PARAGUAY DECLARES WAR TODAY

NOVEL PROGRAM GIVEN LIONS BY HEALTH BOARD

Beasts Go to Table With Clean Hands For Once

The Lions club went to table with clean hands today.

The regular weekly luncheon was handled by committeemen of the Midland county health board, which I demanded washing of hands prior to the meal. Lions found at their places capsules and cards directing them through the ensuing program. The capsules were found to contain humorous instructions which, when read aloud, caused much merri-

The declaration was based on "Bolivian agrressed and violation of territorial integrity of Paraguay." It was the first formal declaration of war since 1918.

Trouble was brought to a head as result of the recent bombings by Bolivian plaines of Paraguayan cities. Since June 15, the two nations had been fighting with modern war equipment. Total casualties had reached more than 20,000.

The declaration was expected to force Argentine and Chile to declare a neutrality and cut off war supplies to Bolivia.

SCIENCE DISCARDS "CERTAINTIES"

EMA bright young man of today who set out to get a good grounding in the sciences could easily be forgiven for concluding that he was being asked to discard all of his certainties and substitute a somewhat jumbled mess of probabilities, near-probabilities and wild guesses.

A decade or two ago science was dogmatic and positive. It set up certain "natural laws" and they were like the laws of the Medes and the Persians. Certain things were thus and so and no one need argue about it.

To appreciate how the picture has changed you need only consider a speech made in New York the other evening by Dr. Irving Langmuir, the 1932 Nobel Prize winner

During the last 20 years, he said, science has come to believe that "no natural law has absolute validity" and that "in no absolute sense can anything ever be predicted accurately." The law of cause and effect is no longer with us, and nothing in the universe is securely hitched.

'Some things may be more probable than others," he added, "but you can't say that anything is absolutely

It would be hard to overestimate the importance of this changed attitude, for it carries with it one of the profoundest revolutions that the human mind has ever been compelled to pass through. We are not through with that revolution yet; indeed, we have hardly passed its first phase; and before we complete it some of our concepts of man and nature and life and the universe are likely to be altered almost beyond recognition.

Nor is there anything in all of this to depress the speculative soul who likes to feel that there are values which material standards cannot assess and realities which human eyes cannot see. Indeed, the exact opposite is true. It is the ultra-materialist who is confounded by this change. How are you going to be dogmatic about the absolute dominion of material things when you cannot have one single certainty about them?

In its long climb up from darkness mankind has passed a great rise, and stands now facing limitless horizons. It has lost its old landmarks - but it has a marvelous chance for adventurous exploration.

ROMANTIC SOLDIERING

If you read in the papers recently of the death of Brig. Gen. Charles King of the United States army, you may not have remembered having heard about the gentleman before; but you might be interested to know that he was the famous "Captain Charles King" who wrote those exciting and readable romances of army life on the western plains which were so popular 20 or 30 years ago.

General King saw just about as much Indian fighting, in the old days, as any man in the army; and he wrote a good many stories about that life, and those stories were very widely read a generation ago. They told of army life in a day when a soldier's life had in it other elements than routine drill and inspection; and to those who like the flavor of those old days, the news of General King's death is exceedingly unwelcome. He was another of those links connecting us with a colorful past—those links which, these days, are disappearing all too rapidly.

Secretly, in the designing rooms of West End shops, style experts have been spending the winter months evolving an entirely new creation—the sleeping robe. With discreet ballyhoo, it is about to have its debut, and 850,000,000 males around the world will be adjured to cast off the outmodeled pajamas and drape their manly torsos in the new garment.

The sleeping robe is designed on the lines of a dressing gown. It reaches nearly to the ground, crosses over in front, and is fastened with a belt.

Summer also will witness the introduction of other hot-weather boons to mankind. Dress shirts are to have collars attached, and the collars will have rounded wings. Dress waistcoats will fasten at the back. There will be holes for buttons, but the rear fastening will avoid soiling by prespiring hands.

Lost Wedding Ring Birthday Present

RACINE, Wis. (UP).—As a sur-prise on her 70th birthday, Mrs. Augusta Krakrofsky received her wedding ring which had been lost for 40 years. The ring, a heavy, old fashioned band, was dug out of a garden patch in Waterford, Wis., where Mrs. Krakofsky lived as a bride. She had lost the ring, she said, while working in the garden.

Although the garden was cultivated nearly every year, the ring was not found until excavations for a new garage were made on the land.

Conference of Doctors Opens

FT. WORTH.—Facing a tenden-toward collectivism or socialism the field of medicine, Dr. John H. Foster of Houston, president of the Texas Medical association, declared here yesterday on the eve of the sixty-seventh annual convention that he sees no cause for radical changes in the present individ-ualism as applied to the practice of medicine. Dr. Foster said the medical profession as a whole is opposed to state medicine

The vanguard of 1,500 delegates began arriving yesterday for the preliminary conferences today before the general meeting is called to order at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Texas hotel. Most of the physicians will arrive today.

Socialism in medicine, or medical economics as Dr. Foster prefers to call the subject, will gets it intro-duction before the house of delegates, the governing body of the association, which met at the Blackstone hotel today. Dr. Foster was preparing yesterday to handle a mass of business, including committee reports which will be given to reference committees for consid-

"Hello, Sister" Is Showing at Ritz

The world's most famous thoroughfare, playground for millionaires and the millions, forms the setting for the drama unfolded in "Hello, Sister," new Fox production, featuring James Dunn and Boots Mallory, and opening at the Yucca theatre today. James Dunn, as Jimme, savings bank salesman, and Boots Mallory, pretty ash-blondescreen import from New Orleans, as Peggy, are the pricipals in the romance that motivates the plot.

Suporting them, in three widely different characteriations, are ZaSu Pitts as Mille, homely girl-friend; Minna Gombell as Mona, hardened lady, and Terrance Ray as Mac, typical Broadway wise-guy.

Briefly, the plot thread runs as follows: Peggy and Mille go for a street of the motivates the post.

Conflict enters this introductory setting when Jimmie and Peggy frankly avow their preference and enter into a whirlwind romance. When Peggy makes known to Jimmie the fact that they will have to hasten their wedding, Mac insists that she is lying.

The result is a misunderstanding leading to a bitter quarrel between the sweethearts, thus climaxing this tangled romance that began as an innocent walk down Broadway.

The drama has been heralded as one of the talking screen's highest achievements in realism.

the other at the 14th, was something of a joke. No man with any pretense at being a golfer would dream of taking a 6 at either hole; in fact, Bobby Jones, when wining the championship six years ago, reached the 5th (530 yards) with a drive and an iron, and then holed the putt for a 3. Even the new scratch score of 75 is thought by some to be over-generous.

'For example, the 4th at St. Andrews measures 427 yards, and, consequently, is a par 4, while the same applies to the 13th, 410 yards. THE HANDIEST APPLIANCE

NEW HAMILTON BEACH ELECTRIC FOOD

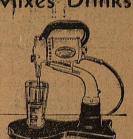

The new Hamilton Beach Food Mixer really is the handiest appliance you can imagine. It actually takes the drudgery out of meal-preparation. Whatever it is you're doing-mixing, beating, grinding, whipping or stirring—the Hamilton Beach really gets the job done better, quicker and much easier. With the power unit, heavy duty shredding, slicing or chopping can be done just as easily.

Ask to see the new Hamilton Beach-you'll like it.

The sanitary juice extractor has a removable strainer for seeds and a spout to guide the juice to its receiver without spilling.

Mixes Drinks

Cool drinks are especially pleasing this time of year. You can really fix up some fancy ones this way.

Mashes Potatoes

If you like fluffy, creamy mashed potatoes, here's the way to fix them. Just lift the portable mixer and mash them right in the same dish you boiled them in.
