Huey Long Warns 'Half and Half' Methods Dangerous

SOUTH IS READY TO WAGE WAR

But Warning Issued That Texas Cotton Stand Untenable

If Texas will play ball with the South, cotton will not long remain in the present distressing quotations, according to a telegram to The Reporter-Telegram this morning from Huey P. Long, chairman of the Southern States Cotton Conference and governor of Louisiana.

The telegram reads: "I make this appeal to the legislature and to the people of the state of Texas in regard to the cotton legislation. Unless the legislature passes a law entirely forbidding the planting of cotton in 1932, then they will do the cotton situation no good at all. A law that simply prohibits 50 per cent, or 65 per cent, will be the same as no law, because it will not only be unconstitutional on its face, but it is impossible of enforcement. Nobody can swear just what land was planted in cotton in the preceding year. It is so easy to fudge a few acres, and by intensive cultivation raise as much on half the land as was raised on the whole acreage in the preceding year.

"It has become recognized by everyone who is interested in this movement in all the other states, with the single exception of Texas, that the only thing that can be done is to pass a law positively prohibiting the planting of cotton altogether. That kind of a law will raise the price of cotton instantly; as soon as that law is passed the cotton price will go up from 15 to 20 cents per pound. But a law that proposes to have an acreage reduction or partial acreage reduction will not raise the price of cotton one-tenth of a cent per pound, but on the contrary will be recognized as no law at all, and will result in the market probably falling instead of rising.

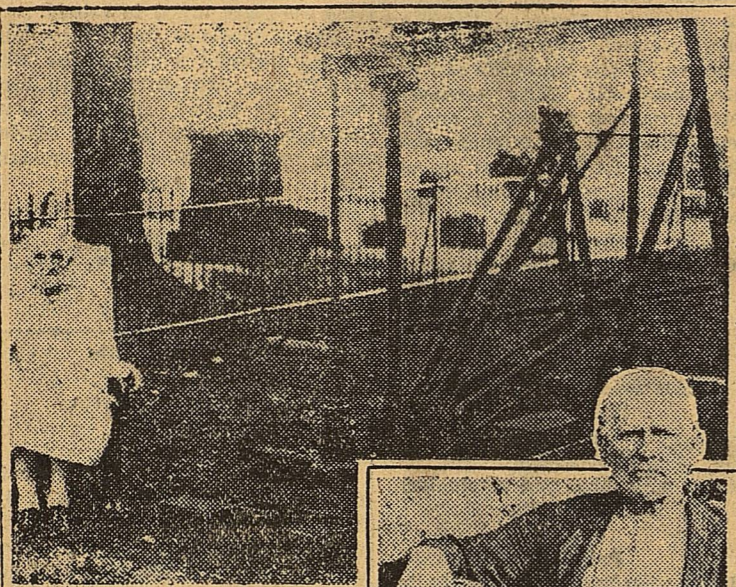

"If Texas will pass a law prohibiting the raising of cotton altogether, it will mean $250,000,000 more to the farmers this year than they will otherwise get for their cotton. They will get more money for the cotton crop of this year than they will get for the crop of this year and of next year, and the year after the next. A farmer can sit in the shade of a tree if he is too lazy to do anything else and make more money by planting no cotton next year than he can if he worked 365 days of the year to raise another cotton crop.

"But as a matter of fact there will be plenty for the farmer to do otherwise, and this will be the opportunity for farmers to be placed upon an independent, self-sustaining basis for the years to come, and thereafter what cotton they do plant can be produced cheaply by reason of having eliminated the boll weevil pest. It would be a God's blessing to the South if we learned that we didn't have to plant cotton.

"The world has too much cotton on hand to stand any cotton at all next year. We carried over nine million bales from last year. We raised 15,580,000 bales this year, giving us a total of 24,580,000 bales of cotton, of which we can only use 11,000,000 bales this year and 11,000,000 bales next year. This means that if we plant any cotton for next year, we will have more on hand at the end of next year than the world will need.

"The only means by which this legislation would be held to be constitutional is for the worthy cause of stamping out the pests, root rot, and particularly eliminating the boll weevil. Except for that, the legis-

No Oil Troubles Here

The southwest may be having its oil troubles, but not Pennsylvania, which has been producing oil for 72 years. The upper picture shows the owner of a well in western Pennsylvania, sitting placidly in her favorite chair as the well pumps away in her front yard, near a cemetery. Below Samuel Smith seated beside the first oil well in the world, near Titusville, Pa., which he helped drill.

MIDLAND SHERIFF FINDS NO HUMOR IN INTERPRETATION OF DECISION

Every sheriff in Texas might be considered liable to prosecution and no sheriff can possibly carry on his office without standing a heavy financial loss, in the sense of strict interpretation of a 1922 decision just beginning to show itself in its right proportion.

This was found patent in a letter received by the sheriff last week from George H. Sheppard, comptroller of public accounts, and which read as follows:

"It has been brought to the attention of this department that a number of sheriffs are confused regarding fees that are payable by the state for services rendered and expenses incurred in making arrests on justice of the peace warrants. In 1922 the attorney general rendered an opinion regarding such fees. It was held at that time that $4 dollars for sheriffs and constables is the "maximum such officers may receive for all services rendered in connection with any one case in examining trials, including making arrests, conveying or removing prisoners, serving subpoenas, attending court and all the services of whatsoever nature." The fees allowed in examining trials are the only fees due officers for services prior to indictment.

It is my duty, in compliance with the attorney general's ruling, to see that the law, as interpreted, is strictly adhered to, and you are charged with presenting to the state comptroller only such accounts as correctly comply with the statutes. To assist in checking your accounts, I ask that you please show the date of the examining trial and date of indictment of each defendant in each case of your accounts."

Obviously, no sheriff's department could afford to make several long trips a month, pay out several hundred dollars for rewards and for traveling expenses, then collect from the state only $4 for each person returned to jail here. And the $4 can be collected only after the grand jury has met and returned a bill of indictment! In some judicial districts of the state, there are counties that convene a grand jury only twice a year. No arrest can be made until after the indictment. The sheriff says his department paid out $200 a few days ago to return a criminal here, and that he would get only $4 for the expenditure—and (See MIDLAND SHERIFF page 4)

CRUSADE VS FAST DRIVERS

Motorists Warn That Traffic Laws Must Be Observed

From the mayor's office at the city hall has issued another warning to Midland people against lethargy in observing traffic ordinances.

Opening today of school with attendance increased pedestrian traffic caused the mayor to make arrangements for strict patrol of the downtown streets and those that lead to various school buildings. Those found violating traffic ordinances will be fined the limit.

"Now that school has opened and more children are walking across streets and on the sidewalks, drivers of motor vehicles must stop at the stop signs, slow up at slow signs and otherwise obey traffic regulations," Mayor Goodman said.

He decried the present "almost licensed carelessness" of drivers as being worse than it has been for the past "four years."

IOOF, Rebekahs Want Convention

Oddfellows and Rebekahs of the Midland lodge who go to the Three-County association business conference in Stanton tonight, will ask for the next convention to be held in Midland.

Should the association select Midland as the conference site, approximately 100 people will be here on Monday, December 7, from Midland, Martin and Howard counties.

A chicken supper will be served to those attending the meeting in Stanton tonight.

The Rev. Howard Peters will deliver an address.

Straight-Eight Men Play Dance

The Scharbauer Hotel Labor day dance will start this evening at 9 o'clock in the Crystal ballroom.

Hugh Welsh's "Straight Eight" Orchestra has been secured to furnish the music.

Scouts Are Guests Of Minister, Wife

Members of the boy scout troop sponsored by the First Christian church were guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Howard Peters Saturday evening at a watermelon feast. Twenty three guests were present.

Special visitors were Scoutmaster and Mrs. G. W. Breneman and assistant Scoutmaster Wallace Wimberly.

RETURN TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Swenson of Longview will arrive in Midland today from El Paso and Cloudercroft where they have been vacationing several days. They will be guests here of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bigham.

RETURN FROM KERRVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards and Miss Jerra Edwards have returned from Kerrville where Charles Jr. re-entered Schriener Institute for the second year. They also visited in San Antonio.

BACK FROM CALIFORNIA

Miss Elma Graves returned home Saturday from a two-weeks vacation spent in California cities. A large part of her time was spent in San Francisco.

Taken Aug. 14-1924

Scores of his pictures, like the one at the upper left, were sent by Harry F. Powers, West Virginia "Bluebeard," to women throughout the country with whom he corresponded through matrimonial agencies. On the back of the picture appears a note, lower left, penned by Powers, while he was living at Miller, S. D., under the name of "Joe Gildaw." One of the many other postcards found in Powers' effects by Clarksburg police is shown at the right. It is from a woman at Vanderbilt, Pa. A penciled number "216" (appearing just under the postage stamp) is a secret mark used by Powers in a code partly deciphered and in which, officers say, "P-15" meant "graveyard," this mark having been found on the correspondence with women he slew. The poem on the card at the lower right is from the woman at Vanderbilt.

NEW MINISTER PREACHES HIS FIRST SERMON

Preaching services were conducted at the Church of Christ Sunday by J. A. McCall, new pastor of the church, who accepted his duties here September 1. He comes to Midland from the Polytechnic Church of Christ in Fort Worth.

Early in the summer, Mr. McCall was in charge of revival services here and is well known to a large number of people here.

An account of his departure for Midland appeared recently in the Polytechnic Herald. The account is published in part, as follows:

"Mr. McCall was born and reared in Parker county, coming to Fort Worth some eighteen years, with nine of the eighteen spent as pastor of the Polytechnic church.

"He has a family, consisting of a wife and three boys. During the nine years spent in Polytechnic he has been one of the outstanding men in the community, always ready to serve and to cooperate with any move that was for the betterment of Polytechnic. The large number of loyal and staunch church members speak for the good he has done while here."

In speaking of Mr. McCall's splendid work in the Fort Worth church the article said:

"The local church with its large membership has been practically built by Mr. McCall as he took charge three months after its organization with a membership of less than 100. Today the church has an enrollment of over 500 and has completed the first floor unit of a large, roomy brick with practically no indebtedness."

BUSINESS VISITORS

D. V. Smith of San Antonio, former oil man of Midland, and O. D. Jones of Tampico, Mexico, are in Midland transacting business. They arrived yesterday.

Grand Theatre to Open Saturday

The Grand theatre will be reopened this Saturday, announced J. H. Hodge, owner, who is remodeling and redecorating the theatre and is installing new R. C. A. talking equipment, said to be among the best made. Many other improvements are being made which will make the theatre among the best in this section of the state, according to the management.

Hodge is affiliated with the H. & H. theatre circuit and has booked a group of the latest pictures for the local house.

Reasonable prices of admission will also be announced by the management this week, said Hodge.

VISITING HERE

Mrs. Jack Clayton and baby daughter, Jacqueline, of El Paso are house guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Snyder.

BAPTISTS CALL THE REV. BORUM AS PASTOR HERE

Official action was taken in unanimous vote of the First Baptist church here Sunday, calling the Rev. Winston K. Borum of Pecos to the pastorate here. Details of issuing the call were left to the board of deacons and a committee of members of the church planned to go to Pecos this afternoon to discuss the matter with the nominee.

A conference of the Baptist church was held yesterday at the 11 o'clock service to discuss whether or not a pastor should be called immediately to fill the vacancy created by the Rev. George F. Brown's recent resignation. B. N. Aycock, chairman of the board of deacons, opened the meeting. T. Paul Barron was elected moderator and presided during the business session.

A number of church members gave expressions to the effect that the church needed to call a pastor at once, resulting in a vote to that effect. Names of pastors who have visited here recently were placed on a black board and church members were invited to make any other nominations prior to the balloting or to write the names of any pastors desired on the ballots.

The results showed a large majority in favor of the Rev. Borum and the church immediately made the call unanimous.

Those expected to go to Pecos today to discuss the call with the Rev. Borum were M. R. Hill, Elliott H. Barron, Paul T. Vickers, M. D. Johnson, L. A. Grantham, Alvin Hicks, Percy J. Mims, M. E. Miller, J. C. Hudman, Clint Myrick, Fred Middleton, Buster Howard and Wallace Wimberly.

The new pastor, if he accepts the call here, comes recommended as an able man. Young, aggressive, empowered with keen ability in organizational work, an active civic worker,

HANDICAP ANNOUNCED TO BE RUN

Well Balanced Events Like Those of Saturday

Probability that the eight horse races to be held at Cow-boy park this afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock, will make for "the most labor" ever seen in a Labor day celebration here was seen just before noon when it was announced that a purse was being made up for a re-enactment of the thrilling Merchants' handicap, a five-eighths race for thoroughbreds—and a race that Saturday found the favorite, School-boy, run off his feet by George Keith Midland entry of the G. Bloss stable.

Few changes have been made in the events for the afternoon. It is indicated that "outside" competition in the relay race will be carded, so that the pace will be faster and more thrilling than that of Saturday, when it was the only event that did not bring the stand up in a cheering section.

Major, chestnut gelding four-year-old of the King and Goodman stable and a winner in his maiden race of the quarter Saturday, will be advanced to a race with Tomcat in the free-for-all. Custer, running Saturday under the name of Rusty, likely will be in the race. Tomcat, more temperamental than the rail birds have ever seen him, ran backward on the track, fell backward so that his rider had to roll clear of him, finally came up to the starting line and broke away on top of a fast field to stream under the wire a winner in the time of 25.5.

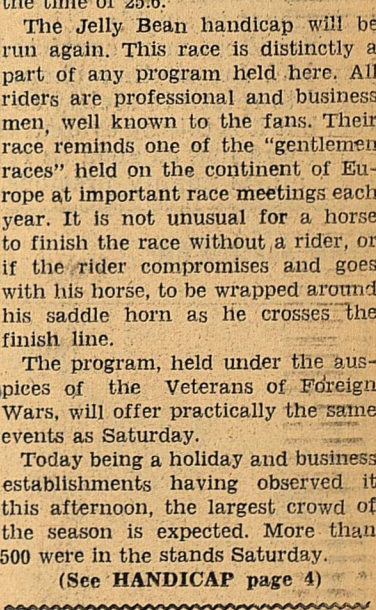

The Jelly Bean handicap will be run again. This race is distinctly a part of any program held here. All riders are professional and business men, well known to the fans. Their race reminds one of the "gentlemen races" held on the continent of Europe at important race meetings each year. It is not unusual for a horse to finish the race without a rider, or if the rider compromises and goes with his horse, to be wrapped around his saddle horn as he crosses the finish line.

The program, held under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will offer practically the same events as Saturday.

Today being a holiday and business establishments having observed it this afternoon, the largest crowd of the season is expected. More than 500 were in the stands Saturday.

WHERE COURAGE COUNTS

In the grand scale of human events it is unlikely that the literary works of the late Sir Hall Caine, British novelist, will be immortal, but his life was a gleaming example of confidence and courage.

His difficulties were the difficulties of the average man of the great masses of the world. Similar difficulties are discouraging people in every walk of life every day. Yet, he has the confidence in himself and the courage to surmount them.

He was left an orphan at a very early age. He spent his life in poverty with relatives. When he died, at the age of 78, he was said to be one of the wealthiest novelists in the world. His home was a castle.

But these achievements alone are not extraordinary. Many men have gone from rags to riches.

The important point is that his early literary works were ridiculed and laughed at. He was openly derided. It took a great soul to transcend that. But his confidence did not flinch. Nor his courage. He knew what he wanted to do, and continued in this faith until he achieved it. But the going was hard.

He studied architecture. He tried journalism. Then he became secretary to Dante Gabriele Rossetti, the great poet-painter. This association fired him with the determination to carry on his fight for recognition.

Then, he "arrived." His first book, "The Shadow of Crime," was still being widely read when his second, "Son of Hagar," appeared. It was acclaimed, and widely distributed.

His novels were adapted for the stage. Royalties poured in by the thousands. New stories, new novels, and new plays followed. Because of the peculiar construction of his novels, they were easily dramatized.

This continued throughout the rest of his life. Today there are few persons who have not heard of Sir Hall Caine if they have not read him.

Whether his works will survive the aggression of time is of little consequence in this sense. He was a great writer, if not an immortal one, and became a great writer through courage. A less courageous person might have withdrawn into oblivion when he was ridiculed. Sir Hall Caine might have tried to make a living out of architecture.

His life was a prototype. It is a hint of the countless other geniuses who perhaps will never be discovered because they can not face ridicule. Society is skeptical of the man who lacks courage.

THOSE WHO CAN HELP

Reports from Washington disclose that the people with money are getting nervous now that President Hoover's national unemployment relief committee, headed by Walter Gifford, is getting underway.

This is interesting in the light that such a small part of the unemployment relief money during last winter was furnished by the gentlemen with the most wealth.

At the same time reports emanate from Washington that Congress may boost inheritance and gift taxes to meet our national deficit. This, again, is directed at the man with money. In these days of national and international depression the man with money is about the only one who can help conditions. Until he does something about it, it is likely that nothing will be done.

ESCAPING DEVIL'S ISLAND

Evidence that hope springs eternal is seen in the escape of the six convicts from Devil's Island, the French penal colony off the South American coast, recently.

Twelve attempted the escape. But six were drowned. Making the attempt to escape has been considered almost tantamount to suicide.

Yet these men, convicted as felons, staked everything they had for another chance at freedom. Whether they hoped to return to society as respectable citizens is a question, but it is totally evident that they had determined that death was just as good as remaining on that isle. Liberty, after all, is mighty precious.

"Gentlemen! Gentlemen!"

Washington Letter

Rumors Are Going the Rounds That President Hoover Is About to Make a Surprise Announcement of Great Importance, But the Chances Are the Rumor Is Bunk.

WASHINGTON.—Lately the air has been full of vague, wispy rumors that President Hoover was about to say something or do something calculated to set the country on its feet completely re-establish the Hoover popularity and insure Republican success in the next year's campaign.

Just who starts these various tales and how they come to receive so much apparently serious attention, especially, but by no means entirely outside of Washington, is more than your correspondent has been able to learn. They can't be traced to the source and one is left wondering.

The present rumor period has followed an interval in which there were recurrent, untraceable reports here and there that some very prominent person had died or been murdered.

The "victim" was usually the president, the world's heavyweight champion, the most famous of our trans-Atlantic flyers or the last Democratic presidential candidate. A week or two never passes without newspapers being called up for verification of such a report. The inquirer usually said he "heard it over the radio."

Some celebrities were so often called upon to deny such rumors that they became pretty mad about it. How much responsibility may be attributed to inebriates who imagined they heard something, who spread false gossip just to start something or who spoke surreptitiously into convenient microphones at odd moments is a matter for idle speculation.

The oldest and most flourishing among the current rumor crop is the one about light wines and beer, or just beer. A year ago or so this began with wide circulation of a mysterious yarn that the beer business was about to be restored, all at once, to its former status.

Apparently the thing was just supposed suddenly to happen, without act of Congress. Then it was persistently reported for months—and often written by correspondents here—that the Wickersham commission would recommend light wines and beer.

During 1931, the rumor, somewhat revised, has been that Mr. Hoover planned to recommend re-establishment of beer as a legal drink as a step toward reviving prosperity.

Such stories are often credited to, or believed in the "highest quarters." They are said to have appeared in Wall street ticker services. Even money has been bet on their alleged accuracy.

At one time they were coming so thick that they irritated the White House and investigation as to the source was reported under way. The best informed persons, one might say will make clear, place no credence in them whatever.

Now one begins to hear that the president has a "surprise" of another nature in store for us—some radically drastic stroke which will be good for what ails us and good for what ails the administration. For instance, that Mr. Hoover plans to urge upon American industry the five-day week system with non reduction in weekly wages. And, perhaps, a shorter workday. Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Ernest L. Jahncke, close friend of Hoover's, recently proposed those things in a speech which stimulated the rumor.

Also, you hear whispers of a Hoover proposal of a gigantic building program. And others concerning some likely world-shaking proposal which the president may make in regard to war debts and disarmament.

The one about Calvin Coolidge expecting to take the Republican nomination from Hoover and about an alleged politicians' plot to aid him persists. That seems to be the bunk, too. Some of the dregs and some Republicans also have a theory that most of the practical Democratic politicians who lately have been declaring for Governor Roosevelt have in reality a plan up their sleeves to jam through the nomination of Al Smith when the party's national convention opens.

The one thing these more or less wild thoughts have in common is that there are large numbers of people who don't mind fathering them with wishes.

A total number of 280,564 troops served in the American army in the war with Spain.

Simple French Dishes Suggested On One-Day Menu

The thought of French cuisine suggests an atmosphere of fine cooking but to most persons it means also elaborate dishes which only a chef can prepare. However, there are many simple, nourishing French dishes which any housewife can prepare, points out Miss Genevieve Derryberry, who suggests a one-day menu typical of the French meals. The recipes for the dishes are also given, two follow in the story and two in the Cook's corner.

Breakfast Cafe au Lait (coffee with milk) Rolls Butter Cooked Cereal Lunch Cheese Omelette Macedoine of Vegetables Fresh Fruit Dinner Pot-au-feu (soup with meat and vegetables) Pain Perdu

Pot-au-feu Large soup bone with meat (6 lbs.) 3 quarts cold water 5 carrots, scraped and cut in half 4 turnips, pared and cut in half 4 leeks (white portion.) 1 bay leaf 8 or 10 sprigs parsley, tied together 1 medium sized onion 3 cloves 1 teaspoon sugar 2 tablespoons salt Pepper

Cover the well-washed soup bone with water, allowing one pint of cold water to each pound of soup bone. Heat slowly to boiling and remove the scum. Add 1 cup of cold water, again slowly bring to the boiling point, and remove the scum. Add the vegetables and the seasonings and simmer for 4 or 5 hours. When the meat is tender, remove and cut the meat from the bone. Discard the parsley, drain the vegetables, and serve around the meat. Allow the soup to boil rapidly. Take up the soup from the center of the boiling mass and serve over small rounds of crisp toast.

Pain Perdu 1 pint milk 1-4 cup sugar 1-4 teaspoon salt Grated rind of 1 lemon 3 to 10 slices of toast, cut in half 2 eggs, well beaten Butter Heat the milk to scalding with the sugar, salt, and lemon rind. Dip the toasted bread in the hot milk, then in the beaten egg, and fry slowly in butter until a golden brown on both sides. Serve hot, sprinkled with powdered sugar.

Cheese Omelette 6 eggs 1-4 cup soft flaked cheese 1-2 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons butter

Beat the eggs well. Then stir in the salt and cheese gently. Melt the butter in a smooth frying pan. Tilt the pan so the entire surface is covered with the fat. When the fat begins to sizzle, pour in the egg mixture. The edges of the omelet will cook more quickly than the center, so as soon as the edges are set, lift them up gently with a spatula. Reduce the heat and cook until the underneath is delicately browned, and the top is moist but not liquid. Loosen the entire surface to be sure that the omelet has not stuck to any spot. Then, holding the frying pan in your left hand, tilt it and fold the omelet in an oval, using the spatula in your right hand. Transfer to a hot platter and serve at once.

SPORTS REPORTS

BY R. C. HANKINS

Off to the races. Paper off early after early general department deadline this matin. Can we pick four winners out of eight races again? We collected the Coca Colas Saturday from the mayor to Spence Jewell and Clay Floyd. Could get no other bets. We had a hunch the local nags could run, but are not doping out any system for today.

Went over to Big Spring with seven or eight of our locals and saw the big tournament played over the winding 18-hole layout. The first nine are hard enough, but when you get into the back nine out there in the cedars and natural hazards that make fairways worse than roughs in Midland—well you get some idea of the day.

Saw Joe Chambers, Frank Day, Delo Douglas, Billy Moran, Sandy Auchterlonie, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Auchterlonie out, as well as several others. All the men mentioned played except Sandy, the pro. We coasted around to lee of Sandy's Shadow, watching Quail, West Texas champ, beat Rose of Lamesa in a disheartening finish. Rose went to pieces. A pity, for he's a good golfer. The match was even most of the first nine, but Quail got going and Rose was a bit erratic. Quail had him dormie three and won on the sixteenth.

Delo Douglas said he would stay over and win the consolation trophy. A good one on Frank Day, he had to play 21 holes to defeat the 14-year-old Ford boy. We've heard it said before it's hard to beat a Ford. Billy Moran couldn't be in Big Spring today, so he told his man in the quarter finals he would let the ninth hole decide the match, since they were even on the eighth. Agreeing, the other took the win.

John Northington, who took up golfing less than four years ago, made a hole in one on the 14th, a 90-yard hole. "I've been in three inches of a dodo several times," he said to this department. "but that's the only time the ball ever dropped." Contrary to the way some of 'em do, Northington will not drop golf, now that he has got out of the kiwi stage, but does admit rather ruefully that he was "too old for it when I took it up." He shot the hole with a five iron. Incidentally, he qualified for the tournament with a 68—a real score we'd call it.

Better be out to the diamond this evening and see the two games. Bring your guests and let them see how Midland owls spend the earlier evening hours. For no other town in West Texas plays cushion ball under the lights, and we have heard of none that has an organized league outside the churches and, possibly, girl scouts. Rehall stores play Bell Telephone in the first game—and may the fates be kinder to the Telephone boys than to make them come out from under an avalanche in the last inning like the Newsies had to do the other night. Cowden-Epley and Midland Hardware play the second game. The regular schedule is up Tuesday night. Scruggs-Buick and the hardware, however, will play one more game before the playoff—one that was rained out earlier in the season. This game has not been set.

Borber, 5 and 4, in the morning round and then came back in the afternoon to defeat Jack Wilson of Knox City, 2 up. Nix has been playing some great golf and will give Quails a tough battle in their semi final match this morning unless he suffers a severe reversal of form. The Bristow-Robbins battle is also expected to be a torridly fought affair.

Among those to fall in the first round Sunday morning was J. S. Northington, whose record-shattering 68 won him medalist honors Saturday. He went down to J. Wilson, 5 and 4, in the afternoon. However, while playing the consolations, Northington returned to championship form and dropped in a hole-in-one on the fourteenth hole for a victory. The hole is 90 yards and is a blind shot, a clump of trees intervening.

In the first flight, W. E. Rutledge, Lamesa, who barely missed the first flight, swept through two easy matches into the semi finals. He beat R. T. Piner of Big Spring, 6-4, in the morning and handed Fred Stephens, also of Big Spring, a defeat by the same score in the afternoon. He meets J. Satterwhite of Texon in the semi finals, while R.

Shuffler, Odessa, meets T. F. Vaughn of Odessa for the finalists' berth. M. F. King of Stanton meets C. D. Baxley of Big Spring in one of the semi final matches of the second flight. W. T. Henderson, Odessa, meets Hayden Griggith of Big Spring in the other battle. In the third flight, W. B. Currie, Big Spring, plays W. O. Thompson, Big Spring, and W. B. Hardy, Big Spring, plays F. Day of Midland in the semi finals.

P. H. Liberty of Big Spring advanced into the finals of the fourth flight by winning two matches Sunday. He plays the winner of the E. O. Ellington-C. V. West match for the title.

All of the finals will be played this afternoon and will travel over 18 holes.

then only after the grand jury meets and indicts him, if it does. The man had confessed to charges. But the sheriff is liable in the eyes of the law for the arrest preceding the indictment.

"When a criminal wants to kill a man now, he cannot be arrested outside the county in which the crime occurred until the grand jury performs its offices and returns a bill," he said. "This is perverted justice and the very institution sworn in its constitution to promote the welfare of the public is responsible for what looks like a grave mistake. Why insurance against arrest policies might now be sold with very light principal!"

lation could not be constitutional, if the law allows one-half the amount of cotton to be planted, then on its face it does not undertake to eradicate pests or the boll weevil.

"I appeal to every lawmaker of the state of Texas and to the people and to every cotton farmer, that they do not step out of line with the other states. Louisiana has passed a law to prohibit cotton planting altogether in 1932. Arkansas is ready to pass the same law. South Carolina is ready to pass the same law. Georgia will probably pass the same law. And I am told by the newly-elected governor of Mississippi that we will have no trouble with the newly-elected legislature of Mississippi in passing the law if the other states come along. We are at the threshold of victory and of relief for all the farmers, if Texas does not spoil the whole problem by undertaking to pass a half and half measure, which will be less than no act at all."

PAY AS YOU RIDE

MEDIA, Pa.—The local police department is the proud possessor of a shiny new police car, a snappy roadster with rumble seat. At the time the car was purchased, a rule was laid down that it was not to be used for common drunkards. They must use taxicabs, the fare to be paid by them the following morning if it is decreed.

Bluebeard's Eyes!

This remarkable closeup photograph clearly shows the hypnotic eyes and the vulture-like features of Harry Powers, modern Bluebeard who lured love-seeking women to their doom, hanged them and dropped their bodies into a subterranean chamber.

DR. JEKYLL
Powers as the Sleek Lover

MR. HYDE
Powers as the Human Butcher

As the tale goes, Bluebeard prohibited his newest wife from opening a locked door during his absence; she disobeyed, discovered the gruesome secret, and was rescued just as Bluebeard prepared to add her to his list of seven victims.

Most famous of modern Bluebeards, perhaps, was Henri Landru, a graciously mannered Frenchman, Landru made love to 300 women and lured 10 of them to his villa to kill them for their property. Landru was guillotined in Paris in 1924, even though none of the bodies of his victims were recovered.

Then there was "Bluebeard" Watson of California, who in 1920 was sentenced to life imprisonment. Married to a score of women, he confessed slaying nine. Later, he claimed he had taken only one life.

Investigators could never understand what it was that attracted women to the "Bluebeard of Marselles," arrested by French police. Squat in stature, crooked-legged and bent, with harsh voice and rough manners, this "Bluebeard" told women that he was gentle and kind and would make a good husband. Bodies of three women were uncovered in 1928. He had easily induced them to accept offers of marriage and turn over their money to him.

America's famous "Women Bluebeard" was Belle Guinness, who lured men to her farmhouse near LaPorte, Ind., to take their funds through marriage and then kill them. Her crimes came to light when her farmhouse burned in 1908, and police found bodies of 13 men buried nearby. Mrs. Guinness was never captured.

BERLIN.—Two trans-Atlantic flights will be made by the Graf Zeppelin this year, probably sometime in September, the Luftschiffbau Zeppelin company announces. The flights will be made from Friedrichshafen to Pernambuco, Brazil. Passengers will be carried for $750. It is expected the flights will take from three and a half to four days.

A GOOD BUYER

NEW YORK.—The Aeronautical chamber of commerce estimates that American air transport lines will buy new equipment valued at more than $5,000,000 before the close of the year. # Big Spring Steers Face Game Soon

BY JOE PICKLE

BIG SPRING, Sept. 6.—With only a few days remaining before they must play Lamesa Tornados, the first game of the season here, the high school Steers are feverishly scrimmaging and blocking in a desperate effort to whip into shape for the opening contest.

For some reason the Steers have been off to a slow start and are far from good condition. On returning from their camp beside the Concho river near Carlsbad, the Steers appeared sluggish in their first workout here. However they have improved vastly in later sessions and are effecting a snap into the execution of plays.

Coaches Obie Bristow and George Brown are still administering fundamental medicine in huge doses. Blocking, charging, and tackling have been drilled into the skulls of the gridsters since the opening day of practice, and to take Bristow's word for it—"there will be more."

Captain Bill Flowers, a mention for district honors last year, is out temporarily with a game shoulder. However, he will be back in the lineup before long, possibly by the first game. But apparently the stellar performer of the Steer aggregation is going to be Dennis, fleetfooted half back. He kicks with a toe that possesses a college degree, passes with a cool head and steady hand, and runs with the smoothness and speed of a veteran. He will likely prove bothersome before the season is ended.

David Hopper, who saw his first football one year ago, is showing marked progress while dividing time between tackle and end. Mike Roberts, gigantic tackle, is proving a tower in the line. Dyer is shaping up nicely at center. Nathan Orr, scrapping guard is apt to be stubborn on the defense. Oscar Holston, back, and Cooks, end, are veterans back. The balance of the material is exceptionally green, nevertheless promising.

Troop 54 Has A Good Meeting

By Scout Scribe

All scouts of troop 54 met Friday night on the lawn of the First Baptist church. The meeting was opened with the scout oath and followed by an inspection by Bobby Miller. The scoutmaster then introduced two new assistant scoutmasters to the troop to which the boys responded with a big "how," the scouts' sign of approval.

Tenderfoot badges were awarded to Kelly Jones and J. C. Reynolds who have recently completed the tenderfoot requirements. The badges were presented by Claude O. Crane who made a short but appropriate talk to the boys on living up to the scout laws. The scout oath was administered to the candidates as the troop came to attention and gave the scout sign.

The cracker-eating contest brought lots of excitement and most boys found it no easy thing to eat a cracker in a hurry and then try to whistle, which is the difficult part of the game. The patrol, led by Billy Hiett, proved they were expert cracker sniffers and won the game with ease.

The patrol meetings were then conducted and the selection of new patrol leaders and assistants were discussed and will be finished at the next meeting. Instruction was given to all boys on first aid, signaling, second class and tenderfoot work and most of the boys are working hard to complete their work for the next court of honor and also to raise the troop rating as it has fallen during the summer months.

In the patrol relay game Billy Hiett's patrol again came to the front and won all contests. The peanut relay was interesting as the boys had to run 20 yards and shell two peanuts and race back to their place in line. The winner had the pleasure of eating all the peanuts shelled by all patrols. In the game of "skin the snake," which requires good foot work, the patrol of Lloyd Baugher just couldn't get their feet out of the way and caused a pile-up each time.

At the close the scouts were brought to attention and dismissed with the scouts' benediction.

Boys present were Lloyd Baugher, A. B. Cole, Pat Cope, Mark Dorsey, Billy Fine, Loron Grantham, Woodrow Gwyn, Clarence Hallmark, Leonard Howell, Billy Hiett, Fred Mitchell, Odell Ponder, J. B. Thomas, Kelly Jones, Benny Rodriguez, J. C. Reynolds, Felix Haltom, Jack Myers, Newnie Ellie, James Grantham and Walker Fuller. Officials present were Buster Howard, scoutmaster; L. H. Tiffin and Bobby Miller, assistant scoutmasters, and Fred Middleton, troop committeeman.

LOOKED LIKE IT

FITCHBURG, Mass.—Wilfred O'Keefe, of Jersey City, alighted from his auto and started down the street. His queer, unsteady gait, attracted the notice of a nearby cop. "H-m-m-a drunk," muttered the cop, upon which he nabbed O'Keefe and escorted him to the police station. The policeman, however, somewhat to his discomfiture, was wrong. O'Keefe's shoes were not mates. One high and one low heel, instead of firewater, made him walk queerly.

With the first cool whiff of Fall weather, many well-intending folk begin to economize on ice. This is false economy of the most treacherous sort. First, because ice is needed more than ever during the changing seasons to keep refrigerators at a safe, even temperature. Second, because outside weather is the most inconsistent and unreliable refrigerant ever known. Third, because the negligible cost of ice is nothing compared to the health and well-being of you and your family. To obtain the many advantages of ice refrigeration, use ice freely the whole year 'round. Don't take a chance for the sake of a few cents.
