AUSTIN, Nov. 2. (UP)—Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, after a conference with Governor Sterling, announced today that he is confident there will be a special session of the Texas legislature for oil legislation.

Woodward said he expected the formal call before night. He confirmed the report that 19 senators have agreed that if the special session is called they will see that action is limited to oil legislation and will make the session short.

Woodward, administration floor leader, said the session could be under way by tomorrow.

Both Woodward and Senator Woodul of Houston conferred with the governor J. Edgar Pew of Dallas also saw the governor again.

Governor Sterling has been assured there will be no difficulty about a change of legislators before next January, it was learned. He had called in Dan Moody for a conference.

The 19 senators are said to have declared in favor of a market demand law.

"I believe the session will be tomorrow," Woodward said.

She had been in West Texas since 1886, living for a time with an older son, Sam H. Stokes, pioneer Sutton county ranchman, who died a year ago, and later with her son here, J. V. Stokes, who has ranched in Midland and along the Pecos river country for 46 years.

Funeral services were to be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Ellis funeral home, the Rev. Winston F. Borum, pastor of the First Baptist church of which she was a member, officiating. Interment will be at Pursley, Texas, in Navarro county, where a son and daughter are buried.

Mrs. A. E. Stokes was married in 1856 in Madison county, Texas, her husband and three of his brothers having come over to Alabama from

Her family continued to move westward, ahead of settlements, three of her sons, including the Midland ranchman, having had much to do with the early occupation of West Texas as a ranch country. Her brother, John M. Dawson, was owner of the big TX ranch at Horsehead Crossing on the Pecos river.

EXPLORATIONS INTO THE UNKNOWN

A University of California professor, using an electromagnetic gun, has broken down an atom of lithium; and while most of us couldn't begin to understand this experiment even if someone drew a diagram of it for us, science hails it as a great achievement, and it may ultimately have a very profound influence on what our grandchildren think and feel and believe.

For what this California physicist is trying to do is to discover the composition of matter — that unspeakably deep mystery which, these days, seems to float almost within reach of the microscopes, the test tubes and the complicated paraphernalia of the physical laboratory. And if, by chance, he should succeed, the philosophers and the theologians will have material enough to set them theorizing for a century.

Each new bit of genuine knowledge about the way the world is made modifies mankind's conception of its own place in the world and its own destiny. The borderland of the unknown has been retreating ever since the stone age, and, as it withdraws, men's ideas about what They are and where they came from and what they are supposed to be doing here have broadened and developed. -But this development, lately, hasn't been altogether good for us. It has led, in many quarters, to pessimism and materialism; forces which have seeped down persistently, leaving many of us with a feeling that we are helpless creatures gone astray in an utterly indifferent universe, creatures who have neither a sure home beyond the sunset nor a very enduring one on earth. Our literature, our philosophies, our religion-all have felt the effect. We know too much, perhaps—or is it just possible that we do not know half enough? A week or so ago one of Sing Sing's best players finished serving his sentence—three years for burglary—and was released. The present is not a favorable time for a man to come out of prison looking for a job; but this man got one, and his chances to make an honest living are excellent. He had played such good football at Sing Sing, you see, that he was given a contract with a professional team as soon as he had been given his freedom.

So now he is a professional athlete, instead of being just an ex-convict looking for a job. It goes without say ing that the sports world wishes him all kinds of luck.

MAKE THEM PAY!

The plan of Chicago's city officials to end the "taxpayers' strike" in that city by depriving those who don't pay their taxes of such essential services as city water, garbage collection and so on looks as if it ought to be highly effective.

Chicago has approximately $200,000,000 coming to it in taxes which are sadly overdue. Originally, these taxes went unpaid because of the scandalous mess into which politicians in charge of assessment and tax-levying managed to get the city; but a good deal of this mess has been straightened out by now, and those citizens who still refuse to pay are simply destroying their city's credit.

The proposal to cut these people off from essential city services ought to cause a lot of them to look at things in a new light. Some of them, of course, simply can't pay and for such people, allowances undoubtedly will be made. Those who can pay but won't, however, deserve drastic treatment.

the recent automobile salon, held at the Olympia here, is catering to none but British consumers, and confining himself to changed design ratiner than mechanical improvements. What there is in the way of fluid clutches, free wheeling, gadgets and other mechanical developments in British cars this year is largely based on American discoveries.

More than ever before, British manufacturers have set themselves to give a satisfactory response to the three big questions every British prospective purchaser asks:

1. What is the tax on the car? This is very important beause in Great British there is a government tax of about $4.80 per horsepower.

There was a time in Britain when there were not many British makes between the very big expensive ones. The middle field was largely captured by the Americans. But the objection to most American cars was their high horsepower. This even the cleir high horsepower.

But one day I caught an unusually large one—that is to say, I got him on my line and struggled to pull him into the boat. Pansy saw me battling with the monster and leaped gleefully to my assistance.

Suddenly the fish leaped and swallowed her whole, and in the excitement of the moment I let go the line and he swam away.

Coffee and Election Cake Refreshments For Election Party

old - fashioned election cake with coffee.

The traditional election cake is dark, rich, spicy and fruity—a most delectable concoction that our grandmothers reasoned would appeal particularly to the mentous who did the voting in those days

Election Cake
One compressed yeast cake, 1 cup lukewarm water, 1 tablespoon granulated sugar, 2 teaspons salt, 1 tablespoon lard, 6 cups flour, 1 cup butter or other shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 3 eggs, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup shredded citron, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 1-2 teaspoons soda.

Dissolve yeast cake in lukewarm water. Add lard, granulated sugar, salt and 2 cups flour. Mix thoroughly and let stand in a warm place over night, or six to eight hours. Then cream butter and slowly beat in brown sugar, beating until creamy. Add one-half cup of flour and mix thoroughly. Add eggs well beaten. Add raisins, citron and lemon juice and beat into batter. Mix and sift remaining flour with spices and stir into mixture. Mix thoroughly and turn into buttered and flour deep cake pans. Cover with a cloth and let stand in a warm place until double in bulk. # WHAT IS IT.. and how does it improve cigarette taste?

VOU'VE heard how fruit of one variety has been crossed with fruit of another to produce a new and more pleasing flavor. The loganberry, for example, is a cross between the raspberry and the blackberry.

Chesterfield's Cross-Blend gets the same result—better taste by a different method.

It welds together the different kinds of several varieties of tobacco. Many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley Turkish tobacco are all merged into one - Chesterfield tobacco.

This welding or Cross-Blending goes beyond ordinary blending or mixing tobaccos together. It actually makes every kind of tobacco in Chesterfield partake of the qualities of every other type.

It's the Cross-Blending of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that gives Chesterfields a distinctive, better taste.

They are milder. They have a flavor and aroma which, we believe, you will like.

This will be the final nonconference game of the year for the Frogs and will be played under electric lights.

The 27 to 0 defeat that Texas Christian handed the erratic Bruins was the result of long runs and passes by the purple backs. Dennis and Spearman each ran 50 yards to score and it was Dennie who threw two passes to put his mates in scoring distance the other times.

Primarily the Bears were defeated by the big line of Texas Christian. The Bears held them in check the first quarter, but after that, the Christian blockers had things their own way.

The taunt enraged Sharkey, who hurled himself against Jeff's woolly body with both hands whanging a tattoo as he roared, "I'll show you who is the stronger!" tattoo as he roared, "I'll show you who is the stronger!"

The ringsiders stood to cheer that brave reprisal.

They battled on, the advantages was now with the one. again with the other. Then, suddenly, with what many observers contend was the hardest punch ever delivered. Tom let go with a left that caught Jeff high on the head—and Tom stood back to watch a champion (fall. But the oaken Jeffries only swayed, and his knees sagged a trifle.

Delker District 3 Score Leader

District 3 has a new scoring leader in George Delker, smashing San Angelo fullback, who scored one touchdown and kicked six out of eight extra points in his team's 61 to 0 landslide over Midland.

Bud Hall, Colorado speedster who was dethroned by Delker's spurt, was idle, as was Sheridan of Sweetwater. Richbourg, Big Spring, scored one of his club's touchdowns against McCamey.

Now who's the district 3 favorite?

Yet, Sweetwater beat Abilene 20-0, while San Angelo lost to the Eagles 9-7. Which tends to show the Ponies than the Bobcats. BUT the dope in district 3 games tends to disprove this.

The Texas Interscholastic Athletic association offers two conference championship games Friday when Texas A. & I. invades Brownwood to play the Daniel Baker Hill Bilies, and Sul Ross goes to Canyon to battle the West Texas Teachers. The West Texas Teachers. The West Texas Teachers. The West Texas Teachers and wolves meet the Colorado downed McCamey 21-6, thus Big Spring's score against McCamey, 14-0, proves that when the Steers and Wolves meet the Colorado downed McCamey 21-6, thus Big Spring's score against McCamey, 14-0, proves that when the Steers and Wolves meet the Colorado is a couple touchdowns better than the Ponies as Colorado wins the district hands down.

Yet Colorado only beat Midland 3-0, while both San Angelo and Sweetwater beat them more than twice that much, So both the Ponies and the Bobcats are four touchdowns better than the Conceded championship games Friday when Texas Conference conyonation to battle the West Texas Teachers. The West Tex and the Bobcats are four touchdowns better than the conceded champions

And they wonder why that wild look out of a sports writer's eyes.

Roscoe and Winters played a 0-0 tie. San Angelo beat Winters 13-0, while Big Spring won over Roscoe 24-0. Thusly the Steers are a couple of touchdowns better than the Bob-cats who are one touchdown better than the Ponies who have beaten the Steers by a couple of touch-downs. Therefore the Sweetwater entry is two touchdowns better than a team who is one touchdown better than they (the Ponies) are. And vice versa.

Won't someone please hit us on the head?

Yet Big Spring beat Stanton 38-0 while Midland won over the Stanton team 20-0, which is the same as saying that Big Spring is only three touchdowns better than Midland, while San Angelo was eight or nine touchdowns better than the Bull-dogs. Martin, facing separation from his wife through divorce proceedings filed recently, shot Mrs. Martin Saturday afternoon and fired a bullet into his own brain. He died two hours later.

Shortly before the tragedy, Martin offered to pay his wife's attorney half the divorce fee with the statement: "I hate to give her up."

Neighbors furnished funeral clothing for Mrs. Martin when they were united to find her own things, apparently sent to a brother in San Francisco in anticipation of a visit, they said.

LEADS TO GRAVE

EL PASO, Nov. 2.—Their last ride together—

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Martin, victims of a marital murder and suicide, are to be taken on a 700-mile trup to Temple, Tex., by truck. The journey starts, this atternoon.

Martin's brother, Jay, will drive the truck carrying two plain caskets, side by side, to Martin's home town for burial together.

The cortege will travel over part of the same road used by Martin last Friday when he returned from Dallas with his son, jobless and discouraged, to kill his wife and end his own life the next day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Forty-seven million persons have quaiffied to vote in next Tuesday's general elections, exceeding by ichrand a half million the record-shattering registration of 1928.

A state by state survey shows exactly 46,962,230 persons eligible to participate in the 1932 presidential balloting. This compares with a national registration of 42,387,254 for the Hoover-Smith contest four years ago and is an increase of 10,166,561 over the actual vote cast in that peak year of ballot marking.

The unprecedented determination of voters of both sexes to take part in next week's ballot march is indicated in virtually every state.

While registration had to be estimated in many states because of the lack of an official central statistical collection agency, the figures reveal decreases only in sixe states—Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Pennsylvania and Texas—and the same estimate as in 1928 for Minnesota and Wyoming. In some of these cases the 1932 estimates may be more conservative than four years ago, but in others the regisbe more conservative than four years ago, but in others the regis-tration actually has dropped off for

No Animals Hunted HINKLE, ZELLER CLICK 1ST YEAR

GREEN BAY, Wis .- It is seldom that a college player makes good in the "pro" game his first year, but the Green Bay Packers, three times champions of the National Football League, have picked two gridiron performers right from the "rah-rah" ranks, and they promise to be stars before the season ends in December in December.

They are Clark Hinkle, All-America fullback at Bucknell University last year, and Joseph Zeller, All-Conference guard from the University last year. versity of Indiana. Both men were captains.

Red Grange, the greatest ball carrier the game has known, was a "washout" during his first year in "pro" ball, but not Clark Hinkle. The Bucknell tullback, who weighs 250 pounds, has won a home in Green Bay by his work in the first five or six games of the season and there is every indication that he will be one of the regulars in the Packer line-up for some time to come.

Hinkle not only is a great ball carrier and defensive player, but is leading the league in punting. It appears Coach "Curly" Lambeau has found a worthy successor to the great Verne Lewellen, formerly of Nebraska, who has been doing the team's punting for eight seasons. Lewellen, regarded by football experts as the greatest kicker in football's history, averaged from 65 to 70 yards during his heyday. Lewellen, still with the Packers, is playing bang-up football.

Zeller, weighing 198 pounds, is an aggressive guard, fast and a good man in interference. The Packers had signed up Herman Hickman, All-America guard from Tennessee in 1931, but he was injured while wrestling. The Packers haven't even missed him because Zeller has "made good" in a big way.

Zeller gets down under the punts almost as quickly as an end and he is a sure tackler. Captain Lambeau is proud of these two finds, for the usual college player is of very little value in the post-graduate game the first year, no matter how good he may have been when he played for his alma mater.
