AGE-OLD PROBLEMS

The old expression, "the first hundred years are the hardest," will hardly hold good covering the period from 1830 to 1931, judging from writings of Lord Thomas Babington Macaulay, eminent English essayist of the 1830 period.

BACK TO THE COMMON LAW

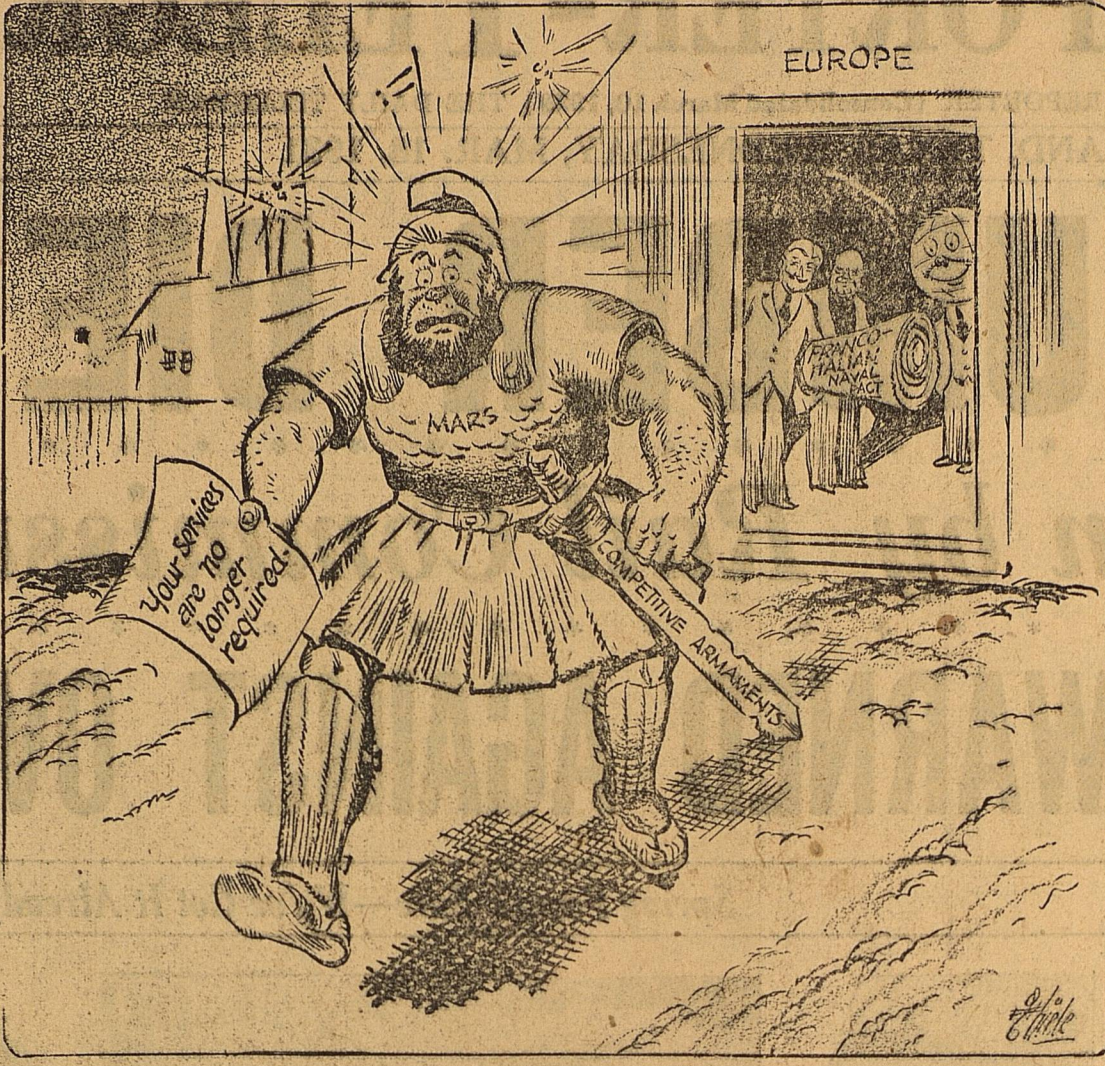

A recent editorial in The Reporter-Telegram, flaying the ever growing habit on the part of legislative bodies of creating new commissions, new taxes and new burdens on the public, struck a responsive chord in the organ played by Joe J. Taylor, "State Press," in the Dallas News.

IS YOUR HOME A TESTING GROUND for UNTRIED PRODUCTS ?

THE ANSWER TO SUBSTITUTION
IS ALWAYS . . .

"NO"

WHAT CAN anyone gain by buying unknown products.

And why should anyone buy them, when it is always safer to ask for brands of recognized quality.

The lure of unknown products is often a "bargain price." The clerk may say they are "just as good" as the popular advertised brands.

But isn't the approval of millions of people worth more than the word of one?

No amount of advertising will create character for a product. But constant advertising does place established character on trial.

The advertised product has a reputation at stake. It must make good to hold your confidence. One false claim would be fatal.

The substitute product is an unknown brand, with nothing to lose.

In appearance, it may imitate a brand you know. Over the counter, any claim may be made for it. Only by sad experience can you prove that claim untrue!

Think of this the next time anyone tries to sell you something "just as good."

Such "just as good" products are urged upon you for only one reason. There is more profit in selling them.

The merchant who permits and encourages such substitution is looking only at today's sales slips. Not at tomorrow's loyal customers.

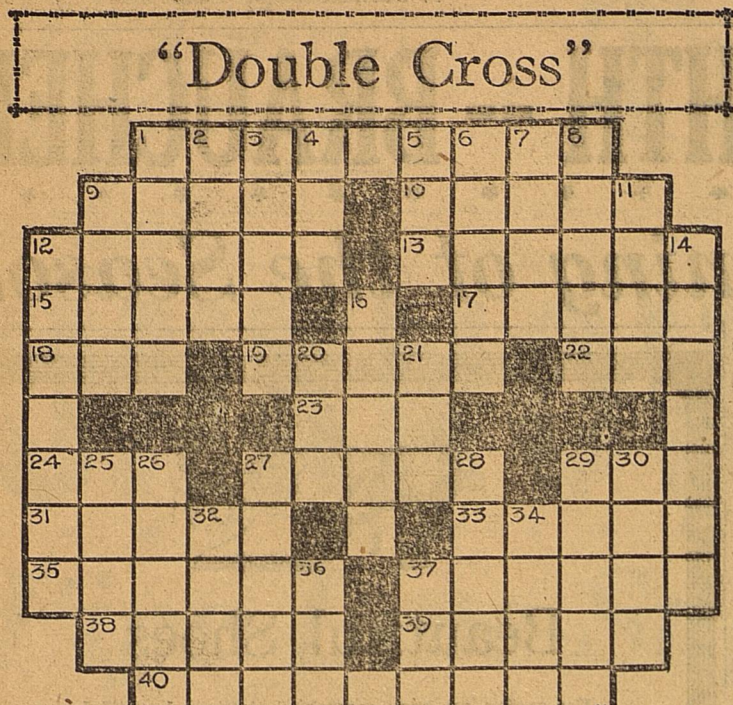

These facts are published by this newspaper to protect its readers.

Whenever you shop, ask for standard advertised products. Insist on getting them. Be warned by the words "just as good" that there is something better.

When you are guided by names you know you can be sure of constant quality. Of definite purity. Of honest weight. Of full value in return for the money you spent.

HOWLEY'S BEST WITH REDS MAY BE WEAK EIGHTH -- BRAUCHER

Playground Ball Teams Begin Recruiting Against Opening of the Season

CINCY BOSS SAYS IMMEDIATE NEED IS LUMINARIES

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

TAMPA, Fla., March 18.—There isn't a great deal to be said about the Cincinnati Reds. They finished 7th last year, and one look at the 1931 roster is almost convincing enough to forecast eighth place for them in the National League race this year.

Dan Howley, of course, is doing the best he can. Dan is the kind of a fellow who would do that in spite of high water, illness, strikes or other factors beyond his control. But the plain facts are that the Reds aren't there—and Dan Howley, while he will not admit it as long as he lives, really knows it.

Dan himself is a casualty. He stubbed his toe on something over at Palm Beach, before the training season started, and now has a fungus growth on his foot.

With a cane, he hobbled over to meet me in the lobby of the historic and beautiful Old Tampa Bay hotel, with its ancient Moorish architecture and its "first elevator in the state of Florida."

"Well, this team is and it isn't," he started, as he sat one of the deep divans in the lobby. "I just heard from Hellmann and that arthritis in his wrist is going to take some time to cure. We need Hellmann—I guess you know that."

"I guess you need more players than Hellmann, too," I suggested.

"You know it," Dan responded, "but go and try to get 'em. Look at the National League. There are five teams there that are loaded with stars—the Cards, Cubs, Giants, Robins, Pirates. You can pick out a couple of players on every one of those teams who would bring $100,000 in the market."

"Take the other three teams—the Braves, Reds and Phils—and with the exception of Klein there isn't a great star among them."

"But I don't want you to think that the Reds aren't going someplace. Maybe not this year, but wait. We'll be up there."

"How about pitchers?"

"I wish I had some more. The holdovers are Larry Benton, Benny Frey, Cy Johnson, Ray Kolp, Red Lucas, Eppa Rixey and Biff Wysock. We've got about six rookies, and some of 'em looked pretty good last year. Archie Campbell and O. E. Eckert came up from Columbus. Then we've got Onnie Carroll from Toledo. The Tigers traded him to the Yanks last year and he was sent down, but he may come back. We also have Johnny Ogden, on waivers from the Browns. We got Ed Strelceki in the draft from Milwaukee and he looks good this spring."

Remembering that the Reds had been seventh in club batting last year, I asked Dan if he expected to get any more hitting out of the team this year.

"Yes, a little more," he replied. "Mickey Heath, from Hollywood, will help us. I had him at first when we won the pennant at Toronto. I think he'll hit good. We got Frank

SPORTS REPORTS

Seeing a tangle of flashing colors on the greening golf course each afternoon reminds one of the dry joke Britishers are chucking over this season in London or thereabouts.

Beginner to his two handicap partners: "I say, as a golfer to another, what do you think of my game?"

Other dumb one: "Well, you stand too close to the ball—after you've hit it."

There are a lot of easier things than drawing up a playground ball schedule, according to Mr. Gemmill of the California company. Gemmill is bringing over his force to join The Reporter-Telegram playgrounders. Real sporting of him. Here's the way the pioneer playground club here happened to give up their individuality and submerge it in the newspaper organization. The Reporter-Telegram representative had a touch of spring fever and didn't attend the meeting of the other night. Gemmill, seeing that only six clubs were present, but knowing the newspaper wanted in the league, offered the suggestion that an odd number of clubs could not play with the dispatch of an even number, and voluntarily agreed to merge his club with the newbies. The newbies, hearing of the matter, offered to change about and join the California team, but the offer was rejected. The two clubs organize this afternoon at 5:30.

Looks like it will be necessary for all the clubs in the loop to combine if Texas Electric Service company's entry is to be walloped. In the last two games this bunch has scored 51 times, while their opponents have scratched only five times. Gulf was the latest victim, going down yesterday afternoon, 12-3. No extra base blows were recorded by the Pipeliners, while a shower of extra-ply blows were chalked by Chambliss, Northington, Shiflett and Estes. Estes and Northington hit homers. They generally do, it might be added by way of explanation.

Signafoos in the draft from Los Angeles, a second baseman, and I think he'll hit, too. We bought Nick Cullop, the outfielder, from Minneapolis to give him another shot at the majors, and gosh, but he ought to click. Do you know Cullop isn't 30 years old yet?

"Then we've got Ray Fitzgerald, an outfielder from Bridgeport, Little Gene Moore from Dallas and Wally Roettger, who was with the Giants and Cards. We recalled Estil Crabtree from Columbus."

"The team does not look impressive," I said.

Howley agreed.

The lineup probably will be: Heath, first; Ford or Sigafos, second; Stripp, third; Dressen, Duracher or Cuccinello, short; with the outfielders Hellmann, Cullop, Crabtree, Roettger, Moore or Fitzgerald. Several of the infielders named can be moved about, without great loss.

It was in my mind to suggest that the whole team might be moved to Peoria without a whole lot of grief, but Dan Howley is such a courteous chap, it would be hard to say that.

But, in his heart, I suspect Dan Howley thinks the same thing.

MIDLAND SCHOOLS NOT TO COMPETE WITH RURAL SCHOOLS IN MEET THAT IS TO BE HELD HERE ON MARCH 28

A county interscholastic meet that will be between rural schools solely appears likely on March 28, according to Director General Boone Lacewell.

The Midland city schools are entering the meet in nothing by extemporaneous speaking and debate, and none of the rural schools have entered those scholastic events, Lacewell said. This automatically prevents competition of the city and rural schools.

Lacewell said declamation likely will be held at night, the essay, spelling and arithmetic events in the morning. Athletic events will be staged in the afternoon. C. M. Lee of Stokes is director of athletics.

Plans for a county school fair sometime in April are being worked out by A. C. Fleming of Valley View, who is in charge of that work.

No place has been selected for either the county meet or for the school fair, Lacewell said.

REGISTRATION IN CLASS A IS MAILED TODAY

Midland high school mailed today its registration for 1931 football in Conference A.

"We hereby accept the University Interscholastic League High School Football plan for 1931, and shall be pleased to receive, early in September, eligibility blanks, game report blanks, form contracts and other printed matter issued by the league for the convenience of competing schools. We also agree to abide by all the rules and regulations set forth in the constitution and rules," a card signed by W. W. Lackey, superintendent, read.

Midland is in District Four, along with Big Spring, Brownwood, San Angelo, Sweetwater and McCamey.

And, this afternoon at 6 o'clock, baseball players will meet at the city hall for a discussion of a potential season beginning the first week in May. The meeting will decide whether there will be a six-team or an eight-team line-up. The Oilers and Bushers have already decided to enter clubs again, as has either Valley View or Pleasant Valley. Besides this group, there will be the firemen, the Southern Ice and possibly another team or so. Anyone who wants in had better run over to the city hall and get in on the parliamentary session. They say Dr. T. R. Wright has been asked to sit in the chair, so the session ought to get away to a fast start. The doctor didn't prod the late basketball league along without learning how to combat wise-cracks by supplying the right answers.

One of our football luminaries, Lloyd Burris, is recovering nicely from an operation Sunday in Dallas. The smart quarter had a busted cartilage in one of his knees, as the fans well knew. This was removed. He will be able to strut his form in the old time way, so it is understood.

The following is of interest two ways. It concerns Midland vitally and, be it further said, comes from the well-oiled typewriter of Little Boy Blue, nom de guerre of the Big Spring sports scribe, Bobby Campbell.

Midland has decided to accept the invitation to enter Class A. That's something. Breaths, which have been held for to these many days, can now be released with safety. Midland is to enter Class A, having accepted the invitation. In other words, in case the remarks need a bit of clearing up, Midland had definitely decided to accept Midland's invitation to enter Class A competition. It seems the questions as asked by Coach Barry have been answered. We imagine not. Maybe he answered them himself. He asked them, didn't he? He did.

It might be said that if Big Spring can arrange to catch Midland on Armistice Day and San Angelo on Thanksgiving Day, the schedule will be in perfect condition, both from Big Spring's standpoint, and from that of San Angelo and Midland. We imagine San Angelo won't mind divorcing the usual Thanksgiving Day game between Brownwood and the Bobcats. Sweetwater and Colorado could meet on either of the holidays. We doubt if a bigger crowd could be obtained than the one

Trades Day Program Increasing Business

Old bills are being paid and new business created by the trades day expansion program, four of the biggest business men in Midland said Tuesday. Three of them said they had done the biggest business Saturday of this year, and one said Monday was the biggest Monday his store had experienced in nearly five months. Another said the trades day movement was already helping him collect accounts.

Out-of-town custom was noticeably increased and Midland people are showing keen interest in the trades day program. The circulars giving full particulars and names of the merchants cooperating in the movement were distributed Wednesday.

Shoppers will find they can participate in the trades day movement in everything they buy. They will find furniture, dry goods, drugs, electrical goods, groceries, automobiles, tractors, hardware and practically everything else one might wish. All business houses in Midland which hold membership in the chamber of commerce may participate in the trades day movement.

SCHEDULE MAY BE SPLIT OR MAY END APR. 25

Playground ball clubs are busy recruiting players for the season that begins Monday afternoon.

The schedule is tentative, in that it may be considered as the first half of a split season or it may be determined to end the season on April 25—depending on whether baseball is started by clubs that have been considering entering a sort of twilight league here.

The schedule that follows was drafted by a committee at the Monday night meeting of organizers:

NOLAND TELLS LIONS CLUB OF OIL'S PROBLEMS

The far-reaching problem of protraction was discussed before the Lions club at the noon luncheon today by James S. Noland, district manager of the Barnsdall Oil company and member of the Lions club.

Certain land-bill legislative acts that have been before the Texas legislature were also discussed by Noland and other members of the club, the meeting being turned into a round table discussion after Noland's speech.

Steps necessary for validation of land titles under the recently enacted Small-Wagstaff bill were outlined by Noland in his speech.

Negroes Would Work For Meals and Rooms

Persons who will give board and room to negroes in return for work are asked to communicate with the office of the Midland Community Welfare association between the hours of 11 and 12 any morning. Large numbers of negroes are out of employment, creating a serious condition, welfare officials said, and they seek to secure places for the negroes to work for board and room, without cash payment for labor.

Two dozen single bed mattresses are on hand at the office and may be had by needy families, it was stated. Applications should be made on Tuesday, or regular clothing day.

The office is kept open one hour each morning for relief of food and emergency cases. Officials of the association will not handle cases except during the regular hours, the public is advised, and no cases will be handled by telephone.

Thinless Men Most Popular Says Woman

CHICAGO, Ill., March 17. (UP).—Although strong-jawed males may rule the roost, it's the man with no chin at all that is the most popular one. At least that is the observation of Mrs. Maude Bouldin, Chicago's social secretary, and she bases her opinion upon years of observation.

Mrs. Bouldin says she has come in contact with all types of the male specie, farmer, prince and millionaire, but, to her the real personality man stand out most prominently in her memory is the chinless man.

The youth whose lower mandible recedes away like a movie fadeout kiss is quicker on the conversational trigger, has charm, listens well and his repartee cannot be beat, Mrs. Bouldin says.

NEW TYPE OF PRESCRIPTION

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP).—A new type of doctor's prescription has made its appearance here. When a druggist receives a physician's order marked "P.P." he fills it free of charge. The symbol stands for "poor patient" and is a device introduced since the unemployment crisis.

Experiments in London with rubber street paving have shown a reduction of 40 per cent in the vibration of adjacent buildings.

Girls Win, Boys Lose in Debates

Midland won and lost Monday afternoon in a debate with students of the Sanderson high school.

The girl's team of Midland won and the boy's team lost as the affirmative side of the issue won the unanimous vote of the judges in each instance. The question was: "Resolved, that a substitute for trial by jury should be adopted."

Georgia McMullan and Marie Cook formed the girl's team, Ed Watts and Barney Grafa the boy's. The Sanderson teams were composed of H. D. Johnson, D. C. Thrift, Opal Shelton and Bess McAdams. Miss Martin, who coached the team into the state meet last year, was with the team.

R. C. Cotner is coach of the Midland teams.

Judges were Paul T. Vickers, Frank Stubbeman and the Rev. George F. Brown.

Midland debaters will engage the Stanton high school at Stanton Thursday afternoon.
