Prohibition's Repeal Is Temporarily Delayed by Utah

RESTRAINT WRIT AGAINST RATIFICATION DENIED

Utah Expects to Put Final Action on At 7 o'Clock

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Delay of Utah's repeal of prohibition until 7 o'clock tonight was certain today on account of a recess voted by Utah delegates.

Twenty-one delegate leaders, meeting at noon, agreed to recess from 2 until 7 o'clock in order to be the last state voting ratification.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Justice Letts of the District of Columbia supreme court dismissed a petition for a writ restraining Acting Secretary of State Phillips from proclaiming ratification of the repeal amendment.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Pennsylvania became the thirty-fourth state to ratify the repeal amendment today when fifteen delegates met shortly after noon to cast votes.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—George Myers, secretary of state, said today that Ohio would ratify the repeal amendment.

KNOX'S CONDITION CALLED SERIOUS

Slight recovery was reported today for Dick Knox, county ranchman, who is in a Midland hospital suffering from double lobar pneumonia.

It was necessary Monday to administer oxygen, but heart and pulse were here this morning. However, Knox was still delirious.

Knox, who moved 25 miles north of Midland to the ranch about four years ago, became ill soon after exposing himself about three weeks ago, when he ventured on a hunt for a lost watch without putting on his boots, friends explained.

He was forced to bed a week ago.

Pythian Sisters Nominate Tonight

Nomination of officers will be made tonight at 9 o'clock by the Pythian Sisters lodge, and full attendance of members is expected, according to Mrs. Ethel Gravette, MEC.

The session will be devoted to regular roll call, too, it was explained. The lodge is especially interested to lay plans for the visit on Dec. 9 of Mrs. E. Tipps, state lodge official.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Ernest Oglesby, accused of slaying Officer Douglas Gates, was chained today when reported to have connections with the Clyde Barrow gang. Preliminary hearing was scheduled for Monday.

The STORY of Christmas

W. B. Simpson heads the Christmas party committee. It was announced by John P. Howe, president of the Rotary club. His associates are Hal Grady and W. I. Pratt, the latter being in full charge of publicity and invitations to children.

No racial lines will be drawn, it was announced, seats at the free picture show being provided for negroes and Mexicans also.

The decision to hold the party for the fifth consecutive year was reached at a directors' meeting of the club last Wednesday and the date was changed this morning on account of a conflicting announcement. Previous parties were held on Saturdays preceding Christmas.

Here's Brief Pictorial Review of 13 Years of the "Noble Experiment," Closing Today

The United States, on Jan. 16, 1920, embarked on an experiment to outlaw alcoholic drinks. Wild revels were held that night by those who mourned the ban on liquor and festive parties were given by those who had fought for national prohibition.

To put teeth in enforcement of the new prohibition act, Andrew Volstead, congressman from Minnesota, drew up the drastic law that bore his name. Wayne B. Wheeler, ablest leader of the drys, cracked the whip over Congress, with adroit but merciless hand.

Enforcement was expected to be rather a simple, routine matter. But, after the first shock, speakeasies sprang up like mushrooms, thousands in the big cities and scores even in smaller towns. The quality of liquor dispensed at first was atrocious, but it became better as bootleg methods were systematized. Raiding parties, often ruthless in their tactics, swooped on illegal resorts, thousands of offenders were sent to jail, and buildings padlocked, with apparently little effect in stemming the tide.

Late in 1932, the Crusaders estimated that prohibition had cost 2500 lives, the financial burden of enforcement grew ever greater, and hostility to the law increased. The Democrats promised absolute repeal and Franklin D. Roosevelt took prompt action.

A repeal amendment submitted to the states was passed by the required 36 in less than a year. States studied and adopted control plans, determined that the saloon never should return. The campaign, by education and regulatory law, for temperance, and to stamp out bootlegging in the nation, now is in full swing.

Earl A. Horst was elected secretary, and Joe D. Chambers, treasurer.

The new president called a general meeting of retailers for 7:30 Thursday night in the crystal ballroom to perfect the organization. Hardware and furniture men have already named Grady Weaver as their representative on the council.

Nobles asked other groups, grocers, druggists and all other lines of retailers, to get together before Thursday night, or at the Thursday meeting to name their representatives. Names of the new officers were forwarded Tuesday by the chamber of commerce to the district NRA office at Houston.

EL PASO.—Death stillled the songs of Ysidro Fernandez, 73, known as La Cucaracha (The Cockroach), who for 30 years was a familiar El Paso street minstrel.

The guitar player and singer died following an operation.

Born in Valencia, Spain, Fernandez went to Mexico with his parents in his boyhood.

After coming to El Paso he entered the chicken vending business. Because he sang songs about the chickens he had for sale he went through El Paso streets he collected a large following of children.

"I decided if they liked to hear me sing I'd be a troubadour, so I sold my chicken wagon and bought a guitar," Fernandez once said.

For years he sang outside El Paso hotels. On birthdays and anniversaries of his friends he appeared regularly with his guitar. Tourists were delighted with La Cucaracha, because he was "atmosphere."

He was wearing out his fourth guitar when he died.

Yule Season Starts Here Monday; Santa Will Visit

Midland will celebrate Christmas in a merry fashion, and the big time will start Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Old Santa Claus will make his official visit to Midland.

Then, on Dec. 22, merchants of Midland will stage a trophy chase.

Merchants began getting orders Tuesday from the chamber of commerce to borrow colored lights and streamers for their stores, and this procession was led by the Ritz theatre, which got its decorations Monday.

In addition to these two Christmas celebrations sponsored by the chamber of commerce and The Reporter-Telegram, the Rotary club and the Yucca theatre will give a Christmas party to officers and the Ritz, probably joined in by the Lions club, will give a theatre party for children.

Little money is to be spent, due to limited finances and due to a desire to devote all available funds to necessities, but though economical, the celebration will be helpful to Midland, the delight of grown-ups and a stimulation of business.

STANTON-MIDLAND GAME ON FRIDAY

Decision to stage a benefit football game here Friday afternoon between the ex-stars of Midland and Stanton was given official stamp this morning when it was announced that the Midland squad would use high school material and be coached by Head Coach L. K. Barry of that institution.

The game tentatively will be played at 3:30 that afternoon. Announcements as to gate charges will be made later in the week.

First workouts will begin at 4 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood that Assistant Coaches Bryan C. Henderson and Charles A. Lingo will be in the lineup, which otherwise will be bolstered by several former high school and college stars.

Funds will go to the athletic fund of the Midland and Stanton schools, receipts above expenses being divided 60-40 in favor of the winner. All aspirants for places on the team are asked to report each afternoon for practice.

NOBLES ELECTED HEAD OF COUNCIL

Earl A. Horst was elected secretary, and Joe D. Chambers, treasurer.

The new president called a general meeting of retailers for 7:30 Thursday night in the crystal ballroom to perfect the organization.

Hardware and furniture men have already named Grady Weaver as their representative on the council.

Nobles asked other groups, grocers, druggists and all other lines of retailers, to get together before Thursday night, or at the Thursday meeting to name their representatives. Names of the new officers were forwarded Tuesday by the chamber of commerce to the district NRA office at Houston.

WOOLLEY PLEADS HE'S NOT GUILTY

DALLAS, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Toy G. Woolley, 28, on trial today, pleaded not guilty but said the fatal shooting of his wife, Dorothy Joyne, was an accident.

The state demanded the death penalty. Dr. D. P. Laughon, emergency hospital physician, first state witness, said he gave Woolley morphine to quiet his nerves, believing him to have been grief-stricken. The hospital report said the shooting was an accident. The coroner's verdict was the same but was changed upon objection of attorneys.

BIG WHALE WASHED SHORE

CHATHAM, Mass., Dec. 5. (U.P.)—The biggest whale ever to be washed ashore at Cape Cod, more than 100 feet long, was discovered by coast guards today, high and dry on Monomy point. The mammal was dead, having been washed there in a recent flood tide. Guards first thought it to be a stranded schooner.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—The house ways and means sub-committee today recommended changes in federal taxes to bring the revenues to $237,000,000 annually.

AWAITS JURY REPORT
DECATUR, Ala., Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Judge W. W. Callahan indefinitely postponed all remaining trials in the Scottsboro assault case while the jury deliberated the fate of Clarence Norris.

HAMMOND POLLS NOT ALLOWED TO OPEN UP DOORS

Enraged Kingfish Is Closely Guarded From Foes

HAMMOND, La., Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Mobilized citizens today defeated Huey Long's political administration and prevented opening of the polls here for a federal election in the state's sixth congressional district.

It was claimed that Long's regime had handpicked the ballot, listing only one name, that of Mrs. Bolivar Kemp, as candidate for congress.

Armed citizens were out on the streets at 5 o'clock this morning, bent on closing the polls by force or otherwise.

At 8 o'clock, Judge Lee Pender, Long's lieutenant in Tangipahoa, St. Helena and Livingston parishes, announced that the election was officially called off.

Long, surrounded by a body guard at New Orleans, was enraged, it was reported here.

ADDIS POOL GETS A NEW EXTENSION

A three-quarter mile southeastern extension to the productive limits of the Harrison-Addis pool in Ector county loomed late Monday with reports that Fred Turner Jr., No. B-1 Addis was spraying about 30 bbls. of oil daily with 4,000,000 cubic feet of gas while drilling ahead at 3,892 feet.

The well shut down later as gas was blowing toward a boiler.

First oil was encountered in the east, which is in the southeast corner of section 26, block 43, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. survey, at 3,653 feet. An increase was obtained at 3,870 feet. In the event Turner No. B-1 Addis produces, it will cause three strikes.

First oil was obtained in Turner No. B-1 Addis at 908 feet below sea level. The showing was 168 feet higher than encountered in Stanton Oil and Gas company No. 2 E. Cowden, one of the best producers in the Harrison-Addis pool, which was completed for operators' initial gauge of 354 barrels, flowing. Most correlations in the Harrison-Addis pool are being made with Stanton No. 2 Cowden since its log is thought to be the most uniform and accurate.

Stanton No. 2 Cowden had its first oil at 4,015 to 4,030 feet, or 1,076 feet below sea level, and the best showing was logged at 4,040 to 4,048 feet. Drilled to total depth of 4,280 feet, the well was shot with 200 quarts and completed for 554 barrels daily.

White lime was topped in Stanton No. 2 Cowden at 3,945 feet, 70 feet above the first oil showing. Gas had not been made on the line No. 1 Turner No. B-1 Addis, but it was presumed to be at some point above the showing, since no wells in the area carry oil above the line.

Rigging up is virtually completed on Broderick & Calvert at No. 1 Elliott F. Cowden, Ector county, which is about a mile and three-quarters northwest of the Stanton Oil and Gas Co. No. 2 Cowden, the nearest producer in section 26, block 43, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. survey. Operators expect to spud today or Wednesday.

The test is nearly three miles northeast of Broderick & Calvert at No. 1 Cowden, the discovery well of Ector's fourth pool in section 25, block 44, township 2 south and is about a mile and three-quarters northwest of the Stanton Oil and Gas Co. No. 2 Cowden, the nearest producer in section 26, block 43, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. survey.

CREWLESS WARSHIPS

Secretary of the Navy Swanson has asked an increase of 5300 in the strength of the enlisted personnel of the navy, urging that the present strength is not adequate even for peace-time operations.

His request serves as a reminder that maintaining a navy is not simply a matter of having the proper number of ships. You also must have the men to operate them.

Sailors are not made overnight. The finest ship on earth is useless if its crew is poorly trained, so that it neither can maneuver nor fight as it should.

A navy which lacks manpower is just as much below standard as one which lacks mechanical equipment.

If we are going to follow a policy of keeping our navy ready for any eventuality—and apparently we are—we must maintain an adequate personnel. Secretary Swanson's request is not at all unreasonable.

DANGERS OF CHILDBIRTH

It is a startling report that the New York Academy of Medicine has turned in on maternal mortality rates in childbirth. It has found that two out of three deaths from childbirth in New York during the last three years could and should have been avoided; and the finding presents a sharp challenge both to the medical profession and to the public.

It is a challenge to the profession because the report states bluntly that 61 per cent of the avoidable deaths can be laid to the responsibility of the medical profession; and to the public, because of the fact that people in general need to be taught to demand the sort of care that is needed.

For all our pride in our civilization, the maternal death rate is higher in America than in other countries of comparable rank. The challenge presented by the academy's report is one that cannot be ignored.

PAYING FOR A "CRIME"

A man walked into a hardware store in Sunbury, Pa., recently and told the storekeeper that he would like to settle up for a very old debt.

Thirty-one years ago, when the man was a small boy, he wanted a sled. Lacking the money to buy it, he calmly had taken one from the store; a sled valued at 75 cents.

Ever since then, this had preyed on his mind, so finally he went in to settle up—and, after some discussion, relieved his conscience by paying the storekeeper $2.25.

It is hard to read this story without wishing for more facts about it. Did the youngster who took the sled 31 years ago get as much fun out of it as he had hoped? Did the pang of conscience that afflicted him afterward counterbalance the ache of unsatisfied desire he would have felt if he had not taken it?

A youngster who wants a sled and can't get one is a pathetic spectacle. This long-forgotten "crime" somehow is one that is very easy to understand.

NO TIP FOR WAITER?

When Grover Whalen, New York City's NRA administrator, suggested the abolition of tips for waiters as the best way of agreeing on wage scales under the restaurant code, he touched on a reform which probably would appeal to both wage-earner and the public.

Most waiters, it seems safe to assume, would prefer to work for a regular and adequate wage rather than depend on the generosity of the people they serve. Most diners, undoubtedly, would be glad to get away from the need of pouring out a steady stream of dimes and quarters.

But it is a little hard to see how the step would work out. The expenses of restaurateurs would be increased very materially, and prices on the menus inevitably would go up. Are we ready for such a rise, just now?

Now that a 1-cent processing tax on butter is being considered by government officials, many persons will probably think that taxes are being spread pretty thick.

When a woman finds a gray hair among her husband's black locks she begins to sympathize with him on account of his advancing years, but there's no sympathy if she finds a blonde or golden hair on his person.

Finding of a blood-stained auto near Bristow, Okla., has started a far-rung search for Jack Wisdom, top, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Pritchard, below. Pritchard, wealthy business man of Wichita, Kan., and his wife left their home Nov. 27 with a man believed to be Wisdom, a ranch hand, and police fear they were slain. ## IT LOOKED LIKE A BARGAIN

Today, the windows and shelves of many stores are crowded with packages bearing "bargain" prices. With prices so low, not getting your money's worth seems almost impossible.

But it pays to remember that while some of these products are bargains, others are not.

In some of the unfamiliar packages you see so frequently today, there is cheap merchandise—the offering of a few manufacturers who have gone too far in their efforts to make your dollars buy more quantity. Products in which these manufacturers have sacrificed quality to make a low price still lower and, seemingly, more attractive.

No matter how strongly you are urged to buy these "bargain brands"—or how often you are told they are "just as good"—it is safer to refuse them unless you are fully familiar with their value.

Look for the real bargains now among brands which you know—by your own experience, through their advertising, or by the reputations of their makers. Ask for them by name! Insist on getting what you ask for!

Many of these reliable brands now cost less than they have in years. But only the price has been reduced. The quality—which originally made these products popular with you and many others—still remains as high as ever.

LEARNS ABOUT BANGTAILS

HOUSTON (UP)—Detective Lieutenant W. F. Kessler is learning things about race horses at Epsom Downs, near here.

His first surprising knowledge about thoroughbreds came in police court when a fan arraigned on a vagrancy charge described his occupation as "selling carrots to the horses."

"Now, don't get fresh, young man," said Kessler, "this isn't any laughing matter."

"A race horse needs carrots," the defendant retorted. "They're good for 'em."

NEW HONOR CLAIMED

FT. WORTH (UP)—Old Fort Belknap which once reared its head as a constant threat to mauling Indians now is making a new bid for fame—that of overlooking the first commercial grape juice bottling.

Once celebrated as a leading military center of Texas, the crumbling old outpost now frowns down on a vicinity littered with grapevines, a vicinity which is expected to become one of the greatest grape-producing centers of the state.

The bottling plant, which already has started capping the grape juice, has been established through the cooperation of Texas A. & M. college and the business men of Newcastle, little town adjacent to the fort.

WINK-WINTERS BI-DISTRICT GAME TO BE PLAYED AT WINK SATURDAY

BLIZZARDS HAVE IMPRESSIVE CLUB BUT WINKLER TEAM GIVEN EDGE IN PRE-GAME RATING; TIME: 3 O'CLOCK

The coin, which spun wrongly for Coach Lee Johnson in the district playoff with Crane, smiled for him again Friday, and the bi-district game between Wink and Winters will be played on the Winkler grass lot Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This information was conveyed in a telephone communication from the Wink coach to The Reporter-Telegram last night.

Arrangements for the important meeting were made at a conference of coaches that afternoon at Big Spring.

The game assumes additional importance when it is considered the teams play their last game, B class race being concluded in bi-district play. Wink narrowly defeated Crane for the district honor, winning 14-12 at Crane. It is expected that the powerful machine of Coach Johnson will win over Winters, but followers of the sport in the Winters district say the Blizzard is no set-up and that Wink will have one of the strongest opponents of the season.

Wink, winners of the bi-district last year in a game against De Leon, is primed for another win. Its club has no injuries on its roster and has benefited from a several-days rest.

18TH BIRTHDAY OF FAMOUS TRAIN RECALLS PROGRESS OF RAILROADING

DALLAS—Eighteen years of progress in railway transportation is being celebrated today as The Texas and Pacific railway observes the eighteenth anniversary of its internationally famous passenger train, the "Sunshine Special." Christened with fitting ceremonies under the auspices of the Fort Worth and Dallas chambers of commerce and with a passenger list of prominent business men and civic leaders, the Sunshine pulled out on December 5, 1915 on its maiden trip to northern and eastern points and thereby reduced the fastest previous running time from Dallas and Fort Worth to St. Louis and Memphis by more than six hours.

The "Sunshine Special" so christened to suggest the good cheer and hospitality of the Southwest, was inaugurated in response to a popular demand for a faster passenger schedule to the North and East via The Texas and Pacific and Missouri Pacific lines.

Frank Jensen, general passenger agent, said in recalling the beginning of this famous train. "The train became immediately popular and its service was soon extended through to El Paso and California on the west and direct connections were provided to New Orleans, the Rio Grande Valley and Mexico. It afforded long needed connections at St. Louis and Memphis with the fast noon trains to New York, Washington, Detroit and Chicago.

"At the same time the Sunshine Special was put in service it was difficult to imagine how better railway transportation could be possible, but in the eighteen years that have passed remarkable advances have been made in passenger service as typified in this famous train."

Worth depot from which the first Jensen said. "Even the old Fort Sunshine Special departed has been replaced by an entirely new Texas and Pacific passenger terminal and office building, one of the most modern in the South.

"The passenger engine that pulled the first Sunshine has become obsolete and would seem a dwarf today in comparison with the present locomotive which provide the finest and most advanced type of motive power in the United States. The entire Texas and Pacific roadbed has been completely rebuilt since that first epochal trip of the Sunshine Special. Ninety-pound rail was then the heaviest in use, but now there is none lighter than 110-pound steel between Dallas and Fort Worth and St. Louis, while double track has been laid where traffic is heaviest. Automatic block signals have been installed on the entire system.

"As a result of these improvements to motive power and roadbed, running time of the Sunshine Special has been further reduced and this train can boast of a safety record unexcelled by any American railway," Mr. Jensen said. "But it is the improvement in the passenger equipment that is most apparent to the public. In the beginning the train provided standard sleeping cars, coaches and diners, but improvements and refinements were added from time to time until now the train is one of the most luxurious in the country. It was the first to introduce completely air conditioned lounge and dining cars for the comfort of passengers. These modern comfort cars exclude all dust, dirt, heat, or chill by means of air conditioning equipment, and provide such exceptional facilities as broad observation windows, a traveling library, radio entertainment, enroute soda fountain service, shower baths, game tables and other features.

"How the traveling public has demonstrated its appreciation for this superior service is indicated by the frequent occasions when it has been necessary to run the Sunshine Special in two and three sections," Mr. Jensen said. "This happened often last summer and on September 5 it was run in five sections to carry the immense crowd to the Century of Progress in Chicago. Popularly of the Sunshine Special was responsible for the inauguration of its companion train on the Texas and Pacific, The Texan.

FT. WORTH CATS WORRY OVER '34

FORT WORTH (UP)—Prospects that Fort Worth will operate a baseball team in the Texas league next season are none too bright.

The problem facing the Fort Worth club is not one of changing horses, but of finding a horse to ride in the first place. Discovery of a horse in the form of a major league club or local financial support, appears to be no easy task.

Unless the search is successful, the Cats may view next year's Texas league race from the grandstands of other teams.

The present management is faced with several thousand dollars debts—for hotel accounts, uniforms, bats, balls and other equipment—left by last year's club which finished the season in receivership and look to day baseball to eliminate expense of lighting its field.

Where the money is to come from is a question that Dr. Webb Walker, the receiver, would like answered.

Montana has nine institutions of higher learning; one to every 60,000 of population.

"Hugh Grenaker, a young, brisk, good-looking New Yorker... forceful and energetic... the type of youth who makes millions quickly and acquires much important authority was in conference with Sam Parker, an elderly New York banker and minor stock holder in the Walling Company, and Walling himself, a square-faced man with iron-gray hair.

Parker was a human, lovable, old fellow, a conservative of the old school in business, but generous to a fault. On the other hand, Walling was often ruthless, like his father and grandfather who had been steel men before him.

"We're entering a new era," said Grenaker, enthusiastically. "This is 1933. It means permanent prosperity for everybody."

"There was a mild twinkle in Parker's eye as he said, 'I read Mr. Hoover's speeches, too.'

"If you don't believe it," Grenaker continued, "take a look at the stock market since he's elected."

"There was an amused snort from Parker. "You telling me about the stock market?" He chuckled at the thought of it. "I've been through four panics."

"I'm afraid you're an old conservative, Sam," said Walling.

"Don't get me wrong," said Parker, mildly. "I'm willing to vote my stock for a merger when I'm convinced that it won't mean over-expansion."

The girl wrenched herself free, and looking steadily at the foreman, declared, "I'm not moving."

Buck took her by the arm and lifted her clearly off the floor... gently... and set her down at one side.

Walling was seething as Buck walked into his presence followed by the committee. "What's this?"

"The meeting you postponed this afternoon," said Buck. "The men are ready to strike, Mr. Walling, unless our demands are granted."

"You and these men are discharged," roared Walling.

But, Grenaker cautioned him saying, "Just a minute, Mr. Walling. Then he turned to Buck and said, 'If Mr. Walling will agree to listen to me, I think we can reach an agreement satisfactory to all of us.'"

"And what's that?" asked Walling, sharply.

"May I talk to you and Mr. Parker a minute in the study, if Garrett will excuse us?"

"Go ahead," Buck replied.

"Garrett, would you mind asking your men to wait outside and let Miss Walling's party continue?" Buck nodded, and Grenaker continued, "Will you wait for us in the library?"

"Miss Buck was waiting in the library, Kay approached him. "Was it necessary to break up the party to see my father?" she asked.

"I wanted results."

"I see—even if it meant pushing

Courts to Decide Whether An Automobile Is Garbage

BOSTON (UP)—If a man leaves his worn-out automobile beside his ash barrels on the curb, is the ash collector obliged to cart it away?

The Massachusetts courts have been asked to decide the question in a petition brought by the Coleman Disposal company against the city of Boston.

The company's contract with the city calls for the taking away of discarded automobiles, among other things. But company officials claim that "automobiles" means only bodies, engines or other parts of cars, not the whole thing.

"Keep off this porch," Kay ordered. "We're going to see your father this time," Buck grimly declared as he continued to move forward. (Posed by Fay Wray and Jack Holt.)

"Suppose we forget about buying the Scranton and Easton mills," said Grenaker, "and limit ourselves to the Pittsburgh merger. Are you in?"

"Yes," Parker nodded.

Outside the office, Buck Garrett, heart foreman at the head of a group of mill hands, was demanding to see Mr. Walling. "Teppen, a timid soul, interrupted the conference. "A man named Garrett is here with a workers' committee," he said. "They insist upon seeing you."

At the mention of Garrett, Walling's face darkened with displeasure. "I'm busy," he said. "Tell them to get out and stay out."

"They won't go," Teppen interrupted. "A lot more are waiting in the street."

"Oh, yes?" said Walling. "Well, get the names of the committee and fire them, Garrett included!"

"Better listen to them, Henry," cautioned Parker. "Most of their grievances are legitimate."

"Legitimate nothing!" snorted Walling. "Give them hard work and they behave themselves. Give them money and idleness and they drink themselves to death."

Parker shook his head. "We're the only company still working on a twelve hour day and the twenty-four long turn. Men can't stand that pace."

"No mob of hunkies is going to tell me how to run my business," Walling declared.

"You're liable to have a strike on your hands," Parker suggested.

"Let them try it," exclaimed Walling, and then he ordered his car to be sent to the rear entrance.

Although Walling succeeded in leaving the mill without meeting Buck and the committee, he could not get entirely away from them, for that evening, during a party which his daughter, Kay, was giving in honor of her birthday, Buck and the committee shoved their way through the assembled guests on the porch and started toward the reception room.

"Keep off this porch," Kay ordered.

"We're going to see your father this time," Buck grimly declared as he continued to move forward.

"He gave you his answer this afternoon," said Grenaker.

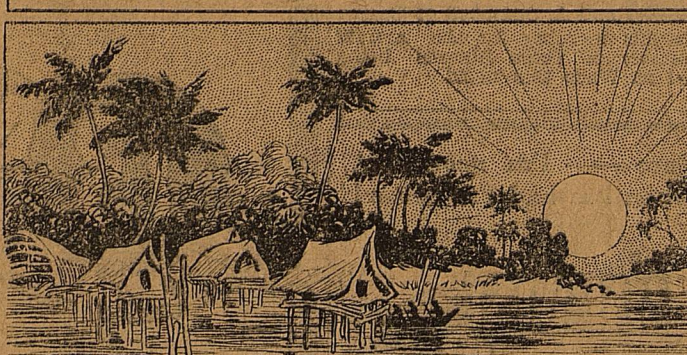

"But not the right one," Buck replied, and then joking at Kay, he added, "Are you going to take her out of the way or will I have to?"

Grenaker realized that there was no stopping Buck. "Come along, Kay," he said, taking her by the arm.

AUSTIN (U.P.)—It will cost the University of Texas approximately $7.50 per student to heat the 21 buildings on the campus here this winter. Around 36,000,000 pounds of lignite will be burned to produce the 200,000,000 pounds of steam needed for heat this winter, according to estimates by C. J. Eckhardt, Jr., adjunct professor of mechanical engineering and superintendent of the power plant.

On the coldest days, 2,000,000 pounds of steam will be produced by the $115,000 steam generating system, at a cost of approximately $450. The lignite, mined at Bastrop by a former university student, P. L. Denson, is burned in furnaces which maintain a temperature of 2,400 degrees Fahrenheit. Steam goes into distribution mains aggregating 100,000 feet in length.

LIQUOR BANNED

SEATTLE (U.P.)—A law passed in 1895 by the faculty of the University of Washington will remain in effect. The law pertains to the selling of liquor near the university.

COLUMBIA PLAYS IN ROSE BOWL

PASADENA, Calif.—Columbia university's acceptance of an invitation from Stanford to play the annual East-West football game in the Rose Bowl here was announced.
"Football critics have informed us that despite an early season defeat by Princeton, Columbia has really a great team," said the Stanford manager.
"We are impressed by its great finish," he added, and went on to say:
"In making its selection, Stanford took into consideration the scholastic standing of its possible opponents and thought Columbia was above reproach."
Stanford has scored a total of 131 points to 26 for opponents in winning eight of its ten games, with one a tie. The only reverse for the Cardinal team was at the hands of the University of Washington, 6 to 0. Columbia scored 172 points to 45 for the combined opposition.
The season was opened with a 27 to 0 victory over San Jose state. University of California at Los Angeles was repulsed 3 to 0, and Santa Clara fell, 7 to 0. There was no decision in the Northwestern scoreless game but San Francisco was stopped 20 to 13. Two field goals enabled the Washington Huskies to score its triumph and the Olympic club of San Francisco was turned back, 21 to 0. The Trojans of the University of Southern California fell, 13 to 7, and the University of California, 7 to 3, with a 33 to 7 rout of the University of Montana in between.
Columbia played eight games and won seven, Princeton with a 20 to 0 defeat placing the only black mark on the Lions' record. Lehigh was first to fall, 39 to 0, and Virginia was stopped, 15 to 6. Then came the Princeton game, but Penn State following was defeated 33 to 8. Cornell was downed, 9 to 6, and Navy 14 to 7. Columbia scored 46 points to 6 for Lafayette and concluded the regular season with a 16 to 0 victory over Syracuse.

Kids Gathering Old Toys for Matinee

Already the children of Midland are digging up last years toys and buying new toys for the toy matinee to be held at the Yucca theatre, next Thursday from 2 to 5 o'clock. If enough of Midland's children will attend this toy matinee, they will guarantee other children a visit from Santa Claus but if there isn't a good representation at this show old Santa is going to disappoint a lot of little kiddies this year. For this reason parents are urged to have their kiddies attend this show.
The price of admission is one or more toys, new or old. The old toys will be repaired by the boy scouts, who will turn them over to the Welfare board for distribution to Midland's needy families.
So bring out your toys kiddies and take them to the Yucca next Thursday afternoon and see James Dunn and Sally Trevor in "Jimmy" and Sally.

OSHKOSH, Wis. (U.P.)—A fortune awaits the inventor able to devise a cheap way to salvage millions of hardwood logs lying in the soft mud at the bottom of the Fox river.
In early Wisconsin lumbering days, the banks of the river were completely lined with large rafts of logs, with barely enough room for boats to pass. Thirty-six saw mills were kept busy cutting the lumber. Hardwood logs in large numbers were lost when they slipped from the rafts and, water-soaked, sank. Because of their lesser buoyancy, the hardwood logs sank in great numbers.
The river bottom now is completely "lined" with hardwood from the mouth of the river at Lake Winnebago to Lake Butte Des Morts five miles away, a survey revealed.
The cost of retrieving the logs is great, even with modern equipment. Lumber company officials have been seeking some device that would raise the logs economically.
Several years ago a log that had rested on the river bottom for more than 50 years was salvaged by the Payne Lumber company. It was so perfectly preserved, and of such fine quality, that the company immediately began to salvage logs from the ends of its docks in the river. Since operations first started, an average of 180 logs a day are recovered, more than enough to pay the costs of hiring a special crew.

"Buffalo Bill's" Relative Rides Plane at Age of 91

HANFORD, Cal (U.P.)—No less than his kinsman, Buffalo Bill, Cody, George Warner Cody, 91, of Armodia, is an adventurer.
The aged Californian, a Union soldier, during the Civil War and made captive by Confederates at the Battle of Chickamauga, surprised his friends the other day by going for an airplane ride, his first.
"I wanted to see what it was like," he explained.
Cody, escaped from the Confederate prison at Atlanta, Ga., by posing as a hospital orderly, but was recaptured and sent to Andersonville.
He came to California in 1874.

Oklahoma Deer Fared Well in Hunting Season

OKLAHOMA CITY (U.P.)—Only 235 bucks—one for about every ten hunters—were killed during Oklahoma's first open season on deer in 11 years. Not a single hunter was slain, and none was wounded.
State Game Warden Robert Chandler estimated the number of bucks killed at about four per cent of those in the woods in the seven counties where hunting was allowed. All hunters were forced to wear red jackets so other hunters would not mistake them for deer.

"Think of it, Ted, WE HAVE BILLS ... BUT ... WE'VE FORGOTTEN WHAT A CAR REPAIR BILL LOOKS LIKE"

Peggy: "You recall, Ted, the talk we had when you turned the car money over to me—how you warned me not to be too confident of oil and gas claims until I tried them out? It didn't take me long to learn what values an oil or gas had to have. Then I selected Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil because of its penetrative quality, for it was plain to see this was real motor protection. According to your cousin Paul, who buys it for his company's trucks, Conoco produces an oil as fine as anyone could, and then they Germ Process it—a patented method of adding oiliness that only Conoco can use."
Ted: "How does it work?" Peggy: "Drive three hundred miles after it is first put in your car. Check it and you will find about a quart of oil apparently missing—they call this the 'Hidden Quart', for it stays up in your motor and never drains away. The oil has penetrated the metal, producing a continuously oily surface." Ted: "Peggy, that accounts for our not having repair bills! What gasoline do you buy?"
Peggy: "I buy Conoco Bronze, for it also proved itself better than others. Has cold morning starting bothered our car? Haven't you said, 'The old bus runs like a charm'—haven't you bragged of its pep? Well, thank Conoco for that, as well as for more miles to the gallon, more power and anti-knock. Both Conoco gas and oil are splendid—and unequalled for winter driving. And we certainly have saved money."

Full motor protection, especially in cold motor starting, can be found only in Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil because the penetrative oiliness, called "The Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. Conoco Germ Processed Oil is the highest grade motor oil obtainable... the paraffin base crude oil sources, the scientific skill and the most modern of refineries combine to make it so. Then it is Germ Processed with an exclusive Conoco formula.

Instant Starting and Lighting Pick-up can best be obtained with Conoco Bronze Gasoline, and without sacrifice of Long Mileage, Greater Power and Anti-Knock advantages. For cold weather starting, it cannot be excelled—all the possible fuel needs of modern cars have been fulfilled at no increase in price.

It can be easily identified by its bronze color but you must be sure it is Conoco Bronze Gasoline for only in this way can its advantages of unusual performance and greater economy be obtained.
