POLITICS AND JUSTICE

There is nothing particularly new in the Wickersham Commission's remarks about the evil effects of politics on the administration of criminal justice in the United States.

The important thing now is that the commission, by making its report to President Hoover, is focussing public attention on the matter. It probably will take the public a full generation to get concerned enough to do anything about it, but a late start is much better than no start at all.

Reading the commission's findings, one can understand why we have "crime waves," underworld "kings," big-time grafters and all the rest. The present set-up is made to order for such phenomena. It helps to produce them.

The commission points out that the average prosecutor holds office for only a short term. His assistants are appointed chiefly for reasons of political patronage.

In addition, the woods are full of lawyers whose one asset is their political influence. They keep their clients out of jail, not through legal ability but through the fix.

Under such circumstances, is it any wonder that bootleggers, grafters of high and low degree, underworld leaders of all descriptions and a whole host of crooks of other varieties slip through the courts unscathed?

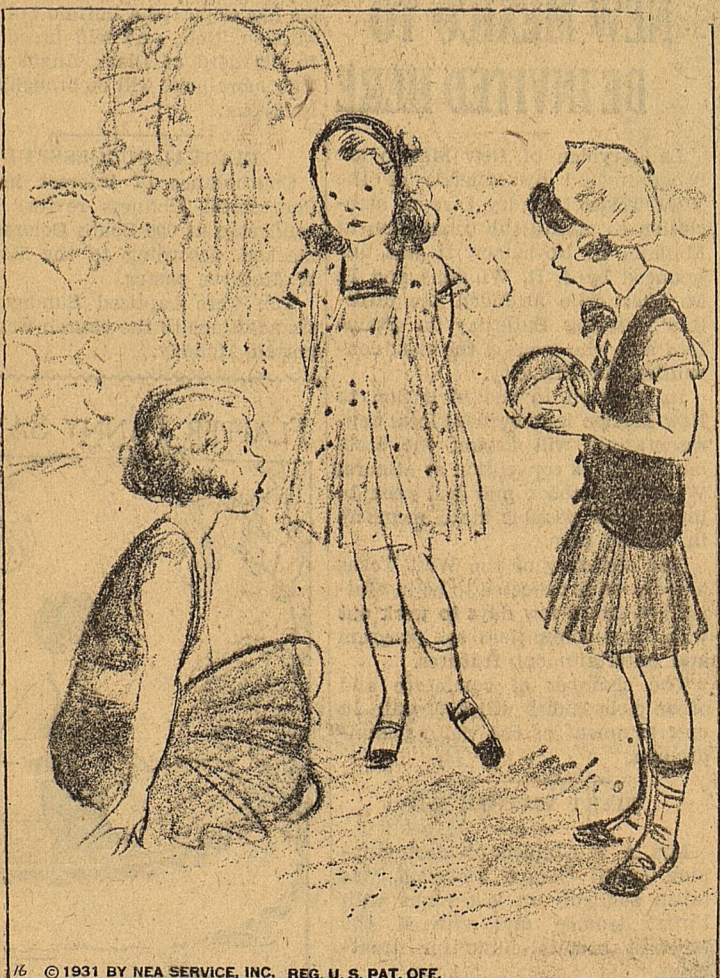

If the Wickersham report on this one point can jar the public into activity the commission will have justified its existence. For a great many years we have been kidding ourselves, wondering why so much crime went unpunished when the answer was obvious to everyone who was at all familiar with the facts.

"Just working, working, working all the time." That was the only explanation offered by a pretty young waitress who was taken to a middle western hospital the other day after making an unsuccessful attempt to end her life by taking poison.

Back of it there is clearly evident the dreadful monotony that falls over some jobs. One can picture the endless succession of days that were exactly alike; days of hard work; unpleasant living conditions and insufficient recreation.

Nearly 17,000 Government Jobs at Washington Are Held by Men and Women Theoretically Not Entitled to Them

WASHINGTON.—Speaking of jobs there are nearly 17,000 government positions here held by men and women who are theoretically not entitled to them.

They have all been available at one time or another to people out in the states who wouldn't come and take them.

The law provides that as far as possible appointments in the departmental service in Washington shall be apportioned among the states on the basis of population.

Forty-four states and territories which are entitled to about 36,000 of the apportioned appointments here have received only about 19,000. Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia, entitled to 1389 appointments, have 17,739. That is, local residents and suburbanites have been getting an enormously disproportionate share of the jobs.

Residents of the District of Columbia, entitled to 149 appointments, have 12,695.

Maine, New Hampshire, Delaware, Iowa and Vermont are the other states in excess of their quotas, but in each case the excess is very small. Typical examples of disproportion are California, with only 383 of its quota of 1737 appointments, Ohio with 1003 of its 2033, New York with 2038 of its 3851 and Michigan with 475 of its 1481.

The big reason for the condition which results in almost half the apportionable jobs being held by people from right around here is that the boys and girls in the states who are qualified for the posts simply haven't been taking the examinations for them.

In view of the extreme measures which are taken to ballyhoo the examinations and information about the jobs and to give citizens of states under quota up to a 25 per cent advantage over those of states in excess, the Civil Service commission can't figure out why that has remained true even during a considerable period of unemployment.

Civil service positions of one description and another are constantly available and announcements about them are posted in federal buildings of 5000 cities in case you are anxious to find out about them.

The commission, constantly trying to straighten things out, refuses to certify as eligible for federal employment any resident of a state in excess of its apportionment if it can certify a man or woman from one of the other states. They certify the latter on examination ratings as low as 75 per cent, even when there's a member of the former class with a rating as high as 100.

Examinations are held in 700 cities. Announcements of them are not only posted in federal buildings and post offices, but are sent to newspapers, broadcast over 60 radio stations and distributed to public employment officials, interested labor unions and trade journals.

Often examinations are held which are closed completely to the states in excess of quota and lately it has been the policy to give even temporary jobs to people from faraway states.

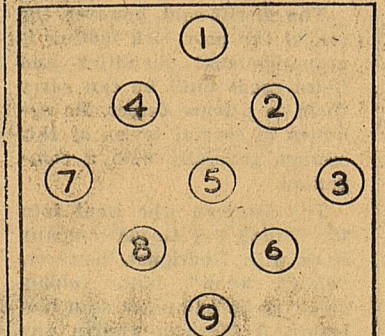

Folks here and from nearby have always applied for federal jobs in Washington in much greater numbers than others, but the big break down in apportionment came during the World War, at the outset of which the District of Columbia had only 1300 appointments and Maryland and Virginia about twice their quotas. Eligibles from the rest of the country were lacking and appointments were made almost to the first comers.

Since the World War the veteran preference law has tended to increase the disparity.

We had a visit yesterday from two men with a proposition that we had thought was dead long ago, the one about a few people being "let in" on the new set of books without cost, just as an advertising proposition. "This is different," said the salesman, who said in advance that nothing was to be sold; but if it's different they ought to have some new method of approach. The old "advertising proposition" was the approach used by the old "dotted line" form of hooking folks for a set of books.

New Principal of Odessa High School

ODESSA, June 16.—A. M. Limmer of Austin, who has Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Texas, has been selected to fill the office of principal in the Odessa high school for next year, according to an announcement this week by Murray H. Fly, superintendent of schools. The new man will fill the position held by A. M. Tate.

Mr. Limmer is said to have, in addition to his degrees, thirteen years of experience in his profession. He has served as teacher, principal and superintendent of various schools, and was two years ago superintendent of the Desdemona schools.

In addition to his duties as principal, Mr. Limmer is to teach mathematics in the high school, according to the superintendent. There is said to be only one more school vacancy at present on the high school faculty, in the science department.

Elk Delegates to Pass Through Here

Several large delegations of Elks en route to the national convention at Seattle, are expected to pass through Midland next month as a result of an invitation extended by the Broadway of America Highway association. Elk lodges throughout the north, east and south have been invited to use the Broadway and the advantages of this "all-year-high-gear" highway have been explained to them.

"The Broadway is now 93 per cent improved from Broadway, New York City, to Broadway, San Diego," reports F. O. Mackey, president of the association. "We are now conducting a nation-wide advertising and publicity campaign designed to draw more and more tourists over the Broadway."

"No partiality is to be shown in the Broadway affairs and no one city or community will be favored over another. We are working for the best interests of the highway as a whole and our one aim is to make it the heaviest traveled road in the country. The Broadway has many attractions for the Easterner; not found on other highways and these are the attractions that we emphasize. The tourist sees the mountains but has no dangerous mountain grades to cross; the southern route is cool in summer and safe in winter; good hotels and camps are plentiful; there is easy access to Old Mexico. There are many features about the Broadway which appeal to the tourist and our one aim is to secure more and more traffic." A. Gorman Hoeffel, field representative of the Broadway, who visited Midland recently, and is now in Memphis, Tenn., is expected to stop off here again on his return trip to the headquarters in El Paso and confer with business men here regarding Midland's participation in the national publicity campaign.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!* Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants "Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What is the effect of irritation upon the throat? Here are the exact words of a noted authority retained by us to study this question. He writes—

"First, the vocal chords, on account of their delicacy of structure, would be the first tissues to give indication of irritation, evidenced by the huskiness of the smoker's voice, the result of relaxed tension and slower vibration of the vocal chords. The next site of irritation would be the tissues adjacent to the vocal chords comprising the larynx, therefore the general focal point of the irritation would be in the voice box represented externally by the Adam's Apple."

So—Consider your Adam's Apple. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

SPORTS REPORTS

By R. C. HANKINS

Down a bit late this morning, to find the office scrapping over a name for a new dog given us by a real dog fancier, Mrs. George Thomas Abell. The pup, sired by Cavalier Lad, American Kennel club No. 585313, out of Joyce of Rockledge, A. K. C. No. 787884, has a pedigree as long as Jess Willard's arm, boasting 11 champions in six generations on the dam's side and no end of champions on the sire's side. An Albert Payson Terhune sire, son of the famous Sunnybank Cavalier and the celebrated dam, Lassie of Paxtany. The dam was sired by King Rockledge A. K. C. No. 266510, the dam being Queen Rocket, A. K. C. No. 278062. And so on into the night. In other words, the dog is traced back directly to the famous Sunnybank kennels of the most famous Collie kennel in the world.

Then, to have Sam Warren suggest that we call the dog "Pooch"! What do you make of that?

Shortly Holster suggested "Scotch Rye", Sam got right and turned in another name, "Annie Laurie." Arkansas leaned towards "Snow Throat", the iceman liked "D'Aun" and others had names to submit. Mrs. Abell has begun calling the pup "Bo-Peep". The dog seems to like this name, always answering to it, so, unless a better name is turned in, "Bo-Peep" she is likely to be. First, second and third choices have to be listed. Registration papers will be applied for in the earliest mail.

In the meantime, the pup seems to justify the name of "Bo-Peep". She has been into everything. She bit some of the asbestos off the water heater, took a bite out of the linoleum, hid one of our socks and got into our bedroom early this morning and gave us a facial bath at 5 o'clock! We've been buying everything from oatmeal, horse meat, dog biscuits and picture balls for her. Subscribed to a dog magazine this morning. We're in the market for a collar of this and that state of beauty.

If Mrs. Abell had given us a Rolls Royce she could not have pleased us more than bringing down that fluffy bundle of sable and white. Beyond being worth more money than we could save in our yearly budget, the dog is beautiful. All the marks of a well bred dog; the taper of the tongue, the snowy throat and breast, white feet, perfect lines, etc. We've always wanted a pure bred dog, but never suspected we'd get one that was not only of good pedigree, but of the most famous kennel in the country.

Midland golfers both damn and praise the new golf ball. Art Krenz, who draws the daily golf lesson pictures for this paper, wrote the following:

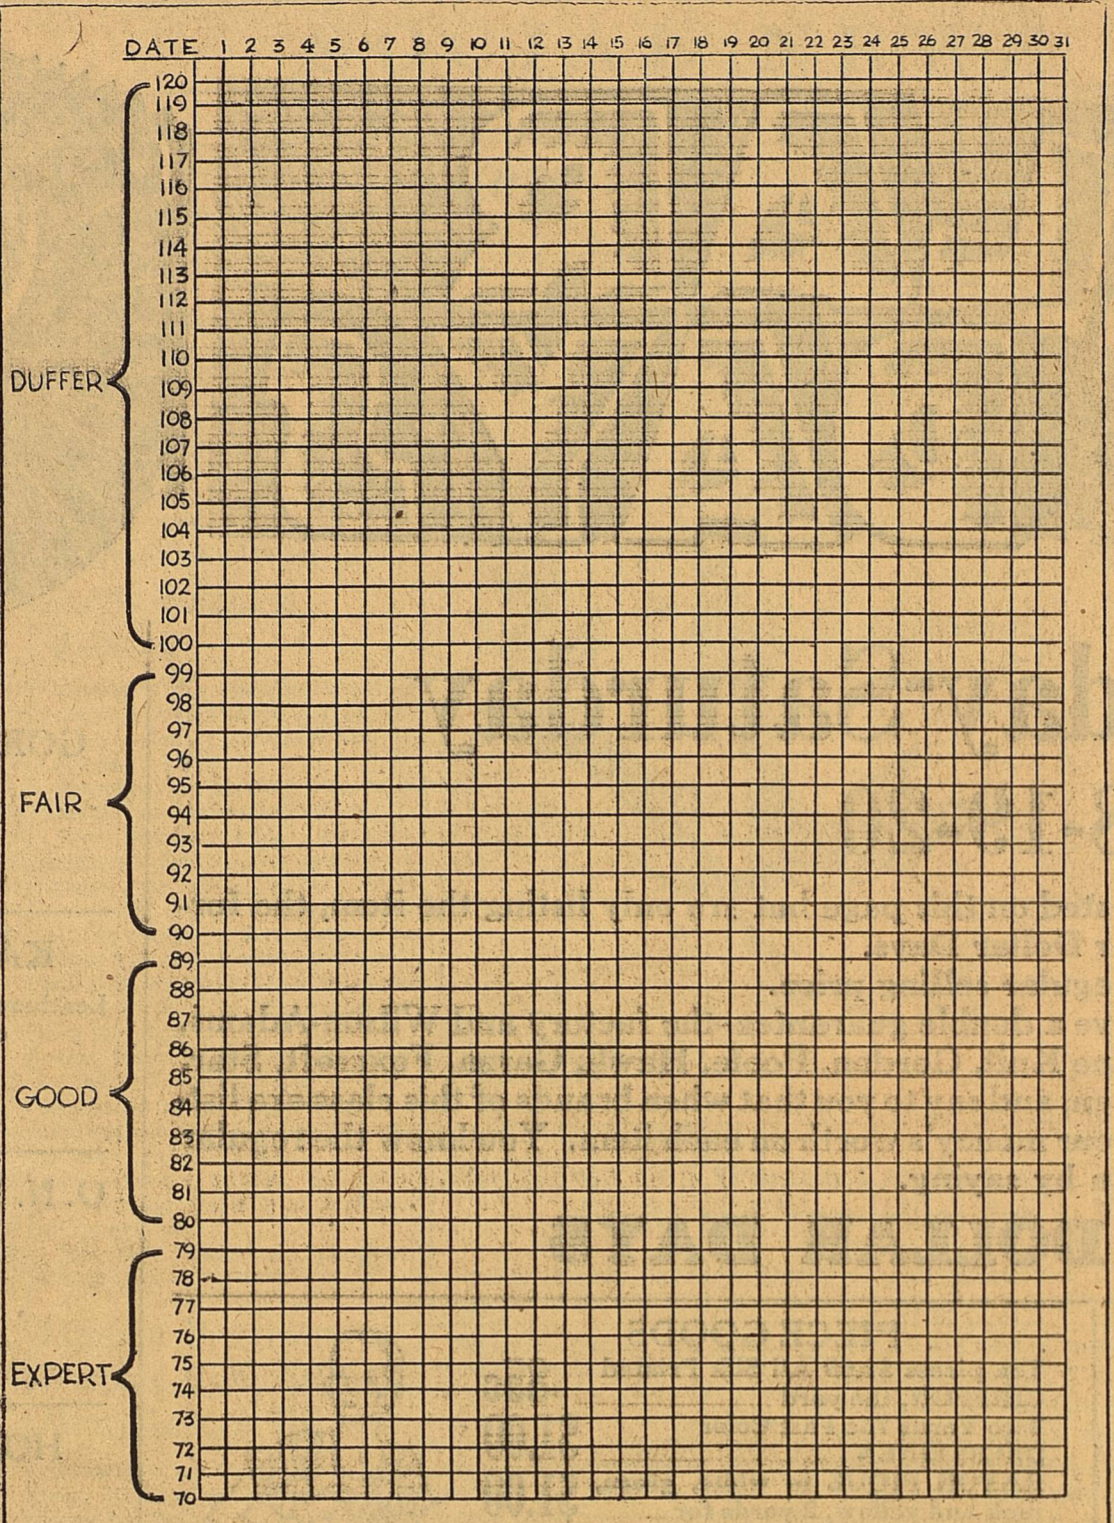

Golfers of Midland who are protesting the new "balloon ball" will be interested to know that their arguments are being supported by many amateurs in other cities.

Though most of the professionals have gone on record as being in favor of the new ball, a great number of amateurs who find their 80's have turned to 90's are holding indignation meetings.

The recent Long Island amateur tournament, won by Phil Perkins, a score of 94 was able to get into the first flight.

One of the most important arguments advanced against the new ball is that of the British Ryder Cup team. Golf is an international game,

How Good Is Your Golf Game?

This chart will tell you, providing you are conscientious and mark down a 98 when you shoot a 98. Here is a chance to keep a record of every round you shoot during the summer. Merely change the color of the mark when you move into July, and August, and September. Of course, if you're not very proud of your scores, see that this chart finds its way into the wastebasket.

they declare, and the equipment of it should be standardized. While America is playing with a ball that weighs 1.55 ounces and is 1.68 inches in circumference, England and most of the other countries where golf is played, still are using the 1.62-1.62 ball that prevailed for the last ten years. They point out the confusion that would exist if each country used a different ball.

Suppose Bobby Jones, playing in the British Open and American tournaments this year, had been given an overstuffed pellet with which he was entirely unfamiliar! Professionals agree that the new ball is controllable for pitching and iron play. It is more adaptable to the spin, according to Bobby Jones, and spin is necessary in the control of long irons or pitches to the pin.

Several golf writers of my acquaintance claim that Tommy Armour lost the Los Angeles open because he put too much spin on the new ball when making high pitches. Frequently his ball landed on the green but took the reverse English and bounced back into traps.

Gene Sarazen shot a record-breaking 65 at the Miami country club during the 4-ball matches early in the spring, yet he claims the new ball is a needless innovation.

Al Espinosa, who led the National Open qualifier at Chicago with 135, throws some added light on the new ball in a recent article in Golfers' Magazine. He claims that the new ball, larger and lighter, brings the golf game back into scientific channels. The "balloon" sits up better in the rough as well as on the fairway. When the old ball found a bad lie in the rough it was necessary to use a more lofted club and to hit harder than the distance called for, forcing the shot and losing accuracy and control.

One of the important advantages of the "balloon" is that it will cut down the expense of lengthening yardage of courses to counteract the tremendous distance obtained with the old ball.

Espinosa says that the rim of the cup and stubby grass retards the drop of the new ball more than it did with the old, in which the weight is more centralized.

To obtain his 135 total in the Open qualifier, the lowest qualifying score in the country, Espinosa hit practically every shot perfectly. The Medinah country club course where he played his qualifying rounds is a par 72 course. Espinosa played his morning round in 70, two under par and followed in the afternoon with a sizzling 65, seven strokes below par.

William Braucher follows up with the following interesting history: The other day the New York Telegram started a poll on the new larger-lighter golf ball. In no time at all the replies started pouring in. Early returns were 20 to 1 against the balloon.

There is an odd note in the cho-is of complaint that has been heard throughout the land since the gentlemen who used to break 100 regularly last year have discovered that they are now shooting around 100. That discord in the song comes from scores of professionals who chant the praises of the balloon ball while most of the run-of-the-rough golfers scream for its damnation.

Perhaps the balloon, like prohibition, is a "noble experiment" and requires a thorough trial.

Here is the story of the new ball, as told by Herbert Jacques, chairman of the implements and ball committee of the U. S. G. A.

"After the introduction of the Haskell, the first rubber-cored ball, the size most commonly used was above 1.70 inches in diameter with weight slightly above a floater. From 1915 to 1919 various makes of balls were made under more than fifteen different specifications and it was not until the advent of the small, heavy balls, which golfers of 1918 and 1919 found hard to get off the ground that the ball weighing 1.62 ounces and 1.62 inches in diameter was adopted, effective May 1, 1921.

"As early as 1924 the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews and the U. S. G. A. began experiments looking toward improvements of the playing qualities of the 1.62 ball. In the judgement of sound, thoughtful observers, this ball had automatically eliminated some of the best shots-in-golf, even for top-flight golfers.

chancial driving and actual play, was chancial driving and actual play, was conducted with balls of great variety of sizes and weights. These were carefully charted and analyzed until, by a process of elimination, manufacturers, good golfers, average golfers and indifferent or long handicap golfers, concluded that a ball of not less than 1.68 inches in diameter and 1.55 ounces in weight was best suited for all requirements of play. To confirm this decision, a three-day tournament was held, in which some 60 players of all grades took part, using this ball exclusively.

"Aided by the splendid cooperation of the manufacturers, the Carnegie Institute of Technology, the government bureau of weights and measures, the implements and ball committee then had machines built for testing the resilience to determine the possible development of power from the internal construction of the ball.

"From this research the conviction has grown and has been reaffirmed, time and time again, that the 1.68-1.55 (the new balloon) ball meets all requirements of play."

350-Acre African Jungle And Native Village Built for Picture

Bringing Africa to Hollywood is no simple task but under the supervision of an expert thoroughly versed with the jungle country, the habits, and customs of its peoples and the dress and languages of many tribes, the feat has been accomplished with surprising results in Universal's feature comedy "The Cohens and Kellys in Africa", now playing at the Ritz theatre.

Universal employed as its technical advisor Peter Shaw, a native of Yorkshire, England, who spent many years in the Dark Continent with various British botanical expeditions and research parties.

A wooded area on Universal's 350-acre studio lot was transformed into a jungle with a native village of more than 35 palm thatched huts, especially constructed for scenes of this new comedy. The village was built to accommodate 280 natives. The setting was patterned after an African village photographed by Shaw in 1927.

Shaw added a touch of realism to the setting by teaching several negro extras playing African natives, short sentences of African tribal languages.

Charlie Murray and George Sidney, two of the screen's most popular comedians, have the leading roles in the comedy "The Cohens and Kellys in Africa", supported by Vera Goddard and Kate Price.

WEDNESDAY
"Party Husband", the comedy-drama of experimental marriage starring Dorothy Mackall, at the Ritz theatre Wednesday, brings up some interesting marriage statistics.

Those who know say that sixty per cent of the Americans of marriageable age have taken advantage of the possibilities for what is known as conjugal felicity. In addition to the courageous sixty per cent, eight per cent are widowed and one per cent are divorced. Of the remaining 31 per cent, all but a fraction of one per cent are vitally interested either in trying to get in or finding reasons why they should stay out. The other half of one per cent isn't interested in the ball-and-chain, probably never heard of it, nor of the movies either.

"Party Husband" is an ultra-modern study in sophistication as to the marital tie, including certain matters which are not so modern but equally exciting. Dorothy Mackall is captivating as the bride. James Rennie plays the "party husband" who decides he wants to be the main line husband or none at all.

Others in the cast are Dorothy Peterson, Joe Donahue, Helen Ware, Don Cook, Paul Porcasi, Mary Moran, and Barbara Weeks. The play is based on the novel of the same name by Geoffrey Barnes. Clarence Badger directed.

Camel Orchestra Leader Is Noted

That orchestra music you hear during the Camel Quarter Hour program over the Columbia Broadcasting system at 7:45 p. m. eastern daylight saving time every night except Sunday is inspired by the baton of Jacques Renard.

It is by the merest chance that Renard is directing a dance orchestra and not accepting the plaudits of the public from the concert stage. As a boy in Chelsea, a suburb of Boston, he was known as a violin virtuoso. Karl Mueck, then director of the Boston Symphony orchestra, heard young Renard and praised him. But fate had other plans for the boy.

Renard was born in Kiev, Russia, a city which witnessed the birth of several of the world's most renowned violinists. His father, a Cossack in the service of the Czar, left Russia when Jacques was very young. The family settled in the Boston Ghetto and Jacques took up the study of the violin.

Just at the time when he was on the verge of entering upon a career as a concert violinist, Renard came under a new influence. Mayer Davis, famous dance orchestra manager, began telling him of the rewards in his field. Renard finally compromised with his musical aspirations by accepting the baton of a Boston dance orchestra.

This ten years ago, Renard started his climb in the dance orchestra field. He soon organized his own orchestra and began developing his own ideas about dance music. Melody, always melody, was his theme and he did not lose it though he passed through storms of dance music facts. Always his orchestrations followed the melodic themes created by the composer, simply and as beautifully as possible. A strong string section with a background of low register clarinets or a saxophone choir carried the main burden with the muffled drum pounding an insistent, rhythmic beat. Renard's violin took the solo parts, with the remainder of the violin section playing pizzicatti figures around its theme.

Boston liked his music and Renard moved from place to place, always drawing crowds. Finally he opened his club, conducted it for a few years, then started a beautiful dine and dance place, Renard's Mayfair. Here the orchestra attracted the attention of the Columbia Broadcasting system and gained a place as a sustaining feature of the network.

When the sponsors of the new Camel program sought an orchestra that could play melodies beautifully, not forgetting the essential dance rhythm, Renard's group fitted the specifications. Renard moved on to New York and nation-wide fame.

Renard ranks with Paul Whiteman as one of the largest orchestra directors. Weighing more than 300 pounds it is a common occurrence for him to gain or lose as much as 60 pounds a month. But the music is in the giant body and he drills it into his organizations and makes it sing through his violin. Music must be, after all, musical, according to Renard's way of thinking.

A spider is not an insect. Spiders belong to the class Arachnida, which also includes scorpions, mites and ticks.

Like tobacco ... the best Gasoline is Blended

THERE are as many kinds of tobacco as there are soils and climate in which the plant is grown. Every smoker knows that no single tobacco makes a pleasant smoke. You may prefer Burley with a touch of Turkish or a mixture which includes Perique. Whatever the preference, every good smoke is blended. The popularity of your favorite brand rests entirely on the adeptness of the blender.

There are various types of gasoline. No one of them contains all the properties you want in a motor fuel. The proper ones in proper balance do contain them. That's why CONOCO refiners developed their balanced-blend, triple-test gasoline. Three types of gasoline are used: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting; Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage; Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock properties.

As expertly as the tobacco leaves are mellowed and combined, these three elements are produced and blended in balanced proportions to make CONOCO Gasoline. CONOCO refiners are masters of the art of blending.

You will find this better gasoline wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle. Try it today.

POOR HEALTH BROUGHT PAINS

To Relieve Her Suffering, This Lady Took Cardui. — Says "It Sure Did Help."

Mrs. M. L. Skaggs, of Van, Texas, tells how she was benefited by taking Cardui, a purely vegetable medicine which women have used for more than half a century.

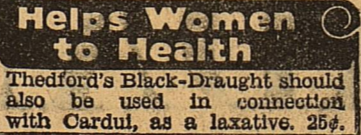

"A number of years after I was married, my health was very poor," she writes. "I suffered so much in my hips and shoulders. Had some pain across my body.

"I read of Cardui, took a bottle and it did me good. "I was weak before I took Cardui. I was yellow as a pumpkin. I was hardly able to get around. It sure did help me. I felt like a different woman after taking Cardui. It did more for me than anything I had ever taken."

Thousands of others have found that by building up the system, with the help of a good medicinal tonic, like Cardui, many aches and pains gradually disappear, and the user says "I feel like a different woman."

Cardui may be safely taken by women of all ages, as it contains no harmful drugs.

Sold by all druggists.

Theford's Black-Draught should also be used in connection with Cardui, as a laxative. 25¢.

Daughters of Two Prominent Families of Odessa Married the Last Few Days; Miss Helen Graham Wedded Monday

Two weddings of widespread interest to West Texans have been solemnized in Odessa within the past few days, daughters of two pioneer families of that city being married in home ceremonies.

An impressive morning wedding Monday united Miss Helen Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Graham, and Mr. C. O. (Pete) Wheeler, young ranchman of Ector county. The rooms of the home were arranged in a summer scene of flowers and ferns.

Nuptial music was played by Miss Onita Ruth Aiken, who used Mendelssohn's wedding march for the processional and "Flower Song" during the ceremony.

Miss Margaret Love of Pecos, girlhood friend of the bride, was maid of honor and the only attendant. She was wearing a powder blue crepe frock with rich pink trim. Her slippers were also pink.

The bride, pretty in a summer cloudy crepe gown, came from the stairway with her attendant and met the groom in the hallway. Together they marched to the altar where the Rev. Butler, pastor of the First Methodist church, read the marriage vows.

Outside of the bride's immediate family, only near relatives and a few friends attended the wedding.

Later the bride donned a chic navy blue and white dotted suit with trimmings of white and Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler left on an overland trip to California where they will spend a month.

Mrs. Wheeler is a graduate of Odessa high school in 1929 and for the past two years has remained with her family in Odessa.

Mr. Wheeler has operated a ranch northwest of Odessa for several years. They will make their home there.

Miss Jones and Mr. Morgan Wed Saturday

Miss Eloise Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Jones, and Mr. Henry Morgan of Mission, Texas, were married Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the bride's home in a quiet ceremony.

The Rev. Gobble, pastor of the Church of Christ, presided at the wedding.

Immediately after the wedding, the couple left on a trip to California to spend a month.

The bride completed high school work in Odessa high school two years ago and has attended Texas Tech in Lubbock one year.

After the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will make their home in Lubbock where he has business connections.

E. E. Davis of Cisco arrived here this morning to transact business.

For About $45 Women Can Put up Fruits and Vegetables for a Year

County Agent Gives in Detail Requirements for a Full Pantry of Foods and How Much to Can of Each Product

With an estimated cost of $45, a woman in Midland county can grow vegetables and fruits in her garden and can enough to supply all family food needs for 365 days, declared Miss Genevieve Derryberry, who has prepared the following report of various products to can and how much is needed:

The budget given here is planned for an eight months period.

Containers—The word containers used in the budget may mean a No. 2 can or a No. 3 can, a quart or a pint jar. Example: A No. 2 can of tomatoes is not sufficient for a family of five; therefore, a quart jar or a No. 3 can would be the containers; a No. 2 can of corn or peas would be sufficient for the same family.

Serving—The word serving for fruits and vegetables means at least 1-2 cup and as much more as seems necessary to satisfy the appetite.

Leafy or Green Vegetables
160 Containers.

To be served at least three times each week or 146 times during the year. Most housewives prefer to plan for 365 servings. But since leafy vegetables can be grown most of the year it is not necessary to can so many.

These vegetables may be chosen from spinach, mustard greens, turnip greens, rape, kale, cauliflower, cabbage, brussels sprouts, beet tops, asparagus kraut, string beans, snap peas, English peas and green peppers.

Starchy Vegetables
150 Containers.

One every day or 365 times during the year. Starchy vegetables include sweet and Irish potatoes and very young corn. Since potatoes can be stored it will not be necessary to can so much.

Other Vegetables
100 Containers.

One every day for 365 times during the year. These vegetables include turnips, beets, squash, onions, carrots, cushaw, pumpkins, rutabaga, radishes, okra, egg plant, fresh shelled peas, beans, cucumbers.

Since many of these can be stored and kept in the ground it is not necessary to can a large quantity. But if for any reason you think that it will be impossible for you to store these vegetables, be sure that you can more containers than called for (This does not include beets if they are pickled).

Tomatoes; Fruit
200 Containers Tomatoes.
75 Containers Fruit.

(Do not include preserves, jams, and jelly.) Two servings of fruit each day or 14 servings each week. Of these 14 serving each week seven must be raw.

Fruits include, peaches, pears, plums, grapes, berries, apples, cherries, apricots, cantaloupe, watermelon, rhubarb, citrus fruits, and tomatoes. Many people prefer dried berries, grapes, and some tomatoes put up as juice for beverages. For other fruits, dried raisins, peaches, prunes, apricots, dates or figs may be used.

Protein
100 Containers.

Since meat can be cured and also secured fresh this list includes only meat canned for emergencies or to give variety. The most popular canned proteins are beef and pork, roasts, sausage, stew, chicken (especially for sandwiches, salads and to be served a la king), chili, scrapple, and liver paste. Dried beans, and peas may be stored.

Pickles and Relishes
60 Containers.

One or more containers each week. These are considered as accessories and not essential to the diet.

Time Saving and Other Foods

This list was planned for wash day, fishing and camping trips, emergencies, gifts and garnishes. It includes chicken gumbo, soup, bean ration and bean gumbo, chili with Mexican beans added, brown bread plum pudding, hominy, meat stew and scrapple.

This shelf might also include pepper hash, canned nuts, salad dressing, blackberry cordial, tomato paste or sauce, kraut, etc.

Supplies for the Baby
Include No. 1 can of tomato juice and vegetables purees made from string beans, English peas, asparagus, spinach, and chard. The tomato juice may be put in bottles.

This gives a total of about 850 containers and if every farm woman would have this many containers in her pantry she would not only save the money spent for her usual grocery supply but she would have a healthy family and probably save a doctor bill.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Healy left this morning for Marlin where they will stay for about three weeks. They will visit relatives and friends in Stanton and Blackwell on the way down, making the trip by automobile.

Principal articles in the magazine were reviewed and discussed by the members attending.

Arizona Liquor Industry Grows

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U. P.)—A new bootlegging industry is thriving in Arizona as a result of a state law prohibiting the removal of natural plant life on public lands and a growing demand for the desert type garden, composed of flowering cactus plants.

Many of the numerous cacti species may be purchased at any floral shop, prices ranging from 25 cents for a small prickly pear to several dollars for larger types.

The explanation usually given by a florist is that the plants come from private lands where growing cacti is the major industry. A survey by the Arizona Industrial Congress, however, shows there are very few places where cactus plants are grown commercially.

Public Domain Source
Homesteaders and desert land owners supply part of the plants in clearing their holdings but most of them, the Industrial Congress explains, come from public domain. In other words, they are bootlegged.

In most instances, the florist buying a load of plants is not—and need not be—concerned with their origin. Although the act of removing a plant is a crime, there is no law against sale or possession.

The sum involved in the sale of cacti is estimated from $100,000 per year to nearly a million. This range indicates that one guess is as good as another.

Many Arizonians make a living dealing in bootlegged plant life. Half the homes in the southern section of the state have a cactus garden and it is a safe bet that most of the plants came from public lands, in violation of the law.

Protest Brings Law
A Phoenix garden society, protesting against wholesale removal of desert plants by tourists, prepared and forced through the legislature a bill outlawing the removal or disturbance of natural plant life. The trouble was, and is, that the bill failed to provide means of enforcement.

At present enforcement is confined to a few signs here and there along the highways, and a note on visiting motorists permits saying it is a crime to remove or disturb natural plants.

Occasionally there is an arrest, but always on some person's specific complaint. Police generally pay no attention to the law as most of their work is confined to towns while the plants the law protects are located out on public lands.

SPAIN'S ARMY REORGANIZED ON FIGHTING BASIS

MADRID, June 16.—Spain's army will be reorganized on a fighting basis of eight divisions totalling 100,000 men by July 1. It will be devoid of skeleton battalions and contains only the necessary number of officers to command each unit.

The first serious attempt to solve the army problem ever made in the history of this country, so harassed by the combination of military men and politics, especially since Spanish-American War days, is being executed under the direction of Minister of War, Don Manuel Azana.

No longer is it possible for the majors, lieutenant-colonels, and colonels of a regiment stationed in Morocco, for example, to stay in Madrid, or some other Peninsula city, while a captain remains in charge of the entire regiment; no longer will there be regiments with a dozen times more officers than are necessary; and the total number of generals will be nearer 80 than the old figure of 548.

Furthermore, in all probability there will not be a generalissimo, or the Captain-General of the Army. The vacancy caused by the death of Captain-General Valeriano Weyler last November was filled shortly after the advent of the Republic with the appointment of Lieut.-Gen. Francisco Aguilera to that post; but with Aguilera's death in May it is again vacant, and the chances are that it will no longer be possible for an army officer to aspire any higher rank than Lieutenant-General.

Azana's plan is to have the army maintained in such a state of efficiency that in case of war it would be possible to build up a much larger army, the permanent personnel not only serving as the nucleus, but as a corps to train the new soldiers.

The plan of divisions is similar to the one used in France, Russia, and Japan—which means the divisions are smaller and more mobile than the full divisions of the United States army.

Jail Breakers--

Officers had announced one of the two from Albuquerque last night said of men admitted he was J. D. Conner. The two were unsuccessful in an effort to regain freedom Sunday night, after they were picked up on suspicion in the outskirts of Albuquerque. They attempted to break from Police Captain Russell Charlton as he took them to the police station, but he got the best of them in the scarp, landing one a blow on the head.

Alba Pitts Captured
Albuquerque police said they had checked the car the two men were driving as one stolen from Coffeyville, Kan. Alba Pitts, another of the San Angelo jail breakers, was arrested Sunday in Junction City, Kan. and Sheriff Bob Hewitt of Tom Green county was returning him to San Angelo last night. Pitts was held in San Angelo on complaint of car theft, charged in the theft of a car belonging to Constable Jack Nabers there.

San Angelo officers said Conner and Powell were leaders in the jail break there May 16, five men taking guns of Huebner and Thompson and escaping in a postoffice special delivery car.

Search for the five extended throughout this section of Texas for many days.

Conner, former Rising Star school teacher and graduate of Howard Payne college was convicted in San Antonio on a charge of robbery with firearms and was named in extortion plots there.

Test Astounds Labor Experts

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—A test to determine the will to work among men fed free at the We-care restaurant here turned out differently than expected, for it was necessary to restrain the men rather than to urge them to work.

The experiment was centered on preparation of two plots of ground for cultivation.

Trucks were stationed at the Welfare restaurant for the accommodation of men who wished to work on the basis of two hours' labor for each meal served them. Previously meals had been served free and without labor to those who applied.

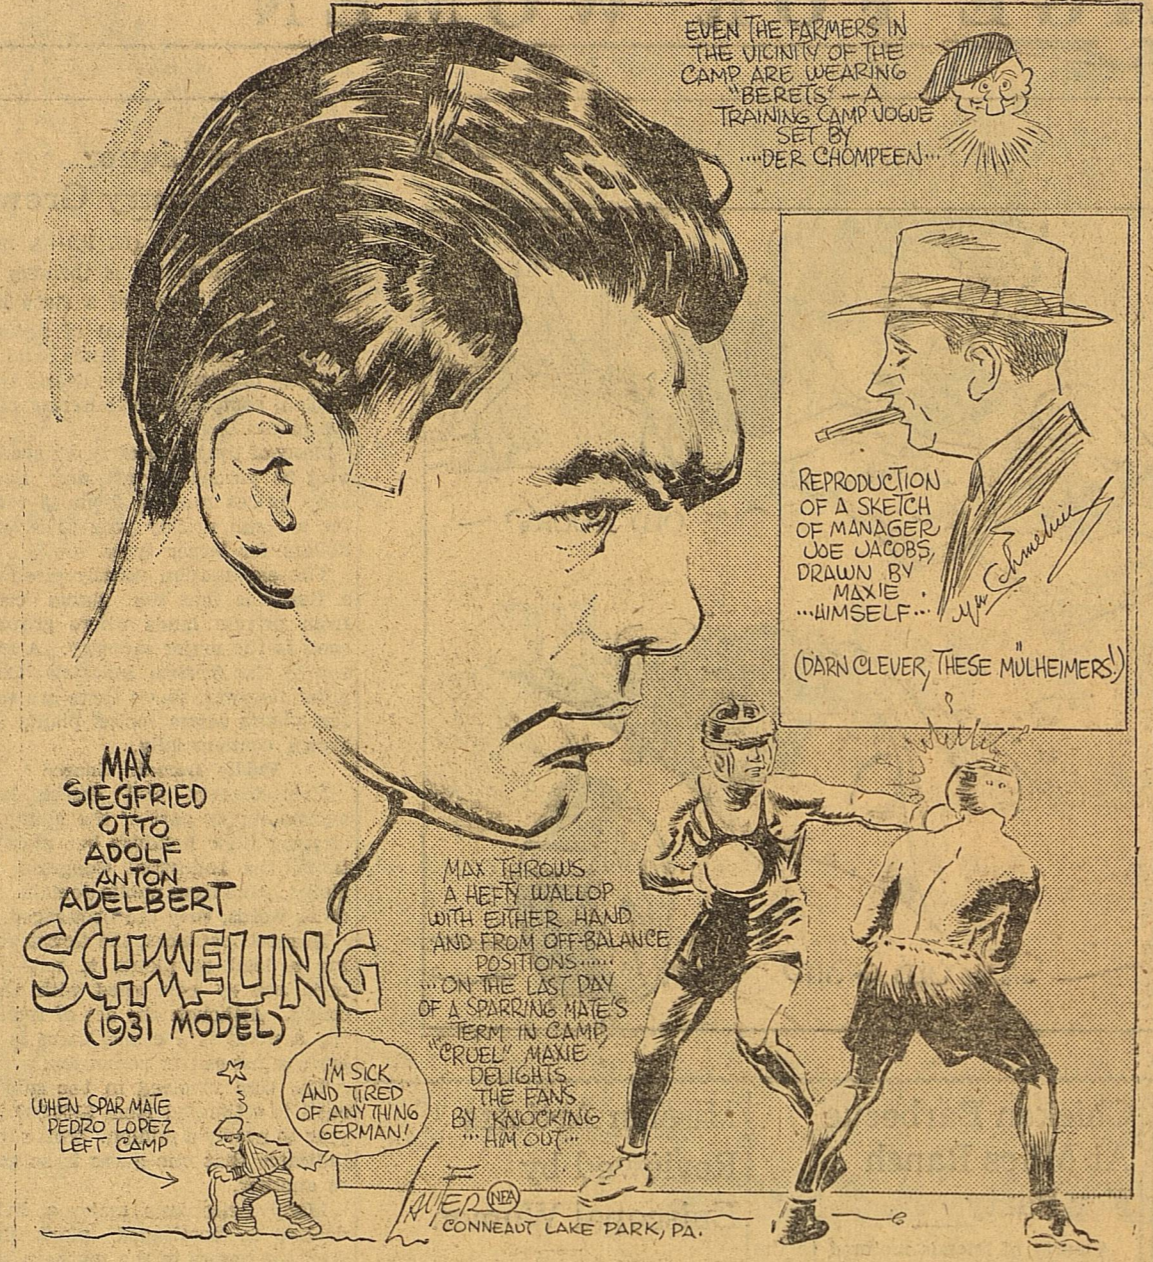

Several hundred men appeared as volunteers for the work at hand. It was necessary to turn away the aged and infirm. Further selection reduced the working force to 50, and that number worked through a light rain-fall in cleaning the plot and clearing away weeds and bushes.

The crops raised on the plots will be used by the restaurant in its free meals. An average of 150 meals daily have been served since January 1.

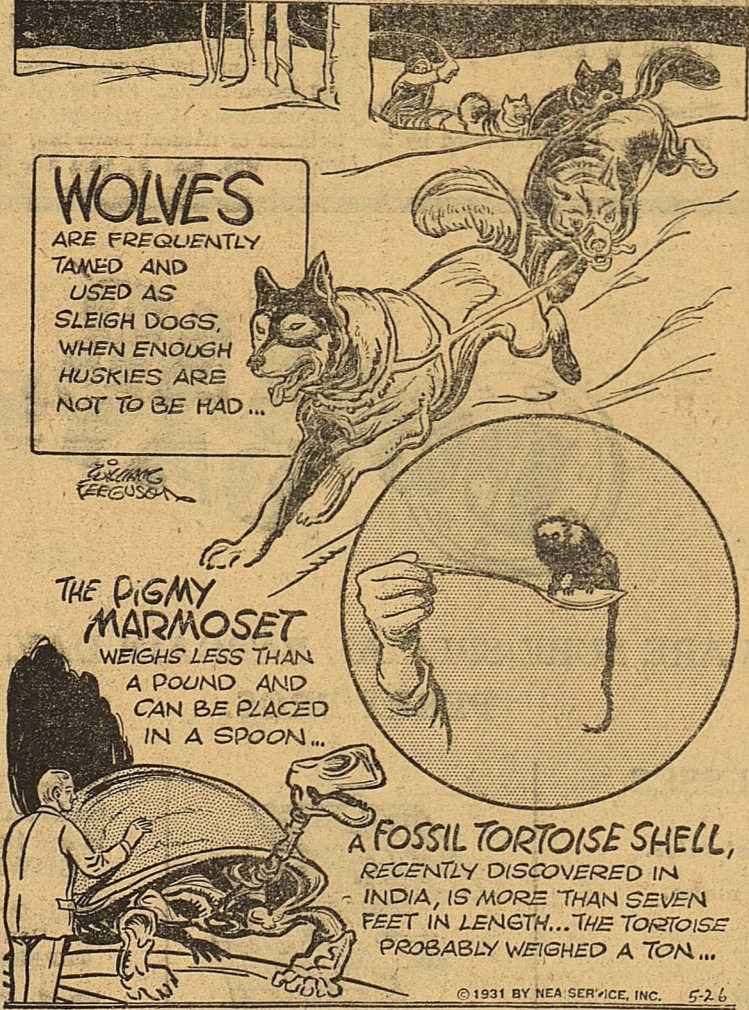

Monthly services of the Episcopal congregation will be held tonight at Trinity chapel under the direction of the Rev. W. H. Martin, pastor of the Big Spring church.

Members of the church are requested to attend the service.

Father Listens To Advice of a Son—Suicides

CHICAGO, June 16. (UP)—A college boy's advice to his father that suicide was the easiest way out, is believed by police to have caused R. J. Capron, 60, to kill himself with a revolver in the shadow of Grant's monument.

The man was found bowed over a letter from his son, John Reading, who said "if breaks are not with us, the thing to do is find some simple way, medicine or something. I am sure you know why I am saying it." Capron left a note saying "there is no place in the world for an old man, alone and destitute."

ENGLISH "GYRO"
LONDON—A new type autogyro has been built in England which can take off in a space of 30 yards. It has a top speed of only 90 miles an hour, compared with the 125-mile mark of American ships of the same design. The autogyro principle is being applied in this country to all types of planes.

AIR MAIL MEETING
LONDON—All the nations of Europe will discuss the problems of air mail when representatives convene at Brussels next October. A preliminary conference is to be held in June. Suggestions arising out of these two meetings will be discussed at the Brussels meeting.

TUN TRIPS COSTLY
WASHINGTON—According to the Aeronautics Branch of the U. S. Department of Commerce, more aircraft accidents occur in pleasure flying than any other form of miscellaneous airplane operations. The figures show that 42 per cent of all accidents in the miscellaneous flying class occurred in planes being flown for pleasure.

TINY BUT MIGHTY
BERLIN—Aviation circles in Europe are showing no little interest in the "Romeiser motor," a small engine of Russo-German origin. It is said to occupy only about one-third to one-half the space of most motors, and is able to utilize from 50 to 60 per cent of the power generated. It operates on crude oil.

FAINTS, LOSES SIGHT; SWOONS AGAIN, SEES

METHUEN, Mass. (UP).—Revived after she had fainted, Ruth Bean, 16, could see nothing. After five days of blindness, during which time specialists sought in vain to diagnose her ailment, she fainted again. When revived, she found she had regained her normal sight. Doctors believe the temporary loss of sight was due to mental trouble.

PRETTY GIRL DRIVER TO QUIT TRUCK

BOSTON. (UP).—An unidentified young man drove a loaded motor truck onto an East Boston ferryboat. When the boat reached Boston, the truck remained aboard, driverless. Several days later S. J. Fahey called at a police station and claimed the truck. He explained that the driver, a young man in his employ, had espied a pretty girl on the ferryboat, had left the truck to talk with her, forgetting all about the big vehicle he was supposed to drive.

HOURS FOR NOCTURNE BALL CHANGED; GAMES TO BE SHOVED UP

Horses Seen in Last Summer's Races To Be on Card Here July 4-5

TWO GAMES THIS EVENING, FIRST 7 O'CLOCK

Playing hours in the Nocturne league have been changed as a result of a meeting Monday of managers. First games will begin at 7 o'clock, rather than 8:15, and second games will begin about 8:15. This will allow the crowd to see a couple of games without becoming confirmed night owls, it was explained by Scotty Gemmill.

Tonight's offerings will test the speculation regarding the best pitchers in the night league. Some say Chewing of Texas Electric is the best man who ever stepped into a playground ball box here, while an equally imposing group believes Gemmill of the newspaper club is equally as good. These rivals will face each other in the 8:15, or second game of the evening.

Scruggs Buick and Bell Telephone clubs play the first game.

The women's teams of Mrs. Leslie

Woman Seized As Robbery Tried

GALLUP, N. M., June 16. (AP)—A woman holdup who obtained a revolver and ammunition from her victims, fired two shots at clerks in the Hart Hardware store here, and was captured by Co. A. W. Hanson, who knocked the gun from her hand by throwing an inner tube at her.

The police are searching for a man accomplice.

She refused to give her name to police. She said she was out of work and resorted to holdup when her money gave out.

The woman went to the store to buy a revolver. She picked out one and then left to get money to pay for it, after making a telephone call to a man at a hotel. When she returned to pay for the weapon, she asked William Hanson, son of the manager, to show her how to load it. "Stick 'em up and be quick!" she commanded when Hanson handed her the loaded gun. He ducked behind the showcase and she fired.

Stevens and of Mrs. Ivy Lee Mitchell play at Scharbauer diamond this afternoon at 6:30.

TOY BULL DOG LIKES SWIMMING AND DIVING

SEATTLE—Lady Bunty gets more real enjoyment out of swimming and diving than anything she does, except, perhaps, gnawing a bone.

Lady Bunty is a toy Boston bull who learned to dive when she was a puppy. She's four years old now and goes swimming every time her master, Harold Knowles, takes a dip. Her favorite sport is perching on Knowles' shoulders when he dives off a 10-foot springboard, and plunging into the water with him.

FOUR MILE, WINNER YEAR AGO, OUT BY INJURY

Familiar horse faces will be seen on the track July 4 and 5 when some of the favorites from last year's races make their second appearance.

Bad news struck the Floyd stables this morning when Four Mile, winner of last year's two-year-old half breed race, or Hotel Scharbauer handicap, broke down with a lame tendon while being worked out.

Four Mile, Parmer up, copped the three-eighth race for two-year-olds last July 4 with time of 39 1-2 and was expected to have good chances for winning in the three-year-old class.

Tomcat Is Favorite

John Dublin's Tomcat, winner of second place in the race a year ago, is seen as a favorite since Four Mile's injury, although he will have some tough competition in Floyd's Fuzzy and Clarence Scharbauer's

Prunes, winner of third place last year, Piccolo Pete, Bryant horse, is in training for the events.

The two-year-old half breed class is expected to bring some wonderful ponies for their maiden races again July 4. The Floyd stables will enter Daniel Boone and Fatima.

Chas. Yonge is training a thoroughbred, Fairboy, for the three-year-old three-eighth race and this horse is expected to show up well in the money.

Maude F., Floyd mare, winner in the quarter mile for polo ponies last Independence day, will run in the three-eighth race and is expected to be hard to beat.

Relay race strings will be entered by Jay Floyd, John Dublin and Stanton Brunson, and others are expected to be marked up for this exciting event within a few days.

GOLF as the STARS Play it by ART KRENZ

Why should the body be kept behind the ball and what is meant by hitting against the left leg?

NOTICE HOW AL ESPINOSA, IN A BRASSIE SHOT OFF THE FAIRWAY KEEPS THE WEIGHT AND THE HANDS BEHIND THE BALL AS THE HITTING REGION IS REACHED.

If the body is pushed ahead of the ball, the hands also are pulled farther ahead than necessary. This makes the club late in reaching the hitting region, which usually results in sliced ball. In addition, there is an absence of punch or power in the shot and the snap of the wrist is wasted, with a loss of distance the result.

To smokers who are hard-to-convince

WE LIKE nothing better than to induce hard-to-convince smokers to switch to Camels for just one day.

For we know that after they have made a real test, it will be mighty hard to lure them away from this famous brand.

It's not easy to smoke parched-dry cigarettes once you have known the delights of perfectly conditioned Camels.

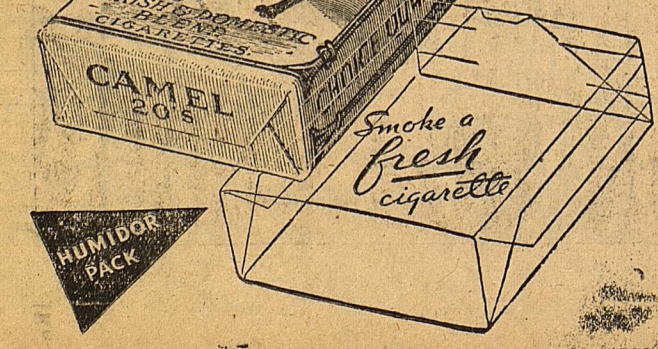

After inhaling the cool, soft fragrance of the Camel Blend of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos protected by the Humidor Pack, your throat protests against the bite and sting and harsh hotness that comes from crumbly, dry tobacco.

No matter where you pick them up, in any land, in any climate, Camels are the same fresh, factory-prime cigarettes.

For the Humidor Pack of moisture-proof Cellophane air-seals all the flavor in and keeps out weather, dust and germs.

This is no mere advertising story. It is a recitation of fact that has made the whole country conscious of a new superiority in Camels.

If you are hard to convince, won't you switch to Camels for just one day? Then leave them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons
Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday

CAMELS

NO CIGARETTE AFTER-TASTE

Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one.

STICKER SOLUTION

From the magic diamond, at the top, simply change the positions of the 9 and 1 and of the 7 and 2, and then place the 4, 2, 8 and 6 out on corner positions, and you will have formed a square that adds the same in all directions, as shown above.
