HOUSE REFUSES TO CHANGE BILL

Absence of Partnership Contract Is Point in Defense

PLAINTIFF OBJECTION OVERRULED

Defense Attorneys Attack Testimony In Re-Cross

Re-cross examination early this afternoon in the case of Bivins vs. Proctor et al hinged about the terms of contract under which defendants handled cattle involved in the suit.

W. J. Smith, bookkeeper for the late Lee Bivins, was asked by D. K. Gore, attorney for Leon Goodman, if in the Bivins files he had found any form of contract showing terms under which Bivins, Proctor and Goodman were handling cattle involved in the suit.

Attorney Dooley for the plaintiffs quickly objected to the question, on the grounds Gore was asking the witness to define the law, and saying that letters presented in evidence constituted a contract.

The objection was overruled and the witness answered in the negative.

Gore and Ed Whitaker in re-cross examination also asked about entries on his books, whether some of these had not been made after the death of Bivins and after a document presented yesterday purports, cattle operated near here by the alleged firm had been sold to Goodman, satisfying mortgages to Bivins on such cattle.

On re-cross examination, Whitaker asked Smith if he had credited Goodman or Proctor with labor expended, and he answered "No". Asked if charged interest, he said "Yes".

W. J. Smith, plaintiffs witness in the civil case of Bivins vs. Proctor and Goodman, is believed to have set a record for court proceedings in Midland by occupying the witness chair for two days and a half. At noon the witness still was on the stand.

All evidence presented in the case at noon today had been through testimony of Smith and through presentation of exhibits in the form of letters, telegrams, bank drafts and documents in connection with cattle deals. Smith, witness for the plaintiffs, Mary E. Bivins, Miles Bivins, and Julian Bivins, was questioned at length by J. B. Dooley, attorney, in his efforts to build up a case showing that a cattle partnership had existed between the late Lee Bivins, Foy Proctor and Leon Goodman, the case involving suit by the Bivins heirs against the Midland cattlemen for approximately $150,000 alleged to be their part of losses incurred by such partnership.

Cross examination of Smith by B. K. Gore, attorney for Leon Goodman, disclosed that his defense is based on the theory that no partnership existed and that all cattle handled by the trio had been bought by Goodman, satisfying mortgages held by Bivins, Ed M. Whitaker, attorney for Foy Proctor, cross examined the witness, his questioning pointing to a claim that no partnership had existed originally, and that Proctor's interest in cattle handled by the trio had been released on August 10, 1929.

Re-direct examination of the witness by Dooley was under way as the morning session drew to a close. Dismissal of jurors summoned for today indicated that court officials expected the case to continue through the week. Witnesses of defense counsel were expected to be called this afternoon.

Royalty Owners Say Oil Is Run at Night

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 17. (UP)—The Royalty Owners' Protective association through its attorney, Lieut. Governor Robert Burns, charged that 100,000 barrels of oil are being run from the Oklahoma City field at night without the payment of the royalty gross production tax.

The field umpire, Otto Bradford, denied the charge.

CHARGES CAPONE RESPONSIBLE FOR LINGLE'S DEATH

CHICAGO, Sept. 17. (UP)—Al Capone ordered the slaying of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, and Jack Zuta, according to a letter signed by Mike de Pique Heitler, which is in the hands of police today.

Heitler, vice monger, disappeared months ago. His charred body was found in April and was tentatively identified by his brother.

One of Lee's Van Guard Dies Here

Another old Confederate veteran, W. H. Lundie, is dead. He will tell no more of the restless flames that marked outposts of Lee's valiant army in those four years that marched across a turbulent period preceding Appomattox.

He was 91 years old and died Wednesday night from weakness attributed to age. Funeral services will be held at the Ellis mortuary at 5 o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. Edwin C. Calhoun officiating. Burial will be here.

Lundie was a lad of 20 when he joined with General Robert E. Lee's army. Throughout the Civil war, he fought with that famous commander, except for a brief period when he was attached to Gordon's command.

He lived in Midland about 25 years, dying at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Allen, on West Texas avenue. He was an Alabamian by birth. Four years ago his wife died. Eight children were born to the couple, three of them dying in infancy. Surviving are three sons, Van, Fred and Sam, all of Midland and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Allen of Midland and Mrs. Pearl Boman of Dumas, Texas.

New Pastor Speaks at Rotary Luncheon

The Rev. J. A. McCall, pastor of the Church of Christ, was the principal speaker today at the Rotary club luncheon. He addressed the group on unselfish service as applied to individuals, organizations and communities.

Miss Leta M. Rountree, teacher of the program, gave readings at the meeting.

B. K. Gore, Fort Worth attorney, gave a brief and humorous extemporaneous talk.

MAHATMA CHARGES THE U. S.

Assigns Depression Cause to Mammon Worshipping

LONDON, Sept. 17. (UP)—Mahatma Gandhi said the United States must dissipate its hoard of gold, which is the primary cause of the world depression.

Clad in a loin cloth and shawls, the leader of millions of Hindus squatted on a mattress on a cement floor.

He said when America would cease worshipping mammon, it would probably become the best nation in the world. It has the necessary idealism and its wealth must be equalized within the bounds of its possibilities, he declared.

Gandhi hailed prohibition as an indication of America's great courage but feared that it would be the cause of drinking in the United States, which is a fashionable sin ingrained in the habits of people. Drinking is not fashionable in India, he said.

ATHENS OFFICER INDICTED; KNIFE FOUND BY VICTIM

ATHENS, Sept. 17. (UP)—John Theoford, former ranger and deputy sheriff of Henderson county, was indicted for the murder of Bill Lawrence, 53, Chandler, in a poker game at midnight Tuesday in the Neches river bottoms near Chandler.

Another player told the police that Theoford shot Lawrence, then forced him to take Lawrence's knife and lay it open beside the body.

Two Dead, 5 Injured In Fire-Swept Hotel

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17. (UP)—Geo. Sossell, 50, and Andrew Sanouci, 65, were burned to death and five others, including three women, were seriously burned when fire swept a small hotel here.

Twelve other roomers escaped. The fire began on the second floor, cutting off the escape of several on the third and top floors. The cause has not been determined.

Sidelights on District Court

Six green shirts were in evidence this morning as the fourth day of the Bivins, Proctor, Goodman civil suit opened. Lawyers Dooley, Johnson, Gore and Haag wore solid green shirts and Leon Goodman and Court Reporter Boone wore similar ones.

The western atmosphere is seen around the district court room in many ways. One is that when a few minutes are being consumed for search of papers or exhibits, spectators and principals of the case usually turn to the cattle market pages of the state papers.

To see Miles Bivins studying the markets one would think that not all of his cattle interest lies in the present court case.

Homer W. Rowe's connection with the case has provided an uninteresting week for him. Up to the middle of this morning he had been forced to wait in the corridors of the court house until such time as he would be needed as a witness. Being under the rule he was not allowed to sit as a spectator in the court room but had to remain subject to call.

Jurors of this week's panel who were not selected on the present case had been told to return to court this morning. Due to the slow progress of the case they were released for this term when they appeared today.

Overdue Flyers Fuel Ship For Takeoff This Afternoon

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17. (UP)—Don Moyle and Cecil Allen, Tokyo to Seattle flyers, refueled their plane on the Navarian island and will attempt a takeoff tonight, according to a message to the naval radio station here.

ITALY CERTAIN CHANGE NEEDED IN YOUNG PLAN

ROME, Sept. 17. (UP)—A curious American newspaper man recently asked Premier Benito Mussolini whether he thought the Young plan should, or would be, revised.

The Italian dictator said: "Is there anything in history, young man, which is definite and without end?"

His 13-word answer sums up Italy's attitude toward the future of the Young plan, reparations and war debts.

Italy believes that the Young plan, and with it war debts, must be revised within one year if Germany is to be saved from communism and Europe from political and economic chaos. President Hoover's one-year suspension of reparations and war debts, according to Italians, is the big wedge which has cracked the entire foundation upon which the Young plan is built.

Italy is convinced that the Young plan will never be applied next year in its present form. Either it will be discarded for some other plan, or completely revised. This is necessary because Germany will not be able to make next year's payments, in spite of the one-year respite.

Mussolini believes that reparations and war debts must be scaled down drastically if Europe is to regain economic normality. Coincidentally with reparations revision, Europe must disarm. Italy has definitely thrown her lot in favor of world disarmament. Mussolini believes:

ONE. Europe's uncertain tomorrow will be more troubled than today if the present system of reparations and war debts is continued. Financially Germany can not come to pay, and economically other countries can not afford to have her strive to pay.

TWO. At the same time reparations and war debts are lightened, the European political atmosphere must be cleansed by a thorough revision of armament from top to bottom. Disarmament will not give Europe added political confidence, but will lead the way to economic recovery.

Illness Postpones Lions Club Picnic

The Lions club annual barbecue, which was to have been held Monday evening at Cloverdale, has been postponed indefinitely, according to Lieut. Governor M. M. Seymour, due to the serious illness of Donald Hutt's father.

Hutt was one of the donors of the beef for the barbecue, together with Sheriff A. C. Francis.

The father of the Midland cattleman was taken ill suddenly in Colorado and his son left immediately to be with him.

Screams of Boy Save His Mother

HOUSTON, Sept. 17. (UP)—The screams of an eight-year-old boy saved Mrs. E. L. Cook, his widowed mother, from assault by a negro.

The boy was awakened as his mother fought the negro and ran to the window screaming. The negro fled.

Intrepid Airmen Are Safe

ONE OF MOYLE'S LAST PICTURES—Don Moyle, who with C. A. Allen, was long overdue on their flight across the hazardous North Pacific from Japan, was in a playful mood when this picture was taken aboard the ship which took the California flyers to Tokyo. He and his companion were reported safe on an island in the Bering Sea yesterday.

ROMANCE REVEALED—The attempted Pacific flight revealed the romance of C. A. Allen and the late Aline Miller, with whom he is shown above. She was killed in a plane crash last March. That was before he became reconciled with his wife.

STRANGER'S MONEY TALKS LOUDER THAN WORDS; WOULD MATCH HORSES

Who is the overvalued, moustached stranger who approaches groups of sporting looking Midland men and offers to lay $500 that his race horse can outrun anything here in the half mile? That is the question bothering some of the local gentry, but, after a few unsuccessful attempts, no one seems anxious to question the stranger as to his identity or that of his horse.

The stranger addressed himself to Fred Cowden and W. M. Pyle yesterday, declaring that he was "hossing" for a "hoss race." After hearing the stranger's boastful declarations as to how his half mile horse could run Cowden walked to a nearby group in which were located John Dublin, Vergil Ray, Lewis Beyer, Bob Preston, Gerald Bloss and the others, and plead with them to do something to satisfy the fellow.

Conversation ensued in which the stranger reiterated his own desire to match a race and the ability of his horse to win the half mile in any company.

"What's your horse's name?" John Dublin is credited with asking.

"I didn't ask your horse's name, did I?" was his definite reply.

"Maybe we could run Tomcat against him for a half mile," someone ventured from the ever growing crowd.

"Do you think Tomcat could live a half mile?" was the stranger's reply. (See STRANGER'S MONEY page 6)

CUT OF A THIRD IS FAVORED

Senate Shows Favor Of Fourth Still Actuates It

AUSTIN, Sept. 17. (UP)—The house refused to change the cotton bill restricting planting in 1932 to a third of the 1931 tilled land, defeating proposals to allow planting of half or only a fourth.

Opponents expected to muster only 30 votes in the final passage but the senate shows no inclination to change its vote restricting planting to one fourth of the tilled land, which the governor says is the proper ratio to obtain a 50 per cent cut crop.

"Death Blow" Given by Solons

AUSTIN, Sept. 17. (AP)—The house of representatives of the Texas legislature delivered what was regarded as the "death blow," to the Long "No Cotton in 1932" plan yesterday.

The no cotton bill was vigorously supported by Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana and passed several weeks ago by the Louisiana legislature unanimously. Governor Long had made a series of bitter addresses over the radio in which he accused the Texas legislature of being bought by lobbyists.

The senate meanwhile overwhelmingly adopted a resolution calling Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana, for whom the Long plan was named, a "consummatum lazarum."

The resolution was adopted 21 to 7 and was to be considered in the house today. It said Long's published statement that members of the Texas legislature had been "bought like a sack of corn to vote against the cotton prohibition plan," was a "lie made out of the whole cloth."

Some of the senators objected to the use of the term "liar." Senator Walter Woodard of Houston stated he was for the resolution because "Long is a coward and afraid to come to Texas" and "this is the only way we can reach him."

Several senators wanted to rewrite the resolution in "more dignified language" and others sought to bring about adjournment but the forces behind the resolution were unyielding and insisted on quick action.

The resolution quoted Governor Long's statement and then said "this statement is not only untrue but carries the vice of a lie and the venom of a liar."

"It is an assault by the executive of the state of Louisiana upon the legislative department of the state of Texas and should not be permitted to go unchallenged but should be met with a proper denial and denunciation," the resolution said.

Long Quits The Fight

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 17. (AP)—Governor Huey P. Long last night delivered a radio address he said was his cotton holiday "swan song," blazed out one last time at the Texas legislature, and announced he was "through" in his fight for cotton. (See COTTON page 6)

NO HELP FOR MOTORISTS

The approaching winter is going to reveal more people in distress than even the last. Along the really deserving will be more professional beggars and panhandlers and the shiftless class of people who prefer to go about over the country at the expense of welfare bodies than to settle down even when work is available.

A small Indiana town made a wise move when it decided that poor people who own automobiles or dogs cannot expect help.

Automobiles require gas, and dogs must eat. Both of them become luxuries in a time of financial distress. It is hardly fair to ask that hard working people, who themselves cannot drive cars, should contribute to the support of people who are out of employment but still make use of their motors.

Besides, they are likely to become unappreciative of those who really have a dire need. However, when a dog is the inseparable companion of a child or an old person, there will probably be an exception made. If he has earned his keep by becoming one of the family, he will probably receive it.

PROTECT CHILDREN'S LIVES

The warning by city officials that speeding and reckless driving laws will be vigorously enforced is a timely one. Drivers who disregard the safety regulations of the city don't deserve much consideration at any time, but there must be no leniency in dealing with offenders who endanger the lives of small children.

There is one safe rule for every driver: Be careful around the schools. There are hundreds of children on the streets early in the morning, at noon and again in mid-afternoon. The streets around the school buildings are alive at these hours with hundreds of children dashing into and across the traffic lanes. The greatest danger is around the schools but remember that every street is a danger zone at the peak hours just before the class bell rings in the morning and after the children are dismissed for the day.

Don't kill or maim a child!

LURE OF THE QUEST

Men are trekking to the west again. When the price of gold was fixed at $20 an ounce by international agreement, not long ago, hundreds of the unemployed remembered that the creek beds in the hills are said by some to hold nuggets. So they have started the old adventure. They have become placer miners who start out every morning with the hope that today they will find the precious ore. They have become weary men who come home every evening, wondering if the quest is futile some days, surprised at their sudden good fortune on others.

For the first time in 40 years Montana newspapers are advertising gold-panning equipment. But the present rush is only a postscript that has been added to the long parade which rode the far trails westward in a pioneering yesterday. Then there was a buccaneering spirit of adventure. Today there is a panic-stricken urge to discover gold since no other employment doors are open.

Yesterday belongs to a romantic yarn of a new country. Today belongs to the economic chronicles of a great nation.

Yesterday men's hearts sang as they followed the dusty roads. Hope rode high as the green boughs burst into pink and white riot of flowering blossoms, or the flame shades of autumn and the white frost of a too-cold evening made them urge their horses faster. Today they go, not so much because they seek fortunes as livelihoods. Making a living is never as colorful as making an adventure.

Men took along a caravan of visions yesterday. Their wind-blown, rain-faded wagons held more than the horse-hair parlor furniture that their wives wanted to bring to the new land, the meal and bacon and ammunition. There was a lonely ecstatic joy when they swung toward the promised land, and a sharper thrill when they saw it over the ridge. The Children of Israel who roamed for 40 years before they came to Canaan had felt that same fierce joy when the long road home was reached. Perhaps a little of this old venturing spirit will come back to the modern placer miners. If it does, whether they find gold or not, will not be so important. The lure of the quest, that something which reaches beyond, forever unsatisfied, will return. And that, after all, is worth more than a nugget or two.

PEACH CROP ROTTED
MUNCIE, Ind. (UP)—W. B. Austin, who owns a large western orchard, said he was paid $25 by growers and canners to let his peach crop totaling 45 tons, fall from the trees and rot. Austin said that he had found no market for the peaches. He estimated that, in normal years, the crop would bring more than $35 a ton, or approximately $1,500.

Washington Letter

By Rodney Dutcher

Question of Democrats Abolishing the Two-Thirds Rule Will Be Discussed, but It Likely Will Continue

WASHINGTON—It is about time that someone wrote the first story of the season concerning the famous Democratic two-thirds rule and probably this is it.

The two-thirds rule is something Democrats discuss earnestly before every convention. First, there is invariably much serious discussion about abolishing the rule, effective forthwith. That discussion resolves itself into a more or less general agreement that the thing should be abolished at the end of the convention rather than at the beginning, so that its elimination will not appear to have been brought about for the benefit of any particular candidate. But by the time the platform is adopted and the nominees chosen, everyone has forgotten all about it.

Inquiry among Democrats indicates that there has been absolutely no discussion of the two-thirds rule this year up to this moment. Democrats interviewed have been inclined to ask: "Well, why bring that up?"

Nevertheless, next year will be the one-hundredth anniversary of the two-thirds rule, even if no one is erecting any monuments to it. The Democrats held their first national convention in 1832 and it was then they adopted the rule. The Republicans have always been content to nominate their candidates by a vote of the majority.

The prime reason why the rule has been retained appear to have been the natural unwillingness of the average candidate and his friends to have him become the first nominee in party history who was not nominated by a two-thirds vote and that fact that ordinarily any candidate who can obtain a majority has little trouble in landing another 17 per cent of the delegates. The chief general argument for the rule is that a two-thirds vote nominates a man who represents the concurrence of opinion and the chief general arguments against it are that the majority rule principle is a good one which should be followed and that the two-thirds rule is likely to create unnecessary bitterness damaging to the party.

Before the terrible Madison Square garden convention of 1924 elements in both the McAdoo and Smith factions favored permanent suspension of the rule in the belief that their favorite could obtain a majority. But apparently neither side was quite sure that the suspension wouldn't nominate the other man instead of its own. After the ninety-ninth ballot, it was proposed after each roll call and that if neither of the two top candidates had two-thirds after the 104th ballot the nomination would be handed to who ever had a majority. That proposal was defeated by viva voce vote, as were various other motions for abrogation.

Four years ago this fall it began to appear that Al Smith would have a majority of delegates and his friends began to promote an abrogation. Then various Southern Democrats also urged it on the theory that if Smith were going to be nominated it would be nice if southern delegates didn't have to vote for him. Some of the most prominent Democrats in the country demanded that the rule be discarded. But the Smith forces became more confident and the movement collapsed as they lined up for the rule on the theory that its retention would best serve the interests of the government's candidacy. It now seems likely that the rule will remain undisturbed next year, although you never can tell.

Proposals to get rid of the rule have appeared during close contests during various past conventions. They failed. Democratic state conventions in a pre-convention referendum in 1880 voted to retain it. The only two candidates who ever attained a majority vote and then failed of nomination were Champ Clark, who had a majority on eight of the 29 ballots in 1912, and Martin Van Buren, who lost to James K. Polk in 1844. President Andrew Johnson, whose renomination is assured, is supposed to have caused the rule to be established in the 1832 convention in order to solidify support behind Van Buren, his running mate.

Ex-Husbands Join in "Battle of Alimony"

By DEXTER H. TEED
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK.—Because he didn't pay up he sits in a cell. And he may sit there meditating "From now on." Since he is in jail, of course he can't earn any money. Hence, he can't pay. It is a circle without end. You can't put a man in jail like that, you say? But he knows you can, and here's the way he writes to those who he believes may help him:

"Counsel states no matter how just my claims are he will not give me a chance to go to trial until I pay him the $100. His exact words were 'You will not in here before I will get you out!'"

Sometimes he is very old, sometimes he is ill. And now, in a period of depression, he has often been out of work for months . . . day after day, sitting discontinuously in a cell.

He is a victim of the "alimony racket." His is a typical case, one of many which the National Sociological League, organization to fight injustice in the present alimony laws has on file. The League has 25,000 members in every state in the union and millions of sympathizers.

It has just won a victory that has jolted gold-digging ex-wives. Supreme Court Justice George V. Mullan of the Bronx has handed down a decision which allows a person who has failed to pay alimony because of unemployment to appeal for a reduction. And there is rejoicing in the ranks of the alimony jail birds.

Fighting Men's Cause
"It is encouraging, that's all," says Dr. Alexander Dallek, executive secretary of the league. "It is only one victory we have won in the courts. We are going to fight every deserving case, even carrying it to the highest courts."
"We have found that attempts to pass legislation to help unfortunate victims are hopeless. Legislators as most of them are lawyers, simply will not pass laws to help the victims of alimony."
The League, bitter because it has proof that the lives of scores of men are ruined each year because of unjust operations of what it describes as "Simon Legree" alimony laws, believes that men are not getting a fair break.

Although admitting that alimony is in many cases justifiable and desirable, it contends that a gold-digging, vindictive, heartless wife has everything in her favor when the case goes to court. The modern, much-publicized "equality of the sexes" is an empty phrase. Under the present laws, unless the magistrate happens to be exceptionally fair-minded and just, an unscrupulous lawyer can obtain nearly any sum he desires for his woman client.

Decision Gives Hope
In the West 37th street jail, known as the "Alimony jail"—the population is sometimes 30, sometimes it is more. In other jails, all over the country, the league has records of men who are in jail indefinitely, unable to help themselves.

Emanuel Redfield, counsel for the league, won the verdict in Bronx court. He felt that the law was without conscience, as it existed, and even after Judge Mullan had denied the first request for a reduction for Redfield's client, Redfield persisted. His argument was logical. His client had been assessed to pay alimony of $50 a week. When the depression came he lost his job. His ex-wife protested and he went to jail—where, of course, he couldn't get a job.

"It was unreasonable to expect that the law would force a destitute man to pay back alimony," says Redfield, "when he couldn't pay the present alimony. It didn't make sense."

So Judge Mullan gave the decision in the client's favor, stressing the point that, although the client was in arrears, he could have his alimony reduced if he tried to get a job and couldn't.

There the matter rests. Alimony lawyers, accustomed to fat fees, are wondering if it will be a lean winter.

The population of Scotland has decreased eight per cent in the past 10 years.

How One Woman Lost 47 Lbs. of Fat In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides. "Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at City Drug Store and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—out out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)
"This is on the house," replied one of the students.

A down-state newspaper says that after a family row last week a certain lady covered her swollen eye with a patch of black cloth, but the neighbors think she is wearing one of the new Eugenie hats.

An electric range was installed in a house and a week later an electrician from the electric supply store went back to inquire as to how it was doing.

"How do you like the new electric stove?" he asked the negro cook. "Jes' fine, jes' fine," she replied. "It ain't never went out yet."

An old Irish girl who had been hit by the depression hired out as a hired girl. It was with some new-rich who had had some dealing with the Farm Board and the lady of the house was inclined to be quite high hat.

"I'm a woman of few words," she informed the new cook. "If I beckon my finger at you, that means come." "That suits me, mum," said Bridget. "I'm a woman of few words myself. If I shake my head, that means I ain't comin'."

"I don't mind washing the dishes for you," wailed the henpecked husband. "I don't object to sweeping, dusting or mopping the floors, but I ain't gonna run no ribbons through my nightgown just to fool the baby!"

Circus Party Honors Lynn Thomas Abell

In celebration of his second birthday, Lynn Thomas Abell greeted a group of his friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Abell, and shared with them the gaiety of a circus party Wednesday evening.

The party was staged on the back yard lawn where the tent was stretched in the center of the table. In the animal parade around the tent were camels, elephants, giraffes, horses and monkeys.

Furnishing much entertainment was the host's dog dressed as a clown.

The decorated birthday cake adorned with two candles was cut by Lynn Thomas and served with ice cream. Favors on the party plates were animals and balloons.

Gay Bridge Party Is for Wo Ho Mis Club and Guests

Black, red and silver formed the attractive color note of the afternoon bridge given by Mrs. W. P. Knight yesterday for the Wo Ho Mis club.

Profusions of roses and zinnias graced the home and at tables tallied and score books harmonized with the party arrangement.

Prize gifts wrapped in colors were won by Mrs. A. E. Horst, club, Mrs. Tom Nance, guest, and Mrs. C. M. Smith, of Odessa, cut.

Stuffed tomatoes, cakes and tea were served at tea time to Mmes. Bill Van Huss, Tom Nance, S. B. Warren, Horst, Hayden Miles, A. B. Cooksey, John Dublin, and C. M. Smith, E. D. Cody, L. B. Brown and R. O. Cannon, all of Odessa.

Marriage of Miss Cook and Mr. Fryar Solemnized Tuesday

Culminating a romance that began when both were in McMurry college, Miss Ceta Frye Cook, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cook, and Mr. Harvey Fryar, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fryar, were married early Tuesday evening at the First Methodist parsonage.

The Rev. Edwin C. Calhoun performed the wedding rites. Attendees were Miss Marie Cook, Mr. Wayne Cook, brother and sister of the bride, and Mrs. Calhoun.

The bride was wearing a late summer frock of blue chiffon trimmed in lace.

They will leave Midland early Sunday morning for Lubbock to enroll as students in Texas Technological college to do work on their B. A. degrees. Mrs. Fryar will also do work on her M. A. degree after the first of the year.

Mrs. Fryar came to Midland two years ago with her parents, from Big Spring, where she completed high school. Her father is owner of farm interests southeast of town. She has done college work in McMurry in Abilene and Sul Ross in Alpine.

Mr. Fryar, son of a well-known farm family, was a graduate of the Midland high school several years ago. He was an outstanding player on the Bulldog squad the last few years here. He has been in McMurry college and Texas Tech since graduation.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fryar are actively affiliated with organizations of the Methodist church here.

Hint for Gardeners When you have gardening or other grubby work to do, first put a quantity of cold cream in the palm of the hand and rub the fingers tips across it. The cream will be imbedded under the nails and protect them from staining.

Electric Tricks If waffles stick when they are baked in an electric waffle iron, it may be because they have not sufficient shortening. There seems to be more required for batter baked in electric waffle irons than for those cooked in the old fashioned way on a griddle waffle iron on top of a flame.

Patty Preparedness Patty shells may be made ahead of time and warmed in the oven when you want to use them. Never fill the shells until just before they are to be served as the crusts will soften.

Colonial Motifs Used The influence of the French Colonial Exposition, which has been running in Paris all summer, is felt in many new silk fabric designs which draw their inspiration from native designs of French colonies in Africa or Indo-China.

Parachutes of Cotton The drive to increase the use of domestic cotton has developed new ideas, but none more unexpected than the discovery that parachutes, hitherto always made of silk, may be made of cotton. They have been successfully tried out.

Decorative Touch If you paint the can of scouring powder a gay color, you can leave it right in the bathroom where it is handy, without detracting from the artistic effect in decoration you have achieved there.

Choice Cooks' Corner

Stewed Tomatoes and Celery or Cabbage 1 quart canned tomatoes 2 cups cut celery or cabbage 1 1/2 teaspoons salt 2 tablespoons butter or other fat.

Simmer the tomatoes and the celery together for 20 minutes, or until the celery is tender. Season with salt and fat and serve. This is an excellent way to use stalks of celery that are undesirable for serving raw.

Or after tomatoes have cooked alone for about 15 minutes, add finely shredded cabbage instead of the celery. Cook tomatoes and cabbage together for from 5 to 15 minutes, add the seasoning, and serve at once.

Piccalilli 2 gallons green tomatoes 2 or 3 green sweet peppers 2 hot peppers 1 quart onions 3 quarts vinegar 4 cups sugar 1 teaspoon ginger 1 teaspoon cinnamon 2 tablespoons mustard (seed or ground) 1 cup horseradish (grated.) Chop tomatoes or slice in 1/2-inch slices. Soak chopped tomatoes and chopped onions and peppers overnight in one pint salt and enough water to cover. Drain thoroughly. Mix sugar, spices, and vinegar. Heat the vegetables in mixture until tender, NOT reaching boiling temperature. NOTE: Onions may be omitted.

ELECTRICIANS HAVE CHANCE TO WIN PENNANT IN EVENING GAME

COMPOSITE SCORE SHOWS LEGGMEN ARE SUPERIOR; BUICKS UNCERTAIN WHETHER PYRON'S HAND IS RIGHT

The fourth game of the City Nocturne cushion ball league playoff, featuring Texas Electric and Scruggs Buick, will be played this evening at 8 o'clock, Pagoda diamond—and with Texas Electric standing a good possibility of ending the pennant chase. The Electricians have a one-game edge for the three games played and, from paper calculations, should be the favorites to cop tonight.

A composite box score for the three games played shows the Buicks have been outscored 26 to 10, outhit 25 to 13 and have kept the pace only in the errors column, making 10 while the Electricians were also making that number of mistakes.

The Buicks were handicapped rather badly the third game by an injury to the tossing hand of Pitcher Joe Pyron. Whether the injured member will be "right for tonight will not be known until Joe warms up and tries it. It is still stiff.

SPORTS REPORTS

By R. C. HANKINS

In view of the fact that some have been kind enough to condescend to me after getting the context of letters written to and published by this department, we would like to show you a letter written Prexy Anderson, one of the state's best sports editors. The letter shows how one's good friend, a relationship that actually obtains between the subscriber and Prexy, sometimes undertakes to blast the sports scribe out of his seat—and too often does. In his foreword Prexy says he failed to run the sixth flight results of the tournament at San Angelo and that his Abilene friend, who was in that flight, sent him the following missive—"pardon, missive", the second of two such letters:

"Dr. Prexy Anderson, B. S. "Self Styled Columnist of "The Morning News, "Abilene, Texas. "Dear Prexy: "Pardon me for replying to your half hearted apology in the column or column and a half (that you probably have Bob Whipkey or some one else to write for you), in re San Angelo tournament, but since I did nothing in this tournament, I feel that I can mention it again, without personal reasons. I am glad, personally, that you treated that tournament as merely a passing incident, hardly worth mention, for unfortunately neither my long rolling approaches nor the art of ballyhoo was working.

"But on behalf of the six other Abilene golfers who qualified at San Angelo, and the few readers (if any) of your column and a half, I think you should come clean and tell them that the reason you did not carry a full account of this tournament was either that your scissors were broken or else you were too busy writing about baseball. The part of a story you did run (which was probably pilfered from Blondy Cross) dealt mainly with Rusty Conover, who is, as everyone knows, an A-No. 1 golfer; in fact, he was designated as the 'No. 1' by none other than yourself (or your ghost writer) before the last Abilene city tournament, at which time—if my memory serves me—one Chris Thaulow made No. 10 out of No. 1; thereby again proving that a sport editor's predictions can not be depended upon as a guide to financial gain.

"However, as I say, after you probably snatched that story of Rusty's feat in beating Bob Scott, from Blondy Cross or Amos Melton or wherever you got it, you should have read on down further to see what J. Campbell Jones, Ross Jennings, Chris Thaulow, Toad Christian and Bill Bowyer (who made first flight at S. A.) had done, and at least passed that information on to their friends who were interested in them, as it is my understanding that there are several people in Abilene who play golf or are interested in this ancient game.

"If you are really interested in finding out whether or not the people of Abilene like to read about golf and golfers, along with other sports and players, I suggest that you try leaving out some of the baseball box scores you cram the sports page with, and print a little more about golf, and then check the reaction among your readers, if you get around to it.

"Yours truly, "LEE S. HENRY, P. M. A. B. "Traditional contender for Abilene city title."

We've had letters and letters, publishing some of them and burning the rest. If they're not profane they find their way in total or in part to the readers. But if we should find an unsigned letter that read like the foregoing we should at once suspect Ironhead and let the matter ride. Incidentally, Ironhead WAS the one who wrote the unsigned letter for Sunday's paper, and imagine our embarrassment, the fans liked it better than anything that had run as local spots for several moons.

See where an Austin high girl in El Paso wants to run for president. Talks with reporters while she plays with her dolls. She's the youngest high school student in that city. As Midland is to play the Austin gridsters, wonder if the girl will have any luck lobbying Midland gridsters into trouble. Austin high is likely to give a lot of trouble.

What's this we hear about Prof. Lacey being a shark at croquet? Funny we never saw him at the game.

Handsome Mark, the spark that sets the sports sheet of the Big Spring Herald afire once a day and then runs out while the hands throw water promiscuously, writes that it's a bit early to forecast the results of the Sweetwater-Ranger game slated for Friday. We've an idea Marcos would bet a coke the Ranger lads don't run for a touchdown every time they get the ball.

Bill Mayes, writing in the Ranger Times, gives out a report that Blondy Cross, San Angelo scribe, believes Sweetwater is five touchdowns better than Angelo. And Mayes seems to think some of the other Sweetwater boys besides Mike Hicks are good.

"Mike Hicks scored seven touchdowns and added a couple of extra points to score 44 points. He made six first downs, carried the ball 13 times and gained 384 yards during the afternoon average 29½ yards to the play. His average was a little better than a touchdown every other time he got the ball in scrimmage and out of the first five times he was given the ball, he made four touchdowns, scoring one of them on the opening play of the game.

"Sheridan scored three touchdowns, gained 123 yards, made six first downs, carried the ball 12 times and averaged better than 11 yards every time the pigskin was given to him. One of the touchdowns was on an intercepted pass.

"Sam Baugh scored one touchdown, tossed a pass to Hicks that was good for another, intercepted three passes, carried the ball eight times for an average of 10 yards and made five first downs, besides calling the signals.

"Buddy Belt put over a couple of touchdowns, made three first downs, carried the ball five times and gained 43 yards, an average of more than eight yards each time he was called on.

"Woods made seven points by kicking field goals after touchdowns. Both Halbert and Rogers intercepted passes. The Mustangs gained two points from a safety."

While Midland is playing Iraah here Saturday at 3 o'clock, San Angelo will be having its week end game with the Big Lake Owls. Wasn't that the club that scored the only touchdown against Midland last year until Eastland brought the mighty Clarke and Allen over to smash across twice? White, fast back as you'll remember, received the kick off or a punt or something and raced more than 90 yards for touchdown. Not a man touched him. Midland walloped the Owls mightily, but could not quite efface the damaging statement in print that the Owls had scored. Big Spring appears to have no game. Marcos Williamson said Tuesday, but McCamey is certain to have a scrimmage. Whether the Badgers will play the School of Mines or just plain Potomac matters little to them or to their coach, Clyde Parks. They thrive on rough play, and the more the merrier. And what about Colorado? Does anyone know what's going on there? Never a word.

At least one team in the Oil Belt is practicing between closed gates, and one sports writer is finding time light on his hands as a result:

The lack of news from the Lobo camp, where Coach Ted Peffries is supplanting Chapman as mentor of the Cisco wolf pack, is explained by Benny Butler, Cisco scribe. It had been commented several times that nothing had been heard from that quarter. Butler explains in "Big Dam Chatter", as follows:

"Before confining these remarks to the home picture, it should be well to remark by way of explaining the apparent lack of information we shall be able to provide, that Chesley field holds the pregnant secrets of the Lobos of 1931. The buzzard-roost received quite a severe shock early in the season when Coach Jeffries, after a brief period of leniency served notice on the curious that he wanted privacy and lots of it. Some of the braver of the 'old guard' tested the sincerity of his announcement later and discovered to their chagrin, that the new Lobo mentor has a faculty for saying a great deal in a very few words. They left the field humbled in pride but respectful in attitude and since that good day any one of the elected will admit that he would much rather stay in town and play ping-pong, leaving the whole of the field to Jeffries and Hill and the 55 charges that are going grimly about the business of making a football club."

The first three months of this year Russia exported more than a million pounds of candy to the United States.

ALL EXCEPT POLO EL PASO. (UP).—Maj. Clifford L. Miller, newest chaplain at Fort Bliss, is fond of all mounted sports except polo.

"That's sort of a Sunday game I don't go in for," he said. The chaplain rides at all maneuvers and broke the Fort's steeplechase record last year.

NEWS SUGGESTION

DALLAS. (UP).—The Dallas News has suggested, editorially, that Texas enlist Gov. Richard B. Russell Jr. of Georgia to advise the state how to reorganize antiquated governmental machinery.

The News pointed out that the Georgia governor has persuaded his legislature to adopt an improved fiscal system, reduce its 102 state departments, divisions and bureaus to 18, cut taxes more than a million dollars and to balance the budget for the first time in years.

Pure-blooded Indians constitute more than 33 per cent of the entire population of Mexico today.
