Strategic Quebec Parleys Launched By Allied Chiefs

QUEBEC, Aug. 18. (AP)—Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary was due here this afternoon.

QUEBEC, Aug. 18. (AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, surrounded by the highest military leaders of their nations, plunged today into the task of mapping the next strategic moves to compel the unconditional surrender of the axis powers at the earliest possible moment.

The president will visit Ottawa,

Rat Poisoning Plan Mapped

One of the major attacks in the campaign for sanitation in the city was mapped Tuesday afternoon, when plans were laid for a concerted rat-and-mice killing campaign on August 26.

The town has been divided into 14 districts for purposes of distributing free packages of poisoning, and 11 district directors have been named. Each is to get a corps of helpers, and these crews will distribute the poison to every house in the city at 6 p. m. on Aug. 26.

Householders will be given instruction on use of the poison, which is being provided by the city, and will be asked to place it out immediately, so there can be simultaneous action against the rodents.

It is planned to have the delivery completed in two hours. The poison will be delivered to adults, who will be asked to sign a receipt for it.

The rat poisoning campaign is one of the major jobs being fired in a sanitation campaign which includes general cleanup work. The volunteers delivering poison also will check on the need for cleanup at various properties. All citizens will be asked to clean out trash and refuse and place it for city truck pickup.

District directors who will participate in the program on August 23 include the following: Mrs. B. E. Winterrowd, W. R. Puckett, R. B. Reeder, Mrs. W. J. McAdams, Albert S. Darby, Mrs. Wayne Pearce, Mrs. L. E. Jobe, Jimmy Walker, Mrs. J. D. McWhirter, Mrs. Elton Taylor, and Mrs. A. B. Partridge.

the Canadian capital, upon the invitation of Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King before his return to Washington, it was announced today at a press conference by Stephen Early, the president's press secretary.

Early said the visit probably would be the first part of next week. His statement was the first official indication that the Quebec conference would be over late this week.

Mr. Roosevelt came in from Washington late yesterday to be greeted by his British colleagues and Canadian hosts.

He rode among cheering thousands through the quaint, winding streets of the city to the parade ground of the Citadel for brief official welcoming ceremonies, then devoted the evening to relaxation at the dinner given by Churchill and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, of the Earl of Athlone, governor general of the dominion.

But there were no social amenities on the war conference schedule today.

All through last night, as for many days before, lights blazed among the turrets and towers of the Chateau Frontenac, where the highest ranking military, naval and air commanders of Britain and the United States and their technical staffs toiled on new blueprints of action against foes already rocked by bitter defeats in Africa, Sicily, Russia and the Pacific.

What fresh and shattering blows were being prepared in that massive, vigilantly guarded building none but those who help shape the plans could know. Staff officers by the hundreds, who have labored over preparatory details for days, rarely are seen outside the quarters they occupy as guests of the Canadian government.

Senate Committee Will Investigate College Shakeup

AUSTIN, Aug. 18. (AP)—The state senate's general investigating committee announced today it would investigate certain charges made in connection with changes in personnel at Texas A. & M. college.

The announcement was made at adjournment of a brief executive meeting and recessed until 10 a. m. tomorrow when members of the board of directors of the college and certain other witnesses have been requested to appear.

Chairman Houghton Brownlee of the committee did not expand on the brief formal announcement.

The committee presumably will inquire into the resignation of Dr. T. O. Walton as president of the college and the dismissal of H. H. Williamson as director of the college's far flung extension service.

Stevenson Raps Gas Ration Cut

HOUSTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Governor Coke R. Stevenson told 300 members of the Sherriffs Association of Texas today that gasoline rationing had forced 2,800 service stations in the state to close and cautioned that "if government bureaus can do this to one industry they can do it to all industries."

Speaking at the association's 65th annual convention, Stevenson praised peace officers for handling what he termed the "delicate problem of nationalities in Texas."

"The nation's future," he said, "will be largely shaped by the way in which peace officers protect the lives and property of the people, both now and after the war."

Texans Get Heat Relief

By The Associated Press

Relief from the intense heat of the past three weeks was felt in widely-scattered sections of Texas today, with Fampa's 54 degrees at 8 a. m. being the lowest temperature reported over the state.

Fort Worth registered its second-lowest temperature of the summer with 69 degrees at 7:30 a. m. This was in contrast to the 112-degree temperature recorded on the same date in 1909, the second highest in the history of the Fort Worth weather bureau.

At Austin, cool winds brought the temperature down to 78 this morning, following yesterday's 104, the highest since July, 1939. The weather bureau did not expect a repetition today of the extreme high temperatures of the last few days.

The thermometer reached 104 in San Antonio yesterday, the hottest day in 14 months. The temperature early today had dropped to 78 degrees, classified as a normal variation. Lower temperatures were forecast for today and tomorrow morning.

Cool breezes in the Lubbock area sent the thermometer to 55 degrees last night at Lubbock.

Lorraine Sergeant Is Missing In Action

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Names of several Texans were included in a list of 113 U. S. soldiers announced by the war department today as missing in action.

They included:

Missing in the European area: Britton, Staff Sgt. Harold W.—Mrs. Verna M. Britton, mother, Lorraine.

Crushing Blow Is Dealt Enemy Air Strength At Wewak

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Japanese air force was dealt its most humiliating defeat of the war Tuesday at Wewak, New Guinea, where 225 of its planes were caught on the ground by Allied bombers, 120 destroyed, 50 severely damaged and an estimated 1,500 air personnel killed.

Only seven of the enemy planes even got into the air and three were shot down. Out of some 200 planes in the raiding party, only three were lost.

This staggering blow, virtually stripping the enemy of his air strength in central New Guinea, was dealt by 10,000 bombs dropped from Liberators, flying fortresses, Mitchells and Bostons.

Allied reconnaissance planes had detected the Japanese massing the greatest force of planes they ever had assembled in the Wewak area. Obviously, the enemy intended to make some surprise move in support of Japanese jungle troops now falling back slowly before Americans and Australians near Salamaua, Nipponese air base 350 miles down the New Guinea coast from Wewak.

The surprise worked the other way.

The first of more than 10 waves of American and Australian-manufactured planes appeared over the four airfields of the Wewak sector during the dark first hour of Tuesday. Hour after hour until well into daylight, the filers crisscrossed the spreading areas of smoke and flame.

Sixty Japanese bombers and fighters were found warming up on the Borum airfield. The crews were inside. Ground attendants stood nearby. Fragmentation bombs swiftly turned the scene into one of fiery wreckage and death.

After the bombers were through attack planes and fighters roared low to pour out cannon and machine-gun fire. They scored heavily against enemy personnel.

Reds Stave Off New Counter Push By Nazis

Germans Adopt New Tactics; Stubbornly Defend Bryansk Area

MOSCOW, Aug. 18 (AP)—The German command has mounted powerful counterattacks with troops, tanks and planes at two points on the Kharkov front, but Russian lines held firm, battle-front dispatches reported today.

Seeking an opening for a counter-offensive, the Germans struck at a settlement west of Kharkov held by the Red army, and along the water line where the Russians maintained a bridgehead on the west bank, the dispatches said.

The fourth battle for Kharkov—which has been taken once by the Red army and twice by the Germans—became a tug of war for the initiative.

Two other Russian drives in the Bryansk and Spas Demensk sectors to the north also met tougher going.

Battle reports from the Kharkov sector said the Red army—which has forged a ring around the Ukraine city from three sides—had repulsed the Nazi counterattacks and improved its own positions at some points.

The Germans were reported to have adopted new tactics, shifting the direction of the counterblows frequently, probing for soft spots in the Russian lines. This indicated they were preparing to go over from the defensive to a full-fledged counter-offensive if they could find an opening.

Pushed back within 15 miles of the central front bastion of Bryansk, the Germans likewise were using reserves of tanks and planes in stubborn defense there.

(A British radio broadcast heard by CBS said the Red army was within 12 miles of Bryansk.)

Red Star said Russian units attacking Bryansk west of Karachov and southwest of Zhdira encountered almost impassable forests and swamps where the enemy employed every natural obstacle.

Front reports said more than 10,000 Germans had been killed in the Bryansk and Kharkov offensives.

County's First Cotton Ginned

Howard county's first bale of cotton, which touched off a repetition of the "first bale deluge" of last year, rolled to gin here Tuesday, two days behind the 1942 initial bale.

Charlie Creighton gathered the first bale from the Creighton farm immediately west of town and has a 420-pound bale from 21,800 pounds of snaps. Within two hours Leland Wallace, who farms in the Morgan area in the northeastern part of the county, had brought in 1,480 pounds of picked cotton which turned a 510-pound bale, and H. F. Franks, farming on the A. L. Wasson place at Elbow, had brought in 1,700 pounds of snaps which ginned 425 pounds.

All three bales were processed by the Farmers Gin Co., which bought the first two bales for 22 cents a pound, a premium of approximately two and a half cents. Franks held his cotton but sold his seed at the rate of $52 a ton, whereas Creighton and Wallace caught their seed.

Last year W. S. Satterwhite, manager of Farmers Gin, and R. E. Satterwhite produced and ginned the first bale on Aug. 15. The same day bales were brought in by R. L. Warren, A. H. Neeves, Ray Shortes and W. L. Townsend.

Other first bale dates follow: Aug. 26, 1941; Sept. 1, 1940; Aug. 18, 1939; Sept. 2, 1938; Aug. 13, 1937; Aug. 18, 1936.

Teachers Urge Crime Prevention Education

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP)—"What is the use of teaching our youths history when many of the boys and girls are doomed to recall their history in prison cells?"

Fred G. Fraser, Jr., Washington, D. C., national vice commander of the American Legion, asked this question last night in an address before the joint welfare banquet of the Texas American Legion and auxiliary, and then asserted:

"Teachers should spend more time building the future of America. A future which can be made as clean, as high minded, and as progressive as we, the people desire it."

Invaders Swarm Over New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—First it was an epidemic of flying cockroaches in the Bronx, then green flies caterpillars the east side, now caterpillars are swarming over Manhattan and Brooklyn.

Householders, some of whom said they can't sleep because the fuzzy-wuzzies are so thick in their homes, appealed yesterday to various city agencies to halt the third insect invasion this summer.

Drastic New Labor Policy Is Placed In Effect By President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—A new and drastic policy to force compliance with war labor board decisions by unions and employers alike was placed in effect today by President Roosevelt.

Withdrawal of a union's contractual rights and privileges is authorized—or withholding of priorities and war contracts from employers.

It is the administration's first move to penalize unions for ignoring or disobeying WLB decisions, although employers have been acted against in some cases.

The broad statement of policy, effective at once, is enunciated under the recently-enacted Connally-Smith anti-strike act. The White House made public a letter to Chairman William H. Davis of the WLB and an executive order empowering Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson to proceed against recalcitrants as reported to him by the board.

The president in his letter to Davis said it was his earnest wish that punitive "sanctions," which he said exist "only as a matter of wartime necessity," may not have to be invoked.

He then outlined his order as providing for:

1. Government seizure and operation of a plant where either the employer or the union refuses to comply with a board ruling.
2. If this could not be done without impeding the war effort, then "less drastic sanctions" such as withholding or withdrawing from an employer any priorities, benefits or privileges, including contracts, until compliance has been effectuated.
3. Where a plant is taken over for union non-compliance to prevent interference with production and protect workers who wish to work, the government agency taking over shall ask the board to modify its terms of employment order to withhold union benefits and all other rights until the union abides by the WLB decision.
4. In cases where the latter penalty might involve the check-off, the order provides that such dues shall be held in escrow, to be turned over to the union upon compliance.
5. In the case of non-complying individuals, the order tells the stabilization chief to direct the war manpower commission (WMC) to modify draft deferments or employment privileges, or both, for offenders.

Messina Falls—Advance American forces (arrow) took over the city of Messina, last axis stronghold on the island and, according to Reuters, made a commando type landing (broken arrow) as the Sicily campaign ended.

Allies Carry War To Italian Mainland As Sicily Fighting Over

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 18. (AP)—Allied guns boomed in a duel with heavy axis batteries across the Messina Strait today in a warm-up against the European front.

The battle for Sicily had been finished "ahead of schedule," Allied headquarters said, with the occupation of Messina yesterday.

Massed formations of Allied warplanes already were carrying the war to the Italian mainland in pursuit of the discomfited foe.

(The Italian high command, after a 24-hour lapse behind German announcements, admitted in its communique today that the "heavy battle for Sicily x x x against overwhelming Anglo-American forces on the sea, ground and air ended yesterday.")

(In an axis raid on Bizerte harbor in Tunisia, fires of "great dimensions" were set, the communique said. It asserted that a cruiser near Cape Passero was torpedoed, a merchantman north of Cap Bon damaged and a tanker set afire.)

(Allied raiders dropped bombs on Castroville in Salerno province south of Naples and other places in the Naples district causing damage of "some importance," the war announcement said.)

(It added that 193 persons were killed and 1,096 injured in three recent RAF raids on Milan.)

To a patrol of 27 American infantrymen of the Third division fell the honor of being the first Allied troops to set foot in Messina.

The city was silent as they marched in at 5:30 a. m. yesterday over a winding highway littered with the debris of a fleeing army. Fifty weary Italians were waiting to surrender. The other axis troops had fled safely across the narrow strait to the Italian mainland where 15-inch rifles were beginning to spit defiance at the conquerors.

Other American patrols moved into the city by other routes shortly after and the surrender of the city was accepted by the first ranking officer to arrive, Major Grover Wilson of Washington, D. C.

U. S. BOMBERS HIT JAPS IN BURMA

NEW DELHI, Aug. 18. (AP)—Striking at Japanese installations at Meiktila and enemy shipping in the Gulf of Martaban, United States medium and heavy bombers have done "extensive damage" to enemy transportation in the Burma area, the tenth air force announced today.

At Meiktila yesterday, B-25 Mitchell medium bombers damaged the railroad station, rolling stock, tracks and a railroad bridge.

Heavy bombers attacked enemy shipping in the gulf on Monday. B-24 Liberators left two freighters in a "sinking condition." En route home, they tangled with six enemy fighters and claimed two as probably destroyed. All U. S. planes returned safely.

Homicide Suspect Acquitted Here

Howard county court jurors found Ray C. McElroy not guilty of the charge of negligent homicide after deliberation Tuesday afternoon. McElroy was driver of a T&P transport truck which was in collision with a car last February in which two persons were killed.

The case which was tried last term of court when McElroy was fined $250 was granted a new trial for this term.

Wednesday morning a jury was selected to hear another negligent homicide case in the suit of the State versus Raymond Carl Rockey, also driver of a transport truck which was in a collision June 23 when one man was killed.

Jurors selected were Orville Bryant, W. Leatherwood, C. C. Balch, J. C. Allred, M. E. Allen, Louis Tally.

Plant Guard Head Beaten To Death

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP)—A. A. McNair, 55, guard supervisor at the Texas Electric Service company plant property, was beaten fatally last night near the plant grounds. An hour later he died in a hospital of head injuries. He also suffered a wrist fracture.

Police arrested a 33-year-old plant guard in connection with the slaying.

"It's a very unfortunate incident," the suspect said at city jail. "It was just a fight. We have had some trouble and we wanted to get straightened out."

He would not explain what he meant by trouble. McNair had been an employ of the plant for about two months. He came here from Dallas.

OILMAN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

BORGER, Aug. 18. (AP)—E. H. Bender, 42, superintendent of the Borger refinery of the Phillips Petroleum company, was killed and George Finger, well-known Borger businessman, was seriously injured when their plane crashed while taking off from the Borger airport early today.

The two men were en route to Kansas City on a business trip at the time of the crash.

Airfields In France Stormed

Huge Bomber Fleets Blast At Fleeing Nazis In Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 18 (AP)—Flying Fortresses strung necklaces of heavy bombs across a pack of 150 German warplanes on French airfields near Marseille in their first attack on southern France yesterday, it was announced today at Allied headquarters.

Two flying fortresses were lost out of the big African-based force which hit the enemy airbases at Istres Le Tube and Salon.

The loads of big fragmentation bombs aimed by precision bombardiers exploded among the parked aircraft, sending a storm of steel through the close-packed mass and causing what even cautiously-phrased official reports said was "heavy damage."

Other big bombs broke through the hangars and administration buildings, causing huge fires. The airfields are about 25 miles northwest of Marseille.

Great fleets of medium bombers, fighter bombers and fighters based in Sicily meanwhile kept

Nazi Research Center Is Hit; Berlin Raided

LONDON, Aug. 18. (AP)—RAF heavy bombers made a strong attack on the German research and development establishment on Peenemuende, 60 miles northwest of Stettin, last night while Mosquito raiders attacked objectives in Berlin, the air ministry announced today.

The attack on the largest and most important establishment of its kind in Germany was carried out in moonlight almost as bright as day.

Forty-one bombers and one fighter were reported missing from the night's operations, which, in addition to raids on Peenemuende and Berlin, included intruder attacks on northwest Germany, France and the low countries by fighter squadrons.

The night raids followed widespread daylight assaults by American Flying Fortresses which battered two important aircraft factories deep in Germany yesterday, inaugurating daylight Britain-to-Africa shuttle bombing.

It was the first attack on Peenemuende, which is on Germany's Baltic coast opposite Rugen Island about 25 miles northwest of Swinemuende.

The Peenemuende plant is the center of the highest type work in developing aircraft, radio-location and armament.

The attack was in the closely coordinated pattern of the Allied air offensive which took American Flying Fortresses to other vital factories at Schweinfurt and Regensburg yesterday.

For almost a week the RAF front line bomber fleet from British bases had been concentrating on northern Italian cities. The last big attack on Germany was the raid on Nuernberg the night of Aug. 10.

The stab at Berlin by swift Mosquito bombers was the third in four nights, however. They also

Axis Loses 167,000 Men In Sicily; Allies 'Ready To Go' Says Eisenhower

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 18. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced today that axis losses in the Sicilian campaign up to Aug. 10 totaled 167,000 killed, wounded and prisoners.

The commander in chief said German losses while crossing the Strait of Messina, across which Allied guns boomed today in a duel with heavy axis batteries, probably would never be known.

He estimated that the Nazi commanders had between 75,000 and 75,000 troops on the island, of which at least 30,000 were lost, not counting the number drowned in the evacuation.

The enemy's losses in tanks destroyed or captured up to Aug. 10 was given as 260.

Allied casualties for the entire Sicilian campaign were estimated at 25,000 men, Gen. Eisenhower said.

The general's report said at least 502 enemy guns were destroyed or captured up to Aug. 10.

Axis plane losses were more than six times the Allied losses, being 1,491 for the axis to 247 for the allies from July 1 to Aug. 17.

The general said in a prepared statement marking the end of the battle of Sicily:

"The enemy's proud boast he would drive the Allied forces into the sea wherever he met them in Europe seems to be as empty as the promise to the German people that not one bomb would fall on their cities.

"The Allied armies have twice within the last few months inflicted severe defeats on the so-called 'invincible' German army, in each case at very small cost to themselves.

"As an American I take just as much pride in the British Eighth army as any British.

"Now we've brought up an American army that is a worthy partner of the Eighth army."

"Both armies are ready to go at any minute," he added. "We can count on them with complete confidence."

FEARFUL FOR GREEKS

LONDON, Aug. 17. (AP)—(Delayed)—(AP)—Georges Exintaris, former Greek minister of state, who escaped from Athens on July 15, declared today that "unless liberation or help arrives within the next few months Greece will almost certainly perish."

Hostesses Entertain At The Officers Club

Over 100 Attend Breakfast

Officers' Wives were entertained with a bridge breakfast in the officers' club at the Big Spring Bombardier School Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and hostesses included Mrs. Dwayne Rockie, chairman; Mrs. Ben Fehrman, Mrs. Grover W. Ferguson, Mrs. Phil Bishop and Mrs. Lum E. Twilliger.

Bridge was entertainment, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. W. W. Harris, high; Mrs. J. D. Bland, second high, and Mrs. Thomas Capura, third. Mrs. I. D. Lauderdale won guest prize and Mrs. Stanley Pileg, cut prize.

Mrs. L. C. Vann Returns After Attending Services

Mrs. L. C. Vann has returned from Plainview where she was called last Wednesday on the death of her father, E. A. Young. Mr. Young, a native of Alabama, was just short of his 90th birthday at the time of his death. A native of Alabama, he had taught school in Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma and served for years as justice of peace at Plainview, where he was buried following Methodist rites Thursday.

Mrs. Vann was accompanied home by her mother, Mrs. Young, who received word a few hours after her husband's death that a sister, Mrs. Queen Harned of Okemah, Okla., had succumbed. V. R. Rogers, a grandson, who attended the rites in Plainview, also visited here briefly before returning to his post at Camp Phillips, Kas.

VISITS AND VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher have as guests their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Fisher and Jan David, who are en route from Glendale, Calif., to Chicago, Ill., where they will make their home. They will visit in Big Spring for several days.

Miss Annie Antley of Forrest City, Miss., arrived for a visit in the W. R. Douglass home. Before coming here Miss Antley visited in Monroe, La., with Mrs. Douglass' sister, Mrs. F. H. Hinkley, former Big Spring resident.

Taber Rowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rowe, left last week for service with the Navy air corps and is now stationed at Grand Prairie.

Silvia Marnie Billings left Wednesday morning for Detroit, Mich., after visiting for the past two weeks in Big Spring with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hair, Sr.

Mrs. A. T. Gregg of Shamrock is visiting here with her sister, Mrs. Charles Staggs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bird have returned from Stamford where he was called on the death of his mother Sunday night. Others from Big Spring who attended rites Monday at 4 p. m. were Mrs. Jack Dearing and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bennett and daughter, and Mrs. Lee Bennett.

Paper clothes hangers have saved nearly 1-2 million pounds of metal, which would have gone into metal hangers.

DOWNTOWN STROLLER

DR. C. W. DEATS got stuck for the drinks the other morning when he gathered downtown but Mrs. JACK WALLACE and JO ANN SWITZER were the ones he really teased. Claimed that after he told them the drinks were on him, they set out to order breakfast.

Read in the paper the other day that the Victory Gardeners were really doing a good job of raising food and that goes for those in Big Spring too. Understand that F. W. BATTLE has some pumpkins that look like pictures they are so big and of course, he has a good crop of beans and peas and other vegetables too.

Personally, our ventures in the garden lasted just through the first day and after that we shame-facedly gave up and after a week or so got cured from being down in the back and blistered.

Met WALLACE LAW the other day. He is to be new supervisor for the liquor control board here and formerly was stationed here with the board as an inspector. His wife, by the way, used to be manager of Franklin's dress shop two years ago so they feel they are really coming back home.

Hardly seem possible, but school is just around the corner and the long summer vacation for the students is just about over. The teachers will start coming in next week and lessons in the three R's will be in session before you know it.

Hear tell there is to be another wedding, out at the post. One of the lieutenant nurses is supposed to wed an officer around the end of the month. Tell you more when we learn more.

Peppy Blount Finds State Guard Training Of Value In Army

Av/S Ralph E. (Peppy) Blount, Jr. figures army life is all right, and he's getting along in it fine, thanks to preliminary training he had as a member of the local company of the Texas State Guard.

Peppy has just been transferred from Sheppard Field near Wichita Falls to Canyon, Texas where he is an air crew student in West Texas State College.

At Sheppard Field he found the old army existence wasn't exactly a bed of roses. The day began at 4:30 a. m. and by 7 a. m. the barracks had been mopped, cleaned, etc. and breakfast past. Either there was a morning-long session of drill and marching or lectures and training films. At 1 p. m. there was a generous dose of calisthenics and a filing at the obstacle course. By 3:30 p. m. there was more drill or standing retreat. Much of the hiking was in 112-degree weather and ambulances always followed the column to pick up those who collapsed, said Peppy.

His training in the guard, he continued, helped from the start, for he was able to fall out with the group which had previous military training and became "right guide." Because of guard experience, he was made squad leader in extended order drill. Similarly, he demonstrated the facings, etc., the manual of arms, and substituted for a missing drill instructor. Peppy waded through all his general orders without a trip-up and won commendation, as he did in guard training.

"I have not written in a spirit of boastfulness but simply to encourage other fellows who are 17 years of age and who soon will enter the armed forces to take the training the Texas State Guard offers so they can profit by the training as much as I already have."

Women Doctors Can Join Naval Reserve, Get Commissions

HOUSTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Reserve commissions in the medical corps of the Navy now are open to qualified women physicians in the ranks of lieutenant commander, lieutenant, and lieutenant (junior grade), Lieutenant Commander Preston Moore, officer in charge of the office of naval officer procurement here, announced today.

Women doctors are being accepted in the medical corps with the same status as men doctors. They will be assigned to duty at various types of shore medical establishments within the United States, he said.

Women doctors must meet the same professional requirements as men and must be approved for military duty by the procurement and assignment service for physicians in order to prevent undue depletion of medical services in civilian communities. Women doctors will not be accepted if they are married to Navy men or if they have children under 18 years of age.

Today On The Home Front—Underpaid War Workers Are Given New 'Break'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Now war workers can get loose from underpaying bosses by new WMC rulings which tighten sharply otherwise. This is the third of three stories explaining what those rulings mean to draft-age men and industrial workers).

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—War job workers employed by chiseling bosses get a break under the new regulations of the war manpower commission (WMC) which is trying to get help for war production.

Under certain conditions they'll be able to hike off looking for better pay no matter what their boss thinks of it.

WMC decreed last April 1, in its employment stabilization plan that a worker in an essential industry could not shift to another just for higher pay unless:

He had been discharged, laid off for an indefinite period or for 7 days or more, continuance of his employment would work undue hardship, or he could prove his ability would be more useful for the war effort in the new job.

But no matter what the reason he had to have a permit—WMC calls it a statement of availability—from his old boss without which the new boss couldn't hire him.

If the old boss, however, refused the permit the worker could ask the U. S. Employment Service, (U. S. E. S.), an arm of WMC, for it. If his reasons were sound, he got it.

But now WMC loosens up the restrictions so a worker can go to a higher-paying job if:

1. His present employer is at a wage or under working conditions below standards established by state or federal law or regulation.
2. His present wage is below a level established or approved by the war labor board (WLB) as warranting adjustment and the employer failed to make the adjustment or even failed to apply for permission to make it.

Under such circumstances the old boss would have to give the dissatisfied worker a statement of availability and, if he didn't, the U. S. E. S. would.

But in another direction WMC tightened up its regulations—to this extent:

Workers on WMC's new list of 149 "critical" occupations cannot be hired in a new job—even with a statement of availability from their old boss—unless approved by U. S. E. S.

The U. S. E. S. approval also is needed for a man seeking a job in an area where he has not lived or worked for the preceding

In India—Seeing the world of the job A. D. Harmon, Jr., holds as a member of the merchant marine, for getting war goods to distant points is his main concern. Last week he cabled his mother here that he had docked safely in India, but would love to be back in the states. Before signing to ship, he was a welder in a shipbuilding yard at San Francisco.

U. S. E. S. approval is necessary, too, when a new employe's last job was in agriculture and he is now seeking non-agricultural employment.

Thus WMC is trying to halt migration of workers not only between war plants but even from the farm to war plants and from one area to another.

VOLCANIC ASH FALLS
MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 18. (AP)—Reports from Chinandega started last night that ashes from Telica volcano, which has become active, are falling on the town.

Law Transferred To Big Spring

Wallace Law, formerly stationed in the Waco district, has been transferred to Big Spring where he will be supervisor of the Big Spring district of the Liquor Control Board.

Law will replace T. W. Franklin, who was sent here from Dallas several months ago and is being transferred back to Dallas to be with the board there.

Law was stationed here as an inspector two years ago and was subsequently transferred to the Waco district as inspector. Mr. and Mrs. Law will make their home in Big Spring.

Consolidated Has Jobs For Women

Opportunities for women aircraft workers have been reopened by Consolidated at Fort Worth, the U. S. Employment Service announced Tuesday.

Women riveters, general assemblers and learners are needed. Ages are from 18 through 43. Direct referral may be had through the USES office here.

Wanted in Big Spring are automobile mechanics as well as several other skilled classes of workers. Carpenters are wanted at Brownsville, the USES reported.

There are almost 12,000 industrial nurses in the United States.

October Safety Clinic Planned

A one-day safety clinic with outstanding safety experts as speakers is contemplated here for October, the Big Spring Safety Council announced following a called session Monday.

Roy Reeder, president of the council, said that an invitation had been sent to Texas highway patrol safety department heads to ascertain if a date might be available in October. Other men from industries and other fields of endeavor will be invited to participate on the program.

Tentative plans call for panel discussions during the day with safety representatives from communities all over West Texas will be expected to be here. The meet would be climaxed with an evening program for the general public.

KINGMAN SOLDIERS TOPS

KINGMAN, Ariz., Aug. 18. (AP)—Soldiers from the Kingman Army air base won first place in an inter-training competitive meet here for top gunners from six flexible gunnery schools. Harlingen, Tex., and Laredo, Tex., placed second and third, respectively.

Port Ross, Calif., was originally a Russian military and trading outpost established in 1811-12 in territory claimed by Spain.

OIL TRANSPORT PLANNED
AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (AP)—West Texas oil operators have already made arrangements for transportation of an expected increase in production of approximately 72,000 barrels daily of sour crude in September, Railroad Commission Chairman Beauford H. Jester said today.

Sun spots range from 500 to 50,000 miles in diameter.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have headaches? YES NO

Do you lack pep or vigor?

Do you get irritable easily?

Do you feel depressed—nervous?

Everybody knows that poorly digested food often causes a headache, sluggish condition.

But you may not know that Nature must produce each day about two pints of the vital digestive juice—liver bile—to help digest your food.

If Nature fails—food doesn't digest properly—you may get irregular. And the amount of this vital digestive juice may be still further reduced. Thus, digestive upset and sluggishness can follow each other in a vicious circle that keeps you feeling rotten. Therefore, take Carter's Little Liver Pills because they start bile flowing quickly—often within thirty minutes. When bile flow increases—you may help your digestion. You're on your way to feeling grand all over again. Remember—you can't get these same results from laxatives that fail to stimulate the flow of bile.

If you feel headache, listless, irritable or depressed, get a 25¢ package of Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drugstore today. Take as directed. Tomorrow see how fit and alive you'll feel!

Your Eyes are Here!

Your eyes are here! Through them you are able to watch the war around the world and around the clock.

In a single day you follow it from Britain to the Mediterranean, or look in on the fighting from the Aleutians to Africa. Through these eyes, you see this war as it really is—from the skies, the bridge of lurching warships and the inside of foxholes. Never has it been possible before to follow a war so closely.

You see all this because YOUR eyes are the trained eyes of Associated Press correspondents on every front. They report this war as speedily and as accurately as is humanly possible.

"I Dood It"
MGM presents Red Skelton and Eleanor Powell in a hilarious music-comedy with Jimmy Dorsey and band.

Red Skelton is a pants presser who worries his boss Sam Levene by borrowing customers clothes in which he makes a snappy gent.

Red is in love with Eleanor Powell, a stage star. At a charity bazaar he buys a ticket to kiss her; interruptions prevent collection.

Determined to collect he goes backstage where he finally meets her. She goes to the club with him and dance to Dorsey's music.

She marries Red to spite her fiancée. They separate and Red is lured by a saboteur to take his place in the play which he accepts.

Red realizes he has been duped and leaves the stage, folling the spy by discovering a time bomb in the cellar—Eleanor is there, too.

Meet the Stars

With Luis Rosado

One of the most beautiful and talented brunettes on the screen today is Brenda Marshall. Here is a delicate beauty which not only photographs in its full bloom on the screen, but she is the same radiant person in the flesh. Beauty and talent usually are a rare combination. Nature endowed Brenda with both. I visited her on the

Luis Rosado

"The Night Is Ending" at Twentieth Century-Fox studios. It was one of those days when there wasn't much doing on the set, so we had a chance to talk, something we hadn't been able to do for quite a while. You see, I have known Brenda for a long time, and with pride I am happy to report that I have never noticed a change in her while she has become the top screen personality she is. It is bound to happen, that to some stars the rise to fame and fortune always makes a difference. Not to Brenda, though, and she knows that I would be the first one to condemn her for it.

"That's what I want you to do, Luis," she said. "If I ever as much as show signs of letting my career get ahead of me, or rather get the best of me, I want you to let me know. But you see, I don't think that it will be necessary, since there are other factors in my life that take the edge off that self-satisfied idea. I have a husband whom I love very much. Then there's my daughter, Virginia, and very soon I'll be a mother again. Now, tell me, what else can a woman want besides those things?"

I had no answer to that—all I had was admiration for her. Her husband is William Holden—Lieutenant William Holden, to be exact, of the Army Air Force. Theirs was a romance no one tried to break, instead everyone admired and respected it. Shortly after their marriage, Bill joined the Armed Forces. Brenda was very proud of her husband—she took pride in telling everyone the progress he was making. It was Brenda the wife, and not the actress talking. But then Brenda forgets that she is an actress as soon as she leaves the studio.

Brenda came to Hollywood via the Federal Theatre Project. It was in New York where she attracted the attention of Warner Brothers talent scouts that she was brought to the coast, given a contract and got her first screen role in "Espionage Agent." It was quite an auspicious debut. After that nothing much happened—as a matter of fact she was idle until she was cast opposite Errol Flynn in "The Sea Hawk." From then on, movie audiences asked for more of Brenda. She was kept busy until after she finished "Background to Danger." Tired of being idle, and the refusal of Warners to lend her to other studios for some good roles, Brenda, asked for and received her release from that studio. It was natural that some other studio would jump at the chance of having her under contract. That studio was Twentieth Century-Fox, where she went into "The Night Is Ending" immediately. Now Brenda is expecting a visit from her in some of their most important pictures of the year.

This is the best word picture I can give you of a swell actress, a proud wife and mother—Brenda Marshall.

On the Sets

With Irwin Allen

History in Hollywood becomes slightly hysterical with the passing of time as facts and figures take on fantastic forms in order to better meet box office standards. Turning yesterday's villain into a hero of today requires little more than the flick of a producer's wrist and presto — history books for the last thousand years become nothing more than Sunday School propaganda! Rewriting the tablets of Time is no offense just as long as they label them "A Fairy Tale from Hollywood."

There is method to the apparent madness of recasting the characters of history. Somehow or other, nature did a tongue-in-cheek job of miscasting. Completely unphotogenic in the short, bald hero of history who dashed madly across at least two chapters while saving the kingdom for king and country. So, Hollywood takes the little guy with the beautiful head of skin and recasts him in the person of Cary Grant or Gary Cooper. These two do at least as good a job of dashing and acting so very much better than the original version.

Out at Universal Studios Old All Baba and his forty thieves are undergoing a complete surgery in keeping with this policy. All, and his dagger men were among the more cute cut-ups of history. Their knife-throwing act made daily headlines in the ancient press and their hi-jacking hysterics would make John Dillinger look like a sissy. All and his boys were the original Chicago mobsters and bootlegged green olives or whatever the black market of those days made profitable. Hardly a subject for a sympathetic screen portrayal, Baba and his forty followers are undergoing a Hollywood whitewashing.

Splashed with gaudy technical-or and surrounded with beauties of the Maria Montez ilk, Jon Hall as All Baba is sitting in for an adjustment on a brand new halo. The Kicking History squarely in the seat of the pants, the script-writers have pulled the old switcheroo and turned All and his boys into an earlier edition of Robin Hood and Company. This revised story line will meet with Hays office regulations of having heroes, not bad guys, live the life to admire and yet there will be great confusion throughout the land. Every kid in the county who ever read the exploits of the "Open Sesame" gang has a pretty fixed idea that All and the boys are not on the same side of the fence as Gene Autry or Roy Rogers. Along comes this hopped up portrayal of this outmoded outlaw in a new guise and the kids are likely to start calling teacher a liar.

The Hollywood Chamber of Commerce may soon add another line to its gaudy travel folders—"Hollywood — History rewritten while you wait!"

Presenting a lovely tennis partner. She is Joan Rogers and who wouldn't be her partner?

Ann Rutherford takes life easy now that she has completed her role in "Whistling in Brooklyn" with Skelton.

Reviews of Previews

By Jerry Cahill

Music, dance and comedy, combined they represent the best entertainment cocktail for these days of anxiety and turmoil. And that's just what you get—an entertainment cocktail in "The Sky's the Limit." The music is supplied by Freddie Slack and his orchestra; the dance is supplied by Fred Astaire and Joan Leslie and the comedy by Robert Benchley. Of course there's romance too—as enacted by Fred Astaire and Joan Leslie—adding that certain kick to the cocktail.

The story opens with a parade welcoming Fred and his pals, Robert Ryan, who have done some heroic duty with the Flying Tigers. They think that their furlough will be spent having a wonderful time, but to Fred's dismay, he finds that a lecture tour is in the offing along with several appearances which will take care of the ten days' leave they have. Fred doesn't approve of the idea, so he skips, heads for New York where he plans to spend his leave in style. It is in the big city that he finds romance in the person of Joan Leslie, a night club photographer for a magazine published by Robert Benchley. Joan is tired of the routine job. She wants to go overseas, and photograph things of value. However, Benchley, who is in love with her keeps her on the home front. Then Fred comes into the scene and the lives of three people take a turn, which solves everybody's problem in the end.

Fred Astaire has ample opportunities to display his terpsichorean ability and he does it in his own graceful manner. His comedy sequences are clever and believable. Outstanding among his dances are, a ballroom number with Joan Leslie and a solo number to "One For My Baby and One for the Road."

In the feminine lead, Joan Leslie shines. Her dancing with Astaire is perfect. To our way of thinking he hasn't had a better partner since Ginger Rogers. Joan really is a clever dancer and an actress, and in this picture she has a chance to put both to advantage.

Robert Benchley is in the picture, and to any moviegoer that is enough. For his brand of comedy brings laughter and enough relaxation to last after comments have been passed on the pictures—pro and con. Robert Ryan is fast becoming a favorite with his short, but impressive roles. It's about time that he was given a chance on his own.

Edward H. Griffith deserves credit for his direction. The music was written by Johnny Mercer and Harold Arlen and the tunes are the kind that run through your mind when you least expect them.

All in all it's a pleasant cocktail to take.

The fight against Fascism may seem old and drab, but such is not the case in "Watch on the Rhine." This is one of those exceptional photoplays which holds your attention from start to finish. It is the story of a man, his wife and three children who escape from Germany, come to America where they expect to find peace, but instead find that spies and the Gestapo have traced his footsteps and he finds himself a murderer.

Bette Davis is the wife, and once more she comes through with a brilliant performance. Paul Lukas scores a personal triumph as the husband who outwits the enemy. Lucille Watson, Geraldine Fitzgerald, George Coulouris, Eric Roberts, Frank Wilson and Donald Buka give superlative performances.

Speaking of Glamour

RESTYLING JEWELRY

We've made our hats over, remodeled our clothes and tried out all kinds of tricks on our accessories, but here's a helpful hint on restyling jewelry. I saw Anita Colby over at the Columbia Studios recently where she's acting as technical advisor on "Cover Girls," and her ideas on remodeling out of date jewelry are too good to keep a secret. She says, have that long triple strand of pearls re-strung into a dowager's collar and wear it with simple black dresses or suit. A string of outmoded costume beads can be made into another Victorian piece by sewing the beads along the edge of an inch wide matching piece of velvet ribbon. Add a locket for a pendant and tie in a bow at the back of the neck. This does wonders for a decollete evening gown.

DISH TOWELS FOR CURTAINS

There's a new "old fashion" being used in the kitchen of Gail Russell whom you'll see in Paramount's "The Uninvited." Plain old fashioned striped cotton dish toweling is used by Gail for kitchen curtains and chair pads. Call says they are easy to make and easy to wash at home. The curtains are made by slicing off two lengths of toweling, hemming at top and bottom and running a rod through the top. Chair pads of the same material give a head start toward a dashing kitchen.

ANN MILLER'S BEAUTY HINT

If you haven't much time and must make yourself look as glamorous as possible in ten minutes, take a tip from Ann Miller. She covers her face thickly with heavy cold cream, drops into a hot bath and soaks for five minutes. The cream forms a vacuum with the steam from the bath and seems to draw blood to the surface, making your face glowing and supple.

BETTE'S BUCKLES

Cleaning out an old jewelry box the other day resulted in a veritable windfall for Bette Davis, Warner Bros. star in the "Thank Your Lucky Stars." Two beautifully cut steel buckles, the back of one bearing "Paris," the other, "France," turned up. Bette promptly took her treasures to a shoemaker, had them sewn on a pair of black suede pumps. She's not only the envy of feminine eyes chancing to light on the buckles, but has become the cause of numerous hopeful gals tearing into attics and long-sealed boxes. Steel cut buckles are practically impossible to get these days.

MEXICAN HEADDRESS IDEA

Lovely Margo has been enchanting Hollywood with a head-dress inspired by her country, Mexico. She wears multi-colored yarn plaited in her hair, which she brushes into an upward hair-do. Tiny grip-tooth combs hold the looped bows of the same yarns which she arranges diagonally across the crown of her head for a finishing touch.

Quiz Box

With Dale Drum

Q: Lois Christopher, Seminole, Oklahoma—I would like a brief biography of Jinx Falkenberg.

Dale Drum

A: Jinx Falkenberg, who is a tennis star and swimming champion, was born on January 21, 1919, in Barcelona, Spain. Eugenia is her name (after her father, Eugene Falkenberg). She was brought up in Chile, where she was taken at the age of three. Together with her brothers, Tom and Bob, she became very well known in sports. Her father became an engineer for the Los Angeles Metropolitan Water District when the family moved to Los Angeles in 1925. Jinx was soon given a movie contract but played no roles. She did, however, catch the eye of a photographer who asked her to pose for a magazine cover. She immediately became very popular with the photographers. This popularity once more led her to the movie industry. She was given a contract by Columbia Studios and made "Two Latinas from Manhattan," "Sing for Your Supper," "Sweetheart of the Fleet," "Lucky Legs," "Cover Girl," and many more. She is a brunette, has brown eyes, tips the scales at 154 pounds and is five feet, seven inches tall.

Q: William Hughes, Philadelphia, Penn.—Do you have autographed photographs of band leaders?

A: No, we don't have but you might be able to get some from General Amusement, 2928 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

Inside Hollywood

With Edith Gwynn

The Army has now reduced the leading-man ranks to the point where most of the producers in Hollywood are forced to use middle-aged "juvenile" stars. But some of them, unashamed and quite cheerfully just toss the whole thing off by referring to it as "Victory casting." . . . Nobody will be surprised if Martha Raye secretly filed divorce papers against Neal Lang while she was in Mexico. And, of course, when she's free she's going to marry dancer Nick Condon. . . . Interesting—that March of Time will soon enter the feature-making field. . . . A meekie stole fifty-six points worth of rationed goods out of Jean Rogers car the other day. . . . Jean, by the way, just signed a new and better deal to go on acting at M.G.M. . . . Remember Jean Sahlon, whose torchy records once had you singing? Well—he's in the Brazilian Army now. . . . That's picture business for you: Ann Richards "married" Brian Donlevy in "America" one day. And the next morning she was facing the cameras as the mother of six children! . . .

Half of Jack Benny's worries over The Army took one of his top writers, but rejected the other one because of bad eyesight. . . . The Madeline le Beau-Marcel Dallo divorce decree became final on the very day that the two were playing love-scenes together at the Fox studio. . . . Walter Pidgeon, having a slight operation on his left eye—nothing serious. . . . John Garfield, Patricia Morrison and Sid Melton, breaking in an act they will do together on a tour of the Army Camps. . . . It was a fine Chinese surgeon who recently brought dancer Renee di Marco's baby into the world. . . . Honore Ameche (Don's wife) has been "saving" golf-balls, buying them two at a time for four months. And finally was able to give Don two dozen of them for his birthday. . . . You wouldn't know Morton Downey these days. He's lost so much weight. . . . Bonita Granville is now getting more fanmail than anyone else on the R.K.O. lot. . . . Paulette Goddard just can't make up her mind about that biggie who wants a lease on her heart. He's one of the Comacho family. . . . Next time Mickey Rooney throws his putter up in the air on a golf-course he'd better get even madder; tossed up another and it got stuck too! . . . The rest is censored. . . . Priscilla Lane's Ma is moving back east. And since she sort of manages the gal, it's almost certain that Priscilla hasn't any intentions of making a picture in the near future. . . . Statistic: Twenty percent of the newspaper correspondents have been casualties in this war so far. . . . The Bill Elyth-Alicia Dias amour seems really headed for the altar. . . .

Marjorie Reynolds, back from entertaining the soldier lads in the Aleutians and Alaska, brought this silly with her. It's about the salesman who kept going from one igloo to another trying to sell an electric fan. "Fan?" each eskimo resident would scream, "What in the world do I want with a fan? It's sixty below zero now!" "Yeh, I know," the salesman would answer, "but you never know—tomorrow it may jump up to zero!"

Just heard a cute anecdote about what happened several years ago when Charles Laughton signed his first contract at Paramount. He was completely dazzled by the generous terms and asked Adolph Zukor, the studio chief at the time, if the figures were correct. "Perfectly correct," Zukor assured him. "But I don't understand," muttered Laughton, "I've been acting for years and I never received even half this amount. Why do you pay me so much?" "To be perfectly frank," Zukor replied, "I don't understand it myself. But there seems to be some sort of a tad for actors nowadays."

Give a hand to Dinah Shore (who is a plenty busy gal) for singing fourteen songs for the lads at the Hollywood Canteen the other eve. Nothing could be finer! Band leader Vaughn Monroe (about to get a glamor build-up as a movie actor) did two full shows the same night. And Martha O'Driscoll presented the War Bond which is given away every day to some lucky soldier, sailor or marine. No wonder that when an S. O. S. call came into the Canteen from a girl's graduation dance downtown for seventy stags, not a single serviceman left the place! . . . Walter Huston, with six big pictures lined up ahead of him, has gone to his ranch at Porterville for a rest—and to contemplate his cows. . . . Betty Hutton, who always knocks herself out when she sings, taking a two-day rest recording "Rocking Horse"—a lung-buster. . . . Ian Keith, leaping into the Red Cross Blood Bank for the seventh time! . . . Anne Sheridan has been gifted with a residential lot by the Mexican Chamber of Commerce. They're certainly doing everything nice to lure us all across the border.

Yankees Wallop White Sox, 4-2

Bottom-Of-The-List Phillies Lose 11th Straight Contest

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The polish may not be so bright as in some former years, but the New York Yankees' chariot keeps rolling more smoothly than it did in the days when it was baseball's shiniest streamlined model.

They have won 10 consecutive series in the American league, which is considered a record although historians have kept no tab on such things previously, and since July 5 they have won 32 out of 43 games.

Yesterday they victimized the Chicago White Sox again 4-2 with chunky Charley Wenzloff, the rookie righthanded ace, pitching his fifth five-hitter of the season and 14th complete game in 19 starts.

When they began their current western tour the Yankees were shelled for 18 runs in two games by the St. Louis Browns, but the New York hurriers have allowed only 11 runs in seven games since then and have successfully dispelled any remaining illusion that they might stagger into trouble before the season ends.

At the other end of the American league ladder the pitiful Philadelphia Athletics lost their 11th straight game, dropping a 4-3 decision to Detroit as the Tigers moved into a tie with the idle Cleveland Indians for third place. The A's batted Paul Trout off the mound in the ninth when they scored all their runs, but Johnny Gorsica stopped them in time to get Trout his 14th pitching triumph.

In the other American league game John Niggeling pitched five-hit ball as the Browns belted the Boston Red Sox 4-1. A pinch single by Manager Joe Cronin saved the Sox from a shutout.

In the National league the St. Louis Cardinals looked like world champions again in subduing the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-3 with Alpha Brazie, a rookie recently called up

All-Star Team To Have Dobbs

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 18 (AP)—The All Star football squad which will oppose the Washington Redskins here the night of Aug. 25 thought it had some mighty fine passers in Paul Governall of Columbia, Angelo Bertelli of Notre Dame, Otto Graham of Northwestern and Bob Steuber of Missouri—but they'll have to make room for Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa.

Dobbs took over the role of Sammy Baugh Washington's ace passer, as the All Stars turned to defensive drills yesterday and completed better than .500 per cent of his throws.

Then he demonstrated he could handle the punting assignment, too, by getting off a number of 70 yard boots.

Andersson Sets Up Records As Haegg Absent In America

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Aug. 18 (AP)—Arne Andersson, who said he competed in track last season although handicapped by a severe "Gunder Haegg complex," is revising the world record book while the Gavle fireman is in the United States.

Appearing in the National meet yesterday, Andersson hurried through 1,500 meters in three minutes, 45 seconds and wiped eight-tenths of a second off the mark Haegg established only a year ago.

On July 1 Andersson, who was a consistent second to Haegg as he set seven world marks last summer, romped through a mile in 4:02.6, two seconds faster than Haegg's best time.

Mexican Defeats Fourth Victim

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18 (AP)—It took Enrique Bolanos of Mexico City less than four rounds to hang up his fifth successive ring conquest here.

Bolanos, 124, knocked out Nick Chepa, 128, New York army corporal, after one minute and seven seconds of the fourth round of their bout last night, scheduled for 10 rounds.

FRANCHISE REFUSED

DENISON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Denison voters refused a 20-year franchise to the Texas Power and Light company yesterday by a vote of 1,007 to 905. A 30-year franchise expired in July.

Equipment Production Increase Shows Rising Sports Participation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—A 25 per cent increase in the production of sports equipment, due mainly to demands of the armed forces, pointed up sharply today the fact that more Americans are participating in athletics than ever before.

The War Production Board disclosed that 76 per cent of the equipment output, already one-fourth greater than the peacetime level of 1941, was going to the Army, Navy and Marines.

Sports goods factories are operating at capacity, and by next year a synthetic material will be available for use in articles now requiring rubber.

WPA's sports equipment division estimated that participation in softball, basketball and volleyball has doubled, or more, since 1941. About 50 per cent more men are playing baseball, and boxing has shown a 10 per cent increase.

Most of the increases have resulted from activities in army camps and naval stations, but civilians, too, apparently are turning more and more to athletics for recreation, WPA indicated.

Football and golf have been hardest hit.

The production of tennis balls, skates, skis, toboggans, hockey sticks and some other items has been curtailed or discontinued, but on the other hand WPA reported:

1. Baseball manufacturers are producing 25 per cent more than two years ago, turning out enough to meet the needs of servicemen, organized baseball, colleges and sandlotiers.
2. College and professional football outfits, along with service teams, will receive enough football equipment this year.

"The athletic equipment industry has been extremely ingenious in finding substitutes for materials found to be short," WPA said.

9,000 View Baylor Bear Club Rodeo

WACO, Aug. 18 (AP)—Big, rangy Brahma calves played hob with the time of calf ropers in the opening show of the eighth annual Baylor Bear club rodeo before approximately 9,000 spectators last night.

Jack Sanders of King, Texas, tied down his calf in 23.8 seconds to lead. Bill Hancock of Midland needed 26.8 and easy Tony Salinas of Encinal, one of the world's best, was clocked at 35.2.

The cowboys fared better in steer bulldogging, Jack Favors of Fort Worth throwing his steer in 11.6 seconds. Homer Pettigrew, 1942 world champion all-round cowboy, tossed his 12.3. Dub Phillips of San Angelo used up 12.5 seconds and Wayne Ewing of Coleman 15.4.

Odie McFarland of Longview and Charlie Hood of Killen were the only two of nine bull riders able to stay aboard rampaging Brahmas for eight seconds.

The show closes Saturday night.

HUNT FOR OUTLAWS

Most Candidates For Texas Team Are Navy Trainees From Coast

AUSTIN, Aug. 18 (AP)—When Dana X. Bible meets the raw material for his 1943 University of Texas football team Friday it will not only be football practice, but a social occasion.

Coach Bible has never seen most of the candidates who report that day. For the most part they are Navy V-12 trainees, having principally from California, and Bible only has the records to show how big they are, but nothing to show how good, if any.

There will be one or two familiar faces.

Joe Magliolo, a letterman blocking back from Galveston, and Franklin Butler, a '42 freshman guard from Lubbock are expected to report. Joe Parker of Wichita Falls, only other letterman available, is here and may start working out early.

Around 100 V-12 transfers have evidenced interest in varsity football. Coach Bible said today. Navy authorities have given the boys permission to practice whenever it doesn't interfere with their other duties. A survey of candidates' schedules reveals that workouts can't start before 4 p. m. and must close before 8 p. m. if Bible is to catch the bulk of the group.

The Navy V-5 (pre-flight) youngsters here won't be eligible for varsity football, as they are not bona fide students of the University of Texas.

The Longhorns' schedule, sliced to six games when the Oregon and North Dakota dates were cancelled and Baylor decided not to play, will be built back to the nine-game level and announced within the next two weeks.

Already one game, with Southwestern U. here Oct. 2, has been added. Opponents for the home opener Sept. 25 and the Baylor date, Nov. 6, have not been definitely secured.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Sid Luckman has quit that assistant coaching job at Pitt. . . . And the tip is out he'll be back with the Chicago Bears when the pigskin starts to fly. . . . See Savidol will get a $25,000 guarantee to take on either Tami Maurello or Jimmy Bivins in Chicago. . . . Windy City wizards think that one'll draw 100 G's. . . .

WHAT'S JELLING ELLEN?
Miss Kathleen Hassett—All 7 lbs., 14 ounces of her—arrived at the Duke University hospital last week. . . . Papa is Buddy, the Yankees' crooning first-sacker, now in the navy. . . . Henry Armstrong has picked up $150,000 in his comeback so far. . . . And the chances are he'll retire again—for keeps this time—in '44. . . . Tommy Thomas, the Baltimore Orioles' manager, was around town the other day telling about one of his pitchers who sleeps in the dugout at Oriole park to cut down the overhead. . . . And a fan who parks under the scoreboard overnight. . . . Wonder if there's a house dick and room service in the place? . . .

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Dick Davis, Appleton (Wis.) Post-Crescent: Dixie Dean picked up about $150 here Sunday afternoon, got about $200 at Oshkosh in the evening and drew a crowd of more than 3,000 at Madison Monday night which should have been good for another $300. . . . Not bad for getting out on a diamond and smiling at the fans. . . .

IVORY MARKET, PFD.
Columbus Redbirds are turning down all big league bids for Joe Garagiola, their 17-year-old catcher. . . . Want to wait a while, figuring the price'll go up. . . . Baltimore mixed a deal for sale of Pitcher Roland Van Slate to Milwaukee for $6,000. . . . Plan to hang onto him the rest of the season. . . . And two of the reasons Knoxville was willing to sell Bob Finley to the Phillies were (A)—$15,000 and (B) the discovery that third-stringer Andy Semink was just as good a catcher—or better. . . . Scouts are already knocking on the door.

Dorothy Germain, new women's western champ from Philly, was started in golf ten years ago—because she likes horses. . . . Seems she was always riding and jumping gee-ges, and her parents thought it was too dangerous. . . . So they handed her a set of irons and woods. . . . Elaine, the cow who bid in Curt Davis for $3,750,000 at the ball-player war bond auction a few weeks ago, will pay her hero a visit in the Dodger bull-pen tomorrow.

Ex-Big Springer Magazine Feature Story's Subject

Warrant Officer (1st) William T. Mann, formerly of Big Spring, is the subject of a feature story which appears in the weekly magazine "The Langley Skytrain," publication of the 51st Sub Depot, Langley Field, Va.

The article states that W/O Mann is in charge of bombsight maintenance. He was born in Abilene and graduated from the Snyder High school in 1932. He enlisted in the army in 1940 and was appointed to his present rank at Patterson Field, Fairfield, O., in 1942. "His father owns ranches and oil fields and he could return to the humdrum work of riding herd and prospecting for oil after the war. But his ambition is to revert to his permanent grade of 'back' sergeant or 'three-striper' in the army," the article says.

Do you know a fellow like Joe?

JOE'S MY KID BROTHER. We've always stuck together and I've sort of watched out for him these last few years.

Well, Joe's in Africa now. His wife gets her allotment from him, and I guess when that's taken out of his check he doesn't have much left. Privates don't get paid much you know.

I figure this way. Here I am, making more money than I ever did before. You bet I work for it! But Joe's working hard too . . . and not just from 7 to 5, either.

(We've been taking 10 percent out of my check every week for War Bonds . . . they're going to come in mighty handy when the War's over, we figure. But I got to thinking about Joe. What's he going to have after the War?

So we talked it over, my wife and I. We think Joe should get a cut of the bigger money, too. So now I'm buying an extra bond every month—in Joe's name.

Maybe you've got somebody in the War, too. If you have, couldn't you squeeze out an extra bond now and then, for your "Joe"?

Congressman's Advice Timely And Significant

Speaking before church groups here Sunday, Cong. George Mason said some things which we believe needed to be said and which needed to be emphasized in the thinking of Americans.

the purpose of maintaining easy street at home. We must first of all do everything that can be done to train our men the quickest and best, to equip them better and more completely than any other force in the world, to aid our allies by a continuous flow of materials.

although it may offer excellent opportunity for complaining, isn't one particle as important as our drawing-room generals make out of it.

Washington—Nazi Morale Believed At Low Ebb Now

(During Jack Stinnett's vacation, his column is being conducted by members of the Washington staff of The Associated Press. Today's column is by Alexander R. George, AP Features Writer).

In the last year of World War I, when Allied planes were making relatively puny attacks on some cities, the Germans put out "feelers" for an agreement between the belligerents which would limit bombing operations.

In March of that year, the Reichstag requested the German high command to present measures looking to an agreement with regard to air raids.

A few days later Winston Churchill said: "Nothing will turn us from our endeavor to turn the destruction of our foes by bombing from the air in addition to all other methods."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds—Argentine Resident Has Suggestions For Films

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Orson Welles, Nelson Rockefeller, and movie moguls please note: Here's a letter I have from an American woman, long-time resident in Argentina, with some practical suggestions on the improvement of inter-American relations via our movies.

"It seems to me," she writes, "that one of the best things which could be done to help the cause would be to 'clarify' the speech of our cinema actors.

"No one doubts the immense influence of the films on these people, but I have had hundreds tell me that with a small knowledge of English they get a lot of enjoyment from the English films, or those of ours which use English actors—obviously because they understand the clear, usually low-pitched voices of those actors.

"I think that when this war is over, the English film industry will take a spurt and (though this may seem far-fetched) there is a chance that our film dominance down here may hinge on the fact that the newly English-language conscious people may prefer to go to films which they can understand to some extent."

bewilderment. . . "When you see Orson Welles," she continues, "you might tell him you know a terribly patriotic American down here who likes Fatsy Kelly and Marjorie Main at home but thinks they are poor emissaries for Inter-Americana down here—and that goes for the long procession of dumb policemen who haunt the B-grade detective films which in turn haunt the cinema here; who loves musicals with Nelson Eddy, MacDonald, Deanna Durbin (in the company of the Argentine audience) but who groans silently in unison with the same audience who are not silent about it when most of the torch singers appear to show their teeth before a microphone; who does not so much blame the people down here for thinking that wherever an American goes must go a cuspidor, since in many films they are so conspicuous. . . .

"I know that films must be made to suit all tastes at home, but I don't see why there couldn't be a better selection sent here. Uncle Sam could help to change a little bit (I would not want it entirely different) the accent and speech of our ambassadors of good will so that Latin Americans who have studied English do not have to say, 'But I do not understand a word, it is not as I learned it!'

"Why could not there be a subsidy to allow Hollywood to keep back some of the films which, though perhaps liked in the states, are flops down here for various reasons? If Dalton Raymond could be paid to teach Claude Rains to say 'sum'n' for 'something,' couldn't someone be paid to say 'unclench the teeth, boys, and let the voice come from a little lower than the tonsils?'"

Capital Comment—Texans Will Serve Upon Meat Board Committee

By GEORGE STIMPSON Herald Washington Correspondent Leon Harry Gavin, Republican congressman from Oil City, Pa., is a Texan by marriage; many years ago the daughter of W. L. Gilfellow, of the Austin National bank, visited that section of the Keystone state and handsome, attractive young Leon Gavin, as he puts it, "fell for her Texas accent"; Bill Hobby, then governor of Texas, attended the wedding at Austin; the Gavins have three children.

Several Texans have accepted invitations to serve on Marvin Jones' War Meat Board's advisory committee; they are: Claude K. McCann, of Victoria, Texas, and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association; Horace K. Fawcett, of Del Rio, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association; Henry Neuhoff Jr., of Dallas, Neuhoff Bros. packing company and P. M. Brinker, also of Dallas.

Most of the stables at Ft. Myer in near-by Virginia are empty except for the private saddle horses of Army officers; a few years ago most of the cavalry mounts were transferred to Ft. Riley, Kans., one stable at Ft. Myer is labeled "White Ceremonial Horses"; this stable of beautiful dappled-grays are used only on ceremonial occasions, particularly to draw caissons at military funerals in Arlington National cemetery; until a few years ago the annual horse shows at Ft. Myer were one of the chief attractions in the Washington area.

Seen on Capitol Hill: Bascom C. Sheffield, of San Angelo, naval gunner, who got short shore leave to visit Mrs. Sheffield, who works here for the Federal Housing authority; with them was another sailor, William F. Kagie, of Coleman, who is on Gunner Sheffield's ship.

Midshipman J. W. Morrow, of Brady, came over from Annapolis one day last week to take a look at the Capitol. Soldiers guarding the Capitol are less conspicuous than they were a few months ago; they're still there, but not so much in evidence.

of a radio artist, but enjoyed the experience. Congressman Milton West, of Brownsville, has enough odd jobs on hand to keep him in Washington for another two or three weeks. Congressman Wright Patman says: "Cotton linters, the fibres which cling to a cotton seed and are too short for textiles, are used as the cellulose base for chemical solutions and explosives. Combined with nitric acid, cellulose makes smokeless powder, which propels the ball or shell from the gun without leaving a streak of tell-tale smoke for the enemy. Rifles, machine guns and tank guns use smokeless powder almost exclusively. One bale of cotton linters will make 20,000 rounds of machinegun ammunition. Rayons are largely made from linters, thus becoming the magic solution for dresses and drapery fabric. Plastics start their industrial life as a chemical solution, the basic part of which is cotton linters. Plastics of linters make airplane windows, noses, gun turrets, control knobs, panel boards, helmet linings and photographic films. The lowly Texas cotton linter has gone to war and is doing its part for victory."

Sam M. Wells, of Paris, who is connected with the Lamar County Office of Price administration setup, thinks many of the weak points in the system are "mostly (Continued On Classified Page)

MURDER IN TIN

By CARL A. PETERSON

Chapter 27 "Chevalle," I said. "I am not here to arrest you. My advice to you is to help me with Johnson. Any help you give will benefit you eventually. You're not a dangerous spy. You're a victim of circumstances." I said, appealing to his ego or rather to the pieces of it. "You're a victim. You're a casualty of this war. If not for your father, Chevalle, you would not be hiding in this hole. You're not dangerous like Johnson. I know that you're afraid of him. I can promise you safety. He doesn't know that I am here. I got the password from Sam Taggard."

"I know nothing," he said. "You—you advise me—?" Suddenly he asked, "How valuable is the tin mine?" His expression was that of a business man who cannot help getting a vicarious kick out of my story of fortune.

"Three millions," I said. "Three million pesos?" "Dollars." "Dollars! Three million!" "That's a peacetime estimate. There's no dollar ceiling in war time." I had again reminded myself of the value of the tin. Merely mentioning it had worked wonders with Chevalle. He was almost normal.

traceable to the fact that the Congress permitted a lot of loopholes in the act, making it practically impossible for the OPA to enforce it.

When Congressman Cliff Woodrum, of Virginia, during the last days of the session, was pointing out the undesirable effect that the McKellar amendment, requiring Senate confirmation of all federal employees getting $4,500 or more, would have on the OWI, BEW, BSS and foreign services generally, Speaker Sam Rayburn observed: "Granting that this thing should be done, which of course, the gentleman does not and neither do I, does he not think, if we are going to pass legislation like this, that it should go to a committee and be considered and brought in and apply to all departments of the government, instead of these popgun things coming in on each appropriation bill?" Sam's rhetorical question was answered by the house, which voted to stand firm in rejecting the amendment.

up as if he had tried to encircle the bullet from the fountain pen-pistol that had killed him. I felt for his pulse, but I knew he was dead. The failure of my men to show up had decided the driver to make a run for it. Chevalle's weakness had finally destroyed him. But it had also saved my life. Chevalle's decision to give Johnson away had been his last act of vacillation. It had gotten him the first bullet.

Outside, on the highway into the city, I saw a few people in the moonlight. The shooting had pulled them out of the scattered houses.

"Muerto!" I yelled at them. "Policia! Policia!" I walked past them and they retreated from me. They thought of course that I might shoot at them. They were silent until I passed by. Then, behind me, I heard their excited voices. I thought that I had got to fall right away.

I walked to the corner. As I reached it, a car roared out at me. Even as it hit me I knew who was driving that car. To Be Continued.

Gen. Davies Sends Letter To Ministers

The Herald has received a copy of a letter, written by Brig. Gen. Isaiah Davies, commander of the 34th Flying Training Wing, to the Big Spring Pastors' association. It was in response to an "open letter" published in Sunday's Herald by the ministers, protesting the staging of the Bombing Olympics here on the Sabbath. Gen. Davies' letter follows: My Dear Sirs: I have read with considerable interest your open letter to the Commanding Officer Army Air Forces Bombardier School, Big Spring, which appeared in the Big Spring Daily Herald on 15 August, 1943.

The sentiments expressed there are fully appreciated. Our people are now engaged in the greatest war of our history against enemy leaders whose tyrannical, ruthless and heathenish acts know no bounds, in order to preserve for the world a freedom of religious worship.

In order to prosecute this war to a victorious end in the shortest time and thereby terminate further bloodshed, starvation and hardship amongst all mankind, it is necessary that the "seventh day" be used—our enemy does not respect Sunday—remember Pearl Harbor. The vicissitudes of war are many, changing temporarily some of our daily habits. There can be no intent on the part of our leaders to interfere in any way with the desires of any person to participate in Divine Services according to the dictates of his conscience. To preserve this right, we of the Armed Forces are willing to make the supreme sacrifice. In view of this we feel very deeply hurt by any criticism from those to whom we look for spiritual guidance.

We believe the letter was prepared impulsively and not as the result of deliberation with full consideration given to all aspects of the matter. We need your help in winning the war and may your every act give us renewed confidence.

ISAIAH DAVIES,
Brigadier General, U. S. Army
Commanding.

Navy Recruiter Here For Day

J. Lee Sturges, Sp. (R) 1C, USNR, who will be one of the navy recruiters to service this territory, was here Wednesday making contacts on his regular run. Hereafter, he will alternate on Thursdays with L. N. Brashears, Y3C, USNR, as recruiter for this territory. He and Brashears will be seeking Seabees first of all, and will offer enlistment opportunities to 17-year-olds and to women interested in becoming WAVES.

Water Association Holds Meeting Here

Shipping Shortage Inhibits Jap Plans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—An acute shipping shortage resulting largely from Allied torpedoes, shells and bombs is making it difficult for Japan to get at her newly-won East Indian riches. The Netherlands information bureau estimated today, on the basis of Tokyo broadcasts and information available in Australia that the Japanese have suffered a net loss of 500,000 to 750,000 tons of merchant shipping since the war began.

Nazi

struck Berlin Saturday and Sunday nights, keeping the German capital's nerves on edge. Many squadrons of RAF fighters crossed the Strait of Dover in daylight today to continue the furious Allied air assault on the continent.

An estimated 50 German raiders made widely scattered attacks on Britain during the night, causing casualties and damage in east Anglia and other parts of eastern and southeastern England.

Ten of the raiders were shot down—seven of them over Britain and three near their European bases.

The targets were not identified here but the G-rman radio said the invading fliers focused on Lincoln.

The daylight assaults by the Flying Fortresses yesterday, carried out on the first anniversary of the Eighth Air Force's advent in this combat theater, represented one of the most spectacular aerial thrusts of the war.

Borrowing the shuttle technique originated by RAF night raiders, the American heavy bombers flew to Regensburg in the southeastern corner of Germany near Munich, dropped their bomb loads on the Nazis' second largest Messerschmitt factory and continued on to bases in North Africa to complete a 1,500-mile flight.

Other Flying Fortresses fought through the stiffest fighter opposition in weeks to blast at the 72-acre ball bearing plant at Schweinfurt, near Frankfurt. Returning fliers said that smoke from the plant billowed 20,000 feet in the air.

Simultaneously U. S. medium bombers and RAF fighter-bombers attacked German air bases in northern France, Belgium and Holland.

Sewer Contract To Be Let Soon

Construction contract for the city's sewer plant extension will probably be let within 30 days, it was said Wednesday by City Manager B. J. McDaniel, following conferences with Clyde Hayes of Waco, owner of the patented process which is to be employed in the disposal plant. The project will be done with aid of an army grant of $55,000, and is one of the improvements included in original plans for installation of the Bombardier school here.

Retail Training Classes Are Well Underway

Classes were under way Wednesday for more than four score retail store employees, and Jean Redmon, with the University of Texas Extension service and state board of vocational education, anticipated that the number will increase.

The "replacement" class, made up of women and recent high school graduates who anticipate filling in as employees of retail stores and who do extra work around holidays, weekends, etc., had 37 members Wednesday and more are expected, said Miss Redmon.

Two classes for department store clerks and those of variety stores were drawing well. C. R. Anthony Co., Burrs, Montgomery Ward and United had contributed 20 clerks, for the department store class and McCrorys and Wackers had 16 of their employees in class.

In about 10 days still another class will be organized for employers—store owners, managers and department heads. Employees interested in classes now under way or employers in the class to be organized should see Miss Redmon for details at the chamber of commerce office.

LIONS TO AID IN CLEAN-UP DRIVE

Lions club members Wednesday pledged personal support to cleanup campaign efforts on Aug. 26 and virtually all Lions volunteered to help in some phase of the drive on that date.

Wall Street

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Rubbers, merchandising shares and a few industrial specialties today provided a buoyant area in an otherwise colorless and inactive stock market.

ELLIS HOMES ARE NEAR COMPLETION

Ellis Homes, the FPHA unit under construction adjacent to the bombardier school, is now 75 percent completed and part of it will be ready for occupancy by early autumn. O. H. Walker, project engineer, said Tuesday.

Bulk of the heavy construction for the 33 housing structures and the additional community building has been completed and the project is moving into the finish stage. However, about 150 workers are still engaged on the job.

Walker has received a schedule of the rental conditions and rates which hold that the units are for in-migrant civilian war workers (and families) at the Big Spring Bombardier school, and military personnel (and their families) stationed at the bombardier school.

Rates are to be based on the occupation or rank of applicants. Thus, rent on a unit would be lower for private than it would for a civilian worker or officer of rank not over warrant or captain. Schedules will be carried in a subsequent issue of the Herald, and in the meantime, application may be made through Lieut. Orlynn Schnelly, post adjutant for housing accommodations.

Last Rites Thursday For Mrs. Forrester

Last rites for Mrs. Emma Forrester who succumbed in a local hospital at 7 a. m. today will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Eberley funeral chapel with the West Fourth Baptist church in charge of services. Having lived in Big Spring since 1928, she resided with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Webb. She is also survived by one brother, P. E. Forrester of Knott.

9 Property Owners Only Registrants

Tax equalization board members, sitting to hear cases in which valuations have been increased for city and school district taxes, had time on their hands Wednesday morning. Only nine property owners had registered for appearance before the board, which is composed of C. E. Talbot, Robert Stripling and G. H. Hayward. The school district and city sent out more than 250 notices of adjustments. In most cases, valuations were being restored to last year's levels where the owner had listed a reduction.

FSA Seeks To Sell Projects To Farmers

DALLAS, Aug. 18. (AP)—The government is trying to sell its Farm Security Administration projects to farmers, with complete liquidation sought by next June. Hugh McLaughlin, associate director of the management division of the national FSA office in Cincinnati, explained this yesterday at a conference of FSA supervisors from Texas and Oklahoma.

IMPORTANT ODT MEETING WILL BE HELD AUGUST 21 AT SWEETWATER

An important ODT meeting, to discuss motor transportation conservation measures relating to the cotton seed industry has been called for Aug. 21, at Sweetwater. Announcement of the session was made by John W. Reed, ODT district manager at San Angelo, who said it would be at 1 p. m. Saturday at the Blue Bonnet hotel in Sweetwater. He urged attendance by all interested parties. Two committees will be named. Reed said. One is to represent the cotton seed and cotton seed products industry and will be known as the Cotton Seed and Cotton Seed Products Industry committee. The other committee will consist of cotton compressors, warehousemen, dealers and ginners and is to be known as the Cotton Industry Committee.

Have a "Coke" = Aloha No

(WELCOME, FRIEND)

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke."

... or how to be at home in Hawaii

There are two ways to greet a friend in Hawaii. Aloha No, says the native, and Have a "Coke", says the sailor. Both expressions carry the same note of welcome and affection. From Honolulu to Hartford Coca-Cola has become the symbol of the pause that refreshes—the gracious introduction between kindly-minded strangers.
