RELEASE WALKER ON BOND
Preparing Appeal to Retain Freedom For Libby

WINSTON-SALEM, Aug. 6. (UP).—On agreement of counsel and the court, Albert Walker today was ordered released on bail after the state indicated that it did not consider evidence sufficient to hold him without bail for first degree murder.

Forester to Tell Of National Parks
H. N. Wheeler, chief lecturer of the United States forest service, Washington, will deliver an address in Midland Thursday, August 11, through cooperation of O. Fred Arthur, forest supervisor of the Lincoln national park in New Mexico, and the West Texas chamber of commerce.

Interesting slides to illustrate his talks on forestry will be used by the speaker. Exploitation of the beauties of national parks in the south-west will be featured in his talk. West Texas chamber officials said.

Assassination of Official Prevented
TORONTO, Aug. 6. (UP).—An attempt to assassinate J. H. Thomas, British dominions secretary, was prevented with the arrest of Dan Malone, alleged Sinn Feiner, police claimed.

Police said the attempt was intended as Thomas was traveling with other delegates to the Empire trade conference at West End, scheduled for formal opening at Horod, Ontario, today.

Malone's alleged intention was based on the secretary's activity in settlement of differences between Britain and the Irish free state.

Ansley's New Book Off the Press Soon
Henry Ansley, Amarillo newspaperman, is finishing a book scheduled to appear within the next few days from the press of an Indianapolis publishing house—Robbs-Wells—entitled "Like the Depression."

The book, twenty-five thousand words long, is an expansion of the eight hundred word humorous article of the same name which was published first in "West Texas Today," in March, and later in many Texas newspapers.

Insurance Man Covers Air Travel
NEW YORK. (UP).—Twenty-four out of 25 of the largest life insurance companies, writing hundreds of millions of dollars worth of insurance, have altered their attitude to cover air travel and their policies now cover passengers traveling on regular air transport air lines, the United Air Lines reports.

In addition to paying the full face of the premium in the event of an airplane accident, approximately half of the companies said they would, in addition, pay the double indemnity provision in the event of death occurred in an airplane accident. Today, the majority of companies make no prohibition against air travel, either in policies already in effect, or which are now being written.

Removal of restriction against flying by insurance companies is the result of the operating record made by companies flying licensed planes with licensed pilots in regularly scheduled operations.

Mountain Bears Steal Dog Food
ESTES PARK, Colo. (UP).—The depression is forcing the bears in Rocky Mountain park to march into the Husted's front yard for their meals.

The guide's dog is going on lean fare, because the bears, sensing when his meals are put out for him, amble down from the hills and enjoy the food.

The dry season, which has cut down the bears' rations of berries and plants, Husted believes, has prompted them to come closer to civilization.

Sam Divides Space With Flapper Fanny
"Flapper Fanny," the little miss who greets readers of The Reporter-Telegram daily from her position on page one, will be found today in the colored comic section, in "better display." In order to provide space for Flapper Fanny, it was necessary for Salesman Sam to have less to say, thereby dividing the page for the new feature.

Helen Meets Suzanne

Watching the Davis Cup matches in Paris recently were these two former rivals of the tennis court, Mrs. Helen Willis Moody and Miss Suzanne Lenglen. The American girl, present world's champion, and the French star of a few years ago exchanged reminiscences during the men's matches.

Big Men of Aeronautics Stop Here; Praise Field

Four army Douglas planes, bearing high officials of the United States air forces, landed at the army air station at Sloan field Saturday afternoon at 1:15, taking off an hour later after the officers had lunched and inspected the local station.

Major General B. D. Fulois, chief of staff of the United States army air service; Major W. G. Kilroy, assistant secretary of the navy, attached to the division of aeronautics; Major or Ralph Royce, on the general staff; Captain A. W. McDaniel, Chief Surgeon J. I. Jones and two mechanics made up the party flying the O-38-C ships.

Major General Fulois, an old barnstormer and one of the most famous fliers in the United States, flew his ship alone. He directed activities of the red and blue fleets at Cleveland.

Major Royce was remembered here as having to make a landing on the Douglas-Robing factories on the west coast. He complimented the present landing field and the army station highly, as did General Fulois and the other officers.

The party was en route to Washington, intending to stop at Fort Worth tonight, after making inspection of the Douglas-Robing factories on the west coast. The party will terminate at the airport here and the facilities for service.

British Tariff Hits Wool Men

BERLIN. (UP).—Britain's tariff and currency policy has dealt a heavy blow to the German wool industry.

It has virtually deprived German producers and exporters of their best market—England—and has made the English potential competitors in markets previously dominated by the Germans.

Recent German trade statistics clearly depict the plight of the German wool industry. They show that, compared with 1931, German wool exports have declined by about 50 per cent. Exports to England, which still averaged 28 per cent of the German 1931 total, have declined even more sharply. For the first trimester of 1932 they amounted to only 1.7 per cent, dropping to less than 1 per cent in April and May. The continuation of the drop during the last two months mentioned proves that the German wool industry failed to benefit by the reduction of the British ad valorem tariffs from 50 to 20 per cent.

English competition, aided by the decline of the pound sterling, has been felt most keenly by the German wool industry in the Dutch and Scandinavian markets, where German exports dropped by 20 to 30 per cent, as compared with 1931.

BANKER IS SLUGGED; SEEK BODY

Former Depositors In Defunct Bank Arrested

TAYLORVILLE, Ill. Aug. 6. (UP).—Ditches and fields were searched today for the body of John B. Colegrove, 68, convicted president of a defunct bank.

A few hours after he was slugged and kidnaped from his home, James Gammaloni and Amello Tu Zboul, both depositors in the defunct bank, were arrested at Springfield, 27 miles away.

Police said that the two had made threats against Colegrove. Gammaloni explained that blood stains found in his automobile were from a rabbit he had killed.

Colegrove was convicted last month on charges in connection with failure of his bank and was free, pending appeal of his case.

Haag Candidacy Prospects Bright

Campaign prospects for B. Frank Haag of Midland, candidate for state representative, look bright in five counties visited during the past week, Haag and J. W. B. Hogan reported yesterday.

They went to Fort Stockton, Balmorhea, Fort Davis, Marfa and Presidio and other towns along the route, finding sentiment considerably in favor of Haag's candidacy in the approaching run-off election with J. B. Cotten of Crane, the Midland man reported.

Scientists Seek Observatory Site

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP).—C. T. Elvey and T. G. Mehlin of the Yerkes Observatory, with a camping outfit and instruments from both the Yerkes and Mt. Wilson Observatories, are spending the summer in the Davis Mountains of West Texas hunting a site for a million dollar astronomical observatory.

Money for the observatory was left to the University of Texas by the late William McDonald, Paris, Tex., banker.

Tests are being made to find the most suitable place for it. Atmospheric, "seeing" tests, temperature tests and numerous others are being made. The University of Texas is at Austin but it is possible the observatory will be located in West Texas because of the mountainous region there and the clear atmosphere.

Charley Jones won the calf roping at Odessa's anniversary celebration Friday, with the low time of 14.6 seconds.

The cowgirls' race was won by Miss Ruth Fernandes of Odessa. The only track race of consequence Friday found the same three animals entered in two heats the day before. Over the three-eighths mile distance, Ma Ferguson again won easily, with L. E. Cook's Billy B second and Gerald Bloss' George third. Buck King Jr. rode the Bloss entry Friday.

The two day celebration was closed late Friday night, culminating in a street dance.

Dogs Freed by Band of Boys

LONGMONT, Colo. (UP).—It was in again, out again, Finnigan with the hounds at the Longmont dog pound.

Officers would capture stray animals without licenses, and impound them.

The dogs' stay in the local dog hospital is usually less than a day. They "escaped."

Often the dogs not only had escaped, but the lock on the pound door had been buzzed open until a clue led them to a small band of youngsters, who couldn't bear to see the four-footed prisoners penned up, and would slip down to the pound and free the dogs.

Most Famous Cat Is Dead

WEATHERLY, Pa. (UP).—Sammie, Weatherly's most famous cat, featured all over the United States in news reels and newspapers, died today for the first time in 12 years.

It was Sammie's maternal instincts that caused the publicity and the consequent annoyance to the family of William Roberts.

She mothered her own kittens, the neighbors' baby rabbits, and everybody's chickens.

Each year for 11 years she took care of a dozen young chickens, doing everything a mother hen could do for them except scratching for worms. During most of these years she had her own kittens to attend.

In the twelfth year Sammie included her own kittens and the chickens, and added a family of motherless rabbits to her brood.

The publicity Sammie received brought scores of tourists annually to see the large black cat marked with white on the nose and feet.

STOCKS ADVANCE SHARPLY

Saturday Closes With Greatest Record Of the Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (UP).—A burst of buying orders Saturday caused sensational price advances on the New York stock exchange.

Tickers fell eight minutes behind trading pace as big blocks of shares were bought on order from all parts of the country.

The year's biggest week in the stock market was ending with a high note of enthusiasm. Prices were up from one to twelve points above the previous close. The list was up one to three points at the outset and gathered momentum, with the best prices made near the close.

Shorts were covered feverishly. Covering by the bears included the biggest operators in the street. Bulls of 1928 and 1929 resumed operations sharply, making first profits since the crash three years ago.

Wheat rose sharply, making new highs and providing an incentive for buying. The bond market was firm, with railroad issues in demand.

Sportsmen Inquire About Chicken Crop

Inquiries concerning prairie chicken hunting in counties north of Midland, for the four day September open season, have been coming in to Midland sportsmen from hunters in eastern and central parts of the state. It is reported that a good crop of chickens will provide sport for hunters in Andrews, Games, Terry, Hockley and Yoakum counties. Bag limit for the season is ten birds, the four day season starting September 1.

Scharbauer Calves Bought by Station

Sixty head of steer calves were sold Saturday by the Scharbauer Cattle company to representatives of the A. & M. college and the federal department of agriculture, to be placed on sudan grass pasture at Balmorhea for six weeks to determine gains made on a new front.

J. M. Jones, from the experiment station at Balmorhea, and J. H. Jones of the A. & M. college were here Saturday, selecting the calves and completing the deal. The calves were delivered to the stock pens here Saturday and will go out this morning.

Jobless Fill Swimming Pools

PHILADELPHIA. (UP).—The unemployed of the city are causing the municipal authorities considerable worry on a new front.

While the problem of food and rent is acute, police officials said that the unemployed are using the municipal swimming pools in such large numbers that the children are unable to gain admittance.

As a result, patrolmen have been stationed at each pool.

Students Want to Work for Lodging

Two boys of high school age, and a girl, 17, all from Midland county farm homes, have filed their names with the chamber of commerce to secure homes in which to reside during the approaching school term. They desire to do work for their room and board. Midland residents interested in securing the services of either the boys or the girl, in exchange for room and board, are asked to call the chamber office, No. 39.

Amputated Wing Grounds Bird

McKEESPORT, Pa. (UP).—"Baldy," the North American bald eagle whose life was saved by amputation of one wing, will not make a "last flight."

After the successful operation performed when "Baldy" was brought down by a farmer's gun as he swooped over a chicken coop, it was decided to give the bird his freedom if he were able to fly.

The 10,000 persons who visited the eagle as he recuperated near here, heard with disappointment that he was unable to fly. Twice he tried to take to the air, but each time he lost his balance and flapped pathetically to the ground.

It then was planned to take the captive aloft in an airplane for a "last flight." But hundreds of persons who believed the eagle was to be released from the plane objected and the flight was called off.

"So 'Baldy' it appears, will be 'grounded' permanently—and will be exhibited by the state.

Texas Electricians continued their winning streak Friday night, taking a game from Cowden-Epley handily, to the tune of 6 to 1. The six runs were made by the electricians off of six hits, combined with four errors by the Ford team. Texas Electric made three errors, however, but was more fortunate in resulting penalties. Straughan, pitching for Tesco, yielded only three hits.

Bell Telephone poled out fifteen hits which were good for a dozen runs in the second game, against Petroleum Drug, winding up with the better end of a 12 to 6 score. The drug store boys also were not lousy with the bat, getting ten hits off of the telephone pitcher. Doc Ellis, unable to control the ball, yielded the mound to Newton for the Petroleum in the fourth inning. Harry Bunnell, unable to remain out of the tussle, replaced Gabbert for the telephone team in the third inning.

In the last of the seventh, Mills pinch-hit for Red Hill, laid the ball toward third base and began sliding for first. Another two jumps prior to the slide should have put him safe.

500 Frenchmen To Attend Meet

By SAMUEL DASHIELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—The Paris will leave Le Havre September 13 carrying 500 French War Veterans commanded by a Marshal or a General of the French army to attend the national convention of the American Legion.

These French veterans are bringing an artistic gift for presentation to the legion. The gift which will be the object of an official presentation consists of a series of nine paintings by a prominent Frenchman, Pierre Duvent, evoking scenes of the American participation in the World war.

Duvent, as a former soldier is the president of the Association of Painter Veterans, and he probably will make on the speeches of presentation.

The titles of the paintings are: The Americans on March, Abainville Camp, The First Camp of American Troops at the Front, Tombs of Heroes, A Yank, Gondrecourt Camp, Arrival of Americans at the Lorraine Front, Belleau Wood After the Battle, The Death of the Tree.

The painter-veteran Duvent saw service with the American troops and his paintings are based on personal observation. They were recently displayed here at the exhibition inaugurated by Ambassador Edge

TWICE A WINNER, CHAMP MAY GET GRAND SLAM

BY CLAIRE BURCKY
NEA Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO—Twice a favorite and twice a winner, Gene Sarazen is favored to win his next campaign to become the second of gold's grand-slam champions.

And it goes without saying that Sarazen is favored to win his next time out in the third and final of his major objectives, the Professional Golfers' Championship of America on the Keller course of St. Paul, Aug. 30-Sept. 1.

He will face Hagens, Coopers, Armours, Diegels and others, all eager to thwart his ambition. But if any succeeds in turning back the Irish and American Open titleholder, the bookies will pay good money to have him identified at this time.

This is a Sarazen year, as you should know by this time. It appears that the number "2" in a date is a token of good fortune for the stocky little professional.

It was in 1922 that Sarazen, only a couple of seasons out of the caddy ranks, outdistanced a great international field to win the U. S. Open championship at Skokie. He stormed in with a 72-hole total of 288, nosing out Bobby Jones and J. L. Black by the margin of one stroke. The same year he went through a field of 32 of the best American professionals to take the P. G. A. title, which he successfully defended in 1923.

Spurred with a desire to equal Bobby Jones' great record, as far as he was eligible, Sarazen carefully planned for his 1932 campaign. He swung heavy clubs to strengthen his hands and wrists. He took long walks to build up his legs. He followed a strict diet to reduce his waistline. He golfed every day there was wind and rain, to adapt his game to the elements. And then he went after them.

Two of his objectives already have been taken. The British Open went his way with a record 72-hole score of 283 strokes, 13 under par. The U. S. Open followed, his 286 score tying the best ever recorded in national open play.

But the P. G. A. tournament calls for match play. Sarazen can't be off his game in any one round and expect to make it up on the next. One bad round means elimination.

In the field that Sarazen will face at St. Paul, the most threatening opponents appear to be Hagen and Diegel, defending champion Tom Creavy, Denny Shute, Harry Cooper, Willy Cox, Tommy Armour and Ed Dudley.

A good day for any one of these fellows will be enough to tumble Gene right out of the grand-slam.

"Right This Way, if you please, sir!"

Unless you happen to be an invited guest of the British Royal Family, the best way to "see" Windsor Castle is under the convoy of a uniformed guide. In a sing-song patter, he will tell you its history . . . point out things of interest whose full significance would escape the unattended tourist.

It also saves time and shoe-leather to use "guides" when you do your daily marketing at home. These guides are the advertisements in this paper. They tell you where, when, and the equally important "how much."

By consulting the advertisements, you know in advance what the stores have to offer. If you are pressed for time, you can do your shopping by telephone, with the newspaper before you as a definite guide. Read the advertisements . . . the big ones and the little ones.

"Step this way," the advertisements say, saving time and lost motion.

Billy Kimbrough Wins Story Prize

Billy Kimbrough, son of County Attorney and Mrs. T. D. Kimbrough, was awarded first prize for short story in the children's story hour contest, conducted by Mrs. George T. Abbott.

Wayne Lanham drew second prize and honorable mention went to Willie Mae Riddle and Betty Kimbrough. The winning story, entitled "An Exciting Adventure in the Jungle Darkness," follows:

"Tom, Ned and Betty were just about to hop in bed when Tom thought of a story, so they asked their mother to read a story, so she read 'An Exciting Adventure in the Jungle Darkness.'"

Once two young hunters named Tim and Jack went to the jungle to spend the week, but they did not stay a week, and I will tell you why. When it was 12 o'clock midnight low growls were heard in the darkness. Tim turned on the flashlight when a large panther sprang at him. Jack fired but he missed. He fired again and killed the panther on the spot. But before it died it gave a loud scream which was answered by two other panthers which sprang at both boys. Ned's gun was ripped open and Jack had a deep gash in his forehead and a leg badly cut.

Sterling Record--

He cited the penitentiary system which he said that Sterling had placed on a paying basis and declared that the Texas prison system was a model system. He brought out figures which he said came from the internal revenue records, showing that James E. Ferguson reported in 1925 the first year of Mrs. Ferguson's administration an income of $749, whereas recent figures had been dug up to show that his income was $61,000 plus. In 1926, he said, Ferguson reported an income of approximately $15,000 but that the figures dug up showed it to be more than $47,000. The speakers, coming here from engagements at Lamesa and points north, went on to Fort Worth last night.

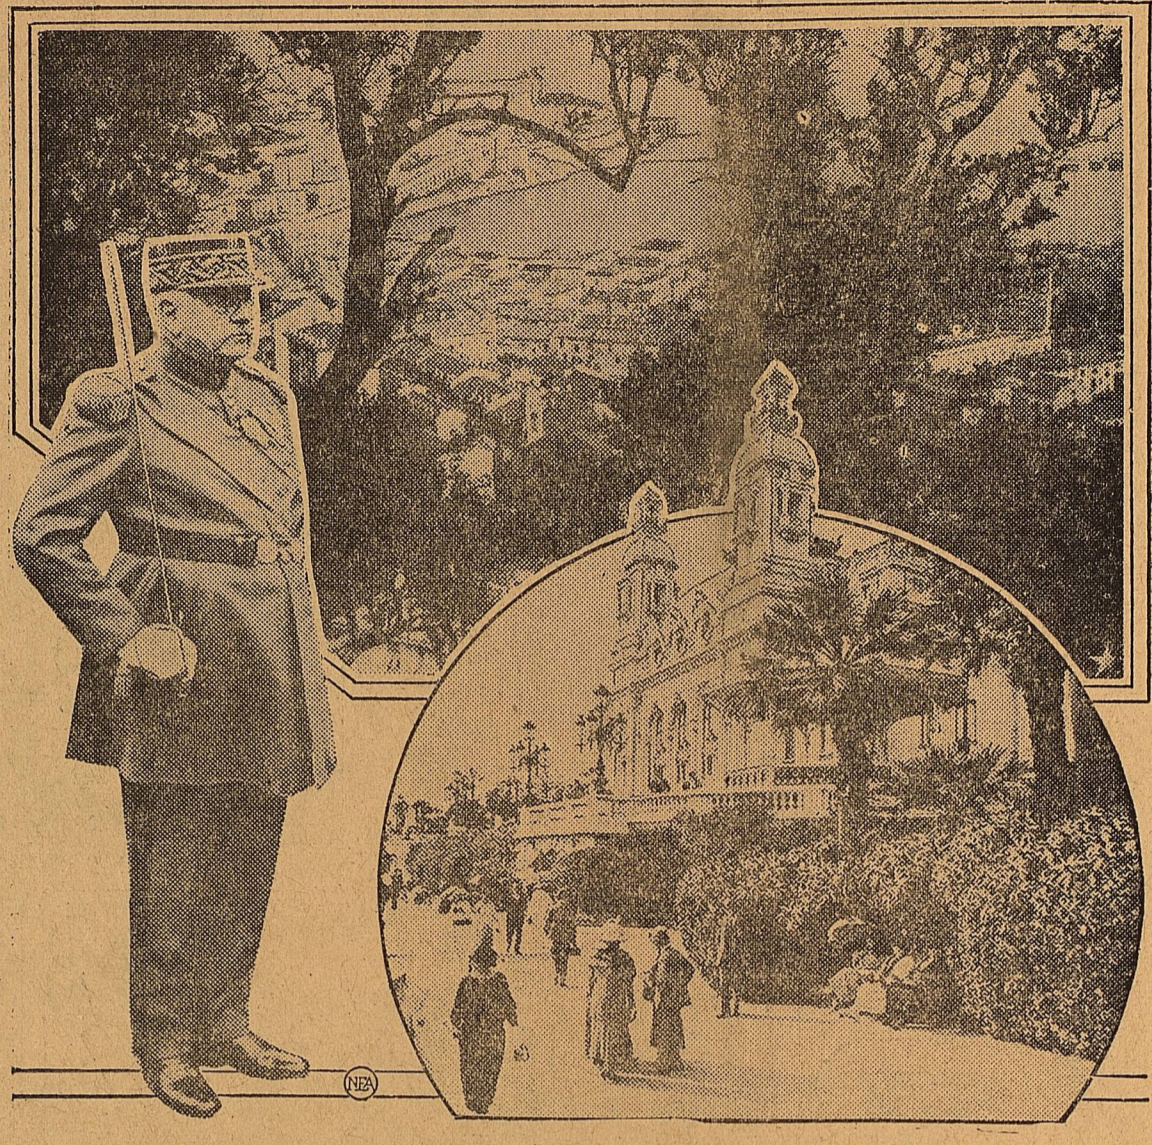

Secret Hobbies Are Revealed

PEIPING, China, (UP)—While waiting for the members of the league of nations commissions of enquiry to write their report on their investigation of the Sino-Japanese difficulties, Chinese newspaper men busy themselves with determining what things Chinese appealed most to the commissioners. Lord Lytton, of Great Britain, the chairman of the commission, dislikes Chinese food, but is very much interested in Chinese music. County Luigi Aldrovandi Mars-Scotti, the Italian member of the commission, does care for Chinese food and he is particularly fond of Huang Kao, or a yellow cake prepared in the old Peking style. Dr. Schnee, the German member of the commission, is enquiring about the Temple of Heaven. General Henri Claudel of France, is a specialist in curios and his hotel room has been visited by numerous dealers. He has purchased many bronze Buddhas. General Frank McCoy, of the United States army, is fond of polo and golf, but apparently he has not been especially taken with anything typically Chinese.

TURN TO SEVEN

PARIS, (UP)—Because all of the great tragedies of France this year have happened on the seventh day of the month, gambling houses along the Riviera are using it, instead of 13 as a significant omen. Among the tragedies occurring on the 7th are: Jan. 7, M. Maginot, minister of war, died; March 7, M. Briand died; May 7, President Doumer was assassinated. The months in each case have alternated.

Monaco Faces Bankruptcy As Slump Hits Monte Carlo

The spacious esplanade overlooking the Mediterranean Sea in front of Monte Carlo's gaming casino is nearly deserted and the casino itself is empty. As a result, Prince Louis (shown at left), monarch of the small principality of Monaco, has called on France to help stave off national bankruptcy. "REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM" IS HEADLINER AT THE YUCCA TODAY

Rebecca, the imaginative little girl whose name came out of Ivanhoe and who lived at Sunnybrook Farm, has long been the favorite role of the greatest stars of the stage. For the modern box sound version of the immortal classic, shown at the Yucca theatre Sunday and Monday, Marian Nixon, whose personality has carried her to new screen heights, was chosen to portray the character that to millions is symbolic of optimism. Conceived originally as the heroine of a series of short stories by Kate Douglas Wiggin, "Rebecca" was later made into a stage play by the author in collaboration with Charlotte Thompson. Director Alfred Santell re-created the renowned Farm of Sunnybrook in the present production just as it appeared in the pages of the original book, in the picturesque sleepy farming country near Santa Cruz, California. There, far away from the artificialities of studio life and influence, the entire cast lived for weeks enacting the romantic drama that has captured the imaginations of millions. The plot deals with the experiences of an imaginative, impulsive girl who leaves her beloved Sunnybrook to live with her elderly maiden aunts, the very pillars of respectability in a Maine village. Her penchant for adopting everybody's troubles wins the immediate disapproval of the aunts, but strikes strikes quickly at the heart and sympathy of Dr. Adam Ladd, who befriends her from her first day in the village. Bellamy Has Male Lead Ralph Bellamy, tall, blue-eyed, leading man of many recent Fox successes, portrays the kindly, understanding character of Dr. Ladd, while Mae Marsh, who recently renewed her screen career in "Over the Hill," is seen as Aunt Jane, the younger and more sympathetic of the two aunts. Aunt Miranda, whose hard-shelled surface of New England reserve is the last to be won over by Rebecca's irresistible personality, is faithfully enacted by Louise Closser Hale in what is said to be her best performance to date. Other characters of note in the picture are Alan Hale, as the eccentric radical, Fadden, the kind-hearted woman who wants to adopt the child; Ronald Harris, lovable two-year-old who nearly steals the picture in his first screen role; and scores of others.

Usherettes Ask For Tippet Jobs PARIS, (UP)—French usherettes have revolted against one of the biggest "rackets" in France by demanding the abolition of tipping in the theatres. The usherettes now draw no pay for their work. In fact, they must pay for the privilege of working. This is because the right to fill their jobs has been farmed out to several large agencies. The girls must pay the agencies from 50 cents to $5 a week to obtain a job, and derive their only income from tips. The girls have become tired of nagging theatre patrons who forget to tip when shown to their seats. At a mass-meeting of usherettes they adopted an ultimatum demanding abolition of tipping and the establishment of reasonable salaries. The theatre owners replied, however, that the concessions to the agencies had several years to run and that the tipping system would, therefore, have to continue. A few years ago, the cafe waiters of Paris won a similar revolt. Now they no longer pay for the privilege of working, but earn just as much in tips as they did before. There are more than 30,000 miles of domestic airlines in operation in the United States today. About 19,000 miles are lighted.

Convicts Print Prison Paper

JACKSON, Miss. (UP)—School News, publication of the inmates of Michigan State prison, is a unique contribution to journalism. The publication has a circulation of 3,000 copies, 1,100 of which are distributed outside the prison to those interested in the welfare of the inmates.

The editor of School News is "Mac" McNabb (Inmate 27638), according to the outer cover.

McNabb introduces the publication with the words: "It is the purpose of the School News to establish a feeling of amity between those who constitute society and those who are confined behind the walls."

The issue is printed on multigraph paper, with an average of 18 sheets. Elaborate cover designs are drawn with a mimeograph stencil.

Various articles are advertised and cigars are used for money. For instance, one ad runs like this: "12 packs buys a brand new dictionary."

There are also bits of humor: "Do you have a good chance at your trial?" asks Napp. "Oh, yeah," says Sapp. "If my father had been the judge, and if I'd had 12 brothers on the jury, I'd have had a mistrial."

About a dozen men are engaged in seeing that the publication is issued each Friday.

Chinese and Tibetans War

PEIPING, China, (UP)—While major interest here for months has centered on China's difficulties with Japan and upon the disturbed internal political situation, but scant attention has been given to a veritable war between China and Tibet on the far distant frontiers of Szechwan province.

Fighting has been proceeding for several weeks and according to latest reports, there is every prospect that it will continue. According to the Chinese versions of the trouble, Tibetan troops have been warring with Chinese garrisons since late in March. The Chinese contend that the Tibetan forces launched an unprovoked attack on the Tsinghai garrison troops at Yushu.

Chinese military commanders sent reinforcements to Tsinghai, and Pengku, which is regarded as a strategic point near Yushu. The Tibetans, however, also were reinforced and recently the Chinese National government was appealed to for aid by the Chinese military chiefs in Szechwan.

Considerable fighting has occurred in the vicinity of the towns of Kanze and Chanhu, which have changed hands several times. The cause of the dispute is obscure, but it appears to be a struggle for territory and revenues between quasi-independent Chinese and Tibetan warlords. General Yu, who commands the Chinese troops defending the Szechwan frontier, has a large body of well equipped and well-disciplined troops and he is represented as determined to keep the Tibetan commanders from extending their sphere of operations.

Guillotine May Lose Its Place PARIS, (UP)—The death penalty and with it the guillotine as the official machine of execution in France, may be banished by a vote of Parliament if the Chamber of Deputies acts upon the project just introduced by Rene Richard. The Criminal Legislation Committee will spend the summer considering the change.

Chickens Save Eighteen Lives WOODLAND, Calif. (UP)—Thirty chickens owned by Albert Groh were claimed as heroes today. Groh and his brother, V. A. Groh, dug clams at Bodega Bay. Upon their return they invited 18 relatives to a clam dinner. But the clams had a peculiar taste and Albert Groh fed them to his chickens. The 30 chickens died of clam poisoning.
