LONG HOP MADE WITH NO EVENTS

Flyers Expected by Budapest Early In Afternoon

BUDAPEST, July 16, (UP)—The transatlantic plane Justice for Hungary, after negotiating the ocean, is expected to arrive here at 2:30 central time.

SOUTHWEST WHEAT GLUTS MARKET TO SUMMON DISASTER

KANSAS CITY, July 16, (UP)—Farmers of the southwest today faced disaster as they poured upon the already glutted market the greatest flood of wheat in history and were forced to sell at a price far below the production price.

July futures yesterday sold on the Chicago market at 50 and a quarter cents a bushel, the lowest in history. Record lows on other markets were reported.

Some Kansas farmers were turning crops under, convinced that harvesting costs were too great to justify reaping.

Discussion of proposals for a debt moratorium were advanced by many as a remedy. They suggested the payment of debts be withheld enabling farmers to await for better prices.

Hungarians Make Successful Hop

In the interests of Hungarian propaganda, George Endres, left, and Alexander Magyar, right, are shown as they looked just before taking off on an ocean voyage they hoped would leave them enough gasoline to allow flying to the capital of their native country. They were 700 miles off the Irish coast at midnight, and later reported they were well on their way inland on the continent. They were expected in Budapest at 2:30, according to a wire early this afternoon.

GERMANY QUIETER FOLLOWING BANK OPENINGS; NATIONS WILL CONFER IN PARIS; FINANCES NOW MORE SECURE

BERLIN, July 16, (UP)—Germany faced another crucial test today in the strain on the economic structure with reopening banks after a two-day holiday. Government authorities were optimistic that confidence has been restored and that people regained poise after the confusion during the closings.

Banks were prepared for runs and cash reserves sought to prevent subsequent closings. The country's financial position appeared more secure as a result of successful negotiations at Basle where the World Bank extended $100,000,000 credit another month.

Nations Face Muddle Germany's financial troubles brought nations together today in an unprecedented effort at international cooperation. Statesmen from the United States, England and France gathered in Paris for discussion of Germany's problems.

The conference decided to invite the German chancellor and foreign minister to join in negotiations prior to a more general meeting in London Monday when Italy will be represented.

The movement gave hope that a compromise can be effected on France's political demands on Germany and that the result will be a substantial foreign loan to Reichsbank.

Banks Open BY WADE WERNER

BERLIN, July 16, (AP)—The government clamped down drastic regulations covering traffic in foreign currencies last night and at the same time announced the banks of Germany will be reopened today, but only for such essential purposes as withdrawal of money for payroll and tax obligations and the unemployment dole.

Both these measures were announced to the country over the radio.

ORDER ISSUED ALLRED

Legislature Awaits Completion of Measures

AUSTIN, July 16, (UP)—Attorney General James V. Allred today was ordered by the house of representatives to begin an investigation of the oil industry, seeking evidence of monopoly conspiracies and violation of anti-trust laws.

Completion Awaited AUSTIN, July 16, (UP)—With only the house actually in session, Texas legislature today awaited completion and presentation of oil relief bills whose provisions will create a three-member conservation commission desired by the governor.

The governor said Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman and Representative R. M. Wagsstaff of Abilene, leaders of legislators, were preparing the bills. The bills, creating a commission and strengthening the present laws, will not contain provisions for state determination of the market demand for oil or for state price fixing, he said.

Congressman R. E. Thomason and Mrs. Thomason of El Paso were in Midland this afternoon for a visit with friends and constituents.

Thomason may be found at the Scharbauer hotel or in the office of the chamber of commerce, it was announced. Several wish to speak with him regarding federal matters.

Protest Content Of Lovington Gas

Official protest of the alleged sulphur content of domestic gas supplied Lovington, N. M., by the Lovington, Gas, Water and Sewer company, has been ordered by the city council of the Lea county seat. The city specified sweet gas in its contract, and consumers complain of sulphur they charge is in the gas which causes sickness and furniture damage.

Dr. Hardy Heads Junior Chamber

BIG SPRING, July 16.—At the first regular meeting of the junior chamber of commerce recently organized here, the following officers were chosen: Dr. W. B. Hardy, president; Jas. Little, vice president; Dr. J. R. Dillard, secretary-treasurer. The first official act was the appointing of a committee composed of W. T. Strange, Robt. Jacobs and Hilo Hatch, to arrange a goodwill tour. The first open meeting will be held Monday evening, July 20. Arrangements are in charge of Elmo Wasson and Ben Cole.

Expect Completion Pipe Line August 1

Construction of the 6-inch oil line from the Yates pool to the Texon refinery will be completed about Aug. 1, according to H. D. Kelly, line superintendent. The work was started last week for the Texas company by the White Deer Construction company of Oklahoma City.

TWO-DAY RACE CARD FOR LABOR DAY FINDS APPROVAL HERE; MEETING IS HELD; VETS MAY HANDLE THE AFFAIR

Horse racing proposed for Labor day and probably for Sept. 8, as well, got a boost Thursday when the chamber of commerce retailers committee voted unanimously to recommend store closing Monday and to give not only complete but energetic cooperation to the Veterans of Foreign Wars who will stage the races, if plans now talked carry.

The retailers committee was called together at the request of James S. Noland, commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars, encouraged by racing fans, to get their advice and opinion as to whether a racing program should be staged. They were called as a cross section of the business interests of the city.

Noland made a clear explanation of the proposed races, stating that race horse owners of Big Spring, Fort Stockton and other places as well as owners of Midland horses were asking the Veterans to stage another race program, such as the Vets successfully handled July 4. T. Paul Barron, as well as Noland, pointed out that the races should be operated on a sporting proposition.

The business men all favored the races, and were unanimous in stating they would close their stores Labor day, would talk up the races and cooperate in every possible way. The motion to recommend store closing and pledge 100 per cent cooperation was made by George D. McCormick.

Veterans of Foreign Wars will bring this subject before their meet-

CHANGE IN THE MANAGEMENT OF RITZ IS MADE

Change in the management of the Ritz theatre was announced today upon arrival in Midland of W. H. (Bill) Blair, formerly of Borger. He is to take charge of the Ritz theatre, and Bill Paara will return to Cushing, Okla., where he was manager for more than a year.

Paara came to Midland to manage the Ritz until a successor to John Bonner, transferred to Borger, could be selected.

Blair has been with the Griffith Amusement company, which company manages the Ritz, for several years. During this time he was in Blackwell, Maude, Tonkawa and Fairfax. He is married, but has no children.

"Just a Boston Screw Tail and my wife," he said.

Bill is a personable young man who insists he "majored in football" when going to Tonkawa junior college, and likes to play golf.

"Midland is the biggest little town I believe I have seen," he said.

Sweetwater Youth Hurt in Accident

SWEETWATER, July 16, (AP)—Cass Shields, 18-year-old Sweetwater high school boy, is in a local hospital, paralyzed from the neck down, the condition resulting from a dive in Kilduggan creek, four miles north of here, Wednesday.

A vertebra was fractured and three sections of the spine dislocated when young Shields struck a rock after diving into the water from a railroad trestle. Physicians said his condition is critical.

The youth was rescued from the water by three swimming companions and brought to Sweetwater in the automobile in which the boys had gone for their outing. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Shields.

Odd Fellows to Attend Conference

Midland Odd Fellow lodge officials plan to attend the conference for District 11 in Sweetwater next Tuesday, July 21. The party will be headed by Henry Thomas, district deputy grand master.

The purpose of these conferences, which are being held in West Texas and the Panhandle this month, is to plan the work of the order in Texas for the remainder of the lodge year. Special instruction will be given in connection with the various details of lodge work.

2 PLANES COLLIDE AT BROOKS

Planes Were Flying At Elevation of 400 Feet

SAN ANTONIO, July 16, (UP)—Four army flyers were killed instantly as two planes crashed in midair over Brooks field here this morning.

The dead are: Major Charles V. Hart, Capt. Charles J. Chamberlain, Lieut. K. Austin Rogers, Cadet Endicott Longacre.

Hart is of Pennsylvania and one of few flight surgeons with a pilot's license and Chamberlain, Hart's passenger, was a national guard officer. Rogers and Endicott were in the second plane.

The planes were flying at an altitude of 400 feet when they crashed, falling four miles from the field.

Major Hart was at Brooks field for special training.

Range Conditions Eight Points Off

Texas ranges deteriorated 8 points during June to 82 per cent on July 1, according to reports received by the division of crop and livestock estimates, U. S. department of agriculture.

The condition on July 1, 1931 is 4 points below a year ago, and 7.2 points below the 5-year average. Precipitation during June was much below normal over the entire state, but heavy and general rains fell over the southern half of the state, and portions of the Edward's plateau region after the 28th of June. Local, light to heavy rains fell in plains area on July 2 and 3.

Moisture conditions during the first part of the year have been very favorable and the reported range condition. In the northwest district there are many dry spots that need rain badly. Last year heavy rains fell during June, but with the deficient soil moisture, the improvement was only of short duration. In the 17 western states range conditions continued to decline, showing the lowest condition on July 1 for that date in the nine years that range reports have been issued. Range feed is dry and short in California, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, eastern Oregon, eastern Washington, Montana, North and South Dakota and northeastern Wyoming. Feed conditions are generally good in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, western Kansas, and Colorado. In Oklahoma and western Nebraska ranges are getting dry. High ranges (See RANGE CONDITIONS page 6)

A WISE PROGRAM

One of the very finest jobs that the federal government is doing is one that gets very little recognition from the ordinary citizen.

By establishing recently a new "primitive area" in Idaho, the government raised to more than 4,000,000 the number of acres of undeveloped land that are to be preserved forever in their primeval condition. The work has been done so quietly that most people have not even heard of it; yet few governmental actions have ever been more thoroughly wise and beneficial.

All over the far west, from the Canadian border to the edge of Mexico, are vast tracts of land that will never be disturbed by "civilization." These tracts, known as primitive areas, cannot be exploited. No roads can be built through them. No hotels can be put up in them. No hunting will be permitted in their confines.

Through centuries to come they will remain precisely as they were when the first white man came. They will be, in effect, enormous parks for all the people.

Those who wish to visit them will have to rough it; travel by packhorse or canoe, camp in the open, endure life in the wilderness much as the pioneers endured it. The motorist will have to leave his car outside. There will be no "improvements" to spoil the beauty of nature.

All of this is a matter for loud cheers. Will it not mean much to all generations of Americans to be able to get back to the frontier? Will it not be a magnificent tonic to inhabitants of a machine civilization?

Automobiles, good roads and (we trust) a steadily rising scale of prosperity will make these tremendous parks accessible to everyone. The good that they will do is simply incalculable. Someone down at Washington has set in motion a program for which his fellow citizens will bless him as long as the nation lasts.

CHEERS AND VOTES

Anyone who reads the papers must be impressed by the fact that returning heroes are often very valuable to harassed office-holders.

A recent newspaper taken when Post and Gatty made their triumphal return to New York shows the two flyers riding down Broadway, surrounded by cheering throngs—with dapper Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York, sitting between them and sharing in the cheers.

Mayor Walker has been subjected to a continual sniping for a good many months. Whether or not his popularity with the average New York voter has diminished as a result we cannot say; but, surely, this little ride with Post and Gatty must have been just the kind of help he wanted.

Perhaps this explains the everlasting eagerness of city officials everywhere to give elaborate receptions to visiting celebrities. It all helps. Cheers that you get by accident can often be transformed, later on, into votes.

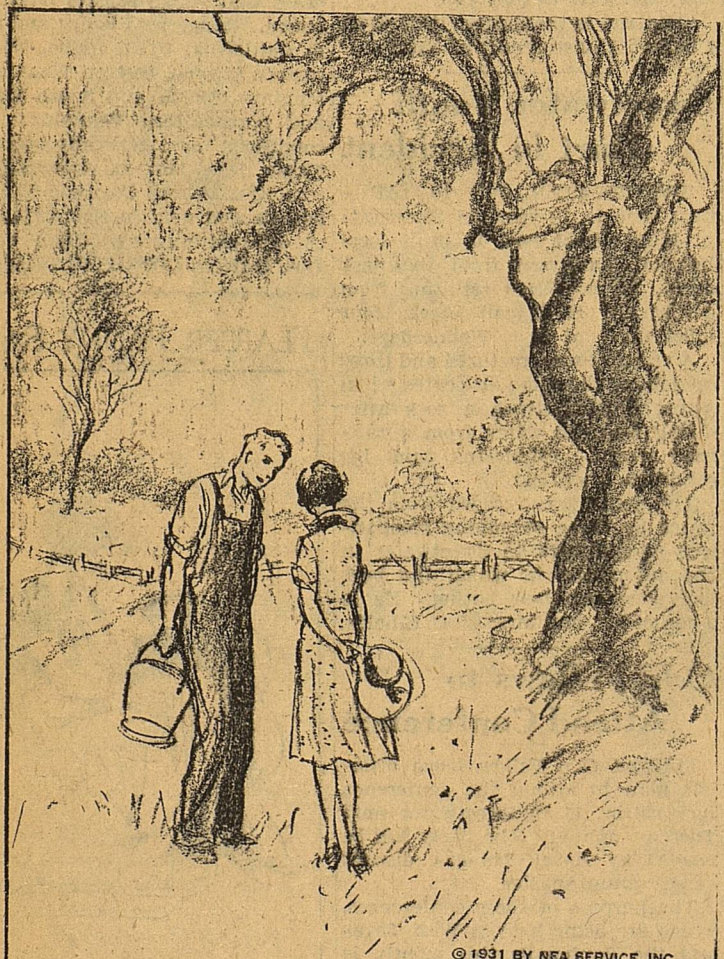

TABLOIDS AND THEIR READERS

Peaches Browning's recent admission that most of the lurid details about her famous—or notorious, if you prefer—romance with Daddy Browning were boldly "faked" by conscienceless New York tabloids is interesting but hardly surprising.

After all, the stories some of those sheets printed were such obvious fakes that none but the most gullible could possibly have been deceived. The only disturbing part about the whole thing, in retrospect, is the fact that there are papers that will do that sort of thing and people who will rush forward eagerly to read when it has been done.

There is a public for that sort of writing, and probably there will always be papers that will cater to it. The fact that the readers get grossly deceived is not important; it is the fact that such readers exist that is dismaying.

America's Prettiest Girl Has Never Been in Love

By NEA Service
COLUMBUS.—Nearly a decade ago she was adjudged the prettiest girl in the United States and yet she has never married.

Mary Katherine Campbell of Columbus, crowned "Miss America" at Atlantic City in 1922 and 1923—the only girl ever to receive that title for two successive years—says the reason she hasn't married to the altar is because she's never been in love.

"Maybe it's because I've done so much traveling," Miss Campbell says, "that I've never made the sort of friendships that might lead to matrimony. I don't believe in marrying unless a couple are deeply in love."

This former beauty queen reverses many traditions concerning "Miss Americas."

She doesn't smoke or use cosmetics or even take a tiny drink. She never diets or worries about keeping slender.

She's never been in motion pictures and has no ambition to go to Hollywood.

She's sorry she won those beauty contests.

The reason Miss Campbell regrets winning the "Miss America" title is because this distinction brought such a flood of publicity she's never since been able to live her own life as she wanted.

"Every time anything about me appears in the newspapers," she says, "I receive a lot of telephone calls. It makes me a marked girl. If my appearance and conduct are not perfect in every detail I am reminded of it by friends who are told by other friends and so on."

After winning the beauty title at Atlantic City—in 1922 she was only a 16-year-old high school girl—Miss Campbell appeared in theaters for eight months. She went to Ohio State university a year, went to Ohio Wesleyan and then transferred back to Ohio State. Then her mother died and Miss Campbell came home to keep house for her father. Her stays in Columbus were interrupted by short appearances in other cities, chiefly to model dresses.

Two years ago she made a trip around the world after winning a contest in connection with an Ohio Chamber of Commerce exposition. Since then she has kept house for her father, H. R. Campbell. Recently she returned from a month's vacation in Florida.

Miss Campbell retains all the charms that made her the first choice of a nation. She is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 130 pounds and is in perfect health.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:—The difference between the progressive citizens of Midland and South African Bushmen is outlined by T. A. Griffin of Memphis, Tennessee, in the following article:

"The voluntary banding together of men engaged in competitive lines of business is one of the distinguishing marks of progressing civilization. The African Bushman or the South-Sea Islander may sub behind a tree with a club and fall upon his brother with injury. But let it not be among us. We are civilized to the degree that we are able to understand each other and work together for the common good of all."

"The non-cooperative brother follows a lonesome trail and the isolated groups in society, who are not welded into the great cooperative purposes of all, soon accomplish their own ruin. The recent World war with all its blood and death was brought on primarily by the inability of nations to cooperate. There can not be a fight where there is cooperation. A man walking on the country road heard the fluttering of wings above him and presently two large eagles flew at his feet in deadly combat. The man looked on a moment and said, 'You poor devils! You were meant to soar in the blue, and here you are bleeding in the dust.' Lesson: Cooperate and succeed; fight and be consumed."

It Is Dependence
"We are dependent one upon another and should recognize this fact in a friendly way. 'No man liveth unto himself.' Everything you enjoy is made possible to you through the patronage of others. The automobile, the telephone, the daily papers and magazines, electric light and scores of other every-day conveniences are all social commodities."

It Is Strength
"United we stand; divided we fall." Working together we are able to safeguard the issue of our business in a legislative way and to direct the trend of our service toward the public good."

"This thing of being good, sociable, gregarious fellow will enrich both your life and the lives of others. It is good for brothers to dwell together in union and to eat the bread of gladness."

"The fountains mingle with the rivers
And the rivers with the ocean,
The winds of heaven mix forever
With the sweet emotion;
Nothing in the world is single;
All things by a law divine
In one another's being mingle—
Why not I with thine?"

The famous cruiser, the "Kaiser" has raised from the ocean bottom on which transforms from the ocean bottom on which it was scuttled during the World War and towed, upside down, to an English port.

Mary Katherine Campbell is shown here as she appears today. Inset is a picture of her as she appeared when she was chosen "Miss America" in 1922.

RISE OF COMMODITY PRICES IS TONIC TO WORLD TRADE

Bradstreet's index has declined 40 per cent and is now at the lowest level since before the war. The index of July 1 was 30 per cent below that of July, 1929, but only 12 per cent below July, 1930. The violent decline of commodity prices of the past two years has been the most disturbing factor of the depression. It has unsettled confidence throughout the world.

Any steady of commodity prices cannot fail to have a wholesome effect in bolstering sentiment and renewing the normal flow of trade and commerce. Among the groups of commodities which advanced during the past month are hides and leathers, textiles, oils, metals and many farm products including grains and cotton. Producers of these commodities will have greater purchasing power.

Observers of business will carefully scrutinize the price trend over the coming months. It will be the most reliable indication of the direction business is taking and of the state of general sentiment.

From the peak of the last decade, you could not have these things if you were the only person in the world who wanted them. The other fellow contributes to our success and happiness and the most we can do to recognize him in a friendly way is all too little.

"Without organization and unity of purpose we can not have leadership. But through our association we are able to command talent necessary to carry on a constructive and progressive program of work. Leadership is necessary for inspiration and education."

It Is Strength
"United we stand; divided we fall." Working together we are able to safeguard the issue of our business in a legislative way and to direct the trend of our service toward the public good."

"This thing of being good, sociable, gregarious fellow will enrich both your life and the lives of others. It is good for brothers to dwell together in union and to eat the bread of gladness."

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

If You Don't Think a New York Congressman Has a Soul You Haven't Heard Sol Bloom Talk About the Great Patriotic Awakening to Come From the Washington Bicentennial.

WASHINGTON.—The unprecedentedly enormous proportions of this 1932 George Washington Bicentennial celebration seem to be largely attributable to Sol Bloom and his soul.

They put Sol and his soul in a dinky little Capitol office when they made him a director of the commission. But Sol has expanded the commission into vast, handsome quarters in a big new office building and commands scores of workers, who, among hundreds of other things and in the name of George Washington and Sol Bloom, are now pelting hundreds of thousands of leading citizens and organizations in 48,000 cities and villages with instructions and bulky programs for the observance through next year of the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth.

Those Ferent Speeches
Maybe you don't think any New York congressman has a soul. But that's because you haven't listened to Sol Bloom talking about the Bicentennial and the great patriotic re-awakening which he believes will come out of it. There are authenticated instances where people have broken down and wept at hearing him on the radio. They thought Sol was crying, too. He wasn't, but before the microphone his voice and frame shake in grimmest earnestness as he pours out that soul. "Sol's lost!" his wife exclaimed to their daughter Vera as the two listened to his radio voice once recently and it seemed that no man affected so emotionally could possibly go on.

"We're bringing the real Washington back to the people," he explains tensely. "We're humanizing Washington. We're giving America a history lesson such as no country ever had before. We must have more of the spiritual and less of the material. We've forgotten history. History is like religion. . . . George Cohan has written us a song for the year 1932. . . . Lindbergh flying across the ocean was guided and guarded by the prayers of hundreds of millions of people. He couldn't fail. This country can't fail to fulfill its highest destiny if we have the prayers of a hundred million or more people for their country and with thoughts of George Washington. . . . Overdoing this thing? Man, you can't overdo history! People get fed up on it all before we get through? Well, they don't get fed up on religion, do they? There's nothing more beautiful than the history of our country. . . . The spirit of George Washington will rise from his tomb in Mount Vernon and bring us together again, as the living Washington stilled the storms that swept over the days when he lived in the flesh. This celebration is going to give the American people the greatest national rallying point they ever had."

Sol's Rise in World
Personally, Sol Bloom confides, he is very happy because he is doing something to repay his country for what it has done for his parents and sisters and brothers.

The amazing fervor and activity which Sol Bloom, short, chunky and brown-haired at 61, throws into the Bicentennial during a long hot summer is no more remarkable than his career. He was born in Pekin, Ill., and was working in a brush factory at San Francisco when eight years old for $1.25 a week. He never went to school, but has read greedily since his mother taught him how. He was bookkeeper in that brush factory at 11, its superintendent at 13, treasurer of a theater at 15, building his first theater—in San Francisco—at 17 and starting on a tour around the world at 19. Twenty years old and he had been put in charge of construction of the famous midway at the Chicago World Fair. He supervised the midway with its dazzling attractions through 1893. He went into the music business and owned 80 stores over the country before he sold out. But real estate and construction attracted him most and he became a millionaire. He retired from business in 1920 at the age of 50 and the people up toward 125th street in New York City began to elect him to Congress. Money, Sol Bloom says, is only good for the independence it gives you.

CAN'T KISS CHILDREN
EL PASO.—Louis Stamon has two of the sweetest children but the court has ruled he mustn't kiss them buy them candy take them riding on ferris wheels or merry-go-rounds. Both Stamon and his wife have been fighting for custody of the children for two years, and they were finally awarded to the mother. Stamon is tubercular, which accounts for "non-kissing" order. He is allowed to take them for an automobile ride once a week, but a deputy sheriff must go along as chaperon.

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

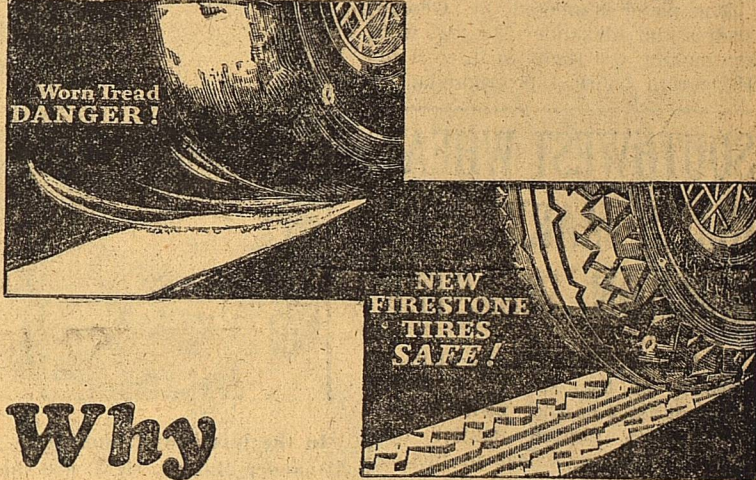

I read in the paper where detectives in Philadelphia were going about in navy uniforms, probably to make better investigation of the city's dives. They ought to try bathing suits.

I saw an advertisement of a summer resort and it said there were no chiggers there. People are getting to where they expect too much. What would you want to go camping for if you didn't get such diversions as chiggers to give a part of your attention to?

"There is many a stop sign on the road to success," some sage has written. And sometimes I think maybe there are too many cops trying to direct the traffic. With present day affairs in more or less uncertain shape, it is hard for a banker or anyone else to give advice that will fit everybody. Some people need to be held down and others can't be told how hard the times are without being scared into a panic. It's all right to advise a fellow not to get his head under him but you can scare a man so badly that he will be in the bankruptcy court if you are not careful.

Charter Members of Local Legion Auxiliary Complete Organization at Wednesday Meet; Mrs. Ed Cole Is Named to President's Chair

Permanent organization of a Midland unit of the American Legion auxiliary was perfected Wednesday afternoon when charter members met in the county court room for the first meeting since the charter was received early in the week from national headquarters.

Mrs. Ed Cole, one of the most active members since the auxiliary was started several weeks ago, was elected president. The remaining corps of officers includes Mrs. Neal Staten, vice president; Mrs. Ouis Kelley, secretary and treasurer and Miss Kathleen Elland, historian.

Mrs. Susie G. Nobles, president pro-tem presided at the meeting until officers were chosen.

The first Thursday evening of each month was selected as the date for the monthly meeting. During the summer the hour for meeting will be 8:15.

Mrs. Cole announced that her appointment of acting committees will be made soon.

The charter was declared by the members to be open until July 26, until which time any interested members may still become charter members.

Women eligible for membership in the auxiliary are requested to watch for the announcement of the place for August's meeting.

Party plates were passed to a group of young folk at the close of the evening.

Parting Gift Is Presented to the Rev. and Mrs. Brown by Baptist Congregation

Members of the First Baptist church Wednesday night presented the Rev. and Mrs. George F. Brown with a beautiful silver meat service. The presentation was made at the prayer meeting hour, a planned lawn fete in honor of the minister and his wife having been abandoned through respect and esteem for the senior deacon, B. N. Aycock into whose home came tragedy this week with the crowning of his daughter and two grandchildren.

The committee in charge of all arrangements was composed of Mrs. Charles Goldsmith, Mrs. M. R. Hill, president of the Women's Missionary society, Mrs. Harry Tolbert and Mrs. Paul T. Vickers. The presentation talk was made by Paul T. Vickers, following the regular prayer meeting led by Claude O. Crane and the principal talk by E. S. Rich.

Rev. Mr. Brown was highly lauded as a minister and citizen. He was told that many people of the city of all denominations considered him one of the very best thinkers and sermonizers who ever lived in Midland, and that he was unanimously recognized as a man who approached perfection in character, always unperturbed, always kind, always sympathetic and always tactful, and that it, too, was the universal hope that his labors continue in a bigger church and city, where, it was predicted, he would be a credit to himself and a glory to his God. When the beautiful silverware was presented, the minister was told that the intangible affections of his congregation and town were just as sincere and genuine as the sterling silver of the platter.

Mrs. Brown was praised for her work and leadership in the church, for her faithfulness and loyalty with no remuneration except the appreciation of the people.

Since the Rev. Mr. Brown resigned about a month ago, he and Mrs. Brown have been the honor guests at many private luncheons and dinners as well as being publicly honored. Mrs. Brown's Sunday school class gave her a shower.

The minister has been in Midland six years and during that time the church membership has increased over 100 per cent. The Rev. Mr. Brown is recognized as one of the prominent Baptist preachers of Texas and one of the outstanding scholars of any denomination in West Texas.

Style Parade

BALLINGER.—Approximately 300 Runnels county home demonstration club women attended the annual house dress contest held recently at the court house. Sixteen of the 18 clubs in the county were represented in the contest this year, with about 70 garments being modeled by the persons who made them. The dresses entered in the contest were remarkable for excellent workmanship, good selection of material, and originality of design, according to the report of the home agent, Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth. Each dress represented about three hours' work. The total value of the dresses was $176.50. The average cost of materials was 96 cents each, or a total of $63.30, making a total saving on the lot of $113.30.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!* Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

Here is what one of America's great scientists, whom we retained to study LUCKY STRIKE'S manufacturing process, says about the mellowing effect of Ultra Violet Rays which are included in our exclusive "TOASTING" Process:

"The effects of this ultra violet treatment on the tobacco have been tested and are found to involve an increase in what is called the 'mildness' of the tobacco."

One of America's greatest writers and editors says this:

"When I visited Reidsville and went through the LUCKY STRIKE plant, I found one explanation for the growth of LUCKY STRIKE. Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of tobaccos is a splendid example of achievement. It is the new order of the day."

Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America which offers you the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process—that secret heating process which expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos, and which includes the extra mellowing benefits of modern Ultra Violet Rays. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple". Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.

News Notes

Messages of greeting and warm encouragement from President Hoover, ex-President Coolidge, and Governor Roosevelt of New York were brought to the delegates of 37 nations assembled on April 13 at the International House, New York City, for the opening session of the World conference on Work for the Blind. Mr. M. C. Migel, president of the American Foundation of the Blind, said: "Scientists inform us that there has been a greater advance in scientific knowledge and invention during the past 30 years than in the preceding 200 years. Some of these have had particular interest for the blind: the dictaphone, the phonograph, the amazing and almost unbelievable radio."

Only within the last few months, a disk has been perfected which will run continuously for 33 minutes and reproduce about 23 pages of an ordinary printed book. A number of these disks for certain purposes may eventually displace Braille books, with a resultant saving in cost of production and space.

"The old mental picture of the blind man, woman or child—weak, helpless, soliciting alms, awakening pity or otherwise appealing to the emotions for assistance and direction—has practically disappeared. In its place has been created in our minds and in the minds of the public as a whole, a realization that the blind man, woman and child are integral parts of the human family—reputable members of society—qualified mentally for almost any position, merely carrying a physical handicap that can and is being minimized by proper adjustment, so that the sightless are rapidly securing the 'place in the sun' to which they are entitled."

The formation of a permanent International council for the Blind to work in cooperation with the League of Nations was urged.

PORTLAND, Ore.—A court, like school, is no place to chew gum. Charles Tapper, club accountant, had a reminder of his school days when he appeared on the stand to testify in a claim suit with a cud of gum in his mouth. The "teacher" Judge Woodley, ordered Tapper to get up and remove the gum.

MILWAUKEE—Claude Schneider, a sailor with a list to both port and starboard, weaved past the plate glass window of a restaurant. He saw the reflection of himself in the glass. LONDON—They ought to have given him a job, but after a young man had climbed up 150 feet of St. Mary's Church steeple to ask E. Stanger said the man climbed right up the steeple without any qualms and asked for a job as calmly as if he was on firm ground.
