

Argentines in New Revolt Against Peron

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Circles in close contact with the army said today unnamed officials in the army had called upon President Peron to resign.

There was no official confirmation.

Federal police headquarters near the Congress Building were evacuated, possibly indicating fear of an attack.

Peron was reported to have gone to the Army Ministry about 3 a.m. This report came on the heels of government announcements that armed rebellion had flared at three key centers in the interior and had been "rapidly" crushed. The government also declared a terrorist plot had been smashed in Buenos Aires with the arrest of 100 civilians. This was the fourth reported plot aimed at upsetting Peron since the major revolt of June 16—just three months ago today.

The state radio said "it is understood" the chief of the rebel forces is former Gen. Dalmiro Felix Videla Balaguer, who was accused Sept. 8 of leading the Rio Cuarto garrison in a conspiracy which was crushed. Four days later, Gen. Balaguer was reported under arrest, but this never was confirmed officially.

Despite earlier government announcements that the situation had been "fully dominated," there still appeared to be rebel activity in some areas this afternoon.

But the state radio broadcast said the rebels were being "austere" and repeated that the government "fully dominates" the situation.

"All other commanders have affirmed their loyalty to the government," it said.

The surrender of 300 rebel troops in Entre Rios Province was announced.

A state of siege—virtual martial law—was extended to the entire country. Previously this applied only to Buenos Aires.

Peron proclaimed the state of siege and the House of Deputies, completely dominated by pro-Peron deputies, approved it in just five minutes.

There was no official account of casualties from the revolt but it appeared that some bloodshed must have resulted.

A policeman was reported shot to death in the Belgrano District of the capital. Identity of his attackers was unknown but they may have been linked with the plotters in the capital city.

Peron had been scheduled to speak at 10 a.m. to leaders of the General Confederation of Labor, the workers' organization which is the backbone of the Peron regime.

An hour after the speech was scheduled for radio broadcast it had not been made.

An air of quiet tension prevailed in the capital, where anti-aircraft guns were mounted at strategic points, including Casa Rosada, the pink-colored building where Peron has his presidential headquarters.

A government broadcast assured the nation that all was calm and the situation has been totally dominated.

In Entre Rios Province, north of Buenos Aires, elements of the 3rd Cavalry Regiment rebelled. The government said this revolt was crushed by loyal troops and 300 of the rebels surrendered.

On the outskirts of Cordoba, the big provincial capital in central Argentina, elements in an air force technical school tried to seize control. Fighting raged there, with loyal troops of the 3rd Infantry Regiment launching a dawn attack against the entrenched rebels.

The government said it was also in control of the situation at Curuzucuatia, a town in Corrientes Province north of Buenos Aires.

Unrest was reported also in Rosario, Argentina's second largest city with a population of almost a half million, 170 miles north west of Buenos Aires; at Santa Fe, 100 miles north of Rosario; and at Parana, 235 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

Planes were reported over Cordoba but there was no indication of whether they were piloted by loyalists or rebels.

The planes were Gloster Meteor jets—the same type that bombed Government House in Buenos Aires in the abortive revolt of last June 16.

Stassen cautioned against any discouragement because of the time Russia is taking in announcing its intentions with respect to the Eisenhower plan. He said that if the situation were reversed, the United States would be just as careful.

Stassen already has advised that he will seek endorsement of the President's proposal by the General Assembly.

Salute From The Marines

Miss Dorothy May Johnson, who as Miss Oregon was runner-up in the Miss America contest, gets a mass salute from Marine reservists at a Naval Gun Factory party in Washington in her honor. She was "enlisted" as an honorary Marine and named the "Sweetheart of the Marine Corps Reserve." She was official guest of Leatherneck Magazine during her Washington visit.

Supreme Court Opens Hearing On Integration

AUSTIN (AP)—The issue of whether or not school districts may immediately mix white and Negro students in public schools went before an emergency session of the 9-man state Supreme Court today.

The court cut short its summer recess to hear oral arguments on these two major questions:

1. Did the U.S. Supreme Court's decision outlawing the principle of desegregation automatically chop down all Texas laws providing for separate white and Negro schools?

2. Specifically, did the Supreme Court's decision make it legal for school officials at Big Spring to use state aid funds intended for separate spending on white and Negro schools on a school system that is not integrated?

Local school boards all over the state, members of the state Board of Education and other school officials were looking to the state's highest court in civil matters to give them a sign on what they should do now about integration.

Big Spring was one of the more than 63 school systems that put integration into effect the first year following the U.S. high court's ruling. It acted after the State Board of Education announced its policy would be to distribute state aid funds regardless of whether integration had been effected.

The state itself has lawyers on opposite sides of the table in the unique, dramatic appeal.

Dist. Atty. Guilford Jones represented the school board at Big Spring. He has submitted briefs supporting the ruling of Dist. Judge Charles Sullivan and arguing that the Supreme Court's ruling is now the law of the land and that it nullified Texas laws to the contrary.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd's brief argued that the Texas laws on school finances stand until changed by the Legislature or until struck down in a case specifically involving Texas.

The Big Spring district court's ruling was appealed by taxpayers and the Texas Citizens' Council, an organization opposing integration and represented by Atty. Ross Carleton of Dallas. His brief argued "State funds may only be apportioned and used in separated white and Negro schools, based upon white and Negro units."

The law has not been declared unconstitutional, or even considered, he contended.

The Big Spring district judge had refused to grant an injunction to forbid the local board from using state aid funds in an integrated school. This court had held in effect that the U.S. Supreme Court's decision nullified Texas school laws that conflict.

Texas school finance laws have provided that state aid money be handed out on the basis of average daily attendance of Negroes and whites, computed separately. It was designed to make sure money allocated for Negroes be used on Negro education, and that for whites on white education.

The Texas high court advanced the Big Spring appeal for special hearing before beginning its normal fall term in October after considering pleas urging the importance of the case. Its usual procedure is to hear oral arguments, study them and the briefs, then act. This sometimes requires months. In this case, it is possible the court could act in a matter of days or weeks.

Woman Wrestler's Absence Won't Delay Murder Trial

SAN ANGELO (AP)—A 24-year-old woman wrestler, known professionally as "Nature Girl," is still missing but the district attorney here says her absence will not delay the murder trial of Harry Washburn.

Washburn, a Houston resident, is in Tom Green County jail here charged with the car-bomb slaying of Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver, his former mother-in-law.

The absence of "Nature Girl," whose real name is Mrs. Adella Heninger, was a factor in an earlier postponement of the Washburn trial, now set for Sept. 26.

Dist. Atty. Aubrey D. Stokes said yesterday he still had hopes of locating the pretty wrestler. "We won't give up trying," he added.

The 38-year-old Washburn has steadfastly maintained his innocence in the slaying of Mrs. Weaver, an attractive, 52-year-old West Texas ranchwoman who was killed as she attempted to start an automobile.

"Nature Girl" became a figure in the case last February when she told Houston police of being offered $10,000 to kill Mrs. Weaver's husband, Harry, an architect.

Dallas To Continue School Segregation

New Hope

Jo Nell Lane, right, 14-year-old Anthony, N. M., girl who was thought to be a cerebral palsy victim, will soon undergo an operation for her broken neck. Doctors recently discovered Jo Nell was not a palsy victim, but was born with a broken neck. Dr. Eric Oldberg, famed neurosurgeon who separated the Brodie twins, will operate on Jo Nell. Ever since the discovery, Jo Nell and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Van Lane and Dicky, her brother shown here with her, have been exuberant over the new hope.

Red China Frees 2 More Americans

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China today released two American civilians—the first of 22 the Communists have promised to free. One of the two asserted he was guilty of spying for the United States.

Released were Walter A. Rickett of Seattle, a Fulbright scholar imprisoned July 25, 1951, on espionage charges, and the Rev. Herold W. Rigney, 54, Chicago, dean of the Roman Catholic Fu Jen University in Peiping. He was arrested on spying and sabotage charges in July 1951.

Rickett said, after crossing the border into this British crown colony: "I was engaged in espionage work and there was a (Korean) war. I was an agent for the U.S. government. I collected military information."

Rickett's wife Adele, when released by the Reds last February, said she was guilty of spying. She praised the Communists highly. She reiterated that today after her husband was freed.

American officials said last spring Mrs. Rickett appeared to have been thoroughly "brainwashed." Rickett is a former U.S. Marine Corps language officer who speaks Chinese and Japanese.

"I have been speaking English for a long time," he said.

He said he confessed to espionage 15 days after he was arrested

Engineer To Stay On County Payroll Through October

County Engineer Foster Dickey will remain on the county payroll through Oct. 15, commissioners decided Thursday. He will be given a week's pay when his discharge becomes effective on that date.

Dickey, discharged by the commissioners court Monday, had requested an additional month's pay for overtime he said he was required to put in during the six months he has been in office. This was refused.

The engineer was given notice that his employment was being terminated following a conference with commissioners. He had turned down commissioners' request that he resign.

Judge Overrules Plea For Injunction

DALLAS (AP)—Federal Judge William H. Atwell today ruled segregation can be maintained in Dallas public schools for the time being.

He dismissed a request to force immediate desegregation before the school board completes a study it is making on integration.

His ruling came in one of two important hearings on segregation today. The other one is set in Austin at 2 p.m. before the Texas Supreme Court. Lawyers for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said they would appeal Atwell's ruling.

"We will appeal if we can," said Thurgood Marshall, chief attorney for the NAACP.

The NAACP had sought an injunction to force white public schools to enroll 25 Negro children who had tried to enter these schools near their homes Sept. 5.

School board officials halted the ruling. They promised all "possible speed" in finishing the integration study.

Atwell said he was dismissing the injunction request without prejudice and that the plaintiffs could study the action of the school board in working out an integration, then refile if they wanted to do so.

Arguments pro and con on the injunction were short.

The NAACP took only about 2 minutes, including a brief argument by Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the group.

Atwell cited a decision he had made in a case involving what is now Midwestern University in Wichita Falls.

In that case, Atwell said he ruled Negroes must be admitted to the Shaw Junior college because they did not have equal educational facilities.

He said he found here—and that counsel for both sides had agreed—that there were equal Negro educational facilities.

School officials said they were grateful for the court decision and would continue to work out details for integration with the greatest possible speed.

Dr. Edwin Rippey, board president, said, "We have always believed we were following in good faith the Supreme Court order."

State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd, who was due at a Texas Supreme Court segregation hearing later today, said he was "very pleased."

Supt. W. T. White, named with Rippey and board members as defendants in the suit, said every effort will be made to follow the law and we "expect the board of education to continue to outline and give the proper direction to the educational program under the law."

Atwell had given each side 30 minutes to make its argument. He overruled one defense motion for a dismissal.

Both sides at the outset agreed on these four points:

1. Negro students were denied entrance to white schools on Sept. 5.
2. That there were a total of 125 schools in Dallas.
3. That the relative scholastic population figure was correct. (No figure was given).
4. That white and Negro schools in Dallas were equal in facilities and quality of teachers.

BLUEPRINT TRADE

Stassen Sees Russ Okay Of Arms Plan

DENVER (AP)—Harold E. Stassen told President Eisenhower today he believes "the odds are" that Russia will accept the President's plan for the United States and the Soviet Union to exchange military blueprints and agree to mutual inspection.

Stassen, the President's special assistant on disarmament problems, conferred with Eisenhower for a half hour after flying from New York to report on the United Nations disarmament talks.

A U.N. Disarmament subcommittee has been studying, among others, the proposals Eisenhower outlined at the Geneva Big Four conference. That plan calls for this country and the Soviet Union to exchange blueprints on military establishments, and to agree to mutual aerial inspection of such establishments. The U.N. subcommittee has expanded its talks to include ground inspection.

At a news conference after his meeting with Eisenhower, Stassen was asked whether he was optimistic that Russia eventually will accept "some form" of the President's plan.

Stassen replied, "The odds are that they will" accept the plan.

A bit later, Stassen emphasized that he was talking about acceptance of the plan as outlined by the President at Geneva and not "some form" of it.

Denver lead line 128; of it... Stassen is returning to the U.N. talks in New York Monday, after a weekend visit in his home state of Minnesota and a conference with State Department officials in Washington early Monday.

Stassen said that while Russia has not committed itself regarding Eisenhower's Geneva proposal, "there is every indication they are giving it very intensive and thorough study."

Asked why he feels that is so, he replied, "It is indicated by comments which have been made by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, and the Soviet representatives at the New York talks.

Stassen said the Russians have been asking intelligent questions about the Eisenhower plan—questions, he added, "such as we would ask" in their position.

He also declared that in his opinion the world now is convinced that Eisenhower "really meant it" when in a United Nations speech on Dec. 8, 1953, he called for crea-

2 Injured In Bomber Crash

CLEVELAND (AP)—Trailing a long plume of smoke, a B45 jet bomber crashed in flames near here yesterday after the crew bailed out.

Two of the four men aboard were injured.

The bomber, attached to the 3244th Test Squadron at Eglin Air Force Base near Pensacola, Fla., was en route to Bryan Air Force Base on a test flight when two of its four engines caught fire.

Injured were the co-pilot, Capt. Maurice A. Rondeau, (home town unavailable) and the pilot, Maj. Robert A. Robison, Minneapolis, Minn. Both were injured on landing. Rondeau had a broken leg and Robison a minor head injury.

Sgt. William W. Brown, Baton Rouge, La., flight engineer, and S.Sgt. H. F. Sinclair, Davenport, Iowa, flight mechanic, landed safely.

Second Puzzle Series Tougher Than First?

It took 16 weeks to get a winner in the first go-round of the Cashword Puzzle. This week came Puzzle No. 32, and over 10,000 entries poured in. And what do you think?

That's right, this go-round has to go beyond 16 weeks. The payoff combination was missed by everybody. There were some close ones, not quite the 100 per cent solution. For the puzzle maker's ideas of correct definitions, turn to Page 10.

So that kick the jackpot up another 25 bucks. And it's beginning to be real money! A full $477.50 to a winning Herald subscriber who uses a postcard—plus at least $150 from cooperating merchants.

And the Cashword runs, and the money goes up, until there is a winner. Somebody is going to hit. Don't pass up your chance!

Older People Fight For Right To Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—"We are going to have a revolution of old men," a visitor in Denver remarked the other day, "and I am going to be in it."

The speaker was President Eisenhower. Although he was half joking it was the second time in a week the President had referred publicly to the growing employment problem among older folks.

One was in a Labor Day statement, the other during a tour of the new Air Force Academy at Denver.

Too many workers, Eisenhower said, are being denied jobs because they are 45 or older "and this waste of valuable skills and talents must be eliminated."

These are not mere offhand comments. The government has determined to do something about the older worker situation. It has obtained a special fund from Congress and mapped a detailed battle plan against the problem.

The Public Health Service figures the average life span at the beginning of this century was 47, it's now 68, and by 1980 it will be 80 plus.

In 1900 there were about three million individuals aged 65 or over, but this figure has grown to 12 1/2 million today and is expected to exceed 18 million by 1980.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell, whose department is taking the whole matter quite seriously, says that by 1975 half the adult population will be 45 or older.

As Mitchell views it, either older people are going to be provided jobs so they may support themselves, or younger people will be saddled with the cost of taking care of them.

The Labor Department has set out to prove that whatever reasons there may have been in the past against hiring the older worker, they no longer exist.

The department says the nature of jobs has changed: Where considerable muscular strength once was required, the premium now is on qualities peculiar to the older worker: dependability, responsibility, judgment, breadth of experience.

The department contends, also, the older worker himself has changed—a man 45 has more youth and vigor because he has taken better care of himself, and has more skill and education than a person of the same age years ago.

Mitchell has launched a six-point program to combat age barriers in employment to answer these questions:

1. Is the older worker a good worker? The department says various studies already made by outside groups show he excels in many qualities. A study "broad enough to carry real conviction" is under way.

2. Are pension costs an obstacle? Many employers shy away from hiring older workers in belief it will hike their pension plan costs. The department is consulting experts on how this obstacle can be handled.

3. How have labor unions handled the aging worker problem? A study is being made. Some labor contracts require that employers hire a fixed proportion of older workers.

4. How have employers dealt with the problem? Best examples of employer use of older workers are to be published and distributed to employers throughout the country.

5. How can older workers be channeled to available jobs? An individualized placement service, designed to fit the right skill to the right job, is planned.

6. How can women, once workers and now again seeking jobs after raising families, obtain retraining to fit them into the work force again? The department hopes to meet the teacher and nurse shortage in this manner.

"Our aim," Mitchell says, "is to demonstrate that a worker should be selected for a job on the basis of ability and qualifications, regardless of age or sex."

Ike Designates Education Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today designated Nov. 6-12 as American Education Week and called on the nation to observe the period as a "pledge of citizen interest in better education."

"Our people have a right to take special pride in our nation's education system, and an obligation to demonstrate a desire and capacity to meet the major problems facing American education," he said.

The National Education Assn. is sponsoring the week along with the American Legion, the U.S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Attends Lectures

FORSAN—Rev. Allen Forban of Forsan is in Lubbock this week attending the Denison Lectures at the First Methodist Church. He also is visiting his sister, Mrs. Horace D. Miller, who is hospitalized at Lubbock.

Texasan Has Important Indian Welfare Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—While Texas has only one small tribe of Indians, a Texasan in government service has much to do with the welfare of Indians in all parts of the nation.

He is Edger E. Witt, chairman of the Indian Claims Commission, and one-time lieutenant governor of Texas. The 76-year old native Texas is past the voluntary retirement age, but is on the job daily.

Reviewing the activities of the 3-man commission, Witt in an interview pointed out that it now has under study the largest claim ever filed against the government.

It involves all the Indians of California, some 30,000 to 40,000 of them. They maintain that when gold was discovered in California the white man pushed their ancestors off their property and into reservations without paying a cent for the land. Their suit asks payment for some 75,000 acres which, with interest compounded since the 1850s, would aggregate about a half billion dollars.

Considering the time require for briefs and rebuttal arguments, Witt says it may be a year before the commission reaches a decision. Its finding can be appealed to the U.S. Court of Claims.

"And," Witt said with a smile, "They will run into a Texasan there, too. The chief judge is Marvin Jones, who used to be the congressman from Amarillo."

Long active in Texas politics and member of a Waco law firm, Witt served as state senator from 1918 to 1930 and as lieutenant governor from 1930 to 1934. He first came to Washington in 1935 to head the old Mexican Claims Commission, returning to Waco five years later when that body completed its work of settling claims of American citizens against the Mexican government.

Around the capital: Hatton W. Summers, former congressman from Dallas visited here recently for the first time in several years. Ed Gossett, former Wichita Falls congressman, also visited friends here after the bar convention.

Holle Debunks Uranium Cures

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle yesterday debunked "uranium dirt" treatments being offered in Texas.

"The healing value of dirt containing minute amounts of uranium isn't worth the time it takes a man to cover his aching feet," Dr. Holle said in a statement.

He said "dozens" of the so-called treatment centers started up after the idea spread that the allegedly radioactive in the dirt was a cure-all for assorted aches and pains.

Some uranium "healers" have erected tents in which patrons can sit while absorbing alleged radioactive emanations, Dr. Holle said. Patrons were said to pay $2 to $3 an hour.

Time To Go Lightly

Dear Miss Brandow: Please tell me what a boy who doesn't want to get serious and—go steady can do about his girl friend who does. She is sixteen; I am seventeen.

around you. One wrong move and—

Avoid leading her on, and avoid doing anything that could be misinterpreted as leading her on. It is always a tragedy when affection is one-sided, and great care should be taken not to hurt Cupid's victim.

To an infatuated girl, the slightest thing takes on deep significant meaning. Watch your step. Don't ever, ever get with her. This is cruel when you know how she feels and know you cannot return it.

Compliment and praise her when she is deserving of it, but don't lavish it on her, lest she think the love-bug has bitten you, too.

Plan active dates like swimming or bowling in preference to dancing or drive-in movies. Make many of your dates double and triple ones. Choose other couples with care.

Heart-drobbing steadies are out. Occasionally mention to a some friend (mythical if necessary) who you think is making a big mistake in going steady. List your reasons why. Make them good. Be careful not to say anything derogatory about his girl though.

All letters written to Miss Brandow in care of The Herald and containing 3-cent stamps will be answered personally.

Malone To See Slave Camp

BERLIN (AP)—Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev) has been given permission to visit Russia's Vorkuta slave labor camp, his wife reported today.

Mrs. Malone arrived from Moscow aboard a U.S. Air Force plane which brought U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen on a vacation.

Mrs. Malone left her husband in Moscow and is to meet him in Helsinki after his trip to the Arctic region of the Soviet Union. An aide said Mrs. Malone did not accompany the senator farther because it was feared the trip would be "rough."

If Malone is permitted to see Vorkuta, it will be the first time a U.S. official has done so. According to reports of former inmates—including a number of Americans—the vast Vorkuta complex of prison camps holds hundreds of thousands of inmates, most of them engaged in coal mining.

Mrs. Malone told reporters her husband has been granted permission to see the Ural Mountain area. Vorkuta lies near the Urals, and when asked if his itinerary included Vorkuta, she replied "Yes."

Negro Pleads Guilty To Rape

DALLAS (AP)—Fisadell Pitt, 26-year-old Negro, made a surprise plea of guilty today to a charge of raping a 17-year-old white girl at nearby Garland.

The state had indicated it would ask the jury to impose the death penalty.

Pitt, one of three Garland Negroes charged in the rape, had sat reading a Bible during selection of a jury. He at first had refused court-appointed defense counsel, saying the Lord would defend him.

Marine League Okays Pensions

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A proposal for $100-a-month pensions, without restrictions, for World War I veterans 60 years old or older, has been approved by the Marine Corp League.

A resolution, passed by the organization at its 32nd annual convention yesterday, directed the group's national leaders to seek legislation for such pensions.

The resolution said that it is traditional that veterans' pensions be established and liberalized on the basis of disability and need which increase with age.

Kaiser Planning Hawaiian Village

HONOLULU (AP)—Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser and Fritz B. Burns, Los Angeles builder, gave a press preview yesterday of their million-dollar Hawaiian village on Waikiki Beach.

The village, complete in Polynesian flavor, will open Sunday on the former Niumalu Hotel grounds. It can accommodate 180 guests. Each guest house is thatched with palms and paneled with tapa cloth, giving a grass shack appearance.

There are three swimming pools. One can be covered by a transparent platform for dancing.

Capt. Collects Winnings, TV Reporter Eats Crow

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Those feathers you see sticking to my chin are from eating crow. A couple of months ago I said nobody would ever go for the big and final question on The $64,000 Question (CBS-TV). But I hadn't counted on the U.S. Marines.

On Tuesday evening Capt. Richard S. McCutcheon of the Marine Corps went for the question—and won. Never did a befuddled prophet how more willingly to a courageous warrior, McCutcheon displayed a coolness, intelligence and modesty throughout his long ordeal that makes you want to vote for him for company commander. If he isn't promoted to major within two months I'm going to write my congressman.

I must confess that personally I'm a bit tired of The $64,000 Question. But apparently nobody else is, so let's talk about it. McCutcheon has given this program new life at a critical age in its history. He has ushered in what you might call its "institutional phase." For when McCutcheon said, "I belong to a very proud organization, and the answer is 'go,'" he was speaking for the Marine Corps.

Cabbie To Set Up Childrens Home By Marrying Widow

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Frank C. Bente, a Fresno taxicab company worker, says he proposed to a widow with 12 children because he believes she will help him realize an ambition of many years standing.

He said he owes money on the 21-room house, which was inherited from his mother, but plans to fix it up for sale to get money for a down payment on the ranch. Bente, a lanky 5 feet 10, said his dream of a ranch for delinquent youngsters, a sort of educational Boys Town, originally was shared by his mother Mrs. Clara Patterson, who died in March 1952.

Word comes that a contestant who will soon be appearing in a Protestant clergyman who will answer questions on jazz. It would be logical to expect a Roman Catholic priest and a Jewish rabbi to follow the Protestant clergyman on the program.

Governor Asks Sharp Critique Of Ike's Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania says that if President Eisenhower is the Republican candidate in 1956 the Democrats "are going to need sharp weapons, well laid on."

CIA Silent On Vets' Double Agent Report

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Officials of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency had no comment today on two young American veterans' story of spying for the Russians in order to spy for the West.

The pair, Gregory J. Lima, 30, New York City, and Theo K. Hollie, 28, of Los Angeles, said they gave information to the Soviets "to save our country by infiltrating Russian intelligence."

He described Mrs. Clara Margerum, 37, of Dallas, Tex., as the most sincere of the women he has talked with about the plan. Bente became interested in her when he read a story in the local newspaper about her efforts to get her large family under one roof.

My latest supper-dinner red-hot exclusive tip is that now the people who run this show are planning a further development in which all the big winners contest against each other. Details, as this source says, are being worked out. Well, sir, they'd better be.

"I want to make it clear that I am not calling for a smear campaign, for personal abuse," he said, but I am calling for a normal exercise of the two-party system."

The pair told newsmen they got $6,000 from the Russians for their espionage activities.

The CIA began an investigation, they said, but told them on Aug. 31, "We don't know you anymore." They charged the CIA has refused to pay about $1,000 in debts they say they incurred on instructions of the agency.

Medics Remove Racial Barrier

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Qualified Negro doctors of medicine are now eligible to join the Harris County Medical Society. The group voted last night to delete the word "white" from its membership qualifications.

Society President James E. Pittman said application from Negroes "will be processed like any other."

Some 200 of the medical society's 1,196 members attended. The standing vote was not tabulated but only about six doctors opposed dropping the color bar, doctors at the meeting said.

Ban On Godfrey Helicopter Stunt Ends Ceremony

NEW YORK (AP)—Ceremonies marking the opening of a new West Side Manhattan airlines terminal were called off yesterday after the city refused permission for TV star Arthur Godfrey to land by helicopter on the terminal's roof.

A terminal spokesman said nobody was questioning Godfrey's flying ability, but officials dislike the heavily traveled West Side Highway.

Godfrey is involved in a complaint about his flying last week in Illinois. An airline pilot told the Civil Aeronautics Administration that Godfrey flew dangerously close during a takeoff near Aurora. Godfrey has denied the allegation.

Two Damage Suits Are Placed On File

Two suits for damages were filed in 118th District Court here Thursday.

Tom M. Garrell of Big Spring asks $70,000 for injuries, loss of earning power and medical expenses in a suit against the Continental Construction Company.

Russell J. Ramsland of Midland petitions for judgment of $618.21 in a suit against R. L. Wilson of Big Spring. He says he is due that sum for damages to his Jaguar automobile. The car was involved in a collision with Wilson's truck on the Big Spring-Andrews Highway 15 miles east of Andrews last Oct. 29, according to the petition. Negligence is alleged.

Garrell Said He Was Injured And Permanently Disabled

Garrell said he was injured and permanently disabled when he fell into a ditch on the grounds of the Big Spring State Hospital Dec. 8, 1954. He states in his petition that he was walking along a pathway when he fell in the excavation made by the construction firm. He alleges the defendant was negligent in that no barricade or warning was set up.

Style Show At Club Is Held Around Pool

Models for the second annual style show sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association of the Country Club were displayed Thursday evening with the club's swimming pool for a background.

An arrangement of deep pink gladioli marked the end of the pool, while a rope of matching flowers and greenery spanned the pool in the center. At the corners, summer flowers in combination with leaves floated in circular arrangements.

The wading pool held tiny red roses on large leaves, making a nice contrast against the deep blue of the enclosure.

Rhinestone-studded pink draperies and a screen were used for an arch through which models entered and stood as Mrs. Jim Zack, commentator for the show noted outstanding details of their costumes.

Small trees of flowers and silver leaves in glittered pots decorated the steps which were in the path of the parade of fashion. Mrs. Champ Rainwater at the organ, played music appropriate for the attire being shown, ending the selections with "This Is My Lucky Day."

Kent Morgan, president of the Country Club, then made the award of the special prize a mink stole, to Mrs. Jack Adair. During the tea hour, guests were served refreshments in the ballroom where the table followed the color scheme of the show, using pink gladioli and pink candles. Mrs. Tommy Jordan and Mrs. Jack Irons presided at the table.

Mrs. Marvin Saunders is president of the golf association. Decorations were under the supervision of Mrs. E. H. Bouliouin, Mrs. Roy Townsend, Mrs. Elmo Watson and Mrs. Zolite Boykin. Mrs. Earl Reynolds and Mrs. Travis Reed were in charge of the tea arrangements. About 300 attended the showing.

To Make Good In Business—Learn To Spell, Be Neat

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Girls who want to make good in the world of big business should first learn to spell, says Judy Kurer, who has found glamor, success and world travel in the job of an expert secretary.

Now in Tachikawa, Japan, regarding high-level conferences for the U.S. Air Force, Judy took time out for a chat while in New York just before her takeoff. Here are some bits of sound advice she offers to girls who want secretarial jobs:

1. When you apply for a job, always wear a hat and gloves. The casual look is not for business offices.
2. Don't talk too much. Constant yakety-yak can drive an employer crazy.
3. Never be caught out without your pocket dictionary. Even if you think you can spell, you'll find the dictionary comes in handy frequently.
4. Don't take a job with the idea of marrying the boss. Businessmen of today are too busy for office romances. They want somebody to get the work out, not hold hands. Judy has a unique job. She is what might be called a mechanized secretary. Her specialty is to take verbatim reports of meetings, conversations, speeches and sometimes trials, by talking into a strange device called a stenomask, which is hooked up to a recording machine.

When ready for work, Judy looks something like a girl from Mars, with the mask fitted tightly over her mouth, in the manner of skin diving equipment. Her job then is to repeat the words to be recorded as she hears them. Her voice is inaudible to anyone else in the room when the mask is adjusted, and each word is recorded on a disk, which can be transcribed later.

Judy can record 272 words a minute with her futuristic equipment, and has been known to record the off-the-cuff remarks of 45 men in general executive discussion, getting every word spoken for 90 minutes.

Tall Story

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A Casa de Oro woman sent her short dinner dress to the cleaner's and was charged with cleaning a formal dress. Protesting, the clerk looked up at the 6-foot woman and apologized.

"I just thought any dress that long had to be a formal."

Woman On Way To Get Father, Money Parcel

AMARILLO (AP)—A Los Angeles woman was en route by train today to claim her father and the $11,000 he was carrying in a paper bag when officers took him off a bus here.

Mrs. John Corcoran told Sheriff Paul Gaiter by telephone last night that the money had been saved over a number of years to buy a house. She left for Amarillo immediately.

The father, Pietro Calderaro, 67, was removed from the bus after passengers complained he had caused a disturbance.

Los Angeles officers said Mrs. Corcoran first reported her father missing on Sept. 9. On Sept. 13 she called to say he had returned but had disappeared again. Yesterday she called to report him missing for the third time.

Calderaro refused to say where he got the money or discuss his relatives.

A priest, Father George Sallaway, was called to question Calderaro in Italian when officers couldn't understand him.

Father Sallaway said the man talked freely but changed the subject when it got around to his family.

"That's my money and it's nobody's business where it came from" was all Calderaro would say about the bills in small denominations he carried in the bag.

'Non-Red Viewpoint' Told Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—A brief carrying the names of 300 Americans tells the court to declare the law unconstitutional, contending it violates fundamental liberties guaranteed by the Constitution.

The Communist party has asked the court to declare the law unconstitutional, contending it violates fundamental liberties guaranteed by the Constitution.

The party is appealing from a government order that it register agents of the Kremlin. The case, to be argued this fall, brings the controversial law to its first major legal test.

The signers yesterday asked permission to file their brief as "friends of the court." The court will decide later whether to accept the brief.

The brief called the 1950 law "the most terrible threat so far devised to freedom in America."

The law, whose leading sponsor was the late Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), was passed over former President Truman's veto. It provides for registration of organizations found by the Subversive Activities Control Board to be Communist-controlled. The Communist party is challenging an SACB ruling that it register.

The brief said the law "represses the organizational activities of non-Communist Americans wherever they are found to have associated with the Communists for any purpose, however innocent, to have collaborated with the Communists for the attainment of any objective, however lawful and proper, or to have agreed with the Communists concerning ideas and policies, even though the points of agreement may have been very remote."

Listed as signers were some 80 clergymen, 76 educators, 25 physicians, 13 lawyers and others.

One of the group, Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.), said The McCarran Act attempts to take away the basic right of free association guaranteed to the American people by the Bill of Rights.

"While I abhor the Communist party," McNamara added, "I was happy on this occasion to join with a group of public spirited citizens who, while they make no defense of the Communist party, are deeply concerned about the liberties of the American people."

Ike Gets Postcards From Indian Artist

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Whenever Marcel J. Darling, 44, feels in the mood he paints a water-color greeting card and mails it to President Eisenhower.

And the President apparently enjoys them. He has written Darling several letters and sent his and Mrs. Eisenhower's autographed photos.

Darling, a house painter, is a Pottawatomie Indian. He studied art at Haskell Institute at Lawrence, Kan., where he graduated in 1933. He occasionally paints a mural or greeting cards to be reproduced and sold at curio and art shops.

McGowan May File Venue Plea

WACO (AP)—A change of venue is expected to be asked here Monday by the defense when the murder trial of Raymond F. McGowan, 49, opens.

McGowan is charged in the slaying of pretty Pauline McGowan, his 27-year-old wife who was shot to death with another rodeo performer, Bobby Royce Darby, 21, in a Waco motel last July 11.

The defense yesterday subpoenaed three witnesses to appear in court Monday and bring news coverage and circulation records of newspapers, radio stations, and television stations with which they are connected.

The trio subpoenaed was Melvin Carlisle, circulation manager of the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald; Bill Stinson, local news editor of radio and television station KWTX-TV; Bill Foster, editor and publisher of the Waco Citizen; and Arthur Wilson, of the B&W News Agency.

A special venire of 310 prospective jurors, 38 per cent of them women, has been called for the trial before 54th Dist. Court Judge D. W. Bartlett.

Mrs. McGowan, blonde and shapely, was killed by one shot through the head. Darby, her riding student from Grand Prairie, Tex., died with two slugs in his head.

Soon after the shooting, McGowan returned to Dallas where he owns a riding stable, and surrendered to Dallas County officers. He surrendered a 9-shot, 22-caliber pistol.

Mrs. McGowan and the accused had been estranged at the time of the shooting. She had filed suit for divorce on June 22, charging mental cruelty. McGowan had contested the suit.

Boat Ramp For Lake Is Started

Work has started on the construction of a permanent boat launching ramp at Lake J. B. Thomas.

When completed, it will enable boat enthusiasts to get their crafts into and out of the water from a concrete apron.

E. V. Spence, general manager for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said that the apron would extend into the lake well beyond the current water level (elevation 2,296.3). It will be 12 feet wide part of the distance up to the maximum elevation, and then 15 feet wide the remainder of the distance. Spence said that the 15-foot width would be maintained from a point which should be about normal level for the lake.

In addition, lumber is on the ground for the construction of two floating piers from which boats can be loaded and unloaded. These will be connected to the shore line by flexible passageways. It is hoped that these will make it more convenient for passengers and gear to be handled.

As funds become available, other permanent ramps will be constructed at various points at Lake J. B. Thomas. Construction, under terms of indenture, is limited to funds available out of recreational and launching permits.

Hot Issue In The Making

At the gathering of GOP state chairmen the other day some of the boys reported "farmer dissatisfaction" with the current situation and conceded it "poses a problem for the Republicans." That well might be the understatement of the week.

An AP writer in Washington notes that "declining farm prices and incomes have made the farm program a dominant partisan issue in the preliminary party skirmishing for next year's presidential campaign."

Secretary Benson has returned from a two weeks' visit to several European countries in search of possible new markets for American surpluses, which constitute a drag on domestic prices. He found on his desk an Agriculture Department survey, just completed, which reported net farm income had dropped four per cent during the past two months, and stood six per cent below that for a year ago. This is scarcely news to farmers, but having the cold figures before them may well crystallize their political reaction to them.

That report said the net farm income had declined 4.3 per cent during the first six months of this year, and predicted a still further decline for the third quarter.

With an election coming on, the administration may have to consider changing its farm policies and Secretary Benson in a series of farm-belt talks this fall is expected to say something on the subject. Since he is chiefly identified as sponsor and deviser of those policies which have (1) produced very little in the way of reducing surpluses and (2) witnessed a steady decline in farm prices while living costs remained the same, he may not be the best of all possible Republican evangelists for soothing agricultural feelings.

The damage has been done, so any change of policy would come too late to save the farm vote next fall. Even a retreat from flexible back to rigid price supports would be no solution to the GOP, for the credit would go to the Democrats who have fought for rigid supports all along.

There was a minor farm revolt in the congressional elections last year. A year from now it may become overwhelming.

The Marines—Of Course

The Marine landed, and the situation was soon well in hand. And so the $64,000 question was popped and got answered, and assorted millions of televiewers throughout the country relaxed for the first time in weeks.

The "lucky" winner was Captain Richard McCutcheon, assisted in the pinches by his father, John C. McCutcheon, a retired Navy captain. He was the first who dared go on to the $64,000 question; all the others who got to the halfway mark decided they'd had enough. There was some pretty hard-headed practical economics behind their refusal. The income tax would have taken a fearful toll of that $64,000 pot even if they'd made it; with $32,000 the tariff wasn't so stiff. So they would be risking everything for a few thousand extra.

The captain's share was to define in English the French terms of a menu served at Buckingham Palace on March 21, 1939. There were seven courses—soup, fish, vegetable, sauce, dessert and two wines—stable, and the captain defined each without a bobble. His father, a noted cooking expert himself, rendered whatever advice the young man required. Incidentally, the captain ruefully admitted he had flunked the second class cooking test when he was a Boy Scout.

So, the television sensation of 1955 came to a climax, and it is doubtful if it ever again reaches the high point of excitement it achieved in its first few months. Already imitators are on the warpath, and there is talk of bigger and grander jackpots.

The current sensation differs from most quiz programs in that a certain degree of knowledge and intelligence, not to say imagination, is required of the contestants. This was such a refreshing twist to a situation that had been run into the ground that the program had the nation by the ears for weeks. Of course, more interest to spectators inheres in a sheer $64,000 jackpot than in, say, a washing machine or a box of cigars.

Even in this day of loose and easy money, most people respect $64,000.

Old Puzzle: Truman's Firing Of MacArthur

WASHINGTON—Many people here who have a respect for the facts of contemporary history are still puzzled over the remark made by former President Truman the other day that his only regret about the MacArthur episode is that he didn't fire the General "two years sooner."

This would have been April 1949, that date was more than a year before the Korean War began. General MacArthur at the time was being applauded widely—in Washington, too—for the success he was making as the commander of the American occupation forces engaged in the reconstruction of Japan.

Also, after April 1949 Mr. Truman on more than one occasion publicly and privately showed his confidence in General MacArthur. Thus, early in July 1950, General MacArthur was appointed commander in chief of the United Nations forces in Korea and he wired President Truman:

"I can only repeat the pledge of my complete personal loyalty to you as well as an absolute devotion to your monumental struggle for peace and goodwill throughout the world. I hope I will not fail you."

To this, Mr. Truman replied: "Your words confirm me . . . in my full belief in the wisdom of your selection."

Again, on December 25, 1950, Mr. Truman congratulated General MacArthur on the successful maneuver of his troops out of the pocket into which the intervention of Red Chinese armies had placed them in Korea. The message read:

"I wish to express my personal thanks . . . for the effective operation of the best Christmas present I have had."

There was an incident in August 1950 when a misunderstanding arose about a message which General MacArthur had sent to a convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chicago. It was in this telegram that the General had outlined the importance of holding on to Formosa and supporting the Nationalist government. But, two months later—October 15—Mr. Truman and the General were holding their famous conference at Wake Island, after which the President told the press:

"General MacArthur and I have talked fully about Formosa. There is no need to cover that subject again. The General and I are in complete agreement."

It was only six months later when General MacArthur, answering what he thought was a routine inquiry from a member of Congress, wrote to Representative Martin of Massachusetts expressing the same views that he had expressed before on Formosa and the importance of winning the war in Korea. Yet it was this letter which aroused the ire of Mr. Truman and caused him to dismiss the General without so much as the courtesy of a hearing.

No outcry over this failure of "due process" and obvious disregard of "constitutional rights" came from the "left wingers." Maybe if the General had shown some sympathy with the Communist cause or had had an uncle or an aunt in the Communist party, there would have been a wave of protest from the "left wingers." But he was only an American general who had gallantly fought his way back to the Philippines from island to island in the Western Pacific and who had served his country under fire not only in two world wars but also in the Korean "police action" in which 33,000 Americans were killed and 103,500 wounded.

Speaking also of constitutional rights, the "left wing" has always raised a furor over legislation to authorize "wire tapping," which the Department of Justice thinks under certain safeguards should be allowed so as to help catch criminals. But no protest came from the "left wingers" in a flagrant case of eavesdropping which is in the records in connection with the Wake Island conference. A stenographer was allowed to listen at a keyhole and when, in later months, it suited the administration politically to slip the notes to a newspaper, this was done in an effort to injure MacArthur.

Describing the incident in a recent issue of "Life" magazine, General Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's "Man Friday," writes:

"Without our knowledge the private secretary of Philip Jessup, a member of the presidential staff, had evidently been secreted behind a partially opened door to the conference room. Lurking behind the door, she could record only what she could hear through the small opening and what she could see by peeping through the keyhole, with the result that her account of the conference could at best be sadly inadequate."

There was, General Whitney declares, a political purpose behind the Wake Island conference. He writes:

"But what Truman personally—and the Democratic party—gained by the trip was tremendous in terms of political advantage. By this one stroke, only three weeks before the 1950 congressional elections, the President was able to establish a connection between his administration and the military strategy against which most of his military advisers had argued but which had just won the great victory at Inchon."

So it is still a puzzle as to why Truman now says he should have fired MacArthur "two years sooner."

Prices Continue Creeping Up

NEW YORK—Prices of many things from automobiles to coffee continued their creeping advance this week.

The higher automobile price tags reflected higher wage rates and increased cost of metals. In coffee the blame was laid on a temporary U.S. shortage of green coffee beans due to earlier confusion over Brazil's currency policy plus a dock strike on the U. S. East Coast.

Price hikes spread through many sections of industry. Another maker of stoves is raising the price of gas ranges by five per cent, following similar hikes by other manufacturers.

A furniture manufacturer is tugging prices of his entire line by three per cent. This also follows a widespread trend in the industry.

Heading the home may be more costly this winter for many folk. Fuel oil prices as well as those of coal have gone up.

A cement manufacturer has raised his prices by 25 cents a barrel.

Wholesale prices of work clothing are going up, reflecting earlier hikes at the manufacturing level.

Many manufacturers are facing increased material costs. This week a leading maker of copper tubing is raising prices. This reflects an earlier hike in the price of refined copper by producers to 42 cents a pound. And still another copper price hike is shaping up. The metal is in such short supply that some users caught empty handed have been paying as high as 51 cents. Ferro alloys used by the steel industry to make stainless and other special steels also are going up.

How Many Spy Rings In The U.S.?

WASHINGTON—Every time an American ally uncovers a Soviet spy ring in its own country, it raises an old question here: Is there an espionage network operating now in the United States?

This country was shocked shortly after the war, and the public got its first insight into Russian espionage when a Soviet spy ring was exposed in Canada. This week Australia produced a 100,000-word report on Russian spying there.

Both governments found out that not just one spy ring was working against them. There were several rings, each independent of the other and concealed from the other.

Some sought military information, some scientific and diplomatic information. The strings were pulled from Moscow. The reason the Kremlin didn't want one of its spy rings to know the other existed was simple enough:

In case one ring was exposed, or one or more of its members were caught, no information could be obtained that would endanger any other ring.

Although nine years separate the Canadian and Australian discoveries of what the Russians had been doing to them, the Soviet spy operations were the same in general:

The Russian masters of the spy rings found the Canadian and Australian Communist parties the most fertile ground for recruits. They were always looking for recruits. Their most trusted agents acted as talent scouts.

But if one ring found a recruit it thought could be trusted, he couldn't be put to work unless Moscow approved. Moscow either had a file on the man or used one of the other spy rings to check on his trustworthiness.

In addition to their spy rings, the Russians sought to set up fifth columns in both countries. These would be agents, undercover, of course, who could be depended on to work for Russia in case of war when the Soviet spy chiefs would have to return home.

Neither the Canadians nor Australians discovered the espionage through their own police work. In both cases they were set on the trail by Russians who were part of a spy ring and then voluntarily offered information.

In Australia it was Vladimir Petrov. In Canada it was Igor Gouzenko.

Petrov was third secretary of its 733-page report in 1946. The Australian Commission's report was made public this week.

Because the Russian spy rings were concealed from one another, Petrov and Gouzenko could talk best about the networks in which they took part. The Australian commission said the only Australian who knowingly assisted the Soviets were members of the Australian Communist party, ex-members, pretending ex-members, or sympathizers.

But the Australians expressed doubt they have stopped all Soviet spying there, even though they have exposed a lot of it.

Men Are Important, After All

NEW YORK—Guess what is the single thing that makes the world most livable to women.

It's you, mister, whether you're single or not. Most girls agree they wouldn't want to live—even doubt that they could live—in a world that held no men.

They simply couldn't get along without our shy many dimples, our little pointed heads, our bumbling 5-thumb hands.

Yes, sir, do you know what the girls would miss most about men if the male sex suddenly vanished from the earth? Well, no matter what you're thinking, you're wrong.

made up forever only of members of their own sex. Most of them agreed they'd rather be dead.

Here are a few of their reactions:

"You mean I'd have to pay my own way when I went out? That'd kill me!"

"It would be too lonely without men. Nobody to fight with, Sure women fight each other, but it's not fun. It's only fun when you're fighting a man."

"Whose shoulder would I cry on? I hate other women."

"It would be a more sensible world if there were no men. Women have much more common sense. But it would be an awfully dull world."

"Oh, we'd never forget men—even if we could no longer see them. Men are in our blood. We'd remember them even in our veins."

"My heart closes even at the thought of it. It would be hell on earth without men. They are the romanticists. They provide the poetry, the music, the dreams in life. Women are too practical. Besides, men smell so good—with their woolly clothes, their sweat, and their stinky old pipe smoke."

"It wouldn't be enough for a woman to mother a little girl baby. It wouldn't satisfy her. She wants to mother a real big baby—a man."

What would women miss most about men if they were gone?

Surprisingly—at least it amazed me—they spoke out quite frankly. None, it seemed, would miss a man's handsome face, his strong muscles or his admittedly noble character.

Two of the girls conceded they'd most miss man as the family breadwinner—"You mean I'd have to live in an office myself all my life"—and a third said:

"Men are nice, to cuddle up to. Can a hormone cuddle you?"

Another, a dashing blonde, replied, blushing:

"What would I miss most? Good heavens, what a silly question! Please consider me censored."

The other lassies stubbornly insisted that in an all-feminine world the thing they'd pine for most would be the opportunity simply to talk to a man.

Asked what made the conversation of men so attractive, one girl said:

"It's so funny. All men try to sell you the same stupid line."

But the rest of the girls agreed with an older woman who remarked:

"Woman talk is really nothing but selfish yappy-yappy-yap. A man is more interesting to talk to than a woman, because he is more tolerant and broad-minded."

All I can say is, boys, if we're that important to the ladies—then why don't they whisper a little of that honey praise in our big flapping ears while we're still alive and doing our best to keep 'em from widowhood.

Mr. Breger

"This is the play which all the critics said is so powerful and dynamic and makes people think . . ."

Around The Rim

Local Football Has Changed

Football these days is somewhat different from the time, four decades ago, that a group of boys cleared off a sand-burr patch (by wallowing in it) and started out on their own.

For one thing, the sport wasn't recognized by the high school. For another, one of the boys did the coaching. The first game turned out so badly that the team all but folded.

However, football had got into the blood stream and the next year the Big Spring boys got blessing of the school system (this was in 1910, I believe) and went on to a very successful season. One of the great ambitions of that day was to beat Abilene, something that happened only once. (In the late 30's when everyone else was kicking Abilene around, Big Spring managed to get in its licks then.)

It may be of interest to a lot of folks to know that the first team came to be known as the Jayhawks, the title now worn by the Howard County Junior College athletic groups these days. The change to the name of Steers came about in the early 20's under the spell of Joe Ward, who had been an all-conference star at the University of Texas. Before anyone knew what was happening, he had tacked his alma mater's title on the local team.

Prior to that time football had been largely a matter of butting and pushing, a contest of brute strength and determination. Ward changed all that. He brought in precision blocking and a hidden ball trick which was the terror of West Texas. Most of his games were won by lopsided scores (all but Abilene, of course).

There followed a sag in fortunes, but Obie Bristow, with some new blood from Oklahoma, lifted the sport to a new plateau, principally on the arms and legs of one of the school's greatest, Isaac Dennis. Bristow's greatest team, however, came a couple of seasons later when he went to the quarter-finals and could have beaten Amarillo had the boys not taken stage fright and failed to recover until it was too late. There were some great boys on that club like Olie Cordill, Sam Flowers and Bob Flowers, etc.

Along about the close of the decade Big Spring came up with another district winner, but an El Paso team surprised the stuffing out of the Steers here and beat them by a point. It is just as well, for the next week El Paso had to go to Amarillo and play in a blinding sleet storm. Many fans will be eternally grateful for that.

During and after the war the swing was to the T, and the plunge and pass routine, the double reverses and sweeping thrusts at end gave way to faster breaks and speedy backs. The tragedy was that we didn't have enough boys and depth to make the new brand work. The 40's, on the whole, were dismal for Big Spring. Two years ago Big Spring once more came into its own with some lads who made up in ruggedness what they lacked in speed and went all the way to the state finals. Last year, part of the same group carried to a tie for the district titles. Now, the split T is coming on and an entirely new era is blossoming. Here's hoping, of course, we don't take quite so long to become acclimated to it.

Inez Robb

The Case Of The Missing Sparklers

(While Inez Robb is on vacation, her column is being replaced by that of Frederick G. Othman.)

By FREDERICK G. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON—How Uncle Sam happened to buy himself a shoebox full of diamonds—big, beautiful ones suitable for engagement rings and diadems—can be explained. Uncle couldn't help himself.

The question is where are these millions worth of sparklers today? They could be decorating a Queen. Or some prime ministers may be trying to do peddle 'em on the Q. T. in competition with the international diamond cartel.

Nobody knows. Or if anybody does, he isn't talking.

What little I happened to learn about this mysterious box of diamonds was by accident. I dropped in, was all, on the anti-trust hearings before the Judiciary Committee of Sen. Harley M. Kilgore (D., W. Va.).

It develops that America is about the only place in the world where anti-trust laws mean anything. In practically all other countries trust-busting is an unknown art.

Usually the boys in foreign lands divvy up the business between themselves and if the demand gets bigger than production they seldom enlarge their factories; they just boost prices. This leaves everybody happy except the customers.

The lawyers were explaining this unhappy situation in language ponderous enough to put a wide awake reporter (like me, of course) to sleep. I'd almost dozed off, when Sen. Kilgore interrupted a description of cartels to announce that he knew something about the machinations of these outfits. He meant the diamond cartel.

It turns out that the only useful diamonds, except maybe those used for making an impression on blondes, are the tiny, gritty ones, which are sold by the pound for use in drilling holes in hard metals. These are known as industrial diamonds and there is a constant and heavy demand for them. They are particularly valuable in wartime when we've got to grind out guns in a hurry.

So we've been buying industrial diamonds for our stockpile. How many pounds we've got, or what we paid, is a deep military secret. A few of these diamonds we bought from a Portuguese outfit, but in general we've done our buying from the British Diamond Syndicate. This is one of those cartels that makes its own rules.

"And if we want to buy industrial diamonds, we've also got to buy gem stones," said Sen. Kilgore. "Now we've got a lot of these gem stones in our stockpile."

"Yes sir," agreed Attorney Sigmund Timberg, a Washington cartel expert, who believes the U.N. can make a good start getting rid of cartels around the world. So I got to worrying about the U.S. government as a diamond necklace hoarder.

I bided my time while Sen. Kilgore and his chief counsel, Joseph Burns, did a little snooping for me. They came up with word that only a few days ago the U.S. government traded its fancy diamonds with another government for some more industrial stones. The Senator didn't know which government. Nobody'd tell him.

So that leaves us with the questions: What nation is the world needed gems suitable for a crown? And why? Maybe the queen was feeling ill clad. Or perhaps the prince wanted to make friends with a cutie in Paris.

Since our own government isn't talking about who wanted its diamonds, your answer is as good as anybody's.

Workers Call Disney By First Name

ANAHEIM, Calif.—Walt Disney swung his car up to a side gate of Disneyland and was scrutinized by a guard who then waved him through with "Hi, Walt!"

The creator of the fabulous amusement park was greeted that way by many of his employees as he tramped around the place in an hour's tour. Quite a few of the children recognized him from his TV show and asked for autographs. Before assenting, he would glance around.

"It's all right to stop if no one else sees you," he confided. "But if you start to draw a crowd around, you can never get out."

He started the tour in Pioneer-Land, hopping onto a keelboat named the Gully-whumper which was tied along the river shore.

"We used two of these in one of our new Davy Crockett shows," he said, inspecting the draft. "I'm going to fix them up for riding on the river, along with our paddlewheelers, the Mark Twain. I also want to get some Indian war canoes. The kids'll like that."

Disney then climbed on the coal car of the freight train and conversed with the engineer. As the train entered Disneyland, he talked of some of his plans for the place-plastic Indians to be hidden along the stagecoach ride, a Mickey Mouse circus at Christmas time, and International Settlement to be sponsored by individual countries.

He walked into the newly opened Davy Crockett Museum, tried to hang himself a b'ar in the shooting gallery, drank some apple cider. In Fantasyland, he inspected the Dumbo ride. Pausing for a few moments in the Mickey Mouse Theatre, he seemed to enjoy the filming of a Donald Duck cartoon.

In Tomorrowland, he visited a new art exhibit and reminisced about when he studied painting in Chicago—"I was too impatient to get on to other projects." Some tourists wanted him to pose for photos and he did so while watching model airplanes speed in circles.

Disney remarked that the Explorer boats in Adventureland have proven the most popular feature in the park. That's the river ride that has wild animals jumping up at you. It cost $400,000 to create.

The producer stopped for a chocolate milk shake on the New Orleans Waterfront and discussed the first two months' operation of Disneyland.

Is it a success?

"Oh, yes. No doubt about it. Attendance has been very satisfactory. Our only problem is adjusting the attendance, so crowds don't pile up at one time and thin out at others . . .

"Right now we've got a lot of bills to pay. We found a million dollars worth of bills we didn't know we had. We'll certainly have a profitable operation, but we won't have the full picture until we've had a year's cycle. We're learning all the time."

A surprise so far: 70 per cent of the patrons are adults. Does he have any disappointments? He said he hadn't, but admitted that his enjoyment of a project was more in its planning than the operation.

Colombia Becoming A Country Of Fear

Editor's Note - An AP reporter who investigated the situation in Colombia flew to Havana to write his story free of censorship.

By PHIL MANGELSDORF

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Colombia is becoming a country of fear.

President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla ticks off the familiar milestones of the dictator's road, and the 12 million Colombians more and more withdraw behind the barriers of silence.

Prominent businessmen, opposition politicians and others are eager to present their criticism to the outside world but hesitate to state publicly what they will say privately. They fear government retaliation.

Government officials, acutely sensitive to foreign criticism, either avoid newsmen or are evasive when questioned.

The government of Lt. Gen. Rojas last month suspended indefinitely one of the country's most influential newspapers, El Tiempo of Bogota. The suspension set off a series of decrees aimed at silencing complaints. There is a strict censorship. A national publications board has been formed to control imports of newsprint and to establish a government daily newspaper.

ELUSIVE ELEPHANT

Efforts Redoubled To Capture 'Vicki'

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Efforts were redoubled today to capture Vicki, the elusive elephant who was enjoying her sixth day of freedom since slipping off from a nearby amusement park.

Yesterday Vicki chased three of her would-be captors and nearly trampled them.

The elephant hunt, which had been a hit-or-miss affair all in Vicki's favor, got organized last night when the Mecklenburg County Board of Commissioners met with Vicki's owner Jack Partlow, who also owns the amusement park.

Elaborate plans were made for today's safari. Bulldozers dug deep pit traps. These were baited with hay and molasses, Vicki's favorite food, and camouflaged by Partlow.

Vicki is hiding in snake-infested Marshland, just across a heavily traveled boulevard from her amusement park home. The entire area was roped off. Inside, an 11-man team of experienced elephant hunters manned a corral of steel cables into which they hoped to drive the 6-year-old Indian elephant.

Vicki, a peaceful pachyderm before she lumbered off, now is mean, Partlow said, and will kill anything in her way. However, she is not mad, he said, but apparently is frightened by the ruckus kicked up about her.

If Vicki is not captured today John Ringling North will be asked to fly his crew of bull elephant experts here. If she isn't captured in a few days, she will be destroyed.

The hunt yesterday turned into a fiasco of confusion with Vicki chasing three men on different occasions. One was her handler Smoky Strickland, who attempted to sink an elephant hook above her ear. She swatted him across the forehead with her trunk.

The Board of Commissioners were called in after one member, Craig Lawing, witnessed yesterday's confusion.

"I decided we'd have to help Mr. Partlow before someone's body got killed," he said. "It isn't a local problem any more. People all over the country are wondering what kind of a city and county we have to be stymied this long by an elephant."

More than 250 volunteers were involved in yesterday's hunt. Police cleared them from the area last night.

Jaywalker Changes Mind About Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Gussie Edelman, 60, who went to jail rather than sign a jaywalking ticket police officers gave her last Tuesday, has changed her mind.

She pleaded guilty yesterday to the traffic citation. She had been accused not only of the traffic violation but of resisting officers. Municipal Judge F. Ray Bennett fined her $25 with the alternative of five days in jail, then suspended all but $2 of the fine, which she paid.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two California counties—Ventura and San Barbara—now produce more than one fourth of all the lemons grown in the world, according to a Los Angeles State College study.

Westinghouse Begins Studying Wage Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. today began studying wage demands of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers in the wake of a three-day strike which idled 43,000 members of the union at 27 plants in nine states.

The union asked for a substantial but unspecified wage increase. It said its members now average $2.10 an hour. The talks were recessed to give the company time to draft a reply. The union is free to strike Oct. 15 if no agreement is reached.

The wage talks opened a few hours before a holdout local which triggered the nationwide strike reversed itself by voting to return to work immediately. That was Local 601, representing some 10,000 workers at the East Pittsburgh plant.

Last Aug. 8 about 2,300 day workers—employees such as crane operators and helpers—walked off the job at East Pittsburgh to protest a time study of their jobs instituted by the company. CIO-UIE locals in the other Westinghouse plants called a sympathy strike which began last Sunday.

The nationwide strike was called off when IUE President James B. Carey announced the union's conference board—composed of representatives of local unions at Westinghouse plants—approved a Westinghouse proposal. That proposal provided that the subject of time studies would be made part of the wage talks. Under a two-year contract the union originally was confined to wage discussions.

Negro Family Goes Up Education Ladder

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP)—When Grant Bartholomew Martin, 21, receives his bachelor's degree from Maryland State Teachers College at Bowie next spring, he will be the 10th member of his family to receive a college degree.

It will also mark the end of Louis Martin's dream of educating his entire family. Grant is the youngest of 12 children of Mr. and Mrs. Martin and his sheepskin will be the 13th in the Negro family. Three of them hold master's degrees.

The event will be all the more unusual in that Louis Martin, the father, has worked most of his 66 years for not more than $80 a week. Most of his working life, he earned about $30 a week.

The Martins' philosophy of life? "Life is a struggle. But it is good to have a struggle. It strengthens your character."

Louis Martin had to build his strong character at an early age. His father died when he was 3. His mother died when he was 10 and he was sent to a Philadelphia orphan's home.

Martin entered the Hampton Institute at Hampton, Va., when he was 19 and majored in agriculture. But that was only the start.

His family kept growing, but it grew as a team and it kept working together.

When the first children went to college, the younger ones at home worked harder than ever to help pay their way. When the first students were graduated, they in turn helped send the younger boys and girls through college.

Six of the children are now employed as teachers.

Hilda Tosses Stormy Weight Over Yucatan

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Hilda slapped the Yucatan Peninsula early today and moved inland with winds up to 110 miles an hour while Ione, her skittish and less powerful younger sister, moved uncertainly in the Atlantic.

Hilda threw her full force along the Yucatan Peninsula between Cozumel and Chetumel and was pushing inland in a northwesterly direction at 12 m.p.h.

Hurricane-force winds raged outward 40 miles from the center to the north and 20 miles to the south. Gale to hurricane-force winds were expected to batter north British Honduras northward and to spread across the Yucatan Peninsula as Hilda went forward.

An advisory at 5 a.m., EST, said the storm would lose some of its force as it made its way across the land but was likely to regain some of its punch in the Gulf of Campeche tonight and Saturday.

Ione, embedded in a mass of colder air than normal continued an erratic course toward the west-northwest. Over a small area near the center her winds packed an 80 m.p.h. wallow, while gales spread out 150 miles northward and 80 miles to the south.

Just before daylight she was about 480 miles east of Nassau, Bahamas, and about 750 miles east-southeast of Miami. She was moving along at about 17 m.p.h.

Weather Bureau forecasters said that while Ione is pointing toward Florida, she is too far away to pose any threat at this time. She had changed direction twice in 24 hours.

A forecaster said it is too early to tell if Ione will threaten the mainland but added she was being watched "very closely."

Ione, an erratic storm, was moving on a course roughly parallel to that followed by Hurricane Connie five weeks ago, but was about 100 miles to the east of the trail Connie took before she roared ashore in the Carolinas.

Malachi Calls for Righteous Living

He Rebukes Priests and People for Indifference to God

Scripture—Leviticus 22:1-22; Malachi.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

MALACHI is called "the last of the prophets." His short book of three chapters is the last in the Old Testament. It was written, it is believed, between 425 and 400 B.C., after the return from captivity. The people of Judah were not living according to Jehovah's laws. Indeed, they seemed indifferent to His commands as given to Moses.

Malachi writes, the Lord says He has loved His people and they ask, "Wherein hast thou loved us?" The entire history of the people of Israel demonstrates vividly the love God had for them. Yet Malachi must chide them for their indifference to Jehovah's commands. He accuses them, saying that when they bring their offerings to the altar, they choose animals who may be blind, lame, sick, which shows a contempt for the Lord's table.

The priests, says Malachi, offer polluted (spoiled, unfit for food) should check on this matter, each one of us.

In another matter the people of Israel were greatly at fault—a matter which is also true of our generation. It is in dealings with our families and our fellows. Malachi says:

"Have we not all one Father? hath not God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers?"

Why is man so cruel to man? We grow heartless at the crimes committed every day in our own country and which are duplicated over the entire world. The very least we can do is to treat others fairly, not cheating or being unkind to them.

And in the matter of divorce, which is such a problem in our modern world, Malachi has a word for that too. He speaks of the man who marries in his youth, but casts his wife aside in later years and takes another—in the Hebrews' case, possibly a heathen

MEMORY VERSE
"Have we not all one Father? hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother?"—Malachi 2:10.

bread on the altars. "And if ye offer the blind for sacrifices, is it not evil? offer it now unto thy governor; will he be pleased with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of Hosts?"

The law distinctly says:

"And whosoever offereth of peace offerings unto the Lord to accomplish his vow, or a freewill offering in heaves or sheep,—it shall be perfect; there shall be no blemish therein."—Leviticus 22:21.

So, after all the blessings they had received from Jehovah, they were cheating Him, showing contempt for His ordinances. In the matter of tithes they were also "robbing the Lord," and Malachi chides them for this.

How many of us do likewise when we bring our offerings to the house of God? Do we spend money for luxuries which we could do without and give a pittance to God's work? We too woman. He warns such to "take heed to your spirit, and let none deal treacherously against the wife of his youth." Jesus had some words on this same subject.

Beginning with the third chapter of his book, Malachi prophesies the coming of John the Baptist:

"Behold, I will send My messenger, and he shall prepare the way before Me; and the Lord whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in; behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of Hosts."

How can we live righteously on earth? By loving God our Father with all our hearts and worshipping Him. But we must never forget that with this worship of God we must always consider His other children all over the world, and be sure to treat them as our brothers and sisters.

This 'Fire Sale' Is Real Enough

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—The Pacific Coast Music Festival is having a "fire sale" of tickets for the last two Leopold Stokowski concerts tomorrow and Sunday.

Festival officials said the huge

10-day Los Padres National Forest fire, now under control but which once threatened the outskirts of Santa Barbara, had caused a substantial number of ticket cancellations from Los Angeles area subscribers.

Therefore, the $5 and $3 seats for the last two concerts are being cut to $2.

NORTH CAROLINA

3 Negroes Ready To Begin Classes

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Three Negro students were ready for classes today at the University of North Carolina, the first of their race to be enrolled in the undergraduate school at the 166-year-old institution.

Leroy Frasier, 17, his brother Ralph, 16, and John L. Brandon, 18, were admitted yesterday after federal judges refused to stay an order issued Saturday directing the school to accept the youths.

University officials said all three were "academically qualified." All are graduates of Durham's Hillside High School and will commute daily from Durham, 12 miles away.

The three will take aptitude tests today and attend their first classes late today or tomorrow. They will take general college courses and ultimately plan to study business administration.

Meanwhile, Louisiana State University turned down one Negro undergraduate application but said another, A.P. Tureaud Jr., was eligible for undergraduate arts and law.

The 19-year-old Tureaud, son of the chief counsel in Louisiana for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, did not enroll, however. Later the father said he plans to send his son back to Xavier University at New Orleans.

The father explained that as long as LSU apparently intends to ask a rehearing in the court case, his son might lose a semester of study in any new legal dispute. The youth

Fire Devastates Virginia Warehouse

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A fire that spread with devastating quickness destroyed a half-block-long warehouse in south Richmond early today.

The flames, feeding on stored plywood, engulfed the structure in 40 minutes.

After a battle of nearly two hours, firemen managed to control the flames that for a time had threatened the local general offices of the U.S. Plywood Co.

There was no immediate estimate of damage.

FARMERS DON'T RECKON with real horsepower any more — a tractor can do the job better. Today's farm is an open-air factory with a specialized machine for every task. And America's mechanized farming produces more food . . . and better food . . . than any other country in the world.

But to mass produce the millions of tractors, plows, combines, pickers, cultivators that are found on modern farms, manufacturers must be able to sell them by the millions. Only by advertising can a manufacturer talk to millions of farmers at the same time.

ADVERTISING TELLS the story of new farm machinery and equipment — and helps sell it. The more it sells, the more must be made — keeping the production lines and the jobs going. The result: newer, better farm machinery at prices more farmers can afford to pay. Advertising helped make the difference in farming, and in our American way of life.

Messengers Picturesque Genoa Makes Wear Masks Itself Into A Major Port

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No, they're not men from Mars. They are motorcycle messengers with a unique solution to the Los Angeles smog problem.

The 40 motorcycle riders said yesterday the smog was so thick it hurt their eyes. They refused to deliver for a blueprint firm.

So General Manager Henry Davis went to a war surplus store, bought 40 gas masks, with goggles, and told the riders to carry on.

By HOUSTON HARTE
GENOA, Sept. 10 — Genoa is an example of what alert citizenship can mean in the life of a city.

Like the rest of Italy, Genoa is without natural advantages. It is the first port of Italy and one of the busiest on the Mediterranean, yet its harbor is almost entirely man made.

Naples and Venice have far superior ports, but the merchants of Genoa created here, by their own efforts, facilities which attracted Mediterranean shipping headquarters and by their energy have held their superior position.

Genoa today is the third city in Italy with a population of 800,000. Its small harbor is no different from hundreds of others along the Italian coast. But Genoa built docks, breakwaters, warehouses and hustled for business.

The picturesque town looks down from lofty hills onto the harbor and the blue Mediterranean beyond. As a busy port and an industrial city making ammunition and artillery during the war, it was the target of much allied bombing.

The day Franco came to Genoa in 1941 to meet Mussolini the British fleet slipped close to shore and destroyed the railroad station where Franco's train was to arrive. As a result of this combined shelling much of the old section of the city was left in rubble.

Following the war new housing projects set back from broad avenues replaced the ancient slums, with their narrow streets. Much of Genoa is still ancient, and years will be required to replace 13th to 15th century buildings.

Testifying to the need of shade in this climate, the favorite architecture of the city affords wide sidewalks covered out to the street.

Above the ground floor the buildings cover the sidewalk. Some of the newest business blocks follow this style.

The electric streetcar lines operate extremely narrow cars. The seats on each side of the aisle will hold but a single person, but the aisles will permit two to three persons to stand abreast and hang onto straps. The tracks appear to be no more than three feet apart.

The Genoese place great emphasis upon their burial monuments. The city has one of the finest monuments to the dead in all the world. It is a cemetery — Staglieno. It is located on the side of a hill five or six miles from the center of the city. It has a mausoleum built in a rectangle three corridors wide, each a mile long. Up the hill are special mausoleums that cost thousands of dollars and are owned by wealthy families. Some are replicas of sections of famous cathedrals.

The front of the vaults in the great mausoleum contain some of the great art of Italy. Here the finest sculptors were retained to create sorrowing widows grieving at the tomb's closed door or angels carrying children and maidens to heaven. Like the Egyptian kings, the Genoese seem to have made a fetish of preparing burial monuments for themselves.

Every visitor to Staglieno is shown the statue of the old woman who sold roasted hazelnuts on the streets of Genoa.

The poor woman worked a lifetime at this ill-paid job, saved her money like a miser, that she could have a sepulcher among the great. She hired a famous sculptor and posed for a life-size marble statue with her hazelnuts in her hands; and over her shoulder. Regardless of what she got out of her more than 70 years of life, she achieved fame when she finally entered her sepulcher. The Genoese guides who take you to her resting spot say her statue is the most photographed in the cemetery.

The Italian people appear to have changed greatly during this last half century. The government claims its people have increased in height four inches between the census of 1900 and 1950. The Genoese have been influenced by the Piedmont and Lombardy Italians, and a visitor is instantly impressed with the many tall young men seen on the street.

You get another quick impression that there are many blondes among the women. If you ask an American woman if she has noticed it, your reward is a little advice. "If you know anything about blondes you'd know the blondes you see in Italy get the color out of a bottle." On closer inspection an old man with poor eyes has to admit the truth of the observation.

There is a water shortage in Genoa. The first thing you are shown when you get to your hotel room is "Importanti Note." Printed in three languages, it says to be careful in the use of water.

Genoa's reservoir is low. Also this fast growing city, built upon a hundred hills, has an inadequate distribution system. Some of the underground conduits in the old part of the city are still of brick and stone. Times has taken its toll, and this is one of the reasons you buy bottled water in Genoa.

The new apartment houses, built high on the hills, have water only at night. There simply is not enough pressure to lift the water this high during the day.

One of the reasons there are so few bathrooms in Italian and French hotels is that a bathroom is such an elaborate institution. Their marble floors and walls contain six pieces of equipment. By our standards three are useless or at least unnecessary.

Loud Program
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Detective John Burk switched on the radio in his car yesterday and — his gas tank blew up.

Burk was burned slightly on the face, but the blast broke a rear window of the cruiser, buckled the trunk, blew a hole in the gas tank and knocked Burk's hat out the window.

"I thought I'd been dynamited," said Burk.

A spark from his radio transmitter apparently ignited gas fumes, police said.

Russians Set Welcome For German Premier

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians prepared a warm welcome today for East German Premier Otto Grotewohl. They hailed East Germany as a sovereign state and brushed aside Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's claim his government speaks for all Germans.

Soviet negotiations with Grotewohl follow up those Adenauer concluded only three days ago.

Soviet Premier Bulganin, who headed up the Soviet side in the bargaining sessions with Adenauer, was not expected to take part for the time being at least in the talks with Grotewohl. The Soviet news agency Tass disclosed last night that the 60-year-old Soviet leader was ill, but did not specify his ailment.

Bulganin was not on hand for the opening today of another set of Soviet negotiations, with a Finnish delegation headed by President Juho Paasikivi and Premier Urho Kekkonen. The Finns hope to get back the heavily fortified Porkkala naval base, 20 miles southwest of Helsinki, which the Russians have held on a 50-year lease since the 1947 peace treaty formally ended the Russian-Finnish hostilities of World War II.

The meeting with Grotewohl was seen as a Soviet move to reassure the East German Communists that Russia had not sold them out by negotiating with Adenauer.

The Soviet-West German talks resulted in agreement to set up diplomatic relations between the two governments and, according to Adenauer, an oral promise from Bulganin to release German prisoners held in Russia since World War II.

The Russians set the stage for the Grotewohl talks by rejecting two claims Adenauer had made before leaving Moscow: (1) that the Bonn regime was the only legitimate German government, and (2) that a final settlement of Germany's frontiers must await the peace treaty.

The Russians declared through Tass that Adenauer has no more to say about Germany's final borders than East Germany. They also pointed out that the East Germans already had signed away prewar German territory east of the Oder-Neisse Line to Poland and Russia. Tass made clear that the Soviets do not consider the frontier subject to further dicker.

(Official circles in Bonn said they had anticipated this Russian reaction to Adenauer's claims. They said the Chancellor had put the points on record so it would not appear he was surrendering the German position on unity and settlement of the frontiers to gain other points.)

The Oder-Neisse Line was laid down at the 1945 Potsdam conference. It was then agreed that subject to a final peace settlement, Poland should administer those parts of prewar Germany lying east of a line from the Baltic Sea just west of Swinemunde, along the Oder River to its juncture with the Neisse River and from there to the Czechoslovak border. In addition, East Prussia was divided between Poland and Russia.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda also indicated the way was being cleared to give East Germany credit for release of the German war prisoners.

The party organ published a letter from East German President Wilhelm Pieck formally asking Soviet President Klement Voroshilov for release of all still held. The letter was dated Aug. 31, almost two weeks before Adenauer came to Moscow.

All this was seen as a Russian move to counter any propaganda effect Adenauer might have on the Germans by contending his efforts had furthered the German cause.

Nixon Tour Marks Start Of Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—A speaking tour which will take Vice President Nixon into contested political territory indicated today Republicans are beginning their 1956 election campaign now.

Nixon announced yesterday he will open fire at the National Flowering Contest in Washburn, Ind., tomorrow on Democratic critics of the Eisenhower administration's flexible price support farm program.

The vice president will follow this up with a speech at a GOP $100-a-plate dinner in Indianapolis tomorrow night.

Republican state chairmen agreed at a meeting here last week that declining farm prices offer the greatest political threat to the election of a GOP Congress next year. Some of them are known to have suggested to National Chairman Leonard W. Hall that Nixon was the man to answer sharpened Democratic criticism in this field.

Thus far, the chief Republican ally has been that the Eisenhower administration inherited the great crop surpluses which they said were caused by rigid price supports under the Democrats.

But Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said that President Eisenhower will have something "very specific" to propose to Congress as an addition to the present program. He has hinted this might take the form of federally-subsidized withdrawal of some acreage from crop production.

Nixon will have another opportunity to talk about the farm problem at the National Corn Picking Contest in St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 15. Missouri, which Eisenhower carried by a slightly less than 30,000 votes in 1952, is classed as a doubtful state next year.

There was every indication

Nixon will discuss international affairs in dedicating a statue to Columbus in Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 12 and at the American Legion National Convention in Miami Oct. 13.

Proud Moment
This was a proud moment for both Lt. Donald Chase and his parents, as it was for 38 other officers in Class 55-V at Webb AFB Thursday morning. Lt. Chase had the honor of having his mother, Mrs. Floyd Chase of Omaha, Neb., pin on his jet pilot wings while his father, Floyd Chase, looked on. The class was graduated following a wing review at which the famous Thunderbird force gave a breath-taking demonstration of precision flying. (Air Force Photo).

56,000 MEN Navy Finally Has To Resort To Draft

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy, which has prided itself on being a strictly volunteer outfit, finally has been compelled to start drafting some of its sailors.

For the first time since World War II, when all the armed forces were ordered to get all men by draft alone, the Navy will begin in November to get some of its manpower by levy.

The draft became necessary, the Navy said, to replace men whose four-year Korean War enlistments are now expiring.

A monthly quota, starting out at 10,000 men, will be added to the present Army quota to bring the total draft call up to 20,000.

By next summer the Navy expects to have drafted a total of 56,000 men. Except for a January, when none will be taken, the Navy is asking 10,000 men a month through next April, 6,000 for May and perhaps some in June. It said it hopes to drop draft calls after June.

The Navy draftees will serve for the same two-year period as their Army opposites. Enlistments will continue on a four-year basis.

The Air Force is confronted with a problem identical to that of the Navy — a high loss of manpower because terms of men who joined during the Korean War are now expiring and men are declining — in droves — to re-enlist.

But the Air Force is hanging on grimly to its own volunteer-only recruits.

If called up by selective service, a man may ask for duty in the Navy. But whether he gets it will depend on several conditions, including whether the monthly quotas as allocated between the Army and Navy have been filled. The selections will be made at the armed forces examination stations.

Shorthorns, Andrews Settle For 13-13 Tie

For the second week in row a Big Spring team found an Andrews aggregation as easy to get rid of as a cockle burr. This time it was the Big Spring B team which got itself tied 13-13 at Steer Stadium Thursday evening. The difference in this story and last week, when the A team had to hold on to the ropes to gain identical tie with the visiting Mustangs, was that the Shorthorns had the better of it most of the way.

Rangy Marvin Wooten reeled off touchdown runs of 56 and 32 yards to stake the Big Spring B's to an apparent margin of victory. But Andrews had its Jay Serrard who passed for one and bu. d over

7th Graders Break Andrews Hold, 14-0

Seventh graders of Big Spring put together a pair of passes to win a 14-0 victory over Andrews at Steer Stadium Thursday evening. Early in the second quarter Big Spring took over on its own 47. Tommy Whitley, Jerry Bowerman and Carey King banded for a first down before Whitley pegged a 35-yard aerial to Bowerman for the score. King plunged for the extra point.

Andrews rallied principally on strength of a 15-yard penalty against the Dogies, but the Big Spring boys recovered an Andrews fumble and picked up three first downs before an offside penalty at the crucial moment bogged the drive. Andrews took over on the 30 and ran the clock out. Jerry Dunlap and Fred Pittman starred on the defense for the Big Springers.

Andrews Takes Couple Over 8th, 9th Graders

ANDREWS (SC) — Big Spring eighth and ninth grade grid teams lost two games to tough Andrews eleventh Thursday evening.

last year. They were undefeated in the 1934 season. In the ninth grade game, Big Spring scored first, in the opening quarter, on a 10-yard end sweep by Davis. Andrews came right back on a similar play, also going 10 yards for the score. From then on, it was the young Mustangs game.

Lakeview To Meet Slaton

Fresh from a conference victory of Lamesa, the Big Spring Lakeview football team tackles the Slaton Tigers in Slaton at 8 p.m. Saturday.

They took the second half's opening kickoff and went 85 yards for their second score. In the fourth quarter, a Big Spring pass was intercepted and Andrews went 40 yards for another touchdown.

Pampa Outscores Amarillo, 10-9

The Pampa Oilers used the home-run ball to out-score Amarillo 10-9 last night and gain a 1-0 advantage in the final playoffs for the West Texas-New Mexico League.

Davis scored from 10 yards out in the second quarter, and hit pay-dirt again in the final period on a one-yard plunge for the eighth graders' two touchdowns in that game. Andrews did all its scoring on long runs. Standouts, along with Davis, were Bobby Evans, Bud Bridges and Mike Zubiate.

Two Withdraw Off The Baylor Squad

WACO (AP)—Sophomore fullback Jack Joyce of Palestine and freshman guard Winston Lafleur of Port Neches withdrew from Baylor University yesterday.

The eighth graders play Lamesa here Saturday evening, and the ninth grade eleven takes on a Bowle of Odessa team, also in the local stadium. The ninth grade tilt is down for 4 p.m., and the eighth graders play at 8 p.m. In between will be a clash between seventh graders of Big Spring and Lamesa.

Archie Kept On Until He's Made Marciano Sore

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Archie Moore's long needling campaign has gotten under Rocky Marciano's skin.

The 30-year-old ring veteran's taunts helped get him his Sept. 20 title fight with the heavyweight king but it also could lead to quick destruction for Moore in Yankee Stadium Tuesday night.

Archie's barbs have nettled him, Rocky admits. It also has served as a stimulant for the undefeated Brockton Blaster.

Rocky said he is in the greatest shape of his career, and expects to put on "one of my best fights." Asked if Moore's oft-repeated cracks about him had something to do with this, Rocky replied:

"I guess so. Everything has been leading up to this. It kind of spurs you on. I think I want to win this more than any fight since the first one with Jersey Joe Walcott when I won the title."

At the same time Rocky said he respects the light heavyweight champion's skill and is looking for a tough fight.

"From all reports and talks I've had about him, I guess he must be called the most dangerous fighter I've ever faced. I've watched him on television and we go over the movies of his fight with Harold Johnson."

Moore, dropped by Johnson, rallied to knock out the light heavyweight challenger in the 14th round.

A&M Only Underdog As S'west Kicks Off

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Writer

Five of the seven members of the Southwest Conference flex their well trained muscles this weekend in the opening of the football season with all except Texas A&M favored to hang up a victory.

The Aggies, enthusiastic but sophomoric, battle mighty UCLA at Los Angeles Friday night in the first game on the schedule. Acknowledged greatly improved over last season, it still would be a jarring upset for the Cadets to whip the Uclans, who are rated No. 1 in the nation without throwing a pass or making a run.

Saturday finds Arkansas, the defending conference champion, playing a Tulsa outfit that hasn't won a game in 14 tries. Saturday night Texas Christian meets a Kansas team that hasn't won one in 16.

That looks like two intersectional victories to start the ball rolling.

Of most importance on the domestic front is the clash of Texas with Texas Tech at Austin Saturday night. This one figures to be a great ball game as Texas seeks to defend the tradition of having never lost an opener at home and Tech strives for a victory that would put it smack-dab in the big middle of the national spotlight.

Baylor's well-heeled Golden Bears get going in a Saturday night clash with that fellow Baptist school, Hardin-Simmons. The Bears could find the Cowboys of Sam Baugh tough to handle, especially on the offense.

The five opening games are due to draw close to 150,000 fans with better than 50,000 expected at Los Angeles where Red Sanders unveils his undefeated, untied Uclans against the often-beaten Texas Aggies.

More than 40,000 should greet Texas and Texas Tech at Austin while Texas Christian looks for 20,000 at Fort Worth. Arkansas anticipates 15,000 at Fayetteville and Baylor forecasts the same number for its game at Waco. The Texas Tech-Texas game that looks so close the bounce of the ball may decide it should be a rip-snorting offensive thriller. It will mark the varsity debut of the fabulous Walter Fondren, a boy who's expected to furnish Texas with the spark of a great comeback. Tech is hoping its ace quarterback of 1933, Jack Kirkpatrick, injured last year will be in his willow form.

Rice and Southern Methodist will be interested spectators this week. They don't open the season until Sept. 24 when Rice plays Alabama and Southern Methodist tackles Notre Dame.

Doesn't seem much point in predicting on the apparently cut-dried games this week but this gets the record started.

Texas A&M-UCLA—An Aggie

victory would be worth plenty to the conference but can't see it happening; UCLA by two touchdowns.

Texas-Texas Tech—A weak vote for Texas because of the at-home advantage.

Arkansas-Tulsa—Oho, come now, OK? You want a prediction anyway—Arkansas 34, Tulsa 6.

Texas Christian-Kansas.—Fine sportsmen, those Kansas; they won't mind a 3-touchdown licking.

Baylor-Hardin-Simmons — Sam Baugh is quite a football player; trouble is, he's not eligible for this game. So, it's Baylor by a touchdown or two.

Shreveport And Houston To Scrap For Texas Title

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Houston and Shreveport start playing tonight for the right to appear in the Dixie Series.

It's the final playoff round of the Texas League with the clubs that finished first and second—Dallas and San Antonio—already on the sidelines.

The winner of the 7-game series that opens tonight will meet the Southern Assn. playoff champion in the Dixie Series.

Bill Greason is expected to be the opening pitcher for Houston with John Andre going to the mound for Shreveport. Greason had a 17-11 record during the season. Andre, who joined Shreveport late, had only 4-4. Both are right-handers.

A crowd of 6,000 is expected for the opener. The clubs play here again tomorrow night, then go to Houston for three games starting Sunday. They will return here Wednesday if more games are needed to decide the winner.

During the regular season, Shreveport beat Houston 13 times while Houston won 10 games from the Sports.

Here's The SOLUTION To CASHWORD PUZZLE NO. 32

Explanation Of More Difficult Clues

CLUES ACROSS:

- 2. Ice is best. When I, is needed as part of a game, such as hockey, curling, etc., you could have no game without it. As for Ace, you do not necessarily see the Ace in every hand or in every play and in some games of cards the Ace is rarely used, if at all.
- 6. Since the clue says "telephone", "Cut off" fits better. You can be Put off by many other means other than by telephone.
- 8. Notes is best. Strictly speaking he cannot lose Votes; he can only fail to be given them. (One cannot lose what one has never possessed). He can lose his Notes, of course.
- 12. Dip is best. It can mean only a Dip in the ocean or a bath. As for a Nip, this is too general. A Nip of what? The clue doesn't say. The same applies to Sip. Dip is a surer answer.
- 14. Striker is preferred. By word or action, an individual Striker might well make a factory manager very angry. Strikes would be far more apt in the singular. Also, it is quite possible that a man in the position of factory manager might be one of the Strikers himself, in which case Strikes would hardly anger him.
- 15. Mute is preferred since it is in common use today in connection with a variety of musical instruments and the student will need to learn about it. The Lute, being an old fashioned instrument, is seldom studied today.

- 17. See is best. Many of them can't See very well "without their glasses", and can't Sew very well whether they have their glasses or not. Or we might say that See is more comprehensive since they may not be able to Sew very well because they cannot See very well.
- 22. Slim is more apt because in order to Slim all you need to do is to follow certain instructions. For Swim it would be better to say learning to do so.
- 25. Car is best. The clue refers to the "actual" cost. It is not uncommon for a man to be surprised when he counts up the actual cost of owning and running a Car. Since it is a well known fact that no man or public body has ever been able to compute the "actual" cost of any War, the word War, as the answer, is ruled out since no man could ever "learn its actual cost" and be surprised.
- 26. To Pray for your country is indeed praiseworthy. To Play for your country is not necessarily praiseworthy—you may Play very badly or you may do it for purely selfish reasons.
- 27. If a big effort is Wanted, it's no use being dismal about it—you need to get on with the job. If a big effort on your part is Wanted you are entitled to feel dismal about it.

CLUES DOWN:

- 5. "Refusing" implies a positive action of refusal on the part of "the answer", favoring Men. Men can refuse to write. A Pen can only fail to write.
- 20. "Foolish" favors Coat. To neglect a Colt would be inhuman and "foolish" would be an understatement.

Why You Pay More For Beer

For the third time since 1950, a state tax increase on beer—this one effective Sept. 6—has been levied by the Legislature to provide additional money for old age pensions, the public schools, farm-to-market roads, aid to the blind and to needy children, and for retired teachers' pensions.

There have been times when tax increases resulted in loss of tax revenue through greatly-decreased sales.

Smith said the new state tax will amount to 18 per cent of the production value of beer—the highest production tax, percentage-wise on any product manufactured in Texas.

As a result, Texans can expect to pay a penny per bottle more for beer.

The last Legislature raised the beer tax from $2 a barrel to $4.30. The federal tax is $9 a barrel.

One-fourth of the beer tax goes into the State's available school fund. Three-fourths goes into the Omnibus Tax Fund, from which old-age pensions, assistance to the blind and to dependent children, farm-to-market road costs, teacher retirement and foundation school program costs are paid.

Approximately $3,000,000 of the increased beer tax revenue will be used to help pay the $7,000,000 a year increase in old age pensions voted by the Legislature.

Just last year, the beer tax had been increased 63 cents per barrel to help pay higher teachers' salaries. In 1950, the tax on beer was increased 10 per cent at a special session called by the Governor to provide badly-needed money for state hospitals.

In addition to the $4.30 per barrel tax on beer, the State collects approximately $664,000 each year from the sale of wine and beer permits.

The other two tax increases voted by the Legislature this year also will bring the State additional revenue from the beer industry. Beer distributors alone, Smith said would pay an estimated $50,000 a year in franchise taxes—aside from the large amount that will be paid by the breweries.

The beer drinkers of Texas pay $48,300 each day into the State Treasury. Of the total beer tax revenue collected through the end of last year and since the repeal of prohibition, $23,896,190.91 was used for the public schools, $477,839.10 for the needy blind, $2,102,134.26 for farm-to-market roads, $3,877,971.32 for teachers' retirement, $28,896,190.91 for old age pensions, $1,351,847.31 for needy children and $24,974,473.82 for other state purposes.

Last year, the $2 per barrel tax brought $8,000,000 into the State Treasury. The State Comptroller estimates that the new tax will raise $16,249,440 in 1956 and $17,630,430 in 1957.

Smith said that his group believes the State should make a comprehensive study of the entire state tax structure in an effort to equalize tax burdens among the various industries.

"Tax rates for some industries are extremely high and yet they are extremely low for other industries," he said. "There are some that pay no state taxes at all. We are hopeful that the tax study which the Legislature directed the Legislative Council to undertake will be all-inclusive and that it will arm the Legislature with the facts it needs in order to equalize the tax burden."

Uncle Ray:
Africa Has Few
 Mountain Ranges

By RAMON COFFMAN

A question about Uganda is among those which I shall take up today.

Q. Is it true that a king in Uganda has little food except milk?
 A. That used to be true, according to reports of visitors. Ninety-three years ago, the British travel-

Bunyora milkmaids and cow.

ers, James Grant and John Speke, reported:

"King Rumanika stood six feet and two inches (tall). He lived on milk, along with beef broth and a little wine."

That so-called king was the ruler of a Negro tribe in Uganda. He was supplied with milk from a special herd of cows. The milkmaids had white faces, thanks to the white clay which covered them.

The members of the tribe are known as Bunyoras or Unyoros. During the past half century the food customs of the king, or chief, have changed somewhat.

Q. Where is Uganda?
 A. In the heart of Africa, north and west of Lake Victoria. Uganda is a British protectorate, and about half of Lake Victoria is inside its borders.

Q. Does Africa have tall mountains?
 A. Africa has a large amount of plateau country, but it has very few mountain ranges. Africa has nothing to compare with the Andes of South America, the Rockies of North America or the Himalayas of Asia.

Best known among African mountains are the Atlas Mountains across from Spain. The highlands of east-central Africa contain Kilimanjaro, a volcanic mountain with two peaks, Mount Kibo, the taller of these peaks, rises to a height of more than three and a half miles.

For TRAVEL section of your scrapbook.

FREE: A new booklet called INDIAN TRIBES OF NORTH AMERICA tells you how to compare with the Andes of South America, the Rockies of North America or the Himalayas of Asia.
