LITHS WILL BE FLOWN TO THEIR NATIVE COUNTRY

SOLDIN, POMERANIA, Germany, July 18.—Covered by a huge Nazi flag and simple garden flowers the bodies of Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas, Lithuanian American flyers who were killed early Monday in the crash of their airplane Lithuania near here, lay in the chapel of Soldin cemetery with an honor guard of six brown-shirted storm troops.

The two flyers, who were attempting a non-stop journey from New York to Kaunas, Lithuania, were found dead in the wreckage of their ship which crashed into a group of trees at Kaldamm, eight miles from this ancient town.

After successfully crossing the ocean and being in the air probably about 38 hours Darius and Girenas met disaster when they were 400 miles from their goal.

The mutilated bodies were carried to Soldin after authorities had investigated the shattered Lithuanian and made an inventory of the remaining effects.

At the scene of the disaster such parts of the wreckage as could be carried away by souvenir hunters were gathered in one heap over which storm troops and gray uniformed men from a voluntary labor camp nearby stood watch.

Four Lithuanian officers will arrive from Kaunas and under their supervision the bodies of the aviators will be taken to Berlin and thence by airplane to their native Lithuania, which the pair had expected to reach after a successful flight.

Crash at High Speed All indications point to the theory that the pilots mistook the green treetops for a meadow when their gasoline gave out and crashed at high speed, tearing the plane into splinters.

Darius was buried under the wreck while Girenas apparently was flung from the ship when it struck the trees since he was found some distance away from the wreckage.

Newspapers here reported a plane flashing a searchlight flew over the labor camp near here whose occupants first regarded it as "an enemy scouting plane." This was later believed to be the Lithuanian seeking a landing spot.

Passail women found the shattered Lithuanian and its unfortunate pilots while they were picking mushrooms and blueberries early in the morning.

The gas tank was empty, indicating the American-Lithuanian flyers were seeking to descend when the disaster occurred.

The log kept by Darius and Girenas disclosed that they followed a remarkably straight course, keeping virtually in the same latitude all through the long flight.

Residents of the rural community disengaged as to the time of the crash—some said a thunder-like noise was heard about 1 a. m., while a group of berry pickers declared they heard the sound of an airplane motor at 5 o'clock.

POLICE CALLED OUT AS STRIKE BRINGS RIOTING

A.F.L. Demands That Probe Find Cause For Discharges

By United Press Police were called out in Baltimore today when five hundred striking clothing workers rioted in front of Lamm Brothers plant.

President William Green of the American federation of labor, has demanded an investigation of the discharge of workers in the cotton textile industry which yesterday started operation under a code of fair competition.

One hundred and fifty hosiery workers were discharged at Chattanooga, Tenn., through application of the industry code.

SUPER-CABINET CALLED TOGETHER

By United Press Roosevelt's "super-cabinet" was summoned today to consider plans for immediate action in all industries to spread employment and fix minimum wages.

Organized labor's opposition to "company unions" developed in a sharp fight over the provisions in the steel industry's proposed code.

The administration of public works authorized nine states to spend $40,363,948 of federal highway funds in a drive to create jobs. Over $84,000,000 is allocated for hundreds of construction and renovation projects at government establishments throughout the nation.

A boom in commodity prices is calculated to have added over $2,400,000 to the value of the four leading farm crops. This doubles last year's value.

COLORADO GOVERNOR ON RELIEF MISSION

GUYNON, July 18. (UP)—Governor Edwin Johnson, Colorado, is flying to Washington with plans for a million dollar federal food relief fund to bring jobs and relief to the drought sufferers of the Southwest.

BLOOD TRAILS ENDED AS TWO ROBBERS KILLED

CARRIZOZO, N. M., July 18.—The end was written last night to a bloody story of gun fights, deaths and bank robberies in two states with the arrest of Ed (Perchmouth) Stanton, and the death of Glenn Hunsucker, alleged bank robbers wanted in Texas on bank robbery and murder charges.

After a 24-hour search, Sheriff A. S. McCamant of Lincoln county, New Mexico, returned here with Stanton and his brother, Will, after capturing them between Corona and Ramon, N. M. Neither resisted and officers lodged them in jail here to be held pending the arrival of Tulsa, Texas, authorities.

Stanton escaped to the wilds of northeastern Lincoln county after officers had shot and killed Hunsucker when he and Stanton decided to shoot it out with the sheriff's posse near Ramon late Sunday afternoon. During the exchange of shots, Tom Jones, deputy sheriff, was killed.

Hunsucker's death and Stanton's arrest marked the end of a trail of blood across West Texas and eastern New Mexico which has seen the death of four peace officers and the robbing of one Texas bank and possibly a New Mexico bank.

The four officers, all killed while searching for the outlaws, were Deputy Sheriff Tom Jones of Carrizozo, killed in Sunday's fight; John C. Mosley, sheriff of Swisher county, Texas, shot down in Jarvis; and Harvey Bolin, deputy sheriff of Hale county, Texas, fatally wounded a year ago on the Lee Pembworth ranch, 50 miles from Fort Stockton, N. Midland Urged To Get in Step

Midland has an opportunity through the West Texas chamber of commerce to have direct representation at A Century of Progress with literature, a miniature exhibit, and its name on a large relief map of West Texas—all at a very nominal cost.

Leon Goodman, local WTCC director, has received from Spencer A. Wells, vice-president of the regional chamber, the details of the offer to the affiliated towns, and has been urged to get Midland's subscription to the plan at once.

The West Texas chamber of commerce has secured space in the Texas exhibit for a West Texas display provided a sufficient number of cities cooperate in the plan which calls for the regional chamber putting up half the cost of the exhibit and literature, affiliated towns putting up the other one-half. An immediate answer is necessary if the regional chamber is to proceed with its plan.

Wells points out that towns affiliated with the regional chamber are the only towns in Texas that will be given direct representation in the Texas exhibit, and that it is available at a ridiculously low price. He is urging directors to secure immediately the necessary funds either from the local chamber of commerce, or from direct solicitation and send them in so that the West Texas exhibit may be ready to go when the Texas exhibit opens on July 25. He must hear from all towns before July 20.

For $40, an affiliated town will get a fourth page write-up in the one hundred fifty thousand West Texas booklets to be distributed at the fair, and will have its name prominently shown on the thirteen foot square relief map of West Texas which will form the main part of the West Texas display. DRIVE TO REPEAL 18TH AMENDMENT MEETS CRUCIAL TEST TODAY WHEN ARKANSAS, ALABAMA CAST BALLOTS

By United Press The drive to repeal the eighteenth amendment underwent its first critical test today as traditionally dry Arkansas and Alabama went to the polls.

Wet victories were predicted, with Arkansas dries having some chance.

Tennessee will vote Thursday. It is conceded that if two of three go wet, repeal will be likely this year. If two go dry, the repeal will be delayed until 1934.

The repeal score to date is 16 states for and none against.

Idaho Farmers See Short Wheat Crop

BOISE, Idaho, (UP)—While wheat prices soared to new highs of several months, Idaho farmers reported possibilities of the shortest crop in several years, G. T. Hudson, marketing specialist, said following a tour of wheat districts.

Extreme cold killed most of the winter wheat and hot, dry winds have caused heavy damage to spring wheat, Hudson said. In the south-eastern section of the state, crops that averaged a total production of 30 million bushels in recent years will be approximately 20,000 bushels.

COTTON PICKING JOBS

Mr. Mapes, former compuncher of Midland who recently went to Odium on the gulf coast, writes the Midland chamber of commerce there is plenty of cotton picking around Odium. Farmers are paying 40 to 50 cents per hundred and the crop is good, according to Maps.

THIRD DEATH IN LITH SHIP IS REPORTED

Post Tired, But Has Covered Most of His Distance

MOSCOW, July 18. (UP)—The state department was today notified by the American embassy at Berlin that a third person was believed killed in the crash of the plane of the Lithuanian team there yesterday. Identity was unreported.

NOVOSIBIRSK, Siberia, July 18. Wiley Post hopped off towards Irkutsk, Siberia, at 9:02 a. m. today, Moscow time (1:02 a. m. E. S. T.), just two hours and 35 minutes after completing a 1,818 mile hop from Moscow.

NOVOSIBIRSK, Siberia, July 18. Wiley Post, who is seeking to better the time for a like journey en set with Harold Gatty in 1931, left Moscow at 5:12 p. m. Monday (9:12 a. m. E. S. T.).

Thus, he flew the 1,818 miles in 13 hours and 15 minutes, at an average speed of about 138 miles an hour as compared to the estimated hour rate of 150 miles he flew on the first ap of his journey from New York to Berlin.

A representative of the Associated Press was talking to officials at the Novosibirsk airport on the telephone, when Post's Winnie Mae swooped down on the field.

"We're expecting him any minute," the attendant said in answer to inquiries about the American flyer.

"Just a second—he's coming down now!"

And at that moment Post was landing, precisely 66 hours and 17 minutes after he had left New York Saturday.

(On his previous flight with Gatty the white and purple Winnie Mae came down at Novosibirsk, 76 hours and 36 minutes after leaving New York.)

MOSCOW, July 18.—Retracing his record-breaking flight across Russia two years ago, Wiley Post, American round-the-world solo flyer who left Moscow late Monday had reached the approximate half way stage of his dash for Novosibirsk, Siberia, late that night.

Nine hours after leaving Moscow he was unreported at any point over the regular commercial airline eastward. Telephone calls to stations as far as Omsk brought the identical response—no word had been received.

It was believed he might have flown so high he would not be signalled.

At 10:30 p. m. Moscow time (2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time) the airport at Kazan over which the Oklahoma aviator was to fly three hours out of Moscow told the Associated Press correspondent by telephone that nothing had been seen or heard of Post in his ship, the Winnie Mae.

At the hour Post should have been in the vicinity of Sverdlovsk, which is about half way between Moscow and Kazan, no word had been received.

Modern Rustlers Are New Problem

POGATELLO, Idaho, (UP)—The machine age has brought another problem into curtailment of cattle rustling in Idaho.

So rapidly are the cattle loaded into trucks and shipped off, that no trace of the rustling is often found, B. W. Henderson, Arimo county brand inspector, declared. As one means of checking brands, he authorized each cattleman the full right to stop trucks loaded with cattle for inspection of brands.

WORLD PARLEY MAY BE DOWN BUT NOT "OUT"

By MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Writer

LONDON.—The World Monetary and Economic Conference has been in session here just over a month. It will have gone through almost a second month before it recesses, about July 27.

Perhaps its greatest accomplishment thus far has been in keeping itself from falling apart. That sound like little enough.

So it really is something after all that the conference remains intact after a month during which many plain words were spoken, several bad squalls weathered, and a vast deal of preliminaries disposed of.

Some tangible results, such as the agreements in wheat and silver, are in sight, and though they are minor parts of the conference's work, they are important enough to affect millions of people.

Three Primary Aims The conference, projected during the Hoover administration, was called under auspices of the League of Nations. The program itself literally filled a book, but its principal aims were these:

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT DOESN'T MEAN RECOVERY HERE

When you look at the figures in the current business revival, you get a picture of a nice bright sunrise which has an ominous fringe of black, thunderous-looking clouds all around it.

The monthly report from the Department of Commerce begins by listing the encouraging factors.

Textile production is higher than at any time since November, 1929. Steel production is the highest in two years. Auto production is likewise above any figure recorded since July, 1931.

So much for the sunrise. Now for the clouds. Employment and payroll gains are lagging behind. Both factory employment and payrolls increased during the last two months, but the May indexes were still below the low level of a year ago.

Furthermore, production is getting ahead of consumption. Many of these industries that are experiencing booms are making more than they are selling.

We get here a set of facts which show in the most decisive way imaginable that our recovery from the depression is not going to be an automatic affair. The time has not come for us to let well enough alone.

When production outruns consumption, when prices rise faster than wages, when the registers of factory activity show greater gains than the unemployment figures, storm signals are flying in no uncertain manner.

All of which, of course, puts everything up to the great experiments now under way at Washington. These schemes for raising wages, keeping retail prices from advancing too fast, increasing employment and regulating production are as vitally necessary now as they were in March.

If we assume that the recent business pickup has made them unimportant, we are riding for the worst fall we have ever had.

ADVICE TO BUSINESS MEN

Every business man in America ought to ponder over the remarks made recently before the Merchant Association of New York by Donald R. Richberg, general counsel for the government's administration.

"There is no choice presented to American business between intelligently planned and controlled industrial operations and a return to the gold-plated anarchy that was masked as 'rugged individualism,'" said Mr. Richberg.

"If the privately-elected boards of directors and the privately-chosen managers of industry undertake their task and fulfill their responsibility, they will end all talk of dictatorships and government control of business. But if they hold back and waste these precious hours, if they take counsel with prejudice and doubt, if they fumble their great opportunity, they may suddenly find that it has gone forever."

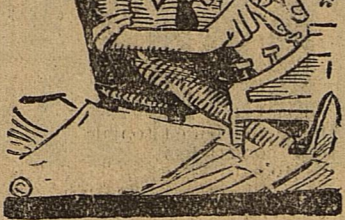

The record-breaking flight of a model airplane, which rose to an altitude of 3000 feet from the same runway on which Colonel Lindbergh began his flight to Paris, stirs the imagination, for it is one more indication of what boys are thinking and doing in 1933.

N. Y. Underworld In State of Flux

By C. C. NICOLET United Press Staff Correspondent The underworld of New York is in a state of flux, revolutionized by the rapid change in status of the liquor trade, but the racketeers go on collecting just the same.

The once profitable illicit beer business is gone, and whiskey has become an over the counter commodity which offers only a meager profit to the revenue collector.

Thus the dependable revenue from alcohol for which the gangs once fought with guns and knives has been eliminated and the "mobs" are at the crossroads. They must increase materially their revenue from rackets, or face extinction.

"If we can get the racketeers on the run they will never come back," says Chief Assistant District Attorney Thomas Kane.

New York is the ideal city, geographically, for the racketeer. Except for the Bronx it is built on islands, and that makes it easy for the underworld robber barons to control the passage ways through which all commodities must come.

In both New Jersey and Pennsylvania the Gordon-Hassel gangs and their allies have succeeded to some extent in putting legal beer on a racketeering basis, and there is ample evidence the New York gangsters are exercising all their influence in the hope of getting money from beer and later from legal hard liquor—if the 18th amendment is repealed.

But the New York beer commission, under the leadership of Edward P. Mulrooney, former New York City police commissioner, has succeeded so far in keeping the quietly," Kane explains. "We try to get the victim before the grand jury before the racketeer knows we are preparing a case. That way we can get his story without having him intimidated first. But the victim almost never makes the complaint. We have to find out about it from some outside source, and go to the victim, and persuade him to tell his story."

With federal action, the racketeer will lose the tremendous advantage that he now has, Kane points out, because of the fact that New York City itself is divided into five counties, each with a different prosecuting organization.

The city's gangs are disrupted by assassination and federal prosecutions are income tax charges.

FOOTBALL LINEUP FOR STATE BEGUN

AUSTIN, (UP)—Seventy-six football players are expected to answer Coach Clyde Littlefield's call for training at the University of Texas Sept. 10.

Low scholastic grades cut nine men from the squad. Graduation took from the lineup of last year's Longhorn eleven Ernie Roy, Harrison Stafford, Hank Clewis, Ox Blanton, and Wilson (Cheese) Cook.

Of the nine men whose names were scratched from the eligibility list for scholastic deficiency, only three were varsity players. They were J. D. Voyles, Austin, an end; Jim Phipps, guard from Waco, and Dan Delaney, Houston halfback.

Russell Allen of Abilene was one of the major freshman candidates ruled ineligible.

Coach Littlefield, however, is sure to develop some new stars from the 76 men to place around Captain Bill Smith, center, Captain Smith's own pupil will be Charles Coates. For the wing positions, Jack Gray and Bernie Rundell are outstanding candidates; at guard, Buck Prejean and Roy Cooleidge; at tackle, Ralph Greer and Arthur Niehuhr.

Behind the line will be Bohn Hilliard, Ronald Fagan, the Irish quarterback, and Osborne Hodges.

District Meetings Schedule Announced

DALLAS, (UP)—Six district meetings sponsored by the East Texas chamber of commerce will be held in the near future for the purpose of considering the national industrial recovery program as it applies to East Texas.

Glen Davis, assistant manager in charge of the chamber's Dallas office, said in announcing the meetings the problem of how East Texas retailers and wholesalers may organize under the recovery act will receive especial attention at the meetings.

The apparent conflict between provisions of the act and the state's anti-trust laws will be studied closely," Davis said, "to determine how East Texas business men may participate in the national program without violating the laws of their state."

A poll of Texas newspapers, considered to be accurate barometers of public opinion in their communities, showed the publications voting 11 to 1, Davis said, for unreserved participation in the administration program, regardless of the effect on national and state anti-trust laws.

The schedule of district meetings: District 1, at Greenville, August 3; District 2, at Mount Pleasant, August 4; District 3, at Nacogdoches, August 10; District 4, at Mexia, August 7; District 5, at Livingston, August 9; District 6 at Navasota, August 8.

Man, 33, Demanded Police Shoot Him

NEW ORLEANS, (UP)—Max Muller, 33, started a group of policemen when he walked into the Third Precinct Station and calmly said: "I want you to shoot me. If you won't do it, give me a gun and let me shoot myself."

Asked why he wanted to kill himself, Muller said: "I'm no good; Hitler's no good. I have nothing to live for."

Novice Bandit Practiced on Man

SEATTLE, (UP)—Arthur Johnson was too surprised to do anything more than hold up his hands when a bandit, apparently a novice at the "racket," held him up.

"I'm a hold-up man," the robber told Johnson, he said, keeping one hand in his pocket as though he had a gun.

With his free hand, the robber tapped Johnson's pockets. But did not reach into them, Johnson said, although he had money and valuable articles.

Completing the "search" the bandit then said, "That will be all," and walked away.

Johnson told police he thought the man was merely "practicing."

TODAY'S RECIPE

French Beef

12 slices cold roast beef
6 slices cold buttered tongue
1 tbsp. horseradish
1 cup tomato sauce
3/4 cup soda crackers, crumbled fine
2 tbsps. butter

Between each two slices of beef put one of tongue. Place on a baking platter, cover with a mixture of the horseradish and tomato sauce. Mix crumbled crackers with butter and spread them over the meat and the sauce. Brown in a hot oven (475 degrees F.) Six portions.

A Turkish towel placed in the bottom of the dishpan or sink will greatly lessen the chances of breaking fragile glasses or chinaware while it is being washed. The glass and china should not be placed in the dishpan until it has been filled with as much water of the desired temperature as you need.

College Star Is Now a Priest

NEW ORLEANS, (UP)—Known to his friends in the sports world as "Bobo," the Rev. Dennis A. Curren, S. J., former football star, amateur yachtsman, and professional baseball player, recently celebrated the first Solemn High Mass of his priesthood, after a study of 13 years.

Curren captained the grid team of Spring Hill college, Mobile, Ala., during his senior year, and pitched the baseball squad, as captain, to a Southern championship in 1919. A number of his co-players during the school days attended the mass.

During a game against former big league stars in Mobile in 1919, Curren shut them out with one hit and 18 strikeouts. Charlie Barrett, St. Louis Cards scout, saw the game and shortly afterward young Curren was signed up with the Cards and farmed out to Houston, in the Texas league.

It was in 1921 that he entered the novitiate of the Society of Jesus, in Macon, Ga., continuing his study at Grand Coteau, La.; Spokane, Wash.; St. Louis, and St. Mary's, Kan.

Venus, Jupiter Are About to Fall in Love—Astronomer

SAN ANGELO—Venus and Jupiter are about to have a love affair.

Now, Venus is the brightest of the planets, the goddess of bloom and beauty, while Jupiter is the god of the heavens—largest of the planets and second brightest—so the "affair" should prove quite interesting, says Oscar Ruffini, San Angelo astronomer.

Just at present, however, Venus is a bashful little girl. She comes up over in the lower northwestern sky at about 8:15 o'clock each evening and retires an hour or so later. However, as the month goes on she will stay out later and will gradually come closer and closer to the old man Jupiter (he's way up there in the western heaven) until about the 17th of August she will be "sitting on his lap." Or, at least, it will so look to the folks of West Texas.

As a matter of fact, the two planets will be nowhere near each other. Jupiter is millions of miles farther from the sun than is Venus. But because they will be in almost a straight line from the earth Venus will have the appearance of being in Jupiter's lap.

Thus, the heavenly bodies have no privacy in their love affairs. Astronomers are able to tell years in advance just when a "flirtation" will begin and end—and how it will end. Sometimes the folks on earth can't foresee for themselves.

Ruffini—whose hobby is the stars—opines that Venus is one of the old-fashioned flappers—but a flapper none the less. She is making coy advances to Jupiter right now and it won't be long until she will be in his company. However, it may be many a year until the two will meet again, as the rotation of each of these planets as well as our own, about the sun is different and the arrangement which they will be in August 17 does not happen very often.

But back to Venus. Ruffini has another reason for calling her old-fashioned. That is that she always wears plenty of clothing. This clothing is in the form of vapor or clouds which have obscured details of the planet even from the most powerful telescopes so well that the time of her rotation has never yet been determined. Scientists are working on larger and more powerful scopes, however, and may still get a good look at her.

Merriment, Noise—That's Paris at the Century of Progress

CHICAGO—Nowhere, even in this center of gaiety—the Chicago World's fair, A Century of Progress—does the spirit of merriment and camaraderie appear more spontaneously than in the Streets of Paris.

In endless procession sightseers flock into the great canvas liner that is to spirit them, figuratively, to the land of romance a few of them have seen and all want to see.

Boo-o-om! The whistle blows its deep, irresistible welcome, and in they come. Up the gangplank—by the hundreds, by the thousands.

They came for a World's fair, but they won't go home without seeing Paris.

City of gaiety, ancient, ever-new, happy and tragic, brilliant, shadowed. As bright as it's painted? They mean to find out.

Boo-o-om! They are in Paris! Up the companionway, through the hatch into Paris.

By the hundreds, the thousands. Laughing, some knowingly, some to hide tremors. Sophisticates are interested, the naive feign boredom.

Flower-girls greet them; cigarette girls, with shapely legs twinkling in sheers' chiffon.

Boo-o-om! They are in Paris! There's Harry New York bar. Beer has come back with a vengeance.

But it never left Paris. Steins on the bar, and steins on the tables. Steins in the air, foam dripping in jewels. Barmaids in sweaters, short skirts and berets. A trio with voices forgotten, but spirits undying, grinds out the songs as the customers name them. A pale piano player cocks a brown derby, a limp cigarette almost burns his lips.

Into the street again. Shops without number cry out their wares. Silhouettes while you wait! French dolls in their squires with exuberant gyrations! Curios, novelties, "direct from Montmartre."

The Cafe de la Paix, a huge amphitheatre, seething with motion swells with the laughter of diners and dancers. Spotlights and flood lights, choruses, waiters flit through the merriment of a giant kaleidoscope.

Out in the streets sound the harsh cries of barkers.

"Life class! Live models! You can't be Parisian till you've learned how to draw them!" In they pour, laughing, to a room like a garret. No furniture, air stagnant, wood boxes to sit on. They take charcoal and paper, and a bearded director cauls in the model. Women, who make up the bulk of the "students," light cigarettes to appear unaffected. Baldheaded bankers chuckle and scribble. One pupil takes hardly a glance at the model, yet finishes his sketch before any of the others.

"Drew it from memory," he tells the director. Blonde models, brunette models, alternate posing. Students draw roosters, dogs, cartoons, whatever doesn't enter their heads at the moment.

Out they pour, intimate, joshing one another, elbowing into the Rue de la Paix and the hubbub.

Fortune-tellers, palm readers, mystics, fakirs and vendors pitch their shrill voices to rise over the clamor of general commotion.

In the Red Mill cafe are shopgirls and working-men swaying in rhythm with celebrities and highbrows. Red-checked tablecloths cover the tables. The atmosphere is pregnant with the blatant noise of orchestral torch music.

The avenue deposits its hundreds of funmakers on a board walk along Lake Michigan. Under the moon it might be a promenade on the banks of the Seine. A merry-go-round bar slowly revolves with its load of humanity, thirsty and noisy.

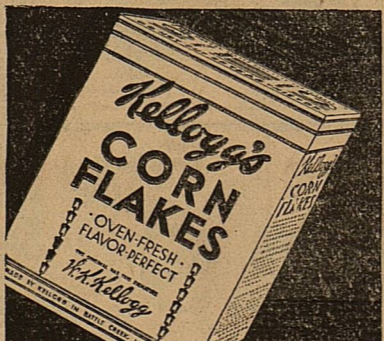

All streets lead eventually back to the Cafe de la Paix, where divers, bathed in white floodlight, cleave the night in double jackknives and graceful swans, expertly breaking the waters of the pool amid the dining tables.

Boo-o-om! The whistle reminds World's fair sightseers that time still goes on, even in mythical Paris!

Boo-o-om! Still they pour in, by the hundreds, the thousands. They have to see Paris!

In 1922 8,484,000 standard cases of salmon were canned; a case consists of 48 one-pound cans.

I learned about "Toasting" from my husband

I used to think that "Toasting" was just an advertising phrase. But one day my husband explained to me what "Toasting" is—and what it does. Where he learned it all, I don't know, but I began to understand the difference in cigarettes. Now I find myself enjoying Luckies' mildness and fine taste with a new respect. But even more—since I am a woman quite sensitive to personal daintiness—and since my cigarette and my lips are so intimately related, I especially appreciate the comforting purity of "Toasting". Naturally, with me it's always "Luckies Please!"

MIDLAND MOUNDSMEN AND BATSMEN GIVE RED SHIRTS LESSON

SERIES TO END IN GAME TONIGHT; DANCE LATER

True to promise, Doc Ellis' Indians romped away with a lead in the playground ball series that brought Stamford here Monday for a two-night engagement, his club checking in with a 16-6 margin.

The Indians outdid the visitors 18-6, getting off to a 4-1 lead in the first inning, being tied in the second, but scoring five in the third to pull out of danger. From there out, Stamford could get only two runs, while Midland scored seven.

In the third inning, Branch, second baseman for Midland, hit a home run with two on ahead, W. Whitmire got a triple, double and walk, and three runs, out of three hits.

In the six innings he worked, Straughan struck out seven, giving up four runs and five hits. In the three innings Lewellen pitched, he struck out two and gave up two runs and one hit.

Stamford has a fast club, but lacked pitching strength. The Owens brothers look like the best Stamford had on the field. B. Owens leading the hitting for the invading Red Shirts.

Due to rain, the game could not begin until 10 o'clock. The ground was drained after the last shower, and the diamond was remarkably fast.

The clubs play again tonight, after which a dance will be staged on the Thomas tennis court. The Stamford club will be guests of the Indians at the affair. Frenchy's orchestra will play during tonight's game, which begins at 8 o'clock.

SHARKEY HITS FUTILE TRAIL OF EX-CHAMPS

By WERNER LAUFER
NEA Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK.—In the belief that it was his own year's idleness rather than the upstart of Primo Carnera that took away his championship, Jack Sharkey has set out on the trail nearly all the ex-champions trod before him. But it is a trail that, for men past 30, leads nowhere.

In signing of a fight with King Levinsky in September in Chicago, Sharkey is expressing the conviction that he can come back, that he was trained for only a short fight against Primo and that he still can outbox most of the heavyweight stumblers extant—with profit.

There is much to be said from Sharkey's angle. He was ahead of Primo on points until that sixth round when a short right hand exploded on his chin. In two of the rounds he had made a show of the big fellow.

He fought a good fight, a game fight if not an exceedingly smart one, and went down punching, as a champion should.

Sharkey should beat the wild-swinging Levinsky. The Kingfish is a rugged battler, but over the ten-round route, Sharkey should be able to win by sheer boxing ability alone.

The Carnera fight has him what he will have to do in the way of training for this one.

After that the Boston sailor wants another crack at Tommy Loughran. He is sure he can beat Tommy, who also is beginning to show the effects of age and the wars.

Those two fights will let Sharkey know exactly where he stands as to physical condition. He can't win from him, Sharkey probably will hang up the gloves for good.

It would be entirely in keeping with the make-up of the ex-champion if he should begin now to fight calmly and seriously, keeping those jittery emotions of his under control.

All his fights have been surprising. Even the grim and uncomplaining struggle he waged against Carnera was not the sort of thing the ring-siders had expected of him.

Those who backed him to win looked for a fight in which Sharkey would peek and retreat.

Instead he stood and traded punches with a younger man, who had something like a 50-pound advantage in weight.

But then there is this against the Sharkey man. The chronicles of the ring are full of the pathetic stories of ex-champions who tried to come back and who found it a vain pursuit.

They can't come back.

El Paso Brothers Are Tennis Stars

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—They wanted to play football, but their dad said no, and so the Ball brothers, George and Russell, bought a tennis racket and started the long climb toward national ranking.

That was four years ago, before George, the older of the pair, decided definitely that he wanted to be a

Moscow Stores Much Foodstuff

MOSCOW. (UP)—Distinct improvements in the availability of foodstuffs and clothes are apparent in the Soviet capital and in many other large cities.

This, coupled with a natural lessening of the living conditions as summer approaches, has put Moscow in a more cheerful mood.

Optimistic reports on spring sowings, the opening of many new commercial shops, and letting in animals, all contributed toward cheerfulness.

A tour of shops here disclosed larger stocks of goods than a year, or even six months ago. Most had a brisk, businesslike air, in contrast with the depressing character of the places a few months ago.

The appearance of new goods, however, does not mean that distress is ended. The portion of Moscow's population able to avail itself of the change is extremely small. Prices are at a level which only the best-paid engineers, specialists, writers drawing royalties, can afford.

The mass of the population must depend on their rations, on the meats provided by their factories, schools, and offices, with only an occasional supplementary purchase at the free market or commercial shop prices.

Dallas Sailors Gain Recognition

DALLAS. (UP)—Two Dallas sailors, neither of whom follows his sport on the deep sea, have won highly commendable competitive honors in the Snipe International Yachting association.

Maurice Martin, snipe boat sailor and his one-man crew, Dee Mouth, won the Minnetonka trophy for the 1932-33 season when he scored 386½ points out of a possible 400 in races against boats in all parts of the country.

Dr. Hub Isaacks is commodore of the Snipe International Yachting association. He is head of the Dallas Sailing club, an organization which includes 50 ships of different sizes and build.

Martin raced in the telegraphic meet of the Snipe boat organization, nine times on White Rock lake, northeast of Dallas. The trophy, awarded by the Minnetonka Boat company, will remain in his possession for one year after which it will become the permanent possession of the Dallas man.

Dr. Isaacks received his sailing training before the mast on a Gulf coast trader. He sailed two years as a seaman on a small sailing boat which carried freight in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Dallas sailing club entry in the Minnetonka races competed against sailors in all parts of the United States. More than 300 snipe boats entered in the races, held on almost that many bodies of water.

The International club which the Dallas doctor heads has members in all parts of the United States and in foreign countries, including Australia, South and Central America, Europe and in Asia.

Officer Aided in Finding Own Car

SELMA, Cal. (UP)—L. J. Price of Selma is no mean officer himself. The other night, he was driving home with friends after attending a theatre in Fresno, where his automobile was stolen. On the way his own automobile passed them.

Price stopped at a service station, asked the attendant to notify police down the highway, and then chased his car and three occupants into the arms of Constable Elmer T. York.

Heat Caused Main Street to Buckle

SAYRE, Pa. (UP)—This town has a hot weather story all of its own. While older Pennsylvania cities and communities were boasting of high temperatures, workers here were busy repairing a stretch of the street that had buckled under the blistering sun.

Intense heat caused a heave in the pavement on Main street about 10 feet long, three feet wide and about seven inches high.

RE-ESTABLISHED

MERIDEN, Conn. (UP)—For the first time since the establishment of the Connecticut School for Boys, more than 80 years ago, commencement exercises were held recently. A class of 35 were awarded certificates in vocational training work. The present educational system at the school was established a year ago.

The school was founded by the minister, while his brother elected law for his life's work.

Three years ago their father, W. H. Ball, an instructor at the Texas College of Mines, bought them membership in the El Paso Tennis club. They profited by the experience on the faster courts. Their instructors—just the snappy racketeers of the club, no pros—watched them improve. They became too proficient for the older heads, who became less critical and more inclined to applaud as the Balls rounded into net stars.

The Missouri Valley A. A. U. tournament was a A. U. tournament for the young tennis players. They persuaded their father into sending them to Fort Smith, Ark., for the play.

They were entered in the junior events. They won. Now they seek bigger game, faster courts and faster company. Experts predict success for them.

PREHISTORIC BONES FOUND

GEORGETOWN, Texas. (UP)—A tooth and leg bone of prehistoric animals that lived during the ice age, have been dug from a gravel pit on the banks of the San Gabriel river near here. The leg bone is believed to be that of a prehistoric horse. The highly crystallized structures were sent to Texas A. & M. college.

NEW DEAL FOR COACHES FARE TECH OFFERING

LUBBOCK.—The "New Deal" for athletic coaches will be found at Lubbock, Texas, this summer when the third annual Texas Tech Coaching school opens July 31 with another "All American" coaching staff, consisting of twelve of the leading coaches of football, track, basketball, boxing, wrestling and other sports.

Harry Kipke, Michigan; Andy Kerr, Colgate; Noble Kizer, Purdue; Bernie Bierman, Minnesota; M. J. "Clipper" Smith, Santa Clara; and Ed "Rip" Miller, Navy, make up the short punt system, double and single wing back system, Notre Dame system, line play from every angle of the gridiron.

Twenty-five dollars covers the total cost of the school and local hotels have issued extremely low rates to the coaches including complimentary rooms for the wives.

Horse back riding, rodeos, barbecues, boxing matches, "bull sessions," swimming, golfing, dancing, bridge and teas for the ladies, and other entertainment will be mixed in the two weeks program.

Registrations already in hand indicate at least 350 coaches will attend and the record figure of 473 that attended last year may again be obtained. Head Coach Pete W. Cawthon of Texas Tech, has announced. Among the advance registrants are coaches from practically every state in the nation including a coach from Toronto, Canada, ten from the city of Chicago, and one from Massachusetts.

Basketball at the two weeks school will be handled by Craig Ruy, Illinois, while Clyde Littlefield, Texas, will handle track and intramural sports.

"Doc" Sprague will handle the treatment of injuries and Major John L. Griffith, Commissioner of Western Conference Athletics, will be on hand to discuss administration and organization of athletics.

Ed Gallagher, Oklahoma A. & M., will handle wrestling and physical education, and C. M. Woodbury, New Mexico Military Institute, will handle boxing.

Athletic coaches from all ranks will attend the school. A number of winning university and college coaches who rank with those on the staff for the school will come here for the contacts and exchange of ideas, while high school coaches, junior and senior college coaches, and others will be on hand along with a few ace players who will accompany their coaches.

On top of the wealth of information obtainable at the school, the climate here, due to the altitude, 3251 feet, offers a delightful retreat from the hotter sections of the nation.

As in practically all coaching schools, football training will predominate. Kipke will handle the short punt system, Kerr will handle the double wing back system, while Bierman will discuss and demonstrate the single wing back system. The Notre Dame system made famous by the late Knute K. Rockne, will be handled by Noble Kizer, with M. J. "Clipper" Smith handling the Notre Dame guard play and Ed "Rip" Miller handling the Notre Dame line play.

Questions will be welcomed by all staff instructors and special problems and special plays will be dealt with freely. Coach Cawthon has announced.

Total operating revenue decreased $7,190,091 for the comparative period. Operating expenses for the four months period of 1932 totaled $33,114,420, as compared to $28,123,957 for the corresponding period this year.

Pecos to Have New State Park

PECOS. (UP)—Creation of a state park around Toyah-lake, 10 miles south of Pecos, with labor furnished by the Civilian Conservation Corps is the goal of Pecos as a result of preliminary plans for such a recreation spot as drawn by A. H. Dunlap, member of the state board of water engineers.

Mr. Dunlap believes that the lake's water level can be raised by a dam, thus giving sufficient water to allow boating and making it profitable to stock the body of water with fish. Then he believes the conservation corps could plant trees, build roads and in other ways develop a resort area.

Toyah lake is a giant drainage basin into which run overflow waters from the mountains during the rainy seasons. Due to improper drainage most of the year the lake is marshy and alkaline.

Two separate plans call for a general revision of the dock layout. The work will mark the first major improvement to be undertaken by the port commission during the present year.

Warehousing space will be increased and facilities installed for more efficient discharging and loading of vessels.

Man Uninjured as Piano Fell on Head

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP)—This city's hardest head has been found. Stanley Corus tripped and fell when attempting to move a piano into his house. The piano fell on his head.

Half a dozen neighbors finally lifted the piano off and took Corus to the hospital. There he was treated for minor bruises and a headache.

"I would like to say if any of my folks from Oregon should come and want some of my things in my house they are welcome to them, because they don't want any of my money, as they have plenty, I would like them to have something to remember me by," was the provision of the will.

The will was presented for probate by Emma Desenis, of Forest Park, Ill., a sister of the deceased woman.

This Farmer Should Have Tossed a Coin

SWEETWATER.—Lon Green of Sweetwater, found himself in a predicament when hi-jackers demanded him to "stick 'em up."

That was bad enough, with the prospects of being robbed, but if he turned loose of the reins he faced more trouble—because he was driving a pair of wild mules!

He was driving into town with a wagon when a couple of men drove alongside the wagon in a 1929 green Chevrolet and ordered him to "stick 'em up."

"I can't do it," Green replied. "I've got a pair of wild mules." But seeing the hi-jacking pair really meant business, managed to hold his arms into the air, still holding onto the reins.

One of the occupants of the car climbed into the wagon and reached into Green's pocket, finding a purse which he took and got back into the car. His companion drove away. The purse contained $13.

Green came on into town and bought a few supplies with the $3 the robber overlooked in a watch pocket.

Fisherman Angled From Closed Auto

ABERDEEN, Wash. (UP).—Oscar Smith and Chester Young are convinced that "indoor" fishing has it all over the outdoor system.

While seeking cover in their car from a heavy rain, Young decided to drive the machine onto a bridge over the river and try fishing from the windows of the car and tossed their lines out. Result: eleven catches, including a 24-inch trout, which Smith was forced to get out of the car to land.

NORMAN, Okla. (UP).—The theory that the male of the species is harder than the female received a blow here when the infirmary of the University of Oklahoma released its annual report.

Of 1,141 students admitted during the year, 700 were men and only 441 were co-eds. Two hundred and thirty-one men had succumbed to influenza while only 141 co-eds fell.

Night schools were first successfully established in this country at the middle of the 19th century.

2. General reduction of tariffs, or at least agreements, not to raise them any more.

3. Means to raise prices in unison all over the world.

The conference opened June 12 in the Hall of Possibilities at the Geological museum and King George delivered an obviously sincere speech in French and English, concluding, "I pray that the results of your labors will be for the benefit of the world."

Then Ramsay MacDonald, keynote speaker through his presidency of the conference, spoke in English.

Debits Brought Crisis. The June 15 installment due the United States on these debts brought the subject to a focus.

Continental countries like France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Holland, which produce no silver, naturally gravitated into a bloc against making silver legal money or tampering with the gold standard.

France, fresh from an 80 per cent devaluation, and Germany, fresh from one of 100 per cent, wanted no more of that, and resented the action of the United States in cutting the dollar loose from gold and letting it drift.

Rumors Embarrassing. James Cox, American delegate, was chosen head of the monetary committee after a brush with the French.

Then rumors began to filter down to the 200 or more newspapermen and wire operators who buzzed like flies about the conference sessions.

France was supposed to be about to quit the conference cold because of failure to act on stabilization.

Raymond Moley, confidential agent of President Roosevelt, hurriedly conferred with the president and sailed for Europe.

Meanwhile Cox was closeted with French Finance Minister Georges Bonnet. He persuaded him not to go away just yet.

The Roosevelt Bomb. A direct message from President Roosevelt created the next sensation.

But discussions of a subcommittee on making rules for the conduct of central banks were then suddenly interrupted by word that the Federal Reserve bank of the United States were not ready to discuss making such rules.

As the conference goes into its second month, there is a general feeling that a recess until fall would be beneficial.

England has an estimated total of 40,000,000 beds.

Wiley Post

Moscow and Novosibirsk. Before leaving here Post said that he hoped to reach Novosibirsk in ten hours and a half.

Ahead of Record. On arriving at Moscow from Keonigsberg, Post was four hours and 24 minutes ahead of the schedule which he and Harold Gatty set in the same plane in 1931.

Weather conditions were said to be extremely favorable for Post on the Moscow-Novosibirsk leg of his journey.

Robot Disappointing. Although swaying with weariness when he stepped out of his ship, Post refused to take any sleep but he did make use of his stop here to visit a barber shop for the removal of two days growth of whiskers.

His robot pilot, Post asserted, had been a big disappointment, making such difficulties that he had been required to steer the ship manually all the way from New York.

Post blamed his mechanical copilot for a deviation of 100 miles off his course between Keonigsberg and Moscow, and it was because of faulty steering by the robot, he said, that he landed at the east Prussian capital.

When he hopped off the American aviator was of the opinion that both the robot trouble and the leaky gasoline feed had been remedied.

Brown, Rhine county, Texas, deputy, in January when he took two men and a woman to his office for investigation.

Linked with Crimes. Hunsucker was believed by authorities to be directly linked in the deaths of Mosley and Jones, and Peberworth, with whom Hunsucker was indicted in the Olson robbery.

On approaching the campsite of the two men, the officers found themselves in the direct line of fire from the outlaw's guns.

Jones fell on the first exchange of shots and Hunsucker's death came soon afterwards. Stanton, a long hunting partner of Jones, was the officer and escaped on foot.

But the proposals to limit wheat production or certainly export, seem near agreement, and some progress has been made on Senator Key Pittman's plan for an agreement on a revamped gold standard which should have a stable relationship to silver, and currencies which should have a defined relationship to the stocks of both metals.

Ask Patrons to Select Fair Show

DALLAS.—Preferences being sent to the State Fair of Texas officials from all parts of the state for selection of a third opera to be presented in the auditorium during the 1933 exposition, show a strong tendency for "Floradora," it has been announced here by Otto Herold, president.

Two Shubert operettas, "Bitter Sweet," and "Nina Rosa," have already been selected, and patrons of the auditorium have been asked to cast a preference for a third production.

The State Fair season will be opened in the auditorium with "Bitter Sweet," which will be followed by "Nina Rosa," the third opera, which is now being selected will close the season.

Officials of the State Fair have worked out a schedule whereby season tickets will be sold at bargain prices for all three productions.

In selecting "Bitter Sweet," and "Nina Rosa," State Fair officials selected the two most sensational operettas of recent years.

"Nina Rosa," is from the pen of Sigmond Romberg, and is said to be his best work. It is an opera of South American life, and portrays all of the glamour, color, and romance of the gaucho country.

Sleepless Hollow Estate Funniest In Whole Country

NEW YORK.—Joe Cook, as nearly everybody knows, is a delightful idiot on the stage, and is remembered chiefly for the ponderous and inflated contraptions he uses to accomplish things of very little importance.

Mr. Cook was leading an orchestra and well in advance of a necessary cymbal crash he tapped a slumbering archer. The latter shot an arrow at an ape in a cocoanut tree; the ape dropped a cocoanut on a pensive huntsman, who discharged his rifle, which frightened a big negro off a teeter board, allowing a little negro to land heavily on the foot of a stout gentleman who took a swipe with his cane—and so on and so on.

However, only those people fortunate enough to be invited to Mr. Cook's estate at Lake Hopatcong, N. J., realize that this great gaddabout is quite as mad off stage as on it.

At the door you are met by a butler who ceremoniously takes your things and then walks over and throws them out a window. Pretty soon this same butler comes in with cocktails. He will take one and say, "Here's mud in your eye you old so-and-so," and toss it off.

For Thirsty Guests. The cocktail shaker itself is a clever contrivance, with the shaker taking the place of a punching bag on one of those upright spring stands. You hit it a clip and it jiggles.

In this same basement is the famous collection of "objects no larger than a man's hand." Thousands of them, literally, and many suspended from the ceiling. It's very seldom that anybody can name anything no larger than a man's hand that was included in the collection.

The Sleepless Hollow golf course is something to write home about. The tee for hole one is on top of a forty-foot water tower and the green for the same is on a tiny island in a pool.

It's a "Hard" Green. The Sleepless Hollow golf course is something to write home about. The tee for hole one is on top of a forty-foot water tower and the green for the same is on a tiny island in a pool.

in-One certificate. These and other things, such as a telephone that spouts water when the receiver is lifted, are products of the genius of Mr. Cook and his No. 1 stage, Dave Chasman. Of late, however, they have spent all their time figuring out a contraption for their new show, "Hunky Dory." It will involve a marvelous sequence of violent events, culminating in a load of ashes being dropped on Mr. Chasman, who will wake up and start tinkling a triangle.

DETROIT GANGS PLAN INCREASE IN PLUNDERING

By C. C. NICOLET United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1933, United Press) Detroit has proved a metropolis can exist in America without kidnappings, payroll holdups, bank robberies and kindred crimes of the organized underworld, but the racketeers are as busy there as elsewhere.

Since the fall of 1930, when vigorous prosecution broke up the old "Purple Gang," Wayne county has been free from the kidnaping terror and from major thefts of the marauding gang type.

The profits from racketeering, which amounted in the wealthy motor city to $5,000,000 or more a year in the boom days, have dropped to a $500,000-a-year pace now, but with the revival of business the racketeers are stepping up their demands.

Harry S. Toy, prosecuting attorney, discovered the beginnings of the racket boom early in June. At his request, a one-man grand jury was called into session and investigations were begun. The one-man grand jury went into session June 5. On June 9 the first warrant resulted, and on June 26 Alexander C. Davis was convicted of attempted extortion against shoe repair men.

The one-man grand jury uncovered within a month a racket in federal building contracts; a waste paper racket; an attempt to obtain a monopoly on distribution of legal beer; a new cleaning and dyeing extortion scheme; an arson racket and attempts of racketeers to corrupt legislators.

The depression brought many new rackets into existence in Detroit. Cleaners who refuse to pay demanded fees to "protective associations" attacked in subtle fashion. The racketeer sews discs of phosphorus into the padding of the shoulders of a coat and sends it to the victim to be cleaned. In the heat of the drying tumbler, the phosphorus ignites, and dozens of suits and dresses may be ruined.

But violent crime has dropped amazingly in Detroit, considering that in the boom days when the city was mushrooming into millions it was as gangster-ridden as Chicago. Detroit was the home town of the Purple Gang which made a world history here. It started as a

Machinery Wins in Italy's Wheat War

ROME. (UP)—The victory of the Fascist government in the campaign for more wheat launched eight years ago, has made new farmers and introduced fresh farming methods for Italian lands. The local farmer believes in machinery for the first time in his life.

Last year's crop, amounting to 75,150,000 quintals of wheat, except for 10,000,000 quintals more of foreign "soft" and "hard" required for making proper macaroni, has made the country self-supporting in this essential food for the first time on record.

Last year's wheat yield was 4,356,000 quintals above 1929's crop when the highest mark, it was then thought, had been reached. Highly perfected methods, both technical and scientific, are in common use today on Italian farmsteads.

After eight years of intensive government propaganda, farmers know today that before worrying about inclement weather conditions they must choose the best quality in seeds. Also that fertilizers really are efficient when bad weather prevails and sowings must take place at the right moment. All kinds of modern mechanized farming implements are no longer looked upon as fancy.

Dirty Dishes Caused Man to Seek Divorce

TWIN FALLS, Idaho. (UP)—Dirty dishes and no breakfasts were more than Orville Cherry could stand and he filed suit for divorce.

His matrimonial adventure struck rocks early in his married life, Cherry told the court, when his wife refused to get up to fix his breakfast each morning. The real obstacle came, however, in her refusal to wash dishes.

Sparrows sold for as high as $1 apiece at one time.

Lincoln Shrine Is Plan of Illinois

MT. PULASKI, Ill. (UP)—Plans for making a Lincoln shrine out of the old Logan county court house, located on the public square here, are being formulated by a group of local residents.

Lincoln practiced law as a circuit rider in this old brick structure in the days before he became famous. The Postville court house also made famous as a place in which Lincoln pleaded his cases was purchased several years ago by Henry Ford and moved in its entirety to his Dearborn village near Detroit.
