LIGHT ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

Midland Ranks 17th Among Texas Cities for Permits Negro, Concealed In House, Chokes Midland Woman

SCREAMS OF WOMAN RING OVER PHONE

Mrs. Henry Walters Not Injured By Treatment

Mrs. Henry Walters, who lives at 636 North Main, at the "old Caldwell place," was choked and rendered unconscious through fright Sunday night when a negro man pursued her to the house telephone when she fled to call for aid after finding the negro in her bathroom.

"I was going into the bathroom just before going to bed," Mrs. Walters said. "I reached up to turn on the light and found my arm caught in the grasp of someone there. I pulled out of his grasp and ran into a bedroom where the telephone is. Calling the number of Roy Johnson, in whose home my daughter was visiting during the evening, I heard the intruder behind me. I turned about just as his hands caught my throat. I remember screaming and then all was black."

When the daughter, Miss Ovel Ellen Walters, heard her mother's scream, she got into a car with friends and hurried home to find Mrs. Walters lying in a hallway on the bedroom gate. She was revived and found to have no marks of violence save on her throat.

The incident was reported to Sheriff Francis this morning. Mrs. Walters said she and her son Billie had heard something at a door about 10 o'clock. She got up and fastened every door save that of a roomer who has an apartment in the Walters home.

Billie, who had been studying, went to bed. It was an hour later that Mrs. Walters was surprised by the negro.

"The man wore a light suit and hat," she said. "I am not certain that I could identify him. He was a big man. I don't know what his motive was in being in the house, unless he had hidden himself in one of the eight rooms, thinking to come out and plunder when everyone had gone to bed."

Nance Shipped Out Calf Crop Sunday

Shipments of 31 loads of steer and heifer calves was made from the Midland stock pens Sunday by Tom Nance. There was a total of 1,177 head.

Seven loads went to Wichita, Kansas, market, the other 24 loads going to the Harris Livestock Company at Sterling, Colorado.

Doubts Cotton Crop Big As Last Season

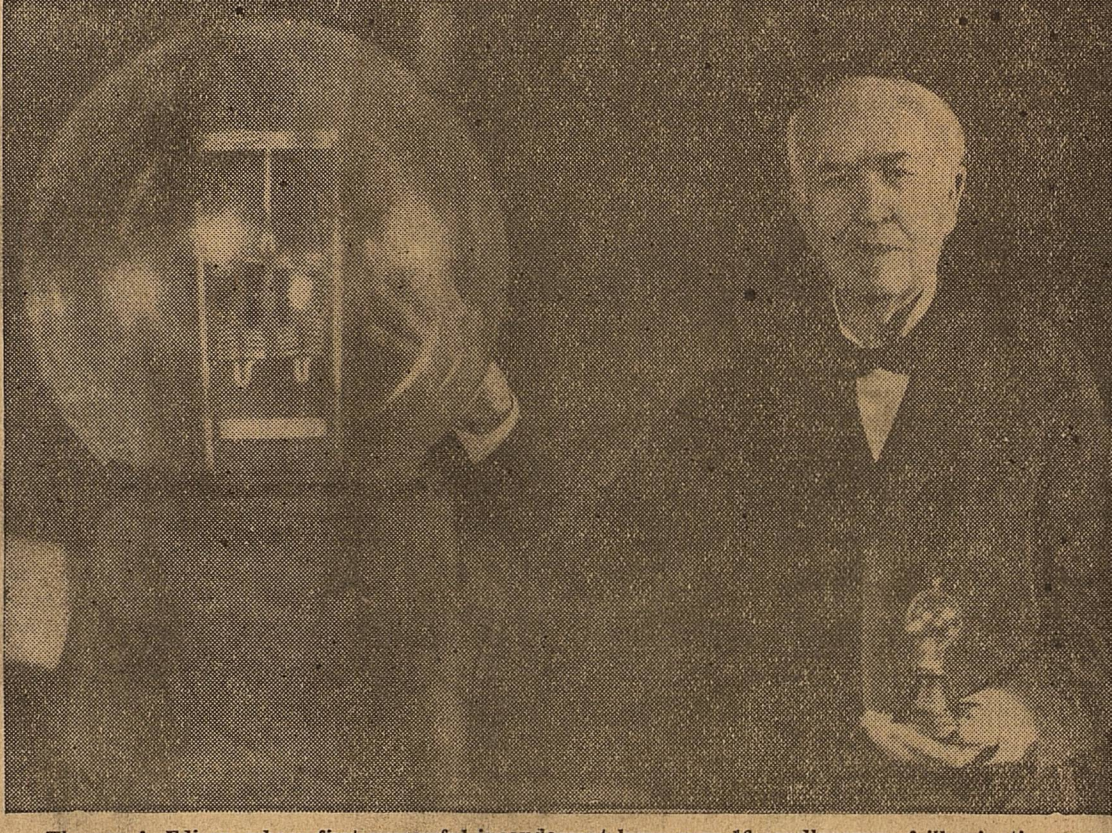

Pat Bodine, who farms two miles north of Midland, says he does not believe the cotton crop this year will be as heavy as last year. There is a good second growth of stalk in many fields, he says, but he doubts if frost will hold off long enough to make much of a second crop.

Late feed is making fine stalk also, he says, but it may be too late to mature into a good feed crop. However, he plans to feed cattle on the fodder even if his feed does not head out good.

Executive Party WTCC Here Sunday

A. M. Bourland, president-manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by Mrs. Bourland, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Shipp, all of Vernon, and Miss Florence Hackell of Paris, stopped in Midland Sunday afternoon to visit for a few hours with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm M. Meek. The party was en route to El Paso for the convention of the West Texas chamber.

Honored Here By Great Incandescent "E"

Thomas A. Edison, whose first successful incandescent lamp gave 16 candlepower of illumination, contrasts that attempt with the lamp achievement of the day, a 50,000 watt lamp capable of 150,000 candlepower today as cities of 14 nations celebrate the anniversary of the electric bulb. Midland will burn a great "E" from the walls of the Petroleum building tonight in honor of the great inventor.

HOOVER NAMES AMERICANS TO ARMS PARLEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson announced today on behalf of President Hoover that Senators Reed of Pennsylvania and Robinson of Arkansas have accepted posts as members of the American delegation to the London arms parley in January.

Stimson said that Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee had been asked by President Hoover to serve on the American commission, but that he had found it impossible to accept.

Dad-Son Banquet At Seven Tonight

When the committee in charge announces time to go into the ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer at 7 o'clock this evening, for once there will be as many boys present at a banquet as men.

The evening is held for boys, even though it is styled Father-Son banquet. The ticket committee announced at noon that there are only a few tickets left, and that every father in the county should get into the ballroom with his son if possible. Every bachelor who can find a boy "for the night" should borrow one and be at his place, the committee said.

A short program is to be held. The banquet is the first of an annual affair to be held here.

Sentenced Here, Men Draw Other Sentence

J. W. King and H. E. Farrell, convicted and sentenced in Midland county for alleged participation in the robbery of the West Texas dry goods company, were sentenced to a charge of appropriating an automobile.

The men were charged with having taken the machine when one they were driving from Midland, also reported to have been stolen, broke down.

King was sentenced here to two years, Farrell five. District Judge Charles L. Klapproth will open court Tuesday at Andrews.

YOUTH RUN OVER

HOUSTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Dick Stewart, 3-years-old, died today of injuries sustained yesterday when he was run over by an automobile driven by a negro.

Local Attorney Finds Back Blistered—But Liked It

Judge and Mrs. J. M. Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wilkinson returned late Sunday from a week-end trip to Roswell where they visited their sons, Robert Caldwell and Jack Wilkinson, students in the New Mexico Military Institute.

Saturday was home coming day at N. M. I., and hundreds of former students were there along with parents of present students to enjoy the day's events.

During the morning, the Institute defeated the Oklahoma University polo team 8 to 1, and in the afternoon the football team defeated New Mexico University 28 to 20.

"One Institute player made an 85-yard run," Judge Caldwell said. "It wouldn't take much of that to make a football fan out of me."

"Those ex-students didn't care how hard they beat you on the back when a good play was made," Mr. Wilkinson said. "I never saw so much pep in a college bunch."

The Midland banker, who in his school days attended V. M. I., said after seeing the Institute boys drill that he could vouch for N. M. I. being a real military school.

Lions Want Nurse For School Studies

To the "teen age" girl the fad for a boyish figure is fraught with very real danger, according to various Midland physicians.

"Perhaps mothers and aunts on the uncertain side of forty need to count calories and carefully chew large quantities of pastry and potatoes," one said, "although ever, for them the advice of a physician should be sought before reducing is undertaken."

"The ages between 20-24 show the highest tuberculosis death rate of all ages. Physicians are unanimous in blaming lack of rest, scanty clothing and dieting fads for this condition. They say the young girl is not likely to break down from tuberculosis in her twenties if in her teens she gets enough sleep—is not overworked under unhealthy conditions, and has a diet of good plain wholesome food, including a warm nourishing breakfast. She need not fear that any loss of beauty will result from a few pounds added, for her clear skin, shining eyes, glossy hair and abundant 'pep' will make her popular and successful."

Realizing this, and other factors contributory, the Midland Lions club is making an effort to influence hiring of a public health nurse for the city school children.

FRENCH 'TIGER' FIGHTS AGAINST WEAKENING HEART

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(UP)—Georges Clemenceau, the indomitable, rallied from a heart attack today which almost ended his great career.

The aged "Tiger," who was France's bulwark during the World War, stubbornly refused to submit to death.

"It's not this time," Clemenceau whispered to physicians when he rallied following the fifth administration of oxygen.

Eight Cars Cattle Shipped Saturday

Eight cars of cattle were shipped out of Midland stock pens Saturday night, five of them by the Scharbauer Cattle Company to the Fort Worth market, and three cars to Fort Worth by Proctor and Goodman. The cattle will be sold on today's market there.

Frost Predicted By Weather Bureaus

Prediction of the first frost is made in today's weather forecast by the Associated Press for tonight and Tuesday.

The same prediction was sent to the Midland National Bank in its weather report from New Orleans.

It is hoped by farmers and ranchmen here that the frost will not strike this part of West Texas as the country is getting much benefit from the warm growing weather following the recent general rains.

Auto Accidents Take 6 Lives At Week-End

DALLAS, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Six persons were killed in Texas week-end automobile accidents.

Mrs. Julia Hansk, 29, and C. E. Hill, 40, both of Dallas, were killed when their car went through a bridge railing.

V. R. Uterbeck, 30, died last night of injuries sustained when a truck ran over him near Houston.

FIFTEENTH FOR WEEK, IS REPORT

Only Three Cities In "Six-Figure" Class Figures Show

Midland has edged forward in the building columns to a place where Associated Press ranked it seventeenth among cities of the state for the year, fifteenth for the week.

Only $8,200 was turned in as Midland's permit figure last week, but this made the yearly aggregate $832,470.

Only three Texas cities scored in six figures over the week, Houston, Port Arthur and San Antonio.

The Associated Press tabulation, listed as for the "principal cities of the state," follows:

City	Week	Year
Houston	$451,039	$25,069,919
Port Arthur	127,435	2,500,843
San Antonio	122,969	12,978,639
Dallas	93,433	7,906,972
Fort Worth	83,261	9,103,829
Shreveport	56,929	3,123,905
Beaumont	48,526	2,404,959
Austin	40,822	2,792,930
San Angelo	35,830	1,672,246
Lubbock	28,180	3,062,459
Amarillo	27,985	1,547,720
Pampa	27,125	1,176,427
Corpus Christi	25,095	1,888,663
Midland	8,200	832,470
Waco	5,105	1,918,973
Wichita Falls	3,175	955,426

Building permits in Texas during September fell sharply below those in August and in September last year, bringing the industry close to a slump, according to Bervard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

"Except for the permits of last June, September figures were smaller than those of any month since the latter part of 1926," Mr. Nichols said. "Moreover, construction projects declined and the amount of contemplated work decreased further. High interest rates coupled with increased building costs and the clouded business outlook are possibly the chief causes for the decline. A similar decrease in building activity is taking place over the entire United States."

Eastland, El Paso Score. "Building permits in 34 cities of the State reporting to the Bureau of Business Research amounted to $7,251,000 in September, compared with $9,824,000 in August and $8,351,000 in September, 1928. Losses occurred in 23 cities against gains in the other eleven. Corsicana, Eastland, El Paso and Marshall reported unusually large relative gains over permits in September last year. Losses were widely distributed over the State. For the third quarter, permits in the above cities totaled $24,819,000, or a decrease of 9 per cent from the amount reported in that quarter a year ago.

"Construction and engineering projects let in Texas during September had a dollar value of $15,000,000. This is a decline of 16 per cent from the preceding month, and is 1 per cent under the amount reported in September last year. Contemplated work fell 22 per cent below that in August. These large decreases are particularly impressive at this time because the season of winter curtailment is approaching."

Stanton Lions For Football Eleven

The Stanton Lions club has adopted a resolution which has as its purpose the keeping of boys in school.

At a discussion, it was brought out that the lads of the town have a habit of quitting school in too great numbers before graduation.

The club is sponsoring the excellent football team which bids to take the district championship from Pyote.

ARMY OFFICER IN MIDLAND TODAY FOR CONFERENCE

Conferences were held in Midland Monday by airport, aero club and Chamber of Commerce officials with Lieutenant Thad V. Foster, control officer of Southwestern Airways regarding the Midland field. Lieutenant Foster flew here from San Antonio this morning in a Liberty.

He was met at the field by Harvey Sloan, "Dusty" Waller, T. Paul Barron and the chamber secretary. He then went into conference with Sloan, Waller, H. M. Becherer, O. C. Harper and the secretary. He was a guest of the Midland Chamber at luncheon. The lieutenant's visit was in connection with an airport movement initiated several months ago by the Chamber of Commerce aeronautics committee and the airport management.

Lieutenant Foster's large territory necessitates his flying almost constantly. "But, that's what I'm in the service for," he said. "I have been in the air more than 800 hours this year. I have been over my route 23 times, and the trip to Midland today is the first I have made with a map in several months."

When offered one of the Midland air maps, made by O. C. Harper, the lieutenant said he had 75 or 80 of them, and although he had never been over the Midland to El Paso route, the map had everything a pilot needed. His trip from Midland takes him over that route.

"This is a fine country for flying," the officer said. "You can land in anybody's back yard."

Swaps Jokes With Cops After Arrest

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(UP)—John McGouldrick, sunburned seaman, swapped jokes with detectives today as he was booked on a charge of murder in connection with the most mysterious deaths in Louisiana police history. He is ordered held at New Orleans while authorities are seeking to determine whether Jack Kraft committed suicide or was slain and thrown into the Mississippi River.

Behind the bars in a New Orleans prison is the pretty sweetheart, whose love letter to McGouldrick caused his arrest.

Borger Martial Law Not Formally Lifted

AUSTIN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Gov. Dan Moody probably will take his time about formally lifting martial law at Borger, it was indicated today when Pat Dougherty, the governor's confidential secretary, said that no proclamation had been left by the governor when he departed on a hunting trip into Old Mexico.

Governor Moody is expected to return to Texas via El Paso on Wednesday.

Convict To Help In Borger Cleanup

AUSTIN, Oct. 21.—(UP)—An aid for probing Borger lawlessness has been found at the Texas penitentiary in J. H. Holmes, who is serving a bigamy sentence from Hutchinson county.

James was granted a 30-day furlough today on the grounds that he can be instrumental in assisting officers break into the "ring" at Borger.

Innocent Man Saved From Death Penalty

AUSTIN, Oct. 21.—(UP)—Anastacio Vargas, whose death sentence was commuted to life sentence, is free today after what Lieutenant Governor Miller termed one of the law's regrettable mistakes.

Vargas was granted a full pardon after officials were convinced that the partial identification leading to his conviction was in error.

The condemned man was charged with having killed Lusia Garcia in 1928 during a robbery.

Appointed Manager

T. J. Miles, Jr., for two years in charge of advertising and display at Wadley-Wilson Company, now Grissom-Robertson Stores, has been named manager of the new Grissom-Robertson store at Brownwood.

MILES SELECTED MANAGER STORE AT BROWNWOOD

T. J. Miles, Jr., who for two years has been advertising manager and window display man for Grissom-Robertson Stores, and formerly Wadley-Wilson Company, has been promoted to the position of manager of the new Grissom-Robertson store at Brownwood. The organization has just bought the stock and fixtures of one of the leading stores of that city.

In seeking a manager for the Brownwood business, Addison Wadley, was asked to name a man, and he immediately recommended Miles. Formerly connected with the J. C. Penney stores and other strong organizations, Miles has had excellent training in merchandising and in advertising and display work. His promotion comes as good news to his friends here, although many will regret his departure with his family from Midland.

New Broadcasting Station Proposed

Efforts to get a larger broadcasting station at Abilene, which will benefit all West Texas, are being aided by the Midland Chamber of Commerce through letters to the Radio Commission. Better programs, better transmission and increased publicity for West Texas are promised through the proposed new station.

Warning Against Fake Advertising

Beware of anyone who comes to Midland seeking to sell highway map advertising, is a warning sounded today by the Chamber of Commerce. A spurious scheme is known to be in existence, and the salesman may try to work Midland. His former employes warn merchants against taking his highway map or road book advertising.

BIG SPRING CHURCH OPENS

BIG SPRING, Texas, Oct. 21.—The formal opening of the new First Baptist Church has been set for Sunday, Nov. 3, according to Rev. Dow H. Heard, pastor. The new church is located at Sixth and Main Streets. The building is one of the most beautiful and complete in church structures in Texas, and was erected at an approximate cost of $100,000.

EXPLOSION FATAL TO FIREMAN

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 21.—(UP)—An explosion which occurred in the $200,000 warehouse fire today resulted in the death of Fire Lieut. Richard Swenson, whose skull was fractured by a falling brick, and the injury of 12 others.

HOOVER TO DEDICATE INSTITUTE

Great "E" To Flash From Petroleum Bldg. Here

DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 21.—(UP)—President Herbert Hoover arrived at 10 a. m. today to participate in the ceremonies commemorating the fifteenth anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's perfection of the electric light.

The nation's chief executive will dedicate the Edison Institute of Technology tonight, which has been established by Henry Ford as an advancement of scientific research.

A part of the dedicatory ceremony will be the re-enactment of the experiment through which Edison perfected filament light, which took place on October 21, 1879.

All of the exercises will be broadcast throughout the nation, while a crowd of 200,000 watches.

While the nation, together with 13 foreign countries, celebrates Light's Golden Jubilee, in honor of Thomas A. Edison's anniversary of the invention of the electric light, Midland will see stand out in flame against the south side of the Hogan Petroleum building tonight from dark until 11 o'clock an immense "E", the greatest ever seen in West Texas.

The "E", for Edison, will be eleven stories in height and more than 100 feet in width. It will be formed by lighting certain offices on the southern exposure and leaving others darkened. Its regularity is assured through the plans made by the Texas Electric Service company.

The "E" will be burned through the courtesy of the management of the big 12-story structure, and that of tenants.

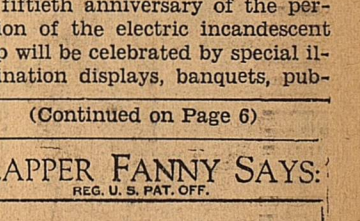

At least thirteen nations throughout the world will celebrate "Light's Golden Jubilee" today in commemoration of the fifth anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's invention of the first practical electric incandescent lamp. Countries of both hemispheres have announced plans for cooperation in the extending of a world wide expression of gratitude to the inventor of the electric light.

At Dearborn, where the festivities of Light's Golden Jubilee will center, a testimonial dinner will be given by Henry Ford and attended by distinguished citizens of this country and representatives of foreign nations.

Meanwhile, in their homelands, the fiftieth anniversary of the perfection of the electric incandescent lamp will be celebrated by special illumination displays, banquets, pub-

THE EDISON JUBILEE

Not only power and light companies, active agents in making the close of the commemorative celebration of fifty years of the incandescent lamp a notable event today, but all of us have reason to regard Thomas A. Edison's invention half a century ago as a contributing factor in the shaping of our lives. It brought us to a lighted age—an era when industry is no longer shackled by the limitations of sun illumination. Study is no longer a competition between physical strain and the poor substitutes for light the world knew prior to 1879. We even play by flood light now.

The world before Edison was not aware of how much inconvenience it endured in the field of illumination. The world since is occasionally made keenly aware of it by temporary breaks in service. No household that has been a single night without electric lighting—no city deprived for even a short period of its light service—fails to appreciate what the low-cost electric bulb means in its daily life. The Governor has set aside October 21 by official proclamation as a day of celebration. That is fitting. But commemoration with the world Edison has lighted to its tasks, its play, its study, is a matter of constant and appreciative usage. The man who discovered the art of making a fire was among the world's great benefactors. What Edison did for the human race in the invention of the incandescent lamp can hardly be regarded as a lesser achievement.—The Dallas Morning News.

SEE MIDLAND COUNTY FIRST

In this age of good highways, paved streets, and fast automobiles many people fail to drive over country roads and look at the crops and pastures in their own county. Midland County, at present, presents one of the most beautiful sights in the state of Texas. Late crops are ripening. Some cotton fields are opening rapidly while some have been picked over and are beginning to put out more open bolls. Feed crops, aided by the late rains, are green and are heading out to a good yield. Pastures are green, cattle and horses are fat, and anyone who drives out over the country to look at the livestock and growing crops will come back with a feeling that he has been somewhere. When you start on a pleasure drive, see Midland County first.

BE CAREFUL, MEXICO!

Mexico is taking up American football. President Portes Gil watches two teams at the University of Mexico indulge in a scrimmage, and expresses the hope that the game will spread throughout the country. Very likely President Gil doesn't know just what he is wishing on his people. Football is an excellent game; but did the Mexican president ever pause to consider whether Mexico is ready to cope with such perplexing questions as "over-emphasis," alumni proselyting activities, huge stadiums, scouting agreements, eligibility rules and all the rest? Those are matters that only an advanced and complex civilization can cope with; indeed, they seem almost too tough to solve even then. Is the Mexican president sure he wants them to spread south of the Rio Grande?

Police Dog Discovers Brutal Murder

Through the discovery of the body of Agnes Johnson (lower left) by "Spike," a dog owned by Chief of Police Charles Sullivan, one of the most brutal murders ever perpetrated in West Chicago, Ill., was brought to light. Following the dog's discovery of Miss Johnson's still form, detectives arrested and held for the murder John B. Preston (inset above), who, it is understood, confessed that he had strangled the girl when she resisted his advances. Preston, who is a married man, took Miss Johnson and her cousin, Matilda Murphy, to Hansen's roadhouse (above), on the Outskirts of West Chicago. According to Miss Murphy he started to drink moonshine whiskey and became very amorous. The girls insisted that he take them home. He did take Miss Murphy to her house and it appears afterwards drove off with Miss Johnson. She was never seen alive again.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A federal judge in Philadelphia who has ruled that union labor must not attempt to raise Philadelphia wage scales to the levels prevailing elsewhere probably has done more than anyone else to insure passage of a piece of the various anti-injunction legislation which has been languishing in Congress for a long time.

If the opinion of Judge William H. Kirkpatrick of the U. S. district court against the right of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers to organize workers in Philadelphia is upheld by higher courts it will apparently mean that labor unions can be prevented from functioning in non-union territory at any time and under almost any conditions.

All Organizing Barred
The Amalgamated, one of the strongest unions in the country, went into Philadelphia to clean up sweat shop conditions and raise wages. It met with marked success. On Sept. 9, however, Judge Kirkpatrick issued an injunction sought by eight employers seeking to prevent further union organization work.

The union continued the winning of its campaign and now claims to have organized 80 per cent of the Philadelphia market, but there have been repercussions in Washington because of the injunction's sweeping nature, which Senator La Follette of Wisconsin has called a flagrant perversion of the Sherman Anti-Trust act, on which it was based.

La Follette obtained passage of a Senate resolution to investigate the issuance of the injunction and the issuance is now before a Judiciary Committee sub-committee, consisting of Chairman Norris of Nebraska and Senators Blaine of Wisconsin and Walsh of Montana. Meanwhile, Kirkpatrick has had to give his reasons for the injunction because the Amalgamated took its case to the circuit court of appeals.

The judge's opinion is both frank and remarkable. It sets forth that the organizing of the clothing workers of Philadelphia is an interference with interstate commerce because 80 per cent of the clothing produced in that city is shipped outside and that the effort to introduce union conditions and union wages to Philadelphia workers will result in the local manufacturers losing the advantage which a non-union field has given them.

Kirkpatrick does not contend that conditions and wages sought in Philadelphia are better or higher than those prevailing in other unionized markets, but says the aim of improving the lot of Philadelphia workers was "at best a secondary and remote one" among the Amalgamated's governing reasons for organizing them. The dominating reason, he says, was the fear that unless Philadelphia became a unionized market, the nearest other market, New York, "would be compelled to go back to a non-union basis with reduced wages to its employees."

"It will be noted," the learned judge says, "that the orders are broad enough to restrain the defendants from combining to bring about strikes by peaceful measures only," and "were so intended to be."

La Follette and labor leaders say that this injunction and opinion stand the anti-trust act on its head and represent an amazing climax to a series of injunctions against labor over the country, which have perverted the intent of Congress. All labor organizations function nationally, and the product of industries in which they work are shipped to the 48 states. If Kirkpatrick's principle is recognized it will prevent any non-union field being organized if other markets are already organized and giving better conditions and paying better wages to workers.

New Legislation Planned
The four largest of the eight employers obtaining the injunction have since capitulated to the Amalgamated, but the effect here has been to prod sharply those interested in long planned legislation designed to bar such blows to labor.

Such legislation has been held up thus far by the failure of the American Federation of Labor to co-operate with Senator Norris, who two years ago presented an anti-injunction bill which represented the best thought of the Judiciary Committee chairman and some of the country's best lawyers. The A. F. of L. executive council has been drafting a second bill of its own which probably will closely resemble the Norris bill and is likely soon to go into action for it.

AN ORDINANCE

An ordinance of the City of Midland regulating the movement and stopping of vehicles of all kinds at certain designated intersections where traffic stop signs are located and where they may be located in the future; repealing all other ordinances in conflict therewith; and creating an emergency.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Midland:

SECTION 1. Vehicles of all kinds, before entering into the streets named below at the intersections designated herein, where traffic stop signs are located, and at points where traffic stop signs may be located in the future, must come to a full and complete stop.

Main Street at Missouri Avenue, west approach; Main Street at Wall Street, east and west approach; Main Street at Texas Avenue, east and west approach; Texas Avenue at Loraine Street, north and south approach.

The term "vehicle" as used herein includes every automobile, wagon, carriage, omnibus, motorcycle, bicycle, and every other vehicle whether propelled by motor power, main power, horse power or by any other means.

SECTION 2. Any person who shall violate this ordinance, shall upon conviction, be punished by a fine in any sum not to exceed One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall also apply to any other street intersections and other points where traffic stop signs may be located in the future.

SECTION 4. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance or any part thereof are hereby repealed.

SECTION 5. The fact that there exists an urgent need for more adequate traffic control to protect the lives and property of the citizens of the City of Midland, creates an emergency and imperative public necessity that the rule requiring that ordinances be read on three several days be suspended and the same is done, and this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage as provided by law, and it is so ordained.

Passed and approved this 15th day of October, A. D., 1929.

LEON GOODMAN,
Mayor, City of Midland, Texas.

GETS CHECK FOR THIS

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 21.—(AP)—P. G. Stanford, correspondent at Plains, Texas, asked a question of the Associated Press Dallas bureau and then answered it himself. "What is the matter with the stuff I send in?" he asked. "I haven't had a check for four months; no one will kill anyone else; the highways are so good no one gets killed that way. There are so few folks here no one will fight; we all have plenty to eat so no one will steal. So rainfall and crops are about all we have to report."

Stanford will be paid for this item.

TOADS PACKED IN BRICK

ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Eastland is not the only city in the world that has its doubtless fact concerning the death-defying Harrold Toad.

Recently an experiment was conducted by an Abilene brick company in which two of these lizards were the center of interest. Packed in clay, they were placed in molds and subjected to 20,000 pounds pressure, the necessary force to press a brick. The two bricks were allowed to dry and when broken apart, the toads, though having had a tight squeeze, were still alive.

Special Program Planned For Prominent Clubs

Members of the Wednesday Club, the Delphian Club, and the Mothers' Culture Club are looking forward to their meeting with the Fine Arts Club, which will act as their hostess, Wednesday afternoon in the High School auditorium. An interesting program has been planned, and one from which much benefit will be derived.

Mrs. Roy Parks, of the Fine Arts Club, will be the leader for the afternoon. The program follows:

"History of Federation"—Mrs. J. M. Caldwell of the Wednesday Club. "Requirements of Federation"—Mrs. Fred Turner, president of the Mother's Club.

"What the Federated Clubs Are Doing For America"—Mrs. J. M. White, representative of the Delphian Club.

"Activities of the 6th District"—Mrs. T. Paul Barron, president of the Fine Arts Club.

After the talks a special vocal solo will be given by Mrs. Leon Goodman, and Mrs. T. Jeff Haynie will favor with a piano solo.

Young Midland Couple Wed

Miss Pansy Buffington, who attended the Midland high school last year, and Lloyd Lottshire, who has a small business here, both now residing in this city, were married Saturday night in the Presbyterian manse.

Rev. Thos. D. Murphy performed the ceremony.

Fruit Shower For Mrs. Murphy

After spending Saturday in Big Spring, visiting with Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Owen, of the Presbyterian church in that city, Rev. and Mrs. T. D. Murphy of the Midland church were pleasantly surprised when upon their return home they found a huge box, which upon opening, proved to be full of all sorts of canned fruits, jellies, pickles and the like.

The box had been sent by the "Helpful Neighbors" class in appreciation of a talk on Korea which was given by Mrs. Murphy at a meeting of this class held at the Donald Hunt ranch recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy spent some time working in Korea, and Mrs. Murphy was able to present some unique exhibits, and to give interesting facts, which were so enjoyed by the members of the class that they took this method of expressing their appreciation.

"The Book of the Month"

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By SISTER MARY

In cooking—as in clothes—"between seasons" present the most difficult problem. Menus cannot be planned long in advance for a sudden change in the weather may influence the produce market as well as appetites.

The time for spicy steamed puddings is during snowy months. Tender succulent vegetables are seldom to be had, and the hearty root vegetables need severe frosts to sweeten them.

Meats are the simplest problems for game is added to the list of poultry and meat.

Until a "killing" frost comes, egg plant, cauliflower, sweet potatoes, late spinach and lima beans are at their best. Curly endive and celery will be good after the first hard frosts. Tomatoes lose their flavor, for they do not like changeable weather.

Use curly endive often. Raw or cooked, it's a wholesome green vegetable. Later in the winter lettuce will necessarily be our standby, but now early endive can take its place.

Vegetable cocktails are ideal for between season dinners. They whet the appetite without cooling or heating the body temperature. Crisp cauliflower cocktail, tomato juice cocktail, egg and beet cocktail and any number of celery combinations are particularly good.

Desserts are perplexing. One hesitates to open canned fruit so early in the fall, pumpkin pie cannot always be baked, and fresh fruit becomes monotonous if used continually. Simple baked puddings, tapioca puddings and cakes supply the needed sweet for the between season dinner or luncheon.

BREAKFAST—Grape juice, cereal, cream, codfish hash, corn bread, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Eggplant with cheese on toast, celery hearts, apple tapioca pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Ham baked in sweet cider, potatoes au gratin, buttered cauliflower, early endive with French dressing, ginger bread with whipped cream, milk, coffee.

R. L. Ellison of Midland has returned from a two weeks vacation spent in Waco and Dallas.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

Miss Ishbel MacDonald showed her interest in and friendliness for the children's cause when she visited the New York Children's Court, the Henry Street Settlement, and an industrial high school for girls in the short time she spent in that city.

She, herself an active child-welfare worker in London, made the remark that "if we give children good houses, sanitary conveniences, their morals will take care of themselves."

I hope that every discouraged mother in the United States saw that paragraph. I mean mothers who feel that all their cooking, cleaning, washing, nursing, sewing and general home making is not enough and that as child training experts they just don't qualify.

I believe it will carry more cheer and more hope to the heart of the Great American Mother than all the books on psychology and all the talks on child training put together.

Importance of Home

A good home IS good training. That's about all there is to it. And the mother who spends her time mending William's clothes, cooking him good food, and keeping the house clean and homelike is exerting more influence on her boy's life than a dozen tomes on complexes.

Moral influence is a subtle thing. It cannot be talked into anyone—that is, without the exemplification of right principals behind it.

Of course it would be foolish to say that talking does no good—quite the contrary. Children need to be told. But talking must be more or less explanatory of the good—the concrete good—that Williams sees about him. Good home influence is a silent moral talk every day in the year.

The industry of his mother and father, their truthfulness, piety, patience under wearying burdens, their efforts at economy, his mother's determination to keep the family clean and respectable, his father's effort to provide a good home, and above all their combined pride in him—all these things are the dead center of character training. All other suggestions are merely supplementary.

Where Home Is Blamed

Children who reach the juvenile courts almost invariably have distressing home conditions or have had them during their early formative years. Incurable children who give school authorities the most trouble are not usually unruly because they aren't drilled in good behavior but because home isn't what it should be.

Miss MacDonald in a few words told the whole story. If conditions are generally good, morals will take care of themselves.

Mothers may welcome the suggestions of behaviorists (who really are sorting many important problems for us where our children are concerned) but they need have no feeling of failure or incompetency if they haven't time to go into these things seriously.

Truly the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world whether there is a book on child training on the mantelpiece or not.

ROGERS PLAYS TWO ROLES IN PICTURE OF SOUTHLAND

Charles (Buddy) Rogers plays dual characterizations in his latest all-talking Paramount picture, "River of Romance," which is now showing at the Ritz.

He is seen first as the soft-spoken youth who returns to his homestead in the South after having spent most of his life in the East. Later in the picture he becomes the "notorious Co. Blake," blistering gambler and river-front badman of the Mississippi.

Subsequent events show that his "badness" is, in reality, feigned and that he is not the terror that all his acquaintances had supposed him to be.

Richard Wallace, genius who directed "Innocence of Paris," famous picture starring Maurice Chevalier, was also the director of "River of Romance."

Scarf Plays Double Role In Sports And Formal Mode

Scarfs change from sporty, nonchalant affairs to take on subtle feminine character and thus re-establish themselves as vanities indispensable to the winter's mode.

New scarfs are retiring in their color, usually agreeing perfectly with a costume's predominating tone. Some tie under the chin, in saucy manner; some swing to great length, with circular ends that make veritable sheer capes of loveliness for evening gowns.

(Left) With a martial and Armand creation in fuchsia colored georgette, a scarf of lace and tulle in the exact shade adds a lovely luxury touch. The wide, circular ends of tulle are edged in chinchilla.

(Right) Louiseboulanger makes a sports frock of tweed and Shetland jersey in the same pattern of brown and beige and livens it immeasurably with a matching scarf, gaudily striped in solid red embroidery across its ends and again at bolero height.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

The American woman makes a ball and chain for herself out of her possessions, according to Fannie Hurst, the novelist, who finds that the more magnificent most people become, the more stereotyped they are.

I knew some delightful people who had just the ordinary sort of a home most people have, furnished piece by piece, where they dispensed a rare hospitality and created a unique establishment.

Then they made so much money they felt they ought to expand. They took an expensive apartment in an expensive district, that was so impressive looking they did not trust themselves to engineer the purchase of such important items as curtains and rugs.

A PROFESSIONAL JOB

Enter the interior decorator, who had no qualms. She did a capable job—so capable that none of the old furniture lived up to the background. So enter the second hand man who bought the old-lived-in pieces, and carted them away, while rich and magnificent ones took their place.

In a short time, they had a completely new environment, every room of which looked exactly like the model rooms in expensive decorating shops. It was pleasing in an impersonal way, but there was nothing about it to indicate any of the taste of the owners.

This new home represented a large investment—much larger than they had intended it to be. They were very careful of it, and they were impressed by it—so that on the slightest provocation they would be glad to tell how expensive some rug or piece of bric-a-brac was.

And eventually, things got to a point where they had to have a new set of friends to go with the new furniture and to match the new location. Their possessions have completely changed them from the simple, delightful people they used to be.

HIS OWN TAILOR

This isn't always the case just with women. I know a man who had a very smart little dress shop on an off-street where he gave excellent personal attention to his clients. He was always pleasant, kindly, and leisurely.

Eventually he moved into a larger shop on the Avenue, and finally right into the very smartest location in the city, where he now has one of the most extensive and exclusive shops in the district.

His new place is ever so smart, with a smart clientele, and is undoubtedly making money, lots of it, for it is now a large venture.

The man who built it up puts in all of his time there, but he is no longer the smiling, affable person he was when it was only a small shop. He looks hurried and worn—as if he had a hundred things to do at one time, and none of them would wait. Undoubtedly his bank account is healthy and on the up—but if he walked with a jailor at his side he would not look less harassed.

Unless added possessions give us greater freedom and happiness, what is the use of having them? Between a wolf at the door and a ball and chain, there is not a great deal of choice.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—They are known in voodvil as the boy Siamese twins. They four with their wives and a fourteen piece jazz band. Whilst playing here, they may be celluloided in a short reel musiker.

Ten years ago, the boy Siamese twins could be seen at Coney Island. They were on display in a pit, admission five or more cents. Curious spectators looked down at them from a balcony and a Barker, to climax the moment, would partly disrobe the boys and show where and how they were joined together.

Ten years ago, Sam Ornit, W. K. novelist today and a M. G. M. writer, was the assistant superintendent of the Children's Society in New York. He investigated the boy Siamese twins at Coney Island. He saw them in the pit, playing with the few toys provided for their amusement. He learned that they remained in the pit from noon until midnight.

Mr. Ornit, in behalf of the Children's Society, went into action. He fought through four courts to win his case, the case that would make musicians of these "linked" twins and not monstrosities, that would free them from their side-show slavery. He finally won.

In Washington, at the time, resided a man known as the Carnegie of the Philippine Islands. A tall, strapping, wealthy man and the Philippine Congressional Delegate to the U. S. A. He adopted the Siamese twins and for the past ten years has taken them around the world, educated them, made musicians of them, fitted them to earn a lucrative and a dignified livelihood.

Mr. Ornit, who played such a vital part in "making the boy Siamese twins what they are today," is now writing for M. G. M. The Boys are in town starring in their voodvil act. Which, as stories go, is darn intriguing, nesser passer?

Ah, Well

Pursuing the search of "things that do go on in a studio," the following is offered.

It concerns William Powell and his barytone voice. One might mention—and does, in fact—that as a lad in Kansas City, Mo., Powell hankered to gargle. "In those days," quoth Mr. Powell, "I was a boy sprano. How I escaped with my life I don't know, for they often kill boy spranos in Missouri."

But 'tother day on the "Painted Heels" set, he and three others quattered "Home Sweet Home." Helen Kane sat in a corner, trying to behave, but from her suddenly burst that baby voice: "Boop boop de doop," which ended the show. 'Tis always thus with Mr. Powell's vocal moments.

Screenalities: James Forbes, W. K. Playwright, denies he is the new man in Greta Garbo's life. . . . Richard Arlen, Nancy Carrol, Director Billy Wellman and "Victory" Kumpany locationing at Catalina. Must be rather slow in Catalina, these days. . . . A certain movie star has a way with the ladies. Also a habit. He invariably takes them to a comfy bench 'neath a tree on the lot and there lathers them with charlotte russe utterances. The rest of the troupe rigged up a microphone and listened-in, unbeknownst to Romeo, of course. And they are still marvelling that the same weak line heart-tied so many damsels! . . . Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks are now in Paris. They depart at their leisure, homeward bound via the Orient. They're due back sometime before December. "Hollywood before Christmas or know why," may be their travel cry. . . . Harry Gribbon and his wife own a beauty shop in town. Business uh huh, thank you. . . . Malcom McGregor and his better half traipsing hither and yon aboard their yacht. . . . The Gleasons—Jimmy, Lucille, and son Russell—take setting up exercises every morn. . . . Seena Owen is living on her Girard ranch. Seena insists she got a cold from scraping leaves together. Nature lovers please advise. . . . Ricardo Cortez ordering a stack of books to be sent to his wife, Alma Rubens. . . . A fortune teller told Fifi Dorsay (the vivacious mamselle in "They Had to See Paris") that she was going to Paris pretty soon with her brother and another fem. But she'd return to Hollywood and the sinema. . . . The same fortune teller told Cralie Morton he'd marry twice. First offense yet to be committed. . . . That—that's all.

SPECIAL SESSION MAY NARROW GAS WASTE

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 21.—(UP)—Governor Dan Moody will ask a special session of the state legislature in January to put a check on waste of natural gas in the Texas Panhandle.

Before leaving for Mexico on a hunting trip last week, Moody began the investigation which will result in his message to the legislature upon the topic of gas waste.

Already he has called upon the Oil and Gas division of the State Railroad Commission to do what is possible under existing laws to stop waste.

One of the late communications sent to the governor by chairman Clarence Gilmore of the commission, before his death, reported that present laws are inadequate to meet the situation.

New Order Given
The commission now has put into effect an order that prohibits "dry drilling" through gas sands, but the precaution has been taken after an estimated 510 billion cubic feet of gas has escaped in this way.

Experts C. Max Bauer and W. F. Lowe, who have made a study of the waste, say that the amount wasted would have supplied Kansas City's domestic load for 50 years.

Kansas City, Pueblo, Colo., Denver, and Omaha, and points in Oklahoma are all affected by the Texas Panhandle supply which they are now receiving through pipe lines.

A line is now being built that will carry supplies to Chicago. Another line is projected to carry gas from the Webb county field to Menerrey.

A gas production tax was proposed at the last session of the legislature.

Mex. to be used there industrially, as the Panhandle gas sent to Pueblo, is being used.

On this gas sent out of the state, Texas gets no revenue.

No Revenue
The supply is coming both from purely gas wells and from oil wells.

In the gas of oil wells the State is able, under the present law to limit the amount of gas to non-wasteful operation of the oil well.

The pure gas wells cannot be so regulated. Some of these gas wells have been drilled directly to supply the pipe lines. Others are the result of "wild cat" oil drilling.

A late survey shows the total number of purely gas wells in the Panhandle area to be 261. The average gas well produces 50,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Some run twice that. The gas area is roughly 1,000,000 acres.

Compared with other fuels, 6,000 cubic feet of gas equals a barrel of oil. Selling at 4 cents a thousand,

Woman, 70, Goaded By Mistreatment, Slays Husband With Ax

SUMMIT, N. J., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Laura M. Titus had a birthday not long ago. She was 70. There were no presents for the frail little woman, but her tired old face, deeply seamed by hard work through 49 years of marriage, showed relief rather than disappointment.

For Mrs. Titus had expected a present, a sharp and shiny thing symbolic of her place in that unhappy household. A few days previously, she said, her son had reminded his father, James Titus, that "the old woman's gonta have a birthday pretty soon; maybe we oughta get her a present."

"Yeh," the husband laughed, "we'll get her an ax. Then she can chop more wood."

James Titus was a big man, and strong despite his 78 years. He weighed more than twice as much as Laura Titus, who is less than 5 feet tall and weighs only 90 pounds. Titus liked to drink, and most of his meager wages went that way.

They had lived on a farm for 30 years, and it was pretty hard going for both of them. Then they moved in to Summit, where Titus worked for an ice company until he got sick one day and lost his job. He was not a good husband, she said; he mistreated her cruelly. And he kept on drinking. If Laura didn't like it when he came home drunk, a clip with his big fist shut her up quick enough. Soon she learned to do her work in silence, and seemed to find solace in looking at two newspaper cartoons she had saved.

One depicted the evils of drunkenness. The other showed an old woman carrying a big load of wood.

The other night old Jim Titus lay on the living-room floor in an alcoholic stupor. In the kitchen, putting over the hot stove, Mrs. Titus kept mumbling to herself: "Shall I, or shall I? Shall I, or shall I?"

Outside the kitchen door was an ax. Not the new ax she had expected for her birthday, but a good enough one.

"I took it and sat for awhile looking at him," she said. "He was lying there, with two pillows under his head."

black plants also has been suggested as a conservative measure. There are 15 carbon black plants in the Panhandle. A thousand cubic feet of gas is required to make a pound and a half of carbon black. The present production is 300,000 pounds a day. This is two thirds of the entire world production, and takes 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Residue Sufficient
Statistics already gathered in the investigation of gas waste show that the demand now going to Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, and Illinois can be supplied by the residue gas from oil bearing strata.

One proposal therefore is that the dry gas area be cased off and that the supply be conserved for domestic consumption.

Closer regulation of carbon

Mrs. Laura M. Titus . . . at 70, a murderess.

Then, the little woman declared, she swung as hard as she could. She swung again. Her husband was dead.

After she confessed, at the Union County Jail at Elizabeth, N. J., Mrs. Titus was charged with murder.

"I hope," she said, "that somebody will take care of my dog."

Powers of the oil and gas commission are limited strictly for prevention of actual waste in operation. Economic waste, such as over-production on a low market or conservation for future local demand are not possible under the present law.

BRIDGE WORKER KILLED
MADISONVILLE, Oct. 19.—(P)—Lloyd Moses, bridge worker, was killed today when the form for a concrete caisson on a bridge hung and slipped, and he fell 49 feet to a river.

ABILENE HOUSE-WIFE ENDORSES ORGATONE

"I Haven't Been Well For Three Years And Couldn't Eat, Even Milk Caused Indigestion," Said Mrs. Campbell

"For over three years, I have suffered with a severe case of chronic stomach trouble, and indigestion and never felt like doing anything," said Mrs. Lizzie Campbell, residing at 629 Willow Avenue, Abilene, Texas, while talking with the Orgatone man.

"A friend recommended Orgatone to me and I've taken three bottles and feel like a different person."

"I suffered a great deal from indigestion, everytime I ate anything, food would sour on my stomach, and gas would bloat me up until I would be miserable for hours afterwards. I didn't have any appetite because I just couldn't eat what I did want. Everything I ate, would cause me a lot of pain, because it would not digest, but would sour and come right up. Even sweet milk had a bad effect on my stomach. I was very nervous and couldn't rest or sleep at all. I never had any energy or pep at all and never felt like doing anything."

"But since taking Orgatone, I can eat anything and everything I want. I eat things that I never could eat before, and I do not have any pains or bad effects afterwards, at all. I'm not nervous and sleep and rest fine every night. I feel better than I have in a long time. I can do my housework now, without feeling all tired and worn out. Orgatone has certainly been a benefit to me, for I'm not bothered any more in any way as I did, it will certainly do what it is said to do."

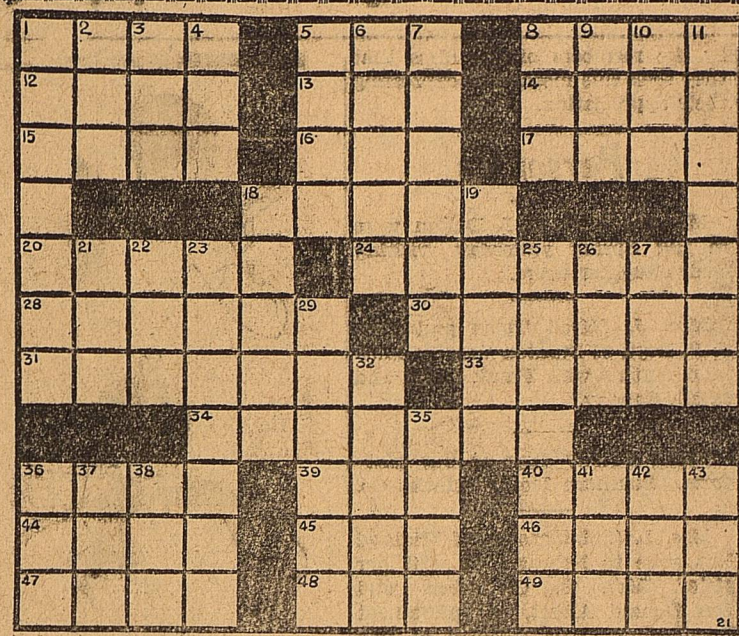

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Midland at the Midland Drug Store.—Adv.

BORN IN STAGE COACH, HE LIVES TO SEE DESERT GO
FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 17. (UP)—Alfred J. Jacoby was born in an abandoned stage-coach station on the dry plains of the San Joaquin Valley at a spot that since has become the central part of Fresno's business district.

That was in 1857, nearly 15 years before Fresno had its first house and when nearly all Fresno county's 120-mile stretch of valley land was considered desert.

Jacoby, a retired engineer and steam fitter, still lives here. He is one in a city of about 85,000 inhabitants, the center of some 187,000 acres of vineyard land and almost 500,000 acres of irrigated land.

EX-STUDE WRITES NOVEL
AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 17.—"His Own People," a novel written by L. W. Rogers, ex-student of the University of Texas, is now being printed by a Chicago printing company. The story is a vivid history evolved from the genuine experiences and sentiments underlying the mid-West life of a Methodist circuit-rider's son. Mr. Rogers, now first assistant State superintendent of public instruction, has been a student in the University at intervals since 1922. He received his master of arts degree in 1928.

"Married Life" Not Worth While

Blames Wives' "Nerves"
"Weak nerves," said a New York doctor recently, "in my estimation wreck more happily married lives than any other cause."
Besides making the sweetest disposition, fair and irritable nervousness is a terrific drain on your vital forces—it saps your youth and your strength and fills you with worry. What a difference from the bright-eyed, vibrant girl he married. No wonder married life seems miserable!
But you can get rid of your nervousness—overly, and become the radiant, healthy, radiant woman you once were. Try the effect of Tanlac after meals and before going to bed, and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you—don't let you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.
Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

...in a hat it's CHIC!

...in a cigarette it's TASTE!

LOOK up "chic" in the dictionary, and see how it fits Chesterfield—"originality with taste!"

Originality—for the Chesterfield blend cannot be copied. And where else can you find such mildness coupled with such deeply satisfying character?

Taste—the sole reason for smoking, the sound basis of Chesterfield's popularity—fragrant spice of good tobaccos, delicate flavor, wholesome natural sweetness; in every sense of the word

Two More Novels From Texas Capital

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Austin's position as a literary center has been strengthened this fall by the issuance of several new books. Among them is "October's Child" by Donald Joseph of the University of Texas faculty. Curiously enough "October's Child," and "His Own People," written by L. W. Rogers, assistant state school superintendent, both deal with boy life.

Roger's book is not yet off the press. In advance, he will only say that it is based on his own experiences, as the son of a Methodist circuit rider. These volumes will go to join earlier books by Austin authors including, Barry Bonerfeld's Chicken Wagon Family, and The Golden Cocoon, by Ruth Cross. Austin's chief claim to literary fame, however, lies in the works of W. Sidney Porter (O. Henry), and Amelia Barr.

T. C. U STOCK RAISED THROUGH RETURN OF HUSKIES TO LINE-UP

TEAMS EXPECTED TO WIN OVER RICE

Horned Frog followers were greatly encouraged this week with the announcement that Tustin Griffith, T. C. U. fullback ace, who chipped a shoulder bone in the initial game of the season and has been out since, will be back in uniform today. It is hoped that Griffith will be able to get into shape for play in the last four conference games with Rice, Texas, Baylor and S. M. U. He was not in the game Saturday when the Purple beat A. & M., 13-7.

More good news for the Frog coaches and fans appeared in the fact that Rob Ell Cox, 190-pound tackle, had suited up and is working out with the squad. Cox was operated on for appendicitis a few days before school started and it was thought at first he would be lost to the team all season.

If Griffith and Cox are able to get into shape for the final four conference games on the Frog schedule they will greatly increase T. C. U.'s chances for victories. The team plays Texas Tech this week.

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 21.—The West Texas Band Pageant will be one of the big features of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here October 24, 25 and 26. This feature will be held on the second night of the convention in the brilliantly lit El Paso high school stadium.

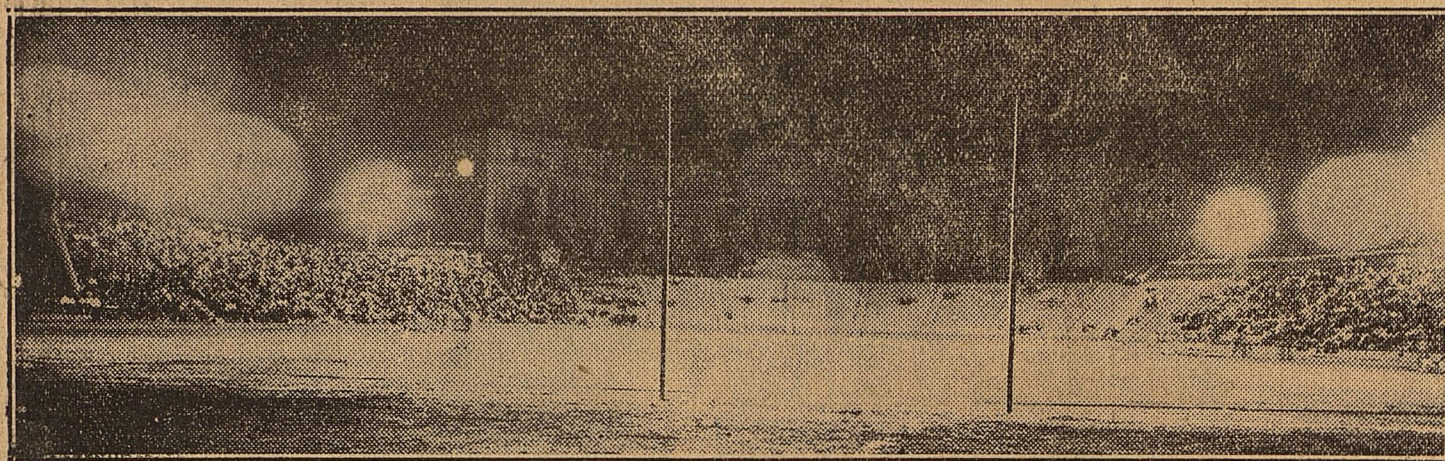

Starting at 6:30 p. m., the bands will parade in down town El Paso and to the stadium where at 7:30 p. m. a massed band concert will be given under direction of Band Master O. M. Nord, First Cavalry division, Fort Bliss. A special feature of the evening will be given between halves of the football game between the College of Mines, El Paso, and Wayland College, Plainview. Then all communities, who send bands to the convention, will have opportunity to get much publicity for their home towns. Each band will march across the stadium. Sufficient time will be allowed between halves of the game to give every band a chance to appear before the audience. Every community should plan to send a band, Chamber of Commerce officials said, in order to take advantage of this which has been arranged especially to give visiting communities opportunity to advertise their own city. During the time each band is on the field, an announcer will tell over the loud speaker, public address system, which is being especially installed for the night's entertainment, something of the city which the band represents.

Miss Dorothy Greathouse, who for three years has with the Chicago Grand Opera Company, will sing as a part of the evening's entertainment, "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

Another unique feature of the evening will be the giving over the public address system, the play by play of the game, telling who is carrying the ball; yardage gained or lost, score and other information about the game.

Plans also are being worked out for a band contest, based on appearance and performance of the band on the field.

Where Bands And Football Teams Will Play

This picture shows the brilliantly lighted El Paso High School Stadium where the West Texas Band Pageant will be held on the second night of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, and where they will parade giving publicity to their own home towns.

AGGIES VS. ARKANSAS

Their first conference game behind them sadly behind them, Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggie gridsters now face a week of strenuous work on the Kyle Field practice gridiron in preparation for their clash with the Arkansas Razorback charges of Coaches Thomsen and Basset at Kyle Field Saturday, Oct. 26. The game will be the first conference tilt of the season on Kyle Field and will be the Aggies' first appearance at home since their defeat at the hands of T. C. U. Saturday in the opening game of the official season.

The Porker game is expected to be one of the most bitterly fought contests of the season, for veterans of both teams will be out to settle old scores. Members of last year's Aggie eleven are still ranked by the overwhelming defeat handed them in Fayetteville by the Porkers, while the Razorbacks playing their third year will have in mind the equally overwhelming defeat they received on their visit to Kyle Field in 1927.

Dallas Cotton Market

(By The United Press)

Cotton market relatively firm during initial trading. Active month's selling some 16 to 20 points higher in response to better trading at Liverpool than was due. Small hedge pressure and good trade buying. Opening prices 5 to 10 higher, followed by October in New York selling at 17.94, December at 18.13, January at 18.24, March at 18.54 and May at 18.82 within the first half hour. However the advance was checked at this level by increased southern selling as well as profit taking promoted by the opinion that frost hardly likely to amount to much and of no damage to crops. Late in the morning the trading was less active with the noon calls showing a list 11 to 13 points net higher.

OLD BOOM REVIVED

COOPER, Tex., Oct. 19.—(P)—Cooper is in the throes of its second oil boom, and a test well is expected soon to solve the question of whether there is oil in this region. Fifteen years ago several wells were drilled. Gas is still flowing from them. For the last few months Dr. Q. O. Gaither, geologist, has been studying formations and has decided on a site for the well.

Insects devour one-tenth of the world's crops.

SPEAKING OF SPORT

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Sports Editor

Disparity in attendance at world series baseball games and at major intercollegiate football encounters has led many to wonder whether baseball deserves the sobriquet, "The National Pastime."

But there should be less doubt about the form of athletics that is most popular internationally. No other sport compares with soccer football in world-wide popularity, although it has never made much headway in the United States. We turn the rest of the column over to Ralph Heinzen of the United Press Paris bureau, who writes:

"Soccer football has become firmly entrenched as the world's greatest sport with 28,000 registered teams playing in Europe and England and a few thousand more in North and South America. It has become the standard sport for international matches on the Continent, and the new season will be featured by 280 such games.

"The International Federation of Association Football, as the game is known here to differentiate from Rugby or American football, has compiled statistics showing how the game has spread in recent years.

"England, the motherland of the sport, has 9,000 registered teams, followed by Germany with 6,300; France 5,289; Italy 2,054; Belgium 1,200; Holland 1,030; Czechoslovakia 939; Poland 595; Hungary 430; Denmark 334; Rumania 298; and Austria 245.

"There are 46 nations represented now in the Federation, although Britain stays without that body. Efforts are being made to conciliate British and Continental ideas about amateurism and professional which may bring the British teams into the world federation.

"In France this year 400 teams are entered in the National Football Cup, an elimination championship which runs all winter. In addition France will play eleven international matches.

Italy has listed eight international matches for the season, with the following schedule: October 27, against Hungary at Budapest; December 1, Portugal at Milan; February 9, Switzerland at Rome; and Italy B vs. South-East France at Marseilles; March 2, Germany at Nuremberg; and Italy B vs. Greece at Naples; April 6, Holland at Amsterdam, and Italy B vs. Luxembourg at Turin.

"Spain has witnessed a great development of football in popular favor, in recent years, and it may have passed bull-fighting as a national sport. The Olympic Games and the visit to Europe of the Uruguayans made Spain interested in football.

"The famous torero Felix Rodriguez, considered as the most audacious of the Spanish bull-fighters, has just filed application for his license as an amateur footballer. He is lined up to play center-forward on a Madrid team.

"The announcement of his intentions was one of the sporting sensations of Spain, for it brought a discussion of the incompatibility of mixing other sports with bullfighting.

"Hungary takes her football very seriously. The Ferencvaros team recently returned late from a tour of South America where it had played to profitable gates. The Hungarian Federation was angry and suspended the club until October 25.

"The clubs director was also suspended for six months and the team was fined $100, but since the team's swing through South America netted $30,000, the fine will hardly be felt."

13 IS LUCKY

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21.—"It's a wonder you don't get killed!"

That is what football fans tell Milford "Buck" Barr, giant Frog tackle from Kaufman, when they see No. 13 on his football uniform. Barr is playing his third year for Texas Christian University. This is his second year to wear No. 13 on his football jersey.

"I'm not superstitious," Barr says. "When Matty Bell last year offered No. 13 to me, after several other players had refused it, I took it. So far it has had no effect one way or the other. Some persons believe 13 is good luck, but—well, maybe so."

Delegation From Japan

Japan, in addition to holding country-wide celebrations, has sent a delegation of representatives of Japan's chief electrical organizations to carry the Empire's word of thanks to the aged inventor. The delegation has toured the larger cities of the United States studying various phases of electrical development as made possible by the early inventions and research of Edison.

Of the various countries of Latin-America, Argentina, Brazil, and Mexico have planned official commemorative exercises and demonstration, while many more countries of South and Central America will celebrate with "Light fiestas" in honor of the occasion. Brazil, where "Edison Day" has been observed several times in the past, has completed plans for extensive celebrations throughout the Republic. Chile, in addition to sending a delegate to the National Electric Light Association convention, will carry out an extensive program throughout the country.

"As the result of conferences to make plans for the Mexican participation in the event the Mexican section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers has scheduled its annual banquet for Monday. The radio short waves from Dearborn, where the chief activities of Light's Golden Jubilee will be held, will be picked up and rebroadcast in Mexico.

Dearborn Ceremonies

Throughout Europe the day will be celebrated by conventions and demonstrations sponsored by Light and Heat officials of the various nations and cities. The October "Era," official organ of Sweden's electrical industry, emphasized the occasion and dedicated the issue to the Golden Jubilee. France, Italy, England, Germany, Switzerland, and Holland have all displayed the keenest interest in arranging plans for the observances of the day.

Canada will organize the electrical industry, particularly in Ontario and Quebec, for a celebration. Floodlight displays have been planned for Montmorency Falls, the Parliament Buildings, and the foundations of the City of Quebec.

The program at Dearborn is modest. Members of the party will be brought from Detroit to Dearborn during the afternoon, travelling on a 50-year-old train. During the afternoon, a tour of the Edison School and Museum will be made. A banquet will be served to the guests in the early evening to Independence Hall. Following the banquet, the group will adjourn to Menlo Park laboratory where the climax of the celebration will occur. There in company with distinguished men and women, Edison will reconstruct the lamp of 50 years ago and make the electrical connections which will cause it to light.

PREACHER A FARMER

PLAINS, Tex., Oct. 19.—(P)—The pulpit has NOT provided a sufficient income for Rev. H. D. Heath. "Preacher" Heath as he is known to residents of northeast Yoakum county has 1,920 acres of land in cultivation on halves. More than a quarter of a bale of cotton to the acre will be produced on the 1,300 acres devoted to that crop.

CONVICT TEXTILE WORKERS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 21.—(P)—Seven national textile workers, union leaders and members, charged with second degree murder in connection with the shooting of Police Chief Aderholt, of Gastonia, were found guilty today. Their verdict carried a sentence of from two to 30 years in prison, at the discretion of the judge.

BOYS HELD IN SHOOTING

AMARILLO, Oct. 21.—(P)—Formal charges of negligent homicide were filed today against Ralph and Ernest Ellis, brothers, 13 and 13, in connection with the death from a rifle wound of Joe Stierlin, 11 years old, Saturday. Stierlin is alleged to have been shot when the Ellis lads met him when they returned from a hunting trip.

WHALEY UNDER BOND

MEXIA, Oct. 19.—(P)—Bunyon Whaley, charged with murder in connection with the death of his father in law, Whit Taylor, was released under $5,000 bond. The grand jury is expected to hear the case next week.

HIGH ALTITUDE ON EYES

The effect on vision of the extremely high altitude at which aviators fly is a subject of intensive research in the laboratories of the new Wilmer Institute of Johns Hopkins University and Johns Hopkins Hospital, dedicated Oct. 15 at Baltimore, Maryland. According to Major Thomas G. Lamphier, president of the Issoudun Aviation Corporation, and Mr. Henry Breckinridge, Director of Transcontinental Air Transportation, Inc., and private counsel of Colonel Charles Lindbergh and Secretary of the William Holland Wilmer Foundation, it is hoped that the outcome of the study and research at the Wilmer Institute in connection with the visual difficulties of aviators will contribute to the solution of many of the problems presented in the field of aviation which is growing so vast in this country today.

RETURNED FROM TEMPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Meek returned Sunday morning from Temple and other Central Texas points. While away, Mrs. Meek was ill for several days at Scott and White hospital, but is improving rapidly.
