Average Size Shoes Sold Here

Midland women and men wear average size shoes, says shoe salesman, most sizes sold being between 5 1-2 to 6 for women and from 8 1-2 to 9 for men.

A woman's average size has jumped from 4 1-2 to 5, due not to sports essentially, but to more intelligent fitting. Men's averages change only slightly, as a man pays more attention to comfort in foot gear.

Then, too, clerks have been told by shoe salesmen of national supply houses, the fact that Americans have been on their feet more the past 15 years has contributed to larger feet. Women's shoes once were modeled on a size 4.

Unusual sizes are sold here, however; Bill Hembree sold a man a size 13 shoe last week, and often sells men a pair of shoes as small as 5 1-2 on a B last. He sells many pairs of 12 AAA. Recently a size 34 was exhibited at the store. It was built on a C last, and was for a 14 year old Alton, Ill., high school boy. A woman here recently bought a 10-EEEE. The same day, however, another woman bought a tiny shoe listed at 1-B.

HOWARD COUNTY AHEAD

BIG SPRING, (UP)—Howard county finished the first quarter of the year with a cash balance of $124,123.

Expenditures for the three months ending March 31 amounted to $24,000, less than one fifth the total budget for the year.

Besides meeting interest payments the bonded indebtedness was cut $7,000, to $251,000.

Defendant Prays for Determination Of the Word "Moratorium" and Asks A Money Judgment Not be Granted

The most unique petition for continuance ever filed in a Midland court resulted this week from Attorney Frank Stubbeman's realization that his client was set up over being paid for a nominal amount that a semi-farical motion for continuance might do home a bit of good through appealing to his sense of humor.

Accordingly, the petition was filed with Peace Justice B. C. Girdley, who will write an equally lengthy opinion for his records.

The petition, based on case No. 344 in the justice course, in which Leo D. Rothschild is plaintiff and a Midland business man is defendant, reads:

"Now comes... defendant herein, and moves the court to continue this case for the term on the following grounds, to wit: 'Defendant honestly desires to meet his financial obligations, but is having a most difficult time of satisfactorily taking care of them. He owes a large number of creditors, and is doing all within his power to raise money and pay proportionately to his various creditors. Under such a situation for one to be preferred above others and for one to deplete or lessen defendant's assets in satisfaction of his claim is unjust. A judgment against defendant at this time may mean bankruptcy, a thing defendant is earnestly endeavoring to avoid, both for the salvation of his own name and for the financial protection of his creditors. Anyone trying to force a judgment against defendant at this time can see no farther than the end of his nose, which he is cutting off to spite his face. Of that fact defendant hopes to convince the court and probably the plaintiff in this case.

"Defendant needs no lawyer to convince the court that we really have a depression and that Hoover with the hope and faith of an Abraham venturing forth at old age to new adventures, defendant, foolish though he may be, believes that

BONUS DRIVE IS SLIGHTLY HALTED

WASHINGTON, Apr. 27, (UP)—The house drive for a soldiers' cash bonus was temporarily halted at a conference of administrative spokesmen and leaders of the veterans' bloc today.

Representative Patman of Texas, bonus leader, announced that an amendment to the Farm bill grants to the president authority to direct the secretary of the treasury to enter into agreements with the federal reserve banks and the federal reserve board under which the banks will purchase $3,000,000,000 of U. S. bonds or other obligations. If the federal reserve banks then fail to buy said bonds and obligations, or if having bought that amount, it is still found that the economic emergency remains or that our foreign commerce is adversely affected by the depreciated currencies of other countries then the president may issue three billion dollars in greenbacks. The time, manner and amount of such issue of greenbacks shall be at the option of the president.

It is provided that 4 per cent of such issue shall be retired each year. Also the power is given the president whenever he sees fit to reduce the number of grains of gold in the gold dollar but such reduction must not exceed fifty per cent.

He may also accept one hundred million ounces of silver at the market price in payment of foreign debts.

HOGAN EXPLAINS INFLATION BILL AND THE PURPOSE LYING BEHIND IT

By T. S. HOGAN

WASHINGTON, April 25.—It is impossible to compress within the limits of a short article the terms, purposes and probable results of the Inflation act. This law which was offered by the administration as an amendment to the Farm bill grants to the president authority to direct the secretary of the treasury to enter into agreements with the federal reserve banks and the federal reserve board under which the banks will purchase $3,000,000,000 of U. S. bonds or other obligations. If the federal reserve banks then fail to buy said bonds and obligations, or if having bought that amount, it is still found that the economic emergency remains or that our foreign commerce is adversely affected by the depreciated currencies of other countries then the president may issue three billion dollars in greenbacks. The time, manner and amount of such issue of greenbacks shall be at the option of the president.

It is provided that 4 per cent of such issue shall be retired each year. Also the power is given the president whenever he sees fit to reduce the number of grains of gold in the gold dollar but such reduction must not exceed fifty per cent.

He may also accept one hundred million ounces of silver at the market price in payment of foreign debts.

The purpose of urging the federal reserve banks to purchase three billion dollars in government bonds or other obligations is to disburse that amount of money to the banks and individuals who now own these bonds. It is believed that this will result in the banks and individuals that receive this money seeking new investments or loaning it to people who will use it in business enter-

Texas Exhibit up To Children, Note Tells Scharbauer

Whether Texas has an exhibit at the World's Fair at Chicago will depend to a large degree on whether school children put the enterprise over, according to a letter from L. H. Whitehead, general manager of the Texas World's Fair Commission, Inc., to Clarence Scharbauer, Midland commissioner.

In addition to a subscription campaign for the four largest cities of the state, the commission is undertaking to raise funds by the sale of a pictorial history of "Texas Under Six Flags." This book, beautifully illustrated, has been endorsed by the state superintendent of education. The department of education has agreed to back this commission in the sale of the book through the schools of the state and the superintendent has invited officers of the commission to conduct the sales campaign from his office in Austin.

A commission of 10 cents a copy to the schools for selling the books is allowed, the commission going to the schools to be spent for whatever use the school superintendent elects.

Under the set-up, the book is to sell for 50 cents and the World's Fair commission nets 25 cents.

The letter points out that an emergency session of the board of the Texas World's Fair commission under the direction of the new general chairman, L. E. Snavely, has made great progress during the past months. For a time it looked as if it were impossible to finance the placing of a Texas exhibit in Chicago. We had some bad luck last fall in losing both our general chairman and the chairman of the finance committee. We kept the organization together, however, and carried on.

Mr. Snavely took over the chairmanship about a month ago. He has made personal appearances in some thirty-five or forty towns, accompanied by the writer and by our architect, Ivan R. Riley. Snavely's latest figures show that there are committees actively at work in these towns raising quotas which total approximately $700,000 from the large cities of the state, on the basis of $15,000 each for Houston and Dallas, and $10,000 each for Fort Worth and San Antonio. Dallas, Houston and San Antonio have accepted their quotas and have commenced to work.

Snavely is going to Fort Worth this week, where he will undertake to work out the proper arrangement.

"The West Texas chamber of commerce, through its general manager, D. A. Barden, has advised the commission that it believes it can pay $10,000 from its funds for the West Texas towns exclusive of Fort Worth. It is estimated that the trade in stamps is yearly on an increase in the U. S., one division of the postal service doing nothing but selling and mailing stamp issues. It is one department of the service that is always self-sustaining.

Midland Students Enter WTCC Contest

Six high school students, Raymond Lovell, Murray Fasken, Alma Lee Hankins, Bill Pratt, Ernestine Holder and A. B. Cooksey, have entered the "My Home Town" speaking contest to be held during the WTCC convention at Big Spring beginning May 11.

The students are being coached by Mrs. L. K. Barry, head of the public speaking department of the high school. Eliminations will be held within a few days.

Spanish Goya Stamp Received

Postmaster John Howe says the trade in stamps is yearly on an increase in the U. S., one division of the postal service doing nothing but selling and mailing stamp issues. It is one department of the service that is always self-sustaining.

San Angelo Ready for Rotary Convention

Between 600 and 1,000 Rotarians and their wives from the 61 clubs in northern and western Texas are expected to attend the annual 41st district conference at San Angelo Monday and Tuesday, May 1 and 2.

In the top corners are shown officials who will have much to do with the conference. Top center is the City Hall and Municipal Auditorium where the general conference sessions are to be held. Other San Angelo buildings are also shown.

Special trains are to be run from a number of Texas points, some of them arriving at San Angelo Sunday for early registration.

Business sessions start Monday morning after opening formalities. Entertainment features in abundance have been provided. Among the prominent speakers to be at the conference are Joseph W. Jackson of Madison, Wis., director of Rotary International, Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and others.

The San Angelo conference is one of 53 to be held in the United States and Canada this Spring.

They rank second in importance, to Rotarians, to the International Convention which is to be held in Boston June 26-30. Most of northern and western Texas is included in the 41st district.

Plans were being completed by the Midland Rotary club today for representation at the district conference. Official delegates from Midland are John P. Howe, president-elect, and R. V. Lawrence, secretary-treasurer-elect, who assume office July 1. It was indicated that from six to ten additional members of the local club will attend.

INFLATION IS ROTARY TOPIC

Explanation of the theory of inflation, with comment on the probable deflation of the dollar to meet rising commodity values and its good effects upon business, was given in a talk by Leon Goodman at the Rotary club today.

The speaker told of how foreign trade has suffered in the United States on account of adherence to the gold standard, or to a fixed value of the dollar, and how other nations have been able to better carry on such commerce through use of fluctuating values of money.

Choruses by the girls' choral club and the boys' glee club of Midland high school were heard, also a number by the boys' quartet. The singers will go to Abilene this week end for district competition.

Miss Myrtle Miller, home demonstration agent, was a guest of the club.

MIDLAND C. C. TO HANDLE QUOTAS

Andrews county's quota of reforestation workers will be certified through the Midland county R. F. C. board, a request for this work having been received Thursday by W. B. Simpson, R. F. C. board chairman of Midland county, from Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief commission chairman.

Andrews men will receive their certification direct from the Midland chamber of commerce office, which has been appointed by Simpson to handle the recruiting applications in Midland county.

Governor Ferguson today issued the following statement relative to the selection of young men for the president's emergency conservation work program, beginning in Texas.

"The opportunity afforded by this program to young men who, due to the depression, have never before been able to receive gainful employment, is, I confidently believe, the first of a progressive series of opportunities shortly to be made available to the American people.

"Prosperity is not just around the corner, but the privilege of going to work under a humanitarian conception of the 'New Deal' is clearly directly ahead of us, inspiring hope and confidence."

W. B. Simpson, chairman of the Midland county relief committee announced today that applications for enrollment in emergency conservation work in forestry and other outdoor projects would be received at relief headquarters located at the chamber of commerce, beginning Friday.

Simpson said that for the time being applications would be held in the local office and that approved applicants would be advised later as to where to report for physical examination.

It was explained that the debt matter will be extensively gone into after the conference.

It was indicated that Roosevelt may ask congress for authority to deal with war debts and tariffs. Simultaneously the state department indicated that the United States will be prepared to sign a tariff truce for the duration of the economic conference if proposed and agreed by other powers.

INFLATION ISN'T A CURE-ALL

We Americans seem to be an incurably hopeful people. And there are times when our excessive optimism is apt to flip around between our ankles and trip us up.

For some reason the nation's departure from the gold standard has raised a new crop of hopes. To a certain extent these hopes are justified. We are getting bold and decisive action, at least; for better or for worse we are on the move, and there is every indication that the rise in price of commodities and basic securities will have a deeply beneficial effect on the life of the country.

But we shall simply nullify these gains if we take it for granted that the controlled inflation plan is going to solve all of our troubles.

Senator Thomas, commenting on the proposed issuance of United States notes to retire government bonds, remarked:

"If this amendment goes into the farm bill it becomes the chief element. The rest of the bill will be forgotten. Inflation in itself will be farm relief and bank relief. In my judgment this amendment solves every problem we have so far as a money policy can solve them."

This statement is probably true enough—provided that its final words are always remembered. The new scheme will solve our problems "so far as a money policy can solve them"; but it must not be forgotten that some of them cannot be solved by a money problem, and that the reform and recovery program previously outlined by the administration still needs to be pushed ahead.

The problem of direct relief for unemployment is still with us, for example. The affairs of the railroads need straightening out. The measures designed to rectify the glaring faults in our banking system are just as much needed as ever. The federal "blue sky" proposition is as vital as ever. The plan to float a huge bond issue for public works still needs to be pushed.

A start has been made, and there is plenty of reason to believe that it is going to do us a lot of good. So long as we don't get so optimistic that we assume there is nothing more to be done we ought to make out splendidly.

BEER AND YOUR FIGURE

One of the minor issues of the day seems to be the question whether or not the consumption of beer will add unwanted pounds to the figures of women who want to be slender.

Prof Lafayette B. Mendel of Yale predicts that it will.

A quart of beer, he points out, contains 545 calories—only 105 less than a quart of milk. Consequently, if you add a quart of beer to your regular daily diet, and don't cut down on anything else, you are pretty certain to take on weight, just as you would if drank an extra quart of milk every day.

Of course, you can get around that by leaving off the menu a sufficient quantity of some other food to balance the diet. And if you are feminine beer drinker, and you want to keep your figure, it looks as if that is about what you'll have to do.

Dean Wallace B. Donham of the Harvard School of Business says modern education is producing too many specialists and not enough leaders, a specialist being one who can tell the country just how it got into trouble, but a leader being someone who could show it how to get out.

Chile applies an interesting idea in economics when it agrees to permit an electrical company to raise rates provided it can show that its workers and its stockholders both benefit by the change.

Of course history repeats itself: men don't listen the first time it offers a lesson.

And So He Married The Beautiful Girl!

It seems that two bashful lovers had wandered into a "Sample" bedroom, designated as "The Love Nest," in a department store at about closing time, and were unsuspectingly locked in by the night watchman. They had to stay all night! They were discovered the next morning by the flabbergasted department store manager calmly asleep. She even keeping her hat on, had slept on the bed and he had sought repose on the floor. And his mother, to save his reputation, tearfully decided that he had to marry the girl!

This is only one of the hilarious situations in "Out All Night," with "Shim" Summerville and Zasu Pitts which opens at the Yucca preview Saturday night. The picture is a swift succession of amusing predicaments, following the couple through their short but devastating courtship and their subsequent marriage and trip to Niagara Falls with always too much mother-in-law.

Mrs. Arthur Hill Is Honoree at Surprise Shower

Mrs. Arthur Hill, who before her marriage last Tuesday at Lovington was Miss Ruby Kerby, was honored last evening with a surprise shower given by Misses Alma Lee Norwood and Evelyn Adams and Mrs. J. J. Kerby, at the Kerby home. The guests assembled first and, after Mrs. Hill's arrival, wrote their favorite recipes. These were presented to the bride in a recipe box. Games then were played after which a toast to the bride was given by Mrs. J. M. White. Miscellaneous gifts were brought into the room in a small automobile driven by Wilbur Yeager and presented to Mrs. Hill. Refreshment plates were served. Mrs. T. C. Bobo, John Dunagan, Clyde Gwyn, J. H. Jameson, W. R. Upham, John B. Mills, White, Ray Parker and Misses Irene Lord, Annie Faye Dunagan and Lois Walker, and the honoree and hostesses.

Mmes. Snodgrass, Ulrich Hostesses To Laf-a-Lot Club

Members of the Laf-a-Lot club were entertained last evening by Mmes. E. N. Snodgrass and B. J. Ulrich at the Snodgrass home. Women's high score at bridge was won by Mrs. Addison Wadley and high score for men by Mr. N. W. Bigham. Miss Novadean Carpenter, guest, received a prize. Refreshments were served to Messrs. and Mmes. F. C. Norwood, Bigham, Wadley, C. N. Swanson, B. C. Girdley and J. A. Tuttle; Mmes. James S. Noland, A. C. Francis and Don Quarles, Miss Carpenter, Mr. Snodgrass and the hostesses.

Sociologist Will Address Ruralists

Mrs. Maggie W. Barry, rural sociologist of the Extension Service, A. and M. college, will be in Midland June 2 and 3. Mrs. Barry is a nationally known club woman. She directed the campaign that resulted in the U. S. census recognizing home-making as a profession. Prior to that time the home makers were known according to the census as "America's Great Unemployed." The club women from Martin and Howard counties have been invited to Midland to hear Mrs. Barry, as time will not permit a meeting in each county.

Rev. Coleman Gives New Study Course

First of a series of Bible lectures, making special study of the beginning of man and pointing to later studies of the ancestry of Christ, was given at the Presbyterian church last night by the Rev. W. J. Coleman, pastor. The studies will be conducted each Wednesday night and an invitation is extended to the public. Approximately fifteen heard the first lecture.

Women Pan Men and Give Over Their Session to Fun-Making at Luncheon

Jokes and puns flew thick and fast in the surprise president's luncheon staged by the district Federation of Women's clubs Wednesday noon at the Schreiber hotel. The program clicked off in a novel manner that combined the tricks of a radio broadcaster and the "cracks" of a master of ceremonies. "If there is anyone here whom the endow with a sense of humor, then by all means take a few minutes off and try to cultivate this saving grace before we start this program," a warning announcement said. "The theme of this luncheon is made up of things as they are not." A mock inauguration session followed, a burlesque on the Washington inaugural.

Mrs. John Perry of Sweetwater presided. She said women have become a factor in the world. "A wife said to her husband in an argument: 'The truth is, the woman is a great factor in the world.' 'Yes, yes, I know,' he said, 'and facts are stubborn things.'" Mrs. Perry said Adam was colorless and that it was Eve who tweaked his nose and that she must have been made from his backbone instead of his rib, as Biblical tradition has it, since he "has none left."

A more presidential inauguration at Washington fades into insignificance, the gold standard, the New Deal and the foreign policy are little beside the importance of inauguration of our new officers of this club.

Mrs. Perry shot a left hook at the retiring president, Miss Carrie Reeves, when she said the official had sailed every sea "except that of matrimony," including regular travel in sandstorms over the 47 counties of the district, but praised her "independence of an indifference to the male sex." Mrs. Perry said men sense the value in such independence. Greta Garbo, she said, "bore went home to Sweden and Pres. Roosevelt, has sent Ruth Bryan Owens as ambassador to that country in return for Miss Garbo's return."

Wisecracks controlled the session. Among the puns the following reared themselves at intervals: "The only fellows who are making money these days are those who write jokes about the depression."

(Editors Note: Believe it or not, one joke had to be suppressed. The moderator surely was not so bad as one crack would have us believe.) "The retiring secretary of state and watch dog of the treasury, Roger Q. Mills, in private life Mrs. C. D. Donnelly, will tell about the asbestos preacher Mills promises to make for Secretary Woodin. The seat may not be so hot, after all." "I'd rather be a has been than a might have been, by far; for a might have been has never been, and a has been was once an asset, and has been suggested a horse, since that would stabilize the nation."

"Like President Roosevelt who has not dodged a single issue, unless it was lead from the gun of an assassin, Miss Carrie Reeves has sidestepped only one thing—a man." "Our new president, Mrs. Perkins of Eastland, is like the Dutch woman. She can do many things at once. A Dutch woman sits with one foot on the spinning wheel or churn and with the other she rocks the cradle containing twins. With her hands she knits socks for her husband, while on her knee rests a book from which she is improving her mind by study; and all the while she sits on a cheese, pressing it for market."

One note of dependence on man crept in, rather inadvertently. Mrs. Noble said: Michael Arlen, famous novelist, in describing his conception of an ideal woman told of his attributes and qualities necessary, then ended by saying, "In fact, the ideal woman is a gentleman."

King George Faces Busy Social Season

LONDON. (UP).—The busiest spring and summer since he was taken ill in 1928 are scheduled for King George.

His plans already include five royal courts at Buckingham Palace—instead of the usual four—many opening and other ceremonies, visits to agricultural shows, race meetings and other functions.

This unusually heavy list is taken as an indication that the King's health is everything to be desired.

Slight Cold

He had a slight cold in March, contracted when he visited a London cinema to see his first talkie, but it was by no means serious.

The royal program started with the opening of the new wing of the National Portrait Gallery, March 30. On April 6 he went to Windsor Castle for the Easter holidays. While there he inspected the Aldershot Command, and was to attend the Football Cup final at Wembley, April 29.

On May 6 he intends to be present at the Rugby League Cup final, also at Wembley. He may visit the Derby, May 31. He has two important public duties in June. On June 22 he will open the new $1,500,000 South Africa House in Trafalgar Square. On June 26 he will lay the foundation stone of the new London University building.

Royal Agricultural Show

On July 5 he will attend the Royal Agricultural Show at Derby. A week later he will open the new Freemasons' Hospital at Hammer-smith.

Another historic function in which the King will take official part is the opening of the new giant graving dock at Southampton, July 25.

Early in June he will be "host" to a hundred hikers from all parts of Europe at Hampton Court Palace.

GIRL'S SCHOOL GOES CO-ED

ELMIRA, N. Y. (UP).—Strictly feminine for 78 years, Elmira College, the first in the United States to grant degrees to women, is going co-educational. Because many Elmira boys will be unable to go away to school next fall, plans have been made to establish a junior college here.

Under the Dome Of the Capital

By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, (UP)—The title "congressman" is not new to Milton West of Brownsville, successor to Vice President Garner as representative from the 15th Texas district.

Speaker Coke Stevenson of the Texas House of Representatives invariably recognized the tall Rio Grande valley man as "Congressman" when he rose in the Texas House of Representatives to offer a motion.

To most of his colleagues in the Texas House, West also has been known as "Congressman" since he announced as a successor to Garner. West came into prominence in state politics during the campaign of Dan Moody for governor. West piloted Moody through much of the border country in the campaign.

House members here got considerable inspiration out of the team work of West and Homer Leonard. West represented Cameron county, Leonard represented the neighboring Hidalgo county. Leonard was elected by a write-in campaign of the Good Government forces over the democratic nominee.

The vacancy occurred in the congressional district, Leonard was a strong backer of Gordon Griffin, McAllen, a candidate against West. Despite the differences both worked together here every time a bill came up for the benefit of the valley citrus growers or other interests.

Joe Kelson Wells, law-student member of the Texas House of Representatives from Corsicana, is entitled to a "B. I." degree, he revealed in the House recently.

Fees charged students at the University of Texas were under discussion. Some members asserted the tuition fee, now charged, does not include the hospital fee. Wells said it does.

"I had influenza each of four years in the university," Wells told the house, "and received health service each time."

The bill entitles him to a "Bachelor of Influenza" degree, as well as a law degree, his associates say.

"Three and two" beer as served in Louisiana does not compare to the more potent article served in Juarez, according to Rep. Harold Hankamer of El Paso, ever a booster for his home section.

It costs a senator $5 a minute to talk in the Texas House of Representatives.

Speaker Coke Stevenson set the price when he collected $10 from Senator Will D. Pace of Tyler, for addressing the gathering in favor of home and farm demonstration work sponsored by Texas A. & M. college.

The $10 went to a home canning fund.

The Texas house of representatives has gone democratic. Members no longer refer to fellow members as the "gentleman from Tarrant" or the "gentleman from Smith" in the old aristocratic way.

Instead they call each other "Bill," "Cousin Albert," or "Uncle Elmer." "George, will you yield to a question?" a member asks from the floor.

"Sure, Joe. Fire ahead," he responds.

World's Fair Will Be Described Soon

A detailed description of the architectural features and general arrangement of the Century of Progress Exposition, or Worlds Fair, which opens in Chicago on June 1, will be presented to radio audiences who tune in on the regular Wednesday night Continental Oil Company program for May 3.

The story of the Exposition, as told by Carveth Wells, famous explorer, is designed especially for those who plan to vacation in Chicago this year. Some of the buildings described are the Travel and Transport building, the Golden Pavilion of Jehol, Fort Dearborn, the Agricultural Building, the General Exhibits building, the Hall of States, the Science building, the Federal building, the Fairy Castle on Orchard Island.

The Conoco program may be heard by local listeners who tune in on station WFAA, Dallas, Wednesday night at 9:30 o'clock.

An East Indian banyan tree in the Calcutta botanical gardens has 3000 small trunks, 230 in diameter, and a main trunk 13 feet in diameter. It is said that 7000 people can stand among these trunks. The tree is over 100 years.

Arkansas Car To Broadcast

HOT SPRINGS, April 27.—The "Silver Streak" carrying the "Voice of Hot Springs," which received the title of the official "Broadway of America Highway Broadcaster" last year at the San Diego Broadway meeting, is scheduled to leave Friday morning, April 28, with Scott D. Hamilton, Arkansas division secretary of the Broadway of America Highway association at the "mike" in the Broadway motorcade to El Paso for the national convention of the Broadway of America association to be held May 1 and 2.

Should the "Standing Room Only" sign be hung out in El Paso, as a result of the Broadway boosters gathered there from along the country's most traveled and best all-weather coast-to-coast highway, linking Broadway in New York with Broadway in San Diego, the "Silver Streak" has been assured parking space in the lobby of H. W. "Dusty" Waller's hotel, said Hamilton.

The motorcade will be officially formed by Hattie Moore of McMinnville, Tennessee, president of the Middle Tennessee Broadway club. Robert A. Jones, Hot Springs, regional vice-president of the Broadway, will head the Arkansas division. Other Arkansas Broadway officials to participate in the motorcade will be E. L. Howlett, Hot Springs chamber of commerce, president, and Chick McDaniels, Arkadelphia, director. Uncle Sam's nationally known health and pleasure center will be officially represented by Thomas J. Allen, superintendent of Hot Springs National park. Other Hot Springs members of the motorcade will be George Bremer, chairman of the chamber's highway committee and Mesdames Hamilton, Howlett, Allen and Bremer.

Color and dignity will be added to the motorcade by an official uniformed patrol motorcycle escort across Arkansas and Texas, "The Leaders' State." The sirens, supplemented with the tuneful broadcasting "Silver Streak" will unquestionably make the public Broadway motorcade as they dash along the great thoroughfare with the motorcade gathering momentum as it nears El Paso, vice-president Jones said.

The highway boosters expect to reach Midland at 8:50 a. m. Sunday.

Defendant

Roosevelt will take up the slack and lead defendant through the valley of debts up the peak of rejuvenated business activity. Roosevelt is already traveling like a race horse covered with high life, but defendant has as yet been unable to feel even a tug at the traces. It having been said by the sages that time is the cure of all ills, defendant implores the court for a goodly dose thereof.

"Congress and the state legislatures have passed numerous relief measures for the distressed. Those bodies have failed to diagnose defendant's case, and either through oversight or ignorance have not yet prescribed for him. Searching as he is for the goddess of mercy, defendant pauses somewhat hesitatingly at the hem of Ma Ferguson's skirt, wondering if he should there pay tribute or flee with what little he has left from the realm wherein many say resides a two-headed monster. However, desperation can take chances, and defendant's plea, by a voice from the governor's mansion—it makes no difference to him if it be a masculine or a feminine voice—calling upon the courts of our state to hold up the granting of money judgments.

"Moratorium seems to be the watchword of the hour. Defendant joins in on the chorus and proclaims the special merits of the word as applied to his case. Plaintiff seems to misconstrue its meaning, so defendant appeals to this honorable court for a correct judicial—and equitable—determination thereof.

"Wherefore, defendant puts himself upon the mercy of the court and humbly and reverently prays that he be granted this court's most gracious order continuing this case for the term."

Little Red School Houses Rapidly on Decline in Texas

By W. WINSTON COPELAND United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP)—The "Little Red School" house may be considered as virtually on its last leg in Texas. A significant change in rural education is spreading over Texas with the subsequent result that the small one room school is disappearing, according to William Eilers of the state department of education.

Four years ago a law was passed authorizing county board of trustees to group county schools for high school consolidation purposes. Wise county, which took the lead, within two years had consolidated so that most of its rural children had access to high schools.

Other counties have followed the example set by Wise county. "Consolidations with transportation have very materially reduced the number of smaller schools," Eilers pointed out. "In 1917-1918, for instance, there were 6,173 one-teacher schools; in 1925-1926 there were 4,165; in 1931-1932, there were 2,001, a reduction of over one-half in six years."

The consolidation, encouraged by state aid, and with increased facilities have grown to such proportions that one out of every 12 white school children enrolled in Texas are transported to high schools, thus bringing high school education literally to the school child's front door.

Seventy-nine independent school districts each transported more than 200 children daily while several transported more than 500. These were: Edinburg, 1,048; Houston, 984; Gladewater, 825; Pampa, 692; Westaco, 682; Oltrop, 600; Littlefield, 534; Rio Hondo, 520; Sour Lake, 519; Donna, 500; Sudan, 500.

101 Chevrolets Go To Detroit Police

DETROIT—The first sizeable fleet sale of new "Standard Chevrolet Sixes" took place here with the purchase of 101 of the new models for use by the Detroit police department.

Included are 41 radio-equipped cars for police scout work. All of the models are coaches painted a solid black and equipped with fire-fighting no-draft ventilation. Special equipment consists of safety plate glass in all windows as well as the windshield.

The cars are the first six-cylinder products ever purchased for police duty in Detroit, officials said. Taken in trade were 101 old four cylinder cars formerly in the police department service.

Awarding of the contract to Chevrolet followed competitive bids and comparisons among lowest priced cars. The new "Standard" Chevrolets—first publicly displayed on March 11—are designed primarily for fleet users and such people as commercial travelers who want low first cost, the utmost in gasoline economy and low insurance and registration fees.

Army Blimp Has a New Sub-Cloud Car WASHINGTON (UP)—The army air corps has a new non-rigid airship, the largest "blimp" ever built in this country. A feature of the new ship is a "sub-cloud" car, which can be lowered from the cabin by cable and windlass, for a distance of 1,000 feet.

Eggs Must Be Eggs Says New State Law HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Eggs, it seems, just have to be eggs in Connecticut, under a bill passed in the house of the general assembly. Under the terms of the measure eggs must be designated as "fresh eggs," "cold storage eggs," "preserved eggs" or "incubated eggs." However, the bill adds, if an egg does not conform to any of these classifications, but still is wholesome and edible, it may be designated merely as "egg."

That act would immediately increase the four billion dollars of gold now held by the U. S. treasury and federal reserve banks to eight billion dollars.

As the paper money in circulation is backed by only 40 per cent of its face value by gold the four billion gold now on hand backs six billion of currency.

Here is the maximum money inflation authorized: $3,000,000,000 by federal reserve bank purchases $3,000,000,000 by greenback issue $4,000,000,000 by reducing gold in dollar $6,000,000,000 currency based on new gold valuation $50,000,000 by silver purchased at 50 cents

Total $16,050,000,000. Normally, of course, bank credits exceed by several times the amount of circulating medium so if this plan functions as expected it should certainly cheapen money, or to put it the other way, it should increase prices.

It is not strange that the advocates of sound money are appalled at the prospect of vesting any man with such a grant of power.

Three major purposes inspired the enactment. One is the necessity of increasing prices of basic commodities, another is the easing of the debt burdens by cheapening money, and the third is the placing of the American exporter on a more equal footing with exporters of similar goods from countries with cheap monies.

It is not necessary to repeat that practically all our basic commodities are selling below the cost of production; that the debt incurred several years ago either by the farmer or the city dweller now requires much more farm products or labor to pay than when the debt was contracted, that measured in these things the dollar is so high that the debts, nor the interest on them, can be paid.

In foreign commerce countries like Great Britain whose money has depreciated 32 per cent since she went off the gold standard had practically that percentage of advantage over this country in competition for foreign markets.

Now as to the results of the legislation, there is a wide difference of opinion. Some argue that the president will not use the powers granted him except in a very limited measure. Unless he does use them on a relatively large scale the purposes of the act will not be accomplished.

One thing is certain, and that is that some will be helped and some injured if it results in a fairly large measure of inflation. Those with fixed incomes, salaries or wages will be injured, as living costs will greatly increase.

The holders of bonds and mortgages will be adversely affected—that is, assuming that they would have been paid at all under existing conditions. Annuities, income paying estates, etc., will suffer a shrinkage in the purchasing power of their annual income.

The whole debtor class will profit on the broad theory that a cheaper
