"Bargaining" Carried But Capone Not To Be Found

CHICAGO, July 31. (UP).—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today permitted Scarface Al Capone's attorneys to withdraw the gang leader's guilty plea in an income tax case but reversed the decision on guilty pleas of 5,000 prohibition violations until September 8.

W. A. FRANCIS OF BALLINGER DIES; BURIAL SATURDAY

Death of W. A. Francis, of Ballinger, occurred at 6 o'clock this morning at his home in that city.

W. A. Francis was manager of the Ballinger house of Walker Smith wholesale grocery company for more than 20 years.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Francis, parents of W. A. Francis, A. C. Francis and John Y. Francis, brothers, and Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, sister, all of Midland, were there today.

Funeral services were to be held at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning, it was announced here, the body to be interred at a Ballinger burial ground.

Car Passes Over Body Odessa Girl

ODESSA, July 31. (AP)—Suffering from a broken back and other injuries received when she fell under the automobile on which she had been riding, Betty Smith, 16 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith of this city, was taken to a hospital at Dallas by ambulance late Tuesday night.

With a party of girl friends the actual count of those who took the party was 136. More than 200

Joe Shield Is Granted Stay of Execution and Will Seek Forgiveness

AUSTIN, July 31. (AP)—Joe Shield who was scheduled to die in the electric chair at Huntsville shortly after midnight last night for the alleged slaying of his young wife was granted a 15 day stay of execution by Governor Ross S. Sterling last night.

The governor said Shield's sister telephoned him from Huntsville and told him that her brother had not received an answer from a request of forgiveness he sent to his two children.

Shield's sister said her brother desired the forgiveness of his children before he died. The condemned man, who had lost all hope of clemency, had become resigned to his fate.

Visibly Unnerved HUNTSVILLE, July 31. (AP)—Shield, 35, triple slayer, from Brown county, was convicted in Brown county last year of slaying his wife as she stood on the front porch of her parents' home.

Two Cousins Remain He has never been brought to trial on two other charges in connection with the death of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shields, who were shot to death at the same time. The triple slaying took place at Brooksmith.

He was visibly unnerved when the news was brought to him by Warden W. W. Waid that he had gained a stay.

His hand shook and his face flushed. Trembling all over, Shield gasped out "Well, I'll swear—the governor has a bigger heart than I thought he had."

When he regained composure enough to talk, he addressed prison chaplain C. E. Garrett.

"Preacher, did you do this for me—but it there," he extended his hand

MORE THAN 200 BOYS GUESTS OF ROTARY CLUB IN ANNUAL FROLIC

More than 200 boys of Midland splashed in Pagoda pool and ate hot dogs, Eskimo pies and drank lemonade as guests Thursday afternoon of the Rotary club at its annual Kids' party.

After the youngsters had tired of swimming and eating, they were given a theatre party by Bill Blair, manager of the Ritz theatre.

Arrangements for the swim were made in connection with Mrs. W. A. Hyatt, who allowed use of the pool to "as many boys as can crowd in" for the nominal sum of $10 or less than the cost of the towel and suit laundry bill.

Will Elkin allowed the club use of the Pagoda park for spreading of the eating lines. Jackson Chevrolet company, Butler Cement company, Lydick Roofing company and Bob Hill donated use of trucks for transportation of boys to the pool and on a street parade preceding the party.

The scout band, under the direction of its organizer, Wallace Wimberly, played during the parade. Several scouts who recently passed life saving requirements acted as guards during the afternoon's swim. Bill Blair was at the pool to aid in getting over his announcement of a free show. Andy Norwood directed traffic for the boys in the downtown streets, and city wholesalers allowed food to be bought at cost.

The committee in charge of preparations, headed by John Howe and consisting otherwise of B. Frank Haag and Ily Pratt, asked The Reporter-Telegram to thank each of those listed above for their kind aid in making the party such an apparent success.

Eight hundred hot dogs and that number of buns, 40 dozen Eskimo pies and 40 gallons of lemonade were served.

Actual count of those who took the party was 136. More than 200 through the bars. "I didn't think I'd get it." Bottle of Soda Water A guard stepped up with a bottle of soda water.

"I spent my last nickel for that," Shield said as he took the bottle. The condemned man was granted a reprieve in order that he might have more time to hear from his daughters, 19 and 9 years of age.

He had written them long letters requesting that they write and forgive him.

Informed of Fate His sister had informed him that there was no possibility of Governor Sterling intervening.

"Well, I'm certainly getting close," Shield said. "It looks like it's all up with me."

Prison officials said the condemned man read religious pamphlets until 4:30 a. m. He also wrote several letters before going to bed. Officials said an air of indifference to his fate had marked his attitude since being placed in the death cell.

Although he professed no religious faith, he conversed for hours with Chaplain C. E. Garrett.

Until Monday he made no outward display of emotion, since then he had appeared nervous. It was believed that the electrocution of two other men this week was responsible.

Plea of Insanity Shield offered a plea of insanity at his trial for the slaying of his wife. He was charged also with the slaying of his mother-in-law and father-in-law at the time his wife was killed, but was not tried on these charges.

The triple slaying occurred at Brooksmith, June 16, 1930. Those slain were Mrs. Opal Shield, 33; and her parents, J. D. Shield, 77; and Mrs. J. D. Shield, 73.

Domestic difficulties over custody of Shields two children were said to have led to the shooting.

THOUSANDS DIE; LOSS IS GREAT

Industrial Centers Flooded; Rising Continues

HANKOW, China, July 31. (UP)—Raging waters from the rising Yangtze river today spread death and incredible property damage throughout the rich farming regions of central China.

The death toll amounted to thousands. Hundreds of bodies carried off by the torrent were uncovered. Five hundred were reported to have drowned at Wuchang. Other communities along the Yangtze reported huge numbers dead.

The river continued rising with Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, thriving industrial cities, entirely inundated.

The combined population of those cities is a million and a half. A famine is feared. Thousands are homeless and suffering.

SALES OF CATTLE ON INCREASE FOR PAST WEEK HERE

Several cattle shipments have been made from Midland within the past few days, mostly to El Paso and Fort Worth markets.

B. N. Aycock sold to Peyton Packing company of El Paso a car load of fat cows, weighing them here and delivering at El Paso.

Bill Bryant sold 200 heifer yearlings and the Scharbauer Cattle company 100 head of yearlings to Herbert Graves Commission company, Fort Worth.

Stokes and Bohannon shipped a car load of fat calves to the Fort Worth market.

Foy Proctor sold 100 head of fat cows to the Peyton Packing company, El Paso.

T. O. Midkiff has contracted his calf crop, for fall delivery, to a Marfa ranchman.

TRADES DAY HERE AGAIN; CROWD IS BEING EXPECTED

Tomorrow is Trades day. Business men are reminded to be ready for the program, not later than 2:30 on the vacant lots immediately south of the Baptist church and north of the McMullan and Young stores.

People of Midland are reminded to attend this program and hold their tickets, which are good for a 40 per cent reduction in price for adults at the Ritz Saturday afternoon and good for a 25 per cent reduction Saturday night.

Big crowds are expected. Many people will pay up their bills as it is the first of the month and by payment of their bills they might realize enough at the Trades day program, it is pointed out.

Scout Troop Host On Overnight Hike

Troop 52, Boy Scouts of America, will host this evening and tonight of Troop 53 of the Presbyterian church, a troop which has no scoutmaster since the removal from Midland of L. O. Smith, at an overnight hike to Golliday's place, south of Prairie Lee.

Camp will be pitched in a draw near a windmill. The usual tests and instructions will be given.

Three Aviation Couples in Limelight

This was a tense moment for spectators at Floyd Bennett field when the heavily-loaded plane carrying Russell Boardman and John Polando took to the air on a trip that carried them all the way to Turkey on the longest non-stop flight in the history of aviation. They narrowly escaped a crack-up, due to excess gasoline load.

The valiant monoplane of Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon is shown above just before taking off in their present world flight. This plane, which also was almost wrecked on a former attempt to get its load into the air, got off the ground easily. It landed on a farm in Wales and was over Russia at last reports.

PECOS PASTOR TO PREACH SUNDAY, BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. Winston F. Borum, pastor of the Pecos Baptist church, will preach at the First Baptist church here Sunday morning and evening.

His subject for the morning will be "Kingdom Business" and for the evening, "Wildcatting for Wisdom." The visiting preacher, with his wife and son, is en route to Shreveport where he will speak at the anniversary meeting of the Queensboro Baptist church, and will stop here for the day, August 2.

The Rev. Borum has been preaching for 12 years, having spent his boyhood days in Mississippi, working for a wholesale grocery company, serving later as a traveling salesman when taking a position as boys' work secretary of a Y. M. C. A. He then entered Mississippi college, later served in the field artillery during the world war, was promoted to captain, spending ten months overseas.

Completing his education after the war, the Rev. Borum was assistant pastor and educational director of the First Baptist church at Shreveport, filling other pastorates in northern Louisiana, and coming to Texas two and a half years ago. Since he assumed the pastorate at Pecos, 175 additions to the church have been registered, the financial affairs of the organization have been perfected and his work is progressing. He is chaplain of the Legion post here, is vice president of the Buffalo Trails scout council and is manager of the Pecos city band.

Officials of the Baptist church here today extended an invitation to the public to hear the Rev. Borum at both services Sunday.

Impeachment Charge Preferred Against Bastrop Judge

AUSTIN, July 31. (UP).—Faced with a resolution requiring it to join the house in demanding that the state railroad commissioners resign, the senate today refused to censure the commission and voted 15 to 9 to postpone consideration of the resolution.

The action kills the proposal for the rest of the special session. The resolution was offered by Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston.

The resolution asserted that the resignation would be to the best interest of the state in view of the testimony offered by the commissioners during the oil investigation.

Impeachment Charges

AUSTIN, July 31. (UP).—Impeachment charges were preferred today in the house of representatives against District Judge J. B. Price of Bastrop by a joint legislative committee named at the regular legislative session to investigate the methods effecting economy in the state government.

The impeachment charges were preferred after Price was cited to the senate by a fee investigating committee for neglect of duty and incompetence, alleging that he approved improper accounts of sheriffs in three counties of his district.

A vote on the charges was not passed at noon as the document was being read.

Trains for Hop That 'Got' Brother

SAN ANTONIO.—On July 12, 1928, a young Mexican aviator met death in New Jersey while on a goodwill trip between Mexico City and New York.

Today a pretty dark-eyed senorita is in training here to complete the hop which claimed the life of her brother, Capt. Emilio Carranza.

She is Stella Carranza, 30, who came to the airport here just three years from the day of her brother's death and announced she wanted to learn to fly.

"I want to complete my brother's flight," she said. "It was dear to his heart and I know he would be proud if I carried on for him."

GOOD TIMES AND OLD TIMES

Notwithstanding the period of depression which has engulfed every section of the country within the past several years, there are still some who can, or fancy they can, catch a glimpse of the silver lining of this dark cloud of business adversity.

Thanks we say, to those citizens who have faith in the future. These are the folks who keep things moving. Faith is a wonderful virtue and the lack of it would have long since wrecked the nation, yes the world, and possibly the civilization which those who have lived in 1931 to witness would have dropped completely into collapse. Some time, and possibly it is not many months away, there will be a return to normal conditions; factories will be running full time once more, money will find its way back into the channels of commerce and trade, and the dinner pail which has in some sections been empty so long will once more be filled.

Even with the hardships which many have undergone, it is doubtful if there are any who would like to see the order of things turned back thirty or more years and a new start made from a point that far back in the past. There has been talk, and lots of it recently, of burdensome taxes, of extravagance in government and lack of confidence in the business world. Yet no one would want to see conditions as they were thirty years ago. Let your memory run back over the period of the ushering in of the '90's. How many automobiles were there in the country? How many miles of improved highways? How many homes had a radio or boasted of an electric refrigerator? How many housewives used vacuum cleaners or prepared meals by electricity or gas?

While there are those who talk of the return of the good old days and times, how many people living today and who have experienced the pleasures of modern inventions would want to forget about those conveniences as though they never existed, and return to the methods of the so-called good old days? Few, if any, we venture, would agree to such a thing. Let us rely on that faith that has builded the greatest nation in the world to bring us out of the present chaotic conditions and a return to better times as well as good times.—Star, Elkton, Maryland.

A MATTER OF CO-OPERATION

Several weeks ago the Empire Steel Co. announced a 15 per cent wage reduction in its plant at Mansfield, O., affecting 1600 workers. The men promptly went out on strike, and in a short time the wage reduction order was rescinded.

The other day the 1600 workers, meeting together on their own initiative, voted voluntarily to accept a 5 per cent reduction in wages. Empire Steel has been having financial difficulties, and the workers sent word to the management that they would take a pay cut to help it get through the depression.

Evidently both sides learned something in that recent strike. A little whole-hearted co-operation has been substituted for distrust and suspicion, with excellent effects. It is a striking indication of the way in which labor can co-operate if it is given a chance to do so instead of being bluntly told to take a lower wage and ask no questions.

DIVIDENDS IN HEALTH

The extent to which athletics occupy the time of Americans is revealed by a survey recently conducted by the National Recreation Association. This group found that more than 1,500,000 people took part in municipal league athletic activities last year, and upwards of 35,000,000 people watched them.

The only disappointing thing about those figures is the fact that the proportions of spectators to players is still rather high. Watching a football or baseball game is wholesome recreation, of course, but it isn't half as wholesome as actually getting out and playing.

Active participation in athletics pays big dividends in health and in happiness. The various city athletic leagues that make widespread participation possible are rendering the country a real service.

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

The Democrats Have Other Good Material Besides Roosevelt, but Unless Greater Opposition Appears Against Him Than Exists Now, He's Headed for the Presidential Nomination

WASHINGTON.—If Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's progress toward the Democratic presidential nomination isn't slowed down the forces which oppose him will soon be in a sad position of the stop-Hoover and stop-Smith movements of 1928.

There is such a thing as a candidate getting out so far in front that you can't possibly catch him and trip him up. Smith and Hoover proved that. In a few months it is likely to appear that Roosevelt is another candidate of the same sort.

The party has other good material, but Roosevelt appears to be accumulating the support. Many Democrats would like to nominate Newton D. Baker and there is scattered backing for Owen D. Young and Al Smith has a large following. There will have to be a more concentrated opposition to Roosevelt than now appears to exist if the New York governor is going to be stopped. The trend of sentiment and strength has been largely in his direction for many months.

Guffey's Boost

Some observers have considered Roosevelt almost as good as nominated since Joe Guffey, Democratic boss in Pennsylvania, flatly declared for him. The Guffey declaration reminded one of the effect created when Boss Bill Vare of Pennsylvania declared for Hoover on the eve of the Kansas City convention three years ago, although Vare really only gave the hand-wagon a final, unnecessary shove.

Guffey, however, was able to promise 60 or more Roosevelt delegates and he has put a serious crimp in the supposed hopes of the Smith-Raskob faction to form an anti-Roosevelt faction among the very practical Democratic bosses in such states as Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts who control a very large flock of delegates. It seems likely that in the 1932 convention Guffey will be controlling a larger bloc of votes from one state than any other single individual.

The main weakness of any Smith-Raskob plot that may be brewing is that Democrats all through the south and west are grimly determined to thwart any Smith-Raskob plot. It begins to seem doubtful whether Smith and Raskob, assuming as many do, that Smith is opposed to Roosevelt, can get enough delegates behind anyone to wreck the governor on the two-thirds rule.

The group opposed to Roosevelt is supposed to favor first Smith and then Young—and at this distance from the convention it does seem improbable that either of the two can be put across. If speculation is demanded, it can be reasonably suggested that if the Smith-Raskob group does manage to stop Roosevelt some man other than Smith or Young will have to be dragged up as a compromise candidate.

Support Out West

The south and west have shown leanings toward Roosevelt ever since Chairman Raskob called his national committee to consider platform issues. Lately it has appeared that the governor was going strong out in California—so strong, in fact, that according to some reports even the Republicans have been worried by the possibility that he might carry Hoover's own state in the election.

Nor can anyone suggest that Roosevelt is weak in the east insofar as popular support is concerned. His views are wet enough to appeal to great herds of voters and, regardless of what opposition he may expect from Tammany Hall, it must not be forgotten that he carried New York in the last election by the whopping majority of 700,000 votes.

Most political forecasters very sensibly leave large loopholes for themselves, but they are getting bolder and bolder in asserting the likelihood of Roosevelt's nomination. A few weeks ago they were reciting almost in chorus a stock story to the effect that Roosevelt couldn't be nominated without the support of Al Smith. Quite lately they've piped down about it.

Cincinnati Millionaire Lives Meanly and Gives

CINCINNATI.—William P. Devou, Cincinnati's 74-year-old "millionaire pauper," who lives on a few pennies a day, dresses like a beggar and works from morning until late at night, has made a will leaving his entire fortune to provide a public park in which others may play.

The fortune is estimated between 10 and 15 millions. The park which Devou and his brother gave to Covington, Ky. (just across the river from Cincinnati), 20 years ago was formerly the old Devou family homestead.

With the money he is scrimping and working to save, the "millionaire pauper" intends to equip Devou park with recreation buildings and improvements that will make it one of the show spots of the United States.

Wears Tattered Clothes
 "I will leave enough money for the trustees to install the finest playground equipment in Devou park and to provide perpetual care for the park without expense to the taxpayers," Devou says.

"I'd rather repair a broken door myself than play golf. What is the use of money if one can't do what they want to do with it? I prefer to live alone and remain close to my business. Why should I be criticized if I prefer to work instead of remaining idle."

It is a common sight in Cincinnati to see one of the city's wealthiest men walking on the street in a tattered suit, a handsaw under one arm and the handle of a hammer sticking out of one pocket.

Educated at the University of Heidelberg in Germany, Devou lives a chicken barbecue. One taste of Bob's beans and the demand for chicken decreases.

O. L. Walton, federal entomologist, and family are going to Mississippi on a fishing trip. Will he bat his hooks with pink boll worms?

Fred Cowden is exhibiting some fine corn grown on his ranch. He says this corn grown on his Herford cattle ranch is straight Anxiety bred. He calls it Anxiety because the cowpuncher who raised the corn saw worms on the ears and was anxious as to whether he should dip the ears or put cresylic ointment on them.

Bill Murray's action may not please everybody, but Roosevelt fans must be glad to know the Big Stick can still be wielded.

in almost the same manner as his tenants in the midst of tenement district heat. His home is a rear room in one of the buildings which he owns and his "private office" is a similar room filled with used stove pipe, plumbing fixtures, broken window frames and doors used for repair work.

Bank Handle Park
 The wealthy real estate owner, who walks along the street picking up pieces of cord, nails and screws, has named two large banks as trustees to look after the park which is to commemorate his name.

The park is a beautiful piece of wooded grounds affording an excellent view of the Ohio river and Cincinnati. It includes 550 acres, has a municipal golf course and three lakes. Aside from driveways there are no other improvements at present. Recently Devou spent several thousand dollars for young trees which have been planted.

"I work day and night," Devou said. "Everything I make will go themselves. I get a lot of enjoyment out of working and there's so much to do I have to keep busy all the time. All my life I've worked trying to make a little money. Now that I've got it I intend to do what I want with it."

Goes to Work at 7 a. m.
 The millionaire is up and at work by 7 o'clock every morning. If he hasn't finished the job in hand by sundown he works until it's done. Sometimes he doesn't stop until midnight.

Besides the "private office" where he stores supplies and repair tools, Devou has another. It is maintained by one of the largest banks in Cincinnati to transact Devou's rent business.

Under the terms of his will, the estate will be managed for the park by two banks, one in Cincinnati and the other in Covington. They will jointly care for the park and the estate and the officials of both banks will be named as trustees.

The foundation of the Devou fortune was laid by the millionaire's father. Since his father's death and that of his only brother, Devou has added millions to the original sum. He owns most of the tenement buildings in the West End section of Cincinnati and made large profits from an exclusive sub-division, near Covington.

Denies He Was Jilted
 There is a story to the effect that years ago the aged man was jilted in a love affair which caused him to adopt his solitary mode of living. Devou denies this and says he works and denies himself because he wants to "make a little money."

He is gray now and walks with a faltering step. His shoulders are stooped but there is a youthful twinkle in his small, piercing eyes. Age has mellowed his face and whitened his whiskers. The clothing he wears resembles that worn by old men who beg on the streets.

Like all Kentuckians, Devou is a lover of horses. He keeps two Kentucky thoroughbreds in a downtown stable. As a young man he was an expert horseman but he gave up riding years ago.

"Dolly" and "Hog" are the horses' names. When Devou went to the stable to have his photograph made he drew out a cloth tobacco pouch and gave the horses each a lump of sugar.

"Dolly likes sugar," he said. I never come to the stable without it. We named my other horse "Hog" because he always tries to eat all the sugar.

These two horses and Devou park are the only subjects that interest the aged millionaire beside his business. Devou park is his favorite subject of conversation.

"I know the people of Covington as a whole want the park" he said. "The people of Cincinnati can enjoy it, too. It's all part of Greater Cincinnati. Devou park is for everybody. I know there's a lot of talk about me and what I've done with my money, but I don't care. No matter what a person does they're sure to be criticized."

"Why, there's a group of people in Covington who have demanded that the city give the park back to me. Think of it—a park worth millions of dollars! They'll never give it back, though. I know that."

GRUESOME SLAYING OF YOUTH THORN IN SIDES OF BAFFLED SOUTHERNERS

BATON ROUGE, La., July 31.—(UP)—Vellied with silence of the swamp, fabled haven of murderers and scene of gruesome deeds, there lies the secret of the latest and one of the most frightful crimes ever recorded in police history here—the murder of Earl Miles.

A gulley on Lonely Gardere Lane yielded the body of Miles, 26-year-old local youth, after a week's search—first the headless trunk and two days later the crushed skull. But the finding of the body has only served to intensify the mystery of the youth's disappearance and death.

Sheriff and police officers can not be certain whether the body was mutilated by murderers after they shot Miles to death, or whether animals detached the head and dragged it 100 yards down the gulley where it was found later. Both theories have been advanced and discredited. After examining the body, experts held different opinions as to how the head was severed.

There have been many theories to the motive since the blood-stained automobile which Miles rented here was found abandoned. One was advanced by Miles' young Italian wife, whom he once tried unsuccessfully to divorce after they were estranged. The girl, the former Rosalie Russo, said she believed friends of her family, who objected to Miles, might have killed him. Police had another theory, that "gambler friends" of the youth, with whom he was known to have associated the day before he disappeared, may have "taken him for a ride."

Residents are commenting on other and similar murders which have never been solved. They still ask:

"Who killed Professor Turner?"

Six years ago that question was asked all over the country. It never has been answered. Only a few months ago the grim old agronomy building on the university campus was torn down, its walls leveled to make place for a new capitol. There was no regret when the landmark disappeared. Residents shunned the place. It was there that Professor Oscar B. Turner, kindly bachelor instructor, was murdered with an ax in June, 1925.

A student instructor passed the building and looking through a broken window, saw the form of the professor lying in a spot of blood on a stairway. The professor was still alive and made feeble efforts to talk after wiping blood from his battered head. He died a few hours later in a hospital.

On a shelf in the agronomy building was found a blood-stained ax. Exposure to air had destroyed fingerprints. Police found where the murdered had washed his hands in the building. But they found no clues. There was none they could accuse. Professor Turner's life was uncovered for a motive. His simple habits, regular attendance at church, the esteem in which he was held by his students defied accusation. The robbery motive was disproved when a gold watch and $11 were found on the body. In vain police offered theories that some one tried to rob him and was frightened away; that someone bore the 56-year-old man a grudge. The case was listed as unsolved.

There have been other cases, some more recent, including the slaying of Joseph W. Stinson, former Gretna bank president serving a term in prison for embezzlement. Stinson, a prison trusty, was found shot to death on the pasture of the Ben Hur plantation last April. A plausible motive for the murder was never offered.

The murder of Earl Miles is still under investigation. Police are confident of solving the case. Many residents here aren't so sure. Murder doesn't always out, they say, in these parts.

Cameras Whirl In Dance Scene In Picture Here

Cameras danced as well as William Haines in ballroom scenes of "Just a Gigolo," his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which will open today at the Ritz theatre for two days.

Mounted on whirling platforms, they followed Irene Purcell and Haines through the mazes of the dance, with microphones overhead, moving with them to record dialogue "on the fly." Elaborate mechanical arrangements on a big sound stage caught the details of the dance.

This was one of a number of original effects achieved in the new picture, a filmization of the David Belasco stage hit, "Dancing Partner." Haines plays a young English nobleman for whom a marriage of convenience has been arranged, and who resolves to pose as a gigolo at a European summer resort, meet the girl incognito, and find out what she's really like.

Jack Conway directed the new production, in which a notable cast appears. Miss Purcell plays the heroine, Roxy, the role she created in the New York stage presentation, and Charlotte Granville repeats before camera and microphone her mother role, which she also created in the Belasco play.

C. Aubrey Smith, noted for his work in "The Bachelor Father"; Lillian Bond of "Stepping Out" fame; Albert Conti, Maria Alba, Lenore Bushman, Ray Milland, Gerald Fielding and Yola Davril have important roles.

Smith girl had been riding in a heavy sedan driven by Mrs. Ralph Reichman of this city. As they neared the home of one of the party and the car slowed down, the Smith girl jumped from the running board where she had been riding. Her dress became entangled in the front wheel of the car and she was pulled under the wheel, the machine passing over her. She suffered a broken back and severe bruises and was paralyzed from the hips down.

Diesel Trip May Cost Only $10

COLUMBUS, Ind., July 31. (UP).—A trip across the United States with fuel expenses amounting to only $10 is the goal of Clesie Cummins, Diesel engine experimenter, living here.

Cummins is completing construction of a two-and-one-half ton truck in which he expects to make the journey. Dave Evans, who piloted the Cummins Diesel entry in the 1931 Indianapolis auto race, will accompany Cummins.

They expect to spend four days and consume approximately 300 gallons of oil.

NOT MANY MARRYING

LONDON.—Rev. A. Giffard, of the Berkshire village of Sparsholt, isn't experiencing a rush of marriage ceremonies. Just recently he married his first couple in three years. He has been vicar of the parish for 12 years and during that time has performed only eight marriages. There are few girls in the village.

NATIONAL GUARD HOLDS 10,000 AS ELEVATOR BURNS

FORT WORTH, July 31. (UP).—Three companies of national guards were called last night to control 10,000 people gathered at a fire which destroyed a grain elevator and one home, and damaging many more. The damage was estimated to be $30,000.

A burning elevator tower toppled into the home of Mrs. J. W. Adkins, who narrowly escaped death.

Police were investigating reports by children, who said they saw three men run from the elevator just prior to the blaze.

TAKEN HOME

Mrs. Fred Wemple and new baby daughter were taken to their home on North Lorraine street yesterday afternoon from the Midwest clinic hospital.

NOT AS A HUSBAND

EL PASO.—Judge Frank Murphy granted a divorce to Frank Murphy, and now Kate Murphy, his former wife, wants Frank to come back to live with her—but not as her husband. She explained that she wanted Murphy to care for their two children in her own home and cut down expenses. It was charged at the divorce trial that Murphy had two previous wives.

JUST A SNACK

BANGOR, Me.—Steve Storosky, a Russian woodsman, dropped into a local restaurant for a bite to eat. Before Steve had left he delighted the manager and awed other customers by consuming 36 hard-boiled eggs, 17 slices of bread, four cups of coffee, four doughnuts, a large beefsteak and four glasses of water.

REAL MARRIAGE THIS TIME

WEBB CITY, Mo. (UP).—Eighteen years ago, when both were four years old, Miss Mary Elizabeth Chinn and Thomas McCroskey were principals in a Tom Thumb wedding. They were married recently.

WHAT A MEMORY!

HOUSTON.—Six years ago Young Hendricks, then a sailor, met Doris Glassbrook in England. He fell in love with her and, on finding a job in America, sent for her. They were to be married on the day Doris landed. As the ship bearing her docked, Young rushed to meet her. "Let's get married right away," said Doris. "Gee, I forgot the license," Young replied. They had to wait three days before they could get a license because of the three-day intention law in force here.

STOWAWAY SENTENCED

HAVRE, (UP).—Stephen Dubos, 23, a New York student, who sailed from New York on the Ile de France as a stowaway, has been sentenced to two months in prison for embarking clandestinely.

GO TO SALES MEETING

R. D. Scruggs, Leon Chewning Clarence Hale left this morning for El Paso where they will attend a sales meeting of the El Paso Buick zone tonight.

NICK WAS LUCKY

MARSHFIELD, Wis.—Nick Henseler is thanking his lucky stars. Last year, while plowing on his farm, he lost his pocketbook containing $42 in bills. This year while plowing he turned over the pocketbook and what was left of the paper money. He sent the remnants to the U. S. treasury in Washington and that office sent him $42 in new money.

DECLINES MILLION

PARIS. (UP).—Haiti is reported to have refused $1,000,000 for the anchor once attached to Christopher Columbus' ship, the Santa Maria, but visitors to the French Colonial Exposition may look at it free of charge. In the course of the five centuries which have passed since the Santa Maria was wrecked off Haiti, the historic anchor has been out of Haiti only once before. It was exhibited at the Chicago World's Fair, where the million dollar offer was refused.

WHITTENBURG HERE

Dick Whittenburg was here today from Odessa, discussing with local men the approaching rodeo and race meet there.

SOVIET TO CUT STATIC

LENINGRAD. (UP).—Soviet genius, it is claimed here, has developed a device which will effectively eliminate atmospheric interference in radio. Details of the invention are carefully shielded by the press, which refers to it as a "world achievement." An academician named Mandelstamm is credited with the invention.

ZEBRA STAGES ETHER DANCE

PARIS. (UP).—Ether may put human beings and most animals to sleep, but it reacts strangely to zebras, putting them in a state of wide awakeness, accompanied by dancing spells of the most violent type. Zebulon, zestful zebra of the Zoological garden, has just proved himself an exception to the rule. Dr. Brion, chief of the veterinary clinic at the Alfort School, examined Zebulon and discovered that he was suffering from a growth in the mouth. He administered enough ether to put ten horses to sleep but instead his patient became obstreperous. It was necessary to lasso him to proceed with the operation.
