County Cuts 1933 Tax Rate to $1.10; Asks Prompt Pay

VALUATION IS LOWERED MORE THAN MILLION
Tax Payers Asked to Protect County's Good Record

Midland county property tax payers were given a reduction in rate at a meeting of the commissioners' court Monday afternoon but, at the same time, were called upon to cooperate by paying the taxes promptly. The rate which hitherto was $1.50 was cut to $1.10 on the $100 valuation for the year 1933.

The reduction was decided upon at the public budget hearing, announced several days earlier for 2:30 Monday afternoon. Expenses and requirements of the county government for 1934 were discussed fully, with decision to make drastic expense reductions everywhere possible.

Last year's tax collections were about seventy per cent of the amount due, it was pointed out. In order for the county to operate on the reduced rate, it will be necessary for a larger per cent to pay the taxes when due. The valuation suffered a loss of approximately a million dollars, being cut to $6,368,770.

The tax rate reduction was made to provide relief for the overburdened tax payers, it was announced, and with the idea that tax payers will respond and pay up.

Some oil companies, corporations and individuals had intimated that they will pay their taxes upon receipt of statements if the rate was reduced, County Judge E. H. Barron said.

The total of delinquent taxes for the years 1931 and 1932, extended for the county record of from 1885 to 1931, it was learned from county records.

Midland county has met every bond and warrant which is due, he said, and is on both principal and interest. Tax payers were called upon to pay promptly under the new rate in order to keep the county's financial record clear.

Court Disposes Of Church Case
ARILENE.—Who won the church lawsuit? The question was asked by attorneys, plaintiffs, defendants and spectators Monday when Judge A. M. Matzney, sitting on the bench, brought the Tye injunction case to a close in 42nd district court.

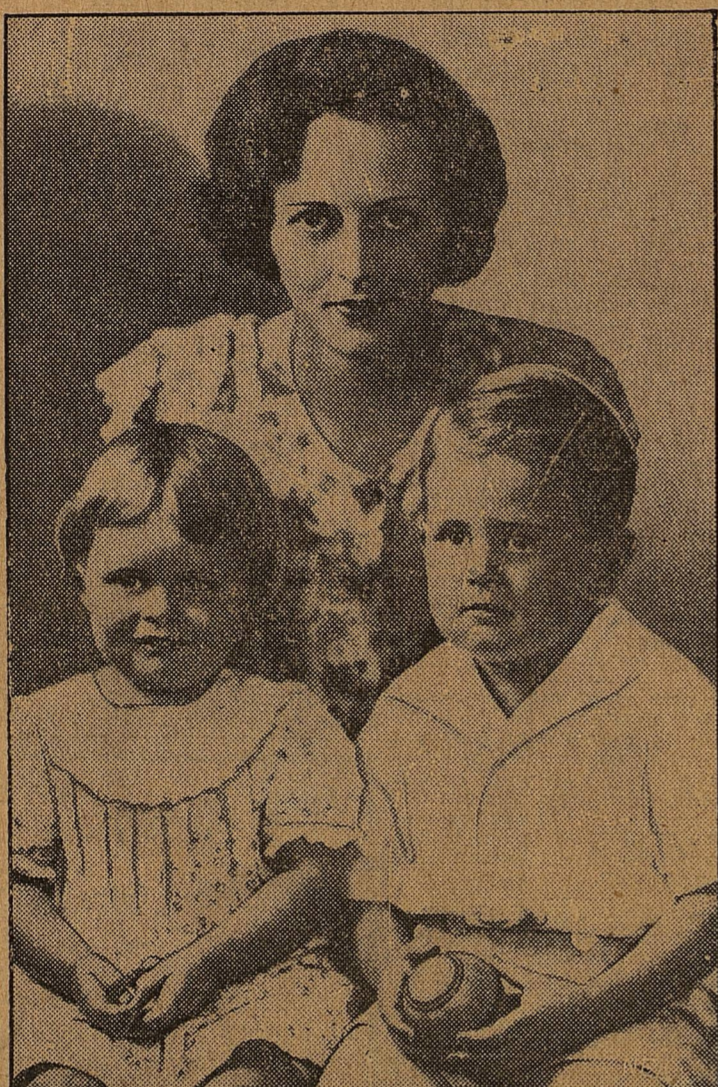

The answer, apparently, will depend upon which of two factions of the Baptist church is in the majority, it is in the majority. Judge Matzney held that "the deacons who were plaintiffs in the case are the legal custodians of the church property and have the right to control it, acting by and through the majority of the congregation."

In giving the decision, Judge Matzney held that testimony in the case showed that there are no "doctrinal differences" between the contending factions of the congregation and that, in accordance with Baptist church government, questions within the congregation should be decided by the majority of the membership.

Testimony indicated the chief difference of the rival groups was over the handling of finances of the church—defendants objecting to support of the "cooperative program" outlined by the Texas Baptist convention.

Controversy over lawful ownership of the church properties followed the disagreement over finances, resulting in the filing of a suit for injunction last spring. Plaintiffs, petitioning as deacons and ex deacons, asked that the defendant group be restrained from use of the building and interference with the services of the "Tye Missionary Baptist church."

DIRECTORS URGE BUYING CAMPAIGN FOR CONSUMERS

Midland will participate in the consumers buying campaign of President Roosevelt, and will conduct as vigorous a campaign as possible. NRA officials and chamber of commerce directors decided at a meeting Monday night. Directors instructed the chamber secretary to attend a regional meeting in Fort Worth Wednesday, in view of the fact no transportation expense is involved, toward gaining as much information as possible.

Directors also authorized the chamber to accept the offer of the Dallas chamber to furnish without cost the services of Henry W. Stanley, director of the trade extension division of the Dallas chamber, in conducting lectures on NRA merchandising. Stanley has developed a completely new series of lectures setting for new merchandising trends under the changing economic conditions.

Reports on work done by the chamber and county commissioners court, the moving of new families to Midland and other minor matters were discussed. No matters of policy were taken up due to the few members present. Those J. M. Caldwell, Fred J. Middleton and Ray V. Hyatt, were among visitors present.

THREE STATES VOTING TODAY; MAINE IS WET

Question Mark Seen In Minnesota, However

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 12. (UP).—Virtually complete returns today gave voters more than a two to one majority in the Maine election on repeal yesterday. Maine, next to Kansas, was the driest state in the union.

Residents today watched repeal elections in Colorado, Maryland, Minnesota, Minnesota was the only doubtful one. Maine was the twenty sixth state to vote wet.

COLORADO CONCEDED TO GO WET

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 12. (UP).—Colorado voters went to the polls today to express their opinion on the retention or repeal of the 18th amendment.

Drys staged a valiant campaign, but the state amply was wet and voters felt that Colorado would join the parade of states which have ratified repeal.

The special election was ordered by an extraordinary session of the state legislature. The ratification question was the only one on the ballot.

30 Candidates
Fifteen delegates at large were elected. The ballots carried the names of 30 delegates. Fifteen of them were pledged "wets." The other 15 were "drys." The successful delegates meet Sept. 20 to formally repeal the 18th amendment. A circle at the top of each column on the ballot made it possible for a voter to voice his preference by putting his "X" in the circle. This would vote a straight "dry." Also it was possible to "scratch" the ballot by voting for the individual candidates.

The repealists' campaign in Colorado was conducted by the Anti-Saloon League. The organization for Prohibition Reform sponsored an ardent campaign and carried the repeal message into every section.

Drys battled repeal with the state Anti-Saloon league directing the program that brought nationally known drys here.

Colorado went "bone dry" in 1929 when an initiated measure was passed by the voters at the general election. Prior to that time, the state had prohibited the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors, but by a constitutional amendment adopted in 1914 and made effective Dec. 31, 1915.

Dry Law Battle Failed
Several attempts were made to overthrow the dry laws in the state, but all were unsuccessful. In November, 1932, when the people voted to erase all the prohibitory measures from the statute books.

New liquor code was adopted by the special session of the legislature this August. A state and county licensing system was established and control of saloons in anticipation of the repeal.

The legislature banned the return of the saloon by making provisions in the new code that intoxicating liquors could not be sold in the premises and providing for "retail liquor" stores where whiskey could be sold in the original packages.

15 Per Cent Wines Allowed
Wines containing less than 15 per cent alcohol, and beer, may be sold at clubs, restaurants and hotels and in dining compartments of railroad trains and airplanes.

Beer was legalized in Colorado at the regular session of the general assembly, and when the 32 per cent beer became legal by the state that Colorado was one of the states that was able to enjoy the new beverage.

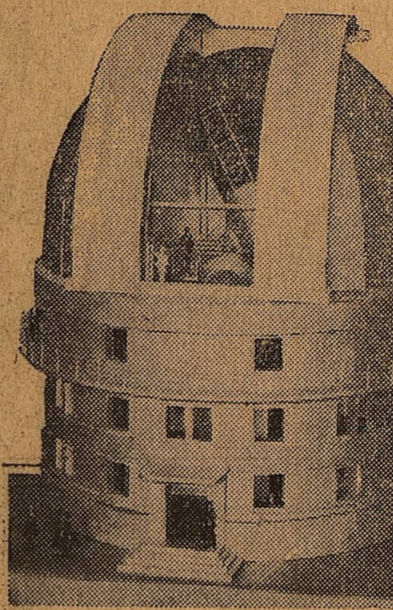

With a new liquor control code ready, if and when the 18th amendment is repealed, Colorado has developed a steady wet swing and the outcome of the special election was thought to be assured for the repealists.

WET VICTORY FOR MARYLAND FORECAST

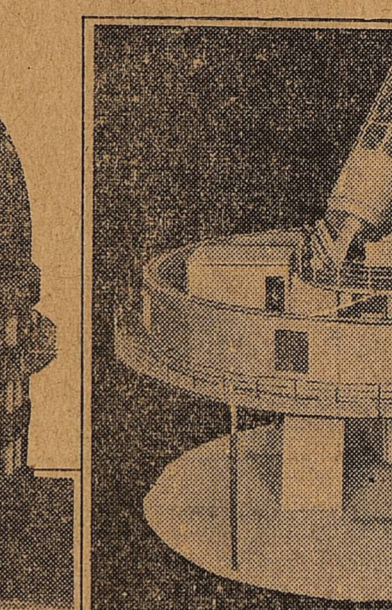

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 12. (UP).—Maryland, the only state which never had a state prohibition enforcement law, voted today on repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Republican leaders predicted a large majority for repeal.

Republican and democratic leaders alike have been campaigning for repeal. Governor Ritchie, Senator Millard Tydings, Mayor Howard Jackson of Baltimore, and Representative Vincent L. Palisano and William P. Colton have been among the most active Democrats. Former Baltimore Mayor William F. Broening and former State Senator Harry C. Levin have been leading the republican drive.

CARLOAD COTTON RATE PERMANENT

AUSTIN, Sept. 12. (UP).—Emergency carload cotton rate shipments to Texas ports were made permanent today as the railroad commission accepted, with few exceptions, emergency rates issued August 27.

LAST BALLOON CREW IS SAFE

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 12.—Ward T. Van Orman and Frank A. Trotter, James Gordon Bennett cup racers, were found Monday, ill and their clothing torn, after they had cut down a telephone pole and their anti-aircraft balloons had burst.

"I never saw two men in my life who were so glad to see another human being," said James Barrett, lineman for the Ontario Hydro Electric company, who found them. "They hollered with glee and hugged and kissed me as soon as they saw me."

With Van Orman and Trotter found, all the Bennett cup racers, who took off from Chicago September 2, have been accounted for. Apparently the winners are Captain Franciszek Ezynek and Lieutenant Zbigniew Burzynski of Poland, who landed near Riviere a Pierre, Que., 812 miles from Chicago. Van Orman and Trotter made about 500 miles.

Their bag, descending from a height of 8,000 feet around 4 p. m. Sunday, September 3, struck a pine tree in the creek toward the camp, and snapped in two.

The balloon was destroyed when it crashed into the tree, but Van Orman and Trotter were slightly injured. Their troubles were to come in the creek toward the camp. They ate sparingly and suffered from cold during the chill nights.

If the Americans are unable to walk, they will be carried through the woods on stretchers to the Canadian National Railway's main line six miles from the camp. There they will be put aboard a train for this place. No word reached here as to when the start will be made.

23-Months-Old Boy Found After Hunt Here This Morning

A house-to-house campaign of a "different sort" resulted in the finding of a 23-months-old baby here this morning.

Not certain which school they were in, he went to the high school, Mrs. Arch Coleman, 220 N. Big Spring, sent her maid to intercept the child, and kept it at her home until Mrs. Gates, conducting her house to house calling after telephoning the sheriff's department, arrived.

The child was about 10 blocks from home.

SLAYERS OF DALLAS GIRL GIVEN DEATH

DALLAS, Sept. 12.—Thurman Burkley, 18 year-old negro, who pleaded guilty to a murder charge for the brutal killing of Miss Kathryn Prince, was convicted and sentenced to death by a jury Monday night. Earlier in the day his brother, Blunt Burkley, 19, was convicted of the same offense and given the death penalty.

Miss Prince was shot to death and her escort, Marc Carver, was critically wounded by two negroes who accosted them as they sat in an automobile parked on a lonely country road near Dallas the night of August 30. Officers who found Miss Prince's body in a cotton patch said she had been beaten and choked. Carver, left to die in a patch of woods, was found next morning and brought to a hospital, where he is still in a serious condition.

Officers obtained statements from both negroes in which they purportedly admitted shooting the couple. When Blunt Burkley was brought to trial Monday he repudiated his confession, saying it was wrong from him after arresting officers threatened to open the doors of the jail and turn him over to a mob of angry citizens.

Blunt Burkley also attempted to shift the entire blame for the crime upon his brother. He swore Thurman Burkley killed Miss Prince and wounded her escort. He claimed his brother forced him to drive the car to the point where Carver was shot and then to the field where the girl was abused and killed. Blunt pleaded not guilty to the murder charge, while his brother pleaded guilty.

The negroes were closely guarded in the packed courtroom as the trials proceeded rapidly Monday. However, there were no demands that the attorneys and the negroes were sent to their cells immediately after the verdicts were returned.

The San Martin downfall was freely predicted.

THE LITTLE FELLOW GETS A CHANCE

There came to this desk the other day a copy of a Slovak newspaper, printed in McKeesport, Pa., for circulation among Slovaks in American industrial cities.

To the eyes of a native American it had a strange, foreign appearance. It bore the name of "Samostatnost," it was printed in an incomprehensible tongue, and it seemed to be just the sort of publication that sometimes makes a 100-per center wonder if the national melting pot is ever going to Americanize our foreign-born citizens.

But the editorial page proudly bore a large NRA eagle; and under it, in English, there was a double-column editorial which summed up the aims and policies of the NRA program as well as the most devout patriot could wish.

In the editor undertakes to tell American Slovaks what they can do to make the program a success. His remarks are worth quoting.

"First," he says, "Franklin D. Roosevelt is set to re-establish a truly fair balance again between American employer and American employe, but it stands to reason that such tremendous adjustment cannot be done overnight. Therefore, let us give him our faith and confidence that in due process he will do so, and our understanding that it must be done gradually.

"Second, the least we can give to a daring fighter, like our president, is our confidence and trust that he will win, and what he helps us to earn, let us throw it back into circulation, that more and more of the little fellows, like we are, shall have a chance to earn and spend again and in so doing this nation might go full speed anew, in full production and in full consumption.

"So we print today in our mast-head the sacred insignia of the NRA."

If our foreign-language newspapers are printing advice of that kind, the 100-per center can stop worrying right now. You might be able to smooth out the wording of that editorial a little, but you couldn't improve on the general spirit of it if you tried all week.

LIVERPOOL CLEANS HOUSE

It is extremely interesting to read that the city of Liverpool, in England, is about to spend around $35,000,000 to rebuild its slums.

Nearly 13,000 ancient and unsanitary houses are to be demolished and 16,000 new ones are to be built in their place, to provide homes for some 40,000 people.

Liverpool's slums have had an unenviable reputation for many years. If they have not been the worst in England they have been very close to it; and the vice, illness, crime and general bad citizenship which they have bred have cost Liverpool many times the sum which is now to be spent on slum abolition. Liverpool's willingness to spend money on that scale in a time of depression might be a useful object lesson for a number of cities on this side of the Atlantic.

THE NEW VIGILANTES

National Commander Louis Johnson's advice to the New York convention of the American Legion, urging the organization to fight incessantly to drive graft, corruption, fraud and extravagance out of the national government, points the way to a new field in which the legion could be very useful.

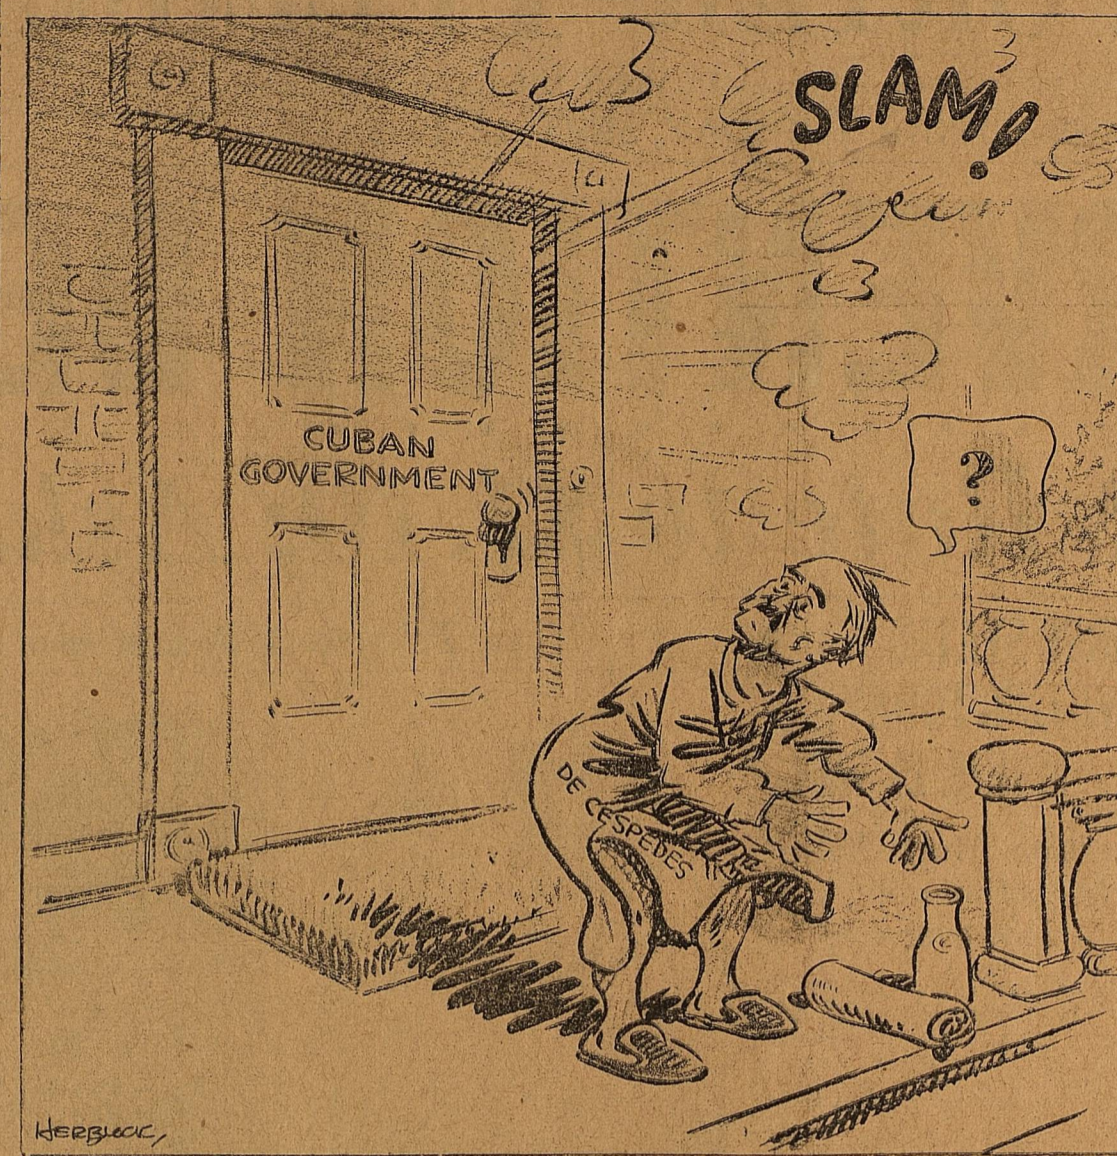

The qualities mentioned by Commander Johnson happen to be far less prevalent in the national government than in most state and city governments. But they have always existed in greater or less degree, and the legion could very profitably make a determined drive on them.

Such things can be eliminated from public life only if the citizenry is alert, vigilant and well-informed. The legion could do a great service by seeing to it that the necessary vigilance and knowledge are kept in existence.

FORMER JAP AMBASSADOR TO UNITED STATES DYING OF A BROKEN HEART

By MILES W. VAUGHN United Press Staff Correspondent TOKIO, (UP)—In a low strangled voice in the Asahi district, Masamichi Hanihara, one time Japanese Ambassador to the United States is dying.

Physicians say that Hanihara is dying from congestion of the brain, but his friends say he is dying from a broken heart because of his misunderstood diplomatic memorandum which preceded the passage by congress of the Japanese exclusion clause in the U. S. immigration law.

This misunderstood memorandum led to a bitterness by Japan toward the United States which has endured through the years and the recall of Hanihara by his government and the end of his career as a diplomat.

Hopes to See Wrong Right "Hanihara hopes only to live to see the United States right, what he believes, the grave wrong done Japan by adoption of the exclusion clause," one of his closest friends told the United Press. "If congress does adopt repeal of the clause, which now seems possible, Hanihara will die happy, feeling that the unification of part he played in this tragedy of international relations has been atoned. If it does not he will die a broken-hearted and embittered man."

But nobody has heard Hanihara complain. Rather he repeatedly has expressed his confidence that his faith in America will be justified.

Public Statement One of the last public statements made by the former diplomat was in December 1929 in an article he wrote for the United Press where he said: "It is true that Japan has one grievance against the United States. It is the unfriendly manner, to say the least, in which the American congress treated the decent and friendly approach of Japan on the matter of non-discriminatory treatment of her people as such.

"Resenting as they do, that unfortunate event (passage of the exclusion act) the Japanese are not foolish enough to regard it as a 'casus belli.' They know that it was in ing the great earthquake of Sept. 1, 1923. But, suddenly, everything American became as unpopular as it had previously been popular. The name of the big American cafe, in Tokio, was changed overnight to Oriental cafe. Japanese girls wearing their hair in American style were hissed, jostled, and even roughly handled. Toku Hamaguchi, then finance minister and later assassinated premier, put through his famous 100 per cent luxury tariff, evincing anti-Americanism in particular and a current of anti-foreignism in general. A band of reactionary youths burst into the ballroom of the Imperial hotel, filled with American and other foreign guests, and slugging a sword dance, shouting a warning to Japanese guests to leave foreign ways alone and not be traitors.

Individuals Not Molested Characteristically Japanese, however, was the fact that no individual Americans were molested, though one Japanese committed harakiri near the American embassy in the traditional method of protest. Such Americans as Lindbergh, Douglas Fairbanks and others when they visited Japan, were greeted by cheering crowds. It is only very recently that this wound to the pride of the Japanese seemed to be healing over. The "cure" is not complete, however, as those Americans who know the Japanese well are thoroughly aware. Evidence that the hurt is there as deep as ever comes out in chance remarks—forebodings of the long-talked of Japan-American war, and boisterous boasts that the Japanese navy is ready to meet the American

Under the Dome Of the Capital

By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, (UP)—When an error in typing made former Governor James E. Ferguson appear in this column as 68 instead of 62, his wife, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, was first to note the mistake. Strangely enough she discovered it on "Governor Jim's" birthday, August 31.

It started considerable discussion of ages about the state capital. Former Governor Ferguson was born in 1871. He had supposed he was as old as United States Senator Morris Sheppard. The congressional record shows Senator Sheppard several years younger. It gives his birth as May 23, 1875. He was born at Wheatville, Morris county.

Though he is generally referred to as the senior senator and Senator Tom Connally as the junior, there is really little difference in their ages. Connally was born in McLennan county August 19, 1877, the record says.

The ages of officials have occasioned some dispute in the past. Former Governor Pat M. Neff was erroneously aged in the manual of the Texas legislature when he was speaker of the house. His age became an issue of the campaign in which Neff defeated former United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey for governor.

There has been much rivalry between friends of Dan Moody and James V. Alfred over which was youngest attorney-general of Texas.

Moody was by two months. He was born June 1, 1859, and became attorney-general in January, 1925. Alfred was 31 years and nine months old when he became attorney-general. Alfred is credited with having been the youngest district attorney in Texas. He held that office at 24.

The late Charles A. Culberson, who was affectionately known during his early political career, as the "boy governor" was older than either Moody or Alfred when he became attorney-general. He was born June 10, 1855 and became attorney-general Nov. 4, 1890 and governor in January, 1895.

Former Governor J. D. Sayers was the oldest man to remain in active public service in Texas. He was within a few months of 88 when he

Municipal Bond Issues Unpopular

AUSTIN, (UP)—Despite the authorization of a $20,000,000 relief bond issue by the Texas eleventh legislature, the voter has decidedly turned "thumbs down" on the creation of bonded or other indebtedness in municipal financing.

Bonds issued by municipalities during the fiscal year ended last August amounted to less than one-half of the total approved for the previous fiscal year. The attorney-general approved legality of only $13,065,441 of bonds last year, compared with $35,102,448 for the year ending August 31, 1932.

Municipal bond issues reached their peak for the last five years in the 12 months ended August 31, 1930, when $88,229,002 of bonds were approved, according to the charts of Antoinette Kuehe, editor of the University of Texas' semi-weekly Bond Buyers' Bulletin.

Recent unpopularity of bonds is attributed in part to the voters' drive for lower tax burdens, and to the state bond assumption law which freed counties and road districts from the necessity of voting bonds

—by Hays Spy Becomes Monk and Ends His Last Great Adventure in Interior China

SHANGHAI—Ranked among the greatest of modern adventurers, I. T. Trebitsch-Lincoln has begun what he describes as his "last great adventure" by founding a Buddhist retreat for European disciples in Shanghai's International Settlement.

Ten Belgian, French and Italian disciples already have arrived from Europe, and more are on the way, to join "Chao Kung," as Lincoln now describes himself, in "Buddhist House" on Shanghai's Great Western Road. Trebitsch-Lincoln has appointed himself abbot of the retreat.

During his adventurous career, Trebitsch-Lincoln has sampled a dozen religious faiths. Born of Jewish parents in Hungary, he became a Presbyterian in England, and afterward a member of the Church of England, acting as vicar of a church in Halifax, Nova Scotia. Returning to England, he became a Quaker, and was elected to the House of Commons in 1919.

Extradited from United States. In August, 1914, Trebitsch-Lincoln was Hungarian censor at the British General Office. Extradited on a charge of forgery, which he claimed was "framed," he was convicted and served three years penal servitude in England and was then deported.

Since that time he has appeared in a dozen countries in a variety of guises. The British Secret Service, which has followed his movements closely, claims that he has worked as spy for several foreign governments.

Trebitsch-Lincoln never denied that he was engaged in "political observations."

Three years ago, Trebitsch-Lincoln appeared in North China, and announced he was entering the Pechurian Buddhist monastery near Peiping as an acolyte. The Chinese abbot welcomed him, and in a few months he was ordained a Buddhist monk with the name of Chao Kung. He then decided to proceed to Europe to "preach a crusade" and found a Buddhist monastery.

Not Wanted in Europe. But his record stood against him. European governments refused him permission to remain.

He then decided to gather disciples and return to China to found a Buddhist retreat. With the first of his flock, he arrived at Shanghai this summer.

Trebitsch-Lincoln insists that he has entered the final phase of his varied career. Two years ago, when interviewed by the writer in North China, he declared, "I have been a Christian clergyman, a businessman, a member of the British Parliament, an oil operator in Galicia and Rumania, an international politician. But now I am a Buddhist monk, and will remain so for the rest of my life."

Today he declares his purpose remains as firm as ever. He adds that his conversion to Buddhism has been gradual, and that he has studied Buddhist doctrines for 30 years. He says he became intensely interested in 1925, and has devoted many hours a day to study since that time.

Chinese Buddhists have accepted Lincoln as a sincere convert, and have welcomed his European disciples. Several Chinese Buddhists stood on the dock when the first lot of European converts arrived by steamer.

The converts include both men and women, and all came to Shanghai from the south of France, where they have studied Buddhism together for some time. They range in age from 21 to 59 years, and include two married couples and a mother and daughter.

One Frenchman was manager of a perfumery shop, another was station manager for an oil company. The widow of a French professor has come with her daughter, who is an artist. An Italian composer has come with his wife, who also is a musician.

At "Buddhist House," as he has named the Lamasery, Chao Kung, as Trebitsch-Lincoln insists upon being called will guide his converts in daily duties. On Sundays, he is giving lectures on Buddhism, open to the Shanghai public. And he draws substantial crowds, Chinese and foreign. The eloquence which has served him in a variety of occupations in his past is just as useful in expounding Buddhism.

Crude Incubator Saved Tiny Baby

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. (UP)—Chubby Richard Weare, who spent his early days in an ingenious home-made incubator, weighs a normal 25 pounds today.

Richard was born prematurely. He weighed only three and one-half pounds and was "too small even to cry."

His father, J. H. Weare, placed a wide board across the infant's crib and connected four 40-watt lamps. The heat from the lamps provided an even temperature of 100 degrees. Richard, meantime, was fed through an eye dropper.

As the infant gained weight, the temperature was gradually reduced by turning out the lights, one at a time. After two and one-half months the child was taken from the incubator in normal condition.

As a farewell compliment to Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hiett who leave Wednesday to make their home at Fort Worth, members of the Lucky Thirteen club entertained Monday evening with a 42 party and watermelon supper on the lawn at the J. T. Walker home.

At the end of the games, tallies were taken up and a large box of handkerchiefs presented each honoree.

NEARNESS

By HELEN WELSHMER

SOMETIMES there is a row of days
When I am very gay,
Forgetting . . . temporarily . . .
That you have gone away.

BUT as a rule I seem to find
Tall people anywhere
Who have the semblance of your smile,
Your laughter, voice and hair.

YOU roam the streets, you ride the trains,
You wander through the park,
Your face goes drifting lazily
Across the summer dark.

YOU haunt and tease and follow me
Through each indifferent crowd—
Oh, won't somebody post a sign
That ghosts are not allowed!

Simmons Eleven To Begin Training

ABILENE—Under the direction of Coach Leslie Cranfill and line-coach Charles Anderson, the Simmons University Cowboys will open training here on Monday, September 11, for a busy season of eleven games, which includes four of the strongest teams in the Southwest. Twenty-three men, the smallest squad in recent years, will furnish the material from which Coach Cranfill will attempt to build a winning combination. To balance this lack of reserve, the Cowboy mentor is depending heavily on eleven lettermen, ten of whom are playing their fourth year of college football.

Lettermen who will report are: Jimmy Neely, G. L. Huestis, and Odell Winters, ends; Carr Sprabery, J. B. Neely, and Jake Bentley, guards; Lloyd Cope, center; Will Edwin Routh, quarterback; Eugene McCollum and Guy Creighton, halfbacks; Carl Pee, halfback.

Members of the 1932 squad returning are: William Ramsey and Orville McLeod, tackles; Lovell Armstrong and Clyde Patterson, guards; Bernard Seed, center; Johnny Hill, Deedie Thompson, and Ira Ribble, backs.

Four junior college graduates will join the Cowboy forces. They are: Rhone of Weatherford and Noon-caster of Cameron Aggies, tackles; Milby of Victoria, back; and Jordan of Mississippi, center.

The Cowboys will open with Dixie University at Dallas on September 23. They will play Baylor, T. C. U., Texas Tech, West Texas Teachers, College of Mines and five Texas Conference schools.

Redistricting Plan Brings Its Problems

AUSTIN (UP)—High school football teams in Texas set out this month for interscholastic league honors along a different route created by the adoption of a re-districting plan.

Number of districts in the league has been increased from 27 to 31, according to Roy Bedichek, chief of the league bureau. District winners will meet in regional contests for eliminations. Entrants for the state meet will be determined by the regional games.

Re-districting was dictated by the depression. Under the new plan, teams will not travel so far to play their schedule. Traveling expenses as well as the amount of school time devoted to inter-school contests are thus reduced.

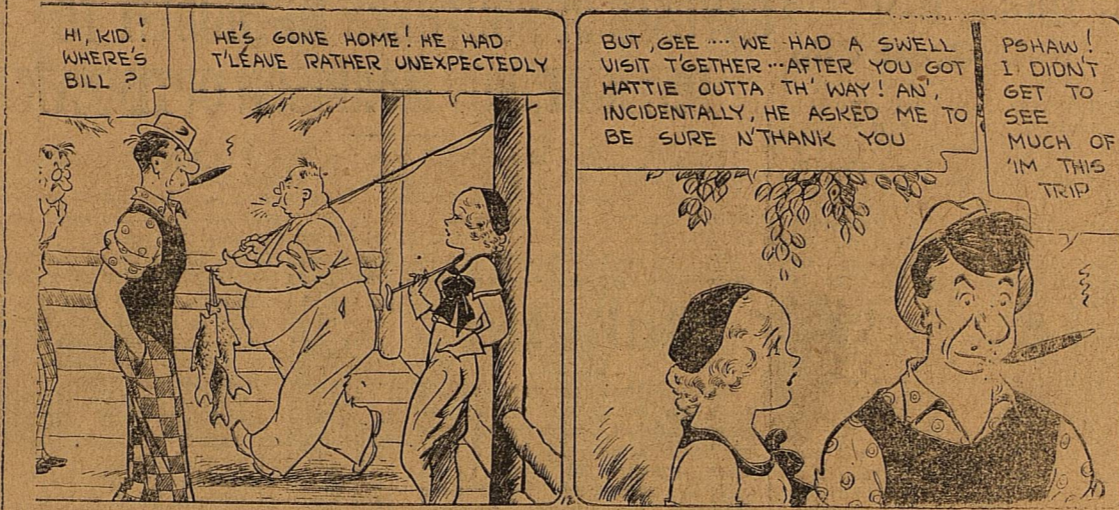

The league also has adopted a rule to prevent barring from all competition those pupils whose schools closed early on account of financial difficulties. The new regulation supercedes the "preceding semester rule" which has thinned the ranks of schoolboy athletics annually.

SECRET SEVEN YEARS

WOODSTOWN, N. J. (UP)—Seven years ago Ethel M. Franklin married William C. Vincent, of Swedesboro. They kept the wedding a secret, until they had sufficient funds to build a home. And now, with their home in Swedesboro nearly finished, Mrs. Vincent's mother announced the marriage.

CHAMPION FROGS PLAY KANGAROOS

FORT WORTH—Coach Francis Schmidt's Horned Frogs will ring up the curtain upon the 1933 football show in the Southwest Conference when they meet the Austin college Kangaroos in Sherman Friday night in a game under the lights.

With only four days of practice behind them when they take their bow at Sherman, the Frogs will not be certain of anything. It will probably take several weeks of practice, instead of several days, to discover just what combination of men works best together—even, for that matter, to discover what position some of the men will fill.

The biggest hole in the Frog lineup is at center. Woodson Armes, squadman of last year, who had the edge on experience, has transferred to Baylor to study for the Baptist ministry. Heard Floore and Jimmy Simpson, graduates of the freshmen team, are both candidates for the position. The chances are that Speedy Allison, tackle last year and better than either of the other men, will be given plenty of chances to make good.

The Christians' squad contains 11 letter men, but no combination of players that has ever worked together to any extent. Several sophomores are expected to make a place for themselves in the regular lineup. So it is evident that Schmidt has the job of building an entirely new machine for his 1933 drive.

So far as Friday's game in Sherman is concerned, everybody on the squad will get a chance to do his stuff. Some of the men will probably get a chance to play two or three positions.

Coach Schmidt has never been known to admit before a game that he thought his team was going to win. The game Friday night is no exception. But those who stand on the sidelines know it would be a upset if the Kangaroos should defeat the Frogs.

Time was when Austin made trouble for T. C. U. eleven. But in recent years, since the graduation of the Christians into the Southwest conference, the Frogs have had things pretty much their own way. Recent scores have been: 1932, 68 to 0; 1932, 38 to 0; 1930, 33 to 7; 1929, 7 to 0; 1923, 0 to 27; the last Kangaroo victory.

The Frogs play two more night games after Austin before launching their conference drive. They go to Brownwood to play Daniel Baker Friday night, Sept. 22, and to Denton to meet the Teachers the following Friday night. Then they go to Fayetteville, Ark., to meet the Razorbacks for their first conference tilt.

Tarzan Couple Marry in Midland

Miss Mozelle Jackson and Mr. Bee Riddle of Tarzan were married in Midland last night at the Baptist parsonage, the Rev. Winston F. Borum reading the ceremony.

Harding-Powell Show at Yucca

How a girl forced her wedding bells to ring and then encounters a problem to keep them ringing is the situation Ann Harding copes with in "Double Harness," coming to the Yucca theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, in which she co-stars with William Powell.

In a spicy, sparkling RKO-Radio comedy-drama, Miss Harding determines to make her marriage an efficiency proposition, and pursues Powell, who depicts a freedom-loving bachelor. Through her artifice and intrigues, the ceremony is eventually performed.

Miss Harding is surprised when Powell's pre-marital love changes to indifference as her bride. For when he learns that she ensnared him by cleverness, he leaves her, and she finds she has acquired a problem instead of a career. Situations rich in touching drama and brilliant comedy continue to a surprise climax which solves Miss Harding's difficulties.

Supporting Ann Harding and William Powell in "Double Harness" are Henry Stephenson, George Meeker, Reginald Owen and Lillian Bond. John Cromwell directed. Jane Murfin adapted Edward Poor Montgomery's London stage success.

Koy Hitting Ball At Great Clip

AUSTIN (UP).—Baseball fans who questioned the ability of Ernest Koy, former fullback star on University of Texas gridirons, to make good in baseball today chafed up a point in favor of the 200-pound slugger.

Sports writers of the Piedmont league recently named Koy as the best centerfielder in the loop. The 23-year-old Texas football star is scheduled to finish this season with Newark of the International league. Newark is a New York Yankee farm. A few Koy fans believe the hard-hitting youngster will be invited to the Yanks' spring training quarters next year if he makes good with Newark this month.

Until the Durham team of the Piedmont league began playing under arc lights, Koy had been hitting at a .367 pace. His average slumped to .345 during night games.

Repeal

some dating back to 1853. Inasmuch as legal authorities say the 1933 beer bill does not repeal county option laws, since alcoholic liquors are not included within its scope, the regulation of liquor after repeal depends largely upon each county's local laws. However, in instances where statutes have been passed vesting complete control not only of beer but of alcohol in the county beer boards, such as in Baldi more, these bodies will assume full authority, at least until the legislative acts, it was said.

Highway Work

They have been selected according to the time of registration. Word new road, but to give needy men employment. The commissioners and county judge were at work today on the matter of removal of the T. & P. section house at Warfield. Definite revision had not been made. Superintendent A. E. Pistole of the T. & P. said the road was ready to cooperate.

The east segment of the highway in Midland county was completed Saturday evening, and the Warfield cut-off west of Midland has been topped. The segment from the cut-off junction to the Ector county line will be completed in a few days.

CAYUSES OF SOUTHERN METHODIST TO BE LIGHT; BUT MORRISON OPTIMISTIC

DALLAS, (UP).—The football hopes of Southern Methodist university of Dallas will depend this season on sophomores. Twelve lettermen from the team which ended the Southwest conference race in fifth place last season have graduated leaving holes in the line and backfield. Several other lettermen may not return.

The 45 candidates expected to report September 20 to Head Coach Ray Morrison for practice will include 28 second year men; two junior college men and 11 others with only one year's experience on the squad. Three seniors are expected to be candidates for the team.

"It will be the greatest squad I've ever had, yet I believe it will be one of the best," Morrison said. "Those kids showed plenty of ability in spring training and they've got the best team spirit I ever saw. They've got dash and fire and they can throw the ball around."

"It is the kind of material we need for our 'social circus.' The public likes that style of offense and we're going to give them plenty of it this fall."

Two of the 45 or more reporting are apparently assured of regular varsity assignments. They are Ray Fuqua and Louis Smith, each ends and rated by Morrison as two of the finest the school has boasted.

Understudying them will be four second year men including Maco Stewart, former all-state high school star from Corsicana, Cecil Colville, Hillsboro, Bill Tipton, Cammona, and Jim Kelly, Dallas high school product, finish the list.

Stewart underwent an appendicitis operation this summer. He may be late getting into condition. Another all-state high school selection reporting for his first varsity season is Bill Shamp, of the short, little guard who teamed with Stewart at Corsicana. J. C. Wetzel of Dallas, is regarded as the second most likely candidate.

Other guard material includes Glen Harmon, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Lester Laughlin, Durant, Okla.; Rollin Dixon, Wichita Falls; Tommie Fields and Charles Baker of Cherokee.

Each of the Oklahoma men is junior. Fields, eighth in the new rule permitting junior college men to play on conference varsity teams, played at Weatherford Junior college last year.

The battle over center involves two sophomores and a junior. Superior speed may give Arthur Johnson of Tyler, one of the stars on the freshman team of last year, the call. Jim Bradford, San Antonio, a tackle, and Buster Raborn of El Dorado, Ark., are the others listed as most likely candidates for this post.

In the backfield Morrison faces one of his biggest problems. Kenneth Travis, regular quarterback, Captain Howard Sprague, fullback, and Bert Baxter, half, will be missing. The latter married this summer, will not return to Southern Methodist.

The shuffle of cards will likely result in some of the material labeled now as "quarterback" fulfilling other assignments.

Six seek the signal-barker's job. They include J. R. Smith and Jack Little, both of Dallas; Shelly Burt, Hillsboro; Bob Turner, Weatherford; Harry Shuford, Tyler, and Jack McNutt, Corsicana. McNutt is a senior, the others sophomores.

Harsh Ross, Farmersville, also a senior, is rated as the best bet for fullback. Whitney Baccus, Estelline, Robert (Bob) Wilson, all-state backfield man while at Corsicana high, Jack Seagraves, Teague, James Russell and Jackie Gore, both of Dallas, and Charles Chinn, Waco, are other backfield men.

COCKATOO BEGS KISSES

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP).—Maidens in Houston shall not back for lovey Tom, a cockatoo, has decided. Not content with merely ornamenting the patio at the home of E. L. Patterson, Tom perches near the sidewalk and roguishly calls to each girl who passes. "Give me a kiss," Tom is believed to be one of the few cockatoos that really talk.

Thousands Get Jobs Under NRA

WASHINGTON—Cross-section reports to NRA headquarters reveal the extent to which the Blue Eagle drive is actually putting men and women back to work. Incomplete reports from state and regional committees show that considerably more than 12,000,000 workers are now under NRA codes, apart from those of about 3,000,000 employers who are operating under the president's emergency unemployment agreement pending completion of codes for their respective industries.

One of the first complete reports was from Ashland, Ky., the home of Henry Clay, where 2,075 men and women were added to pay rolls. Typical results from widely scattered points, showing the fidelity of employers to the recovery program, are as follows:

One hundred and twenty-three firms in Evansville, Ind., added 1,472 employees, with 700 more due to be taken on before October 1. Galveston, Tex., increased its weekly pay rolls $13,500 by adding 636. Three thousand new jobs were created and filled immediately as a result of the drive in Fort Worth, Tex., and the city's weekly pay roll increased by $2,000,000. A chain of grocery stores in Brooklyn increased their employees 13 per cent and their pay roll 10 per cent. Eight hundred and twenty-two persons were reemployed at Corpus Christi, Tex. In Harrisburg, Pa., 1,445 workers were reemployed with pay roll increase of $127,284.

The NRA committee in Indianapolis reported their check-up revealed 21,000 persons reemployed, of which 5,884 went back to work for eight large companies, with increase of $113,391 to weekly pay rolls. A Bartlesville (Okla.) oil company added 3,000 men in their service stations in 30 states, "with more to follow soon." Warren, O., added 1,331 employees, with pay-roll increase of $109,000. Fort Dodge, Iowa, put on 456, with addition to pay rolls of $388,000 per year. The pay roll of Butler, Pa., was increased $259,000 per month. Minneapolis, Norwich, Conn., and many cities and towns in scores of states made similar reports. Incomplete reports indicate that many thousands are being put back to work in Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Denver, and other large centers.

Nearly 6,000,000 workers will be affected by the completion of the retailers' code and hundreds of heavy leather hats which weigh between 5 and 10 pounds each, 14 hours' work is required to make one of these hats, which contain hundreds of nails.

KINGFISH TO RACE FREEPORT (UP)—The first kingfish race in history is being planned by fishermen in Freeport waters. Inflated toy balloons will be fastened to the dorsal fins of each of a half dozen kingfish. Each fish will be "sold" for a price.

At a signal the racers will be released. The fish progressing farthest from the starting boat within given time will win.

Fish-porters in the Billingsgate Market, London, wear peculiar heavy leather hats which weigh between 5 and 10 pounds each, 14 hours' work is required to make one of these hats, which contain hundreds of nails.
