CLOUBURST IS CAUSE OF WRECK

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Aug. 30. (UP)—A cloudburst which turned a normally dry creek into a swollen river was unofficially blamed today for the wreck of the Golden State Limited train in which eight were killed and 41 injured.

The storm also was believed responsible for the crash of the Transcontinental Western Airways plane near Quay, N. M., in which five persons were killed.

MIDLANDER'S RELATIVE CONDUCTOR ON EXPRESS

A brother of A. A. Dean of Midland, Amos W. Dean, conductor on the Golden State Limited, did not happen to be aboard the wrecked passenger train. It was derailed and wrecked in a flooded arroyo, the Midland man learned this morning.

CRIPPLES BENEFIT UNDER STATE AID

AUSTIN, (UP)—The state will extend a helping hand to approximately 8,000 crippled children in Texas beginning September 1.

A physical restoration service for cripples under 21 years of age was created by the last legislature under the prosaic title of Senate Bill 247. The task of seeking out and aiding the lad with a club foot or the girl with a deformed leg was assigned to the rehabilitation division of the state department of education.

The same legislature appropriated $20,000 for the two-year period beginning next month for the physical restoration of Texas children, same biennium to rid Texas cattle of ticks.

A. H. Abbott, middle-aged, blue-gray eyes, absorbed with the relief of dependents for 10 years, will be chief administrator of the $20,000 fund for crippled children. He was named special supervisor of the physical restoration service, and will work under the rehabilitation division of the state department of education.

Abbott is not certain how many crippled children there are in Texas. Surveys will be made simultaneously with the next scholastic census. Four persons out of every 1,000 suffer some type of physical deformity, according to federal census. Applying this ratio to Texas school children, Abbott estimated 12,000 need medical or surgical care because of physical deficiencies. Of that total, more than 50 per cent probably will qualify for the service offered by Senate Bill 247.

The act limits the amount the state may pay for hospital service to $18 per week per child. The average cost of rehabilitating a dependent in the United States is $500, in Texas approximately $300. The state appropriation will be supplemented by donations through the cooperative efforts of clubs and relief societies.

Abbott is authorized to supervise public diagnostic clinics and to designate hospitals for the care of crippled children. He plans to establish 30 such clinics in Texas within the next year.

Japanese Minister To Tour States

TOKIO, (UP)—Toshio Shiratori, one-time spokesman for the foreign office, plans to sail for Vancouver Sept. 15 and will spend about six weeks touring the United States before continuing to Stockholm to assume his post as Japanese minister there.

Shiratori will spend most of his time in the United States, he said, studying economic conditions. He is to visit Washington and will sail from New York for Britain probably in November.

As spokesman for the foreign office during the exciting events in Manchuria, which started with the so-called Mukden incident of Sept. 18, 1931, Shiratori gained a world wide reputation for blunt speaking. He denounced Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson in Washington, as a pernicious meddler and described Sir Miles Lampson, British minister to China, as encouraging the Chinese in their "suicidal continuation of the anti-Japanese movement."

Cheering News from F. R.

"The downhill drift of America has definitely turned and become the upward surge of America." Thus, for the first time since he entered the White House, President Roosevelt struck an optimistic note when, as shown here, he told 5,000 Dutchess county neighbors at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., that the NRA campaign was accomplishing its purpose by bringing back better times.

Administrator Johnson, addressing thousands as the drive was initiated at Washington, claimed that re-employment by date meant $1,500,000,000 more to trade.

The public works administration today allotted $15,500,000 for construction of fourteen irrigation projects in eight states.

Texas and New Mexico will receive $500,000 for drainage on the Rio Grande river.

Administrator Johnson said today that Henry Ford must quit the automobile code or operate without the Blue Eagle, adding that "the American people may crack down on him."

RESTORING GOVERNMENT TO THE PEOPLE

The real significance of the amazing program now being attempted at Washington lies less in what is actually being done than in the spirit which is moving the chief performers.

To understand it, all you need to do is cast your memory back to the heyday of the boom, when James W. Gerard named 60 men who, he said, were the real rulers of America.

Few people quarreled with his list, at that time. Some felt that his list of big industrialists, financiers and promoters wasn't quite long enough, and others felt that it was a little too long; but that the country's destinies were actually in the hands of a small group of very wealthy men hardly anybody denied.

Paste that list up against the background of the NRA program and it takes on a different aspect. For if Mr. Gerard named the "real rulers" of the country for us, the administration is naming the man from whom the rulers take their orders; and that man seems to be none other than our old friend Uncle Sam himself.

We used to hear a lot of talk about "invisible government" in the United States. A good deal of this talk was bunk, but there was plenty of solid truth back of it. The rise of industrialism and the growth of financial influence had somehow switched the keys of real power away from the elected representatives of the people and into the offices of men who acknowledged no public responsibility.

What we are engaged in now is not merely a struggle to restore buying power, get people back to work and end the depression. We are also trying to put the control over our own destinies back where it belongs—in the hands of men at Washington who owe their place to the expressed will of the electorate.

It is one of the most important and far-reaching programs ever instituted in all the history of the republic. It means that the American democracy must be so implemented that it can make its will effective in an age of mass production, high finance and intricate commercial dealings.

The fight won't be an easy one or a short one; but it is one of the most worth-while that the nation has ever got into.

BOOKS WE NEVER READ

During the last few years it has been a popular stunt to make up lists of the ten "best books"—the books that you would take along if you were going to be exiled to that fabulous desert island for the rest of your life. Now comes "The Drifter," writer of an engaging weekly column in The Nation, to suggest that it can be more fun to make up a list of ten famous books that one has never read and never intends to read.

This, it seems to us, is a pretty sound idea. The library shelves are full of great classics to which all of us give lip service, and with which we like to have people think that we are thoroughly familiar; wouldn't it be a boon to the cause of frankness if we should sit down and tabulate, in all honesty, those classics which we never quite got around to?

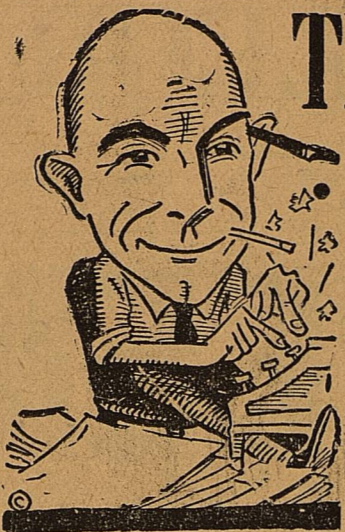

To be sure, such honesty might destroy a lot of high-brow poses. But it would be exceedingly refreshing, nevertheless; and a lot of people would be happier if they could be relieved of the strain of pretending a familiarity with "Tom Jones," "The Return of the Native" and "Paradise Lost."

Sumter (S. C.) farmers, attempting to bring about their own farm relief by a county-wide cooperative effort, seem to have gained two advantages at one stroke. Self-help plus cooperation should just about spell relief.

The man who had sense enough to save money during prosperous times to pull himself through the depression is pretty unpopular. Ask the man who owes one.

Did you hear about the local man who is both hot-headed and crooked? He caught himself cheating himself, so he quit and got mad and knocked himself in the head with a hammer.

A headline in our paper said Prof. Shrader is taking a degree in insanity. I remember when I went to college, I took my degree mostly in insomnia.

When a housewife ordered a leg of mutton at Martin George's market, George said he was sorry but there had been a run on his legs today and he had none left.

A local high school girl played a new jazz record and asked her father if he ever heard anything like it. "Yes," he said, "I once heard a collision between a truck load of milk cans and another truck loaded with ducks."

Seeing a neighboring house lighted up, a local woman asked, "Are our new neighbors entertaining?" Husband: Oh, they're not so dumb."

A man bought his wife a series of voice lessons and told a friend that if worst came to worst his wife could keep the wolf away from the door with her singing.

I've always heard that elephants never forget, but this story from the Philadelphia Bulletin seems to carry the adage pretty far.

Dr. Walter Adams, astronomer of Mount Wilson Observatory, speaking of the attitude of some war debtors, told a story of gratitude.

"A hunter in the jungle came across an elephant limping. He examined its feet and in one place he saw a large thorn. This he removed. Years passed and the hunter was in a cheap seat at a circus. A turn was given by a troupe of performing elephants. One of these elephants reached out its trunk, encircled the hunter's waist, and lifted him from his cheap seat and set him down in a seat in a private box."

Shrimp Pickers Sent Home for Decade

SAN FRANCISCO. (UP)—Kok Young, shrimp picker, came to town for the first time in 10 years in an automobile that was practically no automobile at all.

After he threw market street traffic into confusion, police took him into traffic court.

"What's the charges?" asked the presiding magistrate.

"Driving without a license, driving with old license plates, driving without lights, driving without a horn, driving without brakes, driving without fenders, ignoring traffic signals."

At that point the arresting officer was interrupted by the magistrate who asked to see the automobile "if there was anything to be seen."

The wreck was viewed, what there was of it.

The judge instructed Kok Young to take it back to Hunters' Point, "if he could make it," and to stay there 10 more years at least.

PAPOOSES SWEEP RED SHIRT ENGAGEMENT

STAMFORD HIT BY BLUDGEONING OF LOCALS

Stamford's Red Shirts proved to be better hosts than opponents, and Midland last night swept its two-night soccerball series there, winning the second game 7-0.

The win, coupled with an 8-4 decision of the night before, gives a season's sweep of four games to Midland, none for the Stamford Cardinals.

Lewellen did not have to strike out 13 men to win last night, as he had to do the night before. Only three Red Shirts folded their hands before his slants, but the infield supported the Midland hurler almost perfectly, only one error being made. Infielders snuffed the ball about with such nifty and alertness that only one man reached third base, and only five got on the paths at all. Outfielders camped under sky balls backed each other as a rush to play a ground ball was made. Midland found a short right field troublesome. Balls striking a building off to the right, or being driven over it, went for singles, by a ground ruling. Estes and Northington, especially, were penalized by this ruling. Estes hit a couple that would easily have gone for home runs at Friday, but no hit for the circuit during the series.

Midland players returned with nothing but praise for their hosts.

"The Stamford ball club proved as estimable as entertaining as we give them credit for doing while it was here recently," said Dr. David M. Ellis, Papoose skipper. "While we took both games, and the two affairs here, as well, it must be said that the Red Shirts are superior in every way to the band of ball players they played here. They were much harder to beat on their home grounds, and only for the fact that the Papooses played better than I have ever seen them would have been taken in."

According to the doctor, interesting sectional games have proved successful from several angles—namely the fostering of good relationships.

Odessa and Crane Knotted for Lead

Two teams, Odessa and Crane, are in the running for the title of second half winner of the Permian Basin baseball league, as the result of Sunday's games. Each has played several games, and won six in the second half. The deciding game will be played Sunday, and on the following Sunday the winner will meet Wink, winner of the first half, in the finals for the league flag.

In Sunday's play Crane defeated Midland 9 to 7. Odessa defeated Iraan 14-7 and Wink defeated McCamey 7-6. Next Sunday Crane plays at Odessa, Iraan at Midland and McCamey at Wink.

The team standings at present are as follows:

Team	P	W	L
Odessa	7	6	1
Crane	7	6	1
Wink	5	3	2
Iraan	6	3	3
McCamey	7	3	4
Midland	6	1	5

New League for East Texas Planned

LONGVIEW, Aug. 30. (UP)—Organization of an East Texas baseball league next season is planned by J. Marcus Wood, president of the Longview club in the Dixie league. It was revealed today. The Yucca theatre will present Bob Cooper, former night club and vaudeville member, and a group of Midland singers and dancers in song and dance acts Thursday and Friday, in connection with its regular film offering, announced Manager Hal Grady.

The show will be presented only once nightly, about 9:15.

On the screen will be shown the stirring film, "Midnight Mary," which has a notable cast including Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez, Franchot Tone and Una Merkel.

SWISS RESENT U. S. METHODS

GENEVA. (UP)—The Swiss, almost without exception, are hostile and wholly out of sympathy with the radical economic and financial measures now being tested in the United States.

Bankers, hotel keepers and watch makers, who largely control Switzerland's economic and fiscal policies, are fighting inflation and currency depreciation.

The American experiment is ridiculed on every side. Newspapers employ almost insulting terms to describe the public of the "certain" failure of the Roosevelt "adventure." They fear the failure of the American program might plunge the world into greater distress, while its success eventually would push Switzerland off the gold standard.

The Swiss want neither. They are praying that normal economic laws will soon break the depression and lead to a new era of comparative prosperity. If, they say, the upturn is not too long delayed, Switzerland will be able to resist the "artificial" remedies now being employed in the United States. With them it is a race against time.

INSULT ARREST LEGAL

ATHENS, Aug. 29. (UP)—The Greek supreme court today held that the arrest of Samuel Insull was on legal grounds, in accordance with the extradition treaty under which the American government asked extradition.

'Midnight Mary' Has Been Loved by Most of Married Men; Plays at Yucca

The melodramatic career of a New York tenement girl who comes perilously close to the electric chair is depicted in "Midnight Mary," a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture opening Thursday and playing through Friday at the Yucca theatre. The picture was filmed from an original story by Anita Loos and features Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez, Franchot Tone, Andy Devine and Una Merkel.

The story centers on Mary Martin, a young girl who grows up in adverse circumstances and is finally induced to join a group of crooks who progress rapidly from petty larceny to robberies on the grand scale. She falls in love with a wealthy young attorney and tries desperately to start a new life on an honest footing. The gangster who has dominated her youth threatens to kill the man she loves, and against her will, Mary Martin is forced back into the underworld.

An Exceptional Cast

The pivotal role is played by Loretta Young, one of the most popular of the screen's younger stars. Ricardo Cortez plays the gangster who forces her to become a crook, and the romantic phases of the plot are handled by Miss Young and Franchot Tone, the much talked about newcomer who received outstanding notice for his work opposite Joan Crawford in "Today We Live." Andy Devine and Una Merkel insure the picture of numerous comedy moments, and the group of supporting players include Frank Conroy, Warren Hymer, Ivan Simpson, Harold Huber, Sandy Roth, Martha Sleeper, Charles Grapewin, Hallwell Hobbes and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

The story starts with the tensely dramatic moment in which a jury is deciding on the fate of Mary Martin. Did she kill the gangster, and if so why? It is during this suspenseful interlude in which the

BARRY AND HENDERSON DRIVE SQUAD THROUGH PRELIMINARY GRID TRAINING

A hustling squad of youngsters has been outfitted and given first training drills by Head Coach L. K. Barry, Midland high school's Little Napoleon, and Assistant Coach Bryan C. Henderson, elongated ram who used to powder frontal lines for the Auburn college Kangaroos. Within a few days, another assistant coach, Charles A. Lingo, will interrupt his honeymoon and begin working with the other two mentors.

"For the first time here, I am able to hold a pre-season training," said Barry. "Lack of rainfall has made soft saunders to report earlier and I am satisfied that the material we have will be conditioned rather nicely by the time the first scheduled game falls."

Plans are being completed for practicing on the grassy floor of the J. E. Hill amphitheatre, in the pasture north of his home. It is likely a stock gate or a stile will be built for an entrance, so as to prevent horses from escaping from the pasture. Weeds have been cut and everything is in readiness for a concerted campaign against summer softness and laziness. About 30 candidates turned out Monday, and 45 are expected to be working regularly by the end of the week.

Midland is in Class B this season, having drawn out of the higher circuit because of a deficiency of man power. Games will be scheduled with former Class A foes, however, it is expected.

S'WATER HORSES BACK IN CORRAL FOR GRID GRIND

Sweetwater's 1933 football prospects—in the raw—reported at Newman high school Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the initial assembly of the new season in answer to a call issued by Coach Ed-Ed-Ed.

Starting training a week earlier than usual, the squad was given equipment Monday, and will hold daily workouts through Thursday, vacation for the week-end and neighbor day holidays, and resume the daily grind on the following Tuesday.

Prospects are anything but rosy, compared with that championship aggregation that sources brought the 1932 season to carry the Mustang banner into the state quarter-finals. Heavy losses came with graduation and although there is some fine material in sight, the outlook when all's said and done, is nothing to television home about.

The lack of backfield reserves, the need for good end and passing, and development of suitable tackles will be paramount problems facing the Mustang coaching staff in the coming weeks.

There are four letter men returning to the Pony backfield, only one of which—Virgil Jones—might be classed as a regular. Fred Barnett, Louis Woehl and Max Whitten have seen service. But outside this quarter and Raymond Billings who will be a backfield candidate, that department is woefully shy of reserve strength. The backfield problem likewise includes finding somebody who can at least partially take the place of Red Sheridan and Sam Baugh in punting and passing.

Keen competition will doubtless develop in a tight backfield position, inasmuch as there are no regular returning to that department. Hubbard lettered and will be back, and other candidates will probably be Henry Bennett, Ed Jones, Bill Jones and Louis Seales. The latter is a hefty lad and a brother of Walter Seales, one-time Mustang end.

Other positions on the team will furnish better prospects. Armstrong and Rosebrough, both experienced, will take care of the center's job.

At ends, three regulars—Tommy Hampton and Gardner—will take care of that department.

Captain Holbert and N. B. Hall, Jr., regular guards of last year's championship crew, will be back on the job, with Cecil Baker and Martin being likely prospects for reserve strength there.

Coach Hennig and his staff will face plenty of work in developing a smoothly working machine. This material, by the way, will take care of that department.

SOVIET CAREFUL WITH ITS GRAIN

MOSCOW. (UP)—"Class war" continues on the collective farms in an underground form, despite drastic measures against sabotage and thieves, including the shooting and exiling of thousands of "kulaks," according to the soviet press. Stories coming from the sowing fields tell of pilferers caught red-handed, of secret hiding "holes" ferreted out, and punishments meted out to warn other malefactors.

The spearhead of the government's defense is the so-called political departments, known as the "politotdels." They are under rigorous discipline and are charged with the duty of uncovering and suppressing all forms of sabotage and state farm property and with uprooting sabotage.

Methods of Agents

What methods are employed by the politotdels to safeguard the harvest are revealed in extracts from the diary of the chief of such a department at a machine tractor station at Salsk in the North Caucasus. According to this man, Peter Filiev, a well organized band of grain thieves recently was discovered in one village. They had worked out plans which showed where they planned to steal, which people they could trust or could use in their plot, where horses could be obtained and which roads it would be best to traverse.

To guard against such events, Filiev writes, "a firm wall of protection against the socialist corps" is being built. First, a brigadier is named to take charge of each harvesting brigade and care is taken that he is a tried and true man, tested by this material by the time the first whistle blows. Coach Lowe will go to work at once to develop a badly-needed punter. Coach Lovvern will work with the ends and Coach Hennig will be in charge.

The first game is dated for Sept. 29, following opening of school Sept. 11. This event is the annual Abilene classic which blows the season's lid with no little bang. The event will again take place in the Taylor county home of the Eagles.

Following that game the Mustangs will look at Sweetwater, and then go to Amarillo to meet the Sandies who took away their state championship hopes in the midst of a well-remembered hand-to-hand snow storm last year. The district schedule is narrowed to games with San Angelo, Big Spring, McCamey and Colorado as Midland beat a retreat back to Class B. Ranger also wants a game with the Mustangs. If a suitable open date can be found.

It is estimated that 4,400 kilometers of these lines are roughly the length of California, but run longitudinally down the country, from Milan to Calabria passing through Bologna and Florence, and from Genoa through Pisa to Rome and the province of Calabria. The lines are the crosswise section which has a high traffic importance running from Milan to Trieste through Venice.

The work of electrification has been divided into groups and is scheduled to be finished in 12 years. A recent decision of the cabinet, however, decided to rush the work of the first lot so that it will be ready for use in 1935.

This first group for which the first two bond issues were made for a total of 1,200,000,000 lire include the Rome-Florence line, the Rome-Naples with branch line to the beach resort of Nettuno, the Naples-Salerno and the Salerno-Batipaglia-Reggio Calabria lines.

COLORADO WOLVES BACK IN CLASS A

After a sudden unexplained withdrawal from Class A football a few weeks ago, Colorado officials announced the Wolves would return to the higher circuit.

Colorado had been authorized to return to Class B competition by interscholastic league officials at Austin. No reason for the sudden change of mind was received in a note from the Colorado principal, however, objection of fans was thought to have been the cause.

Apparently a check-up by Colorado officials displayed the Wolves will not be as weak this fall as first expected, so the club is back in the swim. Jim Canbill, the old jovial Wolf manager, was against checking out of Class A in the first place.

McCamey officials have notified that the Badgers had no intention of leaving Class A in spite of very poor prospects for the season.

A meeting of the district executive committee will be called to straighten out matters for the season's grind.

It was only last week that Colorado officials came to Midland to tentatively arrange Colorado's entrance into this district of Class B, inasmuch as the Class B schedule for the district including Colorado had been made. The matter was left to the Class B executive committee of this district, which planned meeting about Sept. 4.

Italian Railroads Soon Be Electrified

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

ROME. (UP)—Within ten years it is calculated that 60 per cent of the Italian railroads will be electrified. When this is done, Italy will have some 6,000 kilometers of electric traction. Eventually, even a higher percentage than 60 will be achieved for the entire system, with some small exceptions, will sooner or later be run by hydro-electric power.

The recent success of the government bonds issued to provide the capital for this work is a proof of the confidence of the country in the plan to electrify as much of the system as possible and save the money spent on former coal, for which fuel Italy is entirely dependent on abroad.

Rich in Water Power

Fortunately, to make up for the absence of this precious raw material, Italy is rich in water power. The country abounds in mountain torrents and rivers which can be turned into artificial lakes and made to drive turbines that produce electricity.

Electrification of railroads is a very costly process, but when the work is carried out along the roads which carry heavy traffic, the minor cost of electric power as compared to coal provides a huge compensation. Other advantages of electric traction are the superior cleanliness of electric trains and their greater regularity. The electric locomotive picks up speed more quickly than a steam engine. It also allows a more economical use of the lines, because it is lighter and takes up less space. It more economy in the matter of personnel, for the fireman's labor is dispensed with.

The lines to be shortly electrified

WE DO OUR PART

THIS STORE IS CO-OPERATING

100%

This store is co-operating with the N. R. A. and we feel that the public is entitled to know to what extent.

SALARY INCREASE $230.00 PER MONTH.

We have added FOUR to our payroll, at an increase of $230.00 per month. This in spite of the fact that we have kept from one to two on the payroll all thru the dull months of the past two years rather than put them out of work.

We have never paid the minimum wage. Our help has always been paid more than the minimum and we have not reduced salaries one penny.

WE BELIEVE that if the chislers can be gotten rid of, that the N. R. A. will prove for it, but we believe that, if necessary, everyone should make a SACRIFICE to help put this over.

ANY TIME I CANNOT COMPLY 100%, then I will take the Blue Eagle off my windows.

WE ARE DOING OUR PART. The above is no suggestion that others are not co-operating just as fully as we are, but merely a statement of facts that the public may know that this store is co-operating.

James Cagney Opens Today in Startling Reform School Film

Continuing to follow the newspaper headlines in the way of strong story material, Warner Bros. again presents a picture of timely interest in "The Mayor of Hell," the James Cagney starring vehicle, showing today and tomorrow at the Ritz Theatre.

In this picture, which is a startling revelation of the cruelties practiced upon boys in a reform school, abuses that match those of chain gang prison camps, James Cagney has his finest and strongest role up to date. The picture is an intensely human document with pathos and tragedy intermingled and scores of thrilling incidents in the picturesque background of a reformatory where half starved boys revolt and battle tyrannical guards.

In the role of a ward heeler the superintendency of the reform school as a political plum, Cagney finds himself thrust into an unbelievable hell. Through a young nurse with whom he falls in love, his interest in the plight of the boys is aroused and he proceeds to kick out the grafters and tyrants responsible for the abuses.

An unusually large cast of principal players and a group of 350 boys in the roles of reform school inmates, indicate the epic sweep of the film. Midge Evans has the leading feminine role, while other important parts are played by Arthur Jenkins, Dudley Digges, Arthur Byron, Sheila Terry and Dorothy Peterson. Among the young boys who play outstanding roles are Frankie Darro, Farina, George O'Farmer, Jr. and Sidney Miller.

The picture was directed by Archie Mayo, based on the play by Islin Auster and adapted for the screen by Edward Chodorov.

In case of a vacancy in the vice presidency, a president pro tem. of the Senate draws a vice president's salary. The senator appointed to fill the vice president's place in case of absence, however, receives only a senator's salary.

The feature of both precedents was the apparent willingness of the members of the industry to rid themselves of these practices, now that relaxation of antitrust laws for the first time permits them to take collective action.
