Forty-four Convicts Escape From State Prison Farm

GUARD'S GUN SEIZED IN BREAK

BRAZORIA, Tex., June 20. (P)—Forty-four convicts kidnapped three guards at the Clemens State Prison Farm early today and escaped.

Wounds caused from the gun of a cattleman were responsible for the capture a few hours later of three of the convicts.

Prisoner Has Pistol One of the convicts obtained a pistol in an unknown manner and held up one of the guards inside the barracks where the prisoners are quartered.

The convicts took the guard's shotgun, and, with the aid of others, overpowered two more guards. Prison farm officials said that the ringleader, whose name is not known unshackled the rest of the men in his barracks and invited them to make their dash for freedom. It is believed that only two of his barracks accepted.

TAT Gets Two Men As Passengers To East and West

Passengers from Midland to east and west today boarded Fokker ships of TAT. The day is representative of other days at Sloan Field. City inhabitants are learning the value of swift, cool, safe flight over this line and are utilizing it to advantage.

Julian F. Baylor took the east bound plane to Abilene. The other passenger, who caught the plane to the west, left for the field so late that his name could not be learned by press time.

Material For New City Hall Being Hauled to Job

Sand for the new city hall, to be constructed by the J. O. Everett Construction company, is being hauled today. Work on foundation excavation will begin immediately, J. O. Everetts, president of the building company said today.

SENATE PASSES PRISON MEASURE

AUSTIN, June 20.—(P)—Without a dissenting vote, the senate today passed the compromise prison survey bill carrying an appropriation of $25,000.

A board of prison commissioners, consisting of four senators and five members of the house, will be vested with authority under the survey bill proposed.

Spiritual Funeral Scarborough's Text Wednesday Service

Dr. L. R. Scarborough preached the "Spiritual Funeral" of those present last evening in the revival service of the First Baptist Church, using for his lesson background the last verses of the 16th chapter of Luke. This is the story of the rich man and Lazarus. It was the most gripping and most powerful sermon of the entire series. Simple, plain, and convincing in its outline and delivery and one that made a lasting impression on the minds of those who heard.

In the opening remarks, the evangelist said, "This is not a parable but an actual description of the destinies of two men. One place is the home of the righteous, the other the home of the Godless. And let me say here that there is more said concerning the home of the wicked than of the home of the saved. In the New Testament alone there are 234 references concerning the place of eternal torment, or destiny of the unbeliever. In this story God draws the curtain back and gives us a glimpse of these other two worlds. If any here wish to dis-

When Hoover Signed Farm Bill

The farmers can now look for relief from their problems. President Hoover, above, is shown signing the $500,000,000 farm relief bill which was before Congress for years and which finally was passed by both houses. At President Hoover's right is Vice President Curtis, and at his left is Speaker Longworth. In the background are Congressmen Kincheloe, of Kentucky, and Purnell, of Indiana.

PAN-AMERICAN CHURCHMEN IN HAVANA PARLEY

HAVANA, June 20.—(UP)—An Hispanic-American Congress of Evangelical Churches, to which delegates from 13 different countries are expected to attend, will meet here today. The congress will end on June 30.

The principal subjects to be discussed relate to the growing relation to problems of industry, race, public health, women's movements and social questions of all kinds. The conference will also touch on the relationship which should exist between the Evangelical Churches of the United States and those founded in other countries by missionary organizations which now have grown to where they consider themselves ready for self-direction and self-support.

An important question to be discussed is that of the Church and State, with particular reference to the Mexican situation.

The relationship of the Evangelical Churches in Latin-America to each other, with a proposed federation of the same will also be considered.

Apportionment of delegates to the conference has been by nationalities, rather than by denominations. The allotment is as follows: Mexico, 35; Cuba, 35; Porto Rico, 25; Guatemala, 5; Honduras, 2; Panama, 3; Venezuela, 6; Santo Domingo, 3; Costa Rica, 3; Nicaragua, 3; Salvador, 3; Columbia, 6; Haiti, 2; Spain, 5; Spanish work in the United States, 25.

The Committee on Co-operation in Latin-America, representing American and Canadian mission boards working in Latin-America, has been asked to choose 40 friendly observers from the United States, to attend the conference.

Among the more prominent Latin-American guests of honor invited to the meeting are: Moises Saenz, secretary of Public Instruction, Mexico; Emilio del Toro, president of the Supreme Court of Porto Rico; Prof. Erasmo Braga, secretary of the committee on co-operation of Brazil; Dr. Miguel Uamuno of Spain, professor of philosophy and Dr. Fernandez de los Rios of Spain, a noted lecturer on Spanish culture. From the United States Dr. John E. Mott and Dr. Robert E. Speer have been invited.

The Congress, which will be in Spanish, will hold its sessions at Candler College, Marianao, a suburb of Havana.

Two previous conferences of a similar nature have been held, one in Panama in 1916 and a second at Montevideo in 1926.

Recommendations Of Zoning Commission May Be Enacted Into Ordinance Soon

Recommendations offered for mayor of the city, Leon Goodman, by his appointed zoning commission follow. These will be offered the council for action which may make of the recommendations an ordinance.

Hon. Leon Goodman, Mayor Midland, Texas.

Dear Mayor:

Pursuant to your appointment of a Zoning Commission for the City of Midland consisting of the following:

- R. J. Moore, chairman. J. O. Garlington F. F. Elkin M. M. Meek J. B. Wilkinson A. B. Anderson

Assisted by: Charles Yonge, City Attorney. A. J. Gates, Business Manager.

We desire to advise that on April 26th, 1929, the commission was called together to study the problems in question with regard to zoning the City of Midland. After dividing the Commission into sub-committees for the purpose of studying the several questions involved, another meeting was called and reports were submitted and studied. A map was procured for the use of the Commission, and the same has been marked and checked and will be submitted to you for use in connection with our recommendations.

You will understand that we, your commission, after considerable time and study of these problems, merely offer this tentative report on conditions as we find them presently, and in the light of the probable growth of Midland in the future.

Recommendations offered follow: SECTION 1. ZONING—Segregating the Business and Industrial Districts from the Residential Sections of the City.

It is proposed by your Commission that the business district of the City of Midland shall be defined and bounded by the following lines which (Continued on Page 2)

DIRECTORS DIVIDED ON SELECTION OF HOMER D. WADE'S SUCCESSOR

By T. PAUL BARRON

ABILENE, June 20.—(Special)—With the directors divided on employing a manager to succeed Homer D. Wade as manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Abilene meeting recessed at noon to be guests of the local Lions Club. There are prospects of a long and heated session for the afternoon.

The plan of the group is to employ a temporary manager to serve until the regular meeting of the chamber at El Paso, and to have him serve under the direction of the committee.

A majority of the directors of the organization arrived in this city last night for the meeting today, and discussion was rife in the Hilton Hotel lobby immediately after several arrived.

Wade recently sent in his resignation, after he was offered the managership of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Valley View Asks For New School In District

The county board, composed of L. M. Estes, John M. King, D. L. Hutt and H. E. Roberts, met with the county judge and two trustees, G. C. Brunson and G. S. Jones, of Valley View community, this morning. County Judge M. R. Hill explained that a new school house is being sought for the Valley View school district.

Jones said that there is a school in the district at present, but that a more modern two-room building is wanted.

Seymour Succeeds Martin as Manager Of Barrow Store

Announcement is made today by M. M. Seymour, who for the past few months has been manager of the Home Furniture Company of Midland, that effective July 1 he will become manager of the Barrow Furniture Company, succeeding A. D. Martin, who is accepting the position of sales manager of Barrow's Abilene store.

Mr. Seymour came here as sales manager of the Home Furniture Co. having been for five years connected with the Angelo Furniture company at San Angelo. His experience, sales ability and his splendid civic work have made him popular among Midland people.

He gives as his reason for making the change that he is receiving a more advantageous proposition, and states that he will continue to give Midland the best that is in him.

Mr. Seymour owns his home here, is a member of the Lions Club, an active worker in the chamber of commerce, and with his family had added greatly to Midland's citizenship.

In the loss of the Martin family, Midland is losing good citizens who will be missed greatly.

Mr. Seymour and his family are leaving this afternoon for a vacation which will last until July 1.

New Assistant at Hat and Gift Shop

Miss Gladys Carnahan, formerly of the La Mode Shop in Dallas, has arrived in Midland and will be connected with the Come 'N Look Hat and Gift Shop here. She is an experienced milliner and will be assistant to Mrs. Cosby, who manages and owns the shop.

Gates and Nobles To Return From Austin Friday

J. A. Gates, city engineer, and J. O. Nobles, member of the city council, will return Friday from Austin, where they carried $200,000 in municipal bonds, which are to be registered and approved by the attorney general and comptroller of public accounts.

Work on the sewer extension, on the city hall and on street light extensions will begin at once, it was said at the city hall this morning. Paving contract will be let in the near future.

Texas Electric Gets Contract On New Street Lights

Tabulated bids received this morning at the City hall show that Texas Electric Service company, Midland, was awarded contract for street light extension beginning in a few days.

Other bidders were Black Electric Company, $8,800; E. Ash Electric Company, $9,940; J. M. Johnson, $8,750. The bid of the Texas Electric Company was $8,600.

Negro Celebrates June-"Teenth" By Working On Wife

Physicians of the city say that June-"teenth" occasion for celebration for emancipation by negroes of the country, did not pass without its rough house.

A negro woman was struck to the pavement several times by her spouse, who was said to be under the influence of more than emancipation spirit.

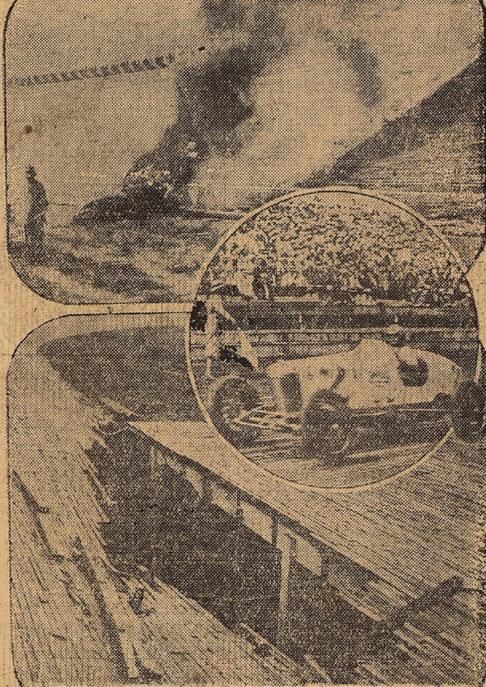

The slaves were freed, the doctor punned, but the marital obligation of this woman to her husband seemed to be a greater religion with her than the spirit of the slave to the master ever was.

The woman had no complaint to make against her husband. Evidently the minor battery was not unknown to her as a regularity.

SEARCH LAW CHANGED

AUSTIN, June 20.—(UP)—The search and seizure law, which has been in effect since Gov. Miriam Ferguson's administration, was practically repealed today as a result of charges voted by the house. The law provided penalties against officers who made illegal searches.

Where Speed King Met Death

TEXAS SOLONS CRITICIZED FOR ATTACK ON PRESIDENT'S WIFE

DALLAS, June 20.—(UP)—The Texas legislature was criticized for its attack on Mrs. Herbert Hoover and the Washington administration over the Deprest incident, in a telegram sent Governor Moody last night by the Republican National Committee man Creager from Washington.

The text of the telegram, made public by the republican state headquarters here today, indicated that Creager asked Moody not to sign the resolution, saying that the language of it was discourteous, intemperate and based upon a misunderstanding.

It was said that tea guests are invited automatically from lists prepared by the house and senate officers.

Many Clubmen Are Speakers at Lunch Held Today Noon

High lights of the international convention of Rotary held in Dallas last month were discussed by various members who attended, when the regular luncheon of the Midland club was held Thursday.

Rotarians who spoke were M. M. Meek, J. O. Garlington, Dr. L. B. Pemberton, Dr. W. E. Ryan, Arthur G. Jury, Elliott H. Barron, A. Harry Anderson, and the president, W. I. Pratt. All of the men saw different angles of interest.

The club voted almost unanimously asking for a 75-cent luncheon.

Workman At Oil Refinery Here Is Sunstruck

Vacch Reader, workman of the Midland Refinery, was the first Midland man to be treated for sun stroke this season. A Barrow ambulance answered a call near the noon hour and brought Reader to the Thomas hospital.

Hospital attaches say that the man will be ready for work again after a short rest. Reader is married, and has two small children.

MARRIAGE APPLICATION MADE THIS MORNING IS FIRST SINCE NEW LAW

First application for marriage license in Midland since the new marriage law has been in effect, was filed this morning at the county clerk's office by Senor Elias Tiscareno and Senorita Veatriz Vasquez. The marriage ceremony can be held in three days.

Stokes Well Runs In Order of Two Producing Wells

Comparative statements of oil scouts here show that Phillip's No. 1 Stokes, oil test 17 miles southeast of Midland, is running closely like the World well in Glasscock county and the Discovery well in Winkler, as regards formations.

The well Wednesday afternoon was being drilled at approximately 4,050 feet, in hard lime. It was being drilled at the rate of 20 feet each 24 hours, scouts said. Two bailers of water were being taken from the hole each five hours.

The show from above shows no decrease, oil showings being about as usual and gas much stronger.

The well is from 200 to 400 feet deeper than other wells of this district which got into sulphur water. The World well picked up a production strata of oil 100 feet below the first showing of oil.

Based on these figures, it is thought that either sulphur water or oil should be reached within the next 50 to 75 feet.

Plane To Be Ready For Delivery Next Week: Becherer Says

The Curtiss-Robin monoplane owned by the airport will be completely repaired by the middle of next week so that Field Manager Becherer can go to Dallas for it, Becherer said this morning.

The ship was damaged when, in a recent storm, the roof of the hangar at Sloan Field blew away and a girder fell across the ship, breaking the fuselage.

The plane was sent to the TAT general repair hangars at Dallas, and is being completely rebuilt.

NEIGHBORING COUNTRY HURT

EL PASO, June 20.—(UP)—Two children are dead and almost a score of other persons are suffering as the result of inhaling hydrogen sulphide that originated in a suburb here today from an unknown source. A heavy loss of livestock was caused by the gas.

The two deaths occurred within a few hundred feet of two oil refineries.

Ambulances Answer Call Emergency calls for ambulances were made by farmers within a radius of two miles of the refineries for treatment of persons rendered unconscious.

Victims were rushed to hospitals and were treated in the open air, due to the nature of the asphyxiation.

Poultry and Livestock Dead Barnyards within the radius are literally covered with dead poultry and livestock.

A corps of El Paso police answered the call to the stricken area and assisted in the rescue work.

Health authorities and other city officials have begun a speedy investigation of the course of the poisonous gas.

Grigg Kills 68 Rabbits With 8 Spoons of Salt

T. J. Grigg, of the Cotton Flat community, has a subtle way of feeding the wily rabbits that bother his green stuff-salt which does them no good, yet benefits him considerably.

Sixty-eight of these rodents were killed this week through the usage of eight teaspoons of poisoned salt.

Grigg says that the rabbits are coming in off the tougher range grass and eating the succulent greenery of the farms.

County Agent Frank Wendt says that now is the time to kill rabbits in the county, and that he has a large supply of the salt for anyone who wants it.

GEOLOGISTS FROM MIDLAND GO TO FIELD MEETING

Midland geologists, members of the West Texas Geological Society, will meet in Carlsbad Friday night for a geological field trip in the Guadalupe mountains Saturday and Sunday.

Guy Green, Midland secretary of the organization, will be head of the Midland party.

Guides for the expedition going into the mountains will be W. H. Crandall, of the California company, and W. T. Prout of the Empire—both stationed at Roswell.

The party will study surface outcroppings and stratigraphic relation to various formations.

PIRACY—WE MUST INSIST

By Bruce Catton

It is all very well to explain that the recent attack on the city of Willemstad, in the Dutch West Indies Island of Curacao, was the work of disgruntled revolutionists from Venezuela. We know better than to believe anything like that. The pirates are coming back!

Willemstad, you must remember, is a town that has known piracy from of old. It lies right in the middle of the great stamping ground of the buccaneers; it has known forays like this of the Venezuelans, time without number.

To be sure, this is the year 1929, and the Caribbean sea has been free from pirates for many years. Yet this story is too good to spoil. Every man who has any taste at all for the wild tales of an earlier day will insist that Willemstad was raided, not by crack-brained insurrectoes, but by regular, sure-enough pirates.

Consider the facts of the case. In the dead of night a band of some 200 armed men creep into the peaceful harbor. They seize the governor and various other functionaries, shoot down sundry policemen, take possession of an American steamer and clear out, in typical pirate fashion, just as the tropic dawn comes out over the sea to the east.

Naturally, this has caused a stir. The Dutch have sent a warship or two to the spot, post-haste. Gomez, swarthy dictator of Venezuela, protests that the business was none of his doing. The American State Department, mindful of the Monroe doctrine, cocks a wary eye toward Curacao and prepares to do what may be necessary.

But the rest of us, who have no direct concern in it, must not let it be dismissed as an act of revolutionists. If we have any love at all for the romance that is fast disappearing from a mechanized world, we must insist, to the last gasp, that it was piracy. We must scan the Caribbean horizon for the Jolly Roger, and prepare to read that the raiders' captives have been made to walk the plank.

Think of it—around Point Gallinas, a few miles west of Willemstad, lies the fabled city of Cartagena, sacked by Drake for the eastward to Port of Spain, famed in pirate lore for centuries. Northward is the magic isle of Hispaniola (called Haiti by a prosaic age), where pirates got the name Buccaneers. Toward the sunrise lie the Leeward and Windward Islands—Tortuga, Antigua, Barbados, San Domingo and the rest. The stubby carronades of unashed pirates have crashed and rumbled all over this part of the map. Hardly a cove along the shore line but has harbored some battle-smitten galleon or other.

We must stick to it. Presently, let us hope, these raiders will be captured—to be hanged on an execution dock, then exposed in chains for weeks afterward, to terrify evildoers. It would be a splendid ending for a refreshing tale.

A SURPLUS AND A FAMINE

This world is organized in a queer manner, when you stop to think about it.

In the agricultural regions of the United States a great many farmers are facing financial loss because their crops are too big. They have grown more wheat than they can sell; the price has tumbled way down, and only some artificial stimulus will bring it up again.

In China, meanwhile, a good many millions of people are facing actual starvation because their crops are too small. There simply isn't anything for them to eat. Unless outside help comes, enough people to populate a state the size of Ohio will die of hunger.

Too much in one place—not enough in another. Nobody this far, seems to have thought of tying the two regions together so that the ills of both can be alleviated. The world is organized on a queer basis somehow.

MR. BUMBLE MAY BE RIGHT

A. Edward Newton of Philadelphia, an author and a scholar, is a book collector of considerable prominence. Recently, while in England, he bought an old edition of Rabelais. Returning to the United States, this book was taken from him by the U. S. customs men, who held it to be "an obscene document."

Seldom has the utter dumbness of the official busybody been better illustrated than in this case.

There are passages in Rabelais, to be sure, that could never be read at a church social. Yet any man can get a copy of the book in any reasonably complete public library in the land. It is for sale, quite openly, in any large bookstore. To prevent a man of Mr. Newton's standing from bringing a copy in from England is to provoke again Mr. Bumble's famous remark—"If the law says that, the law is a ass."

A LIGHT BULB AND A TRAGEDY

A very small thing can cause a tragedy in this modern world.

Investigators have proved that an ordinary electric light bulb caused the dreadful fire and explosion in the Cleveland Clinic hospital where 126 people lost their lives.

It wasn't the fault of the light bulb, of course. It had simply been left hanging too close to the inflammable X-ray films. Turned on for a long time, the bulb got overheated and set the film on fire—and a terrible tragedy was the result.

Fate strikes its blows in a strange way, sometimes. Who would have thought that an ordinary light bulb could be the means of bringing 126 people to their deaths?

OUR NATIONAL MEAT

If England's great staple of diet is supposed to be roast beef, the national meat of the United States seems to be pork.

At any rate, the American people eat more pork than any other meat. Figures compiled in the Outline of Business, issued by the Central National bank of Cleveland, show that more than one-half of all the meat eaten in the United States is pork, with beef ranking second and veal, lamb and mutton trailing in the rear.

Incidentally, we are eating more meat now than ever before. In 1919 the per capita consumption of meat in this country was 120 pounds; now it has gone up to 138, and is still rising.

ASKS ALL-WOMEN JURIES FOR MEMBERS OF HER SEX

BOSTON. (UP)—All-women juries should try cases in which women are the defendants, in the opinion of Mrs. Alice Lee West, Mowbray, state chairman of the Massachusetts branch of the National Woman's party.

At present, she believes, there is discrimination against members of her sex in connection with jury duty.

"Would a man want to be tried by a jury composed of women?" she asks.

Recommendations

Beginning at a point with the intersection of Illinois Avenue at "A" Street, on a public road and running east to the center of Marlborough Street, thence north one and one-half blocks to the center of the street west of Block 46, Homestead Addition, thence east to the intersection of Davis street, with the section line which bounds East Midland Addition on the West, thence North two blocks to the center of South street, thence east five blocks to the northeast corner of the City limits on said street, thence following the city limits to the center of Hubbard street, thence west three blocks to the center of Avenue "E", thence north to the right-of-way of the Texas & Pacific Railway company, thence west approximately two blocks to the section line of an unnamed street, thence south to the center of Missouri Avenue, thence west to the center of Terrell street, thence south to the center of Indiana Avenue, thence west to the center of Fort Worth Street, thence south to the center of Kentucky Avenue, thence west to the center of Weatherford Street, thence south to the center of Washington Avenue, thence west to the center of Baker street, thence south to the center of Maine street, thence west two blocks to the center of Loraine street, thence south one block to the center of Pennsylvania Avenue, thence west one block to the center of Colorado street, thence South one block to the center of California Avenue, thence west to the center of "A" street, thence north to the point of beginning.

In addition to the above business district we recommend that the east half of all blocks facing north and south highway known as "A" street be considered within the business zone and that the owners of the respective said east halves of said blocks be required to dedicate a 20 foot alley running north and south through said blocks, further that this western limit of the business district be run as nearly due north and south one hundred and fifty feet west of "A" street as is practicable, and that each business house be required to face "A" Street.

In addition to the above outlined business district, we recommend that the following locations be made available for business houses of a type to be determined later.

The north half of Block 87, and the south half of Block 76 in West End Addition and the south half of Block 122 in College Heights Addition.

SECTION III. SEGREGATION OF COLORED RACE: The following are the suggested boundaries of the colored section of the City:

Beginning at the intersection of Avenue B with the right-of-way of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company in the Moody Addition, thence running south one block to Hubbard street, thence three blocks east to the city limits, thence three blocks south following said city limits to the center of Roberts street, thence five blocks west to the unnamed section line which bounds Moody Addition on the west, thence north three and one-half blocks to the railroad right-of-way, thence in a northerly direction to the point of beginning.

SECTION III. HIGHWAYS: THE BROADWAY OF AMERICA. We beg to make the following recommendations regarding the routing of highways through the city. We think the ultimate aim of the Broadway of America should be designated to follow the north line of the right-of-way of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company from the east to the west boundary of the City. That the present route of the Broadway of America be continued and maintained and that the same be resurfaced and widened as soon as practicable.

Rankin Highway We recommend that the highway coming in from the south, known as the Rankin highway, should enter the city from the south city limits at the intersection of Carter street, and run thence north as near straight as practicable to the north line of the city limits, which follow "A" Street where it has been designated as such and crossed a number of lots which it would be necessary to procure for such purposes.

Garden City Highway We recommend that the Garden City Highway beginning at the south line of the city limits where it intersects Florida Avenue running in a westerly direction along said avenue through the intersection of the north and south highway, above referred to as the Rankin Highway, Boulevards

We further recommend that the two following north and south streets be considered as boulevards, the first one being Terrell or Dallas street, from its intersection of Florida Avenue north to Walnut Lane, thence in the most practicable manner to connect with the section line which forms the east boundary line of the East Midland addition; the second boulevard to begin at the intersection of Main street with Florida Avenue and run north to Ohio Avenue.

SECTION IV. UNDERPASSES: We recommend that two underpasses be constructed, one on Terrell Avenue, and the other on either A Street or Big Spring Street, to be determined by the final routing of the Rankin Highway. Whenever a third underpass might be secured we would recommend that it be placed on Main Street.

As an alternative in the routing of the north and south highway, known as the Rankin Highway, we would recommend the following: Beginning at the intersection of Rankin Highway on the south with the city limits and running north approximately four blocks to Carter Avenue, or just east of said intersection far enough to make a practicable turn and not a dangerous curve to the south end of Big Spring

SECTION V. SIDEWALKS. We recommend that a suitable ordinance be enacted that shall require that all sidewalks built in the future outside of the business district as outlined above one foot out from the property lines, and that as soon as practicable the city be surveyed and that a city engineer be appointed, that when a building permit is granted that a charge sufficient to cover the cost of employing said city engineer to make the said survey and furnish a set of levels be made against the permittee to cover his proportionate part of this cost; that a suitable uniform plan of building a concrete approach from the curb line to the sidewalk line and across said sidewalks be made and that all sidewalks, curbs and approaches be built according to specifications for concrete work, which shall be included in the ordinance covering this subject.

SECTION VI. LOCATION OF RESIDENCES ON LOTS: We recommend that in the residential section of the city that all houses built for residence purposes be set back not less than twenty feet from the street on which it faces and that no building of any kind be erected closer than three feet to either property line of the adjoining lots.

SECTION VII. FIREPROOF CONSTRUCTION: We further recommend that a suitable ordinance be enacted requiring a good fire-proof type of construction for all buildings on lots either contiguous to or within three hundred feet of the residence property as outlined above—on all lots north of Indiana Avenue and west of Main street, or contiguous to any school building or other public building within the business zone, not within 150 feet of same, exclusive of streets or alleys.

Also that a suitable ordinance be enacted prescribing the particular type of construction for different sections of the business district.

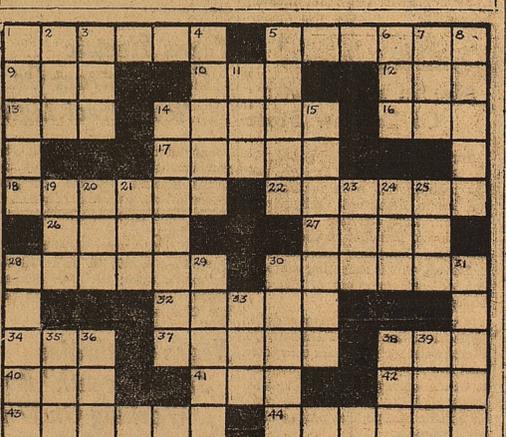

SECTION VIII. SUBDIVISIONS. We would further urge that an ordinance be enacted compelling individuals or corporations making subdivisions and additions within the city limits map and plat said subdivisions or additions under the strict supervision of the City Council; and that where subdivisions or additions be outside the city limits that they not be taken into the city limits until their mapping and platting has been made to conform to the recommendations of said authority.

SECTION IX. STORM SEWERS. We further recommend that storm sewers be provided as early as possible and would emphasize and urge the need of one following the T & P right-of-way on north side of sufficient size and depth to take care of all surface drainage.

CONCLUSION: You are furnished a map of the City of Midland with markings outlining the above recommendations and also outlining and explaining by a legend there sites for parks, school district, hospitals, new court house location, proposed Federal building site, municipal market and a park for the colored people.

Respectfully submitted, R. J. MOORE, Chairman.

street, thence north on Big Spring street to Ohio avenue, thence west on Ohio avenue to C street, thence north to Cuthbert street, thence west to the southeast corner of block 1 of the high school addition, thence in a northwesterly direction along the east line of said block to the city limits.

SECTION V. SIDEWALKS. We recommend that a suitable ordinance be enacted that shall require that all sidewalks built in the future outside of the business district as outlined above one foot out from the property lines, and that as soon as practicable the city be surveyed and that a city engineer be appointed, that when a building permit is granted that a charge sufficient to cover the cost of employing said city engineer to make the said survey and furnish a set of levels be made against the permittee to cover his proportionate part of this cost; that a suitable uniform plan of building a concrete approach from the curb line to the sidewalk line and across said sidewalks be made and that all sidewalks, curbs and approaches be built according to specifications for concrete work, which shall be included in the ordinance covering this subject.

SECTION VI. LOCATION OF RESIDENCES ON LOTS: We recommend that in the residential section of the city that all houses built for residence purposes be set back not less than twenty feet from the street on which it faces and that no building of any kind be erected closer than three feet to either property line of the adjoining lots.

SECTION VII. FIREPROOF CONSTRUCTION: We further recommend that a suitable ordinance be enacted requiring a good fire-proof type of construction for all buildings on lots either contiguous to or within three hundred feet of the residence property as outlined above—on all lots north of Indiana Avenue and west of Main street, or contiguous to any school building or other public building within the business zone, not within 150 feet of same, exclusive of streets or alleys.

Also that a suitable ordinance be enacted prescribing the particular type of construction for different sections of the business district.

SECTION VIII. SUBDIVISIONS. We would further urge that an ordinance be enacted compelling individuals or corporations making subdivisions and additions within the city limits map and plat said subdivisions or additions under the strict supervision of the City Council; and that where subdivisions or additions be outside the city limits that they not be taken into the city limits until their mapping and platting has been made to conform to the recommendations of said authority.

SECTION IX. STORM SEWERS. We further recommend that storm sewers be provided as early as possible and would emphasize and urge the need of one following the T & P right-of-way on north side of sufficient size and depth to take care of all surface drainage.

CONCLUSION: You are furnished a map of the City of Midland with markings outlining the above recommendations and also outlining and explaining by a legend there sites for parks, school district, hospitals, new court house location, proposed Federal building site, municipal market and a park for the colored people.

Respectfully submitted, R. J. MOORE, Chairman.

of life, a place of continued living. There is no doctrine more thoroughly established among every nation and tribe of the world than that of immortality, of life after death. This man saw, "he lifted up his eyes." This man also had a voice. Though death had hushed that voice of the rich man, in hell he had his voice. He spoke. He said, "Father Abraham." Doubtless this man was a well reared and cultured Jew. He had been circumcised on the 8th day. He knew the law. He called Abraham his father, as all strict Jews did. But that did not save him. His training, nor his observance of laws and ordinances did not save him. Nor will church membership and a moral life save you here. Calling this man here "Pastor" will not give you salvation.

"You ask, is hell literal fire? I do not know. I do know that God used fire as a symbol of the punishment and that must be awful. I do know this; it is something that burns spirits. Yes, it burns spirits. Whatever that is, it is hot enough to burn spirits.

"Not only did he have eyes and voice but he had memory. He remembered his brothers. He asked that they be carried the message that they might not come to that place. O memory, what a handmaiden of joy or of sorrow. Lost man, if you are here tonight you will carry the memory of this message to hell with you if you do not repent. Then, there is a gulf that separates you, one from another of the two worlds, to which the departed go. You can not cross from one to another. There isn't one bit of scripture in the Bible that supports the soul-damning theory of purgatory. Though Lindbergh crossed the great waters in one great flight, though he, in his loneliness of the night, made that great trip, there will never be an airplane, nor other means of transportation that will span that gulf that separates one from another in the two worlds after death. A closing thought is that this rich man did not go to hell because of his riches. It was not because of the attitude he had toward his wealth. Some say that is the reason he was in hell. But this man, in hell, said that he wanted his brothers to "repent." And that was the reason he was there, he did not repent of his sins, accept the Christ and receive eternal salvation."

The song service tonight begins promptly at 8:15, late enough for all to get ready and be in the house on time. The prayer meetings are being conducted nightly by the evangelist at 7:45. The Young Peoples service begins at the same hour. The average is about 50 in attendance. In this service they are taught choruses, given chalk talks and presented object lessons.

Only a few days remain for this great revival to continue. Every one who can should avail themselves of this opportunity.

The music is holding up fine. Both the choir and congregations are entering heartily into the service in song and seem to enjoy the privilege. The song service begins promptly at 8:15. You are welcome.

Educational Talking Pictures at the Grand Theatre Are Good

As an added feature for the week end programs at the Grand, the management announces that beginning this week, two reel talking comedies will be a special attraction on Friday and Saturday programs. The first talking comedy is scheduled for opening tomorrow. It's an Educational Film Company release, "His Big Minute," and said to be a riot of fun and laughter. The talking comedy is on the program with "Idaho Red," starring Tom Tyler, famous western star, and his little pal Frankie Darrow.

Mrs. Roberts Hostess To Kongenial Kard Club Members

Among the clubs being entertained this week was the Kongenial Kard Klub which met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Roberts.

The hostesses entertained the group with bridge games, which were played at tables appointed in pink and white and other appointments also favored this motif.

Mrs. A. C. Francis held high score for guests while Mrs. N. W. Bigham held low for guests. Among the members Mrs. Ed Dozier held high score. Table cuts were received by Mesdames J. A. King, Jr., Vic Smith and R. D. Scruggs.

At tea time an ice course was passed to Mesdames R. D. Scruggs, A. C. Francis, W. L. Floyd, J. A. King, Jr., H. H. Meeks, Ed Dozier, N. W. Bigham, M. F. King, J. A. Tuttle, Vic Smith, E. M. Sprayberry, Harry Bell, Luther Tidwell, and E. B. Dozier of Wink.

Fine Arts Club Books to be Returned

Members of the Fine Arts club are requested to return all books that have been used during the past year's work to the home of Miss Lydia G. Watson immediately. Work of this club has been closed for the past year and meetings will not be held until next fall.

J. O. Y. Officers To Meet Next Week

Reports for the past six weeks work will be read by officers of the J. O. Y. Sunday school class at a meeting to be held next Tuesday evening, according to the president, Miss Virginia Bohne.

An early request comes from the president that each of the officers and committee members be present at this meeting which will be held at the church at 8:00.

Following is a list of the officers of the class: Mr. Arlie Casse, vice-president; Miss Stella Mae Lanham, devotional chairman; Miss Dora Wall, social chairman; Mr. Preston Bridgewater, secretary; Mr. C. T. Mayo, treasurer; and Miss Pearl Wimberly, reporter.

Summer Time Is Vegetable Time

By SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer
Vegetables are in the limelight as never before. They're a part of almost every menu.

The summer vegetables generally are not strong flavored but are delicate and blend with each other in many inviting combinations.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the danger of overcooking vegetables. They should be cooked in as little water as possible until tender but not soft. String beans which have been cooked and cooked develop a strong flavor, become soft and shapeless and turn a brownish green. Those which have been cooked until just tender are delicately flavored, crisp and shapely and an attractive vivid green. Every vegetable is harmed in the same fashion by overcooking.

Must Not be Over-Ripe
Over-ripeness should be guarded against. Vegetables should reach their maturity but should not ripen to any degree. Ripening toughens String Beans with Onions
Two cups cooked string beans, 8 small cooked onions, 1 cup milk, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Put onions into a shallow baking dish, spreading them out so that they do not touch each other. Fill spaces between onions and beans. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, stir in flour and when bubbling slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and pour over onions and beans. Dot with remaining butter and put into a hot oven for 15 or 20 minutes, long enough to heat through thoroughly and brown the top slightly. Serve from baking dish.

The fibers and makes it impossible to cook the succulent vegetables as they should be.

The green vegetables such as peas, green beans, spinach and asparagus are more attractive when the green color is preserved. This can be accomplished by cooking them quickly in boiling water in an uncovered kettle. The old-fashioned method of adding soda to the water to "set the color" was bad, for it had a tendency to destroy some of the vitamins.

PLANES AT CEREMONY

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Fifteen Army airplanes will circle over Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pa., while degrees are being conferred June 19 upon Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, Chief of Army Air Corps, and Admiral William A. Moffett, Chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. The planes will gather at Mustin Field, Philadelphia.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

Curiosity is a good thing in children. It is what we might call a "natural" impulse.

Like all tremendous forces that lie behind behavior it can be used for good or evil. As a matter of fact the child's tendency is to use it for good. Often, however, he is punished for attempts to find out things, simply because the parent doesn't want him to find them out. His motive may be pure enough. A parent's chagrin is the real cause of a whipping or scolding more than nine out of ten times in this as in many other things.

As far as is sensibly possible we should satisfy a child's curiosity when he asks questions—but please get this—only up to a point that is consistent with his age and the stage of understanding his mind has already reached. Otherwise only perplexity may result, or a false impression.

When Curiosity Is Wrong
No then, in what way may curiosity be a force for bad?

When the parents deliberately whet that curiosity and keep a small boy or girl in torment for weeks, awaiting some grand climax, just so they themselves can enjoy the denouement. They anticipate the thrill or kick they will get out of his sudden delight or amazement and permit him to get worked up to a white heat of curiosity that takes away his appetite and won't let him sleep for days on end.

We're all guilty. We do it before birthdays—we do it at Christmas. We do it whenever we think it will give Johnny (and ourselves) a thrill. Surprises are all very fine, but we shouldn't keep them up too long. It is a very cruel form of teasing.

We shouldn't hide things about the house, ever. That's bad, too. His natural urge for discovery should not be diverted into cunning. Who is to blame if he becomes cleverly sly at finding out things hidden from him?

This matter of curiosity is an important factor in a young child's training. We should think it over.

One time a traffic policeman said: "If I arrested all the people I see breaking traffic laws every day, I wouldn't have time to be doing the rest of my duty."

I cannot think of anything more apt in describing the predicament of a mother of little children.

It just is impossible for youngsters to be perfect. And if they were, wouldn't they be dull and uninteresting? That's the way they learn, by trying everything once (and sometimes several dozen times) whether they're allowed or not, before the little training lessons sink in—and consequently, there is scarcely a minute of the day that they're not in hot water of some kind or other.

Can't Always Be Scolding

If we stopped to heckle about Johnny banging the screen every time he banged it, or about the cookie he coaxes out of cook on every visit to the kitchen, or about smuggling Fido into his bed every time he smuggles him, we'd be busier than the policeman. And we'd have no time for the other things at all.

What should we do then? Why, just turn blind one in awhile and don't let on you see everything that happens. It must be kept to ourselves though—the children must never know the deep dark secret. Don't let them discover that you know or notice. If we do that, then of course, we must mention the infraction. That's only to be expected.

But if we keep on mentioning infractions, what happens then? Why we turn into sing-song naggers, and that's about the worst thing in the world for any mother to turn into.

It Loses Its Effect
There is nothing that wears out like scolding. It loses its effect, when we keep at it day in and day out, like an effervescent bromide, and it goes just about as flat.

Something strange about the human tongue—the more it's used, the sharper it gets, and the sharper it gets, the harder it is to cut with. No one pays much real attention to us if we turn scold. Children may jump to order at the time, but it's over just like that! No real good has been done.

Little children in the experimental stage, often disobey deliberately to see how well they take it. Setting their wills up against ours, the little rascals, to test out their strength. It's a stage they go through. We never should come in to an open clash if we can help it. It's best to try to get around this fault in another way. Then, of course, it is necessary to go blind quite, quite often.

Oh, dear! This mother business!

The first central station for the commercial distribution of electricity was set going on September 4, 1882, by Thomas Edison in New York City.

Revival Party Entertained While Here

During the past week members of the evangelistic party, that are conducting a revival meeting at the First Baptist Church, have been guests at several lunches and dinners.

Dr. and Mrs. Scarborough and daughters are guests in the home of his brother, Mr. W. F. Scarborough and Mr. and Mrs. Mathew E. Perry and son are at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Geo. F. Brown.

Other places the party has been entertained are at the Lions and Rotary Clubs; Mr. and Mrs. T. T. McCasland home; Baptist laymen lunch; and tomorrow they will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McGraw.

FORMER MIDLAND TEACHER VISITS HERE YESTERDAY

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Ford and child from El Paso were guests yesterday of her cousin, Miss Annie Frank Stout, summer school teacher here.

Many Midland people will remember Mrs. Ford, who was Miss Marguerite Burkhead before her marriage. She was a popular teacher here and a talented musician, being pianist and soloist for several organizations.

The WOMAN'S DAY

Because Harriet Connor Brown of Washington, D. C., was not too busy to listen to the tales of older people, not too interested in and sure of the superiority of everything modern and a little scornful of any worth in the good old days, she has won fame and fortune.

The Atlantic Monthly prize of $5000 "for the most interesting biography of any kind, sort or description" has just been awarded Mrs. Brown for her biography called "Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years, 1827-1927."

Over half a thousand manuscripts were submitted. Napoleon, Lincoln, Gladstone, Disraeli, all the classic figures for biography were resurrected, of course. But Mrs. Brown merely picked out a common garden variety little old woman who had lived through one of the most remarkable hundred years ever known to man.

Important Years
Grandma Brown's span of days has seen all the vital events of our nation. She knew the old pioneer days of prowling Indians and no water to drink. She has lived through the most vital wars, battled in the temperance cause, marveled at the Chicago World's Fair, given grandsons to the World War, prayed for Lindbergh and voted for Hoover.

The biography is not only an account of the things one woman has seen, but in running dialogue form preserves her spicy, pungent, mellow, human comments on life as she has seen it.

Harriet Connor Brown who wins the $5000 award is not a daughter or granddaughter, but a daughter-in-law of "Grandma Brown," or Mrs. Maria D. Brown whose biography it is.

This is quite in accord with the common occurrence of "outsiders" seeing the real quality of people rather than those nearest by blood or association to that person.

Many families have been given smoother sailing by the advent of a new in-law opening the entire family's eyes to the interest and charm of one of their members hitherto given little notice or found not at all worthy of attention.

It was a family party held in honor of "Grandma Brown's" 99th birthday that her youngest daughter-in-law, the now celebrated author, took the old lady aside and drew her out on the events of her life. Her delight in her "find" made her keep after this delightful source of fact and comment till the book had taken form.

Dawes Comments
Former Vice President Charles Dawes says of the book: "Here is a fine picture of the New England character as it reacted 200 years after the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers to a new environment. The book is more than that. It is an epic of American life in the early and later days of the Middle West."

Most of us in this bustling modern days are "too busy to bother with the old folks." We sort of assume that they have nothing for us. But the famous "acres of diamonds" are often lying in the minds and hearts of those figuratively relegated to the chimney corner.

Because she was wise enough to see and hear, Mrs. Herbert D. Brown is $5000 richer and famed as the author of "the most interesting biography."

Leather coins were used in Europe in the 17th century.

COLOR, CUT AND FABRIC PLAY IMPORTANT ROLES IN THESE CHIC GOWNS FOR EVENING DANCES

When youth dances in summer moonlight, her costumes should express the beauty of the occasion, the lilt of her spirit and embody the feeling of her young years.

Madame Tollmann, of Paris, has created three stunning evening gowns for young women that fulfill every requirement. Each has some distinctive way of flaunting its youthful spirit in a very pleasing manner.

Not fabric alone, nor yet color that creates the impression of happy youth. The cut has much to do with it.

Left—In a lovely little pale pink mousseline de sole gown Madame Tollmann develops a semi-princess line with a swaying skirt of two vertical tiers that follow the down-in-the-back hemline, all scalloped on the edge to further create the impression of rhythmic motion.

The front neckline of the bodice is sweetly rounded in a modest manner while the back is cut lower, with an original touch in its use of a loose cape collar. This swaying collar is embroidered in strass and three shades of pink bugles, all darker than the dress itself.

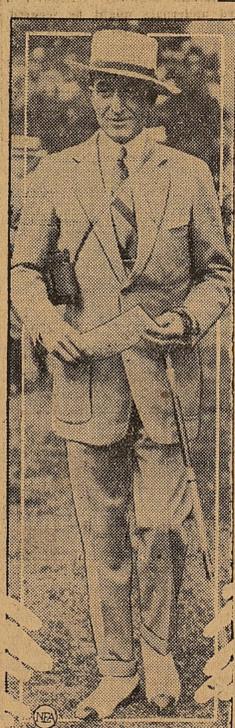

Center—For the girl who wears yellow, Madame Tollmann uses both sides of beautiful satin-back crepe to fashion an original little gown that points its stripes of both the shiny and dull sides of the fabric,

From the hipline full panels fall to fashion cute little trains that float as its young wearer dances.

Right—Some girls yearn for their first black dance frock, feeling that it gives them sophisticated charm. Madame Tollmann uses black pout de soire and makes a little gown with two such youthful touches that it becomes almost demure in spirit rather than sophisticated.

First, she makes a detachable black net bartha, embroidered in black jet bugles, that is cut a little deeper in the back and fastens tight to the collar line. Second, she cuts the skirt in tiers and makes a huge pout on the longer side. This is caught with a sparkling buckle of diamonds and pearls.

"MUCH COOLER," FORECAST FOR MEN'S SUMMER TOGS

By CURTIS WOOD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, June 20.—Men are realizing this summer that it is psychology to dress to look cool, whether they feel cool or not.

Several things go into the making of a cool-looking outfit. Color plays real part. Merchants have gone the whole way this year and summer suits are feather-weight, unlined, in such pleasing shades that a man is bound to feel a rise in spirits when donning one.

Two-piece suits in summer weight worsteds, flannels, alpaca and Palm Beaches have been tailored as meticulously as the regular lined winter three piece suits. One can have a conservative business suit in a fine striped tropical sports suit or he can have a jaunty sports suit in flannel. He really should have both!

Color Tones Are Many
Greys and tans divide honors, with both of them featuring a tremendous range of tones—suiting the man's complexion, one might say. There are a lot of new blues that have a good tone but aren't really loud. If a man buys one of these he should restrain his tie and shirt tastes, for the suit itself carries enough life for the outfit.

Summers suits prefer the two button coat, with little variation in lapels. Patch pockets are more often found on flannel sports suits. The coin pocket is one of the season's contributions to convenience.

On sunny days at the Belmont races a large number of summery looking outfits turned out. Shoes and hats make a lot of difference in this desired effect of coolness. Whites, tipped and saddled in black, tan or blue are the preference.

Ira Richards had on a neat outfit one day. His flannel suit had patch pockets and conservative lapels. He wore a white shirt, Panama hat jauntily snapped as to trim but banded conservatively in black, a number of woods in fine inlay and white shoes tipped in black. His tie, contrarywise, was itself grey, striped rather gorgeously in blues. His cane added the jazziest note, being a modernistic one that used work.

MIDLAND LOSES TO BALLINGER ON YESTERDAY

In one of those rallying last innings for which the Ballingerites are becoming better known, Midland bowed to the visitors yesterday, 10-9. The finish was hectic, Kallina trying to score on Cheeves' single in the ninth, and being thrown out at the plate.

Look Out, Flyers; Aviation Catering Newest Problem

A new problem has entered the already crowded aviation field and one which challenges the resource and ability of the members of that already well occupied field. It concerns "aviation catering." By that term is not meant the mere dispensing of food to aviators and aviation employees, but the catering to passengers on the great "Sky-Diner" and transcontinental planes offering dining service.

"I do not mean that flying affects their appetites," says Harrison, "on the contrary their hunger seems to be stimulated, but their attention is being constantly distracted by the many sights afforded the view from an airplane, so their orders are the sort which do not require much concentration on their part, but a great deal of the part of those responsible for supplying them. They like dainty sandwiches in great numbers, plenty of soft drinks, as well as coffee and milk."

The duty of an airplane steward is not limited at all to supplying the gastronomical wants of the passengers, but in keeping them in good humor. Harrison has given a good deal of study to the kind of food demanded in the new service and as a result has established a menu both attractive and substantial.

"Air sickness is largely mental," said Harrison, "However, even on the smoothest of air journeys a passenger may be rendered uncomfortable by inappropriate diet. Rich, heavy foods are absolutely taboo, as are all greasy foods and fat meats."

Braniff "Sky-Diner" menu is as follows: Relishes, Four kinds of three-deck sandwiches, Sweet and sour pickles, Eight kinds of two-deck sandwiches, stuffed and green olives, potatoes, head-lettuce, tomato, and bean salads. Celery hearts, Cakes and pie, ice cream, ices, coffee, tea, milk, buttermilk, near beer, and soft drinks.

DEBUNKING CONTINUES NEW YORK, June 20.—(UP)—Mollie Pitcher's heroism during the Revolutionary war is only a myth, Ethan Allen's single handed capture of Fort Ticonderoga is a myth, Israel Putnam's ride down a stairway, outwitting the British, is a myth and so is the story that blue and buff were the colors of the Colonials, according to Robert W. Chambers, novelist, who has been making a study of the history of that period.

With a bow to his fellow novelist, Rupert Hughes, who exploded the Washington and the cherry tree legend, Chambers, writing in Woman's Home Companion declares that much of that which is called Revolutionary history is superstition and ignorant belief, and is only now beginning to be dissipated by honest research.

He adds that the Continental Congress, instead of being selflessly devoted to the cause, was perhaps the most stupid, mean-minded law-making body that has ever gathered. Another myth shattered by Chambers is the legend that the Colonials were in rags, adding that some of the colonies provided uniforms that have never been surpassed for attractiveness.

Writing of the dissipation of Washington myths, Chambers says that "out of the thick and pious incense cloud which has befooled the plaster-saintlike figure known to the world as George Washington, is being slowly revealed a superb and lovable human being, more splendid by far when stripped of the polychromatic skin which has so long stultified his stature and hidden from us the real man of flesh and blood."

And Now Here's A New One On Dallas Mayor; Remembers

DALLAS, Tex., June 20.—(AP)—In the summer of 1928, a stranger approached Fred Fuller, operator of a South Dallas tailor shop. "Glad to meet you, Mr. Fuller," the stranger said. "I am J. Waddy Tate and want to be mayor of Dallas and I'd appreciate your vote. Fine shop. Fact is, first suit of clothes I buy after taking office as mayor will be bought from you, Fred."

A few days ago the boys in Fuller's shop were commenting on the visit. "Well, Fred, the joke's on us," one tailor said. "Waddy's been mayor more than two weeks, and he hasn't been heard from."

"Yeah, I guess all politicians are alike—a lot of talk but little delivery," Fuller replied.

Then the mayor of Dallas walked in. "Well, Fred, get out that tape measure. I've come to have you make my first suit as mayor," he said.

As Fuller told the story to friends, he played with a check signed "J. Waddy Tate" and said: "I guess all politicians are not alike after all."

Marriage Law Is Debunked by Leader For Uniformity

BEAUMONT, Tex., June 20.—(AP)—The new Texas marriage law, which recently went into effect, is termed an example of "half-baked" legislation by E. D. Leach, who has lectured widely in this country and Europe on divorce matters, and was one of the leaders of the National Congress for Uniform Divorce Laws. Leach lectured in England under the auspices of the Divorce Reform League, of which Sir Arthur Conan Doyle was president.

Leach's criticism of the new law is that it requires physical examination of the man and not the woman of the alliance. He said he believes the doctors who receive the examination fee will be the only ones to profit.

CAPTAIN FOR EACH GAME

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., June 20.—(UP)—The University of North Carolina's basketball squad will not have an elected captain for the 1930 season. Coach Jim Ashmore will appoint a captain for each game.

PLANS FOR LONG SWIM

CLEVELAND, O., June 20.—(UP)—Providing he gets a financial backer, John Petti will attempt the longest fresh-water swim on record—from Detroit to Cleveland, more than 100 miles, on June 25. Petti said he has been a swimmer 20 years. He expects to rest between laps on the course.

MOTORIST WINS FIGHT ON TREE, POLE AND PLANT

TOLEDO, O., June 20.—(UP)—Marty Karow of Ohio State or Herb Joesting at Minnesota or Ernie Neviers at Leland Stanford were full-backs exceedingly hard to stop. But then so was Clyde Winterholder of Defiance when he "rammed around" East Toledo recently.

Winterholder drove his car into a tree. The next obstacle was a telephone pole, which was snapped. He backed up a four-foot terrace, wrecked a rubber plant, then smashed the front porch of a home.

Driving while intoxicated was the charge preferred against him when he was arraigned in police court.

CAME, SAW, CAPITULATED

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 20.—(UP)—Horace B. Berry and Irene Roberts went to the court house to see the first couple of the month married. However, they turned out to be the actors and not spectators. Many couples on the scene withdrew at the last moment. As a result, Horace and Irene won prizes offered by local merchants.

Here Are a Few Trifling Facts and Deductions About the Boxing Firm of Schmeling, Paulino and Sharkey, Ltd.

PAULINO UZCLUDUN

By WM. M. BRAUCHER NEA Service Sports Writer Making guesses about the outcome of the Schmeling-Paulino fracas scheduled for June 27 is about as rash a venture as taking a dime and your best girl to a church bazaar.

But with a heavyweight situation like this on our hands, surely one should be permitted to say almost anything, and even to seek out a quiet corner for a fairly enjoyable tiff or two.

Let us take up the details one by one, Watson, however gruesome they be, and deduce whatever things possibly can be deduced.

The Major Premise To begin with, there is the good burgomaster Max Schmeling. Recently the public prints took considerable notice of the fact that the young man looked and acted like Jack Dempsey. This is a not unfortunate selling quality and it has been clamored all over the place.

Those weaving and bobbing qualities, however, need more punch than a scowl to back them up, and the record books are just a trifle dumb on this point.

If Max is a second Jack Dempsey, he'll have to prove that fact when he meets Paulino, for otherwise, as far as we are concerned, he is just another Frankfurter.

About Risko The fight on which Schmeling's followers are basing their shouts is that in which he beat Johnny Risko, but it's getting to be that a victory over Risko doesn't mean a thing except that Johnny attended a Czechoslovakian wedding the night before.

Schmeling started his boxing career by rocking to slumber a young man named Czapp in four rounds. That was four years ago and Max has met quite a few Czapps since then, most of whom you could have no interest in, Larry Gains, a Canadian negro, inflicted so much body punishment on Herr Max that the German was forced to quit.

And only last year an English boxer named Gypsy Daniels topped your "second Dempsey" in the first round, Schmeling says he was looking over the ropes at a friend when this terrible thing happened, but it is not impossible he may have a friend or two at the bout with Paulino.

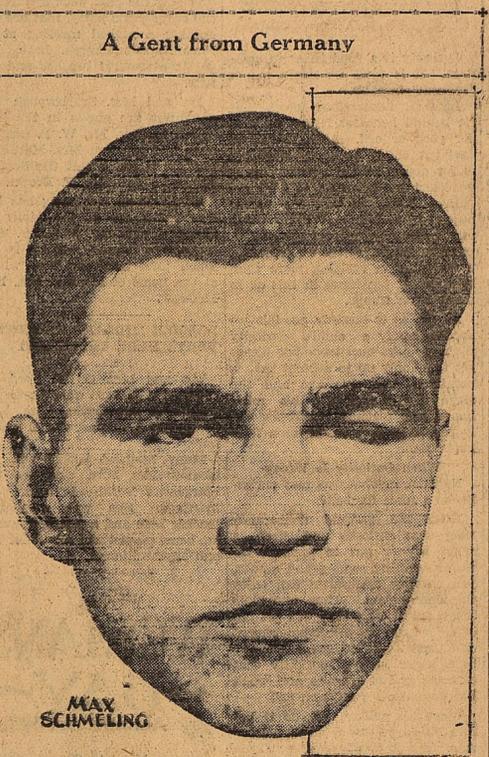

Tough, but That's All Let us turn to the other half of the problem and see what we can deduce. We have in Mister Paulino as tough a hombre as ever slapped his grandmother. People who think he is easy would be interested to know that George Godfrey deems the Basque the hardest gent he ever came across.

Paulino can take them on the whiskers, in the tum-tum or anywhere, and he keeps coming into these quarters. He packs a rib-crushing jolt. He has been mixed up with plenty of topnotchers and while some of his fights have been terrible, his ability to absorb has always been marvelous. Of course he lost to Risko, but that's that.

Mister Paulino, however, doesn't sell very well. He seems muscle-bound. He is unspectacular. There is nothing in his record to indicate championship class. To rate him as a possible successor to Dempsey and Tunney would mark you as a fellow just a trifle off base.

Let's Sharkey, Esq. Now, j's see the third part of this terrible triangle, the Boston squire, who lurks in the background, as the fellow one of the two aforementioned bruisers is expected to meet.

Here to begin with, is another young man Mr. Risko beat. He also is the same person who all but fell victim to the telegraphed punches of Old Man Christian. Mr. Sharkey is the same one who clambered past the Young Stripling with not many shades to spare.

MAX SCHMELING

On the World's Airways

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD United Press Aviation Editor

From New York to San Francisco or Los Angeles by air. Time required: 48 hours. Cost, $350. That, in brief, is the announcement of the Transcontinental Air Transport which will inaugurate its trans-American "Lindbergh Line" on July 2.

Seven inspectors from the Aeronautics Bureau of the Commerce Department left here the other day to survey and rate more than 100 air schools which had requested examination.

These fall into two classes: flying and ground schools. And within each group schools will be rated to indicate the type of training they are fitted to provide.

Flying schools will be classed as (1) private pilots' flying schools, (2) limited commercial pilots' flying school, and (3) transport pilots' flying schools.

Those which offer only ground work also will be grouped in three divisions determined by the kind and quality of training they offer.

Like the automobile schools which accompanied development of the motor car industry more than a decade ago, these institutions to train fliers are springing up in all parts of the country. Some have proved capable of giving thorough and reliable instruction, while others seemed only money-making expedients.

Even though the training an automobile school gave was not thorough, the young mechanic was not endangered in driving a car if he used discretion. But flying is another matter. According to Commerce Department figures, 17 per cent of all air accidents to pilots during the first half of 1928 occurred during the early stages of training. Other statistics of the Department showed 12.64 per cent of air tragedies for the entire year 1928 were due to errors in judgment.

Hence, the very life of a pilot is often dependent on a sound knowledge.

Realizing this, the Commerce Department plans to weed out those schools where reliable training is unobtainable and to place its approval on those which can be trusted to turn out competent pilots or mechanics.

Schools are not forced to submit to examination. But it is believed those not rated by the Commerce Department will have considerable trouble obtaining students. More than a hundred of them already have requested a survey.

The aeronautics industry may come to the aid of the cotton textile mills. The New Uses section of the Textile Division of the Commerce Department has concluded a survey which indicates cotton parachutes may be made practical. Most "chutes" now are made of silk. Engine covers and airport markers are expected also to offer new opportunities for the use of cotton.

Ritz Has One of Best Pictures In Several Months

One of the finest picture programs of late months is now the bill at the Ritz. The writer had the pleasure of being a guest at the theatre Wednesday evening and came out convinced that the picture equipment was a big success and that the picture William Boyd, in "Leatherneck" was a good test picture for it.

The story, one of the United States Marines, gives a dramatic picture of the friendship of three boys, one of them an ex-German soldier who at the time he was taken prisoner by the U. S. forces in the World War was befriended by two American Marines. Later he took out American citizenship papers and joined the United States forces. The three thrown together again have many experiences and they furnish the background for the story. The setting of the story changes from France, to battle and revolution torn Russia, and ends on the plains and desert wastes of China. If you want relaxation from the heat and worry of the day go to the Ritz tonight, you won't be disappointed in what you find on the present bill.

Supporting Boyd in the cast are Alan Hale, Robert Armstrong, and Fred Kohler. The picture is sound synchronized with a generous share of thoroughly "understand-able" dialogue. The short, Vitaphone feature is exceptionally good too.

FIREMEN GET SPOILS

CHILDRESS, Texas, June 19.—(UP)—Frozen dainties were found here in the salvage of a home destroyed by fire.

While working among the smoldering timbers of the M. G. Brock home here, employees of the West Texas Utilities company opened a charred firetrape and from its porcelain-lined chambers found two trays filled with ice cream and ice cubes. Refreshments were enjoyed by the searching parties.

WAIST-LINE PENALTY

FITCHBURG, Mass., (UP)—Women members who had made no effort to acquire boyish figures suffered financially under a collection plan inaugurated recently at the First Baptist Church. In connection with the raising of a church fund, women were asked to contribute one penny for each inch after measuring their waist-lines.

SPEAKING OF SPORT

BY FRANK GETTY United Press Sports Editor

A New Gardener

Frank Bruen, well known to turf followers, has been appointed vice-president of Madison Square Garden.

Does this mean that the corporation is going in for horse racing? W. F. Carey, its president, says not. He might change his mind. Thars gold in them bang-tails.

The new gardener has devoted most of his life to racing affairs, both in this country and in Cuba. Whether he will interest his associates in the sport of kings remains to be seen. He is a soft-spoken, pre-sensible young man who should fit smoothly into the efficient organization of Madison Square Garden.

In the winter time, Bruen's experience as general manager of the Miami Jockey Club may be put to good use by the Garden corporation. It is fairly certain that when he accepted his appointment it was with no intention of spending the year around in a New York City office.

Home Town Horse Makes Good

Admirers of Reigh Count, 1928 Kentucky Derby winner, are feeling better now that Mrs. Hertz's great 4-year old has won a race in England. They now look for the Sun Reigh colt to take the Ascot Gold Cup, one of the most valued prizes of the English turf.

Reigh Count was slow in getting going over there, but once they put an English jockey on his back, the colt ran a spanking mile and a half over the Derby course at Epsom to win the Coronation Cup by a short head from Will Barnett's Athford, the short priced favorite.

C. M. T. C. Boys Assembled Today At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 20.—(UP)—The gates of Fort Sam Houston had inclosed within them recently 1200 raw recruits, most of them Texas high school youths. The recruits formed the largest Citizens Military Training Camp in the Eighth Corps Area.

Although more youths reported, only 1,200 were allowed to remain, as the government quota provides for that number only. The others returned to their homes at government expense.

The largest delegation comprised some 200 students from towns in the lower Rio Grande valley. Military officials at the camp expressed themselves as well pleased with the general physical condition of the youths, saying that only about three out of each 100 were rejected because of physical disability.

Breaks Record For Solo Flight Time At Beaumont Lately

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 20.—(AP)—Taking a solo flight after only one hour's instruction, G. Frank Myers, Beaumont oil man, is believed to have established a record for aptitude at learning the art of piloting an airplane.

A record of one hour and 50 minutes had been established by an eastern school. A crowd of 500 spectators at the Beaumont airport saw Myers take off and make a perfect landing on his return after circling the field several times.

tual drilling, started Saturday. The principal function of the day was the administration of allegiance to the United States. The oath was led by Brig. Gen. S. D. Rockenbach, camp commander.

The first student to report was Raoul Lopez, San Antonio, who is attending the camp for the fifth consecutive year. He was only a few minutes ahead of Archie Garner, Palestine, here for his fourth year.

During their four weeks of military training, the youths will spend one week on the target ranges at Camp Stanley.

NEW ENGLAND CLUB SOLVES THAT TEEING-OFF PROBLEM

BROOKLINE, Mass., (UP)—Lots of people wanted to play golf over the Country Club course here—so many, in fact, that there was scarcely room for all. So club officials got around the difficulty by making a 27-hole course in three nine-hole units.

These units are so interlinked and centralized in their starting points that players may start on any one of the three units and select either of the other two units to complete their 18 holes.

TALKING FILMS DO NOT NEED STAGE PLAYERS, SAYS RONALD COLMAN IN INTERVIEW

By DAN THOMAS NEA Service Writer HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 20.—"All of this shouting about the necessity for stage actors for speaking films is a lot of baloney."

"The speaker was Ronald Colman, foremost lover of the silver sheet today. And "Ronnie" was very emphatic as he spoke.

"Screen training is still 10 times as important as stage experience in my opinion," the actor continued. "I spent seven years on the stage before I came into pictures so I believe I am in a position to say that if I am successful in talking pictures I have my screen training to thank for my success.

Colman also stated that he doesn't believe the "squawkies" will spell the ruin of foreign players. In his opinion the public will become accustomed to their accents and accept them speaking roles. Naturally those who have both stage and screen experience have a slight edge. But of the others I believe the film players will win out in the end.

Prettiest Girl on Old Broadway

Prettiest show girl in New York—that is what newspaper critics adjudged Miss Myrtle Allan, Cleveland, Ohio, girl playing with Ziegfeld's "Show Boat." Of course, you surely can't blame the judges and they had a precedent to guide them as she was also declared to be the prettiest girl in "Show Boat" in a recent contest.

Math, Prerequisite To M. A. Ditched At Texas School

FORT WORTH, June 20.—Mathematics, the bane of many a college student's existence, is no longer required for a Bachelor of Arts degree from Texas Christian University, according to announcements from T. C. U. for next year, provided the student takes another of certain subjects to replace the former one-year mathematics requirement.

Instead of "math," six semester hours in one of the following is permissible: Greek, Latin, philosophy, chemistry or physics. In addition to any other requirements these subjects may meet.

A change in the modern language department of T. C. U. for 1929-30, provides that in addition to a year in a modern language, the student must pass a test on his reading knowledge of the language before his credit will be recognized.

In September a psychological laboratory will be installed at T. C. U. for the first time, according to J. A. Glaze, professor of psychology. Students in the experimental psychology courses will work in pairs performing experiments on learning sensations, attentions, memory, perceptions and intelligence.

CRUDE OUTPUT IN U.S. SHOWS GAIN

NEW YORK, June 20.—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 18,000 barrels for the week ended June 15, totaling 2,743,250 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

Table with columns: State, Production, Difference. Lists states like Oklahoma, Kansas, Panhandle Tex., etc.

Total 2,743,250 Inc. 18,800 Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended June 15 were 322,571 barrels compared with 282,000 barrels for the previous week, and 308,500 barrels for the four weeks ended June 15th.

Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports for the week ended June 15 were 66,857 barrels compared with 36,714 barrels for the previous week, and 56,464 barrels for the four weeks ended June 15th.

LURE OF TALKING FILM WINS MACK

"The Voice of the City," Willard Mack's all-talking picture, a Cosmopolitan production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which will open at the Grand Theatre Sunday, marks the entrance into the "talkies" of one of the "Big Five" of present day playwrights.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer knew what they were doing when they signed Mr. Mack to write, direct and play in a one hundred per cent talking picture. Mack stands out among playwrights as a master of crisp, dramatic dialogue.

Through the years he has had an unbroken record of successes. These include such stage plays as "Common Sin," "Gang War," "Tiger Rose," "The Man Who Came Back," "The Scarlet Fox," "Lily Sue," "Weatehr-Clear," "The Noose," "Kick In" and "The Big Chance."

Mack's great contribution to the stage has been in realistic, true-to-life stories of the seamy side of big cities. "The Voice of the City" is such a tale.

The picture is regarded by the industry as one of the year's outstanding talking pictures. It is scheduled for a three day run at the Grand.
