MIDLAND TO JOIN IN ODESSA ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

MOTORCADE AT 12:45 TOMORROW

Business Houses Are Represented With Automobiles

Midland will run a motorcade to Odessa Tuesday to help that city celebrate its birthday.

The motorcade will leave Midland at 12:45 p. m. from the front of Wall street side of the courthouse. The parade will be headed by the Ritz theatre demonstration car which will carry signs expressing Midland's congratulations to Odessa on its birthday.

The parade was organized in a few hours Monday morning by the Midland chamber of commerce and all the business houses possible were seen, but some were missed in the rush to get the article in today's Reporter-Telegram. Every individual and business house is invited to be represented.

The parade will move on the dot at 12:45, arrive in Odessa about 1:15 where a 15-minute parade will be held. The Midland autocade will then disband so people may attend the rodeo, horse races and dance if they please or return home.

Join Celebration The object of the parade is to help Odessa celebrate its 45th birthday and express from Midland the congratulations of Midland to Odessa and wish the neighboring town "many happy returns of the day". Midland people are urged to go in big numbers and to join the motorcade and begin lining up at 12:30, so as to be able to move at 12:45.

The chamber of commerce communicated with the Odessa chamber Monday and officials there said they would expect to welcome a big crowd of their friends and neighbors from Midland. Those who can join the ranks at 12:45 Tuesday are asked to phone the Midland chamber, or to drop in line. It is pointed out that it is necessary to have a large number of cars so as to make the parade impressive.

Firms Put in Cars Firms or individuals who will have cars in the parade: Ever Ready Auto Service, McMullan & Young, Scharbauer Cafe, Chief of Police Andrew J. Norwood, Llano Hotel, Scruggs Buick Co., Reporter-Telegram, Llano Barber Shop, Paul T. Vickers, City Drug Co., United Dry Goods Co., Herbert Berry, Hokus Pokus, Midland Auto Supply Co., Ritz, Midland Hardware, Southern Ice & Utilities Co., M System Stores, Barrow Furniture Co., J. J. Willis Truck and Tractor Co., Nobles and Tolbert, Connor Bros., Fred Turner, Jr., Wilson-Adams Co., Texas Electric Service Co., First National Bank, and Harry L. Haight. Among individuals who are going will be Harry Tolbert, Bob Martin, R. C. Hankins, Frank Roberts, and more than a score of cattlemen and race fans.

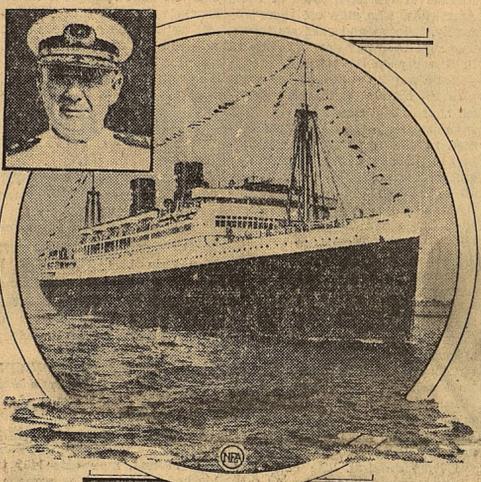

Crowds Expected

By HENDERSON SHUFFLE. ODESSA, Aug. 3.—Large crowds from all over this area are expected here Tuesday and Wednesday to join in the big celebration of Odessa's forty-fifth birthday. Entertainments of all kinds, from horse races in which the fastest steeds of this section will be matched, to terrapin races in which the slowest moving denizens of West Texas will vie for honors, are scheduled. Swimming and diving events at the country club pool west of town will attract one group, while bowling matches at the club on Grant Avenue will draw another. Many will attend the dances on the streets and at the Legion hall, while others will enjoy the calf roping and bronc riding. Entertainments to suit all people and all tastes will be furnished.

America's New Ocean Queen

Reigning queen of American-built ocean vessels, the 23,000-ton Dollar liner President Hoover is pictured above as she proudly sailed up New York harbor preparatory to her maiden voyage to China on Aug. 6. Inset is Capt. Fred Anderson, her skipper. The $8,000,000 liner, largest ever constructed in an American shipyard, will accommodate 1260 passengers and has nine decks, elevators, a swimming pool with a sand beach, soda fountains, Stock Exchange rooms, a garage for 100 automobiles, a broadcasting system and a talking picture theatre.

Midland Girl to Take Her Degree

DENTON, Aug. 3. (Special)—Miss Frances Ratliff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Ratliff, of Midland, will be among the 83 graduates to receive degrees at summer commencement August 25 at Texas State College for Women. Miss Ratliff will receive the degree of bachelor of science majoring in foods and minoring in chemistry.

Human Pin Cushion Studied by Experts

LORAIN, O., Aug. 3. (UP)—Due to an abnormality of his nervous system, Walter Easler, known here as a "human pin cushion", can pierce his face and arms with needles without feeling any pain. Physicians say his is a remarkable case of sensory anesthesia, with the explanation that the nerves which carry the sensations of pain as well as of heat and cold to the brain do not function in his body. But specialists point out he faces a real peril in that he may develop acute indigestion, or appendicitis or some other form of illness in which pain is the chief warning and his condition might become critical without his having any warning.

MIDLAND OIL MEN SEE RAINBOW AT MIDNIGHT WHILE IN MOUNTAINS

A rainbow just before midnight. No, you have never seen one, but the phenomenon is entirely possible, as witness the story of L. B. Lancaster and George Abell, Midland oil men. The two were driving in the Alpine country Friday night. A mountain shower was in the air, out of a localized cloud, one of those showers that comes up suddenly and as quickly is gone. A full moon was shining brilliantly. "Look, doesn't that look like a rainbow?" Abell asked, pointing. "I can't believe it, but stop and let's look closely," Lancaster suggested.

ARANSAS PASS, Aug. 3. (UP)—Murder charges were filed today against Newton Yardberry in connection with the death of Dorothy Doris Symons, 18, choir singer, whose nude body was found in a shallow grave on the beach. The body was discovered late Saturday when H. S. Threlkeld, beach-comber, saw a hand protruding from the sand. A verdict of death by strangulation was returned by the coroner. No other marks of violence were found.

The girl had been missing since Thursday night when she visited a friend's home after attending choir practice. She told of a swimming date, asking her friends not to tell her parents. A search began when she failed to return that night. Her bathing suit was found in water near the grave. Her clothing has not been found.

Yardberry, a barber, was the last person seen with the girl.

SECOND ATTEMPT OF ROBBINS ENDS IN DECIDED FLOP

FAIRBANKS, Aug. 3. (UP)—The second Robbins-Jones Tokyo flight attempt ended in failure when the plane Fort Worth landed at the port here at 11:30 central time. The Ford refueler was not in sight as the Fort Worth landed.

FAIRBANKS, Aug. 3. (UP)—Reginald Robbins and Harold Jones today were somewhere over Southern Alaska on the second attempt of a non-stop flight from Seattle to Tokyo. The Texans took off at 7 a. m. Sunday.

After refueling from a trimotor Ford here, the flyers headed into the west toward Unkeilet, 400 miles away. Plans were to refuel over Nome but it is believed that they changed their minds and are heading for another refueling spot as storms are brewing over Nome. The plane will probably be refueled over St. Lawrence Island before crossing the Bering sea to the Siberian coast. They are expected to arrive at Tokyo Tuesday night or Wednesday morning to win $25,000.

STERLING IN CHARGE PROGRAM

Acreege Reduction Is Likely to Be Impressed

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. (UP)—Anxious cotton farmers and business leaders from over the nation gathered here today to study an emergency arisen in the cotton market. No usual program was prepared for the conference called by Governor Sterling but it is believed that good will result owing to the presence of well known business officials.

It is uncertain whether the conference will recommend acreage reduction. However, it is thought that the preliminary conference would suggest increase in the use of cotton. Conferes will be reminded that a 11,000,000-bale crop is now moving to the markets where 9,000,000 bales are held from previous years and that the average producing cost per pound is five cents less the selling price.

Spain's League Ties Increased

MADRID, Aug. 3. (UP)—Spain, which once separated itself from the League of Nations only to go back again, will strengthen its ties to the Geneva organization if the provisions relating to it in the projected draft constitution are not modified by the Cortes.

The draft constitution has three specific references to the League. The first is in paragraph C of article 40 which empowers the president of the republic to sign treaties, which will be binding only "after being ratified, and provided the treaty contains no secret clauses and that it has been registered in the League of Nations."

The second reference is in paragraph D of the same article, which mentions that war having been outlawed, according to international agreements, solemnly ratified and registered with the League of Nations, Spain may only go to war after exhausting every possible means of conciliation in an attempt to solve the conflict in question.

Article 66 of the draft constitution provides that the "universal forms of international law" are considered an integral part of Spanish jurisprudence, and that the "international conventions, both of political and economic character, as well as those referring to the regulation of labor, ratified by Spain, or registered with the League of Nations, and which have the character of international law, are considered a part of the Spanish legislation."

LAST BIG ROUND-UP OF EAST WILL LIKELY BE WILD PONIES OF ISLAND

BY ALFRED P. RECK (Written for NEA Service and The Reporter-Telegram) CHINCOTEAGUE, Va.—No longer will the hoofs of wild horses cut the marsh grass of Asateague Island. The tiny, spirited Spanish horses, wild as March hares and not much larger, have been rounded up, driven across the 100-foot channel to Chincoteague Island and sold at auction.

Together with wild ponies from Chincoteague and Piny Islands they formed the attraction which drew 5000 persons here to witness the annual roundup and sale. Romantic Origin

Now Who'd Mind Turning-Turtle?

There was a bit of unexpected realism in the salt water swimming pool aboard the liner Mauretania. A live turtle—even though a baby one—was sucked through the hose-pipe from the ocean and was found swimming in the deck pool by Miss Edith McNutt, a voyager. Here she's shown with the maritime pet.

Banks to Handle Cigarette Stamps

The two banks in Midland will handle the initial supply of tax stamps on cigarettes until permanent arrangements can be made for distribution, according to a letter from Charley Lockhart, state treasurer.

Cigarettes will carry the stamp in obedience to an act of the 42nd legislature, subsequent to August 22.

Men's Class Starts A New Contest

Bob Preston and Cotter Hiett are captains of opposing teams, called the Lefts and the Right's, in an attendance contest started Sunday in the Men's class of Hotel Scharbauer. The contest lasts through September and begins next Sunday. A beef steak barbecue will be held after Sunday school and church on the first Sunday in October.

Only those who attend the class one or more times will be invited to the steak roast.

Bob Preston is captain of the right hand side, that is, the side next to the door. His side will be handicapped two men each Sunday by reason of proximity to the door.

Cotter Hiett is captain of the Lefts. Harry L. Haight is the commander in chief of all forces, as he is vice president in charge of attendance.

Preston's lieutenants are: Virgil Ray, cattlemen; Roy Tillman, farmers; George D. McCormick, business men; Van Wilkerson, union labor; Arthur Yeager, oil men; Sim Henry, everybody.

Hiett's lieutenants are: Clarence Scharbauer, cattlemen; Elmer Bizzell, farmers; Bob Scruggs, business man; E. H. Eaves, union labor; Al Watts, oil men; S. M. Francis, everybody.

The contest opens next Sunday. Every man not in Sunday school elsewhere is invited. The steak barbecue is already paid for. The losing side must barbecue the steaks, do all the work and wait on the winners.

ODESSA VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robertson and daughter, Mary Carroll, and Mrs. Mark Henderson of Odessa were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Phillips Sunday afternoon. Miss Geneva Atkinson returned to Odessa with Miss Robertson to spend the week.

INDUSTRY NERVOUS, WATCHES

Assurance Given That Order Will Come Later Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 3. (UP)—With nerves on edge as a result of waiting for Governor Murray to issue a shutdown order for Oklahoma fields, the oil industry today looked to the executive for action.

Cicero Murray, the governor's cousin, and chairman of the oil states advisory committee, said the order would be issued today.

The governor refused to comment on announced plans regarding calling the national guard to enforce a shutdown until the crude price reaches a dollar a barrel.

The order originally was to be effected Saturday night but no action was taken.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 3. (AP).—Oil from the large production prorated areas of Oklahoma continued to flow uncurbed Sunday, while from Governor W. H. Murray, who has threatened a shutdown, came word he would withhold action at least until today.

The governor indicated that no shutdown order would be issued before 9 a. m. Monday. From Cicero I. Murray, the governor's representative in numerous oil conferences and investigations, came information that the executive order had been drafted, but neither he nor the governor would discuss its contents.

It was rumored persistently, however, that the chief executive would not order out the state troops to enforce the shutdown, when it becomes effective, unless there is a concerted effort of producers to disobey.

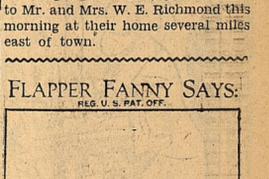

Governor Murray gave notice of his intention to issue the order more than a week ago, when he declared a shutdown would follow failure of crude oil purchasers to increase the price at the wells to at least $1 a barrel.

Oil now brings prices ranging from 50 cents a barrel downward, with most purchasers paying a top price of 42 cents for Oklahoma crude.

NOT QUITE ACCURATE

The expressions we use in every-day speech are often rather inexact.

A few days ago the papers told of an accident at a Pennsylvania camp for poor children.

A young man had taken seven youngsters out into a lake in a boat. Through some accident or other the boat was upset. None of the seven children could swim. The young man managed to keep all seven of them afloat, however, until another boat could come out and take them aboard.

Then, because there was no room for him in the rescue boat, he set out to swim ashore; but his work of saving the children had exhausted him, and he drowned before help could reach him.

The headlines, naturally enough, reported that he had "lost his life"; and when you stop to think about it you will find that there is something a little bit inexact about that expression.

Most of us are generally more or less confused about the underlying purpose that is concealed back of being born and living and dying. We have grown a bit shaky on some of the old certainties, and we sometimes have a hard time trying to figure out why we are here and where we are going. But there is one point on which men of all times and places have been able to agree.

Whatever life and death may mean, humanity has concluded that the man who gives up his life for the sake of someone else has put himself in harmony with the spirit and the plan that are above and beyond the things of the visible world. He has not, in any real sense of the word, "lost" his life; he has paid it out voluntarily to serve another, and it is impossible to believe that he has really lost anything worth keeping by his action.

So, with this lad in Pennsylvania, who died in order that seven children might live—has he, really, "lost his life"? Has he not, rather, gained something; something more than most of us will ever gain, though we live to be eighty?

BAKING SQUARE PIES

Members of the Ohio Bakers Association, convening at Toledo recently, are discussing plans for the baking of square pies. This, they say, would make it possible for more pies to be baked in one oven and would result in welcome economies.

Consumers of pie really ought to get behind the movement, too. The square pie is really not new. There have been rural housewives in various parts of the country who have baked square pies for years; and anyone who has ever eaten one will testify to the advantages which the square pie offers.

The real pie enthusiast knows that the tastiest part of the pie is the knobby, flaky portion where upper and lower crusts are joined together; and in the square pie there is just about twice as much of this as in the round one. If the bakers are going to promote square pies, pie-eaters will be owing them a vote of thanks.

IBANEZ GOES OUT

The overthrow of President Ibanez of Chile brings to an end a period of military dictatorship under which the southern republic has labored for a good many years. During Ibanez' tenure of office Chile was only nominally a republic; actually it was a monarchy, with an imitation Mussolini on the throne.

Conditions in Chile should be measurably better now that Ibanez has been ousted. A constitutional government has been set up, and the indications are that it will endure. Friends of democracy everywhere will hope so.

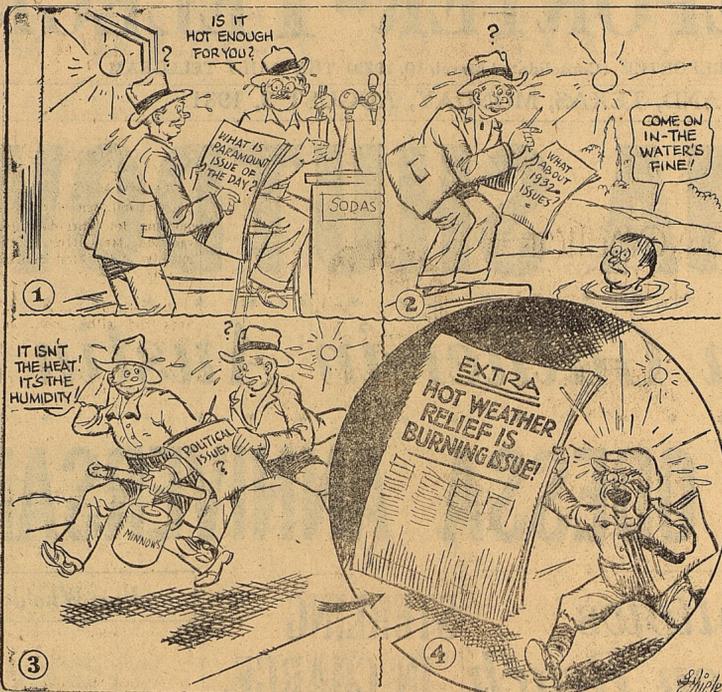

Ibanez' downfall is probably another evidence of the power of economic depression. In prosperous times dictators usually get along swimmingly. When business goes stagnant, however, people get restless. Ibanez probably could have held on for quite a while longer if trade had not gone for a toboggan ride.

Sir Barton Wins Derby as Maiden; Smashes Tradition

Here is Sir Barton, the only horse that ever scored his first victory in the Kentucky Derby.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series, "Ten Famous Triumphs of the Turf," and relates how Sir Barton scorned tradition.

By MAX RIDDLE

Wherever the great Sir Barton went, there also went romance and glory. There, too, tradition trembled. For Sir Barton had a grudge against tradition, and turf axioms had to be discarded when he poked his well-bred nose under the wire.

You might expect that a horse who was not good enough to win one race in a season's running, and who, more often than not, finished unplaced, would be unable to do much in America's greatest race. Tradition had it so. But tradition took a licking when Sir Barton—one year a second rater, and the next a world beater—became the only maiden ever to win the Kentucky Derby.

But the son of Starshoot was not yet through with tradition. There was that little matter of the Preakness. Never had a Kentucky Derby winner been able to win the Preakness. So Sir Barton won the Preakness, the first and only horse, until Gallant Fox, to account for both.

Start at any square and draw a line to an adjacent square—either vertically, horizontally or diagonally. Continue from square to square and if you complete the course correctly, you will trace out the words of an old and familiar proverb.

Still not satisfied, he went on to win the Belmont Stakes and the Withers.

Sir Barton continued in the winner's column as a four-year-old, though sickness forced a vacation. He returned to the races a few weeks before the Merchants and Citizens Handicap, only to find that he had lost some of his popularity. People remembered that tradition, "They never come back."

Sir Barton flouted tradition again, and lowered the Saratoga track record in his first start. Established in public favor once more, Sir Barton was made an early favorite to win the Merchants and Citizens. By post time, however, Samuel Ross' Gnome was about evenly liked. Gnome had just beaten the gallant gelding, Exterminator—by no means an easy task. Moreover, Gnome had only to carry 115 pounds, while Sir Barton was saddled with the crushing impost of 133 pounds.

Sir Barton started like a mad creature, stirring up so much wind that little Earl Sande could hardly stay on his back. Game Jack Stuart was close at his heels and Gnome not far behind. Frankie Keogh tried to pass Jack Stuart on the inside and, getting pinched, was forced to fall back a little. Some say that this misfortune cost Gnome the victory; but no one will ever know.

Jack Stuart gave it up at the mile post, and with clear sailing, Keogh brought Gnome forward with a rush. Lightly weighted, Gnome managed to get ahead of Sir Barton, and for a sixteenth of a mile, they raced on even terms. A hundred feet from home it looked as though Gnome had the victory, but Sir Barton was still out to fool somebody. Earl Sande was mighty busy, too, and somehow, the gallant colt got his nose out in the front of Gnome.

No one knew which horse had won until the judges made their decision. The announcement that the winner had set a new world mark of 1:55 3-5 for the nine and one-half furlongs created quite a stir, but it was nothing to the howl that went up when it was announced that Sir Barton had won.

There were a few cheers but the howls drowned them out. Pandemonium broke loose. An angry mob of Gnome supporters gathered about the judges' stand and demanded that the name of Gnome be posted. The judges refused to change their decision.

To those nearest the finish line it was clear that Sir Barton deserved the decision. But so close was the race that Commander Ross, who was a few feet away, was surprised to find that his horse had won.

Next: Another winner.

United States Profits from Panama Liquor Trade, Publisher Charges; Says U. S. Railroad Has Monopoly Carrying Wet Goods to Docks in Canal Zone

WASHINGTON.—Down in the Isthmus of Panama, it appears, Uncle Sam—

Is landlord to 300 or 400 saloons and a couple of blocks of brothels. Transports liquor from place to place at a profit and holds a monopoly on that business.

Builds houses for his employees in the Republic of Panama where it is legal to buy and drink liquor instead of in the Canal Zone where it isn't. Arrests Panamanians who buy liquor legally in Colon and try to take it to their homes in the interior.

Arrests steamship passengers who buy liquor legally and try to take it aboard ship where its possession is legal.

Nelson Rousevelt, publisher of the Panama American, has spilt this story here with the assertion that the situation stirs up bitterness and should be solved by the sale of U. S. government property in Colon, profits of the sale to be used to build 23 miles of highways between the east and west coasts of Panama.

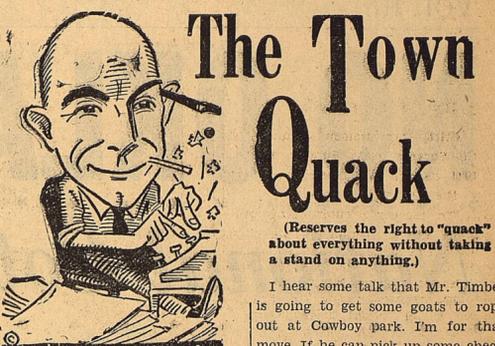

Big Tourist Trade Colon is a cosmopolitan city made up of all colors and nationalities, created virtually since 1904 from a swamp developed by the Panama Railroad, which is owned by the U. S. government and itself owns nearly all land in Colon. Many American canal employees have left government service and entered business there. Business is principally that of catering to about 100,000 tourists or travelers, most of them Americans, who stop off there annually. Saloons and cabarets thrive. The rent they pay goes into the U. S. Treasury via the railroad.

Many novelty stores on the main pike sell oriental knickknacks, Spanish shawls, and Panama hats. U. S. commissaries in the Canal Zone furnish necessities to most Americans in the region and the novelty and grocery stores of Colon are nearly all in the hands of Hindus or Chinese. Nearly every Colon grocery store has a bar. The red light district, Rousevelt says, is well organized and is supervised by the Panama government. It is largely segregated.

This country owns a 10-mile strip across the isthmus, but the Panama Canal authorities have built several hundred cement houses in the wet territory of Colon to house employees. To reach the Canal Zone on the other side of Colon, with its commissaries, postoffice, courts, clubhouse and movie theatre, they must pass through or around the saloon- and light districts. The canal employees formerly lived in the old Cristobal region on American soil where the prohibition laws apply. Thanks to the canal administration they may now legally possess liquor in their homes.

Liquor Monopoly Uncle Sam's Panama railroad has a monopoly on transporting liquor from the Republic of Panama to the docks in the Canal Zone and carries the stuff at a profit whenever a liquor dealer in Colon sells a supply to a ship. Federal law against the transportation specifically exempts liquor in transit through the canal or on the railroad, so the railroad construes that to apply to its trucks. The seller or the buyer can't carry the stuff across that brief strip of Canal Zone; it would be a violation of the law.

But just let a Panamanian try to sneak home to the interior from Colon with a bottle or two and he is arrested, charged with possession. He can't reach any other point in the republic without passing through a piece of the zone. Similarly, hundreds of foreigners are nabbed every year as they head back to their ships with a quart or two. They have to pass the length of about three blocks through zone territory and usually are unaware that they aren't still on the soil of Panama. The stranger puts up bail which the forfeits into Uncle Sam's Who's who among the Jelly-Bean jockeys—Jack French. In one short week, he advanced from soda clerk to jockey and may be seen any time carrying water to George Keith or otherwise serving his apprenticeship under Gerald Bloss.

Speaking of Odessa's celebration, it's also the birthday of J. H. Fine and Red at the Ritz Sandwich shop. Both of them plan to take off and celebrate with Odessa tomorrow.

I don't know how Red is going to celebrate. My idea of taking in a celebration is to consume large quantities of soda pop, hamburgers and hot dogs. Red can do that any time, right in his own place of business.

Daily Health Talk

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Man Eats 1400 Times His Body Weight in Normal Life Span; If He Lives to Be 70 He Will Have Consumed 12,000 Loaves of Bread and 8,000 Pounds of Meat.

By D. MORRIS FISHBEN Editor Journal of American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine. In 70 years, which is the life expectancy of humans according to Biblical text, man eats 1400 times his body weight. The average life expectancy of man according to our most recent statistics is approximately 55 years. If a man lives to be 70 years of age his intake will have included 12000 loaves of bread, averaging one pound each; 4000 pounds of fat; 8000 pounds of meat, which can be divided into three oxen, four chickens, 75 geese and 100 suabs.

According to an analysis made by a distinguished German, statistics for diet should also include 12,000 large fish and 3000 sardines and herring; 10,000 pounds of potatoes and 12,000 pounds of other vegetables; 14,000 pounds of fruits; 6000 quarts of milk; 12,000 quarts of coffee; 1000 pounds of salt; 5000 eggs; 2000 pounds of cheese and 10,000 quarts of water. If he happens to be a German, he will have taken 8000 pounds of sugar; but if he happens to be an American, he will have consumed nearer 40,000 pounds. If he is a German, he will have imbibed 15,000 quarts of beer. If he is a smoker, he would have added 40,000 cigars or somewhere between 100,000 to 200,000 cigarettes to the material that has passed into his interior. In addition, his diet will have included such extra delicacies as candies, wines, liquors, soft drinks and orange juice, and what not.

The average man weighs 154 pounds, which can be divided into 66 pounds of muscle, 29.2 interior organs, 27.2 pounds of skin and fat, 26.8 pounds of bone and 3.3 pounds of brain. However, the scientific physician is not likely to consider food in the light of muscle, bone, fat and brain. Rather he is likely to be concerned with proteins, carbohydrates and fats. As distributed among the main body constituents there are 99 pounds of water, 30.84 pounds of protein, 15.4 pounds of fat, 7.7 pounds of minerals and 1.5 pounds of carbohydrates.

We eat in order to supply ourselves with these body elements and in order to develop the energy used in our bodily activities. We eat also for health and for growth. Hence it is that a certain amount of knowledge is necessary in order to select a diet that will meet all of these necessities.

It is claimed that Lee was born in the 17th years of the reign of K'ang Hsi, who was emperor of China from 1662 to 1723. Lee bases his claim to the longevity record on a boxful of fingernails he has. Some of these he clipped after they were more than a foot long. It takes many years to grow nails to this length. The nails on his fingers at present are over a foot long and ready to be clipped. Choice Cooks' Corner

The following recipes may appeal to you. They have been tested and have proven their worth. The first is for chocolate ice cream. The texture of the frozen cream is smooth and velvety although no cream is used in the mixture.
Chocolate Ice Cream
Two squares bitter chocolate, 1 cup condensed milk, 1 cup boiling water, 2 eggs, 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 cups evaporated milk, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.
Melt chocolate and add sugar and condensed milk. Add boiling water slowly, stirring constantly. Pour gradually onto well beaten eggs stirring to keep smooth. Add evaporated milk and salt and cook over hot water until mixture coats a spoon. Remove from fire and cool. Add vanilla and freeze as usual.
Spanish chocolate can be served hot or chilled as the weather dictates.
Spanish Chocolate
One square bitter chocolate, 4 tablespoons condensed milk, 1 cup of evaporated milk, 1-2 cup strong coffee infusion, few grains salt, 1-8 teaspoon cinnamon.
Melt chocolate over hot water and add condensed milk. Add coffee slowly, stirring constantly. Add the evaporated milk and salt and heat almost to the boiling point, beating with a Dover beater. Add cinnamon just before serving or omit it if preferred. One or two drops of vanilla can be added if liked.

Helpful Health Suggestions By Martha Bredemeier

FALSE THRIFT
At the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, it was found that only 57 per cent of American children have enough milk each day; 3.5 per cent use no milk at all and the rest have less than enough.
The slogan, "It's smart to be thrifty", has captured the imagination of our people, is the opinion of Miss Jessie Cole, nutrition specialist, Department of Health of New York state.
"Economists are of the opinion that food is one of the first things on which families begin to skimp," says Miss Cole, "they feel that no one will know if they do without milk or eat less vegetables and fruit."
From time to time the State Department of Health issues bulletins explaining the essentials of adequate diet and dealing with food requirements. Particular emphasis is laid on the way in which food money should be budgeted. The value of dairy products, vegetables, and fruits is pointed out and the foods which should appear in each day's dietary are given.
In addition to this the planning of a meal is discussed and illustrated and menus are outlined.
It is suggested that people begin checking up on their use of essential foods, dairy products, vegetables and milk. When the income permits they should increase the amount of these foods.
DEW OF DEATH
LONDON.—A "dew of death" will be the most powerful weapon of England in the next war, according to Lady Cynthia Mosley, wife of the insurgent member of Parliament. She explains that scientists have developed an explosive, a teaspoon of which, dropped over a city, would kill a million people.

German Style Dishes Suggested by County Agent for One Day

The one-day menu suggested this week by the county demonstration agent is truly German, from the coffee cake at breakfast to the cottage cheese cake for supper.
Most persons will find the cabbage and mutton combination entirely new and especially appetizing. This particular dish is native to Mecklenburg and once it is eaten, it is bound to be a favorite dish with all who are fond of cabbage and lamb, declared the agent.
The recipe for the cabbage and mutton is given today, other recipes following in the Choice Cooks' column tomorrow.
The menu follows:
Breakfast
Green Apple Sauce Coffee cake
(Cooked Cereal) Coffee
Dinner
White cabbage with mutton (Mecklenburg style)
Sour potatoes with bay leaves
Supper
Carrots in broth
Lettuce with oil and vinegar
Cottage cheese cake
Coffee
White Cabbage with Mutton or Lamb
2 pounds breast mutton or lamb
1 quart water
1 large head cabbage
3 long thin slices salt pork
3 teaspoons salt
1-8 teaspoon white pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
8 or 10 cloves
Wipe the meat and cut in medium sized pieces. Add to the water, partly cover and simmer until the meat is tender. Drain and reserve the broth. Cut the meat from the bones in small pieces and discard ACROSS Friendly Counters NO DOUBT you can remember the general storekeeper in some country village. A call on him was an experience in pleasant human relationship, in honesty and neighborliness. He discussed politics and crops with vigor and shrewdness. He told the truth about groceries and dress goods. His was a friendly counter, a comfortable place to trade. But the fact is that today in towns and villages and cities everywhere hundreds of thousands of counters are honest and friendly in a way his could never be. They offer advertised merchandise. A manufacturer stands sponsor for this merchandise. On it he has put his name and brand. So sure is he of its usefulness, its purity and correct weight, or size, or strength, or delicacy, that he talks to you about in on the pages of magazines and newspapers. From coast to coast you can buy his product with confidence. Wherever you find it, and whoever sells it, you have the assurance that its quality will be what you expect and that the price you pay is fair. In your home town and wherever you travel on business or pleasure, you may trade at friendly counters! You may buy advertised merchandise!

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

DEAR RUNT.....

A POOR, SCRUBBY LITTLE ALLEY CAT FOLLOWED ME HOME TODAY AND RIGHT AWAY I THOUGHT OF YOU AND DECIDED I MIGHT AS WELL WRITE YOU AS I DON'T HAVE ANYTHING ELSE TO DO.

I STARTED OVER TO YOUR HOUSE LAST P.M. TO TAKE YOU TO A MOVIE AND JUST HAPPENED TO REMEMBER YOU WERE OUT OF TOWN. IT WAS THE FIRST TIME I'VE THOUGHT OF YOU WE'RE ALL HAVING A SWELL TIME SINCE YOU LEFT.

DON'T HURRY HOME. AS LONG AS YOU'RE AWAY YOU MIGHT AS WELL STAY. AND, SAY, YOU BETTER GIVE THAT GIGOLO, YOU CALL MISTER X, AN AWFUL PLAY. YOU MIGHT BE LUCKY AND LAND HIM, OVER THERE WHERE NOBODY KNOWS YOU. WELL, SO LONG.

BOB!

P.S. YOU NEEDN'T BOTHER TO WRITE ME A LETTER. I PROBABLY WOULDN'T TAKE TIME TO READ IT ANYHOW.

.... GOOD OL' BOB !! GEEEEEEEE-- THAT MAKES ME HOMESICK

WASH TUBBS

AH! UP EARLY, I SEE. SAY, WASH, WHO DO YOU THINK LITTLE JUNIOR LOOKS LIKE?

NOW Lissen, GOZY. I'M A GUEST. I'M YOUR PAL. I DON'T WANT TO GO FIGHTIN' ANY FIGHTS, SEE.

AW, BOSH! C'MON, WHO DOES HE LOOK LIKE?

NOSSIR! NOT FOR A MILLION DOLLARS. I GOTTA REMEMBER I'M A GENTLEMAN, SO LET'S JUST LET TH SUBJECT DROP. FORGET IT.

WHY, YOU PRUNE, NOBODY'S GONNA GET SORE. WHAT'S EATING YOU?

WELL, ALL I'M GUNNA SAY IS THAT HE LOOKS LIKE A FAMOUS MOVIE ACTOR.

YAH!!

WOTTA YOU THINK, DEAR? JUNIOR REMINDS WASH OF A FAMOUS MOVIE STAR. IMAGINE!

OH, HOW WONDERFUL.

BOY, IT'S LUCKY I'M TACKFUL. I'DA GOT RUINED IF I'DA SAID IT WAS BEN TURPIN HE LOOKED LIKE.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

GEE! I'M ALMOST APRAND TO LOOK UP... I JUST KNOW IT'S A GYPSY!!

OH! A-AH... I'M... BOY! YOU SURE SURPRISED ME... I NEVER EXPECTED TO RUN INTO STRANGERS WAY OUT HERE!!

AND IT'S BEEN A LONG, LONG TIME SINCE I'VE LAID EYES ON A STRANGER IN THESE FORESTS, TOO... MAYBE YOU'RE STAYING IN THE BIG HOUSE, BACK YONDER... HUH?

YES... I'M LOOKIN' FOR A BOY... YOU SEEN HIM?

YES, I HAVE.... ABOUT AN HOUR AGO I SAW A LITTLE BOY BEING LIFTED INTO AN AUTOMOBILE BY TWO MEN.... GOING ON A SIGHT-SEEING TRIP WITH THEM, I GUESS!!

THIS IS STRANGE INDEED! WOULD OSCAR BE FOOLISH ENOUGH TO ACCEPT A RIDE FROM TOTAL STRANGERS?

IRATE MOTHERS

EL PASO—Two older boys in the Second and Mesa neighborhood are probably nursing the effects of parental justice. Mothers in the neighborhood noticed their sons coming home with their heads clipped close and ragged. Investigation showed that two older boys were running the younger lads up a blind alley, capturing them and clipping their heads. About 35 boys had been so treated before the young barbers were waylaid.

JAIL HIS ONLY HOME

SEATTLE—John Minderhout, 74, is in jail, but he isn't in for any crime. He's in because he's the fellow nobody wants." The old fellow lost his job recently and turned to his relatives for shelter. Only one sister remained, in Wisconsin, but she is raising a family and she was having financial difficulties. So Minderhout appealed to police for shelter. They gave him a home in the jail.

WHITMIRE PITCHES ICEMEN TO WIN OVER VOLUNTEER FIREMEN

GIRDLEY SOCKS A HOMER WITH 3 MEN RIDING

The last inning in yesterday's Southern Ice-Firemen game like to have been a real reversal. As it was, the Ice-men came out at the long end of a 7-4 score.

The game was scoreless for the Firemen until the last inning, Whitmire had been pitching a notable brand and Ice-men were folding their timbers mechanically. Then Whitmire hit Roberson with a pitched ball and walked a couple of other batsmen.

Fred Girdley, heavy socker, came to the plate, with his heavy bat. He clouted one over the second baseman's head for the circuit, to score four runs; incidentally almost breaking up a ball game. But the rally could not be carried on, and the Firemen were put out.

full grown and weighing from 400 to 500 pounds. But in spite of their small build, they make capable saddle horses, sure-footed and intelligent.

Civilization Closing In

In recent years, the grazing grounds of Asateague Island have been restricted more and more by fencing, and as a result the wild herds grew smaller and smaller. Last year the island changed ownership and the roaming ponies were doomed. Recently every one, from the oldest stallions to the three-months-old colts, were rounded up and sold.

But the wild horse will remain—for a few more years at least—on Chincoteague and Pinye Islands. For a few more years they will provide one of the strangest

ONE MIDLAND, ONE BIG SPRING AND TWO LAMESA RACQUETEERS GO INTO FINALS, BUT RAIN POSTPONES PLAY

Four racquetiers, among them Theo Ferguson of Midland, went to the finals of the tennis tournament at Lamesa Sunday, only to have their matches postponed because of rain.

Joe Davis of Big Spring, Hatch and Thurston of Lamesa were the others who went past the semifinals.

Joe Davis opened the festivities by beating N. J. Allen in singles, 6-3, 6-2. McCrary, Midland man who played for Big Spring, drew a bye, as did White, then the two played each other, White winning, 6-2, 6-2.

McCarty of Big Spring drew a bye, then was beat by Hatch of Lamesa, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4. Hardesty of Lamesa lost to Ferguson of Midland, 6-2, 6-3. Bishop of Big Spring won from Lowery of Lamesa, 3-6, 6-0, 6-0, then lost to Ferguson of Midland, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

SPORTS REPORTS

BY R. C. HANKINS

The Betty Co-Eds, under which name the little high school girls of the city play, were out for 5:50 practice this morning with 17 "men." Heretofore, only 10 regulars have been reporting for matins. Seven new players, among them Sybil Mabray, second best pitcher for Sun-set high school, Dallas, last year, and her sister, Myrtle, made the club take on a different appearance this morning. Janie McMullan, Laura Shelburne, Bonny English and Chrystelle Steele were the other new ones.

The Petroleum girls had a dozen out for their morning communion. Girls of Midland are not only taking plenty of exercise this summer, but are putting on their make-up earlier than ever for it. Mrs. Irene Nottingham and Mrs. Bonnie Smith are new recruits of the Petrols. And Mr. Smith is to join The Reporter-Telegram club, we understand.

Incidentally, new recruits look good off the field; we haven't seen them in playground ball regalia. Mrs. Smith hails from Fort Worth and is a blonde; we don't know what city claims Mrs. Nottingham, but she's brunette.

Dorothy Blackman goes back to her old position on first, and Daisy Lindsey climbs the mound for the Petrols. The shift is expected to give more punch. The Petrols started out with a bang, but when the regular season started they lacked something and, as a result, have not won either of their starts.

Scotty Gemmill, manager for the Petrols, as well as for The Reporter-Telegram, did his fastest base work when he stepped into a red ant bed bright and early this a. m. He was delivering a lecture on getting away from a base fast at the moment. It is reputedly stated that his action impressed his players. He was in good form down the paths, even if he did circle the bases twice.

The fastest walking women golfers: Mrs. Dave Finley and Mrs. Arch Thomas. Early Sunday morning we had to concede ourselves three putts on the round to keep ahead of them. And we were playing alone. As luck would have it, we were with a threesome in the early afternoon, made up otherwise of M. D. Johnson Sr. and James Harrison, and had to let the ladies pass through on No. 3 fairway.

The lights at Pagoda diamond were burning at 1:30 Saturday morning and someone was playing ball. Who was it?

We suspect more than a quirk in the tip that one of our women athletes wrote a poem called "Ode to a Rhomboid." We see no inspiration in geometrical figures, though some other figures have more or less appeal—and as for the possibility a bit of Bowery slang figures into the title, we still have not heard of a Gotham bird known as the Rhom.

spectacles in the East—a round up—but eventually, they will go as did their fellows from Asateague. Slowly, acre by acre, agriculture is moving into their domain and the more profitable sheep and cattle are taking their place.

The Round-Up
The roundup is the one big feature of the years for residents of this fishing island. It provides the background for a carnival and draws visitors from all over the East. There is a real thrill for the tenderfoot when the herds come

Depression in Spite Of the Moratorium

DALLAS.—President Hoover's war debt moratorium came too late to save a depression in the marriage and divorce business of Dallas county, lawyers and marriage bureaus report.

Divorce lawyers admit just as many couples are separating—"but they haven't the money to get a divorce," they complain. Justices of the peace and ministers likewise report that fewer young men and women are wading into the stormy seas of matrimony. But whether the business depression is entirely responsible is unknown. Some blame the three-day notice law in effect in Texas.

Birth rates also reflect dures of the times. Fifteen per cent fewer babies arrived in Dallas last year than the year before.

Horse Races
The horse races, with substantial cash prizes are attracting the attention of race horse owners over a wide area. Up Van Horn way a number of fast ponies are being groomed, while from the hill country below San Angelo others are expected. Ranchmen all around Odessa and adjoining towns are planning to make entries, and Midland is sending over a number of well known race track entries.

Good Program

The morning of the fourth will probably be given over to terrapin races, swimming matches, and other similar sports. The main rodeo and race events will start early on the first afternoon. The wild mule riding and the wild cow milking, with possibly a bulldogging stunt or so will lead off the rodeo events, with calf roping and the races following. The races will be the half, three-eighths and quarter mile, with prizes ranging from ten to sixty dollars. Registration for all events must be made at the local chamber of commerce offices by noon of the first day.

A free street dance will be given from 7:30 to 8:30 on the evening of the fourth on a downtown block. The feature dance will start at the Legion hall at nine, with Frenchie's Black Aces furnishing the music.

Bowling Tourney

Teams from Big Spring, Colorado, Sweetwater, Abilene, Midland, McCamey, Crane, Wink, Pecos and Mentone are expected for the bowl-

COMING OF "MALTESE FALCON" IS REMINDER OF FALCONRY, OLD SPORT

In "The Maltese Falcon," the Warner Bros. mystery romance starring Bebe Daniels, now at the Ritz theatre, the vast store of stolen jewels is supposed to be hidden in a statuette which is in the form of a falcon—that strange bird of prey whose rapacity has made it the center of one of the most ancient sports of the world.

Hawking is another name for falconry in which a hooded falcon, hawk, eagle, vulture or other bird, is fastened to a cord and borne on the wrist to be set free at a signal, to capture birds in flight. For the purpose, the hood is removed. Falconry is mentioned in the writings of Piliy, Aristotle and Martial and appears to have been known in China 2000 years B. C. It is found in Japanese records as far back as 600 B. C. and at an equally early date in India, Arabia, Persia and Syria.

Falconry was introduced into England about 860 A. D. and was followed with ardour not even excelled by fox hunting, down to the seventeenth century. Stringent laws were passed, notably during the reigns of William the Conqueror, Edward III, Henry VIII and Elizabeth relative to the sport.

Falcons and hawks are allotted to degrees and orders of men according to their rank and station, for instance, to the emperor the eagle and vulture—15 royalty the jerralcon—to an earl the peregrine—to a yeoman the goshawk—to a priest the sparrow-hawk—and to a knave or servant the useless kestrel.

In Europe the game at which the falcon is flown consists of grouse, (confined to the British Isles) black-game, pheasants, partridges, quails, landralls, ducks, teal, woodcocks, and other game.

This citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was also read (pp. 319-320):

"A misplaced word changes the sense and misstates the Science of the Scriptures, as, for instance, to name Love as merely an attribute of God; but we can by special and proper capitalization speak of the love of Love, meaning by that what the beloved disciple meant in his epistles, when he said, 'God is love.'"

Fortune Hunt For Gold Is on

BROWNSVILLE. (UP)—This city is experiencing its first "gold rush." Searchers for a cache of gold, believed buried by train bandits beside Long Bridge, near Port Isabel, trek out of this town laden with pickax and shovels each night. They return at dawn, dreary and wan, with pickax and shovels but no gold. Many holes have been dug in the vicinity of the bridge without revealing a single gold piece.

Traditions, which have a factual base in records, are that in 1870 a shipment of gold was placed on the train using the old narrow gauge rails to Port Isabel. Bandits are reported to have held up the train near Long Bridge and buried the treasure there.

Carnera Cause Of Broken Rule

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3. (UP)—Primo Carnera, Alpine pugilist, is the only man to violate the old tradition of one of the leading hotels here, that a man must wear his coat in the dining room.

Old employees of the hotel recalled no exception to the unwritten rule—even in the most torrid weather of mid-summer—until Primo ambled in coatless. They remonstrated. He protested. The rule was broken.

Silver Slump Makes It Poor Man's Metal

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (UP)—More than twice as much silver is being sold today throughout the United States as in normal financial times. As the price of the metal declined the cost of flat silver, as well as decorative pieces, has dropped accordingly.

Since the lure of silver is as potent as ever, millions of homes now display solid silver on the tables—heretofore unobtainable treasures. Future generations will inherit an immense quantity of ancestral silver, which today, for the first time in history is being distributed among practically all classes of society.

HAS OPERATION

C. E. Patteson, employe of the Gulf Production company, was resting comfortably this afternoon at the Midland clinic-hospital after a major operation Sunday morning.

What is the surest way of getting out of the rough?

DON'T ATTEMPT TO MAKE THE GREEN ON EVERY SHOT OUT OF THE ROUGH. AT TIMES IT IS BY FAR SAFER TO SHOOT AT THE FAIRWAY.

Time after time you probably have seen a golfer in the rough trying to get the same distance as the shot would not on the fairway. If you have watched this, you probably have seen him fizzle the shot and then, trying to make up this new lost distance, bang away at the ball, all the time adding strokes to the score of the hole.

There are three things to remember when you get into the rough. One of them is to keep cool and relax a little more than usual. Another is to try to bring the club-head down sharply on the ball, making no attempt to hit with a sweeping stroke which will be stopped by the thick grass. And thirdly, if the lie is very heavy, it is far safer to shoot straight out on the fairway where you can get under way again than it is to waste all that useless effort in the rough.

galloping out of the tall marsh grass, driven by the Chincoteague "vaqueros," fisherfolk who spend all the other days of the year seining a livelihood out of the Atlantic.

With the drivers, on trained ponies, ki-ying and ki-yipping behind them, they lope down the main street of Chincoteague village and into corrals, next to the Firemen's carnival, within 50 feet of the merry-go-round where wooden ponies, about their size, circle 'round and 'round, up and down, providing more thrills for the children of the fisherfolk.

The Auction
Then comes the sale. The ponies bring an average of $25. The auctioneer raises a gnarled stick, which he uses as a hammer. "What am I bid for this animal—a tiny thing, yet useful and a thing of beauty! It has never known the feel of a bridle bit, the taste of grain or the shelter of a stall! What am I bid, gentlemen?"

And the sale is on. A husky fisherman buys a colt for his boy. He hoists it under his arm, as easily as he would a pet dog, and walks away with the pony looking frightened and kicking frantically.

A girl up from the Eastern shore purchases another. "Can I take it back with me in the rumble seat of my car?" she asks.

"Certainly," replies the auctioneer. "Come around when you are ready to go and I'll put it in for you."

And so the ponies go under the hammer. The only wild horse roundup in the East is over—until next year.

HOME AFTER VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stephens have returned to Midland after a vacation with relatives in Post. Mr. Stephens was at his position at the Midland National bank this morning.

CAP PULLER PULLS THE BEST ONE IN THE BOX

"CAP" PULLER presides at the bottle bar. No matter where you go in town or country, you'll find him handy, smiling, Johnny-on-the-Spot, to serve you when you're dry and hot. You say the word. He pulls the cap like a flash . . . and instantly you're happier than you were . . . new energy in your veins. . . . So often does "Cap" get the Dr. Pepper call, he'll often reach for it before you speak. Not mind-reading . . . just force of habit. If he guesses wrong, he takes no loss. You'll see him drink it himself. Take it from an old-timer . . . an experienced guy who's tried 'em all. He'll tell you right off: "Dr. Pepper's the pick of the pack."
