Fun Is Watchword Of Lions Club Musical Show For Benefit Of Unemployed, Wednesday Evening

Big Spring is proud of having won the 1932 contest of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. This year's meeting was much more enjoyable to local people because of their own had a major part in making that meeting a success.

Responsibilities of citizenship today are greater, more clearly defined than at any time in the history of the preceding generation.

You may attribute downfall of commodity prices, strangulation of trade, widespread unemployment, with war, hunger and unrest to a lot of things. You may follow the line of least resistance and weakly, peevishly blame everything from the weather through the stock exchange, war debts, the tariff and the Republican party for hardships through which America with its every citizen is going, but if we are brave, fearless, strong and fair-minded each of us will accept the responsibility that American citizenship represents.

When we do that our efforts will be for rebuilding rather than for further destroying our spiritual, social and economic welfare.

Tolerance of the other fellow's viewpoint must dwell in our hearts if we are to get anywhere with any problem of the community, the commonwealth or the union.

Eventually the 103 Ranch sold one-half undivided interest to the Shell Petroleum Corporation and later the other one-half to the Tidal Oil company. The block now is owned jointly by Shell, Tidal and Westhede.

Individual leases are owned adjoining the block by Westhede, Sun, Humble, Empire, Gulf, Atlantic, Continental, Producers and Refiners (Sincclair), and Barnardall.

The Texas company owns a block north of the Westhede location, the Continental Oil company a 16-section.

This is the first wildcat location made in West Texas by Westhede in nearly two years.

Wednesday night is to be the big night for fun-lovers of town. The Lions Club will give its beautiful, riotous, side-splitting benefit entertainment at 9:30, the proceeds of which will go to the unemployed of the city.

Mrs. Lee Weathers is the director and E. W. Potter has charge of the music which includes some good singing by the famous quartet and the Pajama girls' chorus.

Rotary Club Hears Reports

Reports on the club's campaign to win the 1933 convention of the 41st district of Rotary International, announcement of plans for the joint ladies' night banquet with the Kiwanis club, a report on Big Spring's participation in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention which ended in the winning of the 1933 convention for this city were among items on the Tuesday luncheon program of the Big Spring Rotary club at the Settles hotel, Joe Galbraith was chairman of the day.

Convention Campaigns Related; Memorial Program Planned

A Memorial Day program, honoring deceased members of this and other Rotary clubs, will be held next week. Bruce Frazier, Judge James T. Brooks and V. O. Hennen will draw up resolutions to be submitted there.

The June 31 program will be an "open forum" on club problems, President R. T. Piner announced. He also outlined the annual annual Feeders' Day program at the government farm.

Two visiting Rotarians, John N. Bird of Pecos, N. L. Peters of Lubbock, were present. Other guests were members of the Liberty orchestra, who played during the meeting, four members of Ed Branham's orchestra of the Chicago Polka, who sang trios, vocal solos and gave piano numbers; and James Little and Wendell Bedichek, Kiwanians.

Report on the W. T. G. C. convention campaign was made by Wendell Bedichek. He told of the untiring work of Manager Watson of the local chamber, of the loyal support accorded Big Spring by men of other cities.

"The question confronting us today is not whether anyone was wise or foolish in helping to build any hotel, auditorium or other local facility. These things exist before us as facts. The question for us to consider now is whether we will back up our declarations of loyalty and boostings of the merits of Big Spring by doing our parts toward taking full advantage of what we have; if it is not a matter of what we might have thought of any project in its inception," said Bedichek.

Dr. Bennett urged all club members to have their friends who know Rotarians in other cities write to them, urging support of their own clubs for Big Spring as the 1933 district convention site.

One Of Trio In Statement, Says Officer

People Claimed To Have Been Contacted Do Not Exist

HOPEWELL, N. J. (AP)—Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey state police, announced that John Hughes Curtis, one of the three Norfolk intermediaries in the search for the Lindbergh baby, had written a complete confession that all the people with whom it was claimed he negotiated for return of the child and the boats on which he had claimed he met them were creations of his own imagination.

Schwartzkopf said Curtis wrote the confession on a typewriter at 4 a. m. Tuesday.

He said gist of the statement was as follows: Shortly after the kidnaping Curtis told a story about having had contact with the kidnapers. Curtis claims a newspaper representative then approached him with a lucrative offer for an exclusive story. Another newspaper and a film company also made offers, he said.

Curtis said Dean Peacock could have prevented the deception. He said Admiral Burrage merely presented the story to Lindbergh as related to him by Curtis.

Schwartzkopf said reputable citizens had vouched for Curtis' reliability, making the deception easier.

Curtis' story resulted in wide activities of the coast guard and several airplane and sea trips by Col. Lindbergh.

Police started questioning Curtis four days ago and the confession finally resulted.

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was announced that the Curtis confession that his story was a fake bore out belief of the Coast Guard, which doubted it all along.

Steers Jump On Indians In Tenth Inning

Medwick's Homer Wins For Buffs; Tyler Defeated
SAN ANTONIO—Pitching shut-out ball Wednesday against Lefty Oscar Fuhr for nine innings, Bob "Shanty" House was deprived of the chance to win his game for San Antonio when he was taken out for a pinch hitter and the Dallas Steers came up in the tenth to score two runs to win 2-0. The Indians were shut out in the home half with two runners on the bases in the opening game of the series. Fabian Kowalk pitched the 19th inning and put Ponura on with a base on balls, and after Loopp sacrificed, whereupon Lena Styles nailed a single to right and Bonura scored, followed by Holman when the ball got away from Crossley.

DODGERS II, PIRATES 1
PITTSBURGH, (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers went on a hitting spree in the ninth inning Wednesday to score eight runs on as many hits and defeated the Pirates, 11 to 1. During the rally the visitors made seven consecutive hits, including a home run by Frederick "Van Mungo" went the route for the Dodgers to score his first victory of the season. BEAUMONT 5, TROJANS 5
BEAUMONT—The Beaumont Exporters maintained their first place position by defeating the Tyler Trojans, 5-5 in a tight game. Until Buck Marrow relieved Hamlin the Trojans were keeping pace with the locals. Marrow allowed two hits in the sixth, a double play preventing a score, but no more after that.

BUFFS 5, SPUDDERS 1
HOUSTON—Mike Cvegrogs' superb pitching in the last eight rounds and Joe Medwick's eleventh home run of the season here Monday night carried Joe Schultz's Houston Buffs to a 5-1 victory over the Wichita Falls Spudgers. Rain was falling heavily in the eighth round when Medwick connected for the round trip ticket.

To start the trip, Hock beat out a slow one to third and Stebbins bunted him to second. Carey rolled out to third, Hock going to third. Pressnell's "knuckler" had baffled Medwick his first three times at bat. But this time Joe put terrific power into an outside pitch, and the ball traveled on a line over the right field fence, disappearing in the rain and costing Pressnell a brilliantly-twisted ball game.

Public School Available Fund Receives $19,863,877 In State Funds; $250,000 Due From Oil Tax

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN—The public school available fund has received so far $19,863,872 in money from state sources since the beginning of the state fiscal year, last Sept. 1, and has more than $250,000 yet to come on a quarterly oil tax collection not yet written into the records.

Of this sum, $250,000 was the annual rural aid appropriation out of the state general revenues. The rest was in direct tax collections for school purposes.

Here are some of the tax and income items since Sept. 1, that go to run the state public school system, not counting another $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year derived from the local school district taxes:

35-cent state education tax (including 1/2 poll tax) ..	$ 9,244,140
1-4 state gasoline tax ..	8,842,254
Rural aid appropriation for year ..	2,500,000
1-4 gross receipts, including one-quarter of the oil tax collections ..	886,698
1-4 gross receipts on insurance ..	87,167
Interest on bonds owned ..	606,755
Miscellaneous collections ..	237
Interest on state deposits of school funds ..	17,407
Revenues from school lands, including oil royalties, bonuses, leases, and interest on lands unpaid ..	873,513
Interest on railroad bonds owned ..	5,721
1-2 state cigarette tax to Nov. 15 ..	439,820
1-2 state cigarette tax since Nov. 15 ..	600,000
Total ..	$19,863,872

Of the gross receipts tax, the schools' fourth of the one-quarter of payments amounted to $273,569.

A capable statistician in one of the state departments has figured out where the taxes go that are collected from a typical landowner, with a property rendition of $31,670 for state and county purposes.

This typical taxpayer would pay a total of $1,424.55 taxes. None of this is city property. School districts would get of the total, $213.19, and road and school bonds, $363.97. The county's 90-cent tax rate would take up $465.05 of it. The state altogether, under its 74-cent rate, would get $582.34.

County salaries would amount to $51.67. State salaries would total $22.67.

Assuming this statistician's figures are exactly correct, a 10 per cent reduction in all state salaries would save just $4.26 for this property owner who rendered his assessment at $31,670.

To reduce all county salaries 10 per cent would save him $5.16 a year.

Texas And Pacific Loses Tax Decision

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The supreme court today held the Texas and Pacific Railway company must pay income taxes on the $2,061,082 guaranty payment made by the federal government for postwar operations on the road. The court of claims had also ruled the $206,108 paid on guaranty fund receipts were property taxable.

BOXING CHAMP ADOPTS SECRETARY

NEW BOARD OF STRATEGY FOR SENATE BEAR HUNT

Two men were killed and several injured when the fast Norfolk and Western train, "The Pochan" piled up near Portsmouth, O. This picture shows part of the wreckage. The accident was blamed on vandals tampering with a rail.

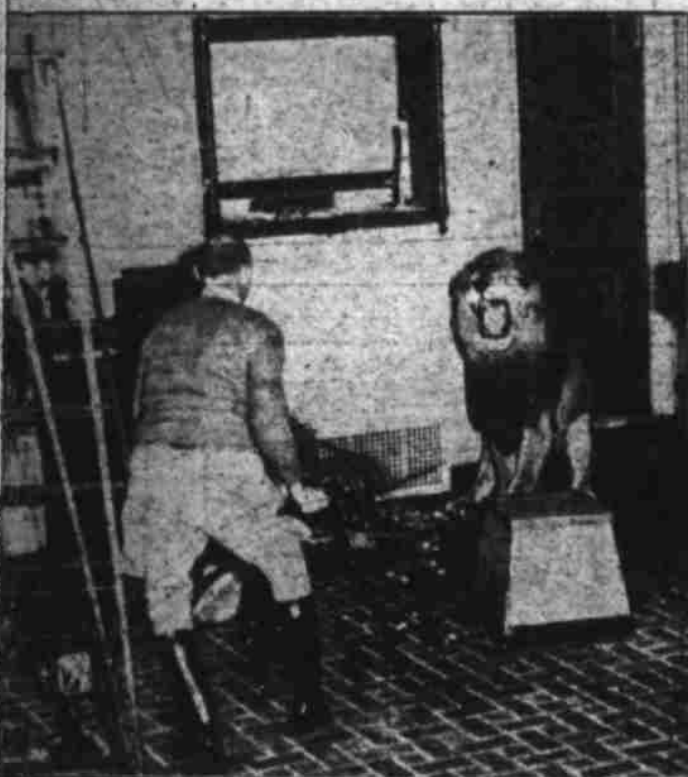

William Muldoon, 88, New York state boxing commissioner, acquired a daughter half his age by the adoption of his secretary, Margaret V. Farrell. She was also designated his heir. Muldoon never married. Miss Farrell has been his secretary for 12 years.

Here is the new alignment in the senate banking committee which is expected to make an extensive investigation of Wall street brokerage houses and the New York stock exchange. Only one senator classed as an administration supporter, Townsend of Delaware, is a member of the group which may continue its investigation throughout the summer. Left to right: Senator Couzens, Senator Townsend, Chairman Norbeck, Senator Fletcher and Senator Glass.

LEO RUNS WILD IN RADIO STATION

No, for the life of a cameraman. Runaway lions are not outside his realm. This picture was taken as Leo the lion was subdued by his trainer after running amuck in a Boston radio studio. Leo was billed to go on the air but 150 persons gathered to watch the performance had an entirely different show. He hurled his 900-pound bulk through a double plate glass window and bounded from room to room. Six were hurt in the panic that ensued.

the MAN HUNTERS BY MABEL McELLIOTT

SIGREN HERE TODAY
SUSAN CAREY, 29 and beautiful, has become engaged to marry EUGENE HEATH, her former employer. She is secretly in love with BOB DUNBAR, who is said to have an "understanding" with DENISE ACKROYD, a girl of his own set. Heath's wife has just secured a Reno divorce. Susan's chief motive in wanting to marry Heath is the desire to provide for the future of her AUNT JESSIE, who has cared for her since childhood. Her aunt is ill and Heath has arranged to send her south. Susan is staying with the MILTONS, old friends. BEN LAMPFMAN, an old suitor, shoots at Heath one night in a fit of jealousy, but the affair is hushed up. Susan tries to tell Heath she does not love him enough to marry him but does not succeed. He takes her to the theater where she sees Dunbar for the first time in months. Bob has tried to find her without success. He is angered at seeing her with Heath.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIX

"Hello!" It was Jack Waring. Susan smiled with pleasure. She had not seen him for several weeks. She was a little embarrassed, though, by the man's air of knowledge.

"You are a stranger," he commented, taking her arm and steering her through the noisily crowded "Come and have a soda. I want to talk to you."

Susan followed him into the shining drug palace and they sat down on high stools facing a disconcertingly bright mirror.

"I'll just have a glass of milk. I'm having lunch with Rose in half an hour," the girl explained.

That matter disposed of, Waring began to question her briskly. "What's all this I hear about you?" You certainly strike a march on us." His tone was agreeable enough, but Susan thought she detected an undercurrent of sarcasm. She flushed, answering the challenge.

"What do you know?" she parried.

"Everything," he smiled at her. "I must admit I was surprised at your manner changed, became suddenly grave. You don't mind if I talk to you like a Dutch uncle, do you?"

Susan said no, she didn't. "Well, it's this way," the man went on confidentially. "I hope you're perfectly sure what you're going before you go into this, because it's awfully easy to make a mistake that needs a lot of undoing."

"I know that," answered Susan faintly, puzzled at his implication. "I don't want to barge in where I'm not wanted," Waring pursued.

"Anyone who tries to advise people about to be married has packed himself a thankless job. But I like you both and I've been through the mill myself." He paused and Susan did not attempt to assist him.

"The old man is a grand one. Nobody knows that better than I do," he went on awkwardly. "He's a bit set in his ways but that doesn't matter particularly. The thing is, are you quite sure you care enough about him to make him happy? He's had a stiff time of it for the last 10 years. I happen to know."

knows that. He'll just have to take me as I am."
"I never heard anything so silly," said Rose. "Even Mamma thought it was perfectly proper for you to take these things. After all, they'll be yours in a few weeks anyhow."
Susan was stubbornly silent.

"Well, I wish I had the chance. That's all I've got to say," Rose told her. "You come up to the third floor this afternoon and see the new French lingerie and I'm sure you'll change your mind."

"Oh, well," said Rose, accepting this as a temporary dismissal, "come tomorrow then while the things are fresh."
The two girls parted a few moments later, Rose returning to her post with eagerness. Susan wandered down Michigan avenue rather aimlessly. It was queer, this feeling of not having anything definite to do. Now that the society had worn off she was not sure that she liked it. At first it had been fun. Fun to dawdle past the shop windows and stare at the lovely things behind glass. Fun to play with the idea that all these things would be hers for the taking one day soon. Now the whole thing had lost its appeal. She had occasionally a sensation of sheer panic as she visualized her life to come. She would be a rich man's wife. She was not at all sure she would fit into the picture. Heath had sketched for her. Of course they would travel for a while but the return would be inevitable and then what? She had never learned to do the charming, useless things at which rich women spend their time. All her life Susan had been a worker. She might have golf lessons. She might study French. She might even in time discover the mysteries of the bridge table. All these would be merely devices for killing time. At the prospect she shuddered. Life should have more meaning than that.

She could catch an occasional glimpse of herself in shop windows as she passed. A tall girl in last year's blue suit that just escaped being definitely shabby. This time next year she would own dozens of costumes. She would have a new house, cars, servants at her disposal. The thought tired her. "I'd better go home," she decided suddenly. "It's stupid to wander about like this with nothing to do."

Mrs. Milton looked up in surprise as Susan entered the house.

"Why, lovely, I thought you were going to stay downtown till supper time!"
"I was," Susan said listlessly. "But I changed my mind. I got tired. Do you know, she went on childishly. "I've discovered I like home best. I used to think when I went downtown to work that I enjoyed all that glitter. Now I think it would be wonderful if Aunt Jessie and I could be back in the little house together, just as we were."

"Boodings, and all!" Mrs. Milton teased.
"Boodings, and all!" said Susan quietly.
"Well, I must say that doesn't sound quite right, from a very lucky girl who's about to be married," opined her hostess. "Don't let anyone else hear you say that. They might misunderstand and think you weren't happy."

day with reference to the brotherhood's visit to the president are certainly to the point. He said "Far from being agitators, those are men of thought and character. The federal government must assume its part. We can't expect the local communities to deal with this national problem."

It is, therefore, foolish, self-destructive for any citizen to contribute by word or deed to any movement or sentiment that can only interfere with efforts to relieve our present situation.

The sanctity of our homes, the right of free worship and speech, the security of our property, the opportunity of our children to look to the future with ambition that they have reason to believe will not be blighted by decadence or downfall of the greatest government the world has known, rests in the final analysis, in the hearts, the heads and upon the hands of the rank and file of American people, individually and collectively.

In our scheme of things responsibilities of citizenship begin and should be exercised, first, at home. No matter how we may have allowed beliefs hatched by prejudices snare our viewpoint until we consider this man or that, this or that group inimicable to our own welfare the overshadowing fact is that, after all, are aims, and our problems are treasured and they confront us as a common body, welded together by brotherhood in the ranks of American citizens.

And, as Big Spring citizens, too. The man who questions the honesty, the sincerity of all others has no right to expect others to repose any confidence in himself. The tolerance that makes possible our freedom does not exist in the heart of any man who assumes such an attitude. He may preach of his love for his country but he exerts his influence as an enemy to its welfare.

Whether a majority of the people are big enough to work out their problems together is the question upon which rests all future welfare of citizens everywhere.

What is the PRICE OF BEAUTY?

Without health there can be little natural beauty. The wise woman knows that the condition of her body shows itself on her face, her complexion, and in her eyes. She takes care to avoid constipation. This treacherous ailment frequently causes headaches, sallow skin, pimples, premature aging. Try the pleasant "cereal way" to protect yourself from constipation. Science has proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron, which helps build up the blood. The "bulk" in this delicious cereal is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than abusing your system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming! Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
