ROOSEVELT BEER MESSAGE GIVEN CONGRESS TODAY

Urges Passage Bill To Permit Sale, Manufacture

WASHINGTON, March 13. (UP)—President Roosevelt gave a surprise message to congress today for immediate modification of the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer to bolster government revenues.

Speaker Rainey said he would jam the bill through the house. Majority Leader Robinson plans to bring the modification bill before the senate after disposal of the economy bill.

In the shortest message he has sent so far, Roosevelt concluded, "I deem the action at this time of highest importance."

START SEARCH FOR MISSING CAPETOWN FLYER

CAPE TOWN, S. Africa, March 13. (UP)—Five airplanes left here today searching for Victor Smith, South African aviator who was overdue on his flight from London here. He was last reported 400 miles away.

A Wallish Bay, South Africa, reports Saturday night said he was ten hours ahead of the time held by Amy Molison, record holder for the flight, and hoped to land at Cape Town Sunday night. Her record for the 6,200 miles was four days, six hours and 55 minutes. Smith is 19 years old.

Relative Corrects Tidal Wave Report

Reports Saturday that a tidal wave had swept Catalina island were corrected early Sunday morning when Mrs. A. P. Loskamp got a long distance telephone call through to her mother, Mrs. A. P. Nelson, recent Midland visitor.

Mrs. Nelson said the tremors accompanying the earthquake which damaged Southern California were felt distinctly at Catalina but no damage resulted. The tremors still were being felt at the time of Mrs. Loskamp's call, midnight at Catalina and 2 o'clock Sunday morning here.

Race Bill May Aid Boll Worm Measure

Expressing himself in favor of the racing bill and thinking it logical to connect the racing bill with supporters of that bill will aid in passage of the pink boll worm bill, B. Frank Haag, representative from this district in the state legislature, wrote the following letter to Midland men today:

"In your letter you request that I make contact with Mr. Mack McGee, who is working in the interest of the Duval race horse bill, and saying that for my support of this bill I could receive the support of the Waggoner friends for the pink boll worm bill and also further saying that the friends of the race horse bill do not definitely know my position on this bill.

"I don't believe any of the friends of the race horse bill have any reason to doubt my position and what I shall do upon the consideration of this bill. I have talked with Mr. Duval, the author of the bill, and with Dayton Moses, several times and have unambiguously expressed myself in favor of the bill. However, I am grateful to you for the information you give in your letter, relative to the manner in which I might be able to get the unanimous support of the friends of the Waggoner race horse bill to help me put over the pink boll worm bill. I will certainly follow up the lead given me.

Plan Year's Work Monahans Schools

Reorganization work for the Monahans school system has been started by J. A. Summerhill, recently named superintendent for next year, and the Midland men met with the school board Saturday for discussion of details. Another meeting will be held Wednesday, Summerhill said, and plans are under way for removal of a school building from Fenwell to Monahans to relieve an overcrowded scholastic condition. Summerhill's administration begins in July at which time he will move to Monahans.

Aldrich, chairman of the governing board of the Chase National bank, who is shown here leaving a conference of bankers in the New York Clearing House, Aldrich called for complete separation of the commercial and investment phases of banking.

LAND BILLS GET HEATED DEBATE IN HOUSE TODAY

AUSTIN, March 13. (UP)—Representatives Sarah Hughes of Dallas and Walter Jones of Jourdantown today debated the West Texas land bills providing for installment payment of funds claimed to be due the state on mineral developments. Jones favored the bill while Mrs. Hughes declared that passage would mean "that millions of dollars will be lost to the school funds."

Veterinarian's 'Tools' Are Not Wanted by Thief

If a friend had not called Dr. Wilton Orson early Saturday morning and offered to sell him a kit of veterinarian's instruments, Orson might not have known his own "tools" were stolen until his next official call. The Midland veterinarian parked his car at the front of his home Friday night, putting it in the garage at about 11:30. During that time, some person, believed to have been a "dope fiend," appropriated the kit of instruments. They were found early Saturday morning by a friend of Orson's, on his way to work. He recognized the kit and instruments and returned them. A check up showed that nothing was missing but the instruments had been scattered over a radius of several feet as cotton and bandages were unwrapped and a search evidently was made for "dope" usually carried in the kit to be used as local anesthetics for operations on livestock.

EXECUTION OF ZANGARA WEEK OF MARCH 20

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 13. (UP)—Governor Scholz signed the execution warrant of Giuseppe Zangara today, setting execution for the week of March 20. ### Bridge Burns; Two Trains Late Here

Eastbound trains numbers six and two, due here at 10:33 last night and 8:30 this morning, respectively, arrived in the form of a consolidated train at one o'clock today, having been delayed on account of a burnt bridge five miles west of Vidor. Passengers were transferred from the east and west bound trains, making possible resumption of traffic. Work was under way on the bridge today but trains tonight also were expected to be late. Cause of the bridge fire had not been announced.

New Golf Pros Are Phonograph Records

LONDON. (UP)—It is now possible to learn to play golf, seated in an armchair. There are numerous ways of learning, but the latest is lessons on a phonograph record, which, if it has nothing else to merit it, can be played again and again until the lesson is learned by heart. So far only two double-sided records have been made, with a lesson, written by the Ryder Cup player, Archie Compston, on each side. There is "The Drive," "The Iron," "The Approach" and "The Putt."

Each lesson lasts about five minutes and the total cost of the two records is $1.25.

Some enthusiasts are planning to take a portable phonograph to their favorite course, plant it on the first tee, and play the records.

VISIT FLOREY TODAY

Fred Wemple and Percy J. Mims made a business trip to Florey and nearby ranches today.

INTENSITY IS ON INCREASE AS 36TH FELT

Death Toll Brought To 135 as Check Is Continued

LOS ANGELES, March 13. (UP)—Increasing intensity of "settling tremors" spread fear in Southern California's earthquake area today. A tremor early today was the worst since the original late Friday. It was the thirty-sixth recorded during the three days. The death toll had reached 135 and property damage was estimated at $60,000,000.

LONG BEACH ASKS $500,000 TO FEED DESTITUTE VICTIMS

LONG BEACH, Calif., March 13. Striking quickly to the heart of its emergency problems, the newly organized civic rehabilitation committee formally applied to the state for $500,000 with which to feed destitute victims of Friday's disastrous earthquake.

At the same time prompt measures for the assurance of an uncontaminated water supply were taken along with action to open tenanted eating establishments immediately and the restoration of natural gas service.

The dead were removed to private morgues as the city, which suffered damage to property conservatively estimated at $25,000,000, continued to clear its streets of debris.

Accepting the offer of the Associated Contractors of Los Angeles to furnish engineers, 100 certified by the state were brought together here to start an immediate check of the buildings to determine which might be reopened.

Streets Cleared of Debris. Most of the buildings condemned were closed at the order of the United States navy, which stepped in to take charge of the situation 30 minutes after the first terrific tremor was felt Friday evening. These can be reopened only at the direction of naval authorities.

For the most part the streets had been cleared of fallen masonry and broken glass and the fire department set about to tear down the tottering walls, which officials feared might be headed to fall by continuation of occasional sharp tremors.

Charles S. Henderson, former city manager, who last night was given dictatorial powers as the head of the civic rehabilitation committee, met members of the city council and his committee members to formulate the initial steps.

Water Tests Incomplete. He was informed it would be a matter of at least 24 hours before the city would know whether the water supply at its command was fit to drink, although Dr. G. E. MacDonald, city physician, hastened to tell that there was no indication that it had been contaminated.

MacDonald yesterday started the injection of chlorine gas into the water mains under high pressure as a precautionary measure. He said water tests for purity started yesterday would be completed and the analysis known tomorrow.

Anderson was informed that except for one limited area, the city water system was functioning again after repairs had been made to the numerous breaks resulting from the quake, but residents were required to boil all water used for drinking purposes. The fire hazard, he was told, is negligible.

FEAR OF DISEASE CONFRONTS RESIDENTS

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—Fear of pestilence and disease created a panic here today as relief workers and officials in Los Angeles cities proceeded with the work following the earthquake that wrought death, injury and millions in damage.

Long Beach, center of the greatest destruction, discontinued the use of city water because authorities suspected sewage from broken pipes might have seeped into the water mains where breakage might have occurred. (See EARTHQUAKE, page 4)

Suicide Verdict In Fuller Death

J. B. Fuller, former Midland furniture man, met death at his own hands, a coroner's verdict issued at El Paso said. The following article from an El Paso newspaper gives details of the coroner's investigation.

The body of Jefferson B. Fuller, 38, Carlsbad, N. M., merchant who is said to have committed suicide Wednesday night in his ward at William Beaumont general hospital was en route to Newton, Texas, yesterday for burial.

Fuller slashed his throat with a pocketknife, hospital officials said, severing both jugular veins. The death certificate, filed with the city statistician yesterday said Fuller committed suicide.

Maj. M. W. Hall, adjutant of the hospital, said Fuller was in the hospital for treatment of chronic rheumatism, but seemed in good spirits up until within a few minutes of the time he slashed his throat. The action remains unexplained as far as hospital officers have been able to learn, Major Hall said.

EXCHANGE OF CREDITS AIDS BUSINESS HERE

Cash Available for Emergencies, on Affidavits

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—Majority Leader Robinson today offered an amendment to the Roosevelt emergency bank bill to extend Federal Reserve protection to state banks in the present crisis.

Secretary of Treasury Woodin said the people will respond to the first reopenings "with common sense and a sober realization of actual conditions."

(By United Press) Normal business was resumed as banks began reopening today. The twelve Federal Reserve district headquarters cities led in the return to banking.

President Roosevelt promised reopening institutions to meet all needs and assured state banks assistance from Federal Reserve members and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Eleven Dallas banks opened. "Everything is in splendid condition," clearing house officers reported. New currency is not needed in Dallas, it was announced. Official trading was resumed in the American dollar at London and Paris, showing complete confidence. Quotations were nearly the same as before the holiday.

LOCAL BANKS ON CREDIT EXCHANGE BASIS

Much of the local business congestion was being relieved today when the two Midland banks opened for exchange of credits.

Checks issued on March 6 were being charged to the account and accredited to the account deposited to, thereby making possible

CASH FOR DISTRESS NEEDS. Local bankers said today that orders have been issued, allowing the cashing of checks for distress needs, including money for medicines, foods and emergencies. It is necessary, however, for affidavits to be made showing that actual distress or emergency creates need of the funds.

the liquidation of much business which was being carried in the cash drawers of merchants. The order issued by the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas was as follows:

"Under authority conferred upon him by the president's proclamation of March 6 and March 9, 1933, directing and continuing the bank holiday, the secretary of the treasury has issued the following regulation:

Any banking institution may, when the owners consent, therefor, pay checks issued prior to March 6, 1933, and received in due course of business by the drawee banking institution by charging the amounts thereof to the accounts of the drawer and crediting such amounts to the accounts of such owners on the books of the drawee banking institution."

The order was signed by E. A. McKinney, governor of the Federal Reserve bank at Dallas.

President Confident

WASHINGTON, March 13.—President Roosevelt assured the people of the nation Sunday night that the banks in reopening this week would "take care of all needs."

Going into the detail of the story of the closing of the banks, and his steps to reopen them, the president scored some bankers as "either incompetent or dishonest," but he said the government is "straightening out this situation as quickly as possible."

He expressed his own confidence (See BANKS, page 4)

POOR ECONOMY

When Congress sets out to trim governmental expenditures it deserves praise from a surprised public. Yet there are a few fields in which reductions are not in the public interest; and one of these is that occupied by the Federal Trade Commission.

This commission has been costing around a million dollars annually. Efforts have been made, because of the financial stringency, to lop this appropriation in half.

The Trade Commission, each year, saves American consumers many millions of dollars. It pays its cost many times over through its activities in exposing fraudulent claims on merchandise, in bringing about utilities rate reductions and in other ways. To cripple it by pulling the strings tighter would be economy of a false and expensive kind. Let us hope that the new administration keeps it operating on its old schedule.

Perhaps as significant as the new back-to-the-farm movement is the increasing back-up-the-farm owner movement.

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

A certain farm hand near here was kicked by a mule. The boss asked him why the mule kicked him, but the farm hand said it wasn't any use to ask a mule anything.

A certain old maid here in town says the most thrilling experience of her life was the time she found a burglar under her bed. That was twenty years ago and she still looks under the bed every night.

Governor Pollard of Virginia has been quoted recently in various papers on account of his definitions of familiar words. Here are some of them:

Gentleman: One who can disagree without being disagreeable.

Criticisms: A thing that can be avoided by saying nothing, doing nothing and being nothing.

Diplomat: A man who remembers a woman's birthday and forgets her age.

Taxation: The art of picking the goose so as to insure the greatest number of feathers with the least amount of squawking.

Executive ability: Deciding quickly and getting somebody to do the work.

Depression: A period of time in which we have to do without what our parents never had.

An old school story: The teacher was examining a country boy.

"What happened in 1443?" she asked. "Luther was born," he replied promptly.

"Correct," she said. "What happened in 1487?" "The country boy thought and thought and thought."

"Come, come," she said, "what happened in 1487?" "The boy's face lighted up. "Luther was forty ears old," he replied.

Blind Men Ask Each Other for Directions

KANSAS CITY. (UP)—It happened on a street car here a few days ago.

A white man, blind, found a seat beside a negro, also blind. Neither of course, knew of the other's plight.

The white man spoke first, asking that his seat companion tell him when they reached a certain street intersection. The negro agreed, and later said he "thought" the intersection had been reached. "Think?" asked the white man. "Can't you see out the window?" The negro explained. They asked the motorman then.

Mummies X-Rayed To Determine Sex

BOSTON. (UP)—Two thousand-year-old mummies in the Museum of Fine Arts here are being X-rayed by members of the staff of Massachusetts General hospital to determine their sex and the diseases from which they died.

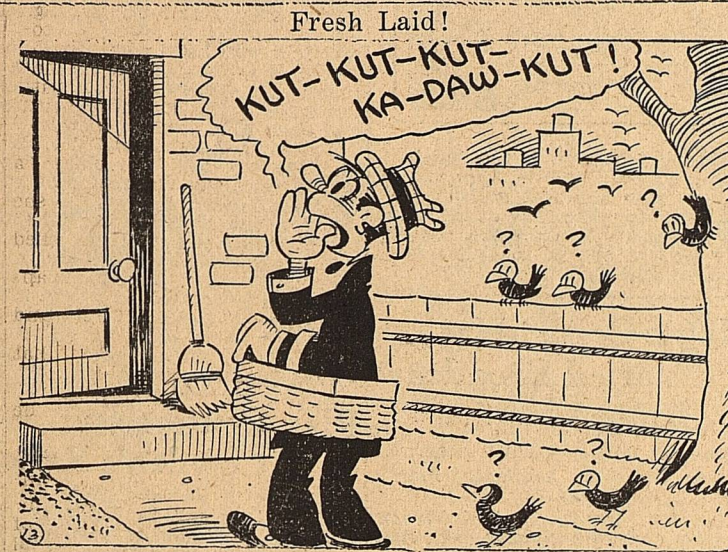

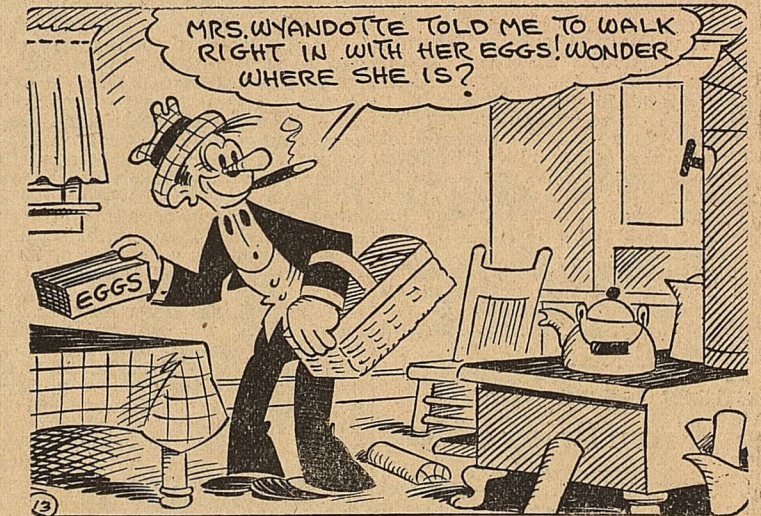

It was found that lips of metal, probably gold, covered the mouth of one mummy, and artificial eyes had been given another.

MAYBE HE'S RIGHT

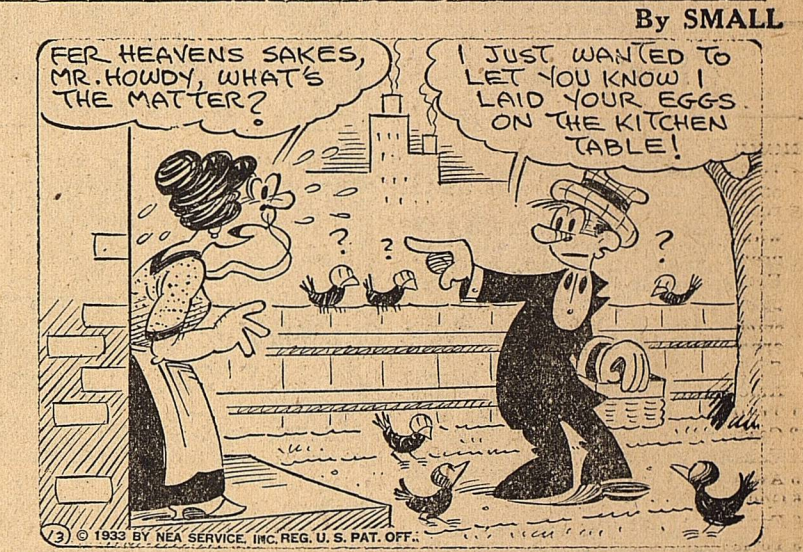

DETROIT.—Last November police arrested John Kobos when they found him attempting to hew his way through the door of a vacant bank with a hatchet. Kobos explained that he had his life savings of $1800 in the bank when it closed and that, in his estimation, the least the bank could do was to give him a place to sleep. Despite his argument, he was sentenced to 45 days in the house of correction. Recently, after his release, police again found Kobos breaking up the bank. He had kicked in a door, curled up on the floor, and fallen asleep.

PREMIER MAY REORGANIZE FRENCH ARMY

By SAM DASHELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS. (UP)—A project for the reorganization of the French army, to make it cost less and fight better, shortly will be submitted by Premier and War Minister Daladier to Parliament.

The reorganized army, according to Premier Daladier, would greatly benefit by the new frontier defenses of France, supplementing these powerful new fortresses with the human material of an aggressive force and the larger tactical resources which have been built up since the World war.

Daladier's plan is to the effect that defensive fighting has become more and more a job for material and machinery and the need for exhaustive use of men and muskets power.

The Daladier plan also has been compelled to consider two important factors with the defense of France. First, it must conform to the new Barcon Plan, which was offered to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva; second, the reduced conscription policies which will be available between the years of 1935 and 1940 due to the war years when births naturally fell to a marked degree.

The Daladier plan has been submitted to the Superior General Staff and all other technical and tactical divisions of the War Department, and its main preoccupation with the defense of France is that a peace loving France must henceforth concentrate on the building up of impassable frontiers and best means of guaranteeing the security of the nation.

Earthquake

have occurred. Precautions against typhoid and smallpox were started immediately.

All the water drunk in the ruined area had to be boiled and there was no gas to furnish heat, the supply having been cut off to prevent fires. Fires were kindled in yards and other open places and water was boiled in primitive fashion.

A great portion of Long Beach's 140,000 residents refused to return to their homes, fearing for their lives. They stayed in the open spaces, tenting where they could, but many sleeping with only a blanket for a cover. The weather was warm, however.

Casualty List Unchanged
Bread lines stretched for blocks in the city park and food camps elsewhere passed out emergency rations.

Funeral services were held in the open throughout the area of greatest destruction, which extended from Huntington Park, just south of the Los Angeles downtown section, to the ocean shore at Long Beach, a stretch of some 20 miles.

A peculiarity of the later shocks was their direction of movement. Friday night, during the heaviest tremors, the waves of the sea running east and west said they were rolled sideways, sometimes violently. Last night the motion seemingly changed, with sleepers jumping east to west and vice versa.

The casualty and damage figures simmered down, under a more systematic check to weed out duplication, to 115 dead, about 5,000 injured, 4,000 of these cases being merely first aid, and property damage aggregating roughly $35,000,000 to $39,000,000. The coroner's death list for Long Beach showed 59 dead.

Restaurants began opening in Long Beach and other towns in the affected area as armies of laborers, engineers and craftsmen moved in to clean up the debris and repair the damage. Charles Decker, medical co-ordinator for the stricken district, said every injured person in the area under his control had been treated and more than 1,000 empty hospital beds were yet available.

Many Schools Damaged
A force of inspectors was making a survey of school buildings in Los Angeles county to determine the extent of the earthquake damage. Preliminary estimates indicated 50,000 pupils of the 260,000 in the county's public system would have to remain away from classes until the damage is repaired.

County Superintendent Archie R. Clifton said only those country schools where there was damage or where exists the suspicion of damage, would be closed.

The Los Angeles city schools will remain closed all week, pending a complete checkup of damage. A preliminary survey showed 142 school buildings were damaged by the tremor.

Los Angeles authorities said all major buildings in the city proper had come through the seismic ordeal without having shown any serious damage or major structural defects.

Economy Bill's Passage Imminent

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UP)—The senate today defeated the attempt of Senator McCarron of Nevada to sidetrack the Roosevelt economy bill to reduce veterans' compensation and federal payrolls.

Passage was apparent with a "substantial majority" of republicans joining the democrats.

Oil Production of U. S. Shows Drop

AUSTIN, March 13. (UP)—Slight increases within the past two years in the total world output of crude petroleum have been made by foreign countries while the United States has shown a slight decrease.

In 1931 the United States produced nearly 63 per cent of the total world output but in 1932 the United States portion of the world output had decreased to less than 61 per cent, Johnson said.

Russia, the second largest oil producing country, showed a decrease in 1932, the report said, but increases were made in several important oil producing countries. Production in Venezuela and Colombia, which together have produced almost as much as Russia, has been recent, the report explained.

In 1910, Texas produced only 10 per cent of the world output, as compared with 25 per cent in 1931. In 1932, the report said, Texas produced 40 per cent of the total output of the United States and 24.3 per cent of the world's output, which has declined slightly each year since 1929.

and called for the cooperation of the people.

Outlining the progressive plan for reopening of the banks beginning today, he gave assurance that every effort would be made to put into operation even those banks which are "sorely pressed."

Woodin Issues Order
WASHINGTON, March 13. — Orders were issued by Secretary of the Treasury Woodin for the opening Monday of a wide variety of federal and private banks in addition to the licensed banks in the 12 federal reserve bank cities.

The regulations permit all private institutions, the giant Reconstruction Finance corporation and agricultural credit organizations to begin business again.

The Treasury Secretary in widening the scope of operations for today carefully kept the grip of the government, however, on the gold supply of the nation.

He not only drew attention to the ban President Roosevelt against withdrawal of gold or gold certificates, but required that all the institutions included in last night's order for reopening deliver within 30 days to the federal government all gold or gold certificates within their control.

The order permits all branches of the Federal Reserve banks to resume usual and normal functions today, along with the Reconstruction Corporation, Federal Land banks, Federal Intermediate Credit banks, Joint Stock Land banks, Federal Home Loan banks, and Regional Agricultural Credit corporations.

In opening the branches of the Federal Reserve banks it was stated on good authority that this would not permit the licensed bank in these cities to be opened today instead of Tuesday.

The branches were thrown open to speed the distribution of the new currency to the banks and clear the way for the Tuesday openings in the cities outside the 12 Federal Reserve bank locations.

The 12 Federal Reserve bank cities, where licensed banks begin operations on an unrestricted basis today are: Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Atlanta, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Dallas, Minneapolis and San Francisco.

Last night's order opens the New Orleans branch of the Atlanta bank; the Louisville, Memphis and Little Rock branches of the St. Louis bank; the Omaha, Denver and Oklahoma City branches of the Kansas City bank; and the El Paso, Houston and San Antonio branches of the Dallas bank, as well as others on the East and West coasts.

GALVESTON PILOT NEW TO PITCHERS OF TEXAS LEAGUE

By STUART E. JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
GALVESTON, March 13. (UP)—With playing managers the general order, the 1933 Galveston Buccaneers will sport in Billy Webb a pilot who has never tasted Texas league pitching, although he is a veteran infielder who began his career back in 1916.

Webb is not a neophyte at the managing game, for he piloted the Buffalo Bisons of the International league in 1925 and batted the Birmingham club of the New York-Pennsylvania loop in 1930.

This year will mark his Texas league debut, Webb having taken over the Buccaneer management to succeed Dick Pratt, now at Lubbock.

With prospects of 30-odd players turning up for spring practice beginning March 11, Webb has cast himself tentatively for second base. Dick Goldberg, first base, and Charlie English, third base.

The latter two are counted by Webb as among his most valuable men. Both are new acquisitions. Goldberg coming to the Bucs from the Baltimore Orioles and English from the Chicago White Sox.

Other infield prospects include Larry France, Ray Rogers, Joe Tasse and Carroll Burrows, rookies; and the following holdovers from last season—Molesworth, Allady, and Fawcett.

New pitching material includes Bill Chamberlain, a purchase from the Chicago White Sox; Orville Jorgens, bought from Montreal; Hubert Vinson, Houston Yarbrough; John Welsh, Fay Combs, all rookies; and Thomahlen, Darrow, Cramer, Tubbs, Moore and Taylor, holdovers.

Catchers on hand will include four newcomers—Les Mealey, San Antonio; El Czuzensky, Northwestern university; Ralton, inexperienced; and Jack Allo, another recruit.

Three holdovers, Governor Bell, and Dunlap, Roy Rogers, Vasco Moore, make up the roster of outfield candidates.

"After the usual spring eliminations," said Webb, "I expect to make the Galveston ball club outside the pitching department. I also expect to get some more help from the majors but will be forced to wait until they break camp for delivery."

The Galveston club has no confirmed holdouts, Webb said.

Play Centers on Cowden's Ranch

The oil "play" in Ector county which is exploring a 20-mile front running north from the L. C. Harrison et al. No. 1 Adair discovery well five miles west of Odessa, is likely to include ten or twelve sections of the Elliott F. Cowden ranch.

Cowden, one of the outstanding cattle raisers in West Texas, owns about 38 sections, or 25,000 acres in the most highly regarded portion of Ector county.

One test is now under way on Cowden's land, being Stanolind Oil and Gas company No. 1 Cowden in section 26, block 43, township 2-south, T. & P. Railway survey.

L. G. Bradstreet of Fort Worth has concluded negotiations for another test in section 16 and if either of the two ventures result in production, the quest for oil on Cowden's land will be redoubled. However, Stanolind's test is virtually in progress, territory being a north offset to Harrison et al. No. 1 Adair.

Cowden's business, in addition to raising Herefords, and fostering Ector county oil development, includes duties as a director of the First National bank of Midland, serving as an officer in the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association.

He has suggested that it and later items dated in 1857 and 1865 be struck off by the legislature to forward the expense of carrying them forward each year. The accounts are worthless to the state, he says, as are approximately $1,000,000 in railroad bonds held by the state department school fund. They, too, should be cleared from the records, he said.

Fine Arts Colony At Madeira Plan Of Singer Here

Vacations near home at a low cost and opportunity to study either one or two of the fine arts will be offered Midland and other West Texas people this summer. Professor Theophilus Fitz will open a fine arts colony at Madeira Springs in the Davis mountains June 10.

The Midland voice teacher has closed a contract for use of cottages and the dining room, where by Midlanders and other Texans may get a furnished room and three meals a day for $6.50 per week. These terms include tennis, golf, and croquet free of charge.

The course opens June 10 and closes Aug. 20 but people may enroll any time and withdraw any time. Vacationists may enter the colony whether or not they study voice or art.

The painting course will be taught by Mrs. Willie Steel Oliver, Midland art teacher and painter. This course as well as Fitz's voice courses are optional with each vacationist. Every Sunday morning a noted musician will give a recital.

Each Saturday night a musical concert will be given.

Professor Fitz expects an enrollment of about 150 persons, including some of Texas' best singers. Most of his singers for the opera "Tejas" composed by the Midland voice teacher, will be chosen from students in the summer art colony.

Shoes Keep Man From Being a Hero

BLUFFTON, Ind. (UP)—The fact that Tom Miller, local druggist got his shoes on the wrong feet is all that kept him from being a hero.

Miller had just sat down in his favorite chair and pulled off his shoes to give his feet a rest when a piercing scream from a neighbor woman reached his ears.

Thrusting his feet into his shoes, Miller dashed out the back door and caught sight of a trespasser running across the yard. Through the gate and down the alley went the two men, Miller, the pursuer, gaining a little until his feet began to hurt. Finally he looked down and discovered that his shoes were on the wrong feet. By the time he had changed them the man he was chasing had disappeared.

Under the Dome Of the Capital

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN. (UP)—State officials, especially in these times, are accustomed to criticism. But it is seldom they hear praise like that given State Comptroller George Sheppard in the legislature.

A bill to place in his hands two-thirds of the percent of gasoline tax collections for enforcement of the gasoline tax act was before the house. Objection was raised that there was no limit on how many might be employed.

Such a general endorsement of his economical and business-like administration of the comptroller's office was voiced that the opponents could only answer, "Well, we have no assurance that he will continue as comptroller."

Sheppard came to the office from Sweetwater. He was formerly county tax collector of Nolan county. This made him fully cognizant of a large part of the comptroller's duties, as his office is the one into which the tax collectors turn their reports of assessments and state tax collections.

But that is only a small part of the department work. The gasoline tax collection enforcement, inheritance tax collection and numerous other duties fall upon it, beside the duty of registering bond issues and approving accounts of the state department and institutions. His office is statistical headquarters for the state with R. S. Calvert, also of Sweetwater, as statistician.

The annual report of the comptroller's office, just off the press, gives an insight into state expenditures never before possible.

An expenditure analysis is a new feature of the report. It is an analysis of all warrants issued and charged against the state general revenue fund.

From the tables it can be told at a glance, for instance, just what a specific legislative committee cost and what the money went for.

You can tell from it what it costs to run the state supreme court, the state library, any state institution or any state supported school. More than that, the analysis lets the inquirer know how much the expenditure for travel expense, and every other activity or need. Though it is condensed into 275 pages, items less than $1 can be traced.

If you think state records are loosely kept, you will be surprised to find the comptroller has a record of a note dated Feb. 12, 1851. He has suggested that it and later items dated in 1857 and 1865 be struck off by the legislature to forward the expense of carrying them forward each year. The accounts are worthless to the state, he says, as are approximately $1,000,000 in railroad bonds held by the state department school fund. They, too, should be cleared from the records, he said.

Colorful Era in "Silver Dollar"

The gold fever of the pioneer mining days registered in scenes for "Silver Dollar," the first National picture now showing at the Ritz theatre, is not a tramped-up emotion for the movies. It is an actual depiction of the mad, restless delirium in the eyes of real prospectors, who are even now searching in the forlorn hope of finding riches at the end of their rainbow.

The excitement over gold permeated the motion picture set. Talk of claims, "glory holes," grub stakes and rotten quartz was heard on every side.

Most of them were off for the mountains or desert the minute their work at the studio was over without the least of the amazing debacle in the life of the world's luckiest miner, Yates Martin, upon which the story is based.

The picture, based on the book of David Karsner is a thrilling tale of the picturesque mining camps and the sensational exploits of a man who made millions almost overnight and spent them just as fast. Bebe Daniels plays the leading role opposite Robinson, with a strong supporting cast including Aline MacMahon, DeWitt Jennings, Russell Simpson, Jobyna Howland, Robert Warwick, and Marjorie Gatenon.

Manager J. Howard Hodge announced today that he has made arrangements with the producers of this screen masterpiece to hold legislative manual shows that in the day's run, on Tuesday. The picture was first booked for only a two day showing.

the big increase has been in gasoline tax.

A code system used in the report makes it possible to compare the receipts and expenditures of one year with another.

This has been done to assist budgetary preparations and to aid legislators in acting upon appropriation and revenue bills.

A "day" is not necessarily 24 hours at Austin. There has been evoked here a "legislative day."

Just how a "legislative day" originated goes so far back into history that its birth cannot be found. The legislative manual shows that in the 31st legislature, approximately a quarter of a century ago, it was in use. The speaker of that legislature ruled the house by recessing continuation on the same legislative day though the session actually was resumed on a later calendar day.

How frequently "legislative days" occurs is shown by the record of this session.

The House Journal printed for Feb. 27 is the House Journal for the 27th legislative day though the session began on Jan. 10 and 48 calendar days had expired.

"Legislative days" do not exist when it comes to figuring up pay of members. They are paid on the calendar day basis.

HOW THE VACULATOR OPERATES

Measured water in the bottom, pulverized coffee in the top, one heaping teaspoonful of coffee to one cup of water.

Heat generates pressure that causes water to flow upward. The use of hot water hastens this preliminary action.

Coffee is brewed in upper glass where correct temperature is controlled. When upward flow of water stops, current should be turned off.

Removing from heat creates a vacuum in lower glass which "pulls" down filtered coffee in a jiffy.

Remove upper glass and serve. The coffee will stay hot upwards of thirty minutes in the decanter.
