Bank Yeggs Tie Four to Tree and Escape With $8,000

PAIR IS ABLE TO ESCAPE

Hunt Organized, but No Arrests Made Early Today

BORGER, Sept. 28. (UP)—Two bandits, who tied Roland Rugley, bank teller, J. B. Castle, bookkeeper, and two women companions to trees near here and forced Rugley to accompany them to the Borger State bank last night and open a vault from which $8,000 was taken, are sought today.

The robbers then took Rugley back to his companions. He managed finally to untie he bonds and return to town in his car, which was not stolen.

"Memorial Day" Is Third in KC Race

Memorial Day, Spence Jowell race horse, ran third on the Riverside, Kansas City, track Friday afternoon in the second race for three year olds and up, over the futurity course, $400 donation purse. Molokai ran first with time 1:17 1-5. Bombay of the Rosebud stables was second.

Memorial Day, close to the pace, went to the outside in the stretch, took a short lead, but could not maintain it. He started in sixth position with ten entries, was third by half a length at the half mile, second by a length at the three quarters, second by a length at the stretch and third by a head at the finish. Jockey Neal was up. Odds were 12 and he paid $5 to show.

Saturday's races at Riverside were to see Bloss' Foreign Relations first choice in the seventh race and Verdaval, Merrick horse, second choice in the second race.

As Million Germans Go Nude

Utterly un-self-conscious, these little children in a German nudist camp (above) are matched in carefree simplicity by their elders, a group of whom are shown below. . . On the play and athletic fields of the camp, the only clothing to be seen was the red cross arm band worn by the children's doctor (inset).

Clothes? Just a Nuisance, Say One Million Germans

By JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer
BERLIN, Sept. 28.—Discouraged Germany has at least one happy, hopeful, flourishing thing today—Die Freikorperkultur (Free Body Culture), which is the official name adopted by the Nudists.

Over 1,000,000 men, women and children are reputed to be dues-paying members. The organization is nation-wide, but Berlin is its center, the place where all of its magazines are published, where its biggest camps, swimming pools and sun parlors are located, though most of its sanitariums and schools are in other parts of the country.

The government not only presents no opposition to these people spending their holidays, vacations or all their days nude in their own colonies, but gives them these grants of land at small price out in the country, on superb river sites, and helps them fence in and post guards so that no Peeping Toms can disturb their freedom.

ABOUT TAX RELIEF

Hard times always put an added sting in the tax collector's visit. No one ever really enjoys paying taxes, of course. But it is only when a depression comes that the average citizen really puts his heart into his complaints.

In Ohio, numbers of taxpayers are organizing formal associations in the hope that something can be done about tax relief. As the organizer of one of these groups said: "When there are 10,000 of you in our organization, and tongues are wagging about us, then we can talk to them when they threaten foreclosure on our farms and homes because we can't pay our taxes."

That, of course, is true enough. But to "talk to them" isn't quite enough, where taxes are concerned. That, in fact, has always been our chief trouble. We have talked and talked, but we have done very little.

How are you going to reduce taxes—by cutting down expenditures? Fair enough; and how are you going to do that?

Suppose it is municipal expenses you want to reduce. Where will you start? With the fire and police departments? With the school budget? With the street maintenance department? With the water supply organization? With the playground budget? With such services as sewage disposal, garbage collection, building inspection?

There is hardly a city in the land where cuts could be made in any of those services without doing genuine damage. They are essentials; in most cases they need to be extended, not reduced.

What is the answer, then? Must taxes go on increasing, year after year, in good times as well as bad? Isn't there any hope for a reduction at all?

It isn't quite that bad. The ordinary city can reduce its expenses without in any way cutting down any of these essential services. But every citizen will have to help, and the job won't be an easy one.

Government is an affair that is made expensive by politics. Politics, as we have it today, inevitably means waste, inefficiency and graft. We put up with it because we are too lazy and too prejudiced to create anything better; and as long as we do we shall be cursed by high taxes. If the taxpayer wants relief, let him organize—not to "talk to them," but to put his governmental institutions on a sound and sensible basis.

GANDHI AND CHAPLIN

One of the most interesting stories about Gandhi to come out of London was the recent revelation that the famous Indian leader had never heard of Charlie Chaplin.

Gandhi is unlike other world leaders in a great many ways; but somehow nothing emphasizes his difference more than this. Is there, anywhere else in the civilized world, an informed adult who doesn't know who Charlie Chaplin is?

Probably not. Yet Gandhi, in some way, seems to have built a successful life despite this lack. The western world holds little that appeals to him. He has already told us that he does not want our machinery or our inventions; now he reveals that he doesn't care for our amusements, either.

BEER BILLS IN CONGRESS

Dispatches from Washington indicate that a flood of "beer bills" will be offered in the House of Representatives as soon as Congress convenes. In the Senate, likewise, there will be proposals of the same kind. All in all, a stormy session is in prospect, and the wets are reported to be nourishing fond hopes that one or another of their bills will actually get through.

Without in any way going into the merits, or otherwise, of plans to modify the prohibition law, it is a bit hard to see much reason to expect that the coming Congress will enact any of these measures. Figures tabulated after the last election showed a comfortable dry majority in each house. There would have to be a tremendous shift to give any modification bill even an outside chance of passage.

Walter S. Gifford and a Staff of 80 Are Working Out the Unemployment Relief Situation for the Coming Winter, and Good Results Are Already in Evidence

WASHINGTON.—Opinion may differ as to the likely usefulness of the President's Organization on Unemployment Relief, but when you take a look at it you find about 80 persons, all of them busy, in a proportionate number of offices.

Just about enough furniture and supplies have been gathered from various government departments and barely enough money has been made available from the Department of Commerce to pay clerks and others who aren't privately paid or on a voluntary basis. Most of the layout is in the Walker-Johnson building, first built for the marines and now occupied by other branches of government. The unemployment organization has a publicity man and a separate news room in which it will one day place typewriters for the use of the newspaper men.

Instead of directing the work from New York where he is president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, Director Walter S. Gifford has moved into an office here with a personal secretarial staff and handles his A. T. & T. job from Washington. He uses a direct telephone wire and a couple of teletype machines to keep in touch with his New York offices.

Gifford's job is to stimulate community and state activities in this winter's fight against distress. He sits with his coat off, conferring by telephone or in person with one or another of his advisory committee of 100 with other visitors important enough to warrant his attention or with members of his four "active committees"—Owen Young's on mobilization of relief resources, Fred C. Croxton's on administration of relief funds, Harry A. Wheeler's on plans and suggestions, and Elliot Wadsworth's on mobilizing national groups and organizations. Quite a few of the advisory members have been in to ask what they are supposed to do or to make suggestions of their own. And many a business man to argue that national salvation depends on some scheme that will revive his own industry first of all. Gifford has brought his personal assistant, W. J. O'Connor, and a couple of stenographers.

Young has his committee headquarters in New York but a member of his personal staff, John P. Gregg represents him at the offices here. Wadsworth, after his appointment, came right down and opened up in Washington. Merle Thorpe, editor of a national business magazine, volunteered his services and appears nearly every day. He will be a liaison man between the central headquarters and the organization's state representatives. Thousands of persons are sending in proposed relief plans, some of them good and most of them cockeyed, which are all turned over to Wheeler.

Although the organization's work is generally confined to assistance in the form of advice and information, a good slant on the type of work it is doing and expects to do can be found in the office occupied by Miss Olga A. Jones and Mrs. Bernice C. Davis, who got started with the recently absorbed Woods committee. Mrs. Davis, a home economics expert and teacher for 20 years who headed the canning work in post-war European relief, supervises the present national movement for "canning the surplus" of fruits and vegetables. Miss Jones, an educator and former newspaper woman, has been organizing the "Back to School" movement, sometimes known as the "Stick to School" movement.

The canning movement is under way in at least 50 cities, reports show. Mrs. Davis says the double object is to make it possible for the unemployed to can their own winter food and to get others to contribute extra jars of stuff. She sent out about 5000 preliminary appeals to state and local committees and special agencies and is now receiving active co-operation from the General Federation of Women's clubs, the Junior Red Cross—which promises a million cans, federal home demonstration agents and the home economics section of the Board of Vocational Education. One important effort, she says, is to make sure the food is properly canned so that this form of relief won't result in a lot of ptomaine deaths during the winter.

The national campaign to keep young people in school this fall is receiving active co-operation from educators everywhere. First reports from university and college presidents indicate wide response to suggestions for increased loan funds, work facilities, emergency scholarships and other extra measures designed to keep students off the employment market.

HAS FEW PILOTS. MEXICO CITY.—Latest aviation figures give Mexico only 137 licensed civilian aviators, and these pilots have only 42 non-military planes in which to fly. This country has fewer civil aircraft and pilots than the little U. S. District of Columbia, which has 62 private planes and about 265 civilian pilots.

MONEY-SAVING IDEA. WASHINGTON.—Big air line operators of the country have petitioned the U. S. Department of Commerce to amend its regulations requiring co-pilots with the large air transports. They claim that co-pilots are necessary only when the first pilot is scheduled to fly six hours or more and that under this time a co-pilot is a useless expense.

Candle Dedication Services Install New Officers of Leagues at Methodist Church

An impressive dedication service preceding the evening preaching hour at the First Methodist church installed new officers of the Senior, Hi and Junior Epworth leagues of the church.

Following a brief lecture by the pastor of the duties of an officer, 22 young people took places before a single lighted taper in the center of a table. Each marched around the table lighting candles as they spoke the league pledge. When the circle was complete the officers sang "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds" and repeated the league benediction.

Officers installed for the Senior Epworth league were Harry Powell, president; Ruth Long, co-president; Uel Feeler, vice president; Esther Mae Hodo, secretary; J. D. Lowry, treasurer; Alta Mae Johnson, Kathleen McCleskey, Dee Thurman McCleskey and Nellie Stephenson, department superintendents.

From the Hi league were Jack Frothing, president; Ha Merle Patterson, vice president; Roberta Dunagan secretary; Annie Johnson, treasurer; Doris Black, Theo Cosper, Elizabeth Ray Price, and Louise Wolcott, department superintendents and Tiny Smith, Epworth Era agent.

The Junior league was represented by Doris Tidwell, president; DeWitt Carr, vice president; Edwin Ferrell, secretary and Frank Nixon, treasurer.

Miss Lois Walker New President of Baptist Union

New officers were elected at the Young People's B. Y. P. U. Sunday evening. Miss Lois Walker heading the group as president. Others are Ray Coleman, vice president; Obara Hines, secretary; Kathryn Cosper, corresponding secretary; Annie Faye Dunagan, quiz leader; Leon Arnett, chorister; Ruby Kerby, pianist; Bobby Miller, treasurer; Conrad Dunagan and Nez Cosper, group captains.

Thirteen were present at the program on "Missions in Africa." Miss Kerby was leader.

Helpful Health Suggestions

Keep Teeth in Service. Eat the right kind of food. Such food consists, for the most part, of milk, fresh vegetables, whole cereals and fruits. Keep away from too much candy, pastry and other sugary edibles. Exercise the teeth by the thorough chewing of food. Do not use your teeth as nutcrackers, or for the purpose of biting off threads. Visit your dentist every six months. Give every care to the first set. It is just as important as a second set. Use a toothbrush regularly—on rising in the morning, after each meal if possible, and before going to bed. Rinse the mouth with lime water after cleansing the teeth. Pins were never made to serve as toothpicks. Keep them out of the mouth. Use silk floss to remove any food lodged between the teeth. —State Health News. Shoes—Lowest prices at McMullan's. HIGH SCHOOL HAS OPEN DATE; TO WATCH STEER-BISON AFFAIR

AUSTIN HIGH GAME LEAVES SQUAD IN SHAPE

A breathing spell comes to gridsters of the high school this week in the form of an open date, and Midland players and coaching staff will journey to Big Spring to scout the Steers and the Stanton Bisons Friday.

Both clubs will be played here, Stanton coming Friday week and Big Spring billed for the first conference game, Oct. 17.

As both clubs are hoped to beat Midland, the Bulldogs will have a double advantage in seeing the Big Spring-Stanton game in the probability that the opponents are near enough the same strength to require more than straight football in spots.

The Midland squad emerged from the Midland-Austin high game with negligible injuries, and secured in the knowledge that a pass defense must be worked up, as well as better conditioning.

Christian Science Churches "Reality" was the lesson-sermon subject in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Sept. 27.

James 1:17 furnished the golden text, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness neither shadow of turning."

The lesson-sermon embraced the following verses from the Bible (Psalms 93:2,5): "Thy throne is established of old; thou art from everlasting. Thy testimonies are very sure; holiness becometh thine house, O Lord, for ever."

Included in the service were the following citations from pp. 335 and 492 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal. For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other existence, since Life cannot be united to its unlikeliness, mortality."

SPORTS REPORTS

By R. C. HANKINS The village has quieted down from the scare thrown into it by those triple passing boys from El Paso, and marks of violence are disappearing. The Barrymen at the high school have a few disorders that will remain several days and one man we know will have a top knot the rest of the week.

It was good of the woman to leave us that pretty pillow at the park. If she'll come by the office we'll arrange to give it back. (P. S. She did not leave it intentionally.) Wonder if she had a bet on the game?

The post brings the following from Marcos of Big Spring: "Just want to hand you a little tip and let you in on a secret. You saw the Steers in their initial engagement and we plan to take the Doggies on Oct. 17 in much more decisive manner than Grant took the South. Just between a couple of lying sports-writers, the Steers have improved something like 75 per cent since the day you gazed with rapture upon the sweetest back to ever tread the turf in West Texas, I. e., to-wit, etc., Buck Dennis. I don't mean to say Dennis has improved that much, for you can't pass perfection. He can place the pigskin within the 10-yard mark nine times out of ten from his own 40-yard stripe and you well remember he can pass in a manner to delight even the heart of Ray Morrison.

or sell short before the Midland-Big Spring game brings to the youngsters' notice a rather versatile young man in our own backfield.

Midland's B team tied Stanton yesterday on the hulls of country club. The boys got away with the score sheets before our foursome, Number Seven, had finished its low ball match on the twentieth green. Walton and this duffer lost to Doc Moffett and Harding, 3-2, but could not decide the low ball without going north then south after coming in to the eighteenth. Saw Tom Rushing, Stanton schoolmaster, and Jim Harrison deciding their match on the nineteenth. Understand Rushing won.

About this horse controversy. One school contends the evolution of the noble animal from a smaller, closely affined animal, is understood by all horsemen. But Gerald Bloss and Leslie Floyd bring in the following information they have gleaned from some racing column. Neither believes it, but says the theory is interesting.

"Horses are descended from a 5-toed creature called Eohippus, which roamed the world centuries ago. One branch of the family became fat and are the present 'Hippos', while the other became larger and kept the sleek form so necessary to superlative speed.

"All thoroughbreds are descended from the three sires, the Byerly Turk, Godolphin's Arabian (or, as Floyd says, 'Barb') and the Darley Arabian. They will allow a horse to appear in the sacred stud book if, for five generations or crosses back, he has no so-called 'cold-blood' in his veins.

"The horse is the nearest approach to man of the four-footed beasts, and also one of man's best friends. Anatomically speaking, the horse is built remarkably like a human.

"Now as to the classical story of the birth of the thoroughbred horse. King Solomon, the wisest of his age, devised a plan for the betterment of the breed. He had every male horse of his army, 40,000 of them, penned up about two miles from a beautiful lake. For days he kept the beasts without water. They slowly were dying of thirst. Frantic, they tried in vain to break down the stockade. Finally the day for the supreme test of courage came.

"King Solomon and his entire court came down to watch the charge. At a given signal, the gates were thrown open and the herd rushed wildly towards the lake. Imagine the scene! Forty thousand horses in that wild rush.

"When the foremost horse had covered about three-fourths of the distance to the lake, the army buglers stepped out and blew a call that meant 'halt', and which every horse had been trained to understand. Five headed the call. They stopped in their tracks, arched their necks proudly and waited the orders of their masters.

"These five shall be the fathers of a new breed of horses, a breed so noted for speed, courage and intelligence that the world never again shall see their equal, and they shall be called thoroughbreds."

That's the story, and Gerald and Les stick to it.

Reports that Charlie Casper, speedy sophomore halfback, has dethroned Red Oliver as the fastest man on the T. C. U. football squad is not true. The Frog red-head is at least seven yards faster on the hundred than the sophomore, but Casper comes in a good second. Oliver is the fastest man in a football uniform in the south, and there are few football players in the nation that can match steps with him. The football players that can step the century in 9.6 seconds in a track suit are few and far between.

Harry Tolbert, who beat Stanton's Mr. Adams here yesterday, fired a shot off No. 9 tee that cut across the rough and fell within a hair's breadth of Jimmie Harrison. Harrison was on the down swing at the moment, and did a handspring backward, to all appearances, getting only 10 feet with his mashie. Tolbert had no idea the ball would go so far—and Harrison, who was hit in the back of the dome at San Angelo once, was glad to get the ten feet and pronounce himself safe.

Notice Pat Riley is back from a vacation in Atlanta. We understand he did not play Bobby Jones while there.

We counted our strokes on a certain hole and cited figures to show we were one over par. Someone told us figures don't lie, but that liars figure.

"Fumbles cost us the Midland game," Coach Luther Coblenz of the Austin high Panthers of El Paso gave out after reaching home. "Eight fumbles at critical times cost us our chances. But I'm satisfied with our showing. Midland has every bit as good a team as the one that beat us 33-18 last year." Austin plays at Las Cruces next Friday. We don't know anything about Las Cruces, but we'd suggest the latter place learn something of Austin high before the game. Austin will throw passes over all of New Mexico."

Incidentally, Austin has a real foe to buck for the city championship of El Paso. The El Paso high school Bengals bowled over the Douglass Bulldogs Friday night 44-0. A week before they flattened Ysleta's Bears 39-0. They have a tough assignment this week when they run against the Albuquerque Indians.

Talking Picture of Ford Plant Shown A sound motion picture graphically portraying the story of the Ford Motor company and its widespread activities will be exhibited free of charge in a special Ford exhibit to be held at Cowden-Epley Motor company, Midland, beginning Thursday, Oct. 1 and continuing through Saturday, Oct. 3. The show will be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The picture, entitled "A Tour Through the Ford Factory" will show the gathering of the raw materials, their arrival at the rouge plant in Dearborn, Michigan, and the numerous stages through which they pass in the process of making Ford cars and trucks. It is, in short, an education in the extent and the meaning of modern volume production.

While an unseen voice explains each scene, the audience is taken on a tour of the plant, through the great blast furnace building where ore is converted into iron; into the open hearth building where the iron becomes steel and is poured, a white hot liquid, into molds; into the blooming mill where the steel ingots are made into bars; and into the rolling mill where the long bars of hot steel are reduced to definite sizes. Forty kinds of steel, each of a composition to serve a definite purpose, are used in the Ford car and truck.

The picture also shows the manufacture of glass in an endless, unbroken strip, a process developed by Ford engineers; the machine shops in which parts for the car are manufactured; the pressed steel building with its gigantic presses; and the coke ovens and other units in which by-products are recovered to the extent of millions of dollars annually.

Throughout the picture one sees literally miles and miles of conveyers that take much of the manual labor off the backs of men. There are conveyers carrying newly arrived materials into the plant, other taking parts from one building to another, and, of course, the final assembly line, that famous conveyor on which the parts are put together to form the completed car.

In addition to the picture, there will be a representative line of Ford cars and trucks and display boards containing car and truck parts.

The cars alone are well worth a visit for they include body types to suit any taste and to meet any occasion. Particularly attractive are the de luxe cars in which upholstery appointments are of a kind and quality usually found only in more expensive automobiles.

All the body types are featured by Ford's new battery of line and color. The deep radiator, the wide generous fenders, and the graceful sweeping lines of the bodies contribute to a pleasing whole. The cars may be obtained in a variety of color combinations.

Saddle Theft Is Charged to Pair RANKIN.—E. E. Haynes and N. E. Williams, claiming their homes to be in Oklahoma and Kansas, respectively, were arrested in Rankin by Deputy Sheriff Schnaubert of Rankin. It is alleged that the two boys took saddles from the Elrod ranch near Stiles last week. They were brought to Big Lake jail Tuesday night.

Two saddles, belonging to Walton Poage and Tom Elrod, chaps, bridle, mackamore, blanket and spurs were taken by the pair at the Elrod ranch early one morning last week, it is alleged. The equipment was left at the Noelke ranch south of Rankin where the "punchers" were promised employment. Before leaving they informed the Noelke ranch foreman that they would be back in a day or two to go to work. The foreman investigated and believed the articles to have been taken at the Elrod ranch.

Bonds for these two men had not been set.

Most of the nudists can spend only their week-ends or vacations in camps. But they attend gymnasium exercises during the week and their food, clothing and mode of living are affected.

Intellectual and official Germany understands the nude idea and accepts it. But peasant Germany is horrified and many colonies have had to search long before they were able to locate a camp that would not be opposed by the native peasants in the locality.

TOMORROW: Julia Blanchard describes her visit to a nudist colony.

No Inspector For Scabies Now BIG LAKE.—Effective Sept. 1, Reagan county will not have a scabies inspector, according to the actions of the commissioners' court.

The court ordered owners of property abutting Second street to appear before a special called session to be held Sept. 21 to ascertain if satisfactory arrangements can be made to use that thoroughfare for the route of Highway 99 through this city.

The matter of redistricting the county as to commissioners' precincts carried over from August term of court was rejected by a majority vote. Commissioners of Precincts 1, 3 and 4 voted against any redistricting order and the commissioner of precinct 2 voted to act favorably on the petition of the voters and tax payers filed with the court in August.

All current bills and salaries were ordered paid, and other routine matters of the county's affairs looked after.

Rankin Gets Two Court Sessions RANKIN.—Two sessions of Upton county district court will be held in Rankin Monday when Judge C. R. Sutton opens 33rd district court or the fall term of that body. Judge Joe Montague will hold a special session of the 112th district court to dispose of the cases of former Upton county peace officers now under indictment for alleged murder charges growing out of the attempted robbery of the First State bank here in 1928. A change of venue will likely be asked.

A full docket of civil and criminal cases is the program of Judge Sutton's court which will continue for two weeks. The rumor that the cases of Jeff and Tim Harkey for assault to murder when the pair attempted to shoot Wm. Wiley; on the streets of Fort Stockton ten days ago while district court was in session in that city, could not be verified. Wiley is now under indictment for the fatal stabbing of Leigh Harkey, brother of Jeff and Tim Harkey, at a rodeo in Iran.

The case of Wiley was continued until the next term of court.
