Texan Dead Over Week End 18; Violence Marks Deaths

SIX ARE SHOT IN THE TIME

Others Include Ends By Explosions And Autos

DALLAS, June 8. (UP)—The deaths of 18 persons killed in Texas during the week end were marked by violence and mishaps.

Nine were killed in traffic accidents. Six were shot to death. Two were drowned and one died in a gasoline still explosion.

Many were injured on the highways as they sought relief from the heat.

Pyrote Blast

PYOTE, June 8.—E. O. James, 33, fireman for the Tonkawa gasoline refinery here, was fatally burned about 10 o'clock Sunday morning when several gasoline stills exploded, enveloping him in flames.

James is the seventh victim of an explosion at the Tonkawa refinery. H. R. Van Cleve died from burns and five others were injured March 23 when stills exploded. The March explosion caused damage estimated at $150,000 but the one Sunday morning caused little damage.

James had been working here only about a week, coming here from Ponca City, Okla. He is unmarried.

Cause of the explosions were unknown. The plant resumed operation after an overhauling.

Baby Is Dead

GREENVILLE, June 8. (UP)—Annie Mae Williamson, 3, was killed and six other Dallasites including her mother, Mrs. Carter Williamson, were injured this morning when their car plunged off the highway five miles southwest of here.

The girl was pinned beneath the wreckage in a ditch. Her neck was broken.

Loose gravel was blamed as the cause of the accident.

Five Killed

BELLEVUE, June 8.—Five persons were killed and another seriously injured when a truck and a coupe collided on a bridge on the Amarillo-Fort Worth highway, four miles west of here.

The dead: M. Mitcham, grocer, Wichita Falls; Samuel McNew, baker, Wichita Falls.

Murphy DeShong, Amarillo. V. J. Nolley, Dallas. Leonidas Johnston, 14, Vernon.

H. Bill Orman, garage owner, Wichita Falls, received a fractured skull and spine injuries.

No one is known to have witnessed the accident and Orman, sole survivor, though partly conscious when found, lapsed into unconsciousness. He was brought here in an ambulance and after medical aid had been given was taken to Wichita Falls. The bodies of his companions, Mitcham and McNew, were sent to that city.

Orman, Mitcham and McNew were riding in the coupe.

The bodies of the three occupants of the truck were taken to the Burgess Undertaking company in Bowie. DeShong's father, owner of the truck, is a well known Amarillo trucking contractor. He left Amarillo for Bowie immediately after being notified of the tragedy.

First persons reaching the scene found the coupe, in an upright position, at the west end of Smith Creek bridge, the bodies of Mitcham and McNew having been hurled onto the bridge, while Orman was lying in a ditch beside the road. The truck was at the other end of the bridge. The bodies of the three occupants had been crushed between the heavy cab and the instrument board. The truck, partly off the bridge, slid into the ditch while rescue work was in progress.

Belief was expressed by those who went to the scene that the coupe and the truck side-swiped each other in the middle of the bridge. Marks indicated that the truck, partly loaded with merchandise, had swayed from side to side of the bridge, since the concrete banister was scraped. A tire on the banister was scraped. A fire on the banister was scraped. A tire on the banister was scraped.

CONCERT BEGINS AT 8 TONIGHT AT CHURCH BUILDING

Cultural and religious education are stressed in the Methodist orphanage of Waco, the glee club and orchestra of which school is to be at the First Methodist church in concert this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The concert is free and all are invited.

A letter from W. F. Barrett, manager, gives details of educational aims and advantages in the school as regards the cultural and religious.

Cultural Educational

"The education of a child is of tremendous importance. Every child in the orphanage is given an opportunity to get a high school education. The first eight grades are done in the school on the orphanage campus the last three grades are done in the Waco high school. These children are sent to the city high school because they should have an opportunity to come in contact with the high school students of the city and thereby form new friendships and get a larger outlook on life than they can get within the walls of an institution."

There were more than 60 children from the orphanage in the Waco high school last year, with 16 graduates. (See CONCERT, Page 4)

Flowers for the Living Program To Honor Bonner

"Flowers for the living." This quotation, the life motto of a Midland citizen, will be turned upon him Thursday on the eve of his departure for another city where he will make his home.

John Bonner, who is a living example of the practice of telling people of their good points rather than to wait until they are gone, will be feted by two Midland luncheon clubs this week, the Lions club having postponed their regular meeting until Thursday to meet simultaneously with the Rotary club. Details of the meeting were worked out by committees of the two organizations.

Lions pointed out that Bonner, although a member of the Rotary club, had been such a valuable citizen and such an aid to all civic organizations that they desired to devote this week's program to paying him tribute. The Rotary club previously had appointed a committee to work out a similar program. At suggestion of a member of the Lions club a joint luncheon was arranged the Lions accepting the invitation of Rotarians to meet on their date of respect to Bonner's membership in the Rotary club.

T. Paul Barron, Rotary president, will open the meeting and turn the gavel over to M. M. Seymour, president of the Lions club, who will preside. Addison Wadley, chairman of the program committee, will make an introductory speech on behalf of the Rotary club and will be followed by Harry Haight who will express sentiments of the Lions.

Bonner, who leaves Friday for Berger to become manager of theatres there, will then be introduced to make his farewell speech. The remaining time will be given to individuals who desire to add "flowers for the living."

The Lions club orchestra is being invited to give special music during the luncheon. The meeting will be held in the Crystal ball room of Hotel Scharbauer.

PECOS OUTLOOK GOOD

The Pecos valley irrigation area from the New Mexico line on down through Loving, Reeves, Crane and Pecos counties has the best crop prospects in years and farmers say that they will make twice as much this year as in past years, according to H. B. Nutter, Girvin business man. The water reservoirs are full and there is plenty of water for irrigation.

Nutter says that Fort Stockton alfalfa farmers told him that the alfalfa prices over a period of the last seven years was $20 a ton with a production of five to six tons a year. Some of the lands on the Pecos are not planted this year. Cotton is up; the second cutting of alfalfa is near.

Nutter said the Pecos river, which has been high for some time, is now down again and some good fish are being caught, especially between Girvin and Imperial, a prime fishing section.

Five other cases filed by a brother and relatives of Spikes now pending bring the total damages to $1,200,000.

Halliburton Arrested When Liquor Found

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—E. Halliburton, Los Angeles and Oklahoma millionaire oil aviation man, and Frank Glennan, his private pilot, were arrested and released under $2,500 bond each after federal customs agents said they discovered 10 cases of liquor in Halliburton's luxurious $65,000 monoplane. A woman who swallowed a diamond ring was forced to cough it up.

SHAMROCK, June 8.—Rivalling the thrills of a stage coach holdup in the wild days of the old west, seven unmasked highwaymen halted a Pickwick Greyhound west-bound bus nine miles east of here and robbed its 18 passengers of $668 in cash and jewelry valued at $273.

The hold-up took place on a 13-mile detour of U. S. Highway No. 66. Two of the robbers were on the bus and the other five were in two automobiles, one preceding and the other following the coach. MAKING LIFE ENJOYABLE

There was something rather appealing about the revelation, made the other day in the newspapers, that Adolph Lewisohn, wealthy New York philanthropist, began taking singing lessons at the age of 69, and is now, at 82, amusing himself by giving informal little song recitals for small groups of his friends.

Mr. Lewisohn explains that he always had wanted to sing, but that as a young man he had been too busy to take the time to learn. Now that age and wealth have brought leisure he is making up for lost time.

All of this is interesting because it is the sort of thing that so few Americans ever do. In youth we do as Mr. Lewisohn did; we keep so busy earning a living that we have no time to indulge the creative or artistic side of our lives. Then, when we grow older and the pace of everyday affairs slackens a bit, we regretfully conclude that it is too late.

This man was a bit wiser than the most. He wanted to sing, and he set out to learn how. To be sure, he will never make any money out of it, nor will it make him famous; but that, after all is just the point. It is precisely the "useless" avocation of that kind that helps to make one's life rich and enjoyable.

Some people understand that. There are business men, and housewives, for instance, who go to the local art school and learn how to sketch or paint, and who get a tremendous lot of fun out of it. To be sure, the pictures they produce are not very good; but they are just good enough to bring a world of satisfaction to the men and women who create them.

Others try their hands at music. There exist literally thousands of amateur string quartets and diminutive orchestras which meet once a week or oftener to play for the musicians' own diversion. They never perform publicly and no one ever hears them; but they mean a lot to the men and women who play in them.

It is the same with literature. Every newspaper columnist can tell you of sober bankers and lawyers who write poetry "on the side". Some of this poetry, too, is surprisingly good; and it gets printed, usually under pen names, in newspaper columns. No one gets paid for it and no one gets famous; but the writers are enriched, just the same.

These are the "useless" diversions that more of us ought to cultivate. They have no utilitarian value—but they help immeasurably to make life more enjoyable.

LET THE HAM BE THICKER

Congressman Cyrenus Cole of Iowa asserts that bigger and thicker slices of ham will mean a return of prosperity to the livestock owners of the country.

If everyone, says the congressman, would only slice his ham thicker, much more ham would be consumed—and the grower of pigs would find an increased demand for his product.

All of this sounds quite reasonable, and we are for it—but not solely because of sympathy for the harassed pig-raiser. For, as a matter of fact, ham ought to be sliced thicker anyway. Few housewives realize that ham, to be as succulent and delicious as nature intended, must be cut thick—and the restaurant cooks who know this could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

But it should. A thin slice of ham is an abomination; a thick and juicy one is something for epicures to dream over.

Del Rio and Swanson Are Fourth and Fifth Beauties

IS THERE ANY WONDER THAT THE JUDGES CHOSE THEM? At the right is DOLORES DEL RIO, who's olive-tinted skin, jet-black hair and deep-brown eyes make this dainty Mexican senorita one of the screen's biggest attractions. At the left, GLORIA SWANSON, who has dark-brown hair and large, blue eyes and has probably the smallest foot in Hollywood, wearing a size 1 1/2 shoe!

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of four stories on "The Six Most Beautiful Women of the Talkies," selected for NEA Service and the Reporter-Telegram by a board of beauty judges composed of six famous directors.

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer
HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—Just a few years ago a young and lovely Mexican girl arrived in Hollywood to embark on a film career.

Fifteen years ago, or thereabouts, a vivacious Mack Sennett bathing beauty was just getting her start in the movies.

Today, in a strange combination of youth and experience, these two famous actresses are among the choices of six noted directors as "The Six Most Beautiful Women of the Talkies." Each is given equal honor.

Of course, you have already guessed the name of the first one—Dolores Del Rio. And now I shall tell you the name of the second—Gloria Swanson.

Del Rio and Swanson now join

STICKERS

Without any knowledge of geometry you can divide the above equilateral triangle into six smaller triangles, each of the same size. A bit of concentration is all that is needed.

Marlene Dietrich and Frances Dee as the screen's most beautiful women in the estimation of the six movie directors who are acting as judges for NEA Service and Reporter-Telegram. They are Mack Sennett, Josef von Sternberg, George Fitzmaurice, Mervyn LeRoy, Edward Sutherland and Allan Dwan.

Tomorrow the names of the two remaining beauties will be revealed.

Dolores' entrance into pictures was one of the most interesting ever made by a screen newcomer. Brought up in exclusive circles in Mexico City she received her first film offer from Edwin Carewe when he and his wife Mary Akin and Bert Lytell and Claire Windsor went to the Mexican capital to participate in a double marriage.

But Dolores' parents had heard about "wild" Hollywood and would not permit her to come here until after her husband, Jaime Del Rio, visited here and decided that the town would be safe for her. That perhaps was a bad report for Jaime to make as it was the beginning of the end of their marital happiness. Dolores soared quickly to stardom and then divorced Jaime. Now she is married again, this time to Cedric Gibbons, fashion expert at the M-G-M studios.

The Mexican beauty's career has been anything but a smooth one. Her success after arriving in Hollywood was almost instantaneous. But the tumble from the pedestal upon which she had been placed was almost as rapid. Dolores' trouble was too much of the same thing. The same type of pictures which carried her to the top also carried her back down again. Her productions ceased to make money. Then she became seriously ill and was forced to retire for nearly a year. In good health again now, however and more beautiful than ever, Dolores is starting her comeback.

And now for Gloria Swanson. It seems rather needless to describe Miss Swanson's beauty. For the past 15 years her face and figure have been seen by millions of movie fans.

Back in the days when she and the movies were much younger, the glorious Gloria blossomed forth as a Mack Sennett bathing beauty. With her were numerous other girls just getting their start in pictures. Many made good—but none could quite maintain the pace set by their leader. With the exception of Charlie Chaplin, no other player from the old Sennett lot ever achieved and held the fame that is Gloria's.

With all her beauty, Gloria has a good business head. There was a time when she was the highest salaried player in motion pictures. Then she made the one mistake of her career. Her contract with Paramount was expiring. Executives offered her a new one calling for a salary of $17,500 weekly. Miss Swanson turned it down. She wanted to produce her own pictures—be her own boss.

That mistake proved rather costly. Prior to that time she was considered wealthy. But gold just naturally evaporates when it is sunk in motion pictures that aren't box-office hits—and some of Gloria's weren't. She seems to be back on her feet all right now, however, thanks to "The Trespasser," which made plenty of money and re-established its star as a definite attraction at the talking picture boxoffice.

Miss Swanson has only one rule in life. That is her absolute decision to keep her children out of the public

Washington Police Have Hobby of Collecting Doors; It Takes About 5 Minutes to Get One From Speakeasy, and Drinks Are on the House While They're Breaking In

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The police of Washington collect doors. Lately they have accumulated a dozen of them. It's a strange hobby, but, just as stamp collectors do not bother with the common two-cent ones and coin collectors do not go in for modern pennies and nickels, the police do not concern themselves with ordinary doors such as yours and mine.

The doors in the collection at headquarters are stout, thick affairs and when they are not made entirely of steel you are likely to find that they really are two doors clamped together, with a heavy sheet of steel in between. Each one usually has four or five large bolts and more often than not there is a little hole or barred grate through which it appears that someone might have wanted to be looking at you. Sometimes it takes four coppers to carry one of these doors.

Get Doors From Speakeasies

The police say they get the doors from speakeasies and gambling joints, those being the only kind of doors in which they are interested. They also advance a quaint theory that the barriers were constructed and installed in order to keep the police from coming into those places and, if anyone were to become so unmanfully to resist attacks made with axes and crowbars.

A three-fold purpose inspires this door collecting. After a door is removed there is no longer any barrier against the police. Also the proprietor, even if he has escaped arrest, is likely to be discouraged, for even if he makes himself another special door he is likely to lose that too. And, finally, the reason the police treasure the doors at headquarters is that they can use them in court as evidence tending to show that there must have been something funny about a place that had a door like that.

Patrons Inconvenienced

The warrantless raids in which the doors are acquired have been drawing crowds in the heart of Washington and are seriously inconveniencing patrons of the more pretentious drinking and gambling places. They followed a series of shootings which seemed connected with the capital's "underworld" and revealed the existence of a rather surprising number of joints in the middle of the town. The coppers it appears, must buy liquor or participate in gambling in order to get a warrant for such a place. Everyone that has been very difficult.

But three detective sergeants started out, visiting places and collecting doors. They found that if they stayed around long enough demanding entrance they were usually admitted. Even if they weren't they had the satisfaction of knowing that they had frightened the operators into dumping their liquor down the sink.

Take 45 Minutes to Crash In

The proprietor of one club got into the habit of making a speech like this to his guests: "Gentlemen, it seems that the law is without. I can assure you that it will require the law at least 45 minutes to burn through our new iron door, even if it uses a blowtorch. Meanwhile, before we proceed to dump all refreshments are on the house. You may drink as rapidly as you like, gentlemen, and no holds barred. If the law finally invades us I trust that you will give your names as Bishop Cannon, Andrew Volstead, Clarence True Wilson and other similar names that may occur to you."

As a matter of fact, when the law finally entered and took away the door, the seven customers present all gave the name of "Smith."

Sometimes it takes nearly an hour to chop or crowbar a door from its moorings.

There is question whether the recent series of warrantless raids will result in many instances of convictions for law violation, but life is becoming a bore for many of the gents who have been doing business behind those doors.

Daily Health Talk

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Man With Vigor and Vitality Reveals It in His Posture

Everyone realizes the attractiveness of a human being who stands well, sits well, and who has in general good posture.

It must be borne in mind that the human being developed from some species that walked on all fours and that the attempt to walk and stand on two feet puts strain and stress on parts of the body that formerly had not them. Hence, we see today innumerable roundshouldered, stoop-shouldered people with sunken chests, twisted backs, prominent abdomens and lame hips.

The position adopted when sleeping is one of complete relaxation of muscles and ligaments so that the spine is curved. A certain amount of relaxation is desirable, but when walking enough stress must be placed on the muscles and ligaments to insure proper support and physical development. Hence, teachers now try to get children to stand tall, to stretch out, to hold the chest forward, and the shoulders back.

As emphasized by Thurman E. Rice in his recent consideration of this subject in Hygeia, the upright man, the straightforward person can usually be trusted, while the slinking the cringing, and slouching arouse suspicion. The careless, lounging man who shuffles his feet and sneaks around in a hang-dog manner is a whipped man. It must not be thought, however, that the bad posture is the cause of his inefficiency or the result of it. The two go together with a mutual interchange of forces.

Sometimes, indeed not infrequently, bad posture is the result of bad diet or disease. Just exactly as good advice and exercise cannot compensate for the need of eyeglasses in a child whose eyes are not built right, so also cannot advice and exercise compensate wholly for defective bones, muscles, joints and ligaments. A competent physician, who studies such cases can provide supports or braces that acts as a crutch to the weakened tissues in the same way that eyeglasses compensate for anatomical changes in the eye.

Sometimes the feeding of more calcium and phosphorus and the use of viosterol and sunlight will aid development of weakened tissues. Associated with this, proper exercise and practice will induce a suitable posture and an improved appearance.

The weakened tissues of children should not be compelled to carry heavy weights for long periods of time, as is the case when a rather weak child attempts to carry eight or 10 blocks home from school day after day. Physiologists talk about the condition under the term "body-tone." The average man thinks of tone with the words "vim, vigor and vitality." The person who has in him drive, impetus, or good, reflects this in his posture, in the way he walks and indeed in his whole attitude toward life.

Girls Leave Tuesday for Week At Kerrville Meet

Misses Edythe Sundquist, Georgia McMullan, Marguerite Bivens and Avalyn Pogue accompanied by Mrs. R. C. Crabb and little daughter, Helen Margaret, will leave tomorrow morning by car for Kerrville to attend the annual Young People's conference at the Westminister encampment.

The young women are sent by the auxiliary and senior endeavor of the church.

Each will take part in various activities of the conference which offers many courses of study concerning young people's work.

The party will be gone a week. News articles from the girls will be received regularly by the paper.

Summer Courses Started at Fine Arts Studio

An eight-weeks summer course in piano and wind instruments was opened this morning at the Wimberly fine arts studio in the Petroleum building, according to Wallace Wimberly, teacher.

The long term of the studio was climaxed last Friday evening when students were presented in an entertaining spring recital at the Hotel Scharbauer.

Miss Ernestine Half to Be Married This Month at Boston

Miss Ernestine Half, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Half of Dallas, formerly of this city, will be married this month to Norman Freeman, of Lowell, Mass., according to an announcement in the Sunday Dallas News.

The marriage will be solemnized shortly after Miss Half's graduation from Vassar college June 15.

Mrs. Half left Dallas Saturday to attend the commencement exercises and to assist in plans for the wedding, which will take place in Boston. The couple will make their home in Lowell.

Miss Half lived in Midland until six years ago and attended public schools here. The Halfs were wealthy residents of Midland for several years, holding property in all sections of West Texas.

Guests at Party

Names of several guests at the party last Friday given in honor of Mrs. George F. Brown were omitted from Sunday's paper.

Those include Mmes. B. A. Wall, B. C. Driver, J. A. Johnson, Fuller and J. P. Inman.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pigg had as their guests Thursday her sister, Vera Copland, of Tech at Lubbock, and brothers, Floyd and Louvil, and Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Copeland of Clovis, N. M.

O. M. Cooper of Abilene was a business visitor here this morning.

Miss Marjorie Sealey of Lubbock was a guest here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Laird of Odessa were in Midland Saturday visiting friends.

Novel Contest Started by Leagues At Methodist Church

A "Nut Family Contest" is stimulating interest in the attendance of the Hi-League and Senior League of the First Methodist church, Sunday evening being the first count of the contest.

Rules for the contest are based entirely on the number present. Each group is named for some variety of nut.

At the Senior league a continuation of the study of phases of the Apostles Creed was conducted by Ray Gwyn. The two Sundays previous, Miss Esther Mae Hodo and Harvey Powledge conducted the study.

Fifty Different Sets in Drama of Gangdom at Ritz

Fifty separate and distinct sets, ranging from a replica of a city street, that was changed three times in its entirety, to a penthouse on the roof of a great office building, were used in the filming of "The Secret Six," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid drama of political life and the underworld, at the Ritz theatre. The picture sets a record for the number of settings in any single film production.

The dramatic story traces the rise and fall of a crooked city political boss who rules the underworld to use it as a tool to gain political power. The story is by Frances Marion, famous for "The Big House," and "Min and Bill," and was directed by George Hill. Wallace Beery plays the principal role as Scorpio, the stockyards worker who becomes political czar of a city. The large cast includes Lewis Stone, John Mack Brown, Jean Harlow, Marjorie Rambeau, Paul Hurst, Clark Gable, Ralph Bellam, John Mijan, DeWitt Jennings and others.

Among the sensational scenes involving, in many cases, elaborate inventions for recording and filming are the blowing apart of player-piano with machine guns, "spotting" a man; the sensational night battle of vigilantes and the hordes of the underworld, and a breath-taking race in speed boats. An entire replica of a city street was constructed near the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, first as it would have appeared just after the war; then razed and rebuilt as it might have looked four or five years later, and then once more razed and rebuilt as of 1931.

The recording required many special inventions, for handling gun battles and other thrills. One of the most elaborate settings was the replica of a great courtroom, for the sensational murder trial of Wallace Beery.

Place a layer of sliced onions in the bottom of a stewpan, over which arrange a layer of thick slices of bacon, and put a piece of round of beef on the bacon, after tying up the beef to keep it in shape. Set on the fire for 20 minutes, turning it once or twice, then add some carrots and onions cut in slices, a bundle of sweet herbs, pepper and salt to taste, and add a few cloves. Fill the pan with sufficient stock to cover the beef, placing the lid on the pan and braise it from four to five hours in the oven. Strain free from all fat, and serve with the meat gravy.

Fresh Rhubarb Pie
Pare off all the leaves and peel the stalks from two bunches of fine rhubarb; cut them into pieces about half an inch in length, put them in a basin with three ounces of powdered loaf-sugar and mix them well. Place them in a pie-dish and cover with paste, brush the surface with a beaten egg and bake for 15 or 20 minutes in a brisk oven. HERE ARE 3 POINTS TO CONSIDER

When You Order Letterheads

1. COST
2. QUALITY
3. EFFECT

1. The cost of your letterheads depends on the quality and effect that you want. It is not a negligible factor, and we are prepared to keep that figure as low as possible for you.
2. The quality of your letterheads has direct bearing on its effect. You can't expect to have excellent quality with the cheapest paper.
3. You are not present when your letterhead is in the hands of the one to whom you sent it. Here is where quality counts. The recipient of your letter does not know what you paid for the printing, but he does know what quality is present in the letterhead. Your business is silent and so are you—all you have to represent you is the printed letterhead.

WE DESIRE TO ASSIST YOU IN THESE THREE POINTS ON YOUR NEXT LETTER-HEAD JOB.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"God the only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 7.

The golden text was from Psalms 33:8-9. "Let all the earth fear the Lord; let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done, he commanded, and it stood fast."

Included in the service was the following passage from the Bible (John 1:1-3): "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made."

The lesson-sermon also included the following quotation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p249): "Mind is not the author of matter, and the creator of ideas is not the creator of illusions. Either there is no omnipotence, or omnipotence is the only power. God is the infinite, and infinity never began, will never end, and includes nothing unlike God."

Miss Elma Collins, who has enrolled for summer school work in West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Collins, returning to school this morning.

About 30 players, ranging from veteran "has-beens" to youthful high school and grammar grade aspirants will make their respective bids for the tennis titles offered by the Big Spring tennis club in its invitational tourney to be held June 7 to 14. It is the largest field registered there since 1925, and dope indicates that the visiting players will at least break through the monopoly local aces have held upon the various championships in recent years.

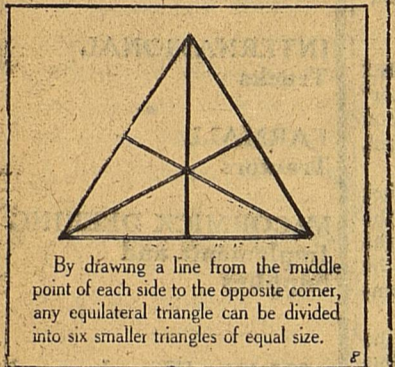

Last year Rayborn Brown won the men's singles and paired with Frank Whitehurst to take the doubles, while Curtis Bishop won the junior singles and with Harry Jordan took the junior doubles.

GOLF as the STARS play it by ART KRENZ

What is the proper stance for a successful putt?

There is no single model putting stance. Bobby Jones putts with his feet close together; Hagen sets his feet wide. Horton Smith sets his feet square to the line; Leo Diegel uses a stance all his own.

There are certain things one should and should not do, however. It is best to stand comfortably, well over the ball, with a slight bend in the knees. The left leg should bear a little more of the weight than the right.

Don't crouch so that the shaft of the putter jams into your stomach. Stand still and keep your eye on the ball.

The financial obligation of the orphanage toward these children ceases when they have finished high school, but they are given as much assistance as possible in helping them to secure a place where they may work their way through college. It is very gratifying to know that more than eighty per cent of the high school graduates for the last nine years have gone to college or university from one to four years. There are several college graduates among the orphan children. These children are making good citizens and many of them filling places of great responsibility.

whom they took any money where he or she lived and "refunded" enough change for the victim to wire home for more money and to buy breakfast. The "refunds" ranged from 70 cents to $1.50.

After searching all passengers, the robbers broke two sparkplugs on the bus motor, pulled ignition wires loose and broke the gas line, leaving the bus stranded. They entered the two automobiles and sped to the main road. It was impossible for the victims to see which way the robbers headed when they reached the main highway.

Wolfe and two other of the men passengers, walked four and a half miles to Texola, Okla., the nearest town and notified the Pickwick-Greyhound division office at Clinton, Okla., who in turn notified officers. A mechanic was dispatched to the stranded bus. He repaired the damage and the bus was driven into Shamrock about daylight.

The two robbers, who had posed as passengers, boarded the bus at Erick, Okla., having bought tickets to Shamrock. Trammel said he noticed that one automobile stayed a short distance ahead of him after the bus left Erick and he also noticed the lights of a holding, but he never suspected a holdup.

Valuables Hidden
When the bus reached the top of a hill on the detour, one of the men in the bus placed a gun in Trammel's back and ordered him to stop the bus. About half of the passengers were dozing, but the jolt of the sudden stop and the curt order of the other gun-man to "stick 'em up" soon had them wide-eyed. A moment later the two automobiles with the other five men pulled up alongside and the process of searching the 18 passengers began.

Several of the passengers saved their valuables by concealing them while the first of the victims were being searched.

Miss Orr put a diamond ring valued at $172 in her mouth and during the excitement she almost swallowed it. The ring caught in her throat and after the robbers had departed she coughed it up.

MacZell slipped his money in his shoe and the robbers overlooked it.

The women from whom the robbers obtained no valuables saved their money and jewelry by hiding them in the bus and inside their stockings.

Two robbers stayed inside the bus during the holdup while a third searched the passengers as they stepped outside one by one. The other four men remained alongside the bus with drawn pistols, on the lookout for approaching cars.

The passengers believe they can identify three of the men whom they saw in the glare of the bus lights.

Getting Music from Air Not So Modern

Getting music from the air is not new, for people did it thousands of years ago. In those days people heard music from the winds by means of aeolian harps, so named from Aeolus, Greek god of the wind. The aeolian harp was made of a sound box with a number of strings of different thicknesses, tuned in exact unison. The harp was placed in open windows so that the wind blew across the strings obliquely and caused them to vibrate. But today aeolian harps are as out of date as mustache cups because by turning the dials on their radio sets people can draw from the air lively dance tunes such as those played by B. A.

orchestra. This modern application of music is far removed from those of past centuries. King David, according to Rabbinic records, used to be lulled to sleep by the music of an aeolian harp over his bed where it would play in the midnight breeze. For thousands of years the Chinese have flown specially constructed kites with strings so spread across openings in the kites that the wind blowing across them produces the effect of an arial chorus.

Caldwell Speaks On Sermon on Mount

By Harry L. Haight
The Men's Class in the Scharbauer yesterday heard Judge J. M. Caldwell give his interpretation of a portion of the Sermon on the Mount. In his clear cut and concise method of speech he directed the listeners' minds into channels that would work for the greatest good to the greatest number if the precepts of the Sermon were adopted as a guide in all laudable undertakings, social, political and commercial. His talk gave valuable advice to all of humanity regardless of denominational direction and made it applicable to everyone in every walk of life. He avoided a generalization and instead made his talk along personal lines. What he said made a personal appeal to the individual and was deeply impressive.

Several visitors from other towns and cities attended the class among whom were Mr. Behne of Abilene, Mr. Nutt of Lovington and Mr. Mims of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Smallhurst and children of Crane are shoppers here today.

OILERS AND SOUTHERN ICE WIN GAMES; BUSHER-COLTS DROP ONE

Midland Sweeps Matches With McCamey, Each Local Netter Taking Sets

OILER - PECOS ROW A CLASSIC ENDS IN SENSATION

Flashing an offensive and defensive game that stamped the club with real power, the Midland Oilers Sunday afternoon took the measure of the Pecos Cantaloupes at Bizzell orchard, 6-5.

Cotton Ward disrupted whatever hopes the Cantaloupes had toward finishing the season with cocky ratio of numerous games won and only two losses, when he hit a home run with runners aboard in the eighth.

The Oilers have continually improved in strength this season, until they are now one of the most respected clubs in the area. Next Sunday they play in Lamesa.

Yesterday was tight and the errors were confined to a messy two that were caused by Pecos boots.

Dahl hurled a great game for the Oilers, striking out 11 men. Lybrand pitching for the visitors, whiffed 9 batsmen.

SOUTHERN ICE WINS

Southern Ice stepped right up to the plate and into a handicap of a hitherto undefeated Penwell club, minus a very effective pitcher, R. T. Whitmore, and outslugged the Ector county lads to win the Sunday game in Bizzell park, 15-4.

The game was a slugfest for the Midlanders all the way.

Whitmore was ill, but Gene Roderick was more than enough for the competition. He eased up in the later innings when he saw he could coast in with plenty of reserve.

Robinson, as usual, belted the ball around the park. He batted in four runs and scored one himself.

BUSHER-COLTS LOSE BY JESS RODGERS

The Busher-Colts journeyed to Odessa yesterday and came off with the short end of a 6-2 score. The game was much closer than the score indicates however as the Bushers put men on base every inning except two but they were unable to bunch their hits off Frady. There was nothing "frady" about the way he pitched the ball though as this youngster seems to be as calm and confident as the well known Dizzy Dean. It must be conceded that he had some wonderful support from Rodgers and Coffey. Coffey twice robbed Mills of seemingly safe hits, once with the bases loaded. Chewning of the losers played a fine defensive game. He knocked one down in the fifth and threw out the runner that had extra bases written all over it.

It was a busy day for infielders and catchers as only three put-outs were registered by the outfielders during the day.

Girdley struck out thirteen men and Frady struck out twelve. It was worth the price of admission to the game to see these men pitch to each other. Midst an assortment of "bean" balls and back talk each one managed to get one hit and strike out twice.

The Bushers had new men playing left field, third base, second base, and catcher. The infielders especially showed signs of not having worked together, twice letting sure double plays escape them in one inning.

DOUBLES MATCH IS EASILY TAKEN BY LOCALS

Midland netters won a sweeping victory over McCamey on the John B. Thomas court here Sunday, taking every match.

Ferguson and McCrary won in straight sets from Shipman and Edwards in the doubles, 6-1, 6-2.

Godbey won from Shipman in singles, 8-6, 8-6. The two alternated in winning games; each taking his own serve in practically every game of each set until the sixth, when Godbey came back behind hard driving to take two in a row. This was the best match of the day, despite the fact Ferguson showed more form than any man on the court. The doubles matches, however, were too one-sided.

Frank Stubbeman won from Edwards after Edwards had to forfeit the third set in order to leave for a McCamey appointment. Edwards took the first set, 6-3, losing the second, 1-6.

The matches with McCamey will be returned June 21. Next Sunday finds the Midland tennis players in a tournament at Big Spring.

stand between you and trouble!

Good? Of course they're good. If they weren't — well, ship them all off to Greenland and see what would happen back home. Yes, these big boys are long on courage — and resourcefulness, too. Give them a "hand," everybody! They're always ready to lend you one.

It's what's "under the jacket" that counts—

Shiny silver buttons don't make a good officer. Or glittering promises a good cigarette.

Under CHESTERFIELD'S white jacket of pure French cigarette paper is a milder, better-tasting smoke—and it's what's "under the jacket" that counts.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder—smoke as many as you like. CHESTERFIELDS taste better—you know that the minute you light up!

More men and women are changing every day from other cigarettes to CHESTERFIELDS.
