

LIBERTY LOAN DEVALUATION IS HALTED

EMPLOYERS BY THOUSANDS IN DRIVE SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, July 28.—In thick ranks, employers by the thousands were falling into the ranks of the blue-eagle banner in the national recovery administration, pledged to raise pay and shorten working hours.

Messages that came in bundles from postmasters over the land related to the administration the story of willingness to cooperate with President Roosevelt that employers had written at the bottom of contracts today.

They told of a hurry to sign and to return the agreements in order that names might quickly be placed on the roll of honor that will go up in the postoffices, of lines of business men waiting impatiently at post office windows to sign, of other employers typewriting the agreements from published texts because their copies had not arrived.

Even while this response to the emergency re-employment effort of his administration was being heard, Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator, winged away on a sudden flight to Detroit in an army plane to confer with automobile manufacturers.

There he hoped to spur the drafting of a code by the group which announced an increased wage for all workers but left still in doubt the time of submitting a formal code for the industry.

The administrator had expected to return today. Donald R. Richberg, the chief counsel, and Thomas S. Hammond, the code interpreter, sought to clarify the agreement so that all might know exactly what they were signing.

Queries have piled up since the issuance of the text of the agreement and of the more than 15,000 pledges of cooperation received by President Roosevelt in the last few days. Many indicated they did not understand just what was expected.

Despite these doubts, however, officials forecast a response to the appeal would provide millions of jobs before Labor day for those now on the streets in idleness.

To drive the intent of the campaign home to every person the publicity section of the administration was beginning to distribute 70,000,000 pieces of printed matter, each bearing the blue eagle insignia, and more than 13,000 organizations over the country were planning the most intensive campaign for public support since the liberty loan drives during the World war.

Directing this movement was Charles F. Horne of Kansas City, the key man of the war appeals.

Midland Given New Publicity Because of its leadership in the cattle industry, Midland was given excellent publicity this past week through a nationally recognized newspaper publication, the Gas Age Record, H. W. Springborn, managing editor, with editorial and executive offices 9E 38th St., New York.

The paper carried a photograph of the interior of the one picture studio, a still picture showing cattle-brand drawings, and letters, which are a part of the collection of brand drawings belonging to Marion F. Peters, office manager.

Ft. Worth Negro Admits Slaying Couple Sunday

FORT WORTH, July 28. (UP).—Murder charges have been filed against Frederick Simmons, 22-year-old negro, who officers said confessed to the slaying of A. S. Michael of Fort Worth and Geneva Cantrell, 19, of Okmulee last Sunday night.

The officers reported that the negro confessed that he shot the couple in the backs of their heads and then assaulted the girl.

There have been received so far about 10,000 loan applications, with about 400 application blanks being mailed daily.

Rotarians Fling Barbecue, but No Talking Allowed

Observing the annual tradition of the Rotary club to fete incoming officers with a barbecue "but no talk," 85 Roters, their wives and children met at Overdale Thursday evening for a picnic.

Impromptu relay races in three classes—for club members, wives and children—were held. J. E. Hill and Percy J. Mims prepared the food.

"We let incoming officers eat all they like—but don't let 'em make speeches," one member of the committee on preparation said.

Service Clubs Are Behind Act

The national recovery administration is depending on the Rotary and other service clubs to facilitate operation of its machinery, according to John P. Howe, president of the Midland club.

Howe said that when the presidents and secretaries of Rotary clubs met at Wichita Falls last week the group went on record unanimously in favor of early and unceasing support.

He was arrested at Shomac today and placed in jail here, where he remained until the arrival of department of justice agents who returned him to Oklahoma City.

When taken into custody, Blythe had in his possession a flashlight, a roll of bills and several pairs of new trousers, Iowa, where Marvin (Doc) Barrow was critically wounded and captured.

Clyde Barrow and his woman companion, Bonnie Parker, of Dallas, Texas, still are at large. The woman is reported to be seriously wounded.

INDIANS EXPECT TO WIN SUNDAY

In an effort to stem the tide of continuous defeats that has kept the club in hot water up to its neck all season, the Indians will have a full Sunday afternoon a club that has not been seen here, the Crane team.

This team is estimated to be on a par with the Indians so far as club strength is concerned—which should insure a tight game.

Sammy Timmons will pitch for Midland and Woody catch. Spot Forney, former Midland hurler, will take the mound for the Cranes, and Wright will receive. Leslie Stevens will rejoin the club after a vacation and one of the "Whitney" boys will pitch.

The field is in good condition, having been worked several times following the rain. The Indians hold their last workout this afternoon.

MANCHOUKUO REAL STATE, SAYS JAPAN

HSINKING, Manchoukuo, (UP).—Japan already has succeeded in the first stage of her effort in Manchuria. Manchoukuo is a real state—entitled to a place in the family of nations.

That is Japan's view of the present situation in Manchuria. Manchoukuo is a "puppet" of the Japanese army. Its officials are figureheads, as a state it rests purely on the sword and the bayonet.

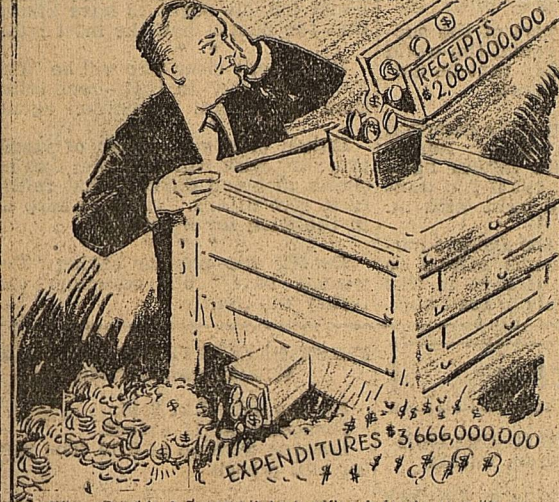

That is the general Chinese view of Manchuria today. In State of Flux Manchuria is in a state of flux. It will be years before any prediction as to the future of the state can be made.

That is the opinion of a small but highly intelligent group of Chinese, Japanese and Occidental observers. It is all but impossible to get accurate information about the broader trends in Manchuria. Experts disagree, fact are in agreement.

The New Deal in Pictures --- No. 2

Text by John M. Gleissner Sketches by Don Lavin

When President Roosevelt took office federal expenditures far exceeded revenues, and the government faced huge deficits. The president, in asking economy legislation, pointed out the danger of destroying government credit should the budget remain unbalanced.

Congress authorized the president to cut large sums from expenditures for veterans, and set up a new and reduced system of pensions, designed to save $460,000,000. This provoked a bitter protest from veterans throughout the country, although the president tried to protect war-injured.

The president ordered a re-survey and suggested that Congress restore some benefits, but not as many as Congress demanded. A long struggle ensued, which was ended by compromise, correcting some admitted injustices in the past and making it more liberal than the president had asked. Veterans injured in actual combat were fully protected.

Congress also voted salary reductions of 15 per cent throughout the federal establishments, authorized consolidation of bureaus, and compulsory retirement and furloughs. NEXT: Beer Comes Back.

Pet Bear Sends CCC Boys Running For Their Lives

FORT DAVIS.—This little mile-high mountain town is chuckling over its latest bear story.

About eight months ago a pet bear belonging to Mac Sproul, the noted bear and panther hunter, escaped from its main pen and took to the woods. The other Sunday it came prowling down out of the mountains again, perhaps hoping for an apple or some cabbage leaves.

One was related by Capt. Stewart D. Campbell, of the adjutant general's office at Washington, D. C.

While casting into the Yellowstone river, Campbell hooked a 10-inch trout. He tossed it back into the river, declaring that it was too small.

On his next cast the trout followed the line back and flopped up on the bank at his feet. The captain tossed the trout back. The fish repeated the performance.

This time Campbell was discouraged. "Sucker," he growled, and hurled the fish into mid-stream. Evidently the fish could not find its way back and saved the idea.

A Seattle, Wash., policeman became doubtful about the saying, "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

Officer I. A. Clark was using a 300-foot line, weighted with lead, in his attempt to catch a big one. He whirled the weighted line about his head and cast.

NRA MARSHALS NATION'S WAR-TIME SPIRIT IN A PEACE-TIME CAMPAIGN TO BREAK DEPRESSION'S BACKBONE

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Dust off your old wartime spirit! The NRA is going over the top to chase the Huns of depression.

Remember the Liberty Loan Drives—the meatless days and the gasless Sundays? Well, here's Uncle Sam again, asking each one of us—125,000,000 of us—to do his bit in the nation's unprecedented attempt to bring back prosperity by increasing buying power.

The other effort was a mere war. This one is the most ambitious economic experiment in history since Russia's revolution. It is designed to put 6,000,000 persons back to work by Labor day.

The men who promoted and put over the Liberty Loan drives have returned to Washington. They describe themselves as "sales managers of the New Deal." They will hurl the gospel of recovery at us through every avenue of publicity and every vehicle of public opinion.

Such an employer—your local merchant, for instance—will have signed President Roosevelt's blanket agreement providing a 35-hour week and a $14 weekly bonus wage for industrial employes and a 40-hour week with a $12 to $15 minimum wage for white collar workers.

Business men are to be convinced that only by cutting in on this plan can they put more money in circulation and assure the purchase of more goods.

Twenty million NRA "consumers" stickers—showing the blue eagle and the motto "We Do Our Part" in red, white and blue—have been made by 30 factories on rush order. NRA members will distribute them, one to each customer who signs a pledge card promising to support and patronize employers operating under the plan.

Those stickers are for rear windows of automobiles and windows of homes. The theory is that few employers will have the nerve to refrain from membership, although NRA officials frown on suggestions of "boycott" or "coercion."

LEADERS WAIT EFFECTS FROM RECOVERY ACT

Restoration of 1925 Value Expected Before Long

WASHINGTON, July 28. (UP).—The administration plans to abandon any further devaluation of the dollar until effects of the recovery program are gauged, the United Press learned definitely today. Leaders are still determined to restore the purchasing power of the dollar to the 1925 level but the administration hopes to reach the objective through the recovery program before resorting to drastic money inflation.

The administration has injected a spirit of nationalism in its campaign to make wheat farming profitable, with indications that it is ready to dump surplus western grain into Oriental markets.

The announcement is simultaneous with the failure of the wheat-growing nations to reach a reduction agreement at London. Farmers may be asked to reduce their 1934 crops by 20 per cent.

President Roosevelt started the flow of over $100,000,000 into the cotton states when he handed a check for $517 to William Morris, Nueces county, Texas, farmer, as a benefit payment under the reduction plan.

Farmers Warned Of Unusual Crops

COLLEGE STATION.—Warning cotton farmers against planting their cotton acres retired in the cotton acreage reduction campaign into new and unusual summer and fall crops, O. B. Martin, director of the Texas Extension service, outlines a general four-fold plan for re-amping farm systems to fit the new situation acreage reduction has forced upon Texas.

"The safest, surest and most profitable crops for this land have been demonstrated over and over again in almost every community in Texas," he says. "The extension service offers nothing startling or magical as a general rule to the farmers at this time, but the same plan that has brought success to many farmers in the past and which is now a logical necessity."

The first part of the next step ahead for Texas cotton farmers is using 25 acres of land, more or less, and with proper livestock and equipment, making most of the family food and feed requirements at home. This is what saved us in the last three years and its continuation will make us money in the better years I think are ahead. The immediate need in Texas is for quick feed and pasture crops.

"The second part of the step ahead is closely linked with the first. Living at home these past few years, naturally gave surplus products of farm and home manufacture for sale. It meant extra farm income and it will continue to give extra income. The home sort of sort of boiled over surplus of hams and bacon, and cheese and syrup and leather goods and the like, which could be sold.

"The third part of the step is to farm the remaining acres in cash crops. Good yields always pay better than poor ones and always will. I believe the immediate future will see a premium paid for better use of land and more efficient farming.

"Finally, with home requirements taken care of, surplus acres offer the opportunity for feed production to sell through livestock. Texas has needed a livestock balance to its cotton farming and the chance is now here to get it."

SUMMER'S FUNNIEST STORY

Whatever the Pulitzer prizes for next year may be, the funniest story of the summer of 1933 seems already to have established itself. It is, unquestionably, the story by a Viennese newspaper stating that Adolf Hitler, Nazi chancellor of Germany, is of Jewish descent.

To be sure, this story has drawn indignant and heated denials from Berlin. A dispatch from Vienna remarks that the genealogy drawn up to prove Hitler's Jewish ancestry contains "doubtful entries."

But the story was worth reading, and laughing over, just the same. For the head of a dictatorial party which seeks to solve a great nation's troubles by persecuting the Jews to be found to be of Jewish blood himself—that would be one of the most notable ironies of all history.

A LESSON FOR CENSORS

The Chicago judge who was urged to clamp down on certain Century of Progress sideshows, in which semi-nude females were on display for the delectation of visitors, seems to have expressed, in his refusal to act, a philosophy that all self-appointed censors might profitably study.

"As far as lewdness is concerned," remarked the judge, "I have my own opinion. You know we have a lot of boobs in this country and we have to cater to them. This court is not trying to reform the world. If there are nude models, what of it?"

There is a good deal of sense in that. The land is indeed full of boobs, and if the boobs are so sunk in boobery that it seems sensible to them to pay out good money for peep-show thrills, the rest of us needn't worry our heads about it very greatly. If, as the judge says, there are nude models—what of it?

It's already clear who will be "The Forgotten Man" in 1934—none other than the federal prohibition agent.

LINDY'S DRAG BLACKMAN CLUB DOWN TO CELLAR APARTMENT IN LATE RALLY

The cellar scrap between the Lindy's and the Blackman's came to a head last night in the meeting of the two clubs—and the Lindy's won a 13-10 decision, to place them on equal footing with their adversaries in the percentage columns.

Hokus-Pokus, by winning over the Paposes, 3-5, drew up to within a game of their rivals of third place. Bayless hit a home run for the Lindy's, and Newton hit a triple with the bases loaded for the Lindy's, besides a single that came when a hit meant runs.

HIGH BROADCAST

HOOD RIVER, (UP)—A "mile-high" national radio broadcast from the snowfields of towering Mt. Hood August 5 will feature speeches by Governor Meier of Oregon, Governor Martin of Washington, and Governor Ross of Idaho, according to plan of the Hood River American Legion post, sponsors.

The broadcast will go out over the NBC network. It was originally scheduled for July 22, but heavy snow, six feet deep, prevented the necessary mechanical setup.

Exceptional Cast In 'Elmer the Great'

An exceptional cast, both of comedy characters and actors who play straight parts, appear in Preston G. Joe E. Brown in his latest First National fun film, "Elmer the Great," which comes to the Ritz at a preview Saturday night, and showing Sunday and Monday.

Joe's leading lady is the beautiful and youthful Patricia Ellis, who started in pictures just a few months ago and has become one of the screen sensations of the day. After two try-out pictures she was cast in an ingenue role with George Arliss in "The Adopted Father," then she played the lead for James Cagney in "Picture Snatchers." She now appears in the chief feminine part with Brown.

Miss Ellis has a straight part, being Joe's small town girl with whose snubbing of Joe when she catches him with his arms about the smart city gal leads to his going on a spree and landing in jail. On the eve of the world's series game, Preston G. Foster, who had the lead with Barbara Stanwyck in "Ladies They Talk About" and in "The Last Mile," and other pictures, also plays a straight role as the manager of the Chicago Cubs, who depends on Joe's great batting to win the World's Series game.

Frank McHugh, one of the screen's most humorous characters, has the role of Joe's buddy, "High-Hip" Healey. Claire Dodd is the villainess whose kiss in the lobby of a hotel leads Joe's country lassie to give him the cold shoulder.

There are also thirty-five big league baseball players in "Elmer the Great," who take part in the smashing final sequence which is the World's series game between the Cubs and Yankees.

NRA

Tons of literature—code agreements, instructions, textbooks for local campaigns, prepared copy for newspapers—are being poured out of Washington. Broadcasting stations, beginning with the president's address to the country, will plug the theme song continuously.

Movie companies have been recruited and one is doing a two-reeler with newspapers, plot scenes and animated charts to show how the depression developed, to show our interdependence on our neighbors' prosperity and how we can "do our part." Short NRA subjects will be available for all theatres.

Organize "No Grass Roots"

Local "NRA campaign committees" already are being organized in nearly all communities of more than 10,000 population, representing business, civic, welfare, labor and all other important groups. This is the present plan of local organization.

Each local committee will appoint a man as "general" and a woman as "co-general." Under them will be as many "captains" as may be needed, depending on the city's size. Each "captain" will command ten persons.

The duty of these "troops" will be, first, to make block canvases of merchants and other employers and make a census of compliance with the blanket code; second, to make a census of the unemployed, catalog them by trades and study expanding industries with an effort to get the unemployed absorbed.

Huge "Selling" Task

The other chief task of the local committees will be the education of small business men and consumers. The NRA estimates that about 80 per cent of business men belong to no trade associations and that most of them will have to be "sold."

There are about 5,000,000 employers in the United States and the campaigners will be after nearly all of them.

Above the local committees will be special regional and state recovery boards.

Among ambitious plans under consideration is one through which the 17,000 automobile dealers would try to canvas more than 20,000,000 automobile owners in an attempt to get NRA stickers on every motor car.

Organizers of the great drive insist that they will avoid "ballyhoo" and spectacular stunts. They promise to make no appeal to mass hysteria and say that they will appeal conservatively to "self-interest" rather than to any spirit of sacrifice.

Child Has Her First Real Dress

WASHINGTON, (UP)—After 12 years without a "real dress," Georgia McQuinn has been released from the House of the Good Shepherd here.

She explained that as an inmate of the home she had worn the cotton uniform of the home since she was 18.

Now she has a new blue and white dress of the latest style. She was placed in the institution after the death of her parents. Her release came when a sister offered to provide for her.

22,000 Volt Shock Didn't Kill Man

MONCHATOULA, La. (UP)—By all the rules, Oscar Vittur, local manager of the Louisiana Light and Power company, should be dead, but he isn't.

He was replacing some fuses when he contacted 22,000 volts of electricity, the shock knocking him to the floor, where a passerby found him unconscious. Doctors examined him, and found that aside from burns on the bottom of his feet and right arm he was unharmed.

Deaths from auto accidents decreased 13 per cent last year.
