

Wet Cool Front Enters State As Autumn Begins

By The Associated Press

A cool front with widespread rains up to 7 inches—the swan song of one of the mildest summers in years—moved into Texas Friday. Autumn started officially at 1:42 p.m.

The 7-inch rain was reported at Brazos Valley, 15 miles southwest of Cleburne, by a resident of the area, W. C. Linn. Five-inch rains fell at Glen Rose, the Somervell County seat, and in the Ryan Community, near Marfa in West Texas. Creason, near the line of Tarrant and Johnson counties, and Godley, 8 miles northwest of Cleburne, got 4.59 inches each. Cleburne got 2.33 inches and Texarkana, 2.25.

The rains continued into the morning in many areas. Skies over the upper half of Texas were overcast.

The cool front passing Wichita Falls before midmorning and extended southwestward below Lubbock and northeastward across Oklahoma.

Temperatures dropped as much as 10 degrees behind the norther. Dalhart had a chilly 50 degrees.

The rains continued in the area from Erath County across Somervell into Johnson County, at Fort Worth, Texarkana and Longview. Scattered showers fell around Abilene. There was a drizzle and fog at Amarillo and rain showers northeast of Victoria.

Other rainfall reports to the U.S. Weather Bureau included: Perrin Field, in North Texas, 2.02 inches; Sherman 1.55, Dallas 1.11, Wichita Falls 1.08, Fort Worth .86, Mineral Wells .80, Childress .65, Abilene .29, Marfa .25, Burleson 1.57, Muenster 1.35, Pilot Point 1.11, Trenton 1.21 and Valley View 1.52. Lesser amounts fell at Alpine, Van Housen, Lufkin, San Angelo, Longview, Lubbock, Houston and Galveston.

State Charges Till Death Was A 'Cowardly Act'

SUMNER, Miss. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatham, opening final state arguments, shouted today "the killing of Emmett Till x x x was a cowardly act" and told a country jury it should convict two white men of slaying the 14-year-old Negro boy.

Sweating profusely in the heat of a Mississippi Delta courtroom, Chatham loudly said: "The first words that entered this case were literally dripping with the blood of Emmett Till."

He charged 24-year-old Roy Bryant and his 36-year-old half-brother, John W. Milam, gave the Chicago boy "a court-martial with the death penalty imposed."

The first words in the kidnap-slaying, said Chatham, were "I want the boy from Chicago who did the talking at Money."

Mose Wright, the slain boy's sharecropper uncle, testified Milam used those words when he rescued the 64-year-old man from his bed early Aug. 28 and took Till from the cottonfield shack.

Attorneys for the two accused white men rested their defense at 10:22 a.m. CST today.

The defense finished its case after presenting six character witnesses, three each for 24-year-old Roy Bryant and his 36-year-old half-brother, John W. Milam. Attorneys are expected to begin arguments to the jury before noon.

Defendants did not testify.

Circuit Judge Curtis Swango again overruled defense motions for a directed verdict of innocent. The judge then ordered a brief recess before state prosecutors began their final summation to the jury.

In Mississippi, the state opens and closes the final arguments. The defense argument is sandwiched between the state's arguments.

Defense attorneys appeared confident the all-male, all-white jury would free Bryant and Milam—principally, they felt, as a result of testimony by three defense witnesses attacking the identification of the battered body as that of Till.

State attorneys privately voiced doubt they would get a guilty verdict.

Acquittal, however, doesn't end the publicized Till case. The defendants also face kidnap charges. The state rested its case yesterday.

Mrs. Mamie Bradley, Till's widowed mother, gave the trial a dramatic moment yesterday afternoon. She cried as she looked at picture of the boy.

She said it was her son "beyond a shadow of a doubt."

But three defense witnesses cast doubt.

Sheriff H. C. Strider of Tallahatchie County said the body appeared to have been in the river "at least 10 days, if not 15."

A country undertaker, H. D. Malone, estimated the time in the water at 10-25 days.

Dr. L. B. Oiken, a physician from nearby Greenwood, put the time at from eight days to two weeks.

Defense attorneys asked Dr. Ot-ken: "In your opinion, could anyone have identified the body?"

Dr. Oiken answered: "I don't think so."

Q. If he had been his brother, could he? A. I doubt it.

Q. His mother? A. I doubt it.

All three witnesses said the body was bloated and badly decomposed.

This was a critical point because only three days elapsed from the time Till was taken from his uncle's home until the body was found by a teen-aged fisherman.

On cross-examination, the state drew agreement from both Dr. Oiken and Sheriff Strider that a body that had been badly injured would decompose more rapidly than a normal body.

The defense concentrated its questioning on identification, the heart of the state's case. If the state failed in jurors' eyes to prove Till was murdered, Bryant and Milam could not be convicted of killing him.

Earlier, Chatham said the state would not seek the death penalty "since a substantial part of its evidence is circumstantial."

Thus, the defendants—if convicted—faced a maximum of life imprisonment, unless the jury overturned precedent and ordered death without the state asking for it.

Another bit of high drama came yesterday when Mrs. Carolyn Bryant, wife of the Money storekeeper accused of murder, testified a Negro with "a Northern brogue" molested her a few days before Till was kidnaped early Aug. 28.

Circuit Judge Curtis Swango Jr. ruled the jury could not hear the bulk of her testimony because it happened too long before the abduction. However, it was admitted to the court record.

Spectators shifted to the front of their chairs as she told her story of the night of Aug. 24.

"This Negro man came into the store," began the pretty 21-year-old mother of two children, "and stopped at the candy counter."

She said he ordered bubble gum. "I held out my right hand for some money," she continued. "He caught my hand, I pulled away. He said, 'How about a date, baby?'"

"I turned and started to the back of the store. He caught me at the cash register ... and put both hands around my waist. He said, 'What's the matter, baby, can't you take it?'"

The young mother said she pulled away. She said the Negro used unprintable words which she refused to repeat. She said he concluded with: "I've been with white women before."

Another Negro, she said, came in and pulled the first Negro out of Bryant's little store.

"I started out to go to the car for my pistol," Mrs. Bryant said. "He (the first Negro) was standing on the front porch of the store. He whistled."

Mrs. Bryant said her husband was away on a business trip during this incident.

Defense attorneys did not ask Mrs. Bryant the identity of the Negro.

Other witnesses placed the 14-year-old Till in the store the night Mrs. Bryant described. And witnesses testified Bryant and Milam orally admitted taking young Till

WHITE CANES, WARM HEART

Miniature white canes will be the badge of the warm-hearted Saturday.

On behalf of the Cheerio Club, an organization of the blind and near blind, Rainbow Girls will be selling the little canes. Members of the Cheerio Club made every one of the tiny canes—1,500 of them—to raise funds for club projects.

Club members are not asking funds for themselves; on the contrary every penny raised goes to helping someone else, including a youngster who is away at blind school. There is no set price for the little canes—just what you would like to give.

Port Aransas' Lens Not Gone

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Residents of Port Aransas, Tex., can lay down their arms—the Coast Guard is not going to ship their lighthouse lens to a Mystic, Conn., museum.

The lighthouse was abandoned in 1952, but there is still a lot of sentiment connected with the lens. During the Civil War, Yankees threatened to ship the lens north but residents during that era hid the lens in nearby marshes.

The Coast Guard crated the lens and shipped it to the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi and the people of Port Aransas began to stir. But the shipment was merely for storage purposes. The Coast Guard added hurriedly.

Cosden Completes Plans For Pipeline

Cosden Petroleum Corporation today announced completion of preliminary plans for building and operating a 6-inch products pipe line from its Big Spring refinery to its products terminal at Abilene, a distance of 100 miles.

Pipe Line Technologists of Houston have been retained to do the design engineering, obtain right-of-ways, and do the purchasing and expediting. R. L. Tollett, president, announced.

This project, with expanded terminal facilities at Abilene, will cost approximately $1,500,000. It will be unique in that it will provide for transportation of 10 different grades of gasoline, jet fuel, and two grades of distillate. There will be approximately 150,000 barrels of storage at the Abilene terminal. Tanks of 10,000-barrel capacity will predominate in the terminal tank farm.

This products pipeline will be a common carrier and owned by a subsidiary of Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

CASE NEAR JURY McGowan Defense Puts Up Hard Fight

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The defense fought hard for Raymond McGowan today as the hour neared when the fate of the 45-year-old Dallas riding stable operator is to be turned over to a jury.

Defense attorneys filed 30 exceptions to the charge to the jury and an all-morning wrangle over them delayed reading of the charge until shortly before noon.

McGowan is charged in the tourist cabin slayings of his pretty young wife, Polly, 18 years his junior, and Bobby Royce Darby, 21, whom she was teaching rodeo trick riding.

The defense objected that the terms "excusable," "justifiable" and "extenuating" were not clearly defined in the murder with malice charge. They also objected to state testimony about McGowan's former marriage, which ended in divorce, and testimony about McGowan's alleged mistreatment of his young wife prior to the slaying.

McGowan, calm today as his lawyers argued, said he intended to kill Darby but killed his wife accidentally.

Judge D. W. Bartlett, in his charge to the jurors, told them they must decide whether McGowan killed his wife accidentally. If so, the judge said McGowan must be acquitted.

If the jurors find the slaying was not accidental, they then must decide whether Mrs. McGowan was slain with or without malice. The maximum sentence for slaying without malice is 5 years in prison.

The judge added that McGowan was "not shielded by any Texas law in case he killed her other than by accident."

They were shot to death in a Waco motel cabin the Sunday morning July 10. She had gone to the cabin to take Darby to a lesson. She was a well-known rodeo performer and trick rider.

McGowan, taking the stand in his own defense, said he intended to kill Darby but that Mrs. McGowan was shot by accident.

The defense has sought to prove there was a romance between the victims. The prosecution has sought to prove otherwise.

Two key witnesses testified yesterday.

The night clerk of a Fort Worth motel said that Mrs. McGowan registered there alone June 28.

At the same evening he saw Darby on the cabin porch. At 3 a.m., when he made a routine check of automobiles, he found Darby's and Mrs. McGowan's autos parked at the cabin. They were there when he left work at 7 a.m. The cars were identified through license numbers.

Jack Spillman of Dallas was a key witness for the prosecution. He conferred with McGowan's lawyer and McGowan in Dallas the day of the shooting, he testified.

He said McGowan told him he knocked on the Waco motel cabin door and that Darby, who was shaving, came to the bathroom door. "Raymond, I haven't done anything," Darby said.

Spillman then said McGowan told him: "I shot both of them in the face."

Urges West To Pare Forces, Leave Bases

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today called upon the Western Powers to reduce their armed forces and liquidate their former military bases without waiting for an international agreement on disarmament.

At the same time, the Soviet leader told the U.N. Assembly that Russia is giving careful consideration to President Eisenhower's proposal for an "open sky" policy of mutual aerial inspection of Russian and U. S. territory.

He submitted a resolution urging the Assembly to endorse a study of the Eisenhower plan, along with proposals submitted by Russia, Britain and France.

In a major policy speech, Molotov pointed to recent Soviet reductions of military forces and the surrender of the Soviet naval base of Porkkala to Finland. Then he called upon the other big powers to show by similar deeds that they really want to end the world arms race.

"Such a course," he said, "would undoubtedly best meet the need to call off the armaments race, build up confidence among nations and end the cold war."

Speaking of the Eisenhower aerial inspection plan, he said: "We recognize the importance of the President's proposal. We regard them as an expression of a sincere desire to facilitate the solution of the important problem of international control and inspection. And it is from this point of view that we are engaged in studying this proposal and its various aspects."

He said that Russia was particularly interested in finding out whether the Eisenhower plan would contribute to a reduction of armaments and to the outlawing of nuclear weapons.

Molotov challenged a statement by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles yesterday that "limitation of armament is virtually unattainable."

"This statement," he said, "throws doubt on the work of the Disarmament Commission set up by the General Assembly."

MADDOX CASE Lurid Testimony Marks Rape Trial

LINDEN, Tex. (AP)—The Melvin Maddox trial for rape and assault to murder apparently was headed juryward today with conclusion of testimony scheduled by afternoon.

Maddox is charged in the rape and brutal beating of a 34-year-old Hughes Springs, Tex., housewife who allegedly was attacked in the kitchen of her home on May 8.

Lurid and conflicting testimony marked yesterday's sessions of the trial, highlighted by the testimony of a Dallas woman who said she went to a hotel with Maddox and knew he could not be physically capable of intercourse.

The woman, Mrs. Estelle Carter, said Maddox, crippled and on crutches, was unable to have sexual relations without the aid of another man, a Dallas bartender, David Evans, said he arranged the "date" between Mrs. Carter and Maddox when they met at a bar where he worked.

Earlier, a Mt. Pleasant physician testified that Maddox, despite his infirmities, was capable of sexual intercourse. He said he examined Maddox shortly after the latter's arrest.

Another witness yesterday was Cass County Sheriff Jim Wells who testified he filed a complaint charging Maddox with rape after Dr. H. L. D. Jenkins signed a statement saying the housewife had been raped.

Dr. Jenkins testified earlier in the trial that he administered first aid to the woman after the incident, but he testified he made no examination for possible rape.

Wells told the Fifth District Court he was present when Dr. Jenkins signed the statement saying the woman had been raped.

The woman has testified that Maddox appeared at her kitchen door, asked for a drink of water and then made an indecent proposal. Then, she said, he struck her at least twice with an iron skillet.

The woman said she recalled Maddox ripping her clothing from her body, but remembered little else until she awoke two days later in a Texarkana hospital.

Thousands See Dawson's Best, Biggest Fair

LAMESA—Dawson County's biggest and best fair rolled into its second day with record participation and crowds.

There were no estimates on attendance, but the figure ran into several thousand. Crowds continued on the grounds right up until time for closing at 10 p.m. The fair runs one more day, ending at 10 p.m. Saturday.

Most of judging was completed the first day for a cut in prizes that will aggregate $3,000.

Roger Dyess set the pace with 10 first prizes in the agricultural division, six second places and four third places. Leon Bagwell of Loop was the heavy winner in the dairy cattle division and F. A. Youngblood & Sons set the pace in the Hereford division.

The Dawson settlement won the community booth contest, followed by Ackerly, McCarty, Flower Grove, Punkin Center and O'Donnell.

In the education booths, the Dawson County FFA was first, followed by FFA chapters at Gall, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Flower Grove, and the Lamesa 4-H Club.

Lonardi Makes Triumphant Entry In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi made a triumphal entry into Buenos Aires today to take control of the provisional government of Argentina on behalf of the victorious rebels.

The airfield in suburban Palermo was tightly guarded by troops and police armed with machineguns. A red carpet was rolled out for Lonardi. Thousands of citizens crowded around the airport limits, cheering wildly and waving flags.

The military guards held them back firmly but made no move to dampen their enthusiasm.

The planes which accompanied Lonardi from Cordoba were freshly painted with a huge V for Victory and with a cross—a reminder that the revolution was caused in part by President Juan D. Peron's feud with the Roman Catholic Church.

Before leaving Cordoba, Lonardi spoke of the possibility Peron might be brought to trial.

"We want to make it impossible for him to again damage the country," Lonardi told a news conference. "In case he is brought to trial, the ex-president will present himself as any other Argentine and enjoy all the guarantees and rights established in the constitution."

He did not expand on the possibility of a trial, but if this took place it would be on criminal charges. The asylum granted Peron by Paraguay would prevent his arrest as a political prisoner.

A 21-gun salute roared over the River Plate as Lonardi stepped from the DC3 which brought him here. He wore the green field uniform of the Argentine army, with a general's red and white cap.

Despite tanks and guards, the crowd surged toward the plane. It was halted for a moment as a band played the national anthem, then pushed on again.

A motorcycle escort helped the provisional President reach the airport building, about 100 feet from the plane, but he appeared to be more carried by the crowd than walking. Women waved white handkerchiefs in a traditional gesture of welcome and the crowd shouted:

"Viva Lonardi!"

No Indictments In Threats Made On Negro Schoolboy

TAHOKEA, Tex. (AP)—The Lynn County grand jury failed to indict anyone in alleged threats to a 16-year-old Negro student attending Tahokea's formerly all-white school.

The jury said its probe included damage to three new automobiles owned by the school board president, possibly in revenge for the board's allowing Andrew Nance to go to the white school.

Grand jury foreman J. B. Reasonover, in his report, said the jury spent considerable time probing young Nance's report that he had been threatened with personal harm if he continued to attend the school where his white classmates had elected him vice president of the junior class.

The report added:

"We find no evidence of actual physical violence against the person of any individual." It also expressed confidence in local law enforcement officers and Lynn County citizens.

Diaper Theft Raises Hopes In Kidnaping

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A new theft of diapers, plus a report of a heavyset blonde carrying a bundle in a blanket, sent searchers for kidnaped baby Robert Marcus scurrying to another San Jose area today.

Mrs. Louis Freeman phoned police she had seen the woman at daybreak hurrying toward 12th st. on St. John. The woman wore a dark coat and carried a baby-sized bundle.

Mrs. Freeman called her husband, who ran out to stop the woman, but she had disappeared. A hasty check of the baby laundry hanging in the Freeman backyard at 98 N. 11th St. showed four diapers and two baby gowns missing.

The neighborhood is about two miles from the Willow Street area where previous reports of a wandering woman with a baby have originated.

Gloom settled deeper today on Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus, parents of the infant snatched from his Mt. Zion Hospital crib last Monday the second day after his birth. It was reaction after a brief flare of hope last night over a week-old foundling boy abandoned in an Atlantic City, N.J., church.

Dr. Marcus and his 29-year-old wife Hanna studied an Associated Press Wirephoto of the Atlantic City baby and said:

"He is not our son."

There were many points of similarity between the infants.

Dr. Emanuel Harrison Nickman, Atlantic City pediatrician, said the boy found in a brown paper sack St. Nicholas Catholic Church was "no more than a week old."

The foundling had been circumcised. So had Robert.

Robert weighed 6 pounds 6 1/2 ounces; the other boy 7 pounds 1 ounce.

A final check of fingerprints of the two infants will be made by the FBI in Washington today. The FBI had AP Wirephotos and airmailed pictures of Robert's footprints.

A hoax ransom note, demanding $5,000, entered the case yesterday and promptly brought the FBI into the search. Police branded it the work of a crank—and failed to nab him when they set a trap.

The cruel hoax nearly caused the collapse of Dr. Marcus, 34. He was taken to the hospital—where he is on the staff—and given sedatives. In the same room his wife is being fed intravenously; she has refused all food since her child was stolen.

Cap Rock Co-Op Delays Action On Construction Bids

STANTON (SC)—Action on contracts for construction of an addition to the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative has been deferred until Tuesday evening.

Pioneer Builders of Big Spring submitted the lowest of four bids at $27,717, which was $1,158 under the next bidder and around $2,500 under the top figure. The board had explored the possibility of negotiating a contract with a builder on a fee basis but no decision had been reached.

The improvement will be 28 feet on the east end of the present building and will extend north 42 feet. Another section will add a 20x14 space on the north. Plans developed by Puckett & French of Big Spring, call for matching brick and will provide more office and storage space.

9,812 Missed It Again; Prize Goes Up To $450

This thing is getting maddening—maddening, that is. This week 9,812 entries were submitted in The Herald's Cashword contest, and "nary" a winner.

There were some near misses, but in this business a miss is as good as a mile. That's mighty good, too, when applied to everyone else who submitted a solution—it keeps the prize alive until next week.

Better than that, the total now goes up to $450 basic next week, plus $50 if you happen to be a regular subscriber of The Herald, plus $2.50 if your entry is submitted on a card. Of course, if your winning entry comes from places offering bonuses, you could draw another $150 for your trouble.

For the solution—the official one—of this week's puzzle, turn to Page 11. You can't afford to quit now!

Peron's Ouster Leaves Sculptor Holding The Bag

PIETRASANTA, Italy (AP)—The overthrow of Juan D. Peron has left sculptor Leone Tommasi with one of the rarest white elephants in history—a white marble statue of the ex-dictator's late wife Evita 53 feet high—and a bunch of other statuary besides.

But that's nothing to what Tommasi and his two sons would have had on their hands if Peron had lasted much longer.

After worldwide competition three years ago, Argentina commissioned Tommasi to build a monument in the honor of Peron and Evita.

It was to be 450 feet tall—some 145 feet taller than the Statue of Liberty from base to torch and only 105 feet shorter than the Washington Monument.

The main figure, a 200-foot piece of statuary, was to be nearly double the height of the lady in Manhattan harbor.

The central figure was supposed to be an Argentine worker standing before an anvil with the features of Peron.

Evita was to be shown addressing a crowd with her left hand resting on a stack of books. One of them was supposed to be her own book, "The Reason of My Life."

A dozen smaller statues were to be carved around the base with a lot of decoration.

Visitors climbing to the summit through an elaborate system of staircases could have seen the whole city of Buenos Aires through the pupils of the eyes of the main statue.

A silver tomb containing Evita Peron's remains was to be placed at the bottom of the building.

It would have taken a half dozen freighters to haul the giant monument. When finished it was to weigh 43,000 tons.

Tommasi and his two sons, plus a staff, have been working on the project. Shortly after he started Tommasi was urged by Peron to speed up the work, and the artist put on a night shift.

Parts already completed include the statue of Evita and the smaller decorations.

Tommasi's yards are filled with big blocks of the gleaming white marble.

Friends of Tommasi said the artist had become so attached to the marble colossus that it was "almost the reason of his own life."

Powerful Hurricane Churns Up Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Janet, so powerful that her winds made ocean waters look like "boiling buttermilk," whirled westward in the Caribbean Sea today.

Big-eyed and capricious, Janet was bowling along in a northwesterly direction at about 15 m.p.h. At 5 a.m., EST Navy reconnaissance planes spotted her about 425 miles south-southeast of San Juan, P.R.

She had changed her course somewhat, and all warnings were hauled down in the Windward Islands. Several of the smaller islands in the Windward group had been in the storm's path last night.

The Leeward Islands, to the north and northwest of the Windwards, awaited further word on Janet's behavior.

In a pre-dawn estimate by observers at the San Juan Weather Bureau, Janet, the 10th tropical storm of the season, was throwing her weight around with winds up to 115 m.p.h. over a small area near the center.

She was described as having a well-defined eye about 20 miles in diameter; her future development was listed as uncertain.

Gales whipped out 140 miles to the north and 90 miles to the south. A pace of about 15 m.p.h. was expected to continue throughout the morning.

"The water looked like boiling buttermilk," said Lt. Cmdr. Kenneth Mackie of Albany, N. Y., who flew a Navy Neptune hurricane-hunting plane into the eye of the storm 11 miles southeast of Barbados.

"The storm's turbulence is extremely severe. I don't understand why that plane did not fall apart."

The hurricane smashed across Barbados Island, flattening flimsy wooden structures in which the poorer of the island's 200,000 inhabitants live.

Shattered buildings and fallen trees blocked the main highways.

Communications lines were down and the airport at Bridgetown was closed.

No accurate estimate of the damage was available but relief work was under way.

Janet followed quickly on the heels of hurricanes Hilda and Ione.

There was no indication that Janet would strike the mainland. Forecasters pointed out she is a small, intense hurricane and may be on the weather map for a week or 10 days.

Germans Approve Red Diplomatic Pact

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Bundestag unanimously approved the establishment of diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union today.

The vote was made by a show of hands.

The ratification of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Moscow agreement with Soviet Premier Bulganin ended a two-day debate during which the 79-year-old government chief said the new trend in German Russian relations "offers the prospect of future easing of international tensions and national unity in freedom to Germany."

Erich Ollenhauer, leader of the Socialist opposition similarly told the lower house of Parliament normalization of relations between West Germany and Russia "can banish for a long time the danger of a hot war."

Before the vote, the floor leader of Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union, Heinrich Krone, said that Bonn could never recognize the Communist regime of East Germany.

He added that if Bulganin believed the East Germans were behind him, he should allow free elections there.

Krone denied that the new relations with Moscow would deepen the division of Germany. If that was the case, no member of the Bundestag would be able to vote for the Moscow agreement, he declared.

Ollenhauer had his criticisms of the Adenauer-Bulganin agreement. He said it was a victory for the Russians which appeared to be leading to a hardening of the divisions of Germany. He called on the government to make concrete proposals to the Geneva foreign ministers' conference next month on a European security system and German reunification.

The Socialist chief warned that unless Bonn took the initiative vigorously there was danger that (1) the cold war would continue in Germany even if it ceased elsewhere, and (2) East and West might agree on a security system based on the continued split of Germany.

Vicki The Roving Elephant Trapped, Gives Up Meekly

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Vicki the elephant guzzled tap water and chomped domesticated hay today, having put behind her 11 days of free-lance foraging in the woodlands of Mecklenburg County.

The 6-year-old Indian elephant, who went rambling Sept. 11 from her amusement park home about six miles from downtown Charlotte was run down yesterday by a volunteer posse.

Her pursuers herded her into an open field and let her exhaust herself with aimless running about. Then they circled her methodically with strands of rope, and when the web was completed snared her feet and got an elephant hook in her ear.

Judy Garland Has Laryngitis

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Judy Garland, who makes her television debut tomorrow night in a $300,000 show, is nursing laryngitis today.

CBS-TV may be a little worried, but Judy isn't. In a voice that sounded as if she might be Andy Devine's sister, Judy explained:

"I always get laryngitis as opening night nears. Just nerves. That's all it is. No germs involved. It'll go away as soon as I get in front of the audience. I hope. If not, I'll just sing over it."

Judy's debut will be an impressive one. She kicks off the network's Ford Star Jubilee, a once-a-month blockbuster that will number Bing Crosby among its stars in future productions.

The 90-minute show will be seen on CBS-TV 9:30-11 p.m., EDT.

David Wayne will costar with Judy on the color telecast. For the Broadway and Hollywood star, the billing is an unusually welcome one.

"It's the first time," Wayne told a reporter, "that I have ever played opposite a feminine star shorter than I. Imagine not having to act while standing on my tiptoes."

Judy is making her TV fling the hard way—she'll sing 16 songs, some sort of a record. In addition, she has to speak some Japanese. She does a skit with Mitsuko Sawamura, Tokyo songstress.

"I just know I'll goof that Japanese pronunciation and probably get us cut off the air," Judy said, laughing.

She Must Have Mistaken It For The Beauty Parlor

FORT WORTH (AP)—Blondie, the social lion of Graham, couldn't pass up the chatty atmosphere of a barber shop here this morning.

She jumped out of her owner's station wagon and joined the boys at McDougal's Barber Shop, 107 Main St.

Barbers J. W. McDougal and R. J. Rollins and one customer—who was waiting for a shine—"trotze" when the 2-year-old African lion strolled in, said McDougal.

"She walked in nonchalantly and just stretched out on the floor," said the shop operator.

"We just stood there and watched her."

Blondie's owner, Charles E. Hipp, came in quickly and led his pet back to his station wagon.

"She growled when he took her out," said McDougal. But she went out without struggling.

Blondie, on her way to Broadway, left the station wagon when it stopped for a traffic light.

She'll make her show business debut next Wednesday on Garry Moore's television show.

James Marlow GOP Chiefs Taking A Big Gamble

WASHINGTON — Republican party chiefs are taking the big gamble. They are planning for the 1956 presidential campaign on the assumption that President Eisenhower will agree to seek a second term.

he enjoys his job as well as the political game. In the midst of such uncertainty, the Republican chiefs appear confident they know their man and what he will do at the proper time. One of them said: "We think we know our candidate — and the Democrats don't. This gives us an advantage in planning the campaign."

Hal Boyle Come On, Fatso, Let's Rebel

NEW YORK — If manna suddenly fell from heaven, half the people in America would be afraid to taste it.

They are on a diet — and manna might have too many calories. I'm in that fix myself right now. Again I am a cowardly marshmallow, a fat man without the courage to stay that way. Like millions of other overweight fraidy cats, I am on a diet.

and nonsense from the human gazelles, who have to stand twice in the same place to throw a shadow? What virtue is there in looking like a thermometer every time you swallow a glass of milk lemonade?

L. Richard Guylay, GOP publicity chief, says: "The national committee is proceeding on the assumption that President Eisenhower will be the Republican candidate."

After the recent meeting of GOP state chairmen in Denver, some party leaders weren't so sure. Eisenhower warned them not to nail their flag so securely to one mast that if the ship sank, they couldn't rip it off and tie it to another.

The old aim of man was to be fat and sassy. The goal now is to be skinny and leering. Personally, I think the barrage of insults against the fat man is based on nothing but envy. A thin man loves company in his misery, and the mere sight of a fat man waddling contentedly and serenely through life drives him wild.

But GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall listened to everything the President had to say — and then announced he was more convinced than ever that Eisenhower would again head the ticket.

"If you want to stay healthy, keep in shape," warn the doctors, many of whom it will be noted, however, prefer themselves to match the silhouette of an Idaho potato.

How long are we fat people going to put up with this blather from the gazelle herds? Why don't we organize into a society. Wouldn't you like to become a POFF — a member of the Proud Order of Fat Folks?

Under these circumstances, it will place the Republicans on a fearful embarrassment spot should Eisenhower not choose to run.

Let's em go tell that to a whale. He'd laugh 'em right out of the water.

Those who think he won't make a second race put up this argument: Eisenhower is now 64. He may want to turn the job over to a younger man and retire to his Gettysburg farm, where he can enjoy the last years of his life.

Let's em go tell that to a whale. He'd laugh 'em right out of the water.

Let's em go tell that to a whale. He'd laugh 'em right out of the water.

But on the other side, they argue Eisenhower has a high sense of duty and that his duty is to remain in the White House another four years to carry out the program he has begun. They argue like won't let the party down and that he has come to the point where Strictly speaking, East Germany is still an area occupied by foreign troops as a result of the victory not just of Russia but of all the allies over Germany. Neither the western nor the eastern part should have been given an independent status till both were united and a peace treaty with the whole of Germany was signed.

Around The Rim Finds Some History A Bit Distorted

Being rather fanatical on the subject of history, we hate to see it distorted. School teachers and newspaper columnists are bad enough, but the world's worst rewriters of history are the movies.

As an example of Mongol ferocity and fighting ability, consider this: When the Mongol armies, under Genghis Khan invaded Turkestan and Persia, they had to leave a large army behind them in China, which still had not been completely conquered. They had to cross one of the world's highest, most rugged and coldest mountain ranges, the Tian Shan, in the middle of winter. Military historians place the number of Mongols who spent the winter in the Tian Shan at from 100,000 to 200,000, most probably the lower figure.

social security number through MGM and located his mother.

Take a fellow like Mel Schlink. He had been an agent in Hollywood for many years. Sometimes his 10 per cent from the clients' labors mounted up. Sometimes it didn't. Lately the moola wasn't rolling in.

"Now we're ready to make deals for all kinds of merchandise," Schlink said.

He started thinking. As anybody in show business knows, one of the most profitable sidelines is the tie-up industry.

Nearly every TV star appealing to kids does it. You see Howdy Doody on jam glasses, Guy Madison on cereal boxes, Davy Crockett on everything.

IONIA, Mich. — Dr. Garrett Heyns, warden of the Michigan State Reformatory, says a third of the 250,000 inmates in federal and state prisons shouldn't be there.

But, Schlink reasoned, one of the most popular shows on TV had no tieups. That was the Little Rascals.

Heyns told the National Probation and Parole Assn. that this third of current cases should have been handled by probation or other treatment at the community level.

The reason was obvious. Hal Roach made the comedy shorts 20 years ago. He sold them to a TV distributor after the war to get his studio out of hock. Now the child stars in the comedies have grown up and scattered.

Another third of the inmates, he said, have relatively simple problems that can be taken care of in time. He termed the remaining third "hard core cases" that require long confinement.

His first objective was Spanky McFarland. He was located in Texas, where he had gone after an unsuccessful comeback try in Hollywood. Schlink convinced him to return again and signed him up for tie-ups as well as acting.

Heyns, former president of the American Prison Assn., said that prisons "were not meant to prevent crime, but rather to prevent recurrence of crime."

Alfalfa had become a bear hunting guide in Northern California, then returned to Hollywood for a couple of roles. He married and retired to a farm in Kansas. Schlink located him there through a casting director who knew him.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — The woman dependent in municipal court raised her left hand when City Clerk Duffy Horan started to give her the oath.

"Next came Daria Hood," the agent said. "She was the easiest to find, because she had been working in Jimmy McHugh's night club act. But because she was the only one still active in show business, she was the hardest to sell."

"But this is my right hand," she replied. "I'm left-handed. It's the hand I use all the time."

About Marriage

Should school age teen-agers marry? No, I answered awhile back, but just as "a cat can look at a queen," teen-agers can be preparing themselves for that eventful day when they will say "I do."

Many of you have written asking what sort of preparation I meant.

Planning for marriage is a normal sign in normal young people, and everyone knows the more looking you do before buying, the better your purchase will be.

One girl I know has carefully planned the color scheme of each room of her home. In a treasured scrapbook she keeps clippings concerning home decoration. Another girl has a small chest crammed full of the prize recipes of her mother's and her mother's friends.

Many boys are already getting Dad to show them how to replace fuses, install electric outlets, repair iron cords, and the like.

Getting married, remember, is just more everyday living. It's happier, of course, but it holds more responsibility, too.

A good wife, among other things, is a capable homemaker. By dating many types of boys now, she can learn much about understanding the moods and problems her future husband may present.

Realizing chastity is a worthwhile ideal, and keeping your love-making reasonably light is doing a great deal to make your eventual marriage a successful one.

Establishing yourself in a church, not only so you may have a formal wedding, but so you will find an ever constant source of inspiration and help for despair. Church is a lifesaver to cling to when life's tide becomes turbulent, and it brings great, immeasurable peace and contentment when all is going well.

Church weddings among sincere religious people rarely are "put asunder" by man in a divorce court.

Laying the foundation for a happy, satisfying marriage may not seem to fill your present desire, but remember nothing is any stronger or more enduring than its foundation, and that foundation building is now!

Legless Boy Walks Home

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Bobbie Dunn is back at his Pontiac home, and he made it under his own power.

Bobbie, 14, lost both legs while trying to catch a ride on a freight train last Christmas day. One leg was severed and the other had to be amputated.

Benn Dunn, his father, was jobless at the time. There was no money for hospital care and expensive artificial legs.

Nancy Donaldson, daughter of Pontiac Mayor John Donaldson, started a collection. With money donated by townspeople Bobbie was sent to a hospital in Grand Rapids, where he was fitted with artificial legs.

He returned home yesterday for a happy reunion with his family. And neatly tucked away in a Pontiac bank is $12,000 in his name, the remainder of the fund donated for his care.

Ernest B. De Silva, public school superintendent, barred the film from the Hilo High School and auditorium.

Maj. Gen. Fred W. Makinney, adjutant general of the Hawaii National Guard, refused to permit a showing in the armory where the ILLUW territorial convention is being held.

Knife-Wielding Tar Terrorizes Bus Passengers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A knife-wielding sailor terrorized a bus driver and his 28 other passengers yesterday on a 20-mile ride along the Pennsylvania Turnpike before the driver grabbed a fire ax and subdued him.

The sailor, Robert L. Jones, 23, of Washington, D. C., was held without charge today by police pending action by naval authorities.

The driver, W. E. Small, 50, and four of his passengers required treatment for shock.

Officers gave this version: A short time after the Washington-bound bus had left Pittsburgh, Jones went berserk, shouting that a woman passenger had told him he took her seat. He ran behind Small's seat, pulled a switchblade knife and pressed the point of it against the throat of the startled driver.

"Keep going," he roared at Small.

Finally, Jones ordered Small to pull the bus into the driveway of a restaurant. When the bus stopped, Jones forced the passengers to leave. As they hastily complied, Small grabbed the fire ax, swung menacingly at Jones and cowed the sailor.

State police arrived soon afterwards and took Jones into custody. Jones, a Negro, was reported to have been serving as a cook aboard the USS Wasp, an aircraft carrier.

Freed Americans Reported Aboard Ship At Shanghai

HONG KONG (AP) — Two American civilians long detained in Red China reportedly boarded a ship at Shanghai today, U. S. consular officials said. Four others are expected to leave by ship in the next two weeks.

The 6 are on the list of 12 civilians detained in China up to 5 years for lack of exit permits. The Reds announced recently at Geneva that they were free to leave.

U. S. Vice Consul Robert Aylward said he had received word that Emma Angelina Barry, 10, and Robert Howard Parker, 52-year-old Philadelphia-born businessman, were aboard the British freighter Hunan due in Hong Kong Sept. 27. Emma, whose American father's whereabouts is unknown, was reported to be with her White Russian mother. Parker was believed to be accompanied by his White Russian wife.

The four others expected to leave by ship:

Sister Eva Stella Dugay, 62, Boston Carmelite nun, known as Sister Theresa; Mrs. Marcella Eileen Hulzer of Walcott, Ind., who consular officials said would board the British freighter Surat leaving Shanghai next week for Hong Kong; and Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Ricks of Boscobel, Wis., booked to Yokohama in the Dutch ship Sireat Ball leaving Shanghai Oct. 6. Mrs. Hulzer is believed accompanied by her Dutch husband Pieter.

Mystery deepened today when the Reds are freeing Dilmus T. Kanady, Houston cottonman, the only unreturned prisoner of 10 Americans promised immediate release at Geneva. Speculation was growing that Kanady, too, is exiting by ship because of his reported poor physical condition.

ITAMI, Japan (AP) — Japanese farmers and sympathizers for weeks have demonstrated against enlarging the U. S. Itami Air Base. Four hundred cabaret operators, pub owners and laundrymen—who enjoy a brisk business with U. S. servicemen—turned out yesterday in a demonstration against the demonstrators.

Medics Say Johnson Is Making 'Progress'

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — Doctors at Scott and White Memorial Hospital said yesterday that Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) is making very satisfactory progress. He suffered a heart attack this summer. The Senate majority leader flew here for an examination and left immediately for his home at Johnson City, Tex.

Businessmen In Morocco Hurt By Terrorism

By CARL HARTMAN
RABAT, French Morocco (U)—French farmer Pierre Robin won't bottle much wine this year. Terrorists burned 200 of his vines the other night, within 10 miles of Casablanca.

Moroccan textile importer Babi Berrada won't be doing any business at all. Terrorists shot him down at the door of his home for disobeying their boycott of French goods.

French officials say terrorists have actually destroyed only a tiny part of Morocco's great potential wealth. But the terrorists obviously hope the French will be frightened enough to pull out. Some are doing just that. Others are pressing Paris for a "tough" policy to protect themselves.

French officials say terrorists have actually destroyed only a tiny part of Morocco's great potential wealth. But the terrorists obviously hope the French will be frightened enough to pull out. Some are doing just that. Others are pressing Paris for a "tough" policy to protect themselves.

On the Nationalists get a start on home rule, they may be able to halt the terrorists. It will be some time, though, until businessmen get their confidence back.

France has made great strides in developing Morocco's wealth. Visitors are always struck by the skyscrapers gleaming white under the African sun. But a few hundred yards away they can find some of the world's most wretched slums, built of scrap lumber and old tin cans. There is plenty of building to do.

Outside the cities farm and mineral wealth are only beginning to be tapped by modern methods. Many thousands of potentially fertile acres await irrigation. The Khourigba phosphate mines, heavily damaged by Nationalist saboteurs last month, are among the world's greatest. Coal, iron, zinc, lead, cobalt, antimony and manganese are also among major exports.

The nine million inhabitants of Morocco have an annual income equal to not much more than a billion and a half dollars. The half million European colonists who have a large share of this sum are already avid buyers of foreign goods. The Moroccans would doubtless imitate them if they had the means.

But instead of developing, Morocco's economy is stagnating. Fearing taxation and nationalization in France, many French businessmen sent their money to North Africa after World War II. Since terrorism started to develop in Morocco 2½ years ago, the movement has shifted in the other direction.

Production and exports are holding up fairly well, but imports from France are down. Tourism has few attractions in times like these.

Renewed Allegiance to the Law

EZRA'S READING THE WORD OF GOD RESULTED IN A GREAT REVIVAL

Scripture—Nehemiah 8; 9: 10-28-39; Ezekiel 80:19-20.
By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THIRTEEN years before today's lesson begins, the scribe Ezra had been sent to Jerusalem on a mission of inspection. About 1,700 men accompanied him, among them some few whom he had persuaded to belong to the lower order of Levites.

He was able to accomplish some reforms, including the divorcing of Israelites from foreign women. What became of Ezra after this visit we do not know. Possibly, it has been suggested, he went back to Babylon in grief of the condition of his people and their indifference to Jehovah.

Since the first great revival, told to us in the seventh chapter of Nehemiah, seven years have gone by. Ezra has returned to Jerusalem (if he ever left it), and the people gathered together in the street before the water gate and asked Ezra to read to them the people learned that they were instructed to celebrate the Feast of the Tabernacles in booths, so they gathered olive branches, and pine branches, branches of myrtle trees, and made booths upon the roofs of their houses and sat under the booths, "and there was great gladness." The feast lasted seven days.

"Now in the twenty and fourth day of this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, and with sackcloth clothes and earth upon them.

"And the seed of Israel separated themselves from all strangers, and stood and confessed their sins, and the iniquities of their fathers."

Toward the end of the prayers of confession, the people were commanded to stand up and bless the Lord their God, and the whole history of the blessings which Jehovah had bestowed upon them from their creation unto that day were reviewed. Then a covenant was made and written and the princes, Levites and priests put their seal upon it.

The people of Israel then promised not to marry their daughters or sons to foreign people; also to observe the law concerning their offerings to the Lord—giving the firstfruits of all they produced and tithes in all the cities; also the heave-offering of the new wine and oil.

"I am the Lord your God; walk in My statutes, and keep My judgments, and do them."

So the people of Israel turned back from their idolatrous ways and once more worshipped God who had forgiven and blessed them.

Inhalator Squad Loses A Friend

LANSING, Mich. (U)—No more will the Lansing fire department dispatcher sing out: "It's Harry again!"

No more will the inhalator squad race off to the residence of Harry D. Cove, 67-year-old businessman who suffered from heart trouble.

The squad revived Cove 172 times over the years and claimed that he was the world's "most revived man."

Yesterday he died.

The squad was not called the last time.

Needle Expert To Get Her Flag

OMAHA (U)—Frau Elsa Taake is an expert with the embroidery needle. Because she is, this story unfolded.

Frau Taake decided she wanted to make an embroidered writing case for the North Atlantic Treaty commander in chief, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther.

And it being that Gen. Gruenther comes from Nebraska Frau Taake decided the adjutant general at Washington would have it. So on went the request.

The adjutant general at Washington didn't have one. But he figured the chief of the Nebraska Military District at Omaha would have one. On went the request.

Col. John R. Dey, the Nebraska district boss, who told the story last night, didn't have one. But he figured Nebraska Adj. Gen. Guy N. Henninger would have one. On went the request.

Gen. Henninger didn't have a color reproduction. But he had an answer. He sent Col. Dey his own real Nebraska flag from Lincoln.

And now Donald P. Christensen, a civilian engineering employee of the Nebraska district, is busy with brush and paint making the color reproduction that Frau Taake wants.

It will go out in the mails next week to keep Frau Taake's needle busy.

And down the line the word can be passed: "Mission accomplished."

U.S. Polio Incidence Continues Decrease

WASHINGTON (U)—New polio cases reported last week to the Public Health Service totaled 1,950, continuing the slight weekly decrease first recorded early this month.

In its weekly report today, the Health Service noted, too, that the total included 13 delayed reports from Missouri.

The total was 59 below the 2,009 new cases in the week ended Sept. 10 and was 724 under the 2,674 in the comparable 1954 week.

For 1955 thus far there have been 29,165 cases, compared with 23,996 up to this time a year ago.

Health Service spokesmen said indications now are that the year's total will not exceed 35,000 cases and may drop as low as 30,000. The 1954 total was 38,741.

The spokesman said new cases may drop off sharply beginning any week after Sept. 24. On the basis of statistical experience, the season of high incidence is coming to an end.

Massachusetts again led the states in cases listed last week with 776, compared with 290 the previous week.

New York was second, with 251, a slight increase over the 245 in the week ended Sept. 10.

Wisconsin had 199, a drop from the 224 in the preceding week.

Other states with more than 100 cases last week were Ohio 126, California 115, and Illinois 112.

Decreases were noted last week in the New England, Middle Atlantic, South Atlantic and West South Central divisions of the States.

The other five divisions had increases, with the incidence in the Mountain and Pacific States going up 50 per cent over the preceding week. However, the totals for the Mountain States were 78 last week and 52 the week before and 183 and 122 for the Pacific States were 183 and 122.

California accounted for 115 of the 18 cases in the Pacific States, and 55 of those were in Los Angeles County.

The communicable disease center reported that 602 cases of polio had been confirmed in persons who had been given the Salk anti-polio vaccine, 224 of them paralytic. More than 6½ million persons have been given the vaccine since it was licensed April 12.

The service repeated its weekly comment that no conclusions can be drawn as yet as to the effectiveness of the present vaccination program.

Massachusetts again led the states in cases listed last week with 776, compared with 290 the previous week.

Baptists Plan To Convert Braceros In 'Cotton Patch' Drive

DALLAS (U)—Baptist leaders today announced a "cotton patch crusade" to convert 1,000 Mexican nationals working in fields near Pecos in West Texas.

Fourteen Spanish-speaking pastors and missionaries will lead the services Oct. 10-16. Meetings will be at 8 p. m., daily in seven work camp sites and conclude the night of Oct. 16 with a mass meeting on the Pecos rodeo grounds.

The audience at the meetings will sit on the ground, on boxes, sacks, crates and makeshift benches. Headquarters will be the First (Spanish-speaking) Baptist Church of Pecos. Local church people will assist the 14 leaders.

Rev. Rudy Hernandez, who is in charge of Spanish-speaking work for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, is chairman of the crusade, first of its kind attempted in Texas.

Town Has Good Traffic Record

JOHNSTON, S.C. (U)—Johnston, population about 2,000, has never had a traffic fatality as far as anyone seems to know.

Also, no one ever has been hurt seriously in the comparatively rare accidents here, it is believed.

The records came to light when the Junior Chamber of Commerce undertook to put up a sign on Main Street telling the number of days since the last traffic accident and last fatality.

The J.C. traced the records back 13 years without finding a single person killed or seriously hurt. So 13 years is the time put on the sign.

But Mayor E. R. Mobley, in office more than 20 years, said he is sure that the number of days without a fatality actually could be traced back to the day the first automobile appeared in Johnston.

"We've never made any special effort at traffic control," Mobley said. There is only one traffic light in town.

Foe Of Integration Has 'Nothing' Against Negroes

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff

Ross Carlton, who wants Texas to continue segregating whites and Negroes, excused himself to answer the phone.

"Yes, this is Carlton," he said in the kind of gravelly drawl many big men have. "Good to hear from you, George. Haven't seen you in years."

Two minutes pass during which Carlton listened to his caller, with now and then an approving "yup" or "uh huh." Finally:

"That's exactly the way I feel, George. I've got a jillion friends who are Negroes. It's not that at all."

"Sure, I'll have a membership card in the mail for you today. Sure will."

Thus another member is enrolled in the Texas Citizens Council, Carlton is president and attorney. The council is pledged to uphold segregation by all peaceful and legal means.

Carlton is a big 6 foot, 2 inch friendly man who likes to wear sport shirts and slacks at work. He is 44 years old, his left arm is scarred and stiff from an old auto accident. He slouches in his big chair and talks easily.

His office, rather small and old-fashioned, is on the top floor of the Commercial Building in Dallas. If he's wealthy, it doesn't show. The yellow paint is peeling in spots on his office ceiling. There's a thumb-sized hole in the armpit of the leather sofa. The dust-covered, silver cigarette lighter on his desk doesn't work.

The law books are in the outer office, shared with his partner. In his office Carlton has a strange collection running to "Texas Folk Songs," "Works of Plato," "Information Please Almanac," "Letters from Lee's Army," "Gashouse McGinty" and a Spanish grammar.

Carlton does all kinds of law work but concentrates on business law, which he likes despite the hard work.

More phone calls about the council work interrupt the interview. Carlton asks his partner to take his calls so he can give all his time to answering the questions, which he has been told will be about him, not about segregation arguments.

"Guess my relations with Negroes have been about the same as every one else's."

"I was born and raised right here in Dallas except for four years as a boy in Atlanta. My daddy was in the school book distribution business. I was puny as a boy. Had asthma and spent years in bed. Learned to read in bed."

"We've always had Negro servants. I've lived with Negroes all my life and played with little Negro kids. I don't have anything against the Negroes."

"No, I've never run for public office. I was assistant attorney general under Gerald Mann in 1939 through 1942 and I handled Mann's campaign in Dallas County one year. I suppose you would call me a conservative Democrat. (A picture of arch-conservative Coke Stevenson, inscribed to "My Good Friend, Ross Carlton," hangs on the wall). In 1952, well, I just didn't vote."

"1956? Well, I think it (segregation) will be at least one of the outstanding issues in the Southern states. It could be the only issue in the campaign for governor here in Texas."

"Had he thought of running for governor?"

"I've been asked about it but haven't given it any particular thought. I suppose if there were no candidate taking the right stand (against integration) I would consider it. I've never actually wanted public office."

"I didn't ask for this job (heading the Texas Citizens Council). They already had an informal organization going when they called on me. Now our council is growing naturally into a sort of supervisory council for those in other cities. We have them now in Kilgore, Gilmer, Marshall, Orange, Fort Worth, Waco and LaGrange. So far we're doing it entirely on a voluntary basis. There are no salaries and the only money going out is for out-of-pocket expenses, like phone bills.

"It takes more than half my time now and I'm not pushing it." Carlton was asked why he got into it.

"It's a matter of principle. I'm not going to accept integration. It's my belief a majority of the people of Texas will not if they can be shown something can be done about it. I intend to show them."

The phone rang. An urgent call was being let through.

"Yes, this is Carlton. Why, hello senator. Why, sure, sure."

It was a very influential state senator.

"That's just the way I feel, senator," Carlton said after listening a moment. "I don't have anything against Negroes. Yes, I'll have a card in the mail for you right away."

Banker Indicted In Embezzlement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Roscoe D. Coon, horse-loving vice president and cashier of a desert town bank that closed July 25, has been indicted on 25 counts of embezzlement, misapplication of funds and false entries.

"This is the most fantastic embezzlement case which has ever come before local authorities," said U.S. Atty. Laughlin E. Waters. "Apparently the shortages go back to 1953, and we have been unable to find evidence that any other person was involved."

Federal authorities said the Joshua Monument National Bank—the only one in the desert community of Twenty-nine Palms—closed after an audit showed a shortage of $678,000.

Waters said Coon, who owns banks at suburban Altadena and Twenty-nine Palms, was arrested at the Del Mar race track where he had a racing stable valued at about $150,000.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which insured the bank's deposits, has obtained an injunction preventing Coon from disposing of any of his assets.

Stinkin' Shame

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There's one dress shop here that may be having a different sort of fire sale soon. A skunk got loose in the shop and fired several times before he was trapped by three policemen. They clapped a box over him, wrapped him up tightly in protective plastic, and later had the final shot.

All In A Day's Work

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—An excited telephone operator called police, told them a receiver was off the hook at a local residence and that she could hear sounds of violence. Police found out she was 100 per cent correct. They found the family clustered about a television set watching a shoot-em-up program.

Sweden Progressive, Not Always Admired

By REP. D. B. HARDEMAN
STOCKHOLM, Sweden — This pretty land of Sweden is one of the bright spots of Europe.

Wages are good, jobs are plentiful, the people dress splendidly and have lots of good food, and have so many cars that their traffic problem is severe.

Part of the reason for their prosperity is that they managed to stay out of both World War I and World War II, selling lots of iron ore, steel, timber, machine products and other things to both sides.

There's more to it than that—the Swedes are a clever, inventive, hard-working, sober-minded people who take life mighty seriously. They have fine homes and apartments, cleaner than most hospitals, they are excellent and dependable workers, they are among the most honest people in the world.

It is not a magnificent country like Norway, but it is pleasing and home-like. It reminds me of Wisconsin and certain parts of Minnesota and Michigan.

I had a mental picture of the Swedes being a tall, blond people. Well, a lot of them are, but the ratio of blondes and brunettes seemed about 50-50 to me.

To me the Swedes were very hospitable, correct, and reserved. They lack the bounding joyousness of the Danes and the simple, unaffected friendliness of the Norwegians. They are very class-conscious and title-conscious, the title business being carried to the point of almost being a pain in the neck.

That is one of the reasons why the Swedes, although highly respected, are not liked by their neighboring Danes and Norwegians.

There is a deeper reason for this friction. In World War II Norway, Denmark, and Finland all were invaded and had a rough time, while Sweden stayed neutral, allowing German troops to cross Sweden on their way to Norway and Finland and selling goods to the Germans as well as the Allies. It will be a long time before the other Scandinavians forgive them for that.

Swedes are notorious in Northern Europe for not being able to handle liquor well, and for 80 years they have had the most restrictive liquor laws in Europe, such as requiring the purchase of food with a drink. In October this system is being drastically liberalized so Swedes can buy all their wants in the government-owned package stores.

Sweden also runs its autos, streetcars, and buses on the left side of the road, as they do in England. That system is being widely criticized, and the government will decide this fall whether to switch to right-hand traffic.

Their national capital, Stockholm, a city about the size of Houston, is one of the handsomest cities in the world with magnificent public buildings, parks, wide streets, fine lighting, and marvelous stores and restaurants.

Sweden long has had the most complete social security system in the world, covering medicine, apartments, pensions, and dozens of other programs. It has a semi-socialistic government which lives in harmony side by side with its kings, its nobility, and its social snobbery.

You can eat mighty well in Sweden, but things are not cheap. I liked Sweden and I liked the Swedes, but there is not the open-handed "Howdy, Neighbor" spirit there that is so prevalent in Norway, Denmark, or even Italy and Austria. It takes a while—and perhaps a proper introduction—to get close to the Swedes.

Lock, Gun Replace Friendly Air After Slaying Of Couple

STOCKBRIDGE Mich. (AP)—The lock and the gun have replaced the open door and friendly handshake in this central Michigan community, blanketed by a fog of fear since the "hammer-slaying" of a farm couple Sept. 3.

The town (pop. 1,096) lies only 18 miles from the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson, the world's largest walled institution.

Stockbridge people didn't worry much about their neighbors until the night when the battered bodies of Howard Herrick 63, and his wife Myra, 62, were found at their farm five miles away. A bloodied hammer lay nearby.

The discovery touched off a nationwide search for Nealy Buchanan, 31, who escaped from the prison the day before the killing. Police said his fingerprints were found at the scene.

Buchanan has not been found.

In the past two weeks, fear has sifted past the locked doors and into the heart of a town which once welcomed strangers.

Hardware stores say their stocks of locks have been exhausted and ammunition sales are booming. Husbands are teaching their wives how to handle shotguns and rifles.

The town has been converted into a tense arena of false alarms, rumors and scares.

Joseph Southwell, Stockbridge village marshal, says, "If I had a flat tire in some of the rural areas I would be afraid to walk up to a farmhouse. Every one of them has a rifle or shotgun, loaded and right next to the door."

One woman keeps a revolver in her refrigerator.

"I was born and raised right here in Dallas except for four years as a boy in Atlanta. My daddy was in the school book distribution business. I was puny as a boy. Had asthma and spent years in bed. Learned to read in bed."

"We've always had Negro servants. I've lived with Negroes all my life and played with little Negro kids. I don't have anything against the Negroes."

Steers Meet Ysleta Tonight

The Big Spring Steers were on their way to Ysleta this morning and tonight they will try to tame an energetic tribe of Ysleta Indians for their first victory of the year.

Lakeview Plays Littlefield Here At 8 P.M. Today

Big Springers get their first chance to look at the Lakeview Rockets in action at home when Coach Roosevelt Brown's boys meet Littlefield at 8 p.m. today under the lights at Steer Stadium.

The Rockets, with visions of a perfect season, may have a tough bite to chew tonight, for on their only common opponent they stacked up fairly close. Littlefield defeated Slaton 26-6. Last week the Rockets measured Slaton 26-0, but the game was played in a driving rain.

If his ground game bogs, Brown is prepared to send an all-out aerial barrage against Littlefield. He has had little occasion to limber up this artillery, but last week Willie Roy English hit Robert Byrd for a 45-yard completion that indirectly led to a score. Other scores came on long runs, a 58-yard scamper by Alvin King, 35 yards by Clarence Williams and a 45-yard punt return by Ernest Byrd.

The Rockets will be running from the T formation this evening. Only one change is due in the starting lineup, and that may send Charles Evans in at center, replacing James Conner.

With the exception of Richard Evans, all the Rockets are in good physical trim. Richard is nursing injuries sustained two weeks ago, and although he is mending rapidly, Brown likely will not let him in the game.

Yankees Can Clinch Pennant With Win Today

This is the day the New York Yankees can clinch the American League pennant and officially relegate the Cleveland Indians to a state of fruitless frustration once again.

The Yankees, rumbly along on an eight-game winning streak, can claim their sixth banner in seven seasons with a victory in either the day or night portion of a doubleheader at Boston. They can do it without that should the Indians drop their afternoon game at Detroit.

If the Tribe, losing five of the last six, comes up with another clunker New York can lose all four of its remaining games and still hang up the bunting in the Yankee Stadium for the opening game of the World Series against Brooklyn next Wednesday.

To get the job done, Manager Casey Stengel has picked Don Larsen (8-2) to face the Red Sox, who have lost seven in a row, in this afternoon's game. Tommy Byrne (11-4) has the night game assignment. Tom Brewer (11-10) and Willard Nixon (12-9) were the Boston choices.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, still hoping for a miracle, has selected Herb Score (15-10) to face Detroit's Frank Lary (13-14). The rockie who hung one on the Tribe last weekend.

With three games left, Cleveland needs one more victory—or a defeat by the third place Chicago White Sox—to claim the No. 2 spot.

ing to fill up the chinks in their defense, were in good physical condition for the tilt.

They completed preparations for the game with a light workout Thursday afternoon, running a few plays they hope will click against the Ysletans and again brushing up on their defensive strategy which they hope will prove effective against either a passing or running attack.

Back in the Steer lineup was Johnny Janak, who missed the Big Springers' only other game. Ysleta players also were injury free and are expected to be gunning for their second win of the year.

The Indians defeated Roswell, N. M., by a lopsided score last weekend while Big Spring was idle. The Steers' only game this year, two weeks ago, ended in a 13-13 tie. A surprising Andrews Mustang eleven held the Steers at bay and all but scored an upset in that tilt.

Big Spring's starting lineup tonight is expected to include Milton Davis and Jan Lauder milk at ends, Gary Cagle and John Davenport in the tackle slots, Randall Hamby and Preston Bridges at the guard posts, Jerry Graves at center, and Jerry Barron, Ronnie Phillips and Janak, Stormy Edwards and signal-caller Charles Johnson in the backfield.

The Indians' pass-snagging ends, Charles Roseman and Robert Jones are to be joined by D. MacCafferty and Richard Boeb at tackle positions, John Peterson and Todd Ware at guard, Vincent Esperaza at center, passer Glenn Adams at quarterback, and C. Thompson, George Spence and Kenneth Mecham at the other backfield posts.

Defensively, the Steers will use Davis and Gerald Lackey at ends, Cagle and Hamby at tackles and Bridges and Charles Johnson at guards. Graves, Barron, Janak and either Alton McCarty and Phillips will back up the line.

The Steers traveled to Ysleta on the Howard County Junior College bus, a regular highway passenger carrier. They will remain overnight in El Paso and return to Big Spring Saturday.

TWINS WILL BE OPPOSITES

LUBBOCK—Casual observers at the Texas Tech-TCU game here Saturday may think someone is trying to save money by employing only one trainer.

That's because Tech's trainer looks exactly like TCU's trainer. He ought to be. He's Delmer Brown, twin brother of TCU's Elmer Brown.

Delmer and Elmer teamed with Wayne and Blaine Rideout to give North Texas State confusing and speedy relay teams in the mid-30's.

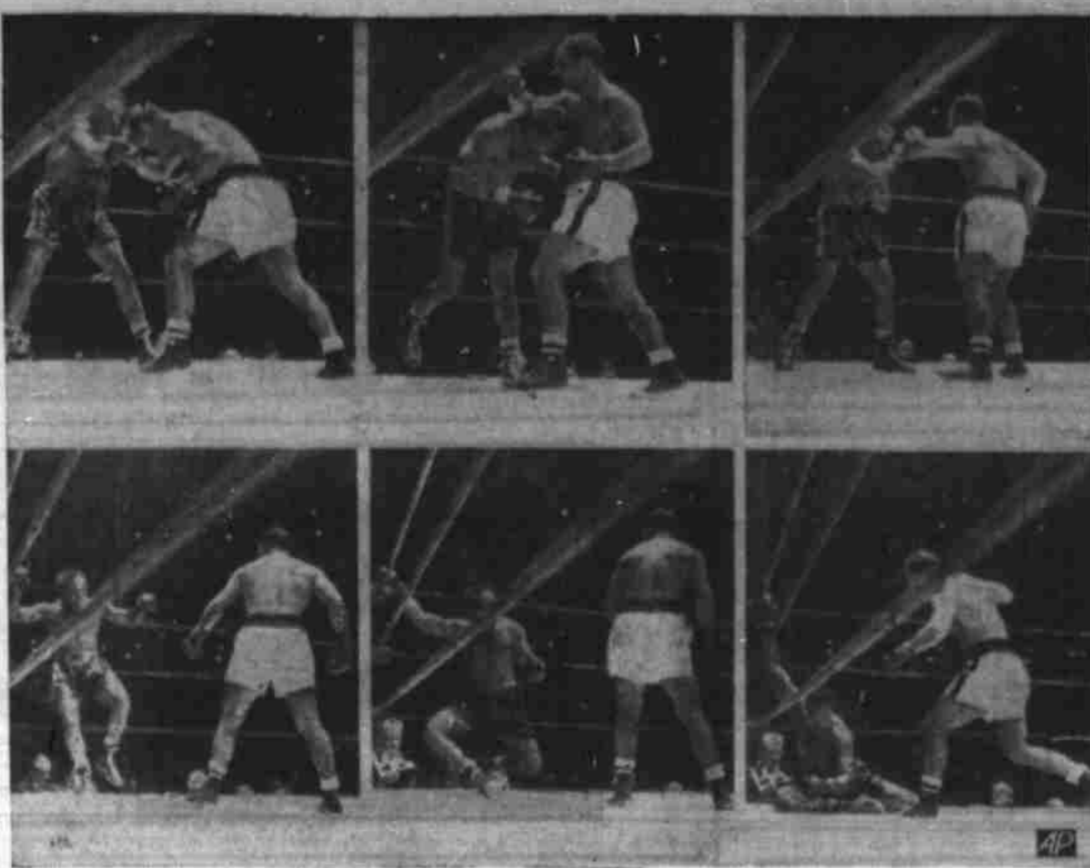

Big Spring eighth graders took a rough-and-tumble football game 1-0 here Thursday evening when Sweetwater Coach Dalton Hill stalked off the field with his boys.

The score was knotted 14-14 at the time and about four minutes remained in the last quarter. James Harrington and J. E. Davis had been the big offensive noises for the Calves, scoring on a 30-yard jaunt around end and running back a kickoff for 85 yards and a touchdown. J. E. Davis added both points.

Robert Parsons, a seat back who threaded a needle through the line all night, put Sweetwater in the lead early in the first quarter with a 33-yard run. Earl Collins added the point.

Big Spring rallied on a drive that started on the Cal 36 and saw Davis and Harrington pulling it to the Sweetwater 30, from where Harrington ran over with Davis leading the blocking.

Davis picked up the kickoff for the second half, cut up the middle to find some sharp blocking, angled a little to his left and was away for the touchdown. Davis plunged

Rocky Wins By KO

Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano turns back challenger Archie Moore in the light heavyweight title holder's bid for the heavyweight crown and a right and left in the ninth round of their title bout in Yankee Stadium in New York. FOES LINE UP

Rocky To Fight Again Next June

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano will be back in action next June. The possible victims include Cuba's Nino Valdes, hulking Bob Baker of Pittsburgh, Hurricane Tommy Jackson of New York or Floyd Patterson, the once-beaten Olympic champion of Brooklyn.

The invincible Brocton Blaster, having earned half a million dollars for his ninth-round knockout of Archie Moore in a spectacular brawl Wednesday night, has decided to go after a few more helpings.

The 26-year-old Patterson doesn't seem a likely choice soon either. Now the No. 1 contender for Archie's 175-pound crown, the fast-punching youngster is being groomed as a heavyweight threat for 1957.

Baker may be the next choice. Winner of nine straight, including a decision over Valdes, the 28-year-old, 6-3, 210-pounder had been ticketed for a title shot before Moore's clamor and his wins over Valdes and Carl (Bobo) Olson got Archie his chance.

Valdes, another 6-3 husky, zoomed back into the picture by stopping England's Don Cockell in three rounds in London Sept. 13. It helped alone for two straight defeats by Moore and Bob Satterfield.

Jackson, a freakish fighter with unlimited stamina, could barge his way into the spot. A nonstop puncher but lacking in power, the 23-year-old, 6-2, 195-pounder has won eight straight since he was stopped in two rounds by Valdes 14 months ago.

Manager Al Weil, in naming Valdes, Baker, Jackson and Patterson as possible June opponents, said also he had received an offer for Rocky to box Italy's Franco Cavicchi, Europe's heavyweight champion, in Italy. There's not a chance Weil will permit Rocky to risk his crown outside the United States.

Trans-Miss Second Round Set For Today

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Contestants in the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament hoped for better weather today as play was resumed in the second round of the association's silver anniversary tournament over the Twin Hills Country Club Course.

Steady rains, started at mid-morning, continued throughout the day to make the course unplayable for yesterday's scheduled second round.

Medalist Mary Ann Downey, the current eastern champion, and 1951 Trans champion, stayed close to par to move two up over Dale Fleming, a 19-year-old University of Tulsa student, after 12 holes.

Coahoma Pups Keep Perfect Season Record

COAHOMA — Hot as a duelling pistol, Fullback Eddie Allen broke loose for three touchdowns here Thursday evening to lead Coahoma's Bullpups to a 20-0 victory over Lorraine Juniors.

Eddie didn't let the fans get seated before he had his first score. On the first play from scrimmage he took the ball on a reverse and raced 80 yards to score. He rammed over the extra point to stake the Bullpups to a 7-0 lead. Before the first quarter was over, his mates sprung him through tackle and he streaked 45 yards for another tally. Randall Reid kicked the extra point and the half ended with Coahoma leading 14-0.

Marco Westmoreland, Tom Hodnett, Harold Aberegg and Allen alternated in pounding the ball down to the Lorraine 15 early in the third canto. Allen ambled around end for the touchdown. Reid's kick was barely short.

Lorraine drove to the Coahoma 25 in the fourth quarter, but the Bullpup forwards stiffened and the ball went over on downs. Coahoma linemen — Robert Cearly, Max Kimmer, David Burris, Jimmy Watts, Doyle Warren, Randall Reid and Jackie Gaines — bristled with fine defensive play when the chips were down.

Not only did the Bullpups annex their third victory of the year and boosted their aggregate score to 78 points, but they kept intact their record of having no opponents cross their goal line.

Maryland-UCLA Clash Tops College Grid Slate

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press
Outstanding exponents of the split T and single-wing styles of football clash tomorrow when Jim Tatum's Maryland Terrapins and Red Sanders' Bruins from UCLA meet in what shapes up the nation's No. 1 college gridiron attraction.

Colleges of all sizes swing into action for the big Saturday of the new season but the meeting of top-ranked UCLA and fifth-ranked Maryland at College Park, Md., figures to be the "big" game. Both came through unscathed in their openers last Saturday.

UCLA, boasting a powerful single-wing attack built around quarterback Ronnie Knox and featuring Sanders' balanced-line version of the style, easily defeated Texas Aggies 21-0 in the Bruins' opener.

By contrast, Maryland squeaked past Missouri 13-12. Tatum has called his split T quarterback Frank Tamburello the best in his time at Maryland. But it is the Terrapins' line that could spell trouble for Knox and company.

The UCLA-Maryland game is the only one involving two teams ranked among the top 10 but every other member of the select group will be in action against major opposition.

Oklahoma (No. 3) takes on North Carolina in an intercollegiate duel at Chapel Hill, N. C. Michigan (No. 4) plays Missouri, Ohio State (No. 6) hits Nebraska at Columbus, Pittsburgh (No. 7) clashes with Syracuse, Mississippi (No. 8) meets Kentucky in a Southeastern Conference clash that could go a long way toward deciding the league title. Navy (tied for 9th) warms up for a rugged campaign against William and Mary, Southern California (tied for No. 9) plays Oregon in a Pacific Coast Conference tilt tonight.

There also are plenty of intercollegiate games among other top teams. One which will be watched with more than ordinary interest is Notre Dame against Southern Methodist at South Bend, Ind. The Irish were ranked 11th in the first Associated Press poll. They may be better than that.

Other intercollegiate battles bring together Illinois and California, Minnesota and Washington, Purdue and College of Pacific, Washington State and Kansas, Wichita and Utah State, Indiana takes on Michigan State in a Big Ten contest.

Army, rated one of the East's leading independents, should have no trouble against Furman. Neither should Baylor against Villanova or Pennsylvania against VPI. Duke, Maryland's chief rival for Atlantic Coast Conference honors, debuts with North Carolina State.

West Virginia, Southern Conference power, meets Richmond, Deeper in the South, there's Georgia-Vanderbilt, Clemson-Virginia, Tennessee-Mississippi State, South Carolina-Wake Forest and George Washington-VMI.

The Southwest features Rice-Alabama, Tulane-Texas, Arkansas-Oklahoma Aggies, Texas Aggies-Louisiana State and TCU-Texas Tech.

Columbia-Brown is the only Ivy League game but elsewhere in the East Penn State plays Boston University, Colgate meets Dartmouth, Yale takes on Connecticut, Princeton plays Rutgers in the sports' oldest rivalry and Cornell opens with Lehigh.

School Warrants Go Out Without Integration Rider

AUSTIN (AP)—State warrants totaling $16,885,232 will be mailed to schools throughout Texas on or before Sept. 29, without reference to whether a school has integrated Negro and white students.

State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said today that pending litigation in the Texas Supreme Court concerning use of state aid in integrated schools will not delay September payments.

"No one has enjoined us from doing so. We certainly don't feel we have authority to withhold funds," Edgar told a reporter.

The Supreme Court case involves a district court ruling at Big Spring in which the trial court upheld the right of integrated schools to use state funds.

The Texas Citizens Council, an anti-integration group, is appealing the Supreme Court to prohibit use of state money in such schools.

Bascom Hayes, assistant commissioner for administration of the Texas Education Agency, said school warrants will be mailed to reach depository banks in time for local schools to meet Oct. 1 payrolls.

He said office records indicate 65 school districts have ordered integration in varying degrees. Among the larger cities which have begun integrating Negro and white students are San Antonio, Austin, El Paso, Corpus Christi, Waco, Lubbock, San Angelo and Harlingen.

Hayes said it will "be up to the local boards" whether they actually spend state money for integrated schools.

The question before the Supreme Court is whether portions of the Texas Constitution and school laws calling for segregation have been invalidated by the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling that segregation is unconstitutional.

Schools receive three forms of state aid. Warrants going out next week will include $8,072,443 from Gilmer-Aikin Foundation funds, that aid based on average daily attendance last year; $7,418,200 in per capita payments, based on actual number of students shown by the scholastic census; and $1,394,680 in transportation allowances.

The per capita apportionment represents the first $4 per capita. The school census shows 1,846,900 scholastics this year.

Large Turnout Seen For Credit Institute

A large turnout is in prospect for the training institute for credit union officers and committee members here this evening and Friday.

More than 80 reservations have been received from credit unions in Lamesa, Colorado City, Abilene, Kermit, Fossil, Crane, Odessa, Midland, El Paso, Wickett, Penwell and other points in addition to Big Spring. Mrs. Adele Cole, in charge of local arrangements, anticipated numbers of other units would be represented when the first session opens at 7 p.m. today.

General assemblies will be held in the Howard County Junior College auditorium, while sectional sessions will be held in classrooms. Art Woolard, Dallas, representing the Texas Credit Union League, will direct instruction. Assisting will be Roy Ernsland, Amarillo.

Saturday sessions begin at 9 a.m. and will terminate at 4 p.m. with a presentation of certificates at the H.C.J.C. auditorium.

There also will be a dinner at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Wagon Wheel for those who do not have to leave immediately after the institute is complete. More than 100 will take part in this, the first such session ever held in the West Texas area, and the number could go substantially beyond that.

Midway 4-H Club Chooses Officers

Midway 4-H Club reorganized and elected officers Wednesday.

Roy Griffith was named president. Other officers include Bonnie Cunningham, vice president; Douglas Earnest, secretary and reporter; Jackie Young, song leader. Adult leaders are Pete Earnest and Bill Sims.

TEC Seeks Cotton Crews

The Texas Employment Commission office is working closely with local farmers in an effort to supply cotton pickers, Leon Kinney, manager of the office said today. Kinney said farmers should call into the office and request the number of workers needed.

Carlton Williams, TEC farm placement interviewer, and his assistant, Jack Hatch, are rounding up crews as fast as the orders are received, Kinney said.

Meat Specialist Sets Demonstration

STANTON — Ray Snyder, meat specialist for the Texas A&M Extension Service, is to give a demonstration here Oct. 5.

Snyder will reduce beef and pork carcasses to the various cuts to demonstrate how meat can be cut best. The demonstration is to take place in the Cap Rock Electric reception room.

Here's The SOLUTION To CASHWORD PUZZLE NO. 33

CLUES ACROSS:

- Whisper is an excellent answer, since Whispering is bad manners and an irritating habit. It would not necessarily be easy to lose patience with a child who Whimpered a lot since it would be highly probable such a child had something wrong with it.
- Seem is the better answer. Cranks are almost invariably well-intentioned in their own minds. They Seek to do what seems right to them, but often Seem only to succeed in making nuisances of themselves.
- A bird could be in a Cage for show, or it could be there for other reasons. A bird in a Cage would, unless in some exceptional instance, be a stuffed one and would be there for show—there is no "could be" about it.
- Falls is preferred. When Falls are impressive it is because of their size (rather than their height, which is only one incidental dimension) or because of their architectural merits. The height of the Falls is usually the "main" factor, above all other factors, contributing to their impressiveness.
- It is very characteristic of "not feeling well" to be off your food, favoring Rice. A nice Ride in the fresh air, for example, may make you feel better!
- The clue word "about" favors Tale. One speaks of a Tale about a subject, and a Talk on a subject.
- "For no particular reason" favors Wall. There must be some particular reason why you Fail, whether it is a commendable reason or not.
- Desk is best since a Desk is usually varnished and will take a high polish. "Usual" is wrong for Decks. In many cases it would be highly dangerous for a Deck to be highly polished.

CLUES DOWN:

- The general tone of the clue suggests that men generally are this at times. Note that it confidently says "when," not "if." Tired, then, is clearly preferable. Many a man is never Fired, or even in the position to be Fired.
- Try is best. She knows what she can Fry. The cook book only tells her how. The cook book may suggest some nice, possibly unusual, things to Fry.
- Waster is stronger since the word itself implies inefficiency, and a reason for replacement. There is nothing to show that there is anything wrong with the Washer. Some qualification is necessary—"faulty Washer", for example. This makes Waster the surer answer of the two.
- "Amused attention" favors Engaged, since the activities of an Enraged couple may be far from amusing.
- Clutter up the stairs, or Clatter up and down the stairs. Why should people cause annoyance when they Clatter up, especially without mention of "down"?
- To the true Healer, it is the results (cures) that count. The results of Sealing are Seals, but the Sealer is not so much concerned with these as with the proceeds (of selling his catch). Dealer is too general. Dealer of what?

Weather Shows Minor Changes

By The Associated Press
The nation's weather showed only minor changes today from yesterday. Warm weather continued in most of the South and it was on the cool side in most of the northern tier of states.

The autumn season starts at 2:42 p.m., EST, today.

The Canadian cool air spread slowly southeastward over the Great Plains during the night and extended as far as the Texas Panhandle. Temperatures ranged from the low 30s and low 40s in the north sections to the 60s in the South.

It also was chilly in the Northeast with readings ranging from the 30s in northern New England and Upper New York state to the 50s in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The warm region extended over the Gulf states and the extreme Southwest desert region.

There was widespread rainfall from Kansas and Oklahoma eastward through southern Missouri and northern Arkansas.

2nd Negro Gets Death For Rape

DALLAS (AP)—The second of three Garland Negroes charged in the rape of a 17-year-old girl was sentenced to death yesterday.

Timothy Pierce, 21, was identified by the Garland girl as one of two Negroes who raped her four times July 9. The trial was almost identical with that of Flaudell Fite, 21, who was sentenced to death last week.

The victim told the jury that she and her escort were parked on a country road near Garland when an unlighted car drove past. The car returned, the girl stated, and the three Negroes approached, one of them carrying a gun. She said two of the Negroes attacked her twice each while her escort was forced to lie in the back seat of his car.

The third Negro, T. J. Hall, 18, will stand trial in the near future.

Uncle Ray: Umbrella Custom Of English Origin

Jonas Hanway sharing his umbrella.

By RAMON COFFMAN

Thanks to a British traveler, we have knowledge of umbrella customs in Italy three and a half centuries ago. This traveler, Thomas Coryate, was interested in the ways of the people. Here, in shortened form, is his account of umbrellas:

"Many Italians carry fine things which they call 'umbrellas.' These things make shadows which shelter them from the heat of the sun. They are made of leather, and have wooden hoops which make them spread to a rather large size."

Some scholars in Great Britain at that time may have known that umbrellas were used in ancient times, but this point is doubtful. In any case the British, in general, knew nothing about such "fine things."

Years after Coryate made that report, a few women in England adopted the custom of using umbrellas to shield their heads from both sun and rain. The wide parts of their umbrellas were covered with feathers or oiled silk. The oiled silk shed water very well. Men in England at that time were afraid that they would be called "sissies" if they carried umbrellas. At length a British military leader, after spending time on the mainland of Europe, reported that Frenchmen employed umbrellas to "defend themselves from snow and rain."

The officer declared that men in Great Britain ought to follow the custom, but it remained for a British civilian to prove himself bold enough to appear on a London Street with an umbrella. While rain was falling, he used an umbrella to keep from getting wet.

People stared at Hanway, but this man was brave. He cared nothing about whether some persons were foolish enough to call him a "sissy." His purpose was to help establish a sensible custom, to stay dry while walking in the rain.

A slow, but steady, victory came for Hanway's idea. Other men took up the umbrella custom, and at length it became common for Englishmen to carry umbrellas on cloudy days.

Volcanic Activity Seen By Crews Of Planes In Pacific

PEAL HARBOR (AP)—Volcanic activity in a supposedly deep ocean area west of Honolulu was reported yesterday by crewmen of two planes, one of whom said a land mass was visible.

However, a third plane, sent by the Navy to search the area, said it saw only orange streaks in the water but no land.

Britain's First TV Venture Gets Praise

LONDON (AP)—Britain's opening venture in commercial television got high marks today on the production side from most newspaper critics. But some warned the effects of the advertisements may be cumulative, like Rocky Marciano's punching.

The critics rated commercial TV a formidable threat to the state-sponsored BBC variety, which hitherto has monopolized British viewing screens.

The initial program was a mixture of vaudeville, drama, high-class music, news and boxing. The advertisements — 24 of them during the 3 1/2-hour showing — were muted and largely painless. Several comedians took coy pokes at the rival British Broadcasting Corp. ("Hello, you BBC deserters out there!") but BBC was as dignified as a great Dane. It even returned kindness for quips, including in its 7 p.m. newscast an announcement that the independent TV would hit the airwaves 15 minutes later.

The historic first commercial showed a tube of toothpaste embedded in a block of ice. Offstage, a smooth-voiced announcer intoned: "It's tingling fresh. It does your gums good. It keeps your teeth as white as snow." Then a pretty girl brushed her teeth. The advertisements, each one minute long, extolled such things as beer, chocolate, margarine and soap powder. They came at what were regarded "natural program breaks."

The News Chronicle felt the televised plugs were so unobtrusive that "in general no American sponsor would have given them screen time."
