Minter Addresses Joint Session of City Service Clubs

SEVENTY-FIVE HEAR PROGRAM TODAY AT NOON

Visitors Contribute By Playing and Singing

The Rev. Kenneth C. Minter gave an inspirational Thanksgiving address at a joint luncheon of the Lions and Rotary clubs today at Hotel Scharbauer. Approximately 75 were present.

The meeting was presided over by Marion F. Peters, president of the Lions club. The Lions orchestra played at the beginning and during the luncheon. The Rev. W. H. F. Borum, song leader for the Rotary club, led the singing.

Good Program Jack Hazeltine, Rotarian, who with M. M. Seymour arranged the program, served as program chairman, introducing first Mrs. Foy Proctor, who sang two numbers, an Irish melody and a popular air. Mrs. Holt Jewell played her piano accompaniment.

Guests were introduced, including A. C. Williamson, Sweetwater Rotarian, and E. E. Hendricks of Lubbock. Peters announced the election of Dr. John B. Thomas as a new director of the Lions club to succeed the Rev. Edwin C. Calhoun who had moved from the city.

Lions Get Awards Announcement also was made that three Lions, M. C. Ulmer, A. E. Horst, and B. G. Graha, had received from Lions International Lion keys, the highest recognition for outstanding work in the field of membership expansion. Curtis Bond, who has moved to Lubbock, also received this recognition.

John P. Butler announced the campaign against diphtheria being carried on by the Midland county health board.

Professor Theophilus Fitz then was introduced and sang two numbers, "Invictus" and "A Dream." Mrs. Emily Kannon played the piano accompaniment.

Minter Makes Address The Rev. Minter, upon being introduced by the program chairman, prefaced his address by humorous remarks in which man's appetite was likened to that of a hog. Comparisons were drawn with particular inferences to luncheon club members.

The speaker said that true observance of Thanksgiving could not be attained by the mere repetition of thanks, or of singing Thanksgiving songs, but must reveal actual gratitude to God. He said that real gratitude will show its effect on a man's life.

Thanksgiving, said the Rev. Minter, is the attitude of the heart toward the Almighty God. He said that man, at Thanksgiving time, should give attention to his home life and to the attitude shown his family.

"Double Standard" He said a man is no better at heart than he is to his family, that many men displayed kindness on the outside while acting in a cross manner at home. He urged each man to let Thanksgiving be a time for resolving that during the next twelve months a more kindly attitude toward wives and children would be maintained.

Whitefield Returns From Mother's Rites Ben F. Whitefield returned last night from Waxahachie where he attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. G. W. Whitefield, 85, pioneer Ellis county resident who died Sunday night.

The Midland man was at the bedside of his mother when the end came, as were her three other sons, J. W., G. H., and A. S. Whitefield, of Ellis county. She had lived in Ellis county for 82 years, having moved there with her parents from Mississippi when she was three years old.

Her father, Judge E. M. Brack, was the first county judge of Ellis county and the family had been substantial and active citizens there from the earliest settling of that area. Mrs. Whitefield was buried at Bethel, the funeral services having been held at the Bethel Methodist church of which she had been a member for 77 years. Her husband preceded her in death 41 years.

Mrs. Whitefield had kept approximately 20 boys and girls in her home at various times, enabling them to attend school. She was recognized as an outstanding public benefactor, and Christian worker. The funeral service found residents of Waxahachie and the entire countryside in attendance, not more than a third of the crowd securing seats in the church auditorium.

Child Recognizes 50 to 60 Brands The whim of a child who watched her father collect cattle brands has resulted in a place on a Thanksgiving program for Frances Lowe Peters, four years old.

"I can draw cattle brands," she told Marion F. Peters, her father. For weeks, she worked, and now can draw and distinguish from 50 to 60 brands of Midland county. She will draw some of these from memory onto a blackboard Saturday afternoon at a special Thanksgiving program of the children's story hour, appearing on the 2 o'clock section. Pre-school children will hear stories from 3 to 4 o'clock.

Business Houses Closed Tomorrow

Nearly every line of business in Midland, groceries, dry goods, banks, hardware, furniture, fruit, etc., will take a complete holiday.

Thanksgiving day is one of the completed holidays served in Midland. Many will go hunting, some will visit their wife's kin folk in quest of a turkey dinner, while the great majority will be on Lackey field in the afternoon for the classic struggle between Midland and McCamey high school football squads.

HOLLANDS SEE FEEDER PLAN SIGNIFICANCE

Frank P. Holland, publisher of Holland's magazine and Farm and Ranch, and his brother, Marsh, the manager of Hollandale and an outstanding cattle feeding authority of Texas, spent Tuesday night at Hotel Scharbauer en route to their home in Dallas from a 10-day hunting trip on the McCutcheon ranch in the Davis mountains.

The Hollands and their party killed three bears, and a buck each. They were keenly interested in the movement of Heast cattle to West Texas feed lots and Marsh, Holland's brother-in-law, who has moved to Lubbock, based on facts submitted by the Midland chamber of commerce.

Frank Holland is president of the Texas Feeder-Feeders association, formed at Midland five years ago by joint action of the Midland and Marfa chambers of commerce, and Holland has practically "mothered" the association through the bad times with his own money. He sees in the Heast-Goodman feeding program a partial fruition of his dreams of having Texas feed fed to cattle in Texas.

Excitement Attends Annual Deer Hunts Excitement generally paces the annual hunting trip of Bennie and Elmer Bizzell.

Last year, Elmer's horse fell with him and broke his rider's shoulder, and this year a hunter with the party startled other members by "fanning" them with 30-30 bullets. Moreover, Elmer killed a buck this year in the Chisos range 65 miles south of Marathon, Elmer Bizzell, Lucas and Callis coming from Parr, where Bizzell, prominent Midland county landowner and farmer, now lives.

Father and son had been on such trips for the past seven years and claim to have bagged the limit each time. And this year was no exception. The seven members of the party bagged nine deer, Long shot a couple of shots at a black bear and missed on account of excitement.

Hardy Ranchman Succumbs Tuesday BIG SPRING, Nov. 23.—Prentice Hart is dead but the people of this country who knew him will remember him as a man made of the stuff that transformed the rugged mountain country west of the Pecos river into a prosperous farming empire, although his sheer will and nerve could not keep shattered bone and torn flesh alive.

While alone on his ranch 85 miles north of Van Horn, in the Guadalupe Range, the morning of Nov. 10, Hurt fell 30 feet from a windmill to the ground, regaining consciousness after more than an hour crawling to his automobile and drove eight miles to the Gular ranch headquarters, since no one was at his own ranch home near the mountains he was accidently killed.

On the way, he drove the car through five wire gates, because he was unable to open them. When he reached the Gular place, Mrs. Gular, wife of the ranch manager, heard the horn of the automobile and found Hurt sitting behind the wheel.

"Mrs. Wilcox, I'm all torn up," was all he said. She related afterward that she nearly swooned when she saw the man with his teeth knocked out, an ankle bone protruding above his shoe and blood covering the floor of the car.

She drove in her car six miles to get her husband and ranch hands, after making the sufferer as comfortable as possible with pillows. The journey over the rough mountain trail by automobile, 85 miles to Van Horn, was ended at 2 p. m. that day. Doctors found both of Hurt's legs broken, one wrist broken, several ribs fractured.

Narcotics administered did not make him sleep. The doctors finished setting the bones after four hours of work but could only use one ankle. Then they placed him in an ambulance and carried him 90 miles to Peecos to a hospital, for X-ray examination.

Three days later he seemed to have improved so much it was believed he would live and his children left his bedside greatly encouraged. But after 12 days, Hurt died. His doctors said it was a case of will power fighting physical shock and the latter won in the end.

Funeral services were to be held at Van Horn at 10 o'clock this morning.

POST OFFICE TO OPEN The postoffice will be open for approximately 30 minutes following pickup of the morning mail on Thanksgiving day, according to John Howe, Midland postmaster. The windows will be opened about 10 o'clock, Howe believed.

BULLDOG-BADGER GAME ON THURSDAY

Midland Won 10-6 in Meeting Last Year

Smarting from their lowly position with Midland on the bottom rung of the District 3, Class A, ladder and remembering with little satisfaction their 10-6 reversal at the hands of Midland in last year's encounter, the Big Bold Badgers of McCamey will be in Midland Thursday for a decisive game.

One of the clubs will get out of the cellar and leave the other mired there, providing one club can score more points than the other.

The kickoff will be promptly at 2:30 and the advance sale of tickets will insure a good crowd, according to officials of the high school.

Both clubs announced their readiness for the battle, Clyde Parks of McCamey has a heavier club and one that has scored this season on Colorado and San Angelo. Midland's Bulldogs have not scored on a conference opponent and have yet to make much of a scoring threat. The Parksmen held San Angelo, a club that beat Midland 61-0, 7-6 in an earlier game, but was swamped in a second meeting of the two elevens.

Injuries have been reduced to a minimum and plenty of enthusiasm has been worked up over the game here.

Ten of the starting 11 against McCamey will be picked from these 15 and it is expected that they, like Ham Pinnell, Cy Foster, Burris, Frank Midkiff, Bull McCall and other famous Bulldogs of the past, will climax their career with the greatest fight and the best game of the season.

INFESTATION OF WEEVIL NEXT YEAR WARNED AGAINST

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23. (UP). The worst boll weevil infestation of history threatens next year's crop, the American Cotton Cooperative association announced today.

A short crop was forecast. It was found that 69.9 per cent of cotton squares in the fields at the end of picking time this season were punctured by the pest. This was an increase of 50 per cent over last year's figure.

The weevil pushed westward in Texas to the foot of the high plains.

Thanksgiving Hymn

By CLARENCE HAWKES "The Blind Poet of Hadley" (Written for the United Press)

Our father's God and God of ours, God of the grain, the fruit and flowers, Whose gracious smile on every hand Doth wake to life the sleeping land; God of the Summer and the Spring, Who taught our hearts like birds to sing, We thank Thee, God, at this great feast For care of man and bird and beast.

We thank Thee, Lord, that through this year, With all its hardships and its fear Thy sovereign will didst lead us higher, A cloud by day by night a fire, With chastened heart and eyes oft wet In supplication we soon forget, With pomp of power and gain of gold Our civic virtues rust and mold.

We thank Thee for our "Ship of State," For those great men who made us great, We thank Thee, for each Church and School—Earth's greatest menace is a fool, We thank Thee for the Pilgrim's faith, Sublime in life serene in death, We still transmit that vital blood So we can stand as they have stood.

We thank Thee, God, that fairer skies, Above depression now arise, This passing year so full of wrath Hath garnered much of wheat and chaff, From deepest depths we now must climb Through great ideals to heights sublime, We praise Thee, Lord, show us the way, We thank Thee for "Thanksgiving Day."

EXISTING PLAN NECESSARY TILL IT IS MODIFIED

So Declares Hoover; Democrats Have Other View

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (UP). President Hoover in a formal statement following the debt conference with congressional leaders, said existing European debt agreements must be respected "until they have been mutually modified by duly authorized representatives of government affected."

In the meeting, democratic congressional leaders insisted the debts must not be revised or cancelled and that December 15 payments be met. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt then declined an invitation to extend the debt conference with the president.

Hoover's statement declared congress should create an agency to exchange views with the debtor nations, reporting back to congress with recommendations as "deemed desirable." Congressmen had given this idea little encouragement.

Treasury Secretary Mills, who tried unsuccessfully to get Roosevelt to extend, after reporting to Hoover, said he expected to leave this afternoon to be made to British and French war debt postponement pleas.

An inquiry at the state department revealed Stinson was already drafting replies.

ONE KILLED AND FIVE INJURED IN CRASH OF AUTOS

GLADEWATER, Nov. 23. (UP).—C. H. Stuckey, 40, truck driver, was killed instantly and five rig builders were injured in the collision of a truck loaded with casings and an auto on the Kilgore highway this morning.

A dangerous hillside curve and bright lights were blamed. The injured men were in a hospital. Stuckey worked for the Humble Oil and Refining company.

Elliott Cowden Gets Big Game

Introducing Midland's big game hunter—Elliott Cowden. He returned this morning from the Slash ranch in the Black range of New Mexico with a bear, a mountain lion, two turkeys and a buck.

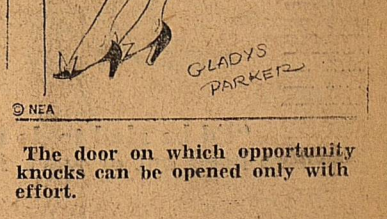

In company with Bert Weedy, and Jim McCurdy, Fort Worth oil men, and the Evans brothers, G. W. and Lee, he hunted several days in the mountainous country that is thickly grown up with pines. Cowden and the Fort Worth men left Midland Nov. 10.

The bear, and the mountain lion were shot out of trees. Cowden and McCurdy both hitting the bear at about the same time. Both shots were taken at close range. Cowden said the animals having been treed by dogs. When the bear was shot out of the tree, he was set on by the dogs and while he was particularly hard to kill, he never attempted to charge. The hunting party nearby. Cowden got only one shot, he said, dropping his buck on the run 400 yards away.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Dr. Walter C. Teagle, chairman of the Share-the-Job movement, says sharing the jobs is already giving work to 3,500,000 American workers who otherwise would be jobless. His assistants find that a job is a funny thing—when broken for sharing, two fellows seem to stretch the pieces about one-third farther than the old job would ever stretch when one man held it all.

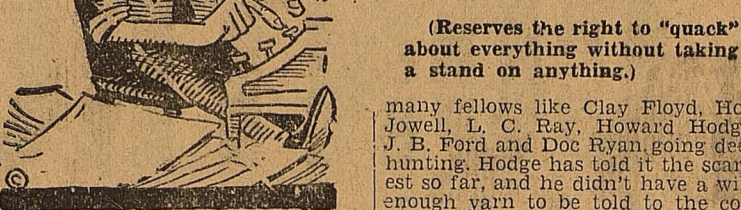

A horse in Cleveland, Ohio, it is reported, went through town without a driver, keeping to its own side of the street, stopping for red lights and proceeding when they flashed green, and did not break a single traffic ordinance. Swapping Yarns with Col. True

Col. True maintains a standing invitation to others to write to him and tell of their own extraordinary experiences. No holds barred. Address Col. True, in care of The Reporter-Telegram.

Ironhead Rogers was in the office the other night, popping off as usual. He told me about some of his experiences farming in Oklahoma. It seems that he raised cotton up there one year. One stalk. It was, however, a remarkable stalk. Jess says he waited until every boll was well opened, then he put one of these electric lower-reverse-chest-reducers on it and shook off three bales.

Ironhead's reputation in of course, well known, so in discussing his cotton story we will not consider the possibility that he exaggerated. A young man of sterling character, with many unusual talents, he is naturally above deception in any degree.

In the first place, only one who is unfamiliar with Oklahoma cotton growing would consider his achievement remarkable. The woods are full of cotton farmers there who have done better than that. For proof, observe the enormous surplus of cotton in this country.

About a decade ago I did some cotton farming up there myself. I planted 66,000 acres and ran the price down from 25 cents a pound to six cents. This cotton was so prolific that I built a cotton gin under each stalk and had a good season's run for all of them.

I made so much cotton I couldn't sell all of it and fed some to my cattle. When I shipped them to market the packers made up gingham and percale steaks and sold them by the yard. When those cows bawled it sounded like ripping a pair of overalls and when the calves were born they all had cotton flannel ears.

My horses ate some of the cotton, too, since I had failed to raise any feed that year. And when it rained they shrank up so much their legs wouldn't reach the ground. I fed my pigs some of the so-called fleecy staple and before hog-killing time came around I had to reinforce their ribs with corset stays so they would keep their shape. When I killed them and tried to render up the lard all I got was gun-cotton, which exploded during the process and blew me so high I don't expect to be down until some time next year.

THE WAR WHOOP "Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by N. C. Wyeth . . . inspired by the blood-curdling yells of war-mad savages, whose barbaric cruelty held America's early settlers in a constant state of terror. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

Advertisement for Lucky Strike cigarettes. Text: No raw tobaccos in Luckies—that's why they're so mild WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes. "It's toasted" That package of mild Luckies

Under the Dome Of the Capital

By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, (UP)—Sponsors of the new market demand bill for which the recent special session of the Texas legislature was convened can now laugh over an incident that for a time seemed tragic to them.

The bill had passed the senate without enough votes to carry an emergency clause making it effective without delay. Reconsideration was ordered in an effort to get the two more votes needed.

Senator Charles Gainer of Bryan and Rep. Holland Bradley of Houston are being mentioned for good federal appointments under the incoming democratic administration.

The prize for the best practical joke of the recent political campaign goes to Max W. Hart of Nacogdoches. With the connivance of Justice J. M. Melton, he secured an injunction against Governor Ross, Sterling, holding the state democratic ticket.

INDIANS ASSISTED IN HOLDING THE FIRST THANKSGIVING IN AMERICA

By DEAN GLEASON L. ARCHER (Written for United Press)

BOSTON, Mass. (UP)—On a certain November day of 1621, a little group of English colonists, with Indian guests outnumbering them two to one, sat down to the first Thanksgiving dinner ever staged in America.

Indians Make Peace Here they had cleared lands and built a palisade-protected village. Here they had suffered pestilence that swept away half their companions.

English crops were impossible in fields newly carved from the primeval forest. But their new friends had taught them how Indian corn might be raised.

Cecil Murphy, new senator from the north Texas district succeeding J. J. Loy of Sherman, adds another to the group of "young senators." He probably will take the title of "youngest state senator" from W. R. Poage of Waco, who has been the most youthful member.

SEEKS TO WIDEN STREET TYLER, (UP)—The city commission is seeking state aid in widening West Irwin street, one of the main thoroughfares leading to highways on which there is heavy traffic to and from the oil fields.

So on the Plymouth hillside was staged a mighty barbecue, and a Thanksgiving day, the like of which never was to occur again. For three days the Indians feasted, for not until the last bone had been picked clear was Plymouth's first Thanksgiving officially ended and its guests ready to glide away to their wigwams in the forest.

THANKSGIVING DAY ADDRESS

It is expected that one of the largest radio audiences ever assembled will crowd the loudspeakers of the nation to hear the Baron Munchausen's first annual Thanksgiving day speech which will be broadcast at 10 p. m. (EST) over WVEAF and a nationwide NBC network during the Magic Carpet program.

The Baron, who is known to intimates as Jack Pearl, will conjure up little-known tales of experiences and hardships of our pioneer forefathers. In keeping with the occasion, the Baron will appear before the microphones with his trusty hifllock in hand, brass buckles on his shoes and his good man Charlie at his elbow.
