Guards with weapons in hand rush prisoners at the Nebraska Men's Reformatory, Lincoln, Neb., during a riot and fire. The picture was made through a wire fence surrounding the institution. The outbreak of violence was blamed on inmate dissatisfaction with a change in prison superintendents.

LATER TALKS ON TAP

Still No Accord As German, Soviet Leaders Hold Meeting

MOSCOW (AP)—The foreign ministers of the Soviet Union and West Germany met for an hour and a half today and a German spokesman said afterward no agreement had been reached on subjects dividing the two nations. Felix von Eckardt, West German spokesman, said the foreign ministers will make separate reports at this afternoon's meeting of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Premier Nikolai Bulganin. Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano and V. M. Molotov met to discuss "concrete proposals" to be presented later to Adenauer and Bulganin. While Von Eckardt declared no progress had been made and that basically the normalization talks were at the same place they were when they opened last Friday, a somewhat more optimistic view was advanced by Leonid Ilyichev, the Soviet press chief. Ilyichev told reporters the foreign ministers had had a sincere exchange of opinions and "judging from the fact they decided to report to their heads of government, one can judge that there were some results." Von Eckardt said the two countries were still just as far apart as ever on such questions as the German war prisoners, reunification and means of establishing normal relations. Molotov and Von Brentano agreed not to disclose the subject of their morning talks and limited themselves to brief statements to the press. These said the foreign ministers

Hospital Board Okays Contracts

Contracts totalling $897,317 for construction at Mexia State Hospital were approved by the Board For State Hospitals and Special Schools here Monday. The board held its regular monthly meeting at the Big Spring State Hospital to coincide with the dedication at 2 p. m. of two new ward buildings at the hospital. State Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford was to deliver the dedicatory address at the ceremonies this afternoon. Also on the program were Dr. Hamilton Ford, Galveston, who was to deliver the professional address, and Harold Eitz, Austin, who was to present keys to the new buildings to Dr. Roy Sloan, superintendent. Also approved was an inter-agency contract with Texas State College for Women for testing of materials, food, clothing and supplies for hospitals and special schools. The contract was for $800 per month and Russell Giddings, chief administrative officer for the board estimated that it would amount to less than 1-20th of one per cent of all purchases, and would result in considerable savings. Policies governing the use of volunteer services were adopted, along with those concerning emoluments for certain teachers in special schools when given added duties. Demolition of small frame structures at Rusk State Hospital and the Corsicana Orphans Home were ordered. At noon, the board was considering proposed construction for the biennium beginning Sept. 1, 1955, in the estimated amount of $10,000,000. In approving the Mexia contracts, the board reallocated funds to meet a higher construction cost on a 375-bed unit, thus reducing funds remaining for an administration building to $160,000. An alternate of $29,200 was approved to add 48 beds, to bring total beds of the Mexia unit to 423. Here for the meeting were Durwood Manford, Smiley, chairman; Mrs. Lawrence Wooten, Fort Worth; Dr. James H. Taiten, Columbus; R. F. Higgs, Stephenville; and Dr. Reigh R. Stokes, Austin; together with Dr. James A. Bethea, executive director for the board; Dr. Rawley Chambers, director of psychiatry; Giddings; Walter Moore, architectural advisor; Russell G. Poling and Vernon McGee of the Texas Legislative Board; Fay Davis, secretary; Wendell Bedichek of the Texas Research League; and Weldon Wright, Austin. The group lunched at the hospital today with Big Spring civic officials and members of the board of the Texas Mental Hospital Development Association, Odessa.

Gulf 'Red Tide' Fears Rise Again

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (AP)—Fears that the "red tide" is in the Gulf again were expressed yesterday after many fish were found dead on southern Padre Island. The dead fish were reported by crews working on Magnolia and Schumberger installations. They also reported smelling the acrid gas which reportedly accompanies the red tide. The red tide is a mass of microorganisms which wash into the Gulf from fresh-water streams.

County Budget Discussion Set

County commissioners this morning went over a proposed budget of $771,470 for 1956. One minor change was made in the proposed schedule this morning, and commissioners set afternoon conferences on two other matters. The road and bridge department budget was altered by a deduction of $1,000 from the $1,800 set up for miscellaneous travel expenses of the commissioners court. The $1,800 saved will give the fund a cash balance of that amount at the end of the year. Commissioners were to confer with Lago Fox, city-county sanitarian, and Walter Grice, justice of the peace for Precinct No. 1, Place No. 1, on the two other items this afternoon. The tentative county budget provided for an outlay of $8,545 for the county's share of city-county health unit operations next year. Fox had submitted a health unit budget of $8,770 for the year and also asked that the county provide an additional $750 for miscellaneous travel and for pay raises for unit personnel. He was to return this afternoon for discussion of the proposed increases. Grice was to be called for discussion of a proposed pay raise. The budget advances his salary from $2,400 per year to $3,300, but commissioners postponed approval of the item until after the conference with the official. Discussions this afternoon also were expected to involve a complaint lodged by Fox this morning against Grice's office. The sanitarian told commissioners "we can't get anything tried in JP Court." He said only one case he has filed with Grice has come to trial and no decision has been reached in it. Another case has been pending three months, Fox said. Prior to taking up the budget study this morning, commissioners approved the insurance schedule for coverage of county property. The schedule provides $200,500 for courthouse coverage; $71,100 for courthouse contents; and smaller amounts for other various items. The officials also talked with County Engineer Foster Dickey on road repairs and overhaul of a maintainer.

Second Year Of Desegregation Begins In Washington Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second year of desegregation begins today in public schools of the nation's capital. Racial barriers are almost completely down for the 106,000 pupils involved, though the problems arising from the mixing of white and Negro youngsters are not all solved. Washington was the first big city to start complete integration in obedience to the May 1954 Supreme Court ruling that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. It acted before the court issued its formal decree. Today, 12 months after children of the two races began attending classes together, both white and Negro pupils are starting the new semester in virtually all the 163 public schools in the District of Columbia. Some schools, depending on neighborhood remain largely Negro or white. How is this "social revolution," as it's often been called, working out? Mostly, the new order is being taken for granted by parents and pupils alike—with no public sign of the uneasiness that sparked short-lived strikes by groups of white pupils in nine junior and senior high schools early in the 1954-55 term. School by school, the situation varies. In some, mainly in higher-income neighborhoods, integration has caused barely a ripple. In one school where less than one third of the pupils are colored, a Negro woman has been elected president of the Parent-Teacher Assn. In other schools, however, there are other problems as truancy, misbehavior and poor classwork. Much public concern developed recently when a series of tests giv-

Week-End Death Toll 31; Bus Wreck Adds 2

The Associated Press Last weekend took another grim toll of lives in Texas with at least 31 dying violently, 21 in traffic. Rudolph Jeffery and his cousin, Joe Jeffery, were killed in a flaming truck-bus crash near Commerce Sunday night. The Commerce men were riding in a pickup truck that collided with the bus on a bridge, with both vehicles bursting into flames. Driver T. W. (Wimpy) Helms of Mesquite, said several sailors on the bus took calm, quick action to help free the trapped passengers. Then the sailors and Helms rescued one of the truck passengers from the flames. Rudolph's brother, Cornelius, was dragged from beneath the blazing truck. He had two broken arms. Mrs. E. E. Freeman, Mozelle, Miss., and Mrs. Pearl Howard, Goldthwaite, were still hospitalized today, along with Jeffery. Mrs. Freeman had a badly cut hand and Mrs. Howard a broken nose. Several others were treated and released. The bus, almost packed, was on its way from Dallas to Norfolk, Va. Another bus from Dallas picked up the passengers in the burned bus.

Lubbock Man Drowns Sunday At Lake Thomas

Earl Fournier, 22, Lubbock, drowned in a vain attempt to aid a companion Sunday evening at Lake J. B. Thomas. Fournier was swimming with a friend when the friend fell from the shore. Fournier went down about 300 feet from the north shore. His body was recovered about 9:45 p. m. by volunteer rescue workers directed by the Snyder fire chief. Fournier was the fifth person to be drowned in Lake J. B. Thomas and the third within the past 13 days. Seven-year-old Marilyn Beckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Beckman of Snyder, slipped from an inner tube and drowned in the diversion channel on Aug. 29. C. E. Knight, Snyder, fell from his high-powered speed boat Sept. 3 and drowned when the boat apparently circled back over and struck him with the propeller. According to reports, Fournier and another youth, Bobby Jarvis, 18, Lubbock were at the lake when Jarvis' boat motor stalled. Fournier was on shore and saw Jarvis start swimming toward Jarvis. He began to swim toward Jarvis, apparently to aid him in getting to shore, but instead he went down 300 feet off shore. The remains were taken to Bell Funeral Home in Snyder, and then on to Lubbock for final arrangements.

Unit System Vote Set For Oct. 15

Howard County citizens will determine, in a special election on October 15, whether or not the county shall retain the unit system in operating its road department. The Commissioners Court this morning set that date for the referendum. Calling of the election was in response to a petition presented last week and carrying 669 names. The proposal will be whether or not the county shall abandon operations under the Optional County Road Law of 1947. This provides for a unified road and bridge department, functioning under direction of a county engineer who in turn is responsible to the Commissioners Court on policy matters. Counties can adopt this law, or not, as voters choose. It makes mandatory the county-wide system of handling the road department and without it commissioners could operate road departments in their various precincts without regard to operations in the county as a whole. Howard County adopted the unit system in 1948. It has had three engineers since then, and at times has gone for prolonged periods without such an official. Present engineer is Foster Dickey, employed last February, and his resignation has been asked by the Commissioners Court. No final disposition has as yet been made of this request, and Dickey has said he wants to confer with the Court on the matter. Petitioners for the election told the Court last week that they had some "grievances," but said they did not want "to do away with the unit system."

Midlander Charges Conspiracy By 10 Major Oil Firms

EL PASO (AP)—A Midland gasoline dealer charges that 10 major firms conspired to force him out of business and the firms have been ordered to stand trial on charges of violating the Robinson-Patman Anti-Trust Act. R. B. Baker of Midland said the companies conspired to force him out of business by cutting prices. He asked treble damages and attorneys' fees totaling $124,000. Defendants are Humble Oil Co., Standard Oil Co. of Texas, Magnolia Petroleum Co., Sinclair Refining Co., Shell Oil Co., Phillips Petroleum Co., Continental Oil Co., Texas Co., Coudens Petroleum Corp. and Gulf Oil Corp. Federal Judge R. E. Thomason Saturday overruled a motion by the firms that the suit be dismissed.

Coast Guard Will Commission Cadet In 'Red' Kin Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Coast Guard announced today it has decided to commission N. Pierre Gaston who graduated from its officer candidate school last April but was not given a commission because of questions raised about the loyalty of his mother. Gaston, 23, was graduated eighth in his class from the Coast Guard Officer Training School at New London, Conn., last April. But his commission as an ensign was withheld on grounds his mother had been affiliated with subversive organizations. Gaston has been serving as an apprentice seaman in Coast Guard headquarters here. Murdaugh Madden, his attorney, said the Coast Guard has directed that Gaston proceed to New London for his commission on Wednesday. Madden said that after the commissioning Gaston would report aboard the Coast Guard weather ship Humbolt.

Americans Due Soon In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Jubilant relatives began collecting in this British crown colony today to await arrival of 10 American civilians whose quick release has been promised by Red China. It was not known just when the 10 would cross the border into Hong Kong, but a Peiping radio broadcast indicated they may already be heading for freedom. When their release was decided, three of the Americans were believed to be in Peiping, three in Fochow, two in Canton, one in Chungking and one in Shanghai. Since all were expected to cross the border together, they would have to meet at some assembly point—probably Canton—for the train trip to Hong Kong. Mrs. Sue Buol, who arrived here from Taipei, said she "had not been able to sleep a wink" since hearing that her husband Lawrence was among the 10. She said she had been busy since she got here checking "every possible avenue" for the date and time of her husband's arrival and she had "not been able to find out a darn thing." Mildred Lovegren, daughter of the Rev. Levi O. Lovegren, said she was "all aglow" when she received a telegram yesterday from her father detained Chungking, which read, "Expect me very soon." Lovegren's wife also was waiting his arrival. She and Mildred have lived in Hong Kong for the past three years, doing missionary work among refugees. In Yonkers, N.Y., Mrs. Adele Austin Rickett, herself a prisoner in Red China for three years, expressed happiness that her husband Walter is among the 10. She said she recently had a "love letter" from her husband and that he "seemed fine." The 35-year-old graduate student, who praised the Reds when she was freed last February and was described by U.S. officials as "thoroughly brainwashed," said, "I made the comments then and still have the same feeling." Negotiations at Geneva between representatives of the United States and Red China involved about 41 Americans in all. The Chinese first announced that 12 Americans against whom no formal charges had been placed were free to leave when they chose. Then they announced that 10 others in prison or under house arrest would be let go in a few days. The Communists' official New China News Agency said today the decision to release the 10 was made in consideration of their offenses and their "fairly good" behavior while in prison. It gave this report on their cases: The Rev. Harold W. Higney, 54, dean of the Catholic Fu Jen University in Peiping when arrested in July 1951; "Sentenced to a term of 10 years in prison for bribing Chinese government personnel, spying on Red China's state security and collecting extensive intelligence of a military, political and economic nature in China." Rickett, 34, a Fulbright scholar from Seattle; "Six years for collecting Chinese military and political intelligence." The Rev. Mr. Lovegren, 67, of Seattle, Wash., Baptist missionary in Chungking when arrested in 1950; "Guilty of collecting intelligence in the Sikang area and conducting espionage." Sentenced to five years. Buol, 34, of Stockton, Calif., operations officer for the American-owned Civil Air Transport when he was seized at the Mangate airstrip, 140 miles south of Kunming in Yunan province in January 1950; "Sentenced to expulsion from China for intruding into China on board an aircraft to conduct military espionage." Dilmus T. Kanady, a Houston, Tex., cotton man who was jailed by the Reds in October 1950; "Sentenced to 4 1/2 years imprisonment and immediate expulsion from China for hiding arms, forging financial accounts in an attempt to evade taxes, and making black market foreign exchange transactions with American bank notes." The Rev. Dorothy Middleton, 42, formerly of Cicero, Ill., adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lines of Lakeland, Fla., a Presbyterian missionary at a leper colony when arrested in February 1951; "Sentenced to expulsion from China for conducting sabotage." Miss Sarah Perkins, 63, a native of Georgia and a Presbyterian missionary and nurse at a leper colony; the same sentence as Miss Middleton. The Rev. Frederick D. Gordon, 58, of Somerset, Ohio; "Ordered to leave China within a prescribed period... because he has shielded counterrevolutionary elements." The Rev. Joseph E. Hyde, 47, of Lowell, Mass.; "Ordered to leave China within a prescribed period because he had conducted reactionary propaganda and concealed a military signal pistol." The Rev. James Joyce, 56, of Clinton, Mass.; "Ordered to leave China within a prescribed period... because he has collected information about Chinese airfield."

LATE BULLETINS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane warnings were hoisted along the north shore of the Dominican Republic today as the eighth tropical storm of the year, named Hilda, was spawned 340 miles east-southeast of Miami.

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers today notified President Eisenhower that drought has reached "disaster" proportions in certain sections of Texas.

Parts Of Area Get Good Rains

Heavy showers soaked some sections of Howard County late Saturday and early Sunday. In Dawson, Lamesa received .6 of an inch. More than an inch of rain fell south of Vealmoor. Up to .35 of an inch was reported in the Luther area, and .8 fell at Powell and Moore Creek lakes in the southeast part of the county. Powell Lake was unofficially reported to have risen four feet. Ralph Proctor said 1.2 of an inch of rain was gauged at his farm south of Vealmoor. T. A. Nogman, who farms immediately north of Proctor, received 1.1, but the amount dwindled to .7 of an inch at Vealmoor. Elbow received about an inch. Two reports from Luther listed gauges of .8 and .85. Chalk received .75 of an inch. In Big Spring, the amount varied from .12 at Howard County Junior College to .15 at the Texas Electric Service Company switching station east of town and .27 at the U. S. Experiment farm immediately north of the city. Lomax received from .1 to .2 of an inch. Light showers were reported north of Coahoma and in the R-Bar community also. Texas Electric reported these other rain measurements from the area: Morgan Creek (west of Colorado City) .58 of an inch; Lamesa, 6; Sweetwater, .75; Eskota (east of Sweetwater) .6 of an inch; and Snyder, .19.

French Consider Moroccan Plan

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure today tackled the most potent political opposition at home to his new deal for Morocco. President Rene Coty summoned the full Cabinet to pass on the home rule agreement worked out with the pro-Nationalist former Sultan, Mohammed Ben Youssef. Across the Mediterranean, the North African protectorate tensely awaited the outcome. The French showered the Arab quarters of the chief cities with leaflets, bluntly warning that they would permit no repetition of the uprising Aug. 20-21 in which more than 1,000 died. Heavy detachments of troops patrolled Casablanca and other major cities to counter any violence that might be touched off by one Nationalist group's call for a general strike. Faure was determined to get Cabinet approval for his Moroccan settlement today, the target date he assigned himself a month ago. However, some right-wing cabinet ministers were expected to oppose at least some portions of the accord. The rightist opposition threat-

New York Dock Strike On Again In Full Force

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's waterfront strike was on in full force again today amid union charges of a "double-cross."

William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (I.L.A.) told workers not to go back to work. This was only a few hours after the walk-out appeared ended last night.

The men remained away as hiring bosses blew their whistles at pier heads to start the day's work at 5 a.m.

Bradley went to the Hudson River waterfront just before the hiring hour and conferred with Thomas Gleason, the union's general organizer, who passed the word that the strike was still on.

Bradley then issued the following statement:

"An agreement was reached by the union and officials of the New York State Legislative Committee. After the agreement was made, pressure was put on the legislators not to go through with it. We called the strike off. Then they said 'no agreement.' We were double-crossed. We are not ready to make recommendations to the men at this time. This proves again the longshoremen are a political football."

The union leader referred to a short-lived agreement reached yesterday between the I.L.A. and a representative of the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Industrial and Labor Conditions for a hearing of workers' complaints.

Weary Valley Set For Another Flood

Residents of the lower Rio Grande Valley, already waterlogged from last weekend's tropical storm Gladys, wearily braced themselves Monday for possible floods as a tropical disturbance whipped up winds and squalls along the Mexican and Texas coasts.

The State Civil Defense Office in Austin warned all points on the Rio Grande Valley as far upstream as Del Rio, about 300 airline miles from the Gulf, of possible heavy rains.

County officials and state police in a broad band of counties along the Rio Grande were alerted for possible flood danger.

Civil defense officials said the new threat of heavy rain was especially serious in the Raymondville area, where previous floodwaters still swirl muddily through many homes.

An inch of rain fell at Raymondville Sunday, keeping residents from returning to their homes and posing a health problem. Some 5,000 persons have received typhoid shots and the whole town is to receive them by Wednesday. About 900 persons are kept from their homes by four feet of muddy water. Many roads were blocked. About two inches of rain hit Westaco early Monday and water ran over the curbs. Some businesses have already sandbagged their store fronts.

The present storm appears much weaker than Gladys, and hurricane hunter planes were unable to find any center. However, the "unsettled area" was stirring up squalls with winds 25 to 30 m.p.h. from

'Extortionists' Blamed In Tale Of Suicide Pact

STREATOR, Ill. (AP) — LaSalle County State's Atty. Harlan Warren today said investigators had been "unable to verify" an Illinois woman's story that extortionists drove her and her husband to form a suicide pact.

Mrs. Ruth Craine, 49, of Geneva, Ill., told Warren her story yesterday after her husband Leon, 52, had been found dead Saturday night in their car parked near Streator.

She told Warren she and her husband planned to die by piping exhaust fumes into the car. She said she lost consciousness when the carbon monoxide fumes poured into the car but awoke a few hours later to find the motor had stopped running. Her husband was dead.

A coroner's jury held Craine's death was due to natural causes. A pathologist testified Craine died of a heart ailment. He said no trace of carbon monoxide were found.

Warren said Mrs. Craine told of being threatened by unknown persons after she and her husband were charged with arson following a fire at their restaurant near Kewanee, Ind.

Mrs. Craine told Warren three men she did not know ordered the couple Sept. 5 to raise $15,000 or die. He said Mrs. Craine told him they were to deliver the money at Steward Rock State Park last night, but that she was unable to give the exact location of the rendezvous within the park.

The extortion plot was described by Mrs. Craine as being due to demands of "the syndicate" to recover the cost of pinball machines lost in the fire. She said the extortionists promised the arson case "would be fixed" if the money was raised.

Frank Tobey, Dixon-Yates Foe, Dies Of Heart Attack

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mayor Frank T. Tobey, 64, died yesterday before he could start a reelection campaign in which his successful plan to halt the Dixon-Yates power plant promised to be an issue.

His announced opponent, former Mayor S. Watkins Overton, a Dixon-Yates foe, has criticized Tobey's action to build a municipal generating plant rather than accept private power through TVA lines.

Tobey was stricken with a heart attack last Wednesday. He slipped into a coma Saturday and never regained consciousness.

With Tobey's death, Overton is rated a strong contender. He declined comment on whether he can or will change the city's present power plans if elected.

MISS AMERICA SAYS Way Of Thinking Is Key To Success

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A teen-ager from Colorado who refuses to get flustered and yearns to be an actress topped her newly crowned Miss America 1955 crown today with the outlook: "If you think success, then success will come to you."

The titan-tressed coed—18-year-old Sharon Kay Ritchie—has a philosophy to help her through the exciting yearlong tour that lies ahead.

"There's no use getting fussed," says Sharon, who entered the pageant as Miss Colorado. "If you look for the best, you'll receive the best."

Sharon, who taught Sunday school in the First Christian Church at Grand Island, Neb., where she lived most of her life, went to New York City last night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest A. Ritchie.

In her first formal interview with newsmen after her Saturday night triumph over 48 other competitors, she said the crown goes to the girl who keeps cool, calm and collected.

A sophomore at Colorado Women's College, she said she had her eye on the Miss America title since she was 8.

She wants to be an actress and plans to study at the Pasadena (Calif.) Playhouse.

She is 5 feet 6, weighs 116 pounds and measures 25-25-35 at the bust, waist and hips.

Sharon, in gaining the crown from her Miss America predecessor, Lee Ann Meriwether of San Francisco, is in line for $50,000 in prizes and personal appearance fees.

She says she has no romantic entanglements.

Second spot honors in the Miss America 1955 race went to Miss Oregon, Dorothy Mae Johnson of Portland. Florence Gallagher, Miss Chicago, placed third.

Army Economy Protest Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army, like the Air Force and Navy before it, is sending a mission to Michigan, and his No. 1 military aide of Defense Wilson why it shouldn't be hit by the administration economy hatchet.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker, former governor of Michigan, and his No. 1 military aide, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, are to arrive in Detroit Tuesday on the way home from a brief Western inspection trip.

There they will see the vacationing Wilson, and probably be joined also by Deputy Secretary of Defense Reuben B. Robertson.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas and Secretary of Air Donald Quarles have held similar meetings with Wilson, as the result of service worry over persistent reports that further spending cuts in the present fiscal year may be insisted upon.

Robertson, pressed by questions and harried by criticism from Democratic quarters on Capitol Hill, put out a formal statement that Pentagon spending during the year ending next June 30 is "still expected to be approximately 34 billion dollars as originally estimated" last January.

Why You Pay More For Beer

For the third time since 1950, a state tax increase on beer—this one effective Sept. 6—has been levied by the Legislature to provide additional money for old age pensions, the public schools, farm-to-market roads, aid to the blind and to needy children, and for retired teachers' pensions.

As a result, Texans can expect to pay a penny per bottle more for beer.

The last Legislature raised the beer tax from $2 a barrel to $4.30. The federal tax is $9 a barrel.

R. O. (Bob) Smith, executive director of the Wholesale Beer Distributors of Texas, said recently that state and federal taxes combined represent approximately 52 per cent of the cost of producing a barrel of beer as a result of this latest increase.

Approximately $3,000,000 of the increased beer tax revenue will be used to help pay the $7,000,000 a year increase in old age pensions voted by the Legislature.

Just last year, the beer tax had been increased 63 cents per barrel to help pay higher teachers' salaries. In 1950, the tax on beer was increased 10 per cent at a special session called by the Governor to provide badly-needed money for state hospitals.

The beer drinkers of Texas pay $48,300 each day into the State Treasury. Of the total beer tax revenue collected through the end of last year and since the repeal of prohibition, $23,896,190.91 was used for the public schools, $477,839.10 for the needy blind, $2,102,134.26 for farm-to-market roads, $3,877,971.32 for teachers' retirement, $28,896,190.91 for old age pensions, $1,351,847.31 for needy children and $24,974,473.82 for other state purposes.

Last year, the $2 per barrel tax brought $8,000,000 into the State Treasury. The State Comptroller estimates that the new tax will raise $16,249,440 in 1956 and $17,630,439 in 1957.

"These estimates, of course, are based on the premise that sales will continue at the present rate after the tax increase goes into effect," Smith said. "There is always danger that any price increase will cause people to buy less beer than they have been buying. That, of course, would decrease the anticipated tax revenue."

"The history of the beer industry shows that beer sales are extremely sensitive to price increases. There have been times when tax increases resulted in loss of tax revenue through greatly-decreased sales."

Smith said the new state tax will amount to 18 per cent of the production value of beer—the highest production tax, percentage-wise on any product manufactured in Texas.

One-fourth of the beer tax goes into the State's available school fund. Three-fourths goes into the Omnibus Tax Fund, from which old-age pensions, assistance to the blind and to dependent children, farm-to-market road costs, teacher retirement and foundation school program costs are paid.

In addition to the $4.30 per barrel tax on beer, the State collects approximately $664,000 each year from the sale of wine and beer permits.

The other two tax increases voted by the Legislature this year also will bring the State additional revenue from the beer industry. Beer distributors alone, Smith said would pay an estimated $50,000 a year in franchise taxes—aside from the large amount that will be paid by the breweries. The distributors' 2,000 trucks and 800 business automobiles, according to a survey made by the Wholesale Beer Distributors of Texas, will use about 5,000,000 gallons of gasoline, on which they will pay an estimated $250,000 in state taxes.

Smith said that his group believes the State should make a comprehensive study of the entire state tax structure, in an effort to equalize tax burdens among the various industries.

"Tax rates for some industries are extremely high and yet they are extremely low for other industries," he said. "There are some that pay no state taxes at all. We are hopeful that the tax study which the Legislature directed the Legislative Council to undertake will be all-inclusive and that it will arm the Legislature with the facts it needs in order to equalize the tax burden."

The new state tax increase will raise to $1.00 the amount of combined state and federal taxes on each case of beer sold in Texas.

"We are hopeful that the necessary penny-a-bottle increase in the cost of beer will not decrease sales," Smith said. "Approximately 150,000 Texans earn their livelihood from the beer industry. Any major decrease in sales might seriously affect the living standards of a half a million Texans."

A SEAL-AND A PLEDGE...

Starting today every loaf of Mrs. Baird's Bread will bear the end-seal shown above.

Over the signature of Mrs. Ninnie Baird it displays the pledge: "Our Best For You - Every Day."

• The seal is new; the thought expressed in the pledge is not. Mrs. Baird was determined to bake her best when she baked her first loaves in 1908. As the years passed and her sons and their sons joined her in the business they were equally determined to bake the best. • Good equipment, good plants and fast delivery were not enough. Others could duplicate these. But no one could duplicate the Baird family's devotion to an ideal - to bake their very best today, then to try in every way to make tomorrow's loaf even better. That has been done by family supervision of every day's baking . . . by personally testing and comparing quality every day. • That is how, through the years, the Baird family has baked "Our Best For You - Every Day." Now every loaf of Mrs. Baird's Bread is sealed with that pledge. It is your assurance of bread at its very best today, tomorrow . . . every day.

People Are Still Most Important

Red China is in the process of releasing more Americans who have been held captive inside the country. The announcement made over the weekend came as the result of a series of conferences between ambassadors of the two nations, and apparently more than the mere exchange of nationals is involved.

First to be released under the new program will be those against whom the Chinese say no charges have been made or who have not been imprisoned for alleged offenses against Red China. They are, in short, the people who have had China rather than a jail for a prison. At the same time, China has asked that its nationals inside of the United States be allowed to return home, and it will come as something of a surprise to most of us to learn that there are those inside the U. S. who wanted to go back to China but could not. Actually, this is a face-saving device for the Chinese, who, according to most evidence, were anxious to force the return of some of their nationals against their will. This is why the mediatory services of other countries have been designated in accomplishing repatriation. It could work to our advantage, too, in that it will deprive the Reds of propaganda in saying that their people are virtual prisoners in the United States. Perhaps neutrals will be able to establish that most of them do not want to go home.

Whatever else is involved, one of the most important things is that several of our citizens may be free to rejoin their loved ones. Individual people are still most important to us.

A New Investment In Humanity

Dedication of two new ward buildings at the Big Spring State Hospital today marks a significant milestone in the mission of treatment and care for this institution. The additions mean that the hospital will be able to care for substantially larger number—almost twice as many. It is more than a vain hope that they will increase the effectiveness of efforts to help patients who come to this hospital.

This is not to say that the number of quality buildings constitute a measuring stick for how well a mental hospital accomplishes its objective. But far more than most seem to realize, the physical facilities do play a vital factor in how patients react. Overcrowding has long been one of the cardinal problems of the state's mental hospital program, for supplying of adequate facilities and staff have not kept pace with an almost alarming increase in mental disorders and maladjustments.

All too frequently, some patients were retarded or actually hindered in their progress toward restoration or recovery. When hospitals are obliged to accommodate ever increasing numbers without corresponding increase in staff and facilities, they become places in which people are sheltered and fed until their course runs out.

In recent years there has been a gradual gain in staff at the hospital here. Now, with more buildings, some of the overcrowding in other units may be relieved so that treatments may become more efficient. Whatever this community can do to work hand in hand with staff members in improving morale and happiness of the patients we should certainly do. These new units represent a new investment in humanity, and we need to regard them as such.

Guess We're Just Cowards

HOLLYWOOD — Let's face it, men, we don't have the courage to throw off the shackles of our stupid hot-weather clothing.

This became evident in a query of male stars during the sixtieth hot spell in local history. They were asked how they felt about Bermuda shorts.

The wily English, who have given the world Chaucer, Churchill and Commander Whitehead, also contributed the short trouser for wear in beastly weather. No, the Boy Scouts had nothing to do with it, Mabel.

Whether in the steaming jungles of the Congo or the sun-baked beaches of the Bahamas, the sensible Briton wears pants cut an inch above the knee — no higher, mind you; "would be vulgar. And what do we cousins in the colonies do? We walk around in 100-degree heat with long wool pants hugging our legs.

You'd think that film stars, traditional style setters, would strike a blow for freedom of the American male. I corraled William Holden and Dewey Martin and asked them what they thought about Bermuda shorts.

Said Holden: "I think they're wonderful in Bermuda."

Added Martin: "I like them a lot — on girls."

The cowards. And there they were on a 110-degree day wearing long pants, shirts, ties, coats, etc. No pioneer spirit there.

How about George Gobel? Surely he'd be enough of an individualist. I wandered to the "Birds and the Bees" set, and what do you know? There was Lonesome George in shorts. Of course, it was a jungle scene for the picture, but there was hope.

"How do you feel about wearing shorts, George?"

"Oh, I'm all for them. But I wouldn't wear them long socks with 'em. You need all the freedom you can get."

"Would you wear shorts in public?"

"Well, not hardly. I wear 'em around the house and maybe to play golf now and then. But I don't think I'd wear 'em out and around."

Surely, I thought, Humphrey Bogart would be my pigeon. The Old Curmudgeon. The railier at stupidity. I called him.

"Hello Bogart? How do you feel about wearing shorts?"

"Not me, old boy. My knees are not for human consumption. Knobby, you know."

So I return to the office in disappointment, watching the cowards sweating in ties, shirts and long pants. One of the fellows has been urging me to pioneer the Bermuda shorts myself. I have declined.

No courage, either.

New TV Show Announced

HOLLYWOOD — One of the new shows entering the fall TV sweepstakes is an item called Crusader. The title role is not played by a knight in armor, but by a free-lance writer in a business suit.

The crusader will be Brian Keith, the handsome actor who made a hit in the movie "Tight Spot." He'll play a magazine author who roams the world in search of stories about refugees and displaced persons.

Producer Dick Lewis admits it is unusual, but he thinks the public will go for the idea.

"I think there has been a growing acceptance for drama with a documentary flavor," said Lewis, a young veteran of the radio and TV scene. "You see that in movies like 'On the Waterfront,' which was semi-documentary in treatment. And you see it in TV shows like 'Dragnet' and 'Medic.'

"We have a wealth of material to choose from. Some of our stories concern escapes from Iron Curtain countries or Russia itself. Some are about people who are removed from their homes. There is a great deal of excitement in such tales.

"There is the added quality of reality. All of the stories are true. We have gotten wonderful cooperation from governmental agencies, religious groups and other organizations that deal with refugees.

"I think this show can do a lot of good in this country. After all, we will be letting 250,000 persons into this country by the end of 1956. It is important that we know their problems."

The filmed show will appear on CBS Friday nights. Incidentally, this may be an indication of TV's power: Brian Keith has a two-picture-a-year deal with Columbia Pictures, but the Crusader series takes priority on his services.

PHILADELPHIA — Did you ever see a lizard chomping on a mouthful of flowers?

At the Philadelphia Zoo there are two recent reptile arrivals who eat nothing else, making their daily banquet out of their favorite dish, heads of zinnias and other flowers.

Keeper Edward Endy at first tried giving them ground meat, eggs and insects but the 18-inch long spring-tailed lizards refused such reptile delicacies.

Then Endy tried lettuce but the fat chunky animals would do no more than politely nibble at the keeper's fare. Finally he came up with the heads of zinnias and they have been eating them with gusto ever since.

Why Do Some Vote A Straight Ticket?

WASHINGTON — Do you know why you're a Democrat or a Republican — at least to the point of saying precisely what makes the two parties truly different?

This doesn't apply to the independent voter who shifts from election to election, making his choice on individuals and issues, but to the voter who regularly votes a Democratic or Republican ticket.

In a 2,500-word talk last Saturday in Denver to the 48 Republican state chairmen, President Eisenhower attempted to explain why Republicans should be able to go out with fervor to line up new recruits for the party.

The President said a political party should be held together by a common faith, a common conviction. The Republicans, he said, "could be held together by a use."

He said: "Just remember the cause for which you are working is to do for the people those things which they cannot do for themselves, or so well do, but we are not going to interfere with those things which are the proper province of the individual."

This was a return to the Republicans' theme in the 1952 elections when, among other things, they complained there was too much government interference under the Democrats.

Democrats, reading Eisenhower's remarks, may feel he wasn't very precise. They'd probably argue: "We're as much against unnecessary government interference as the Republicans."

As evidence that the final judges — the people themselves — don't think the Democrats interfere too much, the latter might point to the 1954 elections in which the Democrats were returned to control of Congress.

A person watching both parties from a distance — across the oceans or the borders — must often be puzzled by what the Democrats and Republicans claim are their differences.

The Democrats have protested for years, and are still doing it, that the Republicans are the party of big business. But under the Democrats big business continued to get bigger.

For years the Republicans saw "creeping socialism" in Democratic programs. But, although both parties insist on their belief in free enterprise, neither apparently believes in it absolutely.

Both parties — through their support for tariffs to protect American businesses, subsidies, particularly for the farmers, and other help and controls — admit enterprise cannot be completely free and, in some cases, can't survive that way.

For years the Republicans had few kind words for what they called the "welfare state" philosophy of the Democrats. But when they took over they not only did not repeal a single piece of the Roosevelt-Truman social legislation, but even added some improvements—for instance, in boosting social security payments and coverage.

It would be helpful to the voters in the 1956 elections if Democrats and Republicans explained in precise and unmistakable terms what they claim makes them different even though, to a foreigner, they might still look like twins.

Hal Boyle
Plenty Of Frontiersmen

NEW YORK — American industry today has more frontiersmen than the old Far West ever knew.

These Davy Crocketts of the business world are pioneers with a new idea or a new product to sell.

Nate Halpern, who dresses and looks more like Clark Gable than ole rifle-totin' Davy, at 40 is the founder and chief promoter of a new multi-million-dollar offsprung of the video industry called big-screen closed-circuit television.

"It's a terribly long name for a basically simple thing," he admitted.

Halpern, president of Theatre Network Television, Inc., isn't interested in the nonpaying home-viewing TV spectator. He sets up networks over phone lines which enable him to:

1. Televise to paying theater audiences big sports and special entertainment events too costly for any advertiser to sponsor. Example: The Marciano-Moore fight, which Halpern predicts will draw "the first million-dollar TV box office gate in history."
2. Replace expensive business conventions, which cost some firms up to a million dollars a year.

It is as a new tool for business communication that Halpern expects closed circuit television to make its greatest success.

"It is estimated that businessmen spend 45 million dollars a year on transportation alone going to conventions, and an additional 216 million for room rentals, meals and entertainment," he observed.

Halpern doesn't expect to destroy the tradition of conventions—"people always need to meet each other face to face"—but in many cases he feels closed circuit TV can do the job better and cheaper, particularly for giant corporations.

"A convention may take up the time of top executives for days or even weeks," he said. "Over a TV closed circuit, management can get over its messages to all its employees or stockholders in a few hours."

Last June over a TNT network which he set up, Sun Oil Co. executives introduced and demonstrated a new kind of gasoline in a one-hour program to 14,000 dealers gathered in 27 hotel ballrooms, two theaters and one auditorium in 30 cities.

Other closed circuit networks organized by Halpern have enabled him to:

- Televise 16 championship fights.
- Give a citywide examination to teachers for the New York City Board of Education.
- Brief doctors in 40 cities simultaneously in the use of a new drug firm product.
- Televise three performances of the Metropolitan Opera.

Help a large corporation hold its largest shareholders' meeting.

Demonstrate to salesmen and scattered factory workers a new electronic brain built by the International Business Machines Corp.

Halpern, who himself is almost as tall as a TV antenna, once housed basketballs for the University of California.

He went on to Harvard law school, became a Navy ensign, served as a psychological warfare specialist on Gen. Eisenhower's SHAEF staff in Paris.

In 1948 he quit a top job as assistant to Bill Paley, head man at CBS, to gamble on the unexplored field of closed-circuit television. Halpern takes no credit for originating the idea.

"Theoretical engineers talked of its possibilities as long ago as 1947," he said. "All I did was put the idea into effect."

There are now five or six closed-circuit TV firms in the field, but Halpern, who predicts the industry annual income, so far has remained dominant.

Some of his friends regard Nate as something of a renegade from regular commercial TV, but he says:

"We don't hurt either ordinary TV or the movies. We simply give the public and business a new medium they never had before."

If You Could Do It All Over Again

Don't construe this as a last will and testament. It isn't. But, if I had it all to do over again, there'd be some changes made.

For one thing, I'd have learned to play the piano — if only to have seen the people laugh before I sat down.

I'd have started keeping a diary long years before I did, if only to look back on some of the foolish decisions I've made.

I'd have saved more money — and I've always been known as a fellow close with a buck. Once, in Cleveland, 700 miles away from my destination and hitch-hiking, I had 15 cents in my jeans.

I'd have bought some land sometime, somewhere. Things and times change, but the land will always be there.

I'd have neutralized the effect of my most embarrassing moments, secure in the knowledge that they happen to everyone and are, I suppose, a necessary part of life.

I'd have written more letters — I always like to get them but find it quite a task to put one word after another.

I'd learn the French language, not because I ever expect to live in a Paris garret but because I look upon it as the world's most beautiful language.

I'd put more stock in that old saying, "You have two ears and one mouth, so listen twice as much as you talk." A fellow who keeps his trap shut is often taken for a wise man.

I'd strive to worry less over personal matters — worry, they say, is rust on the blade and nine-tenths of the things you worry about never come to pass.

I'd conceal the clinks in my own armor more but less for the shortcomings of others.

I might have become a salesman. They say it is the world's greatest and most gratifying profession.

I'd have spent more time in foreign lands if only to gain a deeper appreciation of my own.

I'd have gotten closer to nature and developed a more profound love for the soil.

David Lawrence
Cut Down On Arms, Only If There's Peace

WASHINGTON — It's curious what a difference just a few weeks make in world affairs. The point of view of some of those folks who in July were hailing the Geneva conference as inaugurating a period of almost Utopian peace is now, in September, one of apprehension and caution.

Articles of warning are being published in the press, and some members of Congress are saying that perhaps Geneva didn't bring peace and what a terrible mistake it would be to cut the defense budget as Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has proposed doing. It is being urged that America should be careful not to be lulled into a sense of false security and that cutting the arms budget is premature and dangerous.

But, logically, if all the optimistic statements and comments made after the Geneva conference meant anything, they meant that a curtailment of arms expenses was inevitable. For of what avail are weapons that grow obsolete and are never used?

Not only in America but in Britain and France such questions are being asked, and the western world is face to face with the effect of the risks taken when the top leaders began fraternizing with the Soviet chieftains in Switzerland less than two months ago.

Even the politicians inside this country are beginning to grow puzzled as to how to handle the Geneva issue. Governor Harriman of New York, Democrat, who used to be American ambassador to Moscow and feels he has a right to draw on his experiences there, sounded a cautious note about the Communists which wasn't taken too seriously at the time. This was because his opponent for the Democratic presidential nomination, former Governor Stevenson, had come out in favor of compromise and bargaining. Some Democratic orators even went so far as to contend that, but for their prodding, President Eisenhower wouldn't have gone to Geneva. They were prepared to take the credit if Geneva came out all right but equally eager to impose the blame on the Republicans if the aftermath became somewhat unfavorable.

The Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, who isn't supposed to be a politician, yet who is by all odds the most farseeing and astute of the present-day professionals in diplomacy — was criticized by some of the appeasers because he didn't exude the same kind of enthusiasm about Geneva that some of the wishful thinkers did.

When President Eisenhower shortly afterward used some strong words in his speech to the American Bar Association

Indicating that he, too, was beginning to be somewhat skeptical about possible results, there came at once a criticism from the appeasers that he was weakening the effect of the Geneva conference. Soviet newspapers, always eager to print anything that drives a wedge between the President and his advisers and to give the impression of wavering and fluctuation in American policy, reproduced the criticisms and, without comment of their own, let American critics tell the story to the Soviet people. That's a favorite device, and the moral is not to ask the critics to refrain from criticism just because the Soviet press picks it up but to ask them to make sure first whether the Soviet phrases at Geneva had any meaning worth exalting as genuinely peaceful intent.

What has happened at Geneva is what any realist would have expected. The "cold war" has been intensified in other areas of the world. Trouble has been stimulated in North Africa. The government of Turkey, our ally, announces that riots and disturbances were instigated there by the Communists on account of the Cyprus affair. It is easy enough to dismiss all this as the usual stunt of the Communists of fishing in troubled waters or to argue that, of course, in most of these places the Communists have been outlawed as a political party. What haven't been exterminated, however, are the Soviet espionage rings — their means of making contact with the fussy-minded in many countries who are so easily duped by the Soviet agents and their fellow travelers.

In America, ever since the McCarthy debacle, there has been a tendency to view investigations of Communist activity and to try to squelch the issue but, thanks to the blunders of the "Fund for the Republic," the issue now is looking up again and public interest may again be focused on the intrigues which enabled Alger Hiss to formulate policy in the Department of State and Maclean and Burgess in the British Foreign Office, even as Klaus Fuchs was speeding up for Soviet Russia the development of nuclear weapons.

Wishful thinkers have imagined that Geneva portends an era of peace. If it does, then they must not oppose arms reduction — they certainly can't have it both ways. As for those who believed from the beginning that Geneva was just a propaganda affair — in which America played an effective part in offsetting Soviet claims that the United States is a "warmonger" — and that no issues would really be settled, these observers logically and consistently can oppose arms reduction, and they will.

WASHINGTON — The subject today is electronic honesty, or can you steal what you can't even touch?

Our expert on this subject is Milton J. Stapp, the young fellow who brought television to towns where TV couldn't be received. What he did was erect a super antenna in each city and run the signals to his subscribers by wires tacked to telephone poles.

He now has more than 400 of these community antenna systems in operation and his Jerrold Electronics Corp., of Philadelphia, which builds the amplifiers, is big business.

So there was Stapp at the age of 36 in 1948 installing one of his first systems in a Pennsylvania town.

"We soon learned that the cables on the poles were leaking the signals in the air," he said. "The citizens also learned this and many of them began getting free service by erecting their own aerials as close to our wires as they could."

The problem was to get these robbers to quit swiping his TV service. He put signs on his cables near each of the too-close antennas, saying "Thou shalt not steal." They weren't much help. The local newspaper put on a campaign, saying if the folks insisted on stealing the product, they'd lose it altogether. This did no good either.

"We discovered that a double-shielded cable was better," said Stapp.

And that is why Stapp figures the three schemes — Zenith, Skiatron and Tele-meter — to bring pay-as-you-see TV to the living room never will work. These scramble the signal and the idea is you pay to get it unscrambled.

"It is possible to break any of these scrambled codes with ridiculous ease," he said. "Let such a system be adopted and I predict what bootleg entertainment will enter the living rooms across the land."

The sponsors of the three systems, all seeking Federal Communication Commission approval to go ahead with charging for movies in the parlor, insist Stapp is talking through his resistors. Each group claims that its particular picture scrambler is thief-proof.

So Stapp demanded that the FCC order them to bring their systems to Philadelphia, where he has a TV station lined up to broadcast some scrambles. "I'll show 'em how easy it is to unscramble these codes," he said. "Repair men across the land could do it. So could any number of youngsters who've played with ham radios."

Stapp isn't being exactly unselfish about all this. This is after all, a capitalistic country. He figures the only way to collect for TV shows is to deliver 'em to the customers by way of his thief-proof, double-shielded cables. Then he could bill the clients every time they touched the switch.

The battle among the TV folks on whether television ought to be supported by advertisers, as of now, or by viewers who'd pay a fee for shows seen, is one too bloody the head of an FCC commissioner.

The stakes are enormous. Most estimates indicate that if pay TV became a reality, it would be a $4,000,000,000 annual business. That's a prize worth fighting for and the melee is beginning to get rough.

I trust all concerned will keep me out of the fray. I'm neutral. I have a TV set and I don't care much whether the performances on the giant screen cost extra, or whether the pay comes from the blonde lady peddling iceboxes. I won't be turning it on much, either way.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

TV Singer Improved Eyelashes, Fingernails

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Doris Drew is a busy young lady these days, singing her songs and lending glamour to both the Tennessee Ernie Ford radio and television shows. "I love television," Doris said with her cute southern accent as we talked on the set at NBC-TV. "How did you like yourself on TV the first time?" I inquired. "I thought I looked simply horrible," was her reply. "My eye make-up was all wrong. I have naturally long lashes and after I had curled them and covered them with mascara it was just too much." "They are long," I agreed. "How do you make the grow?" "I brush them with vaseline," she told me. "It keeps them from breaking off at the ends. Mascara has a very drying effect and vaseline seems to counteract it." Doris held up her pretty hands. "Do you want to know how I make my fingernails grow?" she volunteered. "They used to break very easily until I began strengthening them with five coats of polish. The first two coats are really base coats, two are polish and one a top coat. For the first time in years my nails are long." "Is that the whole secret?" I wanted to know. "Not exactly, I take gelatin in grape juice because I heard this was a sure way to stop nails from splitting and breaking and I must confess it seems to have helped me. "Any other beauty secrets?" I asked. "I can think of one very important one. I've increased my bust measurement an inch by exercising with dumb bells," she offered. "It's very simple. Here's the way it's done. "Working with two-and-a-half-pound weights, lie on your back and bring your outstretched arms up and down slowly, first to the side then over your head. You have to work slowly in order to build muscle and not too long at a time. The trick is to be faithful and work a little every day," Doris advised.

NEED MORE FEMININE OUTLINE?

Try Doris' exercise if you want to improve your bust measurements. But if you'd like more information on this subject, why not order a copy of leaflet M-12, "Exercises for Developing the Breasts." Here you'll find special routines to help you develop a fuller bosom and a firm but feminine outline. Get your copy by sending only 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Ex-Resident Is Victim Of Fire; Rites Tuesday

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday from the Bradley-Hunt Funeral Home in Muskogee, Okla., for Mrs. George R. French, former Big Spring resident who died in a Dallas fire Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. French, 43, was burned to death in a fire that destroyed the family home at 6464 Brookshire Drive in Dallas.

Firemen found her body on the living room floor. Apparently she was trying to get out of the house when she fell face down on the floor. Cause of the fire had not been determined, but it apparently started in the den of the home, firemen said.

Mrs. French was alone at the time of the fire. Her husband was away on a dove hunt, a 14-year-old daughter was visiting with a friend and another daughter, nurse at the Parkland Hospital in Dallas, was at work.

Mr. and Mrs. French lived in Big Spring from 1941 to August, 1948, when he was promoted to division superintendent at Alexandria, La. He was made director of personnel for the T&P about 1950 and the family moved to Dallas.

He was assistant superintendent of the western division of the T&P when they lived in Big Spring. Both Mr. and Mrs. French were active in community affairs here. They only recently sold their home at 100 Lincoln to Frank Sabbato.

U.S. Mercury Continues Drop

Temperatures continued to drop over most of the eastern third of the nation today as the leading edge of a cool air mass moved into the middle and north Atlantic states.

The cool air also reached into the western fringes of the south Atlantic states.

Readings in the upper Mississippi Valley and northern Great Lakes region held in the 30s early today. Grantsburg, Wis., however, recorded a chilly 28.

A warming trend in the Northern Plains hiked temperatures an average of 20 degrees. A heat wave, meanwhile, continued to grip the Southwest, Yuma, Ariz., and El Centro, Calif., recorded yesterday's highest reading, 112.

Light rains moistened parts of New England today while scattered showers and thunderstorms pelted the Gulf Coast region.

16 Die In Quake In Nile Delta Area

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—An earthquake shook the Nile Delta today. At least 16 persons died, including eight children, crushed to death in a panic at a girls' school here.

Reports trickling in from other parts of the Delta boosted the number of injured to 26. An interior ministry communique said everything was back to normal at mid-afternoon, and that public assistance services had gone into operation.

Installation Of Line Blocks Scurry Today

Scurry Street at the Tenth Street intersection was blocked off this morning as construction of a new water line moved toward Lancaster.

Traffic is being routed around by Main or Gregg until the 16-inch pipe is laid under the street. Construction on Main was completed Saturday and the street reopened. Scurry will probably be reopened by Wednesday.

The pipeline is a connecting link between two main water lines serving the city.

Pistol Theft Charged

Theft charges have been filed in County Court against Floyd Sherman of Big Spring. He is accused of stealing a pistol last Friday.

SLATED TO APPEAR

Heiress' Mother Said Unaware Of Daughter's Abortion Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A noted psychiatrist said Mrs. Gertrude Silver doesn't admit her daughter, heiress Doris Jean Silver Ostreicher, is dead and will appear in court today without being aware she is accused of being an accessory to a criminal abortion.

Dr. Abraham M. Ornstein, head of the neurological department and professor of clinical neurology at the University of Pennsylvania, said:

"Her appearance in court can aggravate her mental illness and she is being forced to appear against my wishes."

The physician said he visited Mrs. Silver last night with her attorney, Thomas D. McBride. He said he explained the charges to her and told her she would have to be in City Hall Police Court for a hearing at 2 p. m. (EDT) today.

"Her confusion is such that we never got the idea across to her."

She doesn't realize what it's all about," Dr. Ornstein said. "He said that Mrs. Silver didn't know what McBride meant when he said he was representing her."

"She doesn't even admit her daughter is dead," he said. Mrs. Ostreicher, 22-year-old beauty of suburban Melrose Park, died Aug. 24 in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz. Her mother was in the apartment at the time.

After an inquest, the city medical examiner, Dr. Melville J. Aston, ruled the girl died of a criminal abortion. He said "foreign bodies were inserted in the uterine cavity which entered the blood stream and thence to the lungs and produced death by asphyxiation, collapse of the lungs and overwhelming shock."

Meanwhile, Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash said today he now expects to be able to prove that the girl died "within a matter of minutes" after the foreign substances were introduced into her body. The time element is regarded as the key to the entire case. It was stated at the Sept. 2 inquest that death occurred within an hour or two, or less, after introduction of the substances.

Dash said the commonwealth probably will present testimony and witnesses even if Mrs. Silver waives the hearing. Dr. Ornstein told city officials that "being forced to listen to a repetition of the tragedy in the courtroom is adding insult to injury and cause even deeper depression to Mrs. Silver."

Mrs. Silver is the only one charged by Dash in the investigation. She is accused specifically with conspiracy and with being an accessory before the fact of an abortion.

Ike In Favor Of More Studying

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower says America's youth ought to spend more time studying in this "complicated" age. He advocates lengthening regular high school and college courses to perhaps five years.

And he also suggests that older folks are being required to retire from their jobs too early in life. That practice, he declared with a hearty laugh yesterday, may lead to "a revolution of old men and I am going to be in it."

In that light note, maybe there was—and maybe there wasn't—a hint that he regards himself as still too young to pass up bidding for a second term. He will be 65 Oct. 14.

The President expressed his views on education and retirement during an inspection of the temporary headquarters of the new Air Force Academy at Lowry Air Base here.

He was chatting informally with Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, academy superintendent and a 1915 classmate at West Point. The chief executive—who learned about education problems as president of Columbia University—took a deep interest in the new academy's study curriculum.

He remarked to Harmon that "when we were kids" a four-year high school education generally sufficed as a preparation for dealing with life's problems.

"But with this complicated life we've got now," he said, "how in the heck do we expect to educate people properly with the same number of years in high school and college?"

He suggested it would be a good idea to keep an open mind about the possibility of making the Air Force Academy course five years instead of four, as now planned.

The talk about retirement came after the President had remarked that medical science in some cases is outstripping progress in other fields. He said people are living longer nowadays, but that generally they still are being required to retire at the same age as before—60 to 65.

Robert Allen Meeks, 1001 Broad, and Don Arlen Royalty, Abilene, were drivers of cars involved in an accident at Third and Scurry. No injuries or major damage was reported. It occurred about 9:30 p. m. Saturday.

Lopez And Tribe Feeling Mighty Good About Outlook

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The league-leading Cleveland Indians were in Washington today, sitting squarely in the driver's seat and not even the sight of their season-long jinx team could scare Manager Al Lopez and his band of happy warriors.
Although no one would dare say so publicly, the Cleveland players feel the American League flag is as good as theirs now—barring an unforeseen collapse. And that's the farthest thing from their minds.
Yesterday's lead-saving split in New York, thanks to a winning eighth-inning rally in the nightcap, preserved their 1 1/2-game advantage over the Yankees and left them in an envious position with only 11 games left, none with the Yankees.
The Yanks lost the second game 3-2 after winning the opener 6-1. The second game loss was the bitterest blow of the year suffered by Yankee Manager Casey Stengel. He was a picture of gloom. "You can't win a pennant by splitting four games with your two-

Schoolboy Leaders Face Strong Tests

The Associated Press
Phillips, Terrell, Sulphur Springs, Killen, Weslaco, Nederland and Breckenridge stand in early returns from the Class AAA division of Texas schoolboy football.
They'll get strong tests this week to see if they are going to stand up.
Phillips, the defending champion, ran over Southeast of Oklahoma City 45-0 in its opening game. It now takes on Childress, which swiped Paducah, a Class A power, 33-13.
Terrell nosed a good Ends team 7-6 and meets Athens Friday night. Athens gave strong West a battle before losing 33-19.
Sulphur Springs, which topped Greenville of Class AAA 20-14, takes on Paris, another AAA outfit opening the season.
Killen, generally regarded as the power of the South, takes on University of Waco, Killen in cracked Gatesville 26-7 while University, an AAA team, was being trimmed by AA Cameron 14-6.
Nederland was probably the most impressive of all the outfits last week. This team rushed past AAA Port Neches 34-6 in an awesome show of power. Nederland gets Jasper, 47-0 victory over Class A Newton.
Weslaco, which whipped AAA McAllen 13-2 last week, tests Harlingen, another AAA outfit, Friday.
Breckenridge, which is considered the team to beat in the north—and that includes Phillips-lashed AAA Snyder 14-7. Breckenridge has its work really cut out for it this week. The Buckaroos play Wichita Falls, the Class AAAA powerhouse that opened the season with a 28-6 conquest of AAA Vernon.
There'll be one international game—Huntsville journeys to Anchorage, Alaska, to play Saturday.
All told there will be 123 games in Class AAA this week. The schedule by districts (all games Friday unless indicated otherwise):
1. Pampa at Canyon, Orosman, Okla. at Dalhart, Duster at Palo Duro, Littlefield at Hereford, Perryton at Canadian, Childress at Phillips, Wellington at Shamrock.

Longhorns Lacking In Usual 'Prestige' Rating This Year

This is another in a series discussing Southwest Conference football prospects.
AUSTIN (AP)—With less prestige than at any time within the last 15 years, the University of Texas heads into the football campaign hopeful of being on the pleasant end of the Saturday surprises for which the Southwest is noted.
Texas was ranked fourth by the experts this year, the lowest pre-season rating since 1940, when the Longhorns were tabbed for the same spot.
Texas' lack of stature this season may be blamed on last year's disappointments. The 1954 team dipped below .500 in full season and Southwest Conference play, first Texas eleven since 1938 to suffer that ignominy.
Less than half of last year's 32 lettermen — 15 to be exact — return to coach Ed Fritch. That is the smallest number of experienced personnel he has had at his command since taking over as head coach in 1951.
The shortage of seasoned manpower is felt keenly at tackle and fullback, both affected by graduation of 1954's two leading performers.
All-conference performer, Buck Lansford, left a big vacancy at left tackle by his graduation. Departing with him was Billy Quinn, the squad's leading ball-carrier.
Herbert Gray, one of the league's top linemen, played the other tack-

Ward Doesn't Like Top Role In Amateur Steers Will Bear Down On Defense

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Harvie Ward Jr. shunned the favorite's role today as the 55th National Amateur Golf Tournament began exactly a quarter of a century since Bobby Jones scored his unprecedented grand slam.
Ward plainly didn't approve of the fact that many of the field of 200 in this blue ribbon classic have put the finger on him as the man to beat.
"I've never gotten past the fourth round," he said. "I seem to be jinxed in this tournament, and I don't like to predict anything for myself in this one."
Then the North Carolina native now playing out of San Francisco quickly began to rattle off a handful of players he thinks have a better chance to come out on top in Saturday's 36-hole final. Finally he narrowed his choices down to five, including Don Bishophoff, Doug Sanders, Hillman Robbins, ex-champion Joe Conrad and wisecracking Billy Joe Patton.
Still it was Ward, 1952 British Amateur champion, who turned in what probably were the most consistent tuneup rounds over the Country Club of Virginia's toughened James River course, a 6,713-yard, par-70 collection of rolling hills, narrow fairways and exacting greens.
Ward, playing the course for the first time Saturday, fashioned a 68. Yesterday, he scored a 68.
Bobby Jones told the contestants at a banquet Saturday night that "some of you might say it's impossible to win the National Amateur."
"Well, I think it is... but somebody will do it."

ONE GAME AWAY Sports Set Pace In T-L Playoffs

The Associated Press
Shreveport had San Antonio backed to the wall Monday as the two clubs journeyed back to San Antonio to wind up their Texas League playoff series.
Houston had Dallas one-down as these two tried to get in another game at Houston in the face of rainy conditions.
Shreveport captured a slugfest over San Antonio to lead 3-2 and if Shreveport can whip the Missions again Monday night, it will be in the playoff finals.
Houston, holding a 2-1 edge over Dallas, fiddled Sunday away when rain caused postponement of the fourth game. The Buffs will send Bob Mabe, a 16-10 pitcher during the season, to the mound to make his first appearance in the playoffs. Dallas will rely on John (Red) Murf, its 27-game winner who lost in his only appearance in the playoffs.
Ev Joyner paced a 13-hit Shreveport assault as the Sports triumphed in the Sunday game. He tripped a 3-run homer and Les Fleming parked the ball with one on base to give the Sports a 4-0 lead in the first four innings. But San Antonio stormed back to tie the count in the fifth with Dave Roberts' 3-run homer as the big blow.
Shreveport came back in its half of the fifth for four more runs to take a lead it never relinquished. Ray Knoblauch pitched 3-hit ball for 3 1/3 innings in relief to halt the Missions with one run. Joyner had a homer, double and two singles to bat in five runs.
Monday night Shreveport will use Billy Murf, 10-4 during the season and loser of his only appearance in the playoffs. San Antonio will work Don Ferrazere,

Roswell Meets Artesia In The 'Sugar Game'

The Associated Press
The Roswell Rockets after three straight losses, rose to their home park tonight for the windup of the semi-finals in the Longhorn League playoffs.
The Rockets, after taking two straight from Artesia at the start of the series, lost their third in a row last night, 4-0. That gave Artesia its first lead in the series, 3-2.
The winner of the best of seven series will meet San Angelo for the league crown. San Angelo finished up its series Saturday night, polishing off Carlsbad in five games.
The Oilers last night pulled out to a 3-1 advantage in their best of seven series with Albuquerque, topping the Dukes 12-2. A win tonight would put them in the finals. The other playoff game last night, Amarillo at Plainview, was postponed because of rain.

First Games Ahead On College Front

By The Associated Press
Twenty of Texas' 27 colleges playing football have games this week, 19 of them opening the season. The other—Texas A&I—started the campaign last weekend, beating National University of Mexico 13-6.
One of the six conferences in which Texas has members have games with four from the Southwestern Conference holding the spotlight. Texas A&I lifts the curtain on the campaign against UCLA at Los Angeles Friday night. Saturday night Baylor entertains Hardin-Simmons, Texas' Christian plays Kansas and Texas is host to Texas Tech.
Rice and Southern Methodist, the other Texas members of the Southwestern Conference, wait until next week to open the season.
There is full action in the Texas Conference where McMurry goes to St. Paul to play Gustavus Adolphus and Howard Payne clashes with Texas A&I at Brownwood.
Three of the four Border Conference teams start the campaign. West Texas State meets Corpus Christi at Canyon in addition to Hardin-Simmons' joust with Baylor and Texas Tech's battle with Texas Western next week.
Three of the Gulf Coast Conference members are in openers with Trinity and Abilene Christian playing a conference game at Abilene and Midwestern meeting Southwestern Oklahoma at Wichita Falls. North Texas State won't open the season until Sept. 24.
Four of the seven Lone Star Conference teams have games—A&I, Lamar Tech against Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Beaumont, Sam Houston State against McNeese State at Lake Charles, La., and Southwest Texas State against Texas Lutheran at Seguin. East Texas State, Stephen F. Austin and Sul Ross open Sept. 24.
Houston, member of the Missouri Valley Conference takes on Montana at Houston Saturday night.
There are three independents—Austin College, Texas Lutheran and Corpus Christi. Austin College starts the season at Denison Saturday night against Southeastern of Oklahoma.

Tony Trabert Cocks Ear For Some Pro Bids

By ED CORRIGAN
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Tony Trabert took his seat in the throne room of amateur tennis today and no sooner did he get his crown adjusted than he began thinking of giving it all up.
"I'm waiting to hear professional offers," he said. "But right now I can say truthfully I haven't had any. I think the promoters were waiting to see how I did in the National Championship before they decided whether I'd be worth it."
Trabert, a crew-cut, powerful-hitting Cincinnati, won the title for the second time in three years yesterday, beating Australia's Ken Rosewall decisively in the final 9-7, 6-3, 6-3. Just as at Wimbledon, Trabert went through the entire tournament without losing a set.
"It doesn't make any difference to me who I play for — if I decide to turn pro," he said. "I'd play for the promoter who gave me the best offer."
Trabert is committed to the Pacific Southwest Championships in Los Angeles next week, so it wouldn't be prudent for him to announce publicly he's turning pro at least until then.
Trabert's cannonball service threw back Rosewall time and again. Tony followed it in for fast kills and had the usually composed Rosewall rushing his shots. Only in the first set, which was deuced, was Trabert in anything that resembled trouble. Faulty volleying cost him two service breaks.
Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., defended her women's title successfully when she whipped England's Pat Ward in the final 6-4, 6-2.

Corpus Grabs Off A Muddy Contest

The Associated Press
Mud so deep the base umpire had to work barefooted didn't halt Corpus Christi's drive toward the Big State League playoff finals Sunday night as the Clippers beat Harlingen 5-2 and took a 2-1 lead.
Texas City and Waco, in the other playoff, wouldn't brave the elements at Waco and they postponed their game because of rain. Texas City leads 3-2 and can win the playoff by downing Waco Monday night.
Bill (Tiny) Chapman was the umpire who worked in his bare feet.

Tech Sending Big Crowd To Austin Tilt

The Associated Press
LUBBOCK—More than 600 Texas Tech alumni are expected to gather between 2-3 p.m. Saturday in Austin's Driskill Hotel for a "homecoming away from home," preceding the Saturday night football clash between Tech's Red Raiders and the University of Texas Longhorns.
Chartered buses of Tech alumni and friends are planned from Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and San Antonio. L. C. Walker, Tech Students' Association executive secretary, reported.
The Tech meeting may assume even larger proportions as interest mounts among Red Raider backers in all parts of the state and even out-of-state.

OUR REPUTATION DEMANDS THAT WE SELL YOU A GOOD CAR At The RIGHT PRICE

"The automobile business reminds us of a big weekend party and after the party there is the hangover, complete with headaches, dizzy spells, and various pains. The customer has the hangover after he has been sold with pressure methods and has paid padded prices, padded insurance rates, and stretched-out balloon notes.

"The dealer has a hangover because he has repossessions and dissatisfied customers who were oversold with heavy stretched-out notes. Thank goodness we did not go to the party! Our customers are satisfied and neither of us have any headaches. Yes, we are still selling cars at one-third down and with notes you can afford to pay."

Humphrey Says U.S. Policy Aims At Keeping Prosperity High

WASHINGTON (U.S.—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told a meeting of free world economic leaders in Istanbul, Turkey, today that prosperity runs high this side of the Iron Curtain and United States policy is aimed at keeping it that way.

Humphrey's remarks, released here by the Treasury, were prepared for the opening session of the 10th annual meeting of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

The annual reports of the 58-nation bank and fund, also made public here, noted record-breaking economic activity in most parts of the non-communist world, but the fund's optimism was tempered by inflationary threats it found in some places.

Humphrey said: "Business activity is at record levels throughout most of the world. World trade is at a high and healthier volume. Prices are more stable. . . There has been a sharp reduction in governmentally imposed barriers to financial and trade transactions.

"Genuine progress has thus been made during these 10 years (since the founding of the bank and fund in 1946) toward the fund's objectives of strengthening economies, removing restrictions, and promoting a more realistic and freer system of healthy exchange and trade.

"In the United States, we have enacted a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program, permitting a gradual and realistic approach to increasing mutually beneficial trade. . . Most important of all, we have strengthened and increased the high level of economic activity in the United States, and thus provided an increased demand for the world's goods. . .

"The over-all prospect is that the dollars available to foreign countries should provide a basis for a continued growth in mutually beneficial international trade. . . The value of our total imports of goods in 1954 was more than 60 per cent above the 1947-49 level, and in 1955 our imports are still higher. . ."

The World Bank and the fund are lending agencies created after the war to help restore economic activity.

In its 10th anniversary report the bank said that "given an adequate measure of economic and political stability, the prospect is for further expansion in economic activity and improvements in living standards."

The fund, although noting the rise of inflation in some Latin-American nations, and trade balance difficulties in Great Britain and most nonindustrial nations, said: "Further considerable progress has been made in the direction of freer and less discriminatory trade. . . Increases in imports which liberalization measures have permitted have, in general, not created balance of payment difficulties. . ."

"It appears there will be a further lowering of (U.S.) tariffs and other barriers to trade. . . Prospects for continued improvement (in trade) are, in general, good."

The fund noted exceptional production increases in Great Britain, France, Western Germany, Austria, Netherlands, Italy and Norway in 1954. It said Japan and Mexico had outstanding achievements to report in checking inflation and restoring their currencies.

Uncle Ray:
 African Lake Area
 Doubled By Rain

By RAMON COFFMAN

This week I have more than a dozen questions about Africa to answer. Here is the first one: "According to the latest figures, what is the population of Africa?" The census figures for Africa are less careful than those for North America, but it seems clear that Africa ranks fourth in population among the continents. First is Asia, and then come Europe and North America. The latest estimate of Africa's population is 296 million.

Q. How does Africa compare in area with other continents?
 A. It ranks second in area. Asia is largest, Africa second and North America third. South America is fourth.

Q. What is the largest lake in Africa?
 A. Lake Victoria. This lake ranks next in size to Lake Superior, the largest fresh water lake in the world.

Q. Is it true that Africa has a lake which changes greatly in size?
 A. Yes, Lake Chad, which lies on the border of Nigeria and the Sahara Desert. This lake covers about 4,000 square miles in June, and often grows to 8,000 or 10,000 square miles by the end of the rainy season in late January. In past times, the average size of Lake Chad was much larger than it is today.

Q. Is there a place in Africa where stones are used as bells?
 A. In Eritrea (a former Italian colony, but now federated with Ethiopia) it is a regular custom to use stones as bells. The Coptic priests, who teach a form of the Christian faith, suspend the stones with cords, and strike them with hammers. The sounds produced by the stones are very much like those of bells.

A Coptic priest striking "bell stones" with hammer.

Westinghouse Plants Struck

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Twenty-eight plants of Westinghouse Electric Corp. were hit today by a strike of 43,000 members of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

There was no immediate indication that the company's other 30 plants, employing about 70,000 workers, would be affected.

The CIO-IUE, headed by James B. Carey, ordered the walkout to begin on schedule only a few hours after the company announced Carey had "initiated an agreement" to end a five-week-old strike at the East Pittsburgh plant "and cancel a threatened national strike."

The strike at the East Pittsburgh plant is the cause of today's nationwide walkout. It began Aug. 7 when 2,200 day workers—employees such as crane operators and service employees—walked off the job to protest a company plan to make a time study as an efficiency move. Local 601, representing the East Pittsburgh plant, said the time study violated the contract. Denying this, the company said it was entitled to manage its own operations.

Robert D. Blasler, Westinghouse vice president, said the agreement initiated by Carey would have permitted the company to continue the time study in one department. He said it also permitted the union to bring up the entire question in wage negotiations scheduled to begin Sept. 15. He expressed surprise that Carey may have misunderstood "what the terms of the agreement mean."

Midwest Demo
 Leaders End
 2-Day Session

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (AP)—Midwest Democratic leaders from nine states scattered today after jabbing hard during a two-day strategy session at the Eisenhower administration's handling of farm problems.
 "A brazen and ruthless betrayal of America's farmers"—that's the way the Democrats described administration agricultural policies in a resolution containing other strong phrases, like "calculated deceit," "callous indifference," "flagrant neglect."
 Paul Butler of Indiana, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said the farm issue promises to be No. 1 in the 1956 presidential campaign.

Butler met with high-level Democrats from Michigan, Wisconsin, Kansas, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and Montana. The Illinois organization set no representatives.
 At the conference, he disclosed national committee plans to "out-huckster" the Republicans in employment of advertising techniques next year. He said he expected former President Truman to remain on the firing line during the campaign.

Truman's popularity, he said, has "increased tremendously" since "Eisenhower has been in the White House."
 He said that five million dollars will be allocated for radio and TV time in the coming campaign, and that by Oct. 1 a selection will be made from among some 20 advertising concerns to take over the party account.

He detailed other plans in the making, including formation of a half-dozen special advisory committees—each devoted to one field, such as labor and agriculture—to be staffed by full-time, paid directors. All will be functioning by Jan. 1, he said.
 The conferees called in their resolution for an "effective and realistic" farm program, and predicted a "green uprising" at the ballot box that will bring Democrats into office to put it into action.

Among other things, the program should cover these main points, the resolution said:
 Restoration of 90 per cent of parity price supports for basic commodities but restricting participation of corporation-type farm enterprises, as distinguished from family units.

Extension of 90 per cent supports to livestock, poultry, milk and other perishables, but with provision for production payments as an alternative.

Mandatory supports for grain sorghums, barley and oats based on their feed value relative to corn.

A plan to take marginal acres out of production, and promote soil conservation.
 Longer-term, lower-cost credit for farmers, giving preference to those to low-income groups.

2 Smooching Linnets
 Get Shocking Kiss

CAPISTRANO BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Two linnets smooching on a power line shut down pumps at the San Juan Water Co. A service station attendant, Don Kennedy, said there was a flash from a transformer and the birds fell dead at his feet. Their locked beaks had caused a short circuit. Fuses were replaced and the pumps started in about an hour.

Dancing, Kissing

Dear Miss Brandow:
 My boy friend seems to like me, and we see each other lots of places that the crowd goes, but when we want to dance, he never dances with me, but just watches. Do you think it is his way of showing me he isn't so interested in me?
 Reba

Many teen-age boys who are attracted by girls are afraid to act too much like men for fear of being teased or thought ridiculous by their friends.
 The boy probably likes you, but like so many, he yet lacks the courage to brave the dance floor. Have patience, and be satisfied to enjoy his company in other activities for now.
 Dear Miss Brandow:
 What age is acceptable for a girl to be kissed? I am thirteen.
 Ariene

Not yet. You should be just getting into the dating swim and getting acquainted with different types of boys.
 Kisses come later after you are a more seasoned dater. Kisses say "you are someone special," and you should have a pretty good basis for comparison before you can feel that way.
 Personally "sweet sixteen and never been kissed" seems to me to be a goal worth striving for. Achieving it will do you no harm, will not make you any less attractive to nice boys, and will not brand you for old-maidhood.
 Prospective, when you are under fifteen, is poor and bad reputations are easily gained. Fifteen would be the minimum age I would set for nice girls.
 (You may write Miss Brandow in care of The Herald. Letters containing 3 cent stamps will be answered personally.)

No Change Seen In
 'Torture' Training

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary Donald A. Quarles says the Air Force plans neither to stiffen nor to ease its course of training men to survive as prisoners of war.
 Disclosure of simulated brainwashing and other tactics used at the school at Stead Air Force Base, Nev., last week brought some criticism that it was too rough. Quarles told a CBS audience however, the program "is definitely justified."
 A check by the inspector general, he said, "left us nothing serious to worry about."
