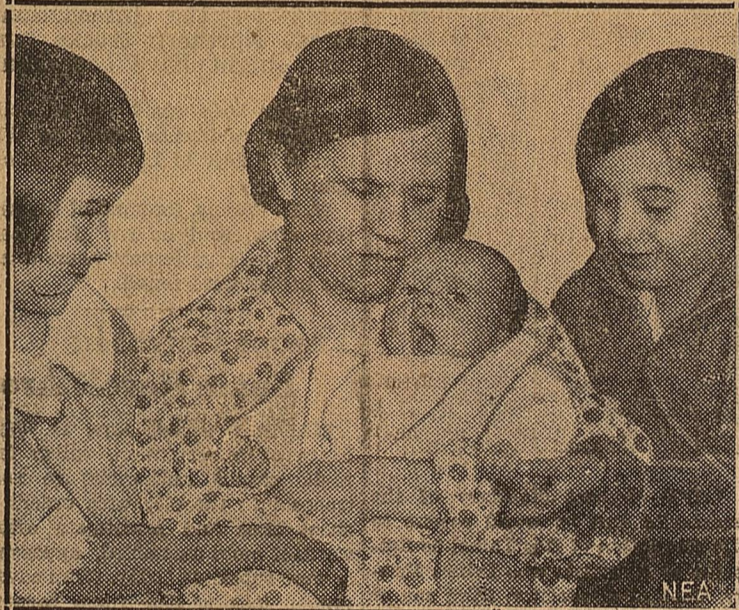

The dry tickets were far too weak to punish anyone. It may be argued that other issues piled up the pluralities for the Democratic candidates and that if the contests had been close the dry third tickets would have pulled away enough dry Republican votes to administer the punishment as one did in New York in 1926 when Senator Wadsworth was defeated.

Both Wet in 1932? But it isn't easy to hope that the Republican party will prefer to continue to live in fear of punishment and anyone who believes the New York and Illinois Republicans will turn dry again is very optimistic indeed.

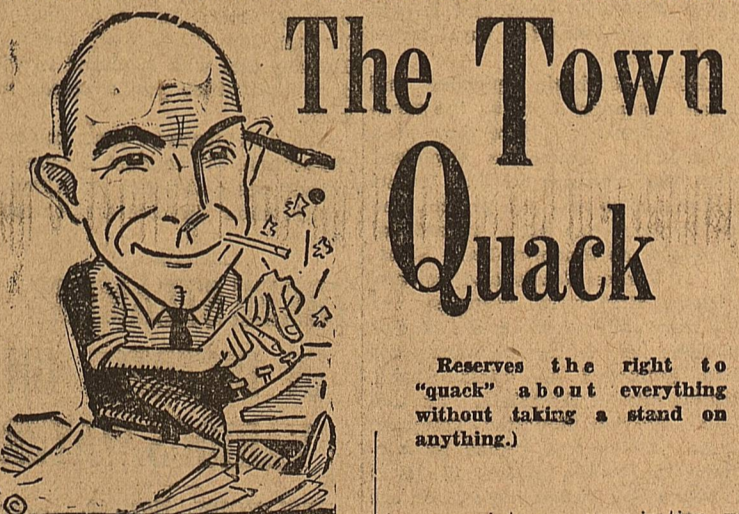

The really tough point the drys are up against is the fact that neither party can win the 1932 presidential election without the electoral votes of the states which of even winning without New York, have gone wet in 1930. The thought, Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts is manifestly absurd. Consequently there are quite a few canny observers who believe that both party platforms in 1932 will be wet—that either both will call for repeal or one for repeal and the other for modification. In other words, that the politicians—who nearly all care more about winning elections than about the worries of the Anti-Saloon League—won't dare to be dry any more than they have previously dared to be wet.

So regardless of what may happen in Congress—and something

Blind Mother Fights for Baby

What would you do if you were the judge? Mrs. Julius Fedor, above, a blind mother of Cleveland, Ohio, has gone into court to resist efforts of the juvenile court to take six-weeks-old Robert Fedor from her on the ground that, being blind, she is incompetent to care for the infant. Mrs. Fedor and her husband, Julius Fedor, also blind, point proudly to their two other children, Agnes, 8, and Margaret, 9, both of whom are normal.

You hear a lot about cooks these days, good cooks and poor cooks, especially because Midland women are getting ready to enter their fruit cakes in The Reporter-Telegram's $20 prize contest. I heard the other day of a cook, a negro in fact, who was seeking a job. When asked how she could cook, she replied, "Either way." "What do you mean, either way?" the housewife asked. "I can cook so the guests will come back or so they won't, just which ever you want," the applicant said.

Have you started in to do your Christmas shopping? I hate to have to take that up again this year. It looks like the public would take the "shop early" advice to heart some day and actually get going on the shopping for the benefit of themselves and of the clerks who wait on them.

Archduke Otto and the Hapsburg Curse

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE —Yesterday, Milton Bronner told how the young Archduke Otto, reaching the age of 18 on Nov. 20, now becomes eligible for the throne of Hungary, which was lost by his father, the late Emperor Karl, when the once proud empire of Austria-Hungary was shattered by the World War.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

By MILTON BRONNER, European Manager, NEA Service (Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A prince though a pauper, the young Archduke Otto, heir to the thousand-year-old crown of the Hapsburgs, has been prepared for a kingship since the day he left his cradle.

His mother, the keen-witted Empress Zita, has seen to that, with the aid of a few Magyar aristocrats of the old school. Undaunted by her emperor-husband's overthrow and loss of his throne, by their exile, by his death and by poverty, she has persevered for her son.

Some day, if the rates are kind and the people of Hungary are willing, Otto may be king. The regency that has ruled Hungary since Emperor Karl was dethroned may be overthrown by the monarchists. And history may record the price of that overthrow in the blood and tears of millions. It might be the spark that would touch off another great war in Europe.

Reduced to Poverty

Young Otto has had it impressed on him that some day he is to be king. The few servants that his mother had in the house after misfortune befell them had to call him "Your Imperial Highness." His brothers and sisters, all younger, had to pay him deference. He was brought up as the head of the family ruler of a little household kingdom under the regency of his mother.

And what a poor kingdom—an old rambling house at Lequeitio in Spain. The family was poor. Their inheritances in Austria and Hungary had been taken away from them. They had a roof over their heads, thanks to the kindness of King Alfonso of Spain. Food and clothes were provided by money sent them by old Magyar aristocrats, who knew their poverty and recognized them as their reigning family.

The housekeeping was of the simplest. The rooms were bare save for actual necessities. The menu for dinner was very plain—soup, meat or fish, a sweet. Frequently the fish and the fruits were supplied by peasant farmers who brought them as gifts.

The royal children were kept isolated and had only themselves as playmates. Otto became a pretty good oarsman, learning the trick in a fisherman's boat. He was keen to have a horse, but the family resources could not afford that; later he had the use of a horse, thanks to the Spanish Count Urquijo. At times they had the use of a car and chauffeur, thanks to the thoughtfulness of King Alfonso.

Even at 10 Otto began to take the king business seriously. He would be playing at being a commanding officer. His brothers and sisters would be soldiers. He would drill them, give orders.

"Do as I tell you!" Otto would exclaim. "I am the king!" "Shucks," would retort his younger brother Robert. "You are only my brother."

Otto had a regular and rigid schedule. German and French were taught him, of course. And because he was to be King of Hungary some day, he began to learn that every difficult language.

Taught Hapsburg History

History was taught him from the monarchical point of view. He learned the story of the ancient House of Hapsburg and the ramshackle empire of many nationalities it had ruled over. In geography, the former structure of the Austro-Hungarian empire before the World War was especially stressed. And as the Hapsburgs had always been the supreme war lords in command of their armies, he began to have lessons in war making.

The walls of his own classroom were hung with maps. The war game was taught him by means of miniature troops—infantry, cavalry, heavy and light artillery, tanks, airplanes. From the ceiling hung miniature dirigibles which could bomb the troops on their positions.

A few years later Hungarians took a hand in the game. If Otto was to be King of Hungary some day, it was high time that he be given an Hungarian, rather than an Austrian, slant.

Monarchists Send Tutors

In Hungary among the great Magyar aristocrats who favored his cause were Count Apponyi, Count Westphal, Count Joseph Karolyi and Count Apponyi came to visit the family. Apponyi fascinated the young king. He was a living story book of history of the Hapsburg lands. He was so old and so wise.

He would start a sentence in Hungarian, wander into French and, perhaps, end the sentence in Italian or German. He impressed upon the boy that a king who is going to rule over people speaking different tongues and who is going to have to transact business with statesmen and soldiers from foreign lands, must be able to talk to them in their own language. The play-king set to work to make of himself a linguist.

Count Apponyi went back to Hungary and reported that the boy was remarkably bright. The count found that the lad, at 16, had a considerable knowledge of history, politics, civics, science, philosophy, international law and statecraft. But he wanted Otto to know more about Hungarian history and literature. So two Hungarian tutors were sent to him—a Benedictine monk and Count Degenfeld, who had once been an official at the court of the boy's father.

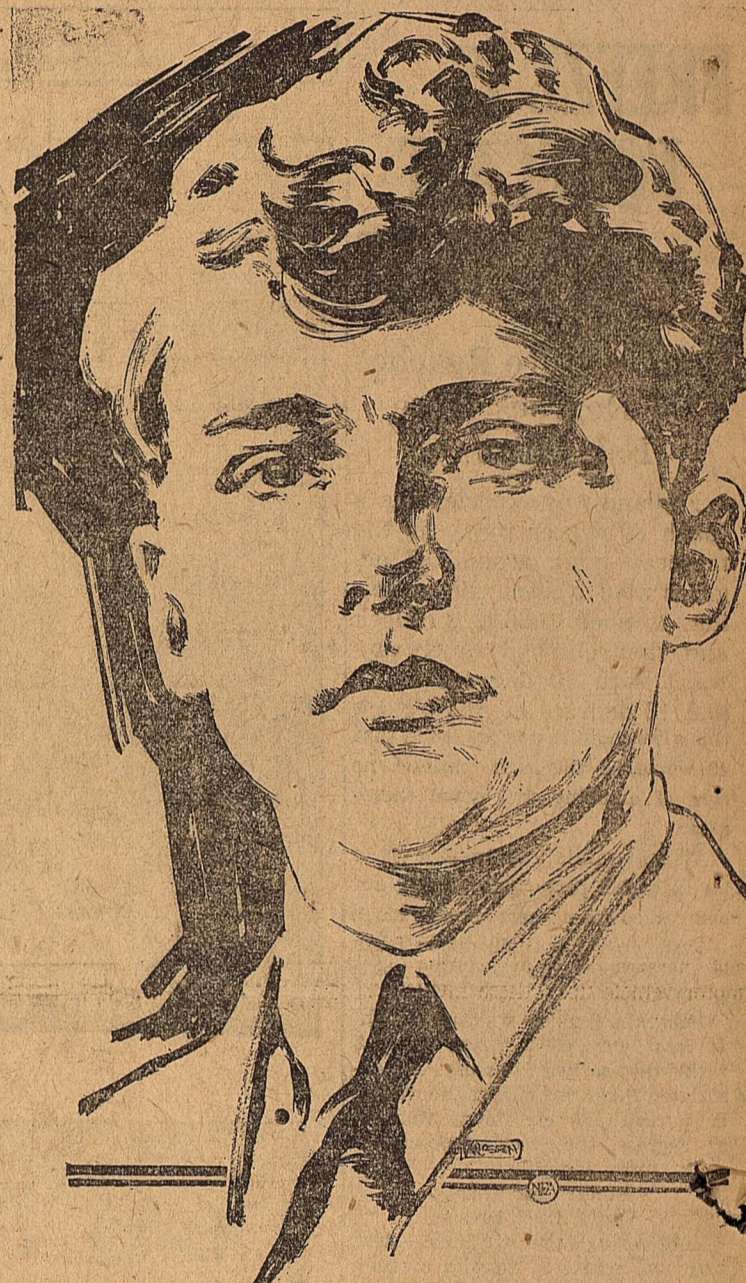

Given Kingly Robes

Apponyi and other Magyar nobles also sent Otto a complete kingly wardrobe. He had a velvet suit with knee breeches, a king's state robes, the uniforms of the common. It will not be possible for all members of the Hapsburg family to attend in person his coming of age, but all members of the family, whether they intend to be present or not, must return a declaration of allegiance with signature as soon as possible. Every member of the Hapsburg family is absolutely to regard himself as supporting with all his powers the restoration which is being prepared.

Allies Barred-Return

Now the flaw in all this is that the allied powers in the World War, through their ambassadors, declared themselves against any Hapsburgs ever again mounting the throne in manding officers in various historic Hungarian regiments. Otto was carefully posed, dressed in these various costumes, and the photographs then made were quietly circulated among people in Hungary favorable to the boy's cause. They were designed as vivid reminders that Otto, the regal heir, was growing up into a handsome lad, ready to assume responsibilities when the time came. A Hapsburg comes of age at 18, and at 18 old Emperor Franz Joseph ascended the throne and reigned for 68 years.

But Otto was reaching an age where his higher education had to be considered. Besides, the house in Spain was bad for the health. Empress Zita was a constant sufferer from neuralgia, and some of the younger children suffered from quinsy.

Zita's brother, Prince Sixtus of Parma, sounded out the Belgian royal family and found there was no objection to their coming to Belgium, provided assurances were given that nothing political would be attempted. Thereupon the Marquis de Croix paced at their disposal his old castle of Steenockerzeel, near Louvain.

Enters University

It was considered essential that Otto should not only attend a university, but, especially, one under Catholic influence, and the University of Louvain filled this bill to perfection. It is the famous university partially ruined by the Germans during the war and largely restored by American money.

Otto became a student there in October, 1929. He entered under the incognito of Duke du Bar of Reichenau. He passed his examinations with distinction.

While he was busy with his books, his energetic mother, according to papers in Prague and Budapest, was busy with her pen. One story says that, signing herself Empress and Queen, she recently sent a letter to all adult members of the Hapsburg family in connection with a family gathering to celebrate her boy's coming of age. The letter is said to be as follows:

"His Majesty, the Emperor and King Otto, will take over on Nov. 20 next the leadership of the Hapsburg family and also all the prerogatives connected with his posi-

Austria or Hungary. And the Little Entente, composed of Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia, recently once more declared itself ready to fight rather than see a Hapsburg king of Hungary.

TOMORROW: The old Emperor Franz Joseph, Otto's grandfather... beginning the story of the historic "Hapsburg Curse."

Since the separation of the United States from Great Britain 98 men named Smith have served in Congress. During the same time 47 men named Jones have served in the body.

RAILWAY EDITOR SAYS GOVERNMENT HURTING ROADS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—Calling attention to the fact that the average number of persons employed by the railways in the first eight months of 1930 was only 1,554,552, or smaller than for more than 20 years, Samuel O. Dunn, editor of the Railway Age vigorously attacked government highway and waterway policies. He urged railway employees throughout the country to rise up against policies of both the national and state governments, which, he charged, are largely responsible for so many of them being thrown out of work.

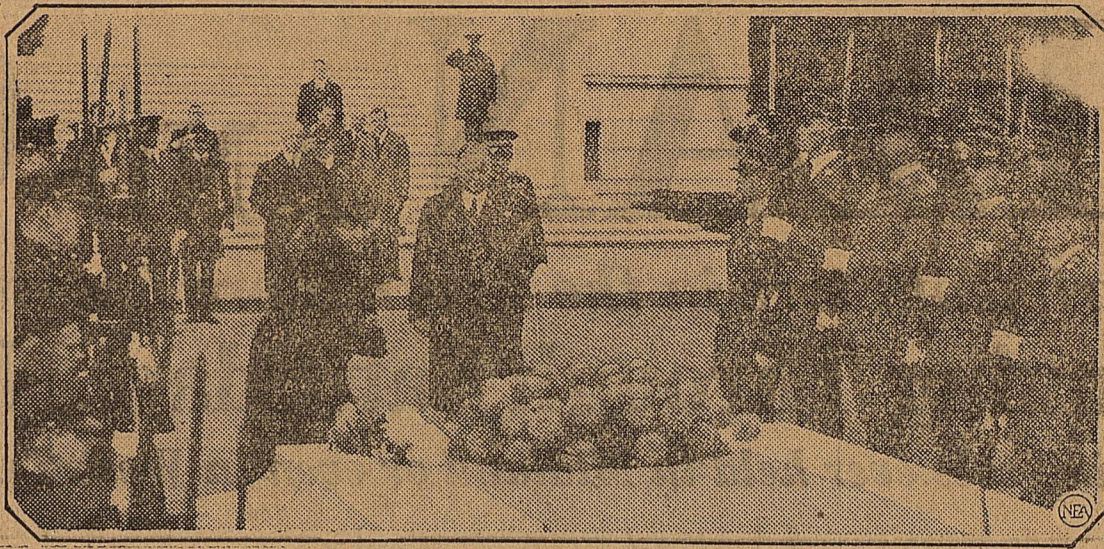

"There has been a reduction of about 127,000 this year in the number of railway employees owing to the business depression," said Mr. Dunn, "but the general tendency of the railroad employment has been downward for some years, even when general business has been good. General business was good from 1922 almost to the end of 1929; but the number of railway employees in 1929 was almost 200,000 less than in 1928, and is therefore this year about 320,000 less than in 1923.

"This is in very striking contrast to what occurred prior to the last decade. In 1890 the number of railway employees was 750,000, in 1900 it had increased to more than 1,000,000; in 1910 to 1,700,000 and in 1920 to more than 2,000,000. Why did the number increase almost 200 per cent within these thirty years, and almost constantly decline within the last ten years? There were improvements in railway plants, increases in the efficiency of operation and increases in output per employe during the thirty years prior to 1920 just as there have been since. The real reason for the decline in railroad employment within recent years are to be found in the enormous decline of passenger traffic, and in the fact that railroad freight traffic increased on the average only one-third as much per year in the nine years ending with 1929 as it did throughout the entire thirty years from 1890 to 1920.

"Why have the railways been losing so much passenger business during the last decade, and why has the growth of their freight business so greatly declined? Their passenger traffic has declined so much because of the construction of hard-surfaced highways and the enormous increase of transportation by motor vehicle upon these highways. The growth of their freight traffic has so greatly declined for several seasons, but largely or mainly owing to the increased competition of motor trucks on highways and of other carriers on waterways.

"The highways were constructed at the expenditure of public money raised by taxation of all the people, including railway owners and employees, and were intended for the use of private automobiles and other vehicles of similar size and weight. The private automobile has taken most of the passenger traffic that the railways have lost, but a very large part of it has been taken by motor buses. The motor truck has taken a great deal of freight

Hoovers at Arlington Armistice Rites

It was a familiar scene at Arlington's Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, but with a significance that is ever new. Leading the nation's tribute on the twelfth anniversary of the end of the World War, President and Mrs. Hoover placed flowers on the tomb during a brief and silent ceremony. Then, at the significant hour of 11 o'clock, the time of the cessation of hostilities, he addressed the Good-Will Congress of the World Alliance for International Peace.

business, and is taking it now more rapidly than ever. The size, weight and speed of both motor buses and trucks have been constantly increased; many trucks are now pulling trains of trailers; and they are competing with the railways for long haul as well as short haul passenger business, and not only for short haul, less-than-carload freight business, but also for long haul freight traffic such as the railroads cies, which have such a plain tendency to deprive them of their employment, there would soon be a large reduction in the number of public men who believe it is good politics to favor every measure which is harmful to the railways, regardless of its effects on the employees of the railways."

Miller Twice Governor Without Knowing of It

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 19. (AP)—Two times within the last few months, Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller has been governor but did not know it. Once he was governor when Governor Dan Moody made a quick trip into Mexico to enjoy a day's hunting and the other was when he made a short visit with a delegation of officials.

But the next time he leaves the state, both Lieutenant Governor Miller and his secretary will be informed, Governor Moody said. His last trip to the southern republic was an impromptu affair and occurred while the governor was engaged in a hunt on a ranch in the Big Bend country. No method of communication was available and Governor Moody was back into the state before a message could have reached Miller.

Governor Moody has indicated he will be out of the state again before his term expires and that the lieutenant governor will have another chance to act as chief executive before both Moody and Miller go out of office in January.

While acting as governor, the lieutenant governor has all the powers of the regular chief executive. He can grant pardons, commute death sentences, appoint officials, call the legislature, declare martial law and do numerous other things. Lieutenant Governor Miller has "set in" several times for Governor Moody during the past four years.

Santone Invites Notables To Palace Entertainment

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 19. (AP)—Governor Dan Moody will join officials of San Antonio in sending invitations to the heads of three nations to the opening of the Old Spanish Governor's palace next March 4. The invitations will be sent to the King and Queen of Spain, President and Mrs. Ortiz Rubia of Mexico and President and Mrs. Hoover. The Spanish ambassador at Washington and Cardinal Patrick Hays of New York also will be asked to the ceremony.

Specially engraved invitations have been prepared by Xavier Gonzalez of Tulane university.

PLANE SAVES BOY

LONDON.—When an East Side boy was running through the Epping forest recently, he was bitten by a snake. An airplane, sent to get valuable serum, saved his life. The snake's poison spread through the boy's system so fast that a plane was the only thing practical to secure the serum. It was dispatched from Paris and made the trip in record time.

Bride Is Honoree At Miscellaneous Shower Tuesday

A complete surprise to Mrs. Fred Brown, recent bride, was a lovely party given in the home of Mrs. Ed Cole Tuesday evening, in honor of Mrs. Brown, nee Glaspy, when Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Clinton Dunagan and Miss Annie Frank Stout were hostesses.

The home was decorated in giant lavender chrysanthemums tied with bows of green tulle. Other appointments carried these colors.

The dining table was centered with a silver bowl of the chrysanthemums on a Cluny lace cloth, and grouped around this were wishes for the bride, placed as an acrostic, spelling the names Emeline Brown and Fred Brown.

After the wishes were read, a little maid, Miss Eddie Jean Cole, dressed in a modernistic rhinestone-studded velvet costume, entered and told the honoree that there was a messenger at the door with a package for her, and asked where she wished it delivered. Mrs. Brown expressed her desire to see it at once, and little Buster Cole, a brilliantly-costumed messenger, in peacock blue satin and gold braid, entered carrying a basket with the colors of green, white and lavender. The basket was loaded with gifts, and it was necessary for the young messenger to make several trips before all the gifts were brought in.

Worthy of special mention, was a beautiful pottery table lamp sent by the Junior High school, where Mrs. Brown teaches.

A toast to the bride was given by Miss Thelma Lee Rippey, one to the groom by Miss Louise Rippey, and one to the "leftovers" by Miss Vera Hefner.

The guest list included Misses Eleanor Connell, Alberta and Eula Gee Gant, Lena Solomon, Dora Wall, Evelyn Scarborough, Thelma Lee and Louise Rippey, Vera Hefner, Frances Lolley, Katherine Anderson, Phillipis, Jean Smith, Myrtle Whitmore, Stella May Lanham, Helen Wesner, Helen Milley Tamme Burrus, Janice Wilkes, and Mmes. Van Camp, Holt Jowell, Frank Wendt, A. J. Florey, H. R. Christner, Gordon Gimmell, H. B. Dunagan, Sally B. Pemberton, Fred Middleton, David Wright, J. M. White, George F. Brown, Roy Stockard, Clint Myrick, Ed Dawson, Bill Wyche, A. B. Anderson, Dunn, Marvin Ulmer, and Paul T. Vickers.

The hostesses served dainty party pieces at the close of a pleasant evening.

Stuck a Feather in Her Cap

Chic are the cheek shadows cast by the ostrich trim on a cunning little transparent velvet beret, in the new burgundy shade that Joan Clement wears. The velvet is shirred all over the crown and moulded into a plain little velvet headband. The burgundy ostrich tips point downward and forward over the ear. This Bonwit Teller beret is one of the type called "late afternoon."

Miss McCormick Hostess at One of The Week's Most Brilliant Affairs

A party of interest to Midland society was given by Miss Leona McCormick Tuesday afternoon, when she entertained members of the Edelweiss club and a number of other guests.

Autumn colors on a background of black were featured in all appointments, with autumn leaves a decorative note.

At tea time, centerpieces were a candied pond lily in a nest of autumn leaves. These went as table cuts and were awarded to Mmes. A. N. Hendrickson, E. W. Dawson, John Shipley, John Dublin, Phelphey, and Miss Thelma Riddle. Tea service carried the Thanksgiving motif, featuring pumpkins and turkeys in after dinner mints and candies.

High score favor went to Miss Lois Patterson and was a black Venetian basket filled with autumn leaves and acorns, tied in autumn colors. Miss Stella May Lanham received black lingerie for high cut. Black Venetian candlesticks tied in autumn colors, went as high guest prize to Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith.

Cabinet Member's Daughter Quits Society For Screen

Her father is a member of Parliament and holds a post in the British cabinet, but Miss Kathleen Greenwood, shown above in a new portrait, is not content with the social career thus assured her. She had a film test, signed a contract, and now is playing leading roles in British talking picture productions. Her father is the Right Hon. Arthur Greenwood, Minister of Health.

Get Ready!

iced fruit cakes, plain fruit cakes, white fruit cakes, dark fruit cakes—it makes no difference which way you choose to make your cake for the Reporter-Telegram contest. Prepare your cake the way you think you can make it most attractive and tasty.

The society desk will be glad to receive names of any contestant in the race for the best fruit cake maker. Mrs. Bud Estes, 202 West Louisiana street, has announced her intention of entering the contest today. Numbers of farm women are expected to announce right away. Entrants are not required to give their intentions, however. It is time to get busy!

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

Please the children as well as older members of the family by preparing delicious puddings. They are sure to like the following:

Graham Cracker Pudding

One pound of graham crackers, 1 pound dates, 1-2 pound marshmallows, 1 cup nut meats, cream.

Wash and stone dates. Any kind of nuts except peanuts can be used. Put crackers, nuts, dates and marshmallows through food chopper, alternating ingredients to prevent chopper from becoming clogged. Turn into a large mixing bowl and work with a wooden spoon, adding cream to make mixture moist enough to hold together. Shape into a roll about three and one-half inches in diameter and put on a platter. Place in the refrigerator to chill and become firm. Let stand at least twelve hours before serving. Cut in slices about one-half inch thick and serve with a garnish of whipped cream.

Fig Pudding

One-half pound dried figs, 1-2 cup suet, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 1-2 cups biscuit crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup sweet milk, 1 tea-spoon baking powder.

Put figs and suet through food chopper. Add sugar and work until creamy. Add eggs well beaten, biscuit crumbs and salt. Mix and add milk with baking powder dissolved in it. Mix thoroughly and turn into a buttered and floured mold. Steam three hours and serve with whipped cream.

Ladies Aid Has All Day Meeting

Plans to send a box of cookies to the orphans' home were perfected by the women of the First Christian church when they met in all-day session Tuesday at the home of Mrs. George Ratliff for quilting. Sixteen attended.

The women are to meet at the church Tuesday of next week to pack the box and send it.

Two quilts were finished at yesterday's meeting, making four which the organization has for sale.

At noon time, lunch was spread from the baskets brought by each one, and the women were joined by Rev. Howard Peters, pastor.

The Pure Food show was discussed, and it was decided to drop plans to give it soon, but to wait until after the holiday season.

Bible Study Class Meets

"Partakers of the Divine Nature" was the topic at the regular Bible study hour of the women of the Church of Christ Tuesday afternoon when they met at the church.

Mrs. J. J. Mills, teacher, led an interesting discussion, from 2nd Peter, 1:5-7.

Mmes. W. F. Hejl, A. G. Bohannon, Paul Jackson, Lewis Bewley, O. H. Jones, L. C. Harrison, Canelout, C. D. George and Rochelle were present.

After the lesson a short business meeting was held.

TICKETS GO ON SALE TODAY FOR MIDLAND-STANTON GAME HERE

Horned Toads' Stock in Decline, Still Expect to Win SW Championship

FREE TICKETS TO OTHER TEAMS OF DISTRICT

Tickets for the Friday game here between Midland and Stanton went on sale this morning.

Fifty cents for adults. Twenty-five cents for children.

It was not expected before arrangements were completed between the two towns that the pastebards could be sold for such a low amount, but the towns are trying for the greatest crowd to ever see a sports event in this district.

A large number of free tickets have been provided for every team member, superintendent and principal in this end of the district has an invitation to attend the game without charge.

Inquiries have been received from most of the nearer towns over the Permian basin of West Texas, Superintendent Lackey said this morning.

The game will begin at 3 o'clock and will decide which team will meet Marfa Thanksgiving for the district championship.

Schreiner Plays Two This Week

KERRVILLE, Texas, Nov. 19.—Two football games here this week end will close the home season for the pair of Schreiner Institute grid squads. The Mountaineers, junior college varsity which has been pitted against senior colleges and army teams all season, play their final home game Friday, November 21, against the Baylor University Freshmen from Waco, and the cadet B team meets the San Antonio Junior College first team Saturday.

Last week Schreiner teams won two gridiron melees. The Mountaineers of Coach H. C. (Bully) Gilstrap and John Guinn romped over the Edinburg College Broncos by 40 to 0 score Armistice Day. The Schreiner B Team tutored by Clement Dickey and Lt. W. O. Green, picked the plumes of the Peacock Military Academy team from San Antonio to the tune of 24 to 6.

Baylor May Take Down These Champions

Here are some of the scintillating members of the champion Horned Frog eleven of T. C. U. who may go down to the second defeat of two weeks when they meet the Golden Bears of Baylor Saturday, T. C. U. lost to Texas last week 7-0. In order to win the championship the Frog eleven must win both the Baylor and S. M. U. tilts, something that simply may not happen.

DISTRICT 8 TANGLE

By R. C. HANKINS

When Stanton steps out on Lackey field in two more days to warm up in an attempt to wrest the sub-district championship from Midland, last year's holder of the title, I'm wondering how many fans will get up and welcome the invaders by cheering. This is not preaching I'm handing you, not in any sense of the word, but an impression of your obligation to a guest.

The entire Midland side of the field should honor its guests. It should do this with as much improvement over the earlier season as the football team shows over its earlier form. Stanton is a neighbor to Midland. It is expected that there would be a natural rivalry between them on the gridiron. That would add zest to the spirit of sport. But, to give the game the dazzling setting it is worth, there must be sportsmanship and courtesy on the sidelines. It is seldom that sports relations are broken between schools because of something that happened on a gridiron; such action generally follows a rupture on the sideline. Men on the grid have time only for football; it is on the sidelines where idlers hatch up schemes that make for discontent.

I haven't anything yet on the comparative weights of the Midland and Stanton teams. Off hand, I should say the Bulldogs have a slight weight advantage. But the Stanton crew is well-balanced, uniform in almost every particular. Stanton runs its plays in a way that is beautiful to watch. They employ a shift in the backfield part of the time and at other times show a regular Pop Warner command of the double-wing-back. These plays look better from the stands than the simple game played by Midland. There are plenty of reverses and cut-backs. And Stanton's backs get off together, are of the same speed, and show that they have been drilled in the art of carrying the ball.

At that, Stanton as a whole team fails to show much that the blocking Midland linemen cannot push out of the way. As for the Stanton backs, they will run through, over and upon Midland if the Bulldogs don't forget those swinging-on tactics and tackle hard and low. I watched several Wink men hanging on Wilson and Buck Henson the other day and the Stanton backs staggered on for three and four yards more than they should in each case. Midland men have not hit as low as a championship club should hit and they will find that real football must be played against the eastern invaders if they get to wear moleskins to the Marfa game Thanksgiving.

Mistakes happen by the dozen when they start; the score of the Midland-Wink game was 39-0; Seminoles is playing its first year on

TEXAS STEERS IN BATTLE ARRAY FOR CROWN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.

Undaunted by their first defeat in two years at the hands of Clyde Littlefield's powerful University of Texas Longhorns, the Texas Christian Horned Frogs returned Monday afternoon with the determination to win the two remaining games on their schedule and repeat as champions. Since the 7-0 defeat of last Saturday, the Horned Frogs still have a chance to repeat, but their stock went down several points as they have the powerful Baylor Bears, and their arch-rivals, the Southern Methodists, to take into camp before their goal can be accomplished. The Steers have already administered severe drubbings to both these elevens, and have only the weak Texas Aggies to contend with on Thanksgiving day.

Regardless of who is crowned the champion, the winner will have some other school in the conference to thank for the title. If the Frogs should repeat, they will be greatly indebted to the Rice Owls who caught the Steers napping and slipped them a 6-0 defeat. If the Longhorns come out victorious, they will have either the Mustangs or Baylor to thank for putting the Frogs out of the way.

A check-up on the physical condition of the team early this week showed but two men on the injured list—Boswell and Hinton.

Ben Boswell, giant Christian tackle who turned in an excellent football exhibition against the Steers, is suffering from a deep cut under the right eye. He has returned to practice, however, and will be ready to take his position against the Bears.

Grassy Hinton, one of the mainstays in the Frog backfield, is still in no condition to play football. An injured foot has been bothering him ever since the Rice game. He got into last Saturday's fray in the final quarter, but it is by no means certain that he can play against Baylor.

Leland, knocked out in the second quarter of the Texas game, will be ready to take his place in the starting line-up against the Bears. Leland was out of his head for a part of the game last week, and never got back into the game during the second quarter.

the grid, and Midland cannot play McCamey a post-season game because McCamey is ineligible and, therefore, a pariah in the district, according to interscholastic league rules. I'm sorry.

Wonder if the bad weather of the morning will keep up until Friday? If Lackey field is dry anything that ever happened on grass may happen that day.

Midland is pleased to have the Buffalo eleven over this afternoon for a trial of the grass field. The team has been asked to stay over

AGGIES WILL POUR IT ON WHEN THEY ENTER STEERLAND

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 19.—Parade of approximately 2,400 cadets of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college is scheduled for Thanksgiving morning from 9:20 to 10 o'clock as part of the preliminaries for the University of Texas-A. & M. college football game, according to Walter E. Long, manager of the Austin chamber of commerce.

Whether Stanton will dress in Midland Friday or in Stanton has not been decided. The Buffs have been offered rooms free in Hotel Scharbauer, the high school here to assume the cost.

Manager Long of Snowwhite Creameries will give cold milk to every member of the Stanton and Midland squads directly after Friday's game is over. This will quickly restore strength to the clubs, which, no doubt, will be tired out from their hardest struggle of the season. Thanks, Mr. Long; you have the right spirit.

And did you hear that the chamber of commerce will give a free theatre party to everyone in Martin county? If you live in that county, call at the chamber of commerce after the Friday game and take as many tickets as you need. This party was arranged by the chamber of commerce through the courtesy of the management of the theatre.

And the high school, through arrangements with the Stanton high school, has arranged to give free football tickets to superintendents, coaches, principals and team members of every school of the eastern end of the district that plays football. These schools besides Stanton and Midland, are Odessa, Wink and Pecos. The biggest crowd in the history of District-8 football is expected here that day.

The Applan way, the most famous of all ancient Roman roads, was about 350 miles long. Its chief terminals were Rome and Brindisi in southern Italy.

WET, BUT "CRIMELESS"

BALTIMORE.—Although dripping "wet," Ireland is practically crimeless, according to Archbishop Michael J. Curley, who recently returned from his native land. Although Ireland has a population of 3,000,000, there is so little crime that there are only five small jails doing business in the country, he says. "The Irish people have good sense," he says in regard to the liquor question in that country.

FOR LOVE OF PETE

GLADSTONE, Va.—"Red," coon dog of A. A. Babcock was seen carrying food away from his master's house every day for a week. "Pete," a collie, had been missing for a week. Putting two and two together, Babcock followed "Red" one day when the dog indicated it wanted him to. "Red" led Babcock to a nearby quarry where Pete was found captive in a hole 40 feet deep.

WHAT DOES A HOME COST?

Rent a $5,000.00 house for 11 years at $50.00 per month (which is very nominal rent) and you have paid your landlord $6,600.00. All you have to show is a number of rent receipts. All these years you have been a tenant, living in a rented house. Not only your neighbors, but even strangers, know it, for a rented house is not a home and shows it.

Buy a $5,000.00 home on a monthly payment plan at $50.00 per month. At the end of 11 years you have paid for your home with rent money, plus about $1,200.00 for taxes and insurance.

Now to sum up in one case you have spent $6,600.00 and have nothing. In the other case you have spent $7,800.00 and have a clear deed to a $5,000.00 home. Your home has cost you $1,200.00.

We have homes in every part of Midland—attractive homes at reasonable prices. We are closing out our real estate business, expecting to handle oil properties only, and it will be to your advantage to see us now.

Stickler Solution

If the professor spends $900 more than one-half his earnings each year and saves $3000 in five years (or $600 each year) his earnings amount to one-half his money, plus $900 plus $600. Therefore $900 plus $600 would be the other half of his money and his total earnings would be $3000.

WURZBACH AGAIN 'WONDERS' IN THE POLITICAL LIME

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP).—Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach, the genial Republican non-parcell from Seguin, whose re-election has been contested by republican and democratic organizations alike, wonders what his democratic friends will say led to his election this year.

For the six times he has been elected, Wurzbach pointed out recently, the political "allib-ers" have advanced some reason. Usually it was the republican presidential "landslide." Then he was allegedly put into office on the coat-tails of the so-called "machine" of Bexar county. Various other reasons were advanced.

This year Wurzbach made public speeches against Bexar county officials and political leaders; there was no presidential election; all over the country democrats were replacing republicans; and Wurzbach piled up his largest majority!

Hence his question. He answers it himself that it was the friendship of the voters, both democrats and republicans, in his district. His friends, not so modest, point out his untiring effort for the district.

Congressman Wurzbach doesn't claim the whole credit, but at least a part of the credit for that multi-million dollar project, Randolph field, should go to him. Anyone driving to San Antonio who deviates long enough to go to Randolph field could better understand Wurzbach's popularity.

The "West Point of the Air" literally is rising from the ground. It isn't being built building by building, or laid out road by road; but the whole project, from the small officers' bungalows to the huge dormitories, is under construction at once.

Wurzbach hopes to obtain two new federal buildings for his district, one for his home town of Seguin and one for San Antonio, besides a new hospital for Fort Sam Houston.

Likes Midland by Hotel's Courtesy

Proof of how a visitor to Midland forms an opinion of the city by the treatment given by people contacted is seen in a letter to Manager Arthur G. Jury of Hotel Scharbauer from a New York woman who stopped here recently.

"Please accept the thanks of a passing woman tourist, by bus from San Diego to her home in New York City with her Boston Terrier, who received such a pleasant welcome at the desk last night and who enjoyed such a splendid night's rest in a charming room. The conveniences of the room and of the hotel made my heart rejoice. The bell boy who watched out for my baggage, which was 40 minutes late owing to the bus driver going off to change busses, deserves special mention.

"I take with me pleasant memories of Midland, Texas."

The letter was signed and bore the visitor's New York address.

Texas not to Ship So Many Turkeys

DENISON, Nov. 19. (AP).—Texas, which usually ships about half the entire turkey crop of the United States to the East and Mid-west, will fall short of that mark by about one-third this Thanksgiving, according to Roy M. Finley, secretary and general counsel of the Southwestern Produce Dealers association. The association members control about 170 poultry dressing and cooling plants in Texas.

The association recommended to growers that only birds of the 9-14 pound class (9 pound hen and 14 pound tom live weight) be marketed and was successful in bringing greater returns to growers. An average of 16 cents per pound has been paid. The price is higher than was foreseen but high quality birds enabled the buyers to pay higher prices.

Resolutions Passed By Lions Club Today

The following resolutions of regret were passed by the Lions club today when it met for its weekly luncheon in the ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

"Whereas, it has come to the knowledge of the Midland Lions club that the father of Mrs. Marlon F. Peters, wife of the most excellent secretary of this club, has departed this life; and

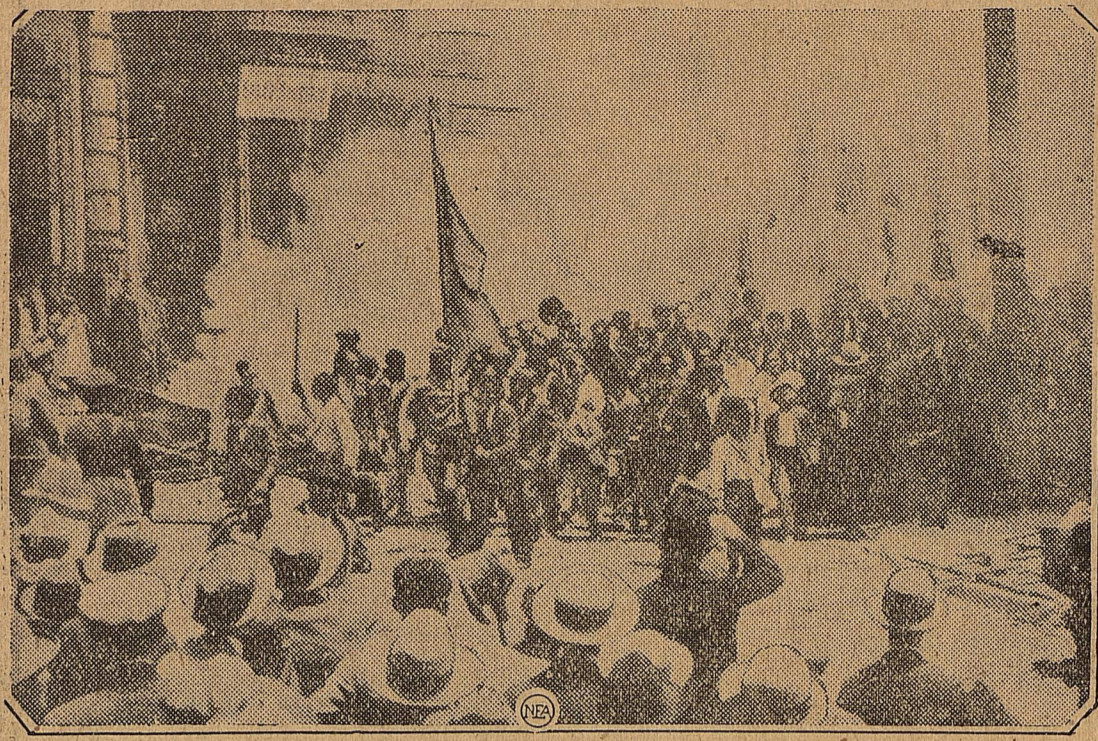

"Whereas, the Lions club of Midland shares with Mr. and Mrs. Peters their sorrow and regrets;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Midland Lions club convey its regrets and sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Peters in this their time of bereavement at the loss of their loved one.

"Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be published in the Midland Reporter-Telegram and spread on the minutes of this club by the acting secretary.

Red Flag Leads Destructive Riots in Brazil

The red flag of revolution, triumphant in Brazil, led a series of terrifying and destructive riots in Sao Paulo after the overthrow of President Washington Luis. Tens of thousands of citizens, hailing the rebel victory, joined in the looting and burning of business houses and newspapers which had been friendly to the federal government. This striking picture, taken for The Reporter-Telegram and NEA Service, shows one of the mobs, with torches, clubs and a red banner, marching to attack a newspaper plant.

Dynamite Blows Stump Into School, Kills Child

This picture shows how a rural school at Ironton, Ohio, was wrecked when workmen on a nearby highway project set off a charge of dynamite under a tree stump. The explosive hurled the 400-pound stump high into the air and it crashed through the school roof. One boy, James Dean, 12, was killed and six others were hurt. The arrow points to the stump.

PRESIDENT TO OPEN MEETING ON CHILD HEALTH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (UP).—A radio address by President Hoover will mark the opening tomorrow night of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection. The conference is to last through Saturday.

The meeting, called by the president as an extra-governmental function, is to consider the reports of more than 1,200 experts in the field of child life on the health and well-being of the children of the United States, what is being done to promote their welfare, what ought to be done and the best ways to do it.

A planning committee of 27 men and women whose national interests were closely related to the various phases of child health and protection developed the plans for a comprehensive survey of the facts and conditions concerning children's well-being. The technical work was divided into four major sections, each subdivided into committees and subcommittees. Foundations, educational institutions and other committees aided.

"Soapy" Moody to Address Laundrymen

RANGER, Texas, Nov. 19. (AP).—C. C. "Soapy" Moody of Fort Worth, recent candidate for governor, has been extended an invitation to address the West Texas Laundry Owners Association, which meets at Ranger Friday and Saturday.

An attendance of 200 and one of the best conventions in the Association's history are expected.

Flowers Frozen In Block of Ice

A 300-pound block of ice in a window of the Hokus-Pokus grocery on North Main has attracted attention for flowers frozen into the block. Mrs. Kenneth Ambrose, wife of the manager of the Southern Ice & Utilities company, made the design and the ice company froze the block for the ladies of the First Christian church, who planned a pure food show. There are chrysanthemums, cosmos and petunias in the ice.

Because of failure to obtain a location for the show the church ladies gave up their idea and the block was placed in the grocery window.

Little Theatre Is To Start First Act

The first act of "The Inner Circle," three-act mystery drama to be presented in December by the little theatre, will be rehearsed tonight at the home of Mrs. George T. Abell, play director.

The last play, "Aren't We All?" was staged in the Yucca theatre on Oct. 30.

Midland Scabies Inspector "Sticks"

Dick Arnett, who has been scabies inspector for the government in the Big Bend country for the last three years, will not act in that capacity after December 1, due to the lack of government funds in his work. The nearest scab inspector for cattle will be in Midland. Several of the counties in that section are planning to go together and hire Arnett in that capacity. The tri-county agent at Marfa, Alpine and Fort Davis is no longer on the payroll due to the retrenchment program.

Troop 52 of the Boy Scouts of America announced this morning the putting forward of the regular meeting Friday night to Saturday night. This was done out of courtesy to the Father-Son banquet to be given at 7 o'clock Friday evening in Hotel Scharbauer. The troop will meet at 7 o'clock.

STERLING USING SOUND METHODS IN APPOINTMENTS

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (UP).—"Nobody is crying about appointments. At least I'm not," said Governor-Elect Ross Sterling as he passed through Austin today en route to a turkey hunt. He said he was following strict business methods in considering applicants, having a file for each office and thousands of applicants. He said he did not know when he would announce appointments.

BIG LIVESTOCK MEN FORM INTO LARGE COMPANY

ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 19. (AP).—Announcement of the completion of a $3,000,000 corporation, chartered under Delaware laws, by which a group of Fisher and Nolan county livestock men are pooling assets on a large scale to conduct a general ranching and farming business, together with a packing plant, has been made here.

The new corporation is known as the Circle Bar Cattle and Packing company. W. W. Barron, Sweetwater and Rotan banker, is president of the corporation; G. L. Robison, Rotan banker is vice president; G. P. Baker, Rotan department store executive, is secretary-treasurer, and W. E. Barron of Rotan is to be manager. The board of directors includes in addition to the above named: J. E. June and Dono Day of Rotan, J. V. Gray of Roby, Guy Patterson and J. K. Kennedy of Patterson, and G. E. Bradford of Sweetwater.

Of the capital stock, $1,200,000 has already been paid in. Into the pool have gone 10,000 head of Hereford cattle, 152 horses and mules, 40,745 acres of grazing land and 2,600 acres of land now under cultivation. All the land is in one block in the northern part of Fisher county.

The corporation reports having taken an option to purchase 101,000 acres additional in Fisher, Kent, Nolan and Scurry counties. All this also is in one block.

H. M. Fleeman of New York, who assisted in organization of the company, said the corporation will engage in grazing, selling and purchasing livestock, and in farming on a large scale.

Most of the company's livestock will find its way into the corporation's packing plant which will be established in this section of West Texas in the near future, Fleeman said.

Teachers to Hear Arctic Debunking

HOUSTON, Nov. 19. (UP).—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, explorer, will disprove some of the myths about the Arctic in an address before the Texas State Teachers' association at its convention here Nov. 28, the program committee announced today. "Abolishing the Arctic" will be the title of Stefansson's address.

Among the points the noted explorer will make are: No place in the Arctic has six months of daylight and six of darkness as commonly supposed; the thermometer reaches 90 and 100 degrees in the shade in many places inside the Arctic Circle; flowers and bumblebees are to be found on the coasts of the most northerly lands in the world.

Stefansson has lived with the Eskimos 11 years. His explorations began in 1904 with a trip to Iceland, and continued with three expeditions to the far Arctic. Scientific organizations and geographic societies have honored him, and the Canadian government has given him a vote of thanks.

Three prominent educators also will be among the highlights of the teachers' conclave.

Dr. Chas. H. Judd, University of Chicago, will talk on social instruction in the schools.

Dr. G. D. Strayer, Columbia university, will deliver an opinion on the equality of opportunity in education.

Dr. E. W. Knight, University of North Carolina, will talk on the importance of teaching.

Stefansson's address comes on the final evening of the three-day convention.

All Texas Highways Will Be Re-Marked

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 19. (AP).—Work of placing distance and direction markers on all state highways will be started by the maintenance division of the state highway department December 1, J. B. Early, chief maintenance engineer, has announced. The marking is expected to be completed in four months, during which approximately 40,000 markers will be made and set up.

Early said the new markers would not replace the present numbered route markers but would serve to clarify the present system and keep travelers better informed on the names of towns and cities and the distance and direction to the next city.

The work will be done by department labor. The signs will be manufactured by highway department employes in the division shops.

Early said all county lines and city limits of incorporated towns and cities will be marked with large signs while the smaller towns will be marked with smaller insignias. The signs will be placed on the right shoulders of the roads and will show only the name of the village or town.

The distance markers will be placed between every two towns, one facing travel each way. Direction markers will be placed at each intersection of two or more state highways and at the intersection of a state highway with a paved county road. Other points at which travel may become confused also will be marked, Early said.

The signs will be fashioned from wood and will be black and white.

New Bus Rates Apply at Night

Answering to the recent move of the Texas and Pacific railroad in seeking and being granted approval of a two-cent fare for day travel between Fort Worth and Big Spring, the Southland Greyhound bus lines have ordered insuguration of a similar fare between Fort Worth and all points along the Bankhead highway as far west as Midland.

The new bus rates, unlike the T. & P. tariff, apply to night travel as well as day, but the lower fares do not apply between intermediate points. The rates apply only to or from Fort Worth.

Music, Readings, On Lions Program

The Lions club enjoyed a varied program at the noonday luncheon in the crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer today.

Lee Cornelius sang two baritone solos, the first being "Sylvia" and the other "A Perfect Day." He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Cornelius. Mr. Cornelius is with the Gulf Production Co.

"The Football Game" was the title of a clever reading by Miss Stella Maye Lanham, who responded with a negro reading.

Mokre's "Valcik" was played by Mrs. Cornelius in a piano solo. Mrs. Cornelius was called back for an encore.

President Lion Yonge complimented the program committee highly for its selection of the talent brought before the group today.

The need of each Lion being at the Father and Son banquet this Friday night was pointed out as was also attendance at the meeting next week, at which time members of the Rotary club will meet with the Lions.
