GALLUP, N. M., Dec. 14. (UP)—Three hundred men, women and children today faced death from freezing in a mission at Ganada, Arizona, where the fuel supply is exhausted. Three tons of coal, which reached the mission over snow-choked roads Sunday, lasted only eight hours. Snow plows were unable to clear the roads. The temperature was 15 degrees below zero and getting colder.

Consuela was bound over to the care of a brother who lives here.

"Honest Mayor" Is Indicted 26 Times In Election Case

BEAUMONT, Texas, Dec. 14. — A Texas mayor who six years ago played the role of "Honest Abe" in the 25th birthday celebration of the city over which he ruled today faces trial on 26 charges of election fraud.

He is J. P. (Pink) Logan, of Port Arthur, self-styled champion of the rights of the people, indicted 26 times by a criminal district court grand jury on charges of conspiracy in election and poll tax frauds. Conviction means a term in the state prison. His trial is the first case scheduled for Jan. 11.

Logan began his political career a dozen years ago in the fast-growing city of Port Arthur, where two of the world's largest oil refineries are located. He was elected mayor and re-elected time and again. Three years ago, a political upheaval caused his defeat, but last May he staged a comeback. Soon afterward, a grand jury at Beaumont began the inquiry that ended in indictment of Logan and five others.

In 1925, a group of Port Arthur citizens let their beards grow for several weeks to participate in a pageant in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the city's founding. Mayor Logan was major and permitted his beard to grow. It grew in a way that made him resemble Abraham Lincoln and he was given a part in the jubilee to represent "Honest Abe."

TO DEDICATE CHURCH

RIOTING CHECKED BY U. S.

Disturbances Result From Assault of Officer's Wife

HONOLULU, Dec. 14. (UP)—Military officials today maintained peace where rioting started Saturday when United States sailors kidnaped a Japanese accused of assaulting a white officer's wife. The sailors stripped and beat Horace Ida, one of the five Japanese acquitted of the assault, then threatened to hurl him from a 1000-foot cliff. Police called for aid from a naval station when they were unable to handle the situation. Fighting continued throughout the week end. Several hundred sailors were arrested.

POLITICS HOLD SWAY IN TEXAS MOST OF 1932

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 14. (UP)—Politics will hold sway in Texas for the greater part of 1932. It is the year for the combined national and state campaigns. Democrats must hold primary elections. Republicans can nominate by convention alone.

Already a battle over delegations to the democratic national convention is taking shape. Advocates of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York were in the field early. During sessions of the legislature last year many of the state's political leaders were put on record for the New Yorker as a presidential candidate.

At this stage there seems to be a well defined effort of others to pledge the Texas delegation either to Speaker John N. Garner as a "favorite son" or to Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma. No Murray activities have been carried on in Texas officially. The Garner boom has a state organization with Houston headquarters.

An effort to force presidential primaries was made by Rep. T. H. McGregor, loyal supporter of former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. The movement attained no headway.

Former Governor Dan Moody and others who fought the nomination of Alfred E. Smith, the Houston convention, so far, have made no public move, other than to assert that economic conditions, not liquor, must have the democratic party's attention.

The actual battle will begin on May 7, though its outcome may be determined before the forces join issue. On May 7, precinct conventions will be held. At these precinct meetings, delegates will be named to county conventions to be held May 10. The county conventions, in turn, will name delegations to the state convention, May 24. That convention will select and instruct the Texas delegation. If the forces are evenly enough matched, it is highly probable the Texas delegation will go uninstructed but directed to vote as a unit.

Long before the smoke of this battle has cleared the Texas democrats will be in the heat of a battle for state officers. Candidates have until June 6 to file applications for ballot places in state races. For offices within one county they can wait until June 18.

Governor Ross Sterling declines to discuss the next race for governor. In doing so he keeps the advantage of a first-term governor being presumed to be a candidate for reelection because of the precedent.

Clint Small of Wellington, third man in the last campaign for governor, and Attorney General James V. Allred are both frequently mentioned as possible candidates. Small is avowedly so and at one time had his formal announcement prepared. Allred apparently prefers to seek reelection as attorney general but if Governor Sterling should not ask re-election, would likely announce. State Representative T. H. McGregor, Austin, is being urged to get in the race. He has been a stalwart Ferguson supporter. East Texas, too, may enter an anti-marital law candidate.

At this stage it is believed that the Ferguson family has an eye on congress and, unless the state is re-districted, that either "Ma" or "Pa" or both will be candidates for congressional seats. If the state is congressionally re-districted, Mrs. Ferguson may again run for governor. In a recent significant statement "Governor Jim" declared the state now is in a situation like that which resulted in Sam Houston being called a "third term" to direct

Futile Dash for Liberty Brings Death and Suffering

As federal penitentiary guards, soldiers and volunteer possmen closed in on three prisoners who had barricaded themselves in the farm home of Emerson Salisbury several miles west of Leavenworth Friday afternoon. One guard in uniform is shown preparing to fire from behind a tree. It was in the upstairs room nearest that guard that the three fugitives were killed after they and others had compelled Warden Thomas B. White to accompany them in a dash for liberty from the prison. It was in this dash that the warden was shot in the arm.

GETS 14 STATIONS

Mrs. George Streeter went a reporter on The Reporter-Telegram several better.

The reporter listened over the telephone Saturday to Paris, Berlin and Rome, relayed to him by the army radio station at Sloan field.

Mrs. Streeter picked up on her radio a relayed program from Paris that offered by remote control the following cities over the world: London, Brussels, Berlin, Rome, Warsaw, Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo, Madrid, Manila, Buenos Aires, Honolulu and Montreal.

The announcer in the Philippines was saying good morning and remarking at the beautiful sunset; and it was 4 o'clock at the time here.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

There's always the shopping done before Christmas.

Minister Offered Steaks off Horse; Ate It in France

Choice juicy steaks from a fat horse colt are promised a Midland minister who is said once to have consumed horse flesh in France if he will attend the horse races at Cowboy park Christmas week.

Timberline Floyd has been trying to get rid of some of his horses. He offered to trade a horse for anything, even a can of stringed beans if the can were big enough.

This week, the head man of Cowboy park, Timberline himself, in person, heard that one of the Midland preachers used to have to eat horse meat while he was soldiering in France.

"If that preacher will attend the horse races at Cowboy park Christmas week, I'll give him a fat colt to eat," Timberline declared.

"That'll be a hoss on the parson if he eats it, and the horse laugh will be on me if he actually comes," the rancher chuckled as he contemplated a minister of the gospel, masticating a portion of the quarruped mammal, known in common parlance throughout the south as a hoss.

Penn Tubbs Well Is Being Plugged

The Penn-Southwest No. 1 J. B. Tubbs, Crane county, is being plugged this week as the result of encountering sulphur water from 4,505 to 4,510 feet in lime that could not be bailed down.

The test struck water last Tuesday and was shut down at 4,510 feet. It had only minor gas and oil shows. The well is the second in the area that has failed to obtain production. Cranfill Bros. No. 1 J. T. Muir, striking sulphur water from 4,452-57 feet.

Note to Santa Is Embarrassing

It always pays to think before signing anything. Ask Miss Ella Mae Newland, pretty high school junior.

Miss Newland wrote Santa a letter for little Joyce Bert Rosenbaum, but signed her own name perforce of habit.

The letter came out in Sunday's Reporter-Telegram informing Santa that Miss Newland had "been a good little girl, and I would like for you to please bring me a desk, a telephone, cooking set, little boy doll, and lots of candy nuts and fruit."

Miss Newland thought nothing of the omission until she read the paper Sunday morning. She was so embarrassed she did not want to attend Sunday school.

A reporter called her at school this morning: "Sorry, but I thought you were a little girl," he said. "Was it embarrassing to see your letter to Santa?"

Miss Newland was still embarrassed, as could be detected over the telephone. She will write no more letters to Santa.

She is suddenly a very grown up young woman.

ASSASSINATION OF GOV. MURRAY IS THREATENED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 14. (UP) Governor Murray was warned in a telegram today that his assassination was being plotted.

The telegram warned the governor to avoid automobile accidents during his speaking trips supporting his initiative tax program.

Murray refused to reveal the source of the telegram.

Slow Response to Welfare Request

Things were brightening up in the employment line in Midland Monday, according to W. A. Yeager, chairman of the employment committee. Mrs. Sallye Covington of the chamber of commerce office reported four regular jobs lined up for unemployed people. A survey of the Welfare association shows, however that at least 50 jobs will be needed between now and Jan. 1. Anybody who will employ a man or woman at 20 cents an hour is asked to telephone No. 39.

$25 Reward Is Offered by C. C.

Petty thievery of Christmas street decorations has resulted in the chamber of commerce offering a $25 reward to anyone who causes the arrest and conviction of any person guilty.

Several colored bulbs have been taken, and thieves have been active generally during the past few days. "Anyone caught removing property of the chamber of commerce will be vigorously prosecuted, and a jail sentence insisted upon," an official said.

All C. C. Directors Asked to Attend

George D. McCormick, acting president of the Midland chamber of commerce, is asking that all of the 21 directors of the chamber attend the meeting tonight at 7:30. The meeting promises to be short, but important matters requiring attention of a majority of the directors will come up, McCormick said.

EGYPTIAN TOOTHACHES

Dr. Roy L. Moodie, of the dental college of the University of Southern California, has spent the past two years studying the teeth of Egyptian mummies; and he rises now to remark that the ancient Egyptians knew nothing whatever about dental hygiene and that most of them were toothless at 40—after, presumably, having suffered from enough toothaches to make the bravest man tremble.

All of this may have been the Egyptians' hard luck and not ours; but there is something peculiarly interesting in it, for it suggests a new way of looking at history. And if you follow it through you may lose a little of that universal human habit of looking back regretfully at the good old days of long ago.

Briefly, it indicates that the various "golden ages" of the past must have had a great many rough places in them. Our own age may be unexciting, but we can at least relieve the ills of the flesh a lot more rapidly and efficiently than our forefathers could.

It might have been nice to live in old Egypt—or in Periclean Greece, or Augustan Rome, or in any other of those spacious days of bygone centuries. But would you have liked living in a time and place where there was no remedy for a toothache short of knocking the aching tooth out with a cold chisel?

This, very likely, is an excessively prosaic way of looking at things; yet when you multiply a succession of minor aches and pains far enough you get a sum total of discomfort great enough to put your whole life off key. To have no way of fixing ailing teeth, to lack even the most rudimentary form of eye glasses, to be obliged to leave such troublesome things as infected sinuses totally unattended, to have to put up with bad tonsils and overgrown adenoids no matter how bad they get—is the prospect pleasant?

We probably lack some things that the ancients had, these days. Yet we do live in almost infinitely greater physical comfort, and the fact is worth remembering. It makes up for a lot of things we may be missing.

WRITING TO CRIMINALS

One of the oddest American customs is the widespread habit of writing letters to men who are accused of crimes.

West Virginia's "Bluebeard" has been deluged with letters from total strangers ever since his arrest. The Philadelphia youth who shot his sister's lover has been getting eight or 10 letters a day. Capone receives scores of them. The only criminal who gets no fan mail is the one who had no newspaper publicity at all.

It is an odd business. Why do people write such letters? What is there in human nature that makes any man held for murder the object of so much frantic scribbling? It would take an extremely wise psychologist—or, perhaps, a psychiatrist—to read the riddle.

GIVING FOR CHARITY

Community chest campaigns in 154 cities of the United States this fall have netted a grand total of more than $63,000,000, according to reports made to the president's unemployment committee.

This result is gratifying. It indicates that the American people are not only willing to give to relieve distress—they are still able to give, in spite of the business depression.

But no one should grow to complacent about it. After all, there are, by the most conservative estimates, 6,000,000 men out of work. These community chest contributions, then, come to about $10 apiece for all of the jobless. It was a fine thing to raise so much money by voluntary contributions; but no one need think that we can sit back now and forget all about the needs of the poverty-stricken. What we have done was only, after all, the very least we could do.

Side Glances . . . . . by Clark

Can you start from one point of the above diagram and move a pencil the entire length of every line, without removing the pencil or going over the same line twice? "Say, boss, can I have an afternoon off this week? The wife wants me to go with her to buy something for our kids."

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

Let now as the premier race horse man of the territory. Nettie Harrison doesn't know her own speed. Trying to run the eighth and quarter mile events, she was only kidding herself and her owner, not to mention the spectators. When she stepped out to the three-eighths event she had it all to herself Saturday.

I've heard of a printing shop that meets all the requirements of the industrial accident board. One of our boys was over at Wink Sunday and saw a print shop with a hospital in the back of it. Another thing he noticed, and which concerned him considerably, was that nearly all the cars he saw were filled with girls. Only occasionally was a boy seen with them. What could be wrong over there? Is it that the boys have been ostracized? Some adventurous young men from here should go over and make a check-up.

Who originated the old line about "the woman pays and pays"? I read where a fellow was jailed in Chicago the other day for failure to pay alimony to his ninth wife. Men who have only one race horse are getting worried around here now. Those Roman riders, standing on the backs of two mounts at the same time, copped all of the glory Saturday afternoon and have given the boys here something new to worry about. They whisper about Jay Floyd being a good Roman rider, but we haven't seen him work out yet. Maybe he is working his teams out in the country somewhere. I don't mean his plow teams, I mean his Roman teams.

Everybody has some snooty man who causes a lot of worry when it is time to buy his gift.

If you are afflicted with such a name on your Christmas list, a new little gadget may answer your problem perfectly. This is a solid silver key ring which also flatters the ego by being an initial. It can just as easily be a monogram, if you prefer it. The keys fit right onto the letter S, in this instance. It is handy, a perfect size and quality for a gift, and its novelty makes it appealing.

NEVER BITE A COP

BALTIMORE, Md.—Mildred Hamilton was a guest of a colored jam-boree which started out quietly enough but which ended up in a riot and free-for-all. Police hurried to the party and Patrolmen Edward Eben encountered Mildred, much to his agony. In reaching for her he got his thumb in the way of her teeth. Mildred bit heavily on the digit and only a few resounding whacks over her head with his club made her let go.

By LARRY MACPHAIL
 Chairman NEA Service All-America Board

The above represents the All-America team chosen for The Reporter-Telegram by the 33 members of the NEA Service All-America Board.

The members awarded the places by election. A first-team selection counted for 5 points; a second team appointment 3 points. The second and third teams are shown nearby on this page.

More than 580 reports were made by the coaches, writers and officials who are members of the board, and who represent every section of the country where football is played. Every major college team in America, every outstanding player from every section has been observed in action from two to eight times during the season by at least one member, and in some cases by as many as a dozen members of the board.

As a result nearly 90 players were nominated for All-America consideration. The selections represent a consensus of opinion in which every part of the country has a voice, as the final selections were made by election of the candidates named.

Dalrymple Leads Ticket

Gerald Dalrymple received the highest vote of any member of the team. This was the second year in which a man from the south led the balloting. Fred Sington of Alabama taking the honor in 1930, the first year of the NEA board's existence.

There was less unanimity of selection for the other end. Henry Cronkite, captain of the Kansas Aggies earned a shade over John Orsi of Colgate by reason of his remarkable physique and pass-catching quality, members reported.

There were no outstanding tackles in any part of the country, but good ones were plentiful. Consistently high class work won berths for Jack Riley and Joe Kurth. North western's opponents were practically unanimous in rating Riley the best tackle they met all season, and Notre Dame's opponents gave Kurth similar praise. Observers reported Dallas Marvil not as versatile as his teammate Riley, though he excelled in meeting plays straight on.

Guards Who Can Kick

Clarence Munn and John Baker were outstanding at the guard positions. Munn was not only a fine defensive player in the line, but was used in the backfield occasionally and was one of the best punters in the Big Ten. Baker was said to be the best guard seen on the Pacific coast in years and was one of the sources most responsible for Trojan glory. He was an inspirational player and was invaluable in diagnosing plays when backing up the line. In addition he kicked off consistently better than any other player in the country.

Nordy Hoffman of Notre Dame was a fine guard but was injured in the Trojan game and of little use to his team against Army. Henry Hickman probably was the best lineman in the south in a year that produced few great line players south of the Mason-Dixon line.

There was little to choose at center between the men named on the three teams. Maynard Morrison's great defensive ability gave him the call.

Marchmont Schwartz was chosen for the first All-America selected by the board, in 1930, and his work during 1931 warrants his retention. There was not much argument about his running mate, Pug Rentner.

Wood Brilliant

The play of Barry Wood, up to the Yale game, which closed the season for Harvard, was especially brilliant. His coolness under fire and remarkable rallying power was not equaled by another signal caller in the country this year.

Erny Pinkert has gained the reputation of being the best blocking back in football. In addition he is a strong runner and backs up a line in splendid fashion.

Honorable mention was accorded the following men by the board:

ENDS—Barres, Yale; Williamson, Michigan; Arbelbide, So. California; Cavalleri, Holy Cross; Kosky, Notre Dame.

TACKLES—Quatse, Pittsburgh; Leyendecker, Vanderbilt; Rhea, Nebraska; Haubrich, Ohio State; Schwelger, Washington; Tozer, California.

LIKES OLD FLIVVIR

With the same regard former doctors had for their horse and buggy, Dr. C. G. McCall holds tightly to his old flivvir. As the former doctor distrusted the new fangled auto, so does the Midland doctor feel towards the improved flivvir.

After a recent bump his machine received in a slight traffic mishap, the doctor told the one who hit him: "That's all right; doesn't look like either of us got much the worst of it."

"Someone told him he should buy a new car anyway."

"I would," the doctor said, "but they're pretty fast, aren't they? You know I'd be afraid the things would just out from under me."

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the lesson-sermon was "God the Preserver of Man," in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, December 13.

Psalms 91:1 furnished the golden text: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

The service embraced the following passage from the Bible: "Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?"—Matthew 6:31.

Included in the lesson-sermon was also this citation from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this, Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, presuming not on the prerogative of his creator, but recognizing God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe man as He doth the lilies' (p. 530)."

It is one of 32 posts to be abandoned under an economy program of the war department.

BIG NEED FOR TOYS FRIDAY EXPRESSED

Aside from the fact that many poor children are likely to awaken Christmas day and find their stockings empty, it appears that nothing short of strong and immediate response from the public will guarantee enough toys for children who attend the Christmas tree program to be held Friday night, according to Mrs. Harvey Sloan, committee woman.

"Won't everybody help?" she asked. "The greater number of people seem to be unaware of just how close at hand Christmas is. Midland cannot afford to disillusion the large number of poor children. Please telephone the chamber of commerce or Mr. Harold Becherer at the city hall and arrange to give what you can afford."

Liquor Lacking? No—Just Money

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 14. (UP)—The lack of funds with which to buy bootleg liquor is one factor which has resulted in federal prohibition agents filing fewer cases against bootleggers during the last few months, United States Commissioner Lee R. Smith, said.

Federal prohibition agents rarely attempt to take a liquor case until after they have made an actual purchase of liquor in connection with it, Smith said. But the lack of funds has not permitted the agents to go out and buy liquor from the bootleggers, Smith explained.

Smith said the small number of cases also was attributed to the fact that fewer bootleggers have been active the last few months.

Telephone Row Continues Hotly

AMARILLO, Dec. 14. (UP)—"The public the mischief!" says the Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

Speaking through its chief counsel, Judge Nelson Phillips of Dallas, arguing with the Amarillo city commission over the question of rates, the Telephone company explained with "the public the mischief!" the public is wrong!

"The telephone company is always right," Judge Phillips asserted at another point in the argument. At the same time the company set itself up above the city charter and all local law and regulatory power, declaring in effect that if the city refused to grant a franchise without rates written into it, then the telephone company would take possession of the city's streets and alleys for its own business without a franchise.

In rebuttal to this the city commission hotly contended that no city in Texas can be emasculated of its power to regulate the use of its streets and alleys.

"Neither are we going to be drawn into a lawsuit with the telephone company by passing an ordinance regulating telephone rates, as the company wants us to do," said Mayor Ernest O. Thompson. "Such an ordinance would mean an injunction and endless court action, during which time the telephone company would go on charging its own rates. We have the experience of Fort Worth and Houston staring us in the face."

"We always win our lawsuits because we are always right," Judge Phillips said in his rejoinder.

The company tried to focus attention on its earnings of 1930 which were moderate, rather than 1930 and 1931 earnings, which ran more than 10 per cent, even including a "going concern" item of $216,000 among the investments. This item is interpreted as good will and readiness to serve.

Appraisal of local investment is to be made on present replacement cost, less depreciation, and another rate conference will be held Feb. 9. The city commission is willing to allow 7 1/2 or 8 per cent earnings.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Other officers were re-elected. District Judge Charles L. Klapproth lectures to the class each Sunday morning.

Jimmie Noland will read before the class Sunday.

CHICAGO, Ill. (UP)—Rooms for 60 cents a week and meals for 11 cents each sounds like a fairy tale even in these days of depression, but they are facts at Berea college, at Berea, Kentucky.

Dr. William J. Hutchins, father of the president of the University of Chicago, is head of the school.

Men and women students with the background that gave the nation Lincoln, Clay and Daniel Boone, earn their way through college by weeding, making furniture and by growing food crops. They milk cows, shoe horses and make brooms. In this way they earn the $146 needed for a year's tuition including books, room and board. The school age ranges from 16 to 50.

While pursuing the college courses, each student learns a trade. The products of the students are to be exhibited at Chicago and later sold to enable the students to continue in school.

Presuming that a run-off primary is required to elect state officers, as usual, the state race and its resultant activities will not end until Sept. 6, when the state convention drafts a platform.

By that time the merry whirl of the general election will be under way from which Texas voters will get no respite until the last ballots are cast Nov. 8.

"I often used to wish I was dead. Couldn't sleep; couldn't enjoy myself. It seems as though I had tried every nerve medicine made, but without any benefit until I tried Dr. Miles' Efferescent Nerve Tablets. They certainly proved their worth for me. I am the happiest woman in the world and I don't mean maybe."
