West Texas Chamber Of Commerce Renders Outstanding Service In Handling Of Federal Relief Funds

Distribution Made Without Overhead Expense To Counties Or Individuals—Howard Receives $3,000, From ised $12,000

Howard county has received $13,000 in federal employment relief funds. She has been allotted $12,000 for March and April. Hundreds of Howard county men have been enabled to earn money for support of their needy families, without any overhead charges accruing to any one in the county, or without the levying of any local tax or state tax to repay the federal government for money thus expended.

This has been possible because there was in existence such an organization as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

It would be interesting to go through the checks drawn on the local federal relief funds to pay workers.

It would be interesting to see how this money was spent with local merchants—this new money infused into the community from the outside.

When the time came for Texas to set up an organization to protect the interests of Texas counties in making their applications in such a manner as to insure their receiving allotments of the funds Governor Sterling had no state fund available to finance the work.

Managers Called

Managers of the West Texas, East Texas and South Texas Chambers of Commerce were called in. The problem was presented to them. They told the governor their organizations would send application blanks to counties, hold regional meetings of committees from various counties, instruct them in the proper procedure for making applications, and then take their applications before the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington to make sure that the allotments would be made.

And, for this service, they told the governor they would make no charge of any kind.

That is why this new money is placed in the various committees of West Texas without overhead expense.

The money is not to be returned to the federal government by levying any local or state tax, or any additional federal tax. The sum already allotted Texas will simply be deducted from the amount of federal highway aid the state otherwise would have received.

1933 Meet

Big Spring this year will be host to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in its annual general convention.

Committees of West Texas now are making up their annual membership rolls in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to form the needed funds to continue its operations. Individual memberships are sold at a minimum of $10 each. Big Spring's quota for the year is $1,000. A few institutions have taken a very few memberships. In addition benefit derived by this community from the $13,000 in federal funds already distributed here is far greater than any amount local firms and individuals are asked to contribute to the upkeep of the West Texas Chamber.

This federal employment relief money is all spent right here in Big Spring and Howard county. It goes directly to retailers and is new money. It is not a case of swapping dollars or taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another. It is new blood for the business life of Big Spring.

Big Spring should be doubly anxious to make up its quota of memberships this year due to the fact that she will derive added benefit from the organization because the annual convention, with its vast crowds, will be held here late in the spring.

Memberships may be left at the Chamber of Commerce offices or filed with Ray Wilcox, local director of the West Texas Chamber.

Animal Husbandry Division Send Representative To B. S. Project

Dr. E. W. Sheets, connected with the animal husbandry division of the United States department of agriculture, Tuesday inspected work being accomplished in the feeding project at the federal experiment station near here.

The visitor was alarmed over the prospect of feeding experiments at the Big Spring station being discontinued unless citizens of this section manifest interest by inquiry.

"Farmers must get back to a fundamental of agriculture—that of feeding their own feed stuff to their own livestock," he said.

Sheets paid a tribute to the local chamber of commerce for its instrumental in obtaining appropriations for the first feeding done at the Big Spring station four years ago. Through efforts of the chamber, federal forces appropriated $12,500 for work here in assisting an equal amount of aid from the state.

At the present four pens of fifteen heifers each are being used in feeding tests. Only feed stuff having in this section is used in the experiment.

Lists Of Men To Get RFC Jobs Posted

Men Directed To Bulletin Board In Use At City Hall

Lists containing men who will receive work to be paid for from the R.F.C. loans to Howard county until the February allotment is exhausted are posted on a bulletin board in the city hall entrance.

Names of those to work up to and including Friday are posted. Members of the committee on distribution listed the names as a help to those who expect to get work. Unless his name appears there, a man should make arrangements to seek another type of work. Also, men know exactly what days they will work, those who placed the lists declared.

End Of Fatal Prize Fight

The blow that caused Ernie Schaff (right above) to sink toward the canvas for the count in the thirteenth round of his 15-round match with Primo Carnera, right, Italian giant, was followed by Schaff's death Tuesday morning following an operation to relieve pressure upon the brain. The capacity crowd of 20,000 in Madison Square Garden, New York, registered their opinion of the battle with a long chorus of boos and opinions that it was not "on the level" were published freely. Decision Is Called Good By Opponents

Appeal From Chair Not Expected; Ferguson Accuses Road Board

AUSTIN (UP)—Lieutenant Governor Edgar E. Witt Tuesday ruled Governor Ferguson was within her rights in remitting to the senate the name of V. L. Denison of Temple to be chairman of the highway commission after he had once been rejected.

No discussion was held on Witt's decision and apparently an appeal to the floor will not be taken.

Senator Small, Amarillo, opposing Denison's confirmation, told the chair that in his opinion the ruling was correct.

AUSTIN (UP)—Governor Ferguson Monday sent the following message to the legislature:

"From sources which I deem entirely reliable, it has come to my knowledge that the state highway department, in the face of the law and in violation of an opinion of the attorney general, in January, 1932, began about a year ago to divert the revenues of the highway department to the construction of roads for twenty two counties in Texas which now amounts to the approximate sum of $1,945,722, and agreed to accept checks on the Security Trust Company of Austin, drawn by the counties, in payment for said work as same was completed.

"The said twenty-two counties deposited various bonds and securities owned by them, but not issued by them, of the par value of $2,119,328 with the local bank as trustee for the Security Trust Company and the state highway commission to secure payment of the road construction in the respective counties. At the time said bonds and securities were deposited, I am informed that the highway commission knew, or by the exercise of diligence could have known, that said bonds and securities were of doubtful value, and were not in any event worth anything like their par value.

"My information further is that the said highway commission continued to divert highway revenues accruing from the gasoline tax and license fees to said road construction for which said counties issued their respective checks and drafts on the said Security Trust Company in payment for said construction as previously agreed. My information is that the highway commission and the Security Trust Company x x x agreed that said checks issued by the counties would not be presented for payment and would be held and retained by the highway commission. My information is that the highway commission now has and holds and has held for nearly a year, these unpresented checks and drafts drawn by said counties in the amount of some $1,077,426.

"Bonds Not Worth Much

"My information is that the bonds so deposited by the various counties in the said amount of $2,119,328 are not worth more than the average of forty cents on the dollar, or of a total value of $867,731. Subtracting the value of said bonds in the amount of $867,731 from the total value of the state highway department, as it is diverted by the highway commission in the construction of roads in said 22 counties amounting as above stated to $1,945,722, there is a shortage or loss of state highway funds of $1,067,991.

"I am informed that many of the counties did not know until recently that their checks had not been presented and were still being held by the highway commission.

"I am informed that the attorney general informed the highway commission in a written opinion that the law did not authorize them to use state highway funds and

Investigation—

Inefficiency rather than dishonesty seems to have been the worst sin of the senate stock market investigators.

Committee members have left matters largely to Chairman Norbeck. They will not be awarded any medals bravely but they do have the legitimate excuse that they were tied up with other matters. Norbeck would probably admit that he knows as little about Senate investigating as anyone in the senate. He knows even less about banking and the stock market. He is a shrewd and worthy public official but his talents and experience are admittedly in other lines.

That is the real root of the trouble raised by the New York group which wants the senate to investigate the investigators.

Even before the complaint was made blunders became so frequent that some Senators became personally alarmed about where Norbeck was leading them. They had a confidential session with him, saying bluntly that what he was doing and not doing was reflecting unjustly on all members of the committee.

Norbeck told them some of his troubles also. It was all very confidential but it may be related now to give you a close-up of what went on backstage. His investigators apparently dug up some red hot tax evasion cases. At least they thought they were red hot. The Treasury did not think they were even lukewarm. Treasury officials warned Norbeck to watch his steps and the steps of his investigators or the government would get into trouble.

The investigators thought Norbeck was calling them off. They suspected Wall Street, rather than Treasury influence.

This is the explanation why two committee investigators resigned. At least it is the explanation Norbeck privately gave his associates. They never doubted his integrity and do not now.

He received letters from retired investigator David A. Olson. He claimed they were abusive. His committee told him to go ahead and fire Olson if he wanted to. He was afraid it would bring too much bad publicity. In the end Olson quit, protesting that the committee was trying to whitewash Wall Street.

That charge can almost be substantiated by the inconsequential record the committee itself has made in its inquiry.

So little was made of the matter because no one here knew the pedigree of the New York complainants. The committee suspected that its own retired investigators were behind the move.

First Half Of City Basketball Series To Close Thursday

The city league basketball situation comes to a head here Thursday night, when the first half schedule officially ends.

Prospects are now that a play-off will be needed to settle differences between the Christians and Baptists, who now occupy favorite posts.

However, Baptists face an acid test against Collins Thursday and overconfidence once cost Christians a game against the Aces.

Willard The Wizard Opens Engagement At R and R Ritz Tuesday

On the stage Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the R & R Ritz theatre will be seen Willard, the Wizard magician, who will perform a great number of baffling tricks and stunts. He arrived Tuesday morning and with his company was busy arranging the stage for today's and tonight's performances. Willard has been seen in his own show throughout the country and is considered one of the greatest of magicians.

Police Say Denver Kidnapers Identified

DENVER (UP)—Identification of two men who kidnaped and are holding for $80,000 ransom Charles Botcheter, II, was announced Tuesday by Chief of Police A. T. Clark, who said the kidnapers were a "couple of racketeers who have been here the last year."

The chief declined to disclose how identification was made. Previously Clark had said "we'll have the case cleaned up in forty-eight hours."

Liberalization Of Liquor Prescriptions Approved By Committee

WASHINGTON (UP)—The cellar bill to liberalize prescription of liquor by physicians for medicinal use was approved Tuesday by a vote of five to two in the house judiciary committee.

The bill removes the requirement that physicians must file a statement of ailment for which he prescribes. No prescription may be filled more than once.

300 Hidalgo Farmers Canvas Others Seeking End Of Cabbage Sales

Acute Situation Arises In Guardian Trust Company Of Detroit

Detroit (UP)—With dramatic suddenness, Governor Comstock Tuesday proclaimed an eight-day banking holiday in Michigan at the conclusion of an all-night conference with bankers from throughout the state, and federal and state banking officials.

The governor's proclamation to aid the holiday was unprecedented in Michigan, and was proclaimed "in view of an acute financial emergency now existing in Detroit and throughout the state."

Governor Comstock explained an "acute situation has developed in affairs of the Union Guardian Trust company, caused by inability to realize immediately upon assets."

Newspapermen were told by the governor that Henry Ford declined to subordinate $7,500,000 on deposit at the Union Guardian Trust company to the claims of small depositors.

Six Bits In Vrap Game Discovered By Officers

City officers are having their troubles—with Mexican and negro "crap" shooters.

Sunday night police ran onto a "game" but only a few cents was in sight. Five negroes and three Mexicans explained they were "just playing."

Monday evening police visited the northwestern portion of town again. They found three Mexicans hailed into court before plus six more of their race. The stupendous sum of seventy-five cents was in the game when officers raided.

J. L. Collins Will Be Admitted To Probate

Will of J. L. Collins, Coahoma, was offered and admitted to probate Monday by County Judge H. R. Debenport.

Mrs. Ida Mae Collins, widow was appointed as executrix without bond. James Little, Cecil C. Collins, and A. C. Walker were named appraisers by the judge.

Collins, for many years a prominent citizen of Coahoma, was a brother of Dr. T. M. Collins of Big Spring.

Miss Murphey Bride Of Jimmy Mitchell

Monday evening, February 13 at 7:30 o'clock, Miss Velma Murphey and Jimmy Mitchell were united in marriage at the home of the Rev. Melvin J. Wise, minister of the Church of Christ. They were attended by Miss Dorothy Stroup and Garland Sanders.

The bride is the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Murphey of Dunn, Texas. She grew into young womanhood in Dunn and is a graduate of the high school there. For the past three and one-half years Mrs. Mitchell has been in the employ of the local Montgomery Ward Company store.

Mr. Mitchell is owner and manager of the Lakewood Filling Station and Grocery store, which is located one mile west on the highway.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have a warm host of friends here who wish them much happiness and prosperity.

They are making their home at I. Clark and Third street.

Cotton Consumption In January 471,202 Bales

WASHINGTON (UP)—Census bureau reported Tuesday January cotton consumption totaled 471,202 bales of lint and 48,412 linters compared to 440,862 and 44,275 for December and 424,728 and 51,635 for January of last year.

Steers Make Last Stand Tonight Before Defending Division Title

Tonight in the high school gymnasium the Big Spring Steers tie in with the Big Lake Owls for the 'locals' last show before they defend their laurels in the west half of District 8 tourney in Colorado Friday and Saturday of this week.

With the Big Lake basketballers it set to blot out the Bovines for two defeats suffered in earlier games. Brown's charges are prepared for a stiff battle in their effort to set up another victory.

The Owls gained recognition this year when they best back a strong array of opponents in their mammoth tourney to win out over McTamey in the finals.

Big Lake first ran afoul of the local eagles in the Texas-Pecos tournament where they were eliminated 21-31 by a last minute spurt. Last Thursday the Bovines journeyed to Big Lake to finally win out 35-25 after trailing for three quarters.

Able White, stellar Big Lake guard, was out of the Owls lineup in the last contest and his reappearance on the Big Spring court tonight is expected to make a great difference.

Officials have again declared a bargain night with a 10c admission fee for each and everyone with no limit as to the number of tickets that may be purchased.

The contest starts promptly at 7:30 p. m. and will mark the last appearance of the two teams together unless they advance to the state meet.

Probable starting line-ups: Big Spring: forwards, Morgan and Townsend; center, Reid; guards, W. Woods and Hare.

Big Lake: forwards, Gambill and Phillips; center, Glover; guards, White and Rammer.

Former Tarrant Clerk Owes $4,096

FORT WORTH (UP)—Former County Clerk Chester Hollis owes Tarrant county $4,096 from fees of office collected in 1929 and 1930, auditors reviewing the county's book claimed.

The auditors criticized the practice of county commissioners in appropriating from the general fund expenses for fees offices. Such expense funds, it was declared, should come from fees of office.

Unification
 Economy and efficiency are probably behind President-elect Roosevelt's ambition to bring all phases of the transportation industry under one centralized head. Air, sea and land transport would be regulated and directed by a reformed department of commerce under the plan under contemplation.

At present, air traffic is handled by the department of commerce, railroads and water carries by the Interstate commerce commission. Unification of all branches of transport under one central governmental body would seem to be highly desirable.

Another grouping, under the Roosevelt plan, would include radio, telephone and telegraph. Eventually transport and communications both might be up in one department, represented by a cabinet member.

No Christian Can Seek Return Of Legalized Liquor

Editor: Recently I was asked through your columns to define my idea of a Christian. I submit the following: What is a Christian—and what is a real Christian's attitude toward the liquor traffic?

One of the women advocates of the liquor traffic objects to my saying in my recent address before the convention of the United Forces for Prohibition: "No Christian woman can seek the return of liquor." This objector says that my idea of a non-Christian is one who doesn't agree with me. This objector is very much mistaken. My idea of a Christian is one who agrees with the Bible and follows and upholds its teachings.

Let us look at some of the things the Bible teaches as to liquor. The Bible says:

"Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." (Prov. 20, 1)

"Who hath woe? Who hath habbings? Who hath wounds without cause? Who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine. Look not thereupon the wine when it is red, when it giveth its color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." (Prov. 23, 29, 30, 31, and 32)

"No drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God." (1 Cor. 6, 10 and in Isa. 5, 11, 124, we read:

"Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night till wine inflame them. Therefore, hell hath enlarged herself and opened her mouth without measure; and their glory and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth, shall descend into it."

Since no drunkard, the finished product of the traffic which these wet women are advocating, if unredeemed, can ever go to heaven, and since the prophet tells us that hell had to be enlarged to take care of the victims of strong drink, it is very evident that no Christian can consistently advocate such a traffic. Those who worship a supposed God (?) who is on the side of the traffic that shuts men out of heaven and enlarges hell are not worshipping the God of the Bible, but they worship and follow that evil spirit who presides over hell.

God's attitude toward the liquor traffic is expressed in this language: "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth his bottle to him and make him drunk." (Hab. 2, 15.) "Woe to him that buildeth a town with blood, and establisheth a city by iniquity." (Hab. 2, 12).

An observing American, referring to the liquor interests, said: John Barleycorn's god is my devil," meaning the spirit that actuated the liquor interests and traffic could not be the God of heaven, but the prince of devils.

Any spirit that approves and would promote, the traffic that blights the lives of millions and shuts its victims out of heaven, making it necessary to enlarge hell to accommodate them, is not the God of the Bible. To paraphrase further the saying of that observant American, "The god of the advocates of the liquor traffic is the devil"—to the Christian view. Those who accuse the holy and righteous God of approving and promoting the nefarious liquor traffic are guilty of a wicked blasphemy.

Dr. Spann In Series Of W. M. S. Lectures

Both Societies To Hear Him On 'World Conditions' For Four Weeks

An educational lecture on "Christ and the Coming Kingdom" was given by Rev. J. R. Spann to both societies of the First Methodist church Monday afternoon. The series of lectures will occupy the next four Mondays.

After the devotional by Mrs. Fox Stripling, the first chapter, "The World Today," was taken up. He quoted John R. Mott in saying that in spite of the many changes during the past 25 years, the next 25 would be still more crucial in shifting conditions. He said that the vital question of world procedure involves selfish materialism or the elevation of human souls in Christian character, service and standards of social living.

Prosperity is of value only when in the hands of a good person, invested in a good cause and for the benefit of society. He reviewed world conditions and the present disillusionment of the world. The following women attended: Mmes. W. H. Remele, V. W. Lawson, C. E. Ditz, W. D. McDonald, Clara Chaney, J. B. Hodges, W. A. Miller, V. H. Flewelling, G. S. True, W. H. Ward, Grace Uesery, C. T. Girl Scouts Give Pretty Valentine Tea To Pass Test

The girls of Patrol No. 4 of Girl Scout Troop No. 3 met at the home of Rozelle Stephens Saturday afternoon and gave a lovely Valentine tea in order to obtain their hostess' badge.

The following members were present and met their guests, other members of the troop, in a lovely line: Kathleen Hamblin, Virginia Hilliard, Cornelia Douglas, Mary Louise Wood and Rozelle Stephens.

The dining table was attractive, arranged by the girl with red tapers burning in crystal holders, and set with white doilies, ever red, heart-shaped sandwiches, heart-shaped cookies, red lemonade and red mints, all made by the hostesses were served to the guests.

In addition to the lieutenant, Miss Elizabeth Northington, and her assistant, Miss Louise Mauldin, and three mothers, Mmes. L. W. Cross, Fred Stephens, and Frank Hamblin, the following Girl Scouts attended as guests: Francis and Maurice Bledsoe, La Fern Dehlinger, Betty Jean Fisher, Joyce Croft, Margery Hudson, Camille Kobers, Eddy Roy Lees, Marguerite Reed, Anna Katherine Ringler, Dorothy Sain, Emily Stalcup, Joan Jean and Anns Axtell and Velma Johnson.

Hi School Girls To Take Part In Chorus Of Henry's Wedding

Many high school will take part in a special girls' chorus to the charm and pulchritude of "Henry's Wedding," the comedy that the Lions Service Club will put on Thursday evening. Beautiful costumes and special dances will mark the parts of the girls.

Among the songs they will sing will be "Smile, Darn Ye, Smile," "Four's and Mine," "Down the River of Golden Dreams," "King's Horses" and "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Presbyterian Circles In Business Meetings

The Presbyterian Auxiliary met in circles Monday afternoon and devoted the business time to completing and turning in pledges for the year's budget, since the meeting marked the end of the church year.

The King's Daughters circle met with Mrs. L. C. Dahme, Mrs. Barker was devotional leader. After the business meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The Dorcas Circle met with Mrs. J. O. Tammit. Mrs. Barrick was devotional leader. Each member brought or sent in, canned goods, clothing or cash to be donated through the church to the city's needy poor.

After the business was concluded, the donation were arranged for distribution. Those attending were: Mmes. E. L. Barrick, T. M. Rutherford, Ida Mann Knause and J. B. Chapman.

Children To Tell What They Think Of Parents At Child Study Club

The Child Study Club announces a unique program for its meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Statler Hotel. Instead of adults the children will conduct the program and present their point of view.

The following topics will be under discussion, the names of the children to be kept secret until the meeting hour. A boy and a girl will each tell "How I Like Mother to Treat my Friends"; a girl will tell "How I Like Mother to Treat My Studies"; a boy and girl, "How I Like Mother to Treat My Clothes"; a boy and girl, "My Time and How I Would Like To Spend It"; The concluding number will be given by a boy telling "What I Think of This Word Discipline."

Altar Society To Fine Absentee; Meeting Held At Mrs. Wilbanks

The members of St. Thomas' Catholic Altar Society met in a called meeting at the home of Mrs. W. D. Wilbanks Monday afternoon to discuss matters of business.

They decided to take up topics of church work for discussions at the rectory meetings. At the meeting on March 6 the topics will be "In Belgium" and "Parish Sociability." They also decide to penalize members who are absent from meetings without good reasons.

There was a good attendance. At the close of the session the hostess served delicious refreshments. The hostess for the social meeting next Monday will be Mrs. J. N. Blue, 703 Nolan street.

Mrs. Brenner Reads Paper To Sisterhood

Mrs. Max Jacobs was hostess to the members of the Nettie Fisher Sisterhood Monday afternoon for a short meeting. The members voted to send a box of clothing to the children's department of a Denver hospital.

Mrs. Brenner had charge of the program, reading a paper on "The History of Palestine." Those attending were: Mmes. Julius Eckhaus, M. Prager, N. Brenner, Joe Fisher and Ray Weil.

Episcopal Auxiliary To Give Fashion Tea

The members of St. Mary's Episcopal Auxiliary met in the newly furnished parlors of the parish house Monday afternoon for a business meeting over which Mrs. Spence presided. Mrs. Gilmour gave the devotional.

The members planned to put on a fashion tea, on February 23, the place and other details to be decided on later. It is said that it will be an unusually nice affair. Most of the time was taken up with planning for it.

The following members attended: Mmes. George Garette, Theo Thomas, Frank Johnson, E. V. Spence, W. A. Gilmour, O. L. Thomas, Shine Philips and Miss Iope McAllister.

Mrs. Max Jacobs was hostess to the members of the Nettie Fisher Sisterhood Monday afternoon for a short meeting. The members voted to send a box of clothing to the children's department of a Denver hospital.

Mrs. Brenner had charge of the program, reading a paper on "The History of Palestine." Those attending were: Mmes. Julius Eckhaus, M. Prager, N. Brenner, Joe Fisher and Ray Weil.

E. Fourth Baptist Women Feed Men Who Fix Lawn

The members of the East Fourth Street Baptist W. M. U. served luncheon to about 20 men of the church who met to put in a church lawn. A good crowd of women were present and the luncheon was a great success.

Today Mrs. Woodie W. Smith furnished luncheon for the men who were doing the concrete work, a smaller number than yesterday's.

At the regular W. M. U. meeting Monday afternoon Mrs. S. H. Morrison gave a Bible talk, "The Surety of Grace." Those attending were: Mmes. Woodie W. Smith, Johnnie and Sam Moreland, S. H. Morrison, F. L. Turpin, W. L. Monroe, L. Q. Low, and T. B. Reeves.

New Books Arrive For Public Library Shelves

Four new books have been received by the Public Library, announce the librarian, Mrs. Buel T. Cardwell. Two of the books are "Rogue Herries" and "Judith Paris" by Hugh Walpole, which complete the trilogy of which "The Fortress" is the third. "The Fortress" is already on the shelves. "The Fountain" by Charles Morgan, one of the best-sellers of the day, and "I Cover the Water Front" by Max Miller are the other two.

HYPERION CLUB NOTES

The meeting Saturday of the Hyperion Club will be held at the home of Mrs. O. L. Thomas, instead of at Mrs. Fawc. All members are reminded that dues for the coming year are now due and are asked to come prepared Saturday in order that the program committee may send at once for the coming year's program.

Negro Cook Leads Searchers After Boss Is Kidnaped

When "Uncle Henry" is kidnaped as a part of the play by that title showing, Thursday and Friday and Saturday in the municipal auditorium, "dar ain' but one way tuh find 'im."

So the faithful old negro cook, played by Mrs. W. O. Lowe calls in the brothers and sisters of the Mystic Shrine.

During the progress of the meetings the irrestable urge to sing possesses the darkeys and they burst forth into a few strains of "Lonesome Road," "Hallelujah," "Hear Dem Bells" and "Sing, You Sinners."

E. W. Potter, as Brother Jones, invokes the spirits in deep bass tones. Mrs. F. M. Purser as Sister Saide and Mrs. Lowe as Sister Eliza are imbued with the spirit, catch glimpses of visions, and pour out strong testimonials.

Cast of the Mystic Shrine includes Ruby Bell, Mrs. D. R. Lindley, Jim Schmidtly, C. M. Shaw, Mrs. R. C. Pycatt, Mrs. Jim Schmidtly, Juanita Dowsett, E. T. Cardwell, E. W. Potter, E. E. Bethell, Herbert Keator, Steve Baker, Mrs. Harry Hurt, Charles Scoggins, Mrs. Herbert Keaton, Mrs. Woodie Smith, Mrs. Harry Stalcup, Leroy Fulton, Mrs. W. D. Cornelson, Mrs. F. M. Purser, Mrs. Birdsong, Mrs. Victor Flewelling, Cecil Collins, Mrs. Emil Harrenkamp, Seth Parsons and Bob Pycatt.

Proceeds will go to a milk fund and a fund for underprivileged children, except for a percentage given the Women Federated club for its aid in promoting the show. None of the proceeds will go to the two clubs proper, but to some community service being sponsored by them.

Oklahoma City Operator In Sensational Testimony At Investigation Of 'Hot Oil'

Conversation Recorded By Dictaphone Quoted Man As Saying He Had To Protect Cousin Of Governor

Oklahoma City (UP).—Despite threats he would be "taken for a ride unless you keep your mouth shut," Mark Kleeden, self-confessed illegal oil leader, gave evidence against alleged fellow conspirators in a legislative oil inquiry.

The heavy-set, florid-faced oil man, formerly of Beaumont, Texas, went before the senate oil investigating committee in a surprise hearing. Nervous and anxious to clear himself at all costs, he told investigators he had run 180,000 barrels of "hot oil" from the Oklahoma City field.

He testified he had paid $18,000—10 cents a barrel "protection" to Raymond C. Walker, self-styled master mind of the hot oil merchants, and that it was his understanding the money went to Col. Cleo I. Murray, oil field military chief.

"Legalized Stealing"

He branded hot oil running as "just legalized stealing," but asserted he wanted to come clean with the whole truth "in order to help rid the oil octopus that is crushing up little fellows."

"I want to tell the whole truth, I'm for neither political faction. I want to tell my story, let the chips fall where they may."

"They had my back to the wall and were stealing oil all about me. I have a million dollar investment. I ran hot oil to protect that investment."

He gave the committee two checks, one for $334 and one for $250, which he said he paid the insurance firm of Ray Walker and A. W. Parker, as protection money for hot oil runs.

"I didn't have secret connections. After paying the money we just ran the oil into tanks. Once after making the arrangement, troops with a crew of Slick Oil company men dug up my connections. I waited two days and then told Walker to get these... soldiers of my lease or I would scream to high heaven. The soldiers left that afternoon."

"Protect Cleo"

He said he went to U. S. District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde and told his story, believing he was being bled by Walker. He agreed with the government prosecutor to trap Walker and called Walker to the Black hotel last Wednesday. A dictaphone recorded their conversation in which Walker said he "had to protect Cleo."

Kleeden brought the corporation commission angle of the investigation up against but said he was not "admitted in the $100,000 commission-bribe plot to have the regulatory body lift prohibition and thus break the oil market." Previous witnesses had told of such a plan.

"Walker told me that Hughes (Commissioner E. R. Hughes) and the colonel wanted to see me. I refused to meet them. That morning someone called me on the telephone and said that if I didn't keep my... mouth shut I would be taken for a ride. I told them to go to hell."

Humble Expects Conroe Property To Hike Earnings

HOUSTON (UP).—Investments made by the Humble Oil and Refining company in the Conroe field and at Rabbs Ridge are expected to add materially to the company's earnings, R. L. Blaffer, vice president, reported at the annual stockholders meeting.

Earnings of the company in 1932 are not known exactly, he reported, as the books have not been closed finally, but they were in excess of dividend requirements. The company is in sound financial condition and had a larger payroll in 1932 than it did in 1931, the report said.

The company drilled approximately 600 wells during the year, getting only 19 dry holes. It purchased an average of 133 barrels

Large Creep Feeding Plan Is Announced

Livestock Feed Manufacturers Sponsor Experiment

MIDLAND—How to make a West Texas ranch make the biggest net returns for the owner is to be tested on in Midland county by Purina Mills in a creep calf feeding study on the "L Seven" ranch of W. W. Brunson.

Purina proposes to show the value of supplementing native grasses and weeds with the various kinds of Purina feeds. The Midland ranch is centrally located and is in one of the world's most famous Hereford breeding areas. The tests will be of value, cattlemen say, to the entire outwest. The Midland experiment is said to be the only one of its kind in the world.

Test Is Interesting

The test was brought to Midland through work of the local representative of Purina, and results of the feeding will be given to ranchers throughout West Texas and the grass cattle country of the nation by P. R. Swearingen, district manager for Purina.

Purina closed a contract with Brunson last week for creep feeding 600 sucking calves on the "L Seven," 15 miles south of Midland. One feeding expert from the Purina test farm in Wyoming and a feeding authority from the company's four St. Louis farm will come to Midland to supervise the experiment.

The "L Seven" ranch was selected because it is so well equipped for the feeding study. The two feeding experts will live on the ranch.

The calves are to be grazed in four pastures of 125 head each. Three of these groups will be creep fed on three different kinds of Purina feeds in addition to following their mothers. The fourth pasture will have no feed, but will be on grass only. The calves on Purina feed will be given no roughness except the native range grass.

Equipment Coming

Purina's object in the experiment is not to attempt to establish merits of its feeds over other branded feeds, but to prove that creep feeding of sucking calves on its type of prepared feeds will make the rancher money. A rain gauge and two sets of scales will be part of the additional ranch equipment Purina will install.

The extra scales are to avoid "choosing" the cattle by long drives with consequent loss of weight. The ranch of 36 sections was the exact size the feed manufacturers sought.

Creep feeding has been done before, Brunson says, but no accurate records were kept. The Midland county results will be recorded as accurately as an accountant would keep books, the ranchman says.

Why Midland Selected

The feeding out of the Roy Parks, Scharbauer and Donald Hutt cattle for several years on the Purina farm at St. Louis aided in obtaining the experiments for Midland. The Parks, Scharbauer and Hutt cattle made such satisfactory gains and so consistently topped the market that the feed manufacturers were favorably disposed to try feeding test where the cattle are grown. Brunson's cattle are all pure bred and all bear the Brunson brand.

Purina is so confident of the success of the feeding tests that the company is content to take its profits and costs from what the calves bring at an average weight of above 400 pounds.

The feeding tests are not expected to show up for several weeks to any extent to interest ranchers and feeders, but early in the summer and as fall comes on scores of visitors from all areas of the southwest are expected to visit the ranch to study the results. The results will be available to everyone interested.

Few Trees Not Yet Called For At C-C

A few of the Elm and Arizona Cypress trees recently made available at cost prices by the Chamber of Commerce, have not been disposed of.

Chamber of Commerce officers reported a few persons who paid for trees when they ordered them have not called for them and that in a few cases some who ordered trees have not called to pay for them and get the trees.

It was urged that all who placed orders, whether they paid for the trees or not, call for them.

SPOTLIGHT

CHAPTER XXXI
 It was several months before "Fine Feathers" played Jerry's home town. Sheila had not written to him but she was sure he would know of her arrival. Posters announcing that she was the featured member of the company had passed the town for two weeks.

And so she was disappointed on reaching the hotel to find that among her letters, there was no message from Jerry.

Perhaps he would telephone. That was more likely. She remained in her room, having lunch there, and hoping for a call but it did not come.

The "Fine Feathers" engagement in Spencer was for three nights. All that first day Sheila toyed with the idea of telephoning Jerry. At last she took up the directory. There was no Wyman listed except a bicycle shop on a side street. Certainly she could not reach Jerry there.

Well, if she could not find the correct number she could not call him. That settled that!

"After the way I treated him last summer of course he won't call me," she told herself. "He'll think that if I want to see him I'll send some word."

Deep in her heart she knew this could not be true. The eyebrows of the theatrical world did not apply to Jerry Wyman's circle. There girls did not telephone to young men. They waited for them to call. No, Jerry was not expecting to hear from her.

Then it occurred to her that she might send a telegram. She could send a discreet message and they would know at the telegraph office to deliver it. She considered the plan, but hesitated, hoping she would come to see her.

The first performance passed without word from him. Not till the second at the stage door. Two flowers arrived and no message. She was surprised to find how much this depressed her.

As Sheila undressed for bed that night she tried to make excuses to herself. The excuses were unhelpful that the next day she would hear from him.

But there was no message the following day or that evening. Sheila, worrying about this, knew that her performance was not up to standard. As she handed into the wings after her first act, she smiled and hid, footed, the comedian spoke to her.

"Anything bothering you, Sheila?" he asked.

Her heart sank so it was as obvious as that! The applause which almost invariably greeted her back for an encore was tonight only a polite brief patter.

Sheila shook her head. "No, I'm all right," she said.

The comedian's keen eyes showed he was not convinced. "If there is," he told her, "you know I'd be glad to do anything I can—"

She smiled. "Thanks. Maybe I'm a little homesick for New York."

The juvenile appeared then at her elbow. "We'll have to do something about that, Miss Shayne," he said. Within five minutes Sheila would be back on the stage dancing with this youth. She turned to him, determined to conquer her despondency.

"Freddy—here I am keeping you waiting!" she exclaimed, then disappeared in her dressing room to return a few moments later wearing another costume.

"Jerry'll be waiting," she told herself all through the performance. "He'll come. I know he will!"

There was still one more night left. "Fine Feathers" was to depart after the Saturday night show.

Still Jerry did not appear. As Sheila slipped from the stage door the second night she saw Freddy Bryant and Ross, the comedian, waiting.

"Have a bite with us?" they asked.

"Oh, that will be fun!" she tried to make her voice seem eager though her heart was leaten. She knew they were doing what they could to help her and it was her duty to respond.

Lately that night she was able to convince herself it was chance and not deliberate neglect that kept Jerry from telephoning or coming to see her.

She decided Saturday morning, therefore, to take affairs into her own hands. She arose at 11 and dressed hurriedly. Then she left her room, took the elevator to the street floor and for once, entered the dining room for breakfast. It was almost deserted. The head waiter, recognizing her, rushed forward.

"A nice seat near the window!" he urged.

The window was well above the street and Sheila nodded. She sat down, accepted the morning newspaper with a smile of thanks and gave her order.

It was a pleasant dining room. A pretty girl wearing a white cap and ruffled apron brought the coffee. Then a waiter served the breakfast.

Under pretense of assuring himself that everything was satisfactory the head waiter returned. "Is everything as you wish?" he asked.

"I hope, Miss Shayne, you won't mind my saying that on the stage and also off you are exquisite."

"Thank you."

He talked on eagerly then. He had three daughters, he said, all with stage aspirations. Would Miss Shayne be kind enough to give them some advice?

"Tell them," she said, "to stay off the stage."

The waiter smiled. He was certain that she was joking. "My daughters admire you so much," he said. "Everyone does, Miss Shayne."

She saw that he really meant it. Sheila surrendered to a sudden impulse of kindness. "Would your daughters like to come to the matinee today?" she asked. "And to my dressing room afterward? It would be a pleasure for me to arrange it."

The man was overwhelmed. He said that it would be an enormous, never-to-be-forgotten treat for the girls.

Scrubbing on the back of an envelope, Sheila wrote an order to the box office. She handed it to the man and said, "Tell them to come to the stage door after the performance. I will speak to the doorman."

She went out into the sunshine conscious of the man's gratitude. At the telegraph office she asked for a blank, sat down and considered what to write.

"Playing in Fine Feathers. Leaving tonight. Why not drop around?" Sheila. That seemed sufficient. Friendly but impersonal.

"I'm not sure of the address," she murmured to the obliging young man behind the counter.

He bent his head respectfully, counted the words in the message and said, "Mr. Wyman lives in Chester Square. We will telephone this message, Miss Shayne. The charge is 15 cents for telephone service."

Sheila laid herself down on the counter. "Where is Chester Square?" she asked.

"It's a suburb 15 miles west," Sheila said the coin forward. She held out her hand for the blank. "Could you—would you tell me the telephone number?" she asked. "I believe I'd rather give the message myself."

"You'll find it in the directory," Miss Shayne. It's listed in the Chester Square section. J. G. Wyman is the name."

"Thank you."

Ten minutes later she was back in her hotel room, her heart throbbing in a tumult of excitement. Reading the leaves of the directory, she came to the number. An instant later she heard herself in a far away voice asking for Jerry Wyman.

Upton Sheriff And Attorney Freed From Jail After Fine Cut And Goods Of Ex-Teacher Replaced In Dwelling

SAN ANGELO—Their $100 fines reduced to $50 each, W. C. Fowler, Upton county sheriff, and E. W. Van Sickle, Alpine attorney, were released from the Tom Green county jail at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night. They were judged in contempt of the 51st district court here Friday night after an all-day hearing and sentenced to pay the fine and spend a day in jail.

The two fines were paid by check to Frank Van Court, sheriff, and the court accepted the report of Roy Priest, district attorney at Rankin, that the household goods of C. V. Compton, discharged Mc-Camey superintendent, had been replaced in the teacherage before the peace officer and his legal adviser were released.

It was for the eviction of Compton from the school premises the night of February 2 against the terms of a restraining order entered by Judge Sutton here that the two were held in contempt of court.

"Outrageous," was the description given the contempt of court action by the attorney after being released. He said that he believed himself right "in advising my client on the point of law involved in the eviction."

Fowler said he could not be quoted on his feelings on the contempt action and his imprisonment. He said he and Van Sickle might be here a day or two.

Huey Long Shouts Denials Of Fraud In 1932 Election

NEW ORLEANS, (UP)—Shouted denials that he "fixed" Louisiana elections were made by Senator Huey P. Long at a hearing of a senate subcommittee investigating charges of election frauds.

The Louisiana "Kingfish" engaged in another verbal battle with Francis Williams, campaign manager Broussard. Williams was on the witness stand for cross-examination by Long, counsel for John H. Overton, senator-elect.

Williams renounced his charge the Long machine had operated "some of the crookedest elections I ever saw in my life."

Long leaped to his feet and shouted "That's no so and you know it."

Out of 1,500 commissioners on duty at the polls at the last primary election, at which Broussard charged he was defeated for re-nomination by fraud, Williams said "Mr. Jerry?" the servant at the other end of the wire repeated. "I'll see if he's in. Who is calling?"

Texas Youth Goes To Trial In Missouri

WAYTON, Mo., (UP)—John Weldon Dial, 20-year-old Lakeview, Tex., youth, was scheduled to go to trial on charges of murder in connection with the killing of Z. L. King, a prominent citizen.

King, an automobile salesman, was shot down during a holdup last Aug. 5.

Clarence Dalley, 21, who is serving a life sentence after a plea of guilty in the murder, will be the principal witness against Dial. Dalley contends, prosecutors said, that Dial fired the shot which killed King.

Baruch Offers Recovery Plan

Democratic Capitalist Says Take Hungry Man Off Pavements

By LYLE C. WILSON United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Senator Charles McNary, Democrat of Oregon, today said that he would support a program for taxation and other emergency projects which he said was necessary to avoid economic disaster. Baruch appeared before the senate finance committee which is holding a clinic of "best minds" on domestic and world problems. The scene was like a movie set with bright lights glaring and Baruch's words being absorbed by the talkies for reproduction throughout the United States. In staccato, clipped sentences, Baruch said his prescription for world ill: "Balance budgets. Stop spending money we haven't got. Sacrifice for frugality and revenue. Cut governmental spending—cut it as rations are cut in a siege. "Tax—tax everybody for everything. But take the hungry men off the world's pavements and let people smile again."

Baruch urged international economic agreement on silver but did not immediately explain the type of agreement desired. He opposed all forms of inflation, insisted that a balanced budget and sound money were the avenues to salvation for the United States. He opposed cancellation of war debts but condemned the Versailles treaty in bitter language indicating his belief that it should be revised. "Balance budgets. Stop spending money we haven't got. Sacrifice for frugality and revenue. Cut governmental spending—cut it as rations are cut in a siege. "Tax—tax everybody for everything. But take the hungry men off the world's pavements and let people smile again."

Tickets Offered To World's Fair By Local Firms

Albert Corman, representing the World's Fair Club of Chicago, was here Tuesday assigning dealers to handle tickets to the exposition to be staged later in the year. Mr. Corman said at noon two firms already had agreed to take books of tickets.

The plan being offered throughout the country provides that retailers—one to be appointed in each line of business in each town—receive fifty cents commission on each ticket sold. The plan was adopted as the best method of promoting attendance at the World's Fair and aiding in the distribution of money throughout the country, said Corman. He stressed that tourists especially were good prospects for sales of these tickets and that retailers could profit through additional sales by getting them into their stores for the purpose of buying these tickets.

Man Who Clocks Speed Tests On Land And Sea In Air Breathes Prayer When They Gun The Engines

By HENRY McLEMOIRE United Press Staff Correspondent DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Odin Porter, who in 21 years with the American Automobile association timed hundreds of speed tests on land and water and in the air, always turns away from his intricate clocking device when a driver gives his engine the gun, to "say a little prayer that he'll make it safe."

"I've seen enough tests and races," said Porter, who is here to catch the speed at which Sir Malcolm Campbell sweeps through the measured mile in his Bluebird, "I've seen enough of them to know that a prayer is all that will save them if something goes wrong. And my prayers aren't always answered, for I've seen half a dozen aviators and as many automobile drivers get their in a crack-up."

Of all the fatal smashes he has seen, the one he'll "never forget" was the one that got Frank Lockhart on the beach here in 1928. "Frank never had any business running the day he did, for the beach was in very poor shape. But reports that people thought he was yellow for not making a run reached him, and he cranked up and said he'd 'show 'em.' "A few minutes later he was on his way. Suddenly the tail of his car started switching back and forth and I said, 'Oh Lord, he's blown a tire.' A second later his car turned sideways and he swept around in a tremendous semi-circle. Finally the car reached the soft sand up by the dunes and turned over."

"Then it started bounding and I counted five tremendous plunges of 75 feet or more before it came to rest and tossed Frank's body to within 50 feet of the car where his wife was sitting. Porter has been associated with speeding objects so long, that he can look at a moving car, boat or plane and guess its speed within a few miles. In judging an airplane's speed, Porter must depend upon his eye to tell when the plane enters the measured course. And his eye is almost as sure as his timing apparatus. A camera arrangement showed Porter tripped the timer when the flyer was 18 feet short of the wire. And 18 feet, when a fellow's traveling 183 miles an hour is exactly nothing.

Changes Suggested By Coaches Adopted By Rules Committeemen

Side Zone To Eliminate Loss Of Time On Futile Plays—Definition Of Clipping Broadened, Penalty Reduced

By JACK CUDDY United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—The nation's football coaches, increasingly important factors in college athletic systems because of the depression, enjoyed additional prestige when the national football rules committee announced adoption of two rule changes they had recommended. Emerging from its secret three-day session at Philadelphia, the rules committee of the national collegiate athletic association announced these changes in the existing code: 1. Side zones, 10 yards wide, were established on either side of the field to eliminate loss of downs on futile side line plays. They will strengthen the game's offensive side. 2. The definition of "clipping" was broadened to include any contact with the back of a player not carrying the ball, and the penalty for "clipping" was reduced from 25 yards to 15 to insure prompt penalizing by hitherto hesitant field officials. Both changes were recommended a week ago at the first annual meeting of the recently organized rules committee of the American Football Coaches association. Their adoption marks a distinct triumph for the coaches in their brisk warfare with field officials. The report does not mention the field officials' radical recommendation that a "fifth down" be allowed the offensive team inside its own or the opponent's 20-yard line. Moreover, the reduction of the clipping penalty from 25 yards to 15 is interpreted generally as a direct reflection by the coaches on the courage of many field officials. Theory Adopted One paragraph of the report showed plainly that the national rules committee had adopted the coaches' theory regarding rule changes. This paragraph stressed that any future changes "should be made for the purpose of simplification."

The new definition of "clipping" will make it illegal for a player to run into the back of an opponent not carrying the ball. This is in addition to the previous rules against throwing or dropping the body across the back of an opponent's legs below the knees. Under the new sideline rule, when the ball becomes dead in the side zones it will be moved immediately to a point 10 yards from the sidelines without time being taken out. If the ball goes out of bounds, it will be brought in 10 yards from the sideline instead of 15 as heretofore.

... Party behind him, Senator Pat Harrison jumped in to push the Blaine resolution as far as the senate floor. The situation called for something more than that.
To make matters worse the wets split among themselves. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment started attacking the Blaine resolution because it was the Republican not the Democratic plan. That is also the view that Speaker Garner rightly holds. He will not accept anything the Senate does except at right repeal and the senate will not give him that. No final action can be taken until Mr. Roosevelt assumes public leadership of the disorganized forces.

Barnuch
The man behind the Harrison investigation was its first witness—Bernard M. Barnuch.
Up to now he has been lightly treated for a man who gave $40,000 to the Democratic campaign. His closest friends assert he has not been consulted by Mr. Roosevelt about the cabinet. Neither has he been offered a place in it. He would not accept and Mr. Roosevelt probably knows that.
His Warm Spring conference with the President-elect was on his economic recovery ideas.

Program
Congressional leaders are privately to confess now that all they hope to get through in the remaining days before March 4th is the Bankruptcy Bill.
Hopes are still being held out for farm mortgage relief and the Glass Bill. A little phlegm might be done to get them through but the chances are strongly against it.
Recent widespread criticism of Congress has had little effect

among the boys in the pit.
Notes
The confidential Roosevelt program now calls for Congress to assemble the middle of March. The date has been moved up from April 17 because the program of the President-elect will be ready earlier than had been expected. With all this cry for legislation in Congress Senator Fees took time out last week to deliver his first speech of the session entitled "Our Treasures in the Congressional Library". . . . Senator King is daily living up to his title of Treasury watchdog, trying to pare each item in the appropriation bills. . . . No one knows more about them. . . . The Grain Trade lobby has issued only one public statement since it set up its stand here. . . . It works in other ways.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin
R. F. C.
Jesse Jones of Houston, Tex., will head the R. F. C. as decisions stand now. Baruch backs him. Relief financing in the land of cotton is a reasonable expectation.

Cotton
Cotton speculators get a psychological boost out of the fact that Curtis Dall, Roosevelt's son-in-law has joined the Cotton Exchange. They figure he must know something.

Long
Huey Long's recent visit to New York has caused some lively guessing contents around town. The Kingfish is usually not exactly open to publicity, was strangely quiet about his little excursion. Much of his time was spent in conferences with some of the cotton moguls. None of them would discuss what really brought the Senator from Louisiana to this ballwick.

Investigation
Senators will probably not pay too much attention to the self-styled New York Stock Exchange Reform Committee to the Manhattan Board of Commerce, which threatens to investigate the Senate's investigation. The organization has a checkered and not too impressive career. Some of its sponsors have private reasons for not liking the Stock Exchange.

The inquiry into National City affairs is at present based on the premise that a lot of people lost in National City stock. The bank says: "So What?" to that. But a slight turn of the wheel could bring

UP LINDBERGH EXTORTION PLOT

Joe Bryant and Norman Harvey, who were arrested in Roanoke and charged with threatening to kidnap the second Lindbergh baby in an effort to extort $50,000, allegedly carried on their negotiations by an exchange of notes left in the hollow stump shown above. The notes were addressed to Colonel Lindbergh and to Robert C. Johnson (left), Roanoke chief of detectives, who masqueraded as Lindbergh's representative and brought about the arrest of the men. up Anaconda and there is lots about that stock roller coasting which hasn't yet been told.

Germany
New York learns from high German sources that the Nazi comeback has been financed with Hobenzollern cash. When the industrialists withdrew financial support some months ago it looked like curtains but the Royal Family came to the rescue. That private army of 700,000 would come in handy, in case.
The next important development in German policy may be a coup to recover the Polish corridor, a sore point which is getting sorer. If they get away with it the Hobenzollerns could be invited to do an encore.

Bavaria does not regard this prospect with a kindly eye and would probably take a shot at seceding from the Reich. She would have French moral, and perhaps military, support.

Von Papen may not be the check on Hitler that Hindenburg intended. He has been working more closely with the brown shirt leader lately.

The blunt rebuke which Hermann Wilhelm Goering, member of the German Cabinet and Hitler's closest associate administered to one of the leading Swedish newspapers is part of a deep Nazi scheme. The unusual step by a man who is not even Foreign Minister supplemented by an official complaint from the German Minister to Sweden is bound to disturb German-Swedish relations. At present this would hurt Sweden more than Germany.

The Germans regard the incident merely as an entering wedge to "persuade" Sweden to get rid of the Soviet Ambassador Alexandra Kollontai. Mme. Kollontai is not only one of the Soviet's ablest diplomats but probably the most formidable Communist organizer. From her post in Stockholm she has taken an important part in the affairs of the German Communist party. Hitler and his associates regard her as a most annoying thorn in the flesh. If the Communists should be outlawed in Germany Mme. Kollontai's office would become headquarters of the exiles.

Oil
France has been buying oil lately from American producers on a lavish scale. Also she rigorously enforces a ruling that all oil companies operating in France must keep inventories on hand equal to the average inventories of the five boom years preceding the depression. All the important French oil companies but one are owned by American, Dutch, or British interests. France has no oil supply of her own available in case of war.
France has also made it harder for Italy to get oil. Most of Italy's oil purchases for the last few years have been made from Roumania. Now the Italians find that Roumanian prices have been isolated, shipments are delayed or damaged and other obstacles are placed in the way. What France says to Roumania goes but France is careful to avoid overt acts.

Mortgages
Announcement of the plan to rescue the mortgage companies and the holders of mortgage bonds was held up by dissension among participating interests as to details. But Our Nell is now reasonably safe.
A man who has had something to do with the negotiations says: "How do we get the nerve to criticize Congress for dilly dallying? Here we are, supposedly hardheaded business men and we can not even agree on a measure which is obviously in our self-interest."

A blanket reduction of mortgage interests by saving banks as against the present system of treating cases individual gains in favor. The argument is that a blanket reduction would give purchasing power and help business generally.

WOMAN FOUND SHOT
TEXARKANA, Ark. (UP)—Mrs. Lellia Knoblock, 34, living southwest of here on the Shreveport highway was found by her father, H. W. Sewell, Sunday morning wounded in a barn at the rear of the house. She was shot through the head and a .380-caliber gun lay near. She died in a few minutes. A note found later indicated suicide.

NEW YORKERS HELD
EXARKANA, Ark. (UP)—Albert Bernard Sullivan and Patu Ricco, giving New York city as home, are held for investigation by police here. The men wrecked an automobile near the city limits. In it police found several hundred dollars worth of merchandise including cigars, a radio, fountain pens, tooth paste and dozens of other articles. The men denied knowledge of the car of merchandise, but officers found a handkerchief with Sullivan's initials in the auto.

CLEMENCIES FILED
AUSTIN (UP)—Clemencies filed today by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson include: General paroles for Leonard Lang, Harris county and Jack Howard, Gregg county and a sixty day furlough for Tom Shook, Wichita county.

That such action was prohibited by law.
"As the loss of the highway funds appears to be over $1,000,000 I deem it my duty to bring said facts to your attention for such consideration as you may deem necessary.
"I am making other investigations of the disposition of other state funds and hope to bring same to your attention soon."

BILLY SUNDAY BETTER
DES MOINES, Ia. (UP)—Rev. William A. (Billy) Sunday, 69-year-old evangelist, was confined to his hotel room, recovering from an attack of acute indigestion and a heart ailment.
He probably will be taken to Rochester, Minn., for treatment late this week, later going to California to recuperate.

Courage And Love Came To New Lion In Zoo
KANSAS CITY (UP)—Courage and love came simultaneously into the heart of Zimba, Swope Park Zoo lion, and his roars sent lesser inmates of the zoo scurrying to remote corners of their confines.
Zimba arrived at the zoo a week ago from an Iowa drug store display cage. He cringed across a path of snow to his new retreat, and was dubbed a "scottie."
But as the weather moderated, he sighted Sylvia, a lioness, in an adjoining cage. He roared, Zoo-keeper Tex Clark opened the doors between them. They greeted each other with playful blows that would have downed an ox. Zimba roared again.
"He's made; he's no coward," Tex proclaimed enthusiastically.
Confiscated by the police and fitted with a silencer at the owner's expense.

Odessa Highway Case Is Appealed

MIDLAND—Appeal bond was posted by plaintiffs in the civil case of George Elliott et al against Judge W. R. Ely et al of the Texas Highway commission, J. M. Caldwell, veteran Midland attorney who is representing plaintiffs in seeking to restrain highway construction along a patented course through Odessa.
The case will be reviewed by the 23 Pasa court of civil appeals, and it is expected that both sides will be prepared to take the case, however it is determined, on a writ of error to the supreme court of the United States.
District Judge Charles L. Klapproth in district court Friday dissolved a temporary injunction he had allowed earlier, when he sustained a general demurrer of defendants. Work on the road foundation is expected to start within three weeks.
The importance of the case is found partly in the possibility of its setting a precedent for other cases that may arise. So far as attorneys know, an opinion shared in by Assistant Attorney General A. R. Stout of Austin, who was in the case here Friday, no case like it has ever come up for trial in Texas. Contrary to press statements a few weeks ago, no other similar cases are being hatched in the state, Stout said.

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A week's search for a former University of Southern California co-ed who quit her freshman studies to see, independence ended when the body of pretty Jean Smith, 18, was found in Higgins' canyon, a revolver clutched in her hand.
Her mother, Mrs. Genevieve Smith, said she insisted upon quitting school "to make own way," although there was no necessity for her having done so.

Sam McCorkle Not Acceptable to State Democratic Chiefs

DALLAS (UP)—Sam McCorkle, former district attorney at Mexia who is listed as an applicant for attorney-general of Porto Rico under the Roosevelt administration, is strictly persona non grata to the Texas democratic organization, state Committeeman John Davis said.
"I am sure every member of the state committee will oppose McCorkle being considered for any appointment," said Davis. "It is not a personal matter but in line with the policy of endeavoring to maintain party regularity by giving appointments to those who have remained loyal to the party."
McCorkle is in bad standing with controlling party chiefs because of his opposition to Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in the governor's race and his subsequent leadership in gathering evidence of alleged fraud in the run-off primary voting.

Would Rewrite Constitution
AUSTIN (UP)—Rep. P. L. Anderson, San Antonio, sent to the House of Representatives a resolution calling for a referendum on whether Texas shall rewrite its constitution.
He proposes a vote at the general election, November 1934. If favored then, 181 delegates, selected as members of the legislature now are named, would meet in May 1935 to draft the new constitution.

APPEALS FILED

AUSTIN (UP)—Appeals were filed in the court of criminal appeals by Doye Arnold from a Stephens county death verdict on a conviction of killing Zelma Arnold, his former wife the day after she was granted a divorce at Breckenridge and by W. S. Phillips given 99 years sentence on conviction of killing E. L. Churchill at Fort Worth. Both cases were tried in Stephens county.

EAST FOURTH MEMBERS TERRACE CHURCH GROUND

More than a score members of the East Fourth Baptist church spent Monday in terracing the church grounds and preparing the lay out for sodding.
Landscaping is being effected and plants and grass will soon grace the spots formerly marred by chalk slopes.
Those who spent the day working were given a dinner by the church women at the close of the day.

Nebraska Governor Asks Suspensions Of Mortgage Foreclosures

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Governor Charles W. Bryan issued a proclamation calling upon holders of mortgages on Nebraska farms and homes to suspend foreclosures.
He asked that the suspension remain in effect until his recently appointed board of conciliation can complete its organization and until the state legislature can pass mortgage and relief measures.
According to a wall tablet in Florence, Italy, spectacles were invented in the thirteenth century by an inhabitant of that city.

MARY LOU GOES SHOPPING

She is only eight, but, even at this tender age Mary Lou is a daily customer at the neighborhood stores. Perhaps it is a package of crackers, and a pound of coffee at the grocer's. Perhaps it is some tooth paste or toilet soap at the drug store.

Of course Mary Lou doesn't decide on what she is going to buy. Her mother writes a list—this brand of crackers, this brand of coffee, this make of tooth paste, this kind of soap. She knows the prices, and gives Mary Lou just enough money, with an extra penny or two, perhaps, to spend for herself.

Buying is just as simple and easy as that because of just one thing—Advertising.

Advertising has given all of us a lot to be thankful for. Because of advertising, people in Texas know about and buy Michigan motor cars. People in New Hampshire buy oranges raised in Texas and California. Because of advertising, merchants and manufacturers are forced to improve their products. It has standardized quality. It has also increased very much world consumption and thereby lowered costs. It promotes competition and thereby keeps dealers and merchants wide awake to make secure for you the most for your money.

But best of all it writes "Finis" on the business career of any merchant or manufacturer who attempts to fool the public or give them less than value received.
