Unique Golf Match At Odessa Sunday

Several Midland golfers have been invited to Odessa Sunday to enter the queerest golf tournament yet devised for this part of the state. R. Henderson Shuffler, in charge of the affair as master of ceremonies, sends out the following bit of mimeographed punning: "Colonel Cyrus K. Dobb, incurable golfer, most cordially invites you and your bitter half to join him in a glorious afternoon of hooking, slicing and profanity on Andy Newham's old cowpasture now known as the Odessa golf club's course, Sunday afternoon, from 1 until it becomes too dark to mistake a daffodil for a golf ball.

"Col. Dobb's first annual cowpasture croquet match. Trophies will be awarded for high and low scores." Rules and regulations were announced as follows: "This tournament is open to all comers, from Odessa and neighboring cities; only golf professionals and prohibition enforcement officers are barred.

"The contest will be between teams composed of two persons each, one male and one otherwise. "Every man who has a wife is required to bring her as a partner; the lucky devils may bring a sister or sweetheart.

"Murder is permitted only on the rough; we cannot allow the fairways or greens to be cluttered up with bodies of husbands.

"Each team will choose one broken and battered golf ball; no new balls allowed.

"Each individual will choose one club, with which he or she will play the entire round, driving, approaching, putting, and abusing the tee boxes all with the same implement. Breaking the club over your partner's head is permissible, but dangerous to your score, as will be required to finish the round by kicking the ball from rough to rough.

"Caddies will be forbidden, but the teams may carry with them a secretary, pushing an adding machine on a wheelbarrow.

"Entrants may improve their lies on the fairway and in the rough but not on the greens or score-cards.

"Any form of cheating usually frowned upon in golf may be used, except that most popular form of forgetting your score and making up a winning score."

ALL AT BARBECUE EXPECTED TO HELP BEAT ABILENE; WHOLE TOWN TALKING; MIDLAND MEN GETTING ALL RILED UP

Every man of the approximate 300 who attended the barbecue of the Men's class at Cloverdale is expected to attend Sunday to help beat Abilene. Class leaders say those who help at the class' vic-tuals ought to think enough of Midland and ought to appreciate the hospitality of the class enough to attend at least one session.

The whole town's talking about the big contest with Abilene. It's Sunday or never. Midland is now eight men ahead, but will have to have at least 250 Sunday to beat Abilene.

Manager Arthur Jury of Hotel Scharbauer is so confident of Midland's beating Abilene he is putting 60 extra chairs in the class room, making a total of 310 chairs. Various men are working hard. They are agitated over Abilene poking fun at Midland and are at work with grim determination.

Thursday afternoon 30 men met and drew names to telephone. Others will work on the streets, some will work in the hotels, some will distribute printed invitations, and some will write letters. It is the biggest concerted drive ever known in a religious organization in Midland, old timers say. The men are determined to preserve Midland's reputation of always winning, but they are frankly alarmed and are working like a house afire to defeat Abilene.

Visitors count the same as members. Men who never intend to go to Sunday school again are solicited to visit the class Sunday at 9:45 to help Midland win.

The committeemen who met Thursday included cowmen, oil men, clerks, mechanics, laborers, rich men, poor men, filling station men, laundrymen, carpenters, painters, newspapermen miniature golf men, in fact, all types of men who are for Midland. As one man stated: "I want Midland to win. If I attend Sunday I'll help Midland to win; if I stay at home, I'll help Abilene to win." Every man in Midland from 12 years old to 100 years not in Sunday school elsewhere is invited.

TYLER, April 24. (UP).—Stephens Vedor, one of nine who escaped from the Smith county jail last night, was captured in Shreveport today, according to reports to officers here.

Leroy Howard, also escaped convict, who was reported to have been shot by Shreveport officers, was expected to be caught soon.

The pair is said to have slugged a policeman at Shreveport. Two of the prisoners were recaptured before they got clear of the jail grounds. The others were believed to have escaped in two stolen automobiles.

The nine men escaping were Leroy Howard, W. C. Brown, Steve Vedor, federal prisoners, and James Hackberry, A. E. McAfee, W. J. O'Connor, Edward Woodland, William Feldon, and Edward Moreland.

With L. R. Hawkins and W. S. Huggill, the men took the steel ribs from bunks in their cell block and broke through the plaster ceiling to the roof of the jail. They slid to the ground on a rope made of blankets. Hawkins broke a leg in the descent and was unable to get away. Huggill was recaptured just outside the jail.

Nine other men in the small cell block refused to make any attempt to escape. The jail, built to house 40 prisoners, was crowded with 80. The break was led by Woodland, who with his father led another here about six months ago.

Vets of Foreign Wars Meet Tonight

A letter from Barney Yanofsky, editor of Foreign Service, published by the V. F. W., tells briefly of the organization here of veterans of Foreign wars, which body will meet tonight.

"The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. is an organization of ex-servicemen that was founded in 1899. Its membership consist of those who served on foreign shores or in hostile waters since that date. However, despite the fact that we have thousands of men who served in the Philippines, Cuba, China, Mexico, and other points, approximately ninety per cent of our roster is made up of world war veterans.

"The V. F. W. is distinctly a patriotic veterans' organization, dedicated to the spirit of comradeship born in service, the care and welfare of disabled veterans and their dependents, and perpetuation of the memory of those who sacrificed."

Poultry Record Leads to Profit

Transforming a mongrel poultry flock from one that made one-half cent per hen above feed cost for November, December and January a year ago to a well bred flock that paid 22.7 per bird above feed cost for the same period this poultry year is the story revealed in the demonstration records of C. W. Lowke, Midland county farmer. Beginning November 1929 as a demonstrator cooperating with Frank Wendt, county agent, it took just three months of record keeping to convince Lowke that a drastic change was required to coax profits from his hens. Although eggs were selling for about 40 cents per dozen the 88 mongrels laid only 38 dozen eggs during this time. They sold for $15.76 and the feed cost $15.30.

Lowke proceeded to raise 150 well bred Rhode Island Red pullets, built a cheap but comfortable poultry house, and changed his system of feeding to give balanced ration with lots of green stuff. During last November, December and January his pullets laid 356 dozen eggs which sold for an average price of about 24 cents per dozen. The feed cost was $51.80 and the income $85.62, leaving a profit above feed of $33.82, or 22.7 cents per bird. Even at present prices, Lowke is not losing money.

Old and New in Houses

Above—Some new light on an old subject—the illumination at night of famous old Rochester Castle, in Kent, England. The beauty of the historic structure, one of the finest examples of Norman architecture in the country, is strikingly brought out by a battery of powerful flood lights. A pageant dealing with the history of the castle is to be staged there in June. Below—Is the first all-metal-and-glass house built as a practical home in the western world. It is attracting eager attention at New York's Architectural and Allied Arts Exposition. All construction is of steel and aluminum, fabricated of standards parts in less than a week. It's fireproof, earthquake-proof, and practically indestructible. It can be knocked down and moved to another neighborhood cheaper than building a new house. Many architects see in it the home of the future.

It is expected that the park stand, bleachers and fence will be torn down this week.

All crops will be late, the report said. East Texas crops will be 10 to 15 days late.

MEXICO THOUGHT REFUGE

Slayer Thought to Be Mexican Wood Chopper

SAN ANTONIO, April 24. (P).—Officers today believed that the slayer of Merle Springer, 11, whose butchered body was found in a ditch near her home, has escaped into old Mexico.

Hours of fruitless search was unavailing as angered citizens were awaiting the capture.

Bloodhounds led officers to San Antonio where the suspect lives.

Body Buried

SAN ANTONIO, April 24.—While officers of San Antonio and other South Texas communities were conducting an intensive search for the slayer, believed to have been a young Mexican wood chopper, the body of little Enda Merle Springer, 11-year-old victim of the attacker's brutal fury, was laid to rest in a San Antonio cemetery after simple services at the home of her grandmother near Leming.

The girl was waylaid shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday while on her way home from school. The spot where her body, pierced in 27 places with a small knife, was found, is less than 100-yards from the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Alice Dickey.

Signs of Struggle. Footprints and blood stains beside the path are silent signs of the struggle which preceded the stabbing of the girl. Officers believe that the slayer had planned to attack the girl but that her cries or an approaching automobile on the road not 100 feet away frightened him and that he then killed her and threw her body into a ravine so that she could not give the alarm.

Dr. C. C. Shots of Pleasanton, who examined the girl's body, said that she had not been attacked. He said that all the stab wounds except one were in the breast, only two piercing her heart, evidence that the knife blade was short. The girl also had received one cut on the leg. The doctor discovered no evidence that the girl had been choked, although a bruise on her mouth indicated that the attacker had stifled her cries with his hand.

Mexican Suspected. Sheriff Tom Lott of Atascosa county, some of his deputies and San Antonio officers allege that the slayer is a Mexican youth, 19 years old, that he caught a ride to San Antonio on a truck at 8 p. m. Wednesday and that he is now getting in hiding in this city or has gone toward the border.

The young Mexican had been chopping wood and pulling stumps in the vicinity of the Dickey farm, in company with his father and 9-year-old brother, for the past two weeks. Their camp, which consisted only of blankets and a few pots and pans, is about 25 feet from the path which the little girl traveled to and from school. The camp was abandoned Wednesday night. Searchers found a bloodstained pair of overalls and jumper nearby Thursday morning.

THE CAUSE OF CRIME

No more pictures dealing with the underworld will be produced by the Paramount-Publix Corporation. S. R. Kent, vice-president in charge of distribution, made this announcement the other day—taking pains, at the same time, to deny emphatically that gangster movies have been responsible for crime waves.

This action came only a few days after Police Commissioner Mulrooney of New York had charged that motion pictures and tabloid newspapers were chiefly responsible for the increase of crime among city youths.

Mr. Kent, explaining his company's action, said simply that crime pictures had been overdone and that the public is tired of them. Thus, while he does not accept Commissioner Mulrooney's criticism, he at least takes an action that ought to help make the commissioner happy.

The general public probably will welcome a diminution in the number of gangster movies. The general public also is at least partially in agreement with the New York police commissioner; and the whole business needs a little more intelligent consideration than it usually gets.

An impressionable youngster may, now and then, be led into crime by a lurid movie; but in general it is safe to say that blaming the movies for the gang wars of the big cities is nothing but an easy way out of a perplexing situation.

As long as we can soothe our conscience by an "explanation" of that kind we shall continue to have crime waves. Indeed, one of the big reasons for bad crime conditions in American cities is the fact that all of us are content to find some obvious scapegoat like the moving picture.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and conveniently forget about the bad housing conditions that provide crime with its best spawning ground.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and overlook the fact that half a dozen good playgrounds, properly placed and rightly directed, would do more to keep city children from going astray than all the "uplift" in the world.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and shut our eyes to the fact that every one of us who buys a pint of gin helps to pay for the upkeep of the army of professional gunmen.

We overlook the social and economic conditions that produce big city gangs—because fixing those conditions so that they would no longer produce gangs would be altogether too much trouble. Being lazy, we prefer to put up with the gangs. Why not blame them on the movies and the newspapers? It's so much easier.

It's just about time that we gave up these cheap excuses. The roots of organized crime today go right to the foundations of American society. Cheap movies have no more to do with it than the price of bustles in Afghanistan.

WHO GETS THE BENEFITS?

Advertising pays. That has been uttered so frequently it is almost a platitude. From it has come the erroneous belief that only the advertiser benefits. It is far from the truth. It doesn't take into consideration that advertising as a whole is overwhelmingly honest.

You have a mill in the area in which you live, let us say. It employs 1000 in normal times. Now only 700 are working. Why? Because there is not the demand for its products. That demand can be increased by advertising, and men will go back to work. The entire community, as well as the employer, will benefit. Producers will become buyers, and the welfare of the whole people, from millionaire to laborer, will be affected.

In 1929, $60,000,000 was spent to sell $5,358,000 cars, a cost for advertising of $11 a car. Without advertising it is reasonable to assume many less cars would have been sold. Thousands, perhaps millions, employed in the automobile industry wouldn't have had a job. Steelworkers, the manufacturers, paint producers—all would have been affected.

The analogy can be applied to department stores, other types of stores—to industry as a whole.

We save our teeth because we read of benefits of

Famous Bourbons of Ten Centuries

By MILTON BRONNER

Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in Milton Bronner's series of five articles, telling the stories of members of the famous royal House of Bourbon in Europe, the monarchial rule of which has been ended by the exile of King Alfonso of Spain.

By MILTON BRONNER, European Manager, NEA Service, Inc. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

Henry IV, the first Bourbon king of France who ruled from 1589 to 1610, lived in an age of religious intolerance, marked by bitter fighting between the Catholics and the Protestant Huguenots. He had to fight for the throne, but as soon as he won it, he displayed kingly skill in ruling the country. France prospered so that he is often referred to as Henry the Great.

From the time of Henry until just the other day, a direct descendant of the royal House of Bourbon had always been on some European throne. The royal rule of the Bourbons ended with King Alfonso XIII of Spain leaving his throne.

Henry was reared as a zealous Protestant by his mother, then Queen of Navarre. As a young man, he was chosen chief of the Protestant army and so aroused the hostility of Catholics that he was marked for death in the massacre of St. Bartholomew in 1572. His life was spared on condition of professing himself a Catholic. For three years, he remained virtually a prisoner at the French court, but in 1576, he escaped, made his way to a camp of the Huguenots in Gascony, repudiated his enforced conversion and resumed command of his army.

When Henry III died at the hands of an assassin in 1589, Henry the Great was the nearest lineal male descendant of the royal house of France. Previously, the House of Valois had been the throne, but now it was succeeded by the House of Bourbon.

Being a staunch Protestant and having been declared ineligible to the French crown by the Pope, a few years previous, Henry IV was unpopular with the greater part of the nation, and the Dukes of Lorraine and Savoy and Philip II of Spain were ready to dispute his claims to the throne.

Some years previous, the Catholics had formed the Holy League, the secret purpose of which was to support the Duke of Guise's pretensions to the throne. Thus the cause of Protestant Henry seemed hopeless. He withdrew to Normandy in the hope of obtaining reinforcements for his army from England and Germany. His cause was helped by internal dissensions of the Holy League, which had proclaimed the aged Cardinal de Bourbon king and the Duke of Mayenne as lieutenant general.

Henry soon swung into aggressive warfare, capturing city after city. Affairs were reaching a crisis for the pretenders to the throne. At last the king besieged the important city of Dreux. Mayenne, to save the city, gave battle on the plains near Ivry.

The Leaguers had 15,000 men, Henry only 8000. The opposing army even had cavalry and were much better armed. It looked hopeless for the first of the Bourbon rulers, but he leaped on his horse, rode swiftly before his army and waved aloft his sword.

"Hear ye, my friends," he cried in ringing tones. "Keep your ranks in good order. If you lose your way—follow the white plume on my helmet. On to greater glory!"

He spurred his steed. A tremendous cheer went up.

He charged the French and Walloon lancers. He dashed through the long lances. He fought furiously,

"Scandal Sheet" Is One of the Powerful Motion Picture Dramas of the Year and Bancroft as Editor Stands Out as Great

George Bancroft the he-man star of "Underworld" and "Derelict" as the two-fisted editor of a "yellow" daily, the one man all society fears. What secrets he knows! What lives he holds in the palm of his hand! He imagines when his boasting is blown to bits, and the woman he loves, the man he calls his best friend drag him as a sacrifice on the altar of "Scandal Sheet." See "Scandal Sheet" for a new dramatic thrill. Starring George Bancroft, with Olive Brook and Kay Francis, at the Ritz today and Saturday.

"Your career is finished. I'll flash your crime to the ends of the earth!" Hear the boastful Bancroft thunder his threat at his former best friend, in the very hour when that friend is planning to elope with the woman, the only person in the French Parliament and in general equality with the Catholics. This ended the religious wars and may be said to have marked the beginning of religious tolerance.

Despite his brilliant successes, Henry still faced a difficult task in conquering all the cities under the control of his enemies and was threatened by an invasion from Spain.

It is probable he never would have won the throne, if he had not accepted the advice of his friend, the Duke of Sully and formally professed himself a Catholic on July 25, 1593. This was followed by the surrender of most of the important cities, including Paris, although the war with the League was not ended until 1596.

Two years later peace was concluded with Spain and in the same year, Henry signed the famous Edict of Nantes which gave the Protestants freedom of worship, admittance to all schools, representation in the French Parliament and in general equality with the Catholics. This ended the religious wars and may be said to have marked the beginning of religious tolerance.

After 10 years of achievement, King Henry was struck down by the dagger of Ravillac, a religious fanatic, at Paris, May 14, 1610. Nine-teen previous attempts had been made to assassinate the king.

The assassin was put to death with horrible torture.

The reign of the first and possibly the greatest of the Bourbon kings of France was over.

Reward offered for information leading to the location of Batavia! My knowledge of geography is limited to the section comprising Midland, Martin, Andrews and Ector counties, hence I am unable to pass on to interested readers just how to reach Batavia for the next vacation trip. Anyway, I learn the following from a United Press story:

There are no bow-legs in Batavia, according to Sir John Bland-Sutton, famous British surgeon.

Neither are there knock-knees, or rickets, he discovered while on a world tour with his wife. In fact, Batavia would be an ideal place for Flo Ziegfeld and other producers to recruit their choruses and gather inspiration for their songs.

"In Batavia," Sir John said, "we found young girls whose fine figures and perfect limbs I would like to see on every young woman in this country."

"No bow-legs or knock-knees there. True, the sun is constant and these young women, wore only a native covering which hung from their waists to their knees. There could be no rickets in that country."

Mussolini is reported to be an expert violinist. And yet there are some who insist he never rests his chin.

What puzzles us is why more using a toothbrush. We play healthful sports because we see sporting equipment advertised and recommended. We furnish our homes attractively because we see attractive furniture advertised. We are educated how to live more fully by advertising. And creating demands means that more men and women have jobs.

Just now, in a period of depression, there is buying caution. People are saving their money, in some cases because they aren't working and earning more, in others because of the fear of losing their jobs, in still others because they do not understand.

It would seem, regarding the matter from an unbiased viewpoint, that, since the average citizen reaps the greatest benefits, he should buy from the concerns which advertise. He should understand that it is one way he can help prosperity to return.

And wise executives, realizing that advertising does pay in more ways than one, should insist on volume advertising. It means business for them. It means more work for employes. It means they are contributing something to aid return of prosperity.

ON THINKING TWICE

All of our lives we've heard that old axiom "think twice before you speak." Now, speaking of thinking twice before speaking isn't enough. Who of us wouldn't be better off for a couple of thoughts before acting?

There are those of us who have such fast tongues that we just must speak of certain things right on the spur of the moment. Perhaps that one thing has done more than all else to start trouble for most of us in this old world. We can take lickings for speaking out of turn from the home, starting there, on up to politics and diplomatic affairs, the only difference being, perhaps, that those slips of the tongue in one environment might mean a board applied, while in the other it might mean ruin or the financial screws applied. At all events it all is due to the same little slip.

Who said that "action speaks louder than words?" Anyway it only goes to show we had better do some double thinking before pursuing a drastic course which might lead from bad to worse. Most of us read an article in the paper not a long while ago which stated that if a man had not jumped without thinking twice, he would have been bitten by a rattlesnake. Now just stop and think. That little old brain cell can work lightning fast. Isn't it logical that it said as a first thought and warning, "There's a rattler," and as a second thought "Jump"? Now what if that most necessary part of human anatomy had left off that second thought? Well, draw your own conclusion and from now on remember to think twice.

WE TOAST

The band—one of the most famous in West Texas. The members worked hard and practiced long making the organization what it is. Its director—Russell E. Shrader. To him goes the credit of building up the band by teaching the beginners, not only directing it.

Kathleen Scruggs—declaimer, who represents this district at Austin. She is a freshman, wonderful speaker and a lovable girl.

Merwin Haag—declaimer, who also goes to Austin. It is his second time there.

Junior hi declaimers—Dorothy Lou Speed and C. A. Goldsmith.

Girl debaters—Georgia McMullan and Marie Cook. Debating requires much work and they have been loyal from the start.

Boy debaters—Ed Watts and Barney Grata were hard workers whose work received recognition and sent them to the finals at Angelo.

L. H. Naylor—extemporaneous speaker. It requires a brilliant student from such work as that and L. H. is brilliant.

Mr. R. C. Cotner—there has never been a more loyal or devoted coach in Midland high.

Miss Lanham—she coached L. H. and has brought out much talent in the school.

The above has brought Midland schools to the front by their hard work and interest in the Midland schools.

CHAPEL EXERCISES

"You can make of yourself whatever you wish to be" was the subject spoken on by the Rev. Howard Peters in the chapel exercises Monday morning. Opportunities present themselves, not as the saying "Opportunity knocks but once" would have us believe, but every moment of the day. If we avail ourselves of these opportunities, we will a big success in the world, and often success brings wealth. Money and happiness are a fine pair so long as money is used to bring happiness to others.

Once there were some silver statues erected in honor of the apostles. When the Master saw them, he said, "Tear the statues down and coin them into money that they may serve the people as the apostles did."

Mr. Peter's parting advice was "Live worth while and do good."

Mr. Horace King, who has been with the Methodist church this week, visited the chapel exercises Wednesday morning. The Rev. Edwin Calhoun introduced the speaker. The high school read some poems, and the boys glee club and choral club sang.

South ward presented some students in a folk dance, accompanied by Mrs. Hawkins.

NEWS FROM THE KENNELS

Spring weather certainly can't be the excuse for any new cases this week. But I'll relate what I know along the gossip line.

Doris seemed to be taking Helen Margaret's place with Red last Friday.

The band members seemed to have a good time on their trip. They say that Janie, Theo, and Margaret put on a wonderfully dramatic scene.

They say that Jean was certainly an inspiration to Ed at San Angelo. Where was Barney's inspiration?

Tuesday night brought forth some new couples or maybe I have been asleep. Anyway Jean Verlier was with Allen Dorsey and of course Ruby was with H. L. Dorris and Maurice and Nancy and Ray were there. A. B. Cooksey was with the little blonde, Roeberta Dunagan.

I wonder if Georgia will be happy this time next week. (Three guesses! Was Avalyn's week end as thrilling as she expected?)

Have Kathryn and Conrad patched up old quarrels? What happens to M. D.?

I wonder if some little freshman girls learned a lesson last Sunday. It was rather an expensive lesson.

Doris Black and John Jr. seem to have an attraction for each other.

Virginia and Donald were together Sunday after so long a time.

Margaret, Moanette, and Pauline seem to be rivals for the affection of a red head, who will win?

ENTERS CONTEST

Students from the home economics department will enter the state contest at Lubbock. There will be three entries from the foods department and three from the clothing. The girls with their sponsor, Miss Pawelek and Miss Kolaja, plan to leave Wednesday, April 29.

The selection of the girls, who will take the dresses that they made, will be made Friday afternoon.

Miss Theresa Pawelek, foods teacher, judged a clothing contest in Odessa Wednesday afternoon.

The ice box has gone to college, according to Mr. Ambrose of the Southern Ice & Utilities Co.

"Columbia University cooperated with the refrigerator manufacturers in devising new ice boxes," Mr. Ambrose states. "New and scientific methods of design and insulation make them remarkably efficient and sanitary. They provide generous storage space and amply low temperatures (less than 50 degrees) yet use but little ice."

GOLF as the STARS Play it

by ART KRENZ

TAKING TURF IS ESSENTIAL

THE HAIG FLICKS UP A BIT OF EARTH FOR IRON SHOTS OFF THE TEE.

Is it advisable to set the ball on a tee on short par three holes where an iron is required?

I believe it is far better to play the ball from a favorable spot on the teeing surface than to set the ball up on a wooden tee. No doubt you know that in an iron shot, the ball must be hit a downward blow, and turf must be taken to be accurate. If the ball is teed, it is almost impossible to take turf. If a slightly raised ball gives you greater confidence, then the Haig plan will help you. The Haig flicks up a bit of earth with the end of his club and rests his ball on top of it.

FEELS MORE FIT FOR WORK

North Carolina Man Tells How Black-Draught Helps When His Food Disagrees.

"Black-Draught has been the family medicine in our home for years, and we have never found anything else that could take its place," says Mr. Claude Dockery, of Marble, N. C.

"When I was a small boy, my mother gave it to me for colds and upset stomach. Whenever I ate too much, or complained of a pain in my stomach, mother began treatment with a dose of Black-Draught. I grew up, thinking it was the best medicine on earth, for, as children, we did not mind taking it.

"Now, whenever I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish, I take several small doses of Black-Draught.

"My health is very good, and I never have to take much medicine. Sometimes I get a little 'off' from eating something that disagrees with me—then I take Black-Draught. In a day or so, I am all right again. After taking Black-Draught, the system is freed from poison, and a man feels more fit for work. It is fine for headache and biliousness."

LIONS AND ROTARY CLUBS TO STAGE COUPLE OF BALL GAMES

CHALLENGES ARE ACCEPTED AT LAST

A big sports row in service club circles appears under way, with the Lions and Rotarians hurling and accepting challenges across the board and special committees at work to clear whatever obstacles stand in the way of a brace of early hit and run affairs.

It appears the Lions had entertained the idea of playing Rotarians a playground ball game just before dusk some afternoon when the breezes blew to suit them. But one of the Rotary presences evidently fell asleep at the moment the challenge issued, for he failed to deliver it to the balance wheel moguls.

Therefore, when the Rotarians conceived the idea of challenging the Lions to a baseball game Lions came back with charges their playground match challenge had not been acted upon.

Followed inquisition and reconstruction and a sort of quasi-contract exists. The Rotary club will accept the playground ball challenge, and the Lions will take the gauntlet up in a baseball game. Committees will confer and make the contract binding. C. H. Sheppard, Dr. L. B. Pemberton and W. R. Upham are representing the Rotary club. President Charles Yonge has a committee that will work with the Rotary delegation.

It is expected that dates for the games will be set early next week, or as soon thereafter as possible.

PRaises CHOICE

Selection of Fritz Lanham for making the baccalaureate address of the Midland high school graduating class is causing a number of commendatory letters to be addressed Superintendent W. W. Lackey.

W. I. Pratt wrote, in part: "Allow me to give you a pat on the back for another exercise of good judgment in the selection of a speaker for the commencement sermon. I heard him make a graduating class a few years ago and... I am confident he will be an able follower to the former splendid speakers... the school patrons and citizenship cannot but be pleased with such an excellent choice."

Newspaper Wins From California

The reporter-Telegram's tennis team won over the team of the California Oil company Thursday afternoon in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3. The game was played before schedule date because one of the members of the newspaper doubles team will be out of town Sunday, when the match was slated. McCrary and Fritz make up the newspaper club, Patterson and Pope that of the oil company.

Timberline Floyd To Bring Cowboys

He said "we've got to beat Abilene and since Sunday is our last chance, I'll bring my whole bunch." His ranch is 20 miles southeast of Midland. A ranch hand living on the Rankin road drives to town ever Sunday a distance of 26 miles to attend the class.

Broadway Trek Men Spend Night

Mayor Harry Clark of San Diego, A. J. Klaus, department secretary of the San Diego chamber of commerce; Secretary Watts of the Cal-exico, Calif., chamber of commerce; Col. Willard E. Holt of the Lordsburg chamber of commerce; "Smoky," conductor of the Broadway of America motorcade, and others of the party spent the night in Midland on their return trip from the Hot Springs convention.

Mayor Clark, Klaus and Colonel Holt as well as others are particular friends of Midland and route travelers to this city. Mayor Clark is a nationally known good roads enthusiast and Colonel Holt, affectionately known as "Well, doggone it," Holt is a national character, known from one end of the Broadway to the other. He is a warm friend to Midland. Four of the visitors dined with Harry L. Haight, Midland's Broadway delegate, at dinner last night.

FARM BOARD IS MACHINE, CHARGE OF COTTON MAN

NEW ORLEANS, April 24. (UP).—The Federal farm board represents a deliberate attempt to build up a political machine, and sound economy demands that it retire from business, D. E. McCuen, Greenville, S. C., said today in the opening session of the American Cotton Shippers association here.

"Let the government continue in merchandising of cotton spots and futures and farms are doomed," he said.

CHINESE TAKES TRUTH IN HAND, MAKES IT REAL

LIVERPOOL, Eng.—A Chinese witness in county court here concluded his oath with the words: "And if I do not speak the truth, may my soul be dashed into a thousand pieces even as this saucer."

Whereupon he dashed a saucer heavily to the floor. But, unfortunately it was tough Staffordshire ware. John Chinaman tried again and again without result. In desperation, he knelt and hammered the saucer to pieces.

Oddities in the NEWS

21-NIGHT TURKISH BATH CURES AGED TURTLE'S WHEEZE

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—When Mrs. Noah, a Galapagos tortoise (age 100 years, weight 100 pounds) arrived at the local zoo recently she was suffering from a severe cold in the head. No one would give her pills or medicine because Mrs. Noah doesn't exclude fingers from her diet. So it was decided to give her a Turkish bath. For 21 nights she slept with a steaming tea kettle full of water and peppermint oil beside her nose. Now she is fully recovered.

WIFE IS ALWAYS RIGHT. JUDGE TELLS WARRING PAIR

SAN MATEO, Calif.—Just like a store customer, the wife is always right, declared Superior Judge George H. Buck in ordering a couple seeking a divorce to go home and try to make up. If a wife tells her husband he is no good, he should say, "I guess you are right, dear," the judge declared. "After all, we men aren't so much. Women are wonderful creations and we should humor them," the judge concluded.

SHIRTS OFF!

The day was cold, so highway tourists could not understand why a motorcycle patrolman should pull of his shirt there on the highway.

The answer was that a bee had blown inside the shirt of Bryan Middleton as he sped down the Bankhead. And the shirt had to come off, highway tourists and cold day notwithstanding.
