ALARM IS FELT OVER JAP MOVE

Troops Sent Towards Russian Sphere in Manchuria

LONDON, Nov. 2. (UP)—Japanese military advances to points within the Russian sphere of influence in Manchuria were reported today in alarming dispatches to London newspapers concerning war threats in China.

A secret Chinese-Russian treaty was also reported. The soviet government, warned last week by Japan against mobilization of troops in Manchuria, was reported in a belligerent attitude.

MURRAY AWAITS APPROVAL, THEN HE WILL MOVE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 2. (UP)—The "people" of Oklahoma, who last fall elected Gov. William H. Murray by the largest majority ever recorded in the state's history, have rallied to his support in a special election to enact his long-threatened governmental reform measures.

The governor's program was devised to "take the burden of taxation off the lower classes and place it on the wealthy, where it belongs."

To do so, the seven measure program included abolition of all ad valorem taxes.

Alfa Bill's List Of Special Measures
1. Reduction of ad valorem taxes.
2. Taxation on incomes.
3. Creation of a free textbook system for public schools.

4. Reduction of cotton and wheat acreage.
5. Creation of a state budget office.
6. One cent gasoline tax to aid unemployment relief.

7. Restriction of corporate ownership of land.

ad valorem taxes for state purposes, thus reducing taxes on land and small home owners. To offset this loss of revenue, another measure provided for an income tax, with low rates on small incomes and high rates on large incomes.

Income Tax Rate
While Murray's proposed rate was but one percent on annual incomes of $1,000, he raised the rate to 10 per cent on incomes of more than $100,000.

The special election is a continuation of Murray's drive against public utilities, corporations and big industry. He has forced utilities to reduce their rates, while at the same time he has raised the assessed valuation for taxation purposes.

Murray's special election is a "retaliatory" battle against a rebellious senate in the last legislature, which refused to enact his special tax program. Undaunted by the senate's action, Murray took the burden on his own shoulders and placed his program before the people.

Defeat of a Blow
Defeat of his measures doubtlessly would be a crushing blow to Murray, who is considered in many quarters as a possible candidate for president under the democratic standard next year.

The election will climax a concerted drive of many weeks by the governor. First, he either wrote his own measures, or personally supervised their writing. Then he initiated them in petitions to the people in "firebell" club meetings held in every county seat and town of more than 5,000 population.

With his special session assured, the governor wasted no time. He opened his campaign in Oklahoma City, seat of his strongest opposition. Murray spread supporters throughout the state, speaking in behalf of his cause, while the tireless governor, himself, "stumped" the state.

Lindbergh's Brush with Death

After assuring himself of the safety of his wife, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh returned to the wrecked plane which had hurled them into the Yangtze river at Hankow, China. He is shown here, stripped to the waist, as he climbed out on a wing of the craft to make fast the lines which drew the ship aboard the British aircraft carrier Hermes. The plane overturned when the Hermes crane failed to release it during an attempted take-off. This is the first picture of the accident to reach the United States.

Midland Milk Is Given Oke

Midland milk measured up to specifications in a recent test, according to J. C. Anderson, M. D., state health officer, in a letter to the county health board of Midland.

"With one exception, the retail dairies are in good shape and received only a few crosses," he declared. "The six or seven wholesale dairies are also in fair shape and Mr. Andy Norwood, inspector, takes considerable pride in the milk work and seems to appreciate our visits and assistance. The pasteurization plant was found to be above the average. This plant is to install additional equipment soon."

SOVIET UNION ACHIEVING ITS 15TH BIRTHDAY

MOSCOW, Nov. 2. (UP)—This week the Union of Soviets winds up another year of its revolutionary career, the 14th in its history, that began in November 1917, in a more optimistic tempo than at any time since the Five-Year Plan was launched.

It will enter its 15th year with every prospect of an easier winter in terms of more work, more wages, more food supplies and more opportunities for the individual to improve his personal lot.

It is only necessary to recall the atmosphere in which the two preceding anniversaries were celebrated to realize the full measure of the improvement.

November, 1929, witnessed the beginning of the campaign for farming collectivization, attended by what amounted to a reign of terror everywhere.

In the following months some 12,000,000 peasant families were hustled into collectives. The expropriation of millions of others, so-called kulaks, strewed the land with broken homes and broken lives.

The next November, 1930, found the nation facing its worst winter since the famine period. In the pastures last year there was more desolation than fever. Supplies of food and clothes were at their lowest ebb. The press day after day recorded arrests, trials, executions.

The "disfranchised" elements were being thrown out of their homes. Engineers, technicians, the educated classes generally were all under suspicion, many condemned, others awaiting trial.

On the threshold of its 15th year, however, the country presents a distinctly different picture. Though still tragically short by Western standards, food and other consumption articles are relatively more plentiful. For those who have extra money many everyday necessities are available at higher prices.

And millions have the extra money because everybody is working and wage rates have been revised to reward the more industrial and efficient.

Absorbed by Industry
The growing shortage of labor everywhere has tended to lighten the conditions even of the despised "former" people, the disfranchised classes. They are being absorbed by the new man-hungry industries.

An armistice which may ripen into a real peace marks the relations between the government and the old intelligentsia. Suspicion of them is abating and more considerate conditions of work and life are being provided. Collectivization is still in an experimental stage despite the fact that it now covers 60 per cent of the peasantry. But it is an organized and peaceful process. All along the line police methods and arbitrary political pressure have been relaxed.

REGULARS MAY SHIP TO RIVER

So Announces Federal Judge Pollock Of K. C.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2. (UP)—Federal Judge Pollock today made a veiled threat that regular army troops might be used at the Red River bridge. He made this statement in the course of denying a petition of the Red River Bridge company for a temporary injunction closing the bridge.

Pollock recommended that the case be taken to the State courts. He promised in even satisfactory action could not be obtained in the state courts, he would give the matter immediate attention.

Pollock remarked that the United States regular army was larger than Oklahoma's militia and recalled a case where the regular army was used in a similar manner.

Third Occupation Of Bridge Made

DURANT, Nov. 2. (UP)—The third military occupation of the free Red River bridge between here and Denison was effected today.

Fifteen men and three officers were moved into the martial law zone which was established last July by Governor Murray in defiance of a federal injunction.

Seizure was to prevent possible closing by a federal court order at Kansas City.

Two Nautical Visitors Soon

It'll be good news for "bad sailors" when this giant Italian liner, Conte di Savoia, goes into trans-Atlantic service, if plans of the builders materialize. For half above and half below the water-line, as seen in this architect's sketch, is a gyroscope designed to assure an even deck in the roughest weather. The new 48,000-ton liner, recently launched at Trieste, Italy, is expected to make the run between New York and Naples in seven days.

The Santa Maria will sail for American again! This exact replica of Christopher Columbus' historic flagship, shown here after her launching at Seville, Spain, will dare the Atlantic soon over the same route which the discoverer of America followed. In only one respect—in the knowledge of what lies at the end of their journey—will this voyage differ from the one which Columbus made in 1492. There will be the same number of men in the crew and sails, not engines, will propel the vessel.

JACK DEMPSEY TO FIGHT DER MAX, IS REPORT

Water Drinkers Hold Convention

ROUEN, France, Nov. 2. (UP)—Claiming that they have converted 23,000 drunkards to embrace the faith of the water wagon, a French Society of Water Drinkers here has just held its annual congress, with a thousand delegates present.

The group of Adam's Ale Apostles is known officially as the Society of the Blue Cross, and total abstinence is the one rigid rule of the organization. Even though Rouen is the "capital of cider," the initial banquet of the society remained tee-totally dry even from such semi-intoxicants.

Following the banquet, a "dry parade" was held. It proved a dry day for Rouen, with dry tracks distributed to the inhabitants, dry speeches delivered from prominent gathering places, and even the weather, usually in a torrential downpour, remained dry through the entire festivities.

The French prohibitionists differ from others of the order in that they wish to dry the entire world, not by law, but by total self-abstinence and self-control, voluntarily exercised.

The dry congress is making a special and personal appeal to the youth of France, urging upon their minds the horrors of the greatest of all assassins—alcoholism. However, the virtues of French wines being taught in public schools of France, the Water Drinkers' union is bucking heavy odds and rather insurmountable difficulties.

Mrs. Gannon and Mrs. Frazier were burned in attempting to extinguish the flames.

Edison Gave School Advice

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2. (UP)—Among the many bits of advice to youth, given by Thomas A. Edison, the following, given 23 years ago at the request of a high school principal, was made known on the great inventor's death:

"Every man has a brain and something else called a will. In the brain there is a peculiar convolution discovered by Broca, called by the convolution of Broca.

"The will can force this convolution to store up knowledge and experience, but it is obstinate and it requires great will power to make it record.

"The men who manage the industries of the U. S. have by their strong wills forced this convolution full of information, which they use in their business.

"The boy that keeps that convolution working overtime is going to be just what he wants to be."

APPROACHING THE GREAT

Souvenir-hunters, according to newspaper dispatches, have already begun to descend on Milan, O., birthplace of Thomas Edison.

Bark has been torn from trees about the house in which the inventor was born, and all kinds of loose objects have been carried away. Presently, no doubt, there will be souvenirs for sale, and passing motorists will stop to be photographed in front of the birthplace, and the usual dreary and inane round will be in full swing.

Just how any man in his senses can be gratified to possess a bit of bark from a tree that grew by the house where Edison was born is a trifle hard to understand. But this hunger for trivial mementoes of the great is an old one, and it expresses, however clumsily and cheaply, a very real need.

For human greatness is not such a common thing that we can calmly pass by the places where it has moved. The ordinary mortal, for all his occasional braggadocio, is a very humble sort of person. He knows, as well as anyone else, the greatness of the gulf which separates him from an Edison.

And so, when he gets a chance to touch the skirts of greatness, so to speak, he takes it; and he takes home a bit of bark, or a banal snapshot, or some similar trinket, not because his soul is cheap and indiscriminating but because it is the only way in which he can have some tangible reminder that he was once in the vicinity of a man whose head touched the stars.

In the regular course of events we get precious little to bolster our self-esteem. Signs of greatness are rare, both in ourselves and in our neighbors; and the daily record of human silliness and greed that newspapers give us is not apt to be inspiring.

So, when we bump up against the earthly trappings of a man who was truly admirable, our impulse is to grab off something—anything, even a pebble or a bit of old cloth—as a keepsake. For it is something more than a visible sign that we have traveled and have seen fine sights. It is a talisman by which we can reassure ourselves that the race to which we belong can, on occasion, produce some magnificent specimens.

HITTING THE NAIL—

Dr. John A. Ryan expressed the feelings of millions of his fellow-countrymen very aptly in his recent testimony before the Senate committee which is debating the advisability of setting up a national economic council.

"The most discouraging fact about our very grave unemployment situation," he said, "is the indifference to human suffering exhibited by our public officials and influential classes.

"They all seem to assume that their duty will be performed if none of the unemployed dies of actual and quick starvation."

A great many Americans have surmised the existence of that attitude, but have lacked the ability to put their resentment into words. Father Ryan has done us all a service by focusing attention on a thing that is, as he says, the most discouraging part of the whole business.

RUSSIA IN MOVIES

The theatrical magazine, Variety, reports that Hollywood studios are preparing to concoct a number of movies dealing with Russia—and are doing it with a good deal of nervousness and uneasiness.

It is the difficulty of steering a safe middle course that causes the hesitancy. On one hand, the studios have no desire whatever to issue films that could be construed as propaganda for the Soviets. On the other hand, their executives fear that if the pictures displease radical groups in this country the theatres that exhibit them may get into trouble.

There is undoubtedly a tremendous amount of interest in this country in Russian affairs today. But the movie-makers are just experiencing what newspaper and magazine writers, dramatists and novelists have gone through already; the extreme difficulty of presenting the truth in an interesting manner without being accused of propagandizing for one side or the other.

The Town Quack

be Armistice day, and in the morning everybody will be out chasing quail. If you turf fiends expect to promote anything else for this year, the time is getting short.

There won't be a chance now for Herb, the circulation man to slip up on anybody. He came down this morning with a new pair of corduroys and you can hear him coming or going.

I haven't checked back to see what games I gave forecasts on for the past week, but as I remember it I missed only on the Pampa-Lubbock tilt. Boy, how those Lubbock Westerners did take the north wind out of the Pampa team's sails. I was a little liberal on how many touchdowns Smu would beat State and TCU would beat the Razorbacks, but outside of that I was a good guesser.

The way those Bullpups held San Angelo down made them look good for a whirlwind finish in the district. All they got to do is fight from whistle to whistle and they can pile up some good looking figures against McCamey and Colorado, then wind up a good season by upsetting the dope and beating Sweetwater by one or two touchdowns. This isn't impossible. Not by a long shot. Let the Mustangs take the jolts they have coming from Big Spring and they won't be the same proud birds they started out to be in early season.

News item: Paul Barron is not going into the feed business. He says he just can't keep from allowing the farmers the top price for their feed and he just can't get the cattlemen to pay it. When the last truck load of the barter feed left the lots this morning he breathed a heavy sigh of relief.

I keep hearing it hinted that there are going to be a few horse races at Cowboy park on the morning of Armistice day but I can't get the report authenticated. (Now don't get the idea this is Hankins writing just because I used the word 'authenticated.') Some of the reports I heard were that Big Boy Whittamman Whitley was trying to reach his sore against the sore of Up-and-Atum Alvin Roberts, Rap-and-Tap Trammell was trying to rib up Jelly Bean Barron to match Fort Worth against Nettie Harrison, and that Peaceful Pete Patterson, Big-Long Lee Haynes, Glasscock County George Underwood, Awful Audie Francis, Kentucky Gerald Bloss and J. Chukker Floyd would match anything against anything, giving daylight and odds.

The way I look at it, Armistice day morning is the last chance for horse races until next summer. If they wait until Thanksgiving there will be another football game in the afternoon, just like there will

DEAR DUSTY AND BLONDY: YOU WERE But a Hard Winter Is Ahead. Sincerely, Jim PERFECT HOSTS AND YOU WON FAIR

By JAMES P. HARRISON (Special Staff Writer)

The question whether Midland just naturally poured it on the Angelo Bobcats, defensively speaking, in the football game last Saturday, or whether the Conchomen had a let down, is in the minds of local sports enthusiasts.

Comparative scores involving Midland, San Angelo, Big Spring and McCamey indicated that Angelo was a heavy favorite to win and that their 7 to 0 victory was not in line with the dope.

The truth of the matter as seen from this end of the line is that Angelo was dazed too much by ferocious tackling on the part of McCall, Pinnell, G. Booth, Midkiff, Burris, Hallman and Sherrod. That statement is not made to discredit excellent work done by other Bulldogs; but the men whose names are mentioned stood out in great prominence.

It was indeed pleasing to see the Midland forward wall work together at times and to see Pinnell getting a little help. The lanky Ham went from around his side of the line time and again to stop plays from behind on the opposite end. The co-operation he received from Booth and McCall is what should have been displayed in the game with Big Spring.

With the exception of Hallman, the Bulldog backfield did not amount to much on offense. The Midland fullback gave the Bobcat line something to feel and think about every time he savagely stuck his head toward the orange jerseys.

Burris and Midkiff were "marked" before the opening kickoff, but the Midland quarter gave the boys a jolt when he ripped around his right end for 21 yards the first time he got his hands on the ball.

Sherrod showed Coach Harry Taylor and his crew some fancy punting, even if the diminutive Bobcat Harrison did get a couple of nice ones that rolled out near the Midland 1-yard line. The Bulldog left half stood behind his goal line twice to kick out of danger to midfield.

Hallman gained every time he was called up, particularly so when other Midland backs had been thrown for losses.

Burris' end of the passing game was up to par and he flipped some beautiful tosses that landed in butter.

Harrison's passing was rotten. As to whether that was up to par or not can't be said.

Perhaps the most damaging offense employed by the Bobcats was for Delker, hard-hitting full, to hammer on one certain spot until it weakened and for Harrison then to wiggle through that weakened spot for substantial gains.

It was no fluke when the first Angelo quarter raced through the entire Midland aggregation for 51 yards and a touchdown. He shook off several tacklers and outran Bur-

SPORTS REPORTS

By R. C. HANKINS

To our way of thinking, there are only two clubs left to scrap it out in District 4. San Angelo's place in the sun assumed only a speck when the speed and shiftness of the Bobcat squad materialized in a bare 7-0 win over Midland Saturday. It's now Big Spring and Sweetwater for it, and Nov. 11 is the date. Sweetwater is less favored to cop, but the game will be played in its own ballpark. However, we've noted that the Steers get along fairly well on other people's lots.

The San Angelo threat was mostly verbal. Naturally, San Angelo is as much "in" as either of the other clubs, for it's said an inch is as good as a mile. Angelo has not lost an engagement, and has beat McCamey and Midland. Angelo should go through another meeting without biting the grass blades, as Colorado is to play there Nov. 11. But after that come two games, those inevitable games, Nov. 21 with Sweetwater and Nov. 26 with Big Spring. Interest merely narrows down to which team, Big Spring or Sweetwater, will win and how long Big Spring can keep its goal line uncrossed. Of local interest is a bit of speculation as to when the Bar-rymen will edge out in a game.

In chapel at the high school this morning Superintendent Lackey mentioned the volume of telegrams received by the football team in San Angelo when it seemed the boys were destined to hold the Bobcats scoreless. He said in reference to one wire reading "the whole town's behind the club" something to the effect that it is human frailty to boast that which wins, but that one should stay with the club when it is losing. It so happens that the telegram in question was one we sent. Oh, well!

With Midland playing such a great defensive game Saturday what kept the Doggies from scoring. Everyone wants the question answered. Not having seen the game, we must rely on what we have heard. Jimmie Harrison et al. tell us lack of scoring punch was responsible.

Our next two games should give us a brace of annexes. McCamey is here Armistice, and Colorado comes Nov. 21. After that the deluge as Sweetwater comes thundering in Nov. 26.

Some more from Sweetwater: Cocky and confident, members of the Big Spring football eleven sat in the stands at Newman field yesterday afternoon and watched the Mustangs trample McCamey 57-0 and were not impressed. No, sir, not at all. They play here on Armistice day.

"We'll be in Sweetwater on Armistice day with a two-section train carrying 1,000 fans," declared Marcos Williamson, sports writer on The Big Spring Herald, and a group of Big Spring supporters standing around him gave out a big, broad smile.

Bristow Not Worried Gcach Obie Bristow, who came over to witness the game, seemed not to worry at all about the touchdown barrage. Talking through the loud speaker, he declared, with no reservations, that Big Spring is the class of District 4. The crowd cheered, glad to have Mister Bristow think so.

The team members, all of whom were present, were highly jubilant about their 79-0 victory Friday over Colorado, a team which held Sweetwater to a 28-6 score. The Steers went over, through, and around the Wolves to pile up the big score.

Whattaman Dennis Featuring Tack Dennis (who came all the way from Oklahoma to play under the training of Bristow) with four touchdowns and five extra points, the powerful Steer attack smothered the Wolves under a barrage of touchdowns to run the

Railroads Used Smoke Signals

DENVER, Nov. 2. (UP).—Railroad signal systems have traveled a long way since engineers sent up a smoke screen to let the other fellow know the track was in use, but, then, so has F. A. Weideman.

Weideman, pilot of the Columbine, Denver-Chicago limited, has been riding in an engine cab for 32 years.

"We had to use Indian methods of signaling for safety," Weideman said. "We'd make the old fire box belch up a smoke cloud that could be seen for miles."

"If any one else was using the track, he would take the hint and clear it."

After 32 years of riding, the veteran engineer declared there was much about life one could learn from railroading.

"Every man is his own engineer," he philosophized. "He goes down the track of life and has to observe the go ahead as well as the danger lights."

He maintains there still is a career in railroading for the young man, but said it was not a learn-in-ten-lessons proposition.

lin leaders do not attempt to conceal their troubles. Nevertheless, the feeling is general that "the worst is over."

The national frame of mind is more hopeful. The tens of millions, who will march under clouds of red banners next Saturday, cheering and singing, will put more heart into the annual performance than ever before.

The changes which have come to pass in the past year will be described in subsequent articles.

LAF-A-LOT PARTY

Mrs. B. C. Girdley will be hostess to members of the Laf-a-Lot club Wednesday afternoon at her home at 3 o'clock.

The queen of the Colorado City Fair wore a gown of cotton costing five dollars during the coronation ceremonies recently.

Big Spring total for the season to 390 to nothing for opponents. Bristow used every man on his squad and still the scoring continued. Harkins, brilliant defensive star for Colorado, was taken from the game with a broken arm.

Steers "Opened Up" with a passing attack for the first time, completing eight of 15 aerial tosses for a gain of 173 yards.

Colorado, however, made eight first downs against 24 for Big Spring. Dennis scored 29 points, Heblson made 13. Forrester 12, Schwarzenbach 18 and Morgan 7. The Steers scored 21 points the first quarter, 20 the second, 24 the third and 14 the fourth.

Here's something interesting from Sweetwater. Millard Cope has the floor: "Rambling around and talking with people who have seen Big Spring in action just takes all the pep out of the good game we thought we were going to have on Armistice day here. But we mustn't think that, at all, the boys say who have seen the Steers stampe in seven games to run up a score of 393 points without even seeing an opposing player cross their goal line."

"Of course, there's a lot to the fact that Big Spring has yet to play a team considered unusually strong, but even at that the Steers look from two to three touchdowns better than the Mustangs... ON PAPER."

"Oh, yes, on paper, brethren; the football field is a different place. "And therein lies a tale, the "finis" to which is to be written on the anniversary of the German rout. And what a Steer rout it could turn out to be."

"Dennis and Flowers, it appears, are just about the best backfield men in the country, though they yet have many of the famed outfit known in business circles as Hicks, Sheridan, Baugh and Wood, expert passers, runners, plungers, and kickers. The boys are all specialists in their own line, and boy what SPECIALISTS!"

Oh, Yeah? Marion Says She Hasn't Been Kissed Except in the Motion Pictures

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 2. (UP).—What with the upheaval in Manchuria, the shaky state of the gold standard and a few football upsets every Saturday, this writer can contribute to the world of news the fact that there exists in Hollywood a movie actress who has never been kissed off of a set.

While this scoop may not affect Wall street in any pronounced form it should be interesting to observe just what it will do to the box office of Marian Marsh, Warner-First National screen find.

Yes, Marian is the girl. She told us all about it during a lull in production at the studio.

"I have never been kissed by a man outside of business hours and my business happens to be motion pictures," said Marian without the sign of a challenge in her voice.

Then she added: "And I don't intend to be until I marry."

Some experts declare that when a girl says "No," she means "Yes." But from casual observation it would be the writer's guess that Marian means just what she said.

Miss Marsh is the latest actress to flash to success under the Warner Brothers colors. She is only 17, weighs just a mite over 100 pounds and has large, dreamy grey eyes. She would knock them dead, as the boys used to say, at any fraternity party at any college in the country.

Miss Marsh declares that she has little use for the more frivolous things of life. She desires success on the screen most of all at present. Then she may consider marriage.

The actress says she used to dream of a big, bronze, broad-shouldered man so tall that she would have to lean back to look into his handsome face. Now all this has changed and Marian begins to get another outlook on life.

"Whether it is that I am growing up or not, I don't know," she confided, "but now my dream here is one who is super-intelligent, one who knows books, psychology, and who appreciates the nice things of life."

Applicants will form to the right outside the Warner Brothers-First National plant. Horn-rimmed glasses must be parked with an attendant and the studio will not be responsible for any psychology books the boys might mislay in the rush.

John Gilbert in Film at Ritz

The lavish French melodrama, "The Phantom of Paris," opening Tuesday at the Ritz theatre, offers a new type of vehicle for John Gilbert. Still the flashing lover of the screen, Gilbert plays the part of a magician who, by his skillful manipulations, is able to extricate himself from every type of device known to man, handcuffs, straightjackets, leg irons, etc.

Football Star Is One-Legged Man

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2. (UP).—Bob Neely, who lost his left leg playing football four years ago with a professional team at Miami Beach, Fla., is back in a football uniform again. He plays center for the Pontiac Athletic association of South Philadelphia.

His leg was bruised when he made a tackle in a game at Miami Beach. An abscess formed and it was necessary to amputate his leg to save his life. After recovering from the operation, Neely went on a tour of the country with a vaudeville act as a fancy diver and swimmer. Then he returned to Philadelphia to assume the role of center for the Pontiac football team.

TURKEY CROP PROMISING

HANFORD, Calif. (UP).—The turkey crop this year will be slightly larger than last year in this county and the prices will be about the same as in 1930, but the farmers will profit more. Thus predicted assistant Farm Advisor Huxley L. Galbraith after surveying the turkey situation.

Marquette Coach Never Played Ball

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2. (UP).—Frank J. Murray, head coach at Marquette university, has never played a game of football in his life, yet he possesses one of the most remarkable coaching records of modern times.

A graduate of Tufts college and former instructor in economics, Murray has coached Marquette football teams for 10 years. During that time he has gone through three seasons undefeated and his teams have scored more than 1,400 points while holding their opponents to an average of less than four a game.

Until they lost to Detroit Oct. 17, Marquette teams had been undefeated in 13 consecutive games. The winning streak started against Boston college in November, 1929.

An even better record was established in 1922 and 1923 when Murray's team failed to lose a contest in two years. The other undefeated team was in 1930.

Coach Murray thinks the most notable Marquette victory during his regime was over the Navy in 1924. Out of 80 games played under Murray, including the Detroit game Oct. 17, Marquette won 59, lost 17 and tied four.

SINCE JIMMIE JOINED THE SCOUTS That Jim of mine is mostly boy, Not tough, but rather wild; Up and going all the time, A regular he-child. Got his habits "naturally", From his dad, no doubt; He's wild, but I don't worry none, 'Cause Jimmie is a scout.

He had a scrap the other day, But wouldn't tell a lie; I asked him how about it, And he looked me in the eye. And says, "I hit that bird because He won't salute the flag; Said he thought it silly, All this fuss about a rag."

Jim helps his mother 'round the house, Don't whimper any more; He's doing fairly well in school, Don't kick at every chore; Is captain of the football team, Can skin me catching trout; But what he's really proud of, He's a patrol leader scout.

Hoosiers Eat Blackbird Pie

WARSAW, Ind., Nov. 2. (UP).—The myth contained in the children's song about the "four and 20 blackbirds baked in a pie," has become a reality here. Poor families, pressed for food, are eating blackbird regularly. They report that the birds, now gathering for the annual pilgrimage south, may be killed in large numbers with no difficulty. There is no game law protecting them.

Persons eating them say they are palatable.
