Twelve Pickets Shot in Mine Rioting; Troops Called

HEAVILY ARMED MINERS HOLDING MINE APPROACHES

Battle With Guardsmen May Follow, Is Feared

HARRISBURG, Ill., Oct. 5. (UP)—Armed progressive pickets, in battle array around the Peabody Coal company's No. 43 mine, wounded twelve of 25 guards in renewal of factional warfare today.

The miners, with high powered rifles and machine guns, refused to surrender their positions, although 200 national guardsmen were rushing to the scene.

W. C. Craig, mine superintendent, trapped with guards at the shaft when 200 miners started the attack, telephoned that twelve were wounded and said, "I help doesn't come pretty quick they'll get us all."

Sheriff Eugene Chesser of Saline county expressed fear that the miners would battle guardsmen en route to the mine and that additional bloodshed was probable.

VISITORS STAGE ROTARY PROGRAM

Bringing their program of entertainment, Big Spring Rotarians visited the local Rotary luncheon today in the first of an inter-city program exchange. Seven members of the visiting club, and an additional entertainer were in the group.

Miss Caroline Moreland of Roswell, with piano classes at Big Spring this season, played a variety of numbers, the first a Russian waltz, the second her own arrangement of a picture theme song on which rights were reserved and she could not secure the music, the third a novelty number called "The Three Trees" and the fourth a popular air in her own arrangement.

The Rev. Jack Thorns, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Big Spring, gave a practical talk on "The Value of Rotary," outlining its benefits from the international promotion of goodwill down to the fellowship obtained as result of weekly club meetings.

Father Francis, Big Spring Catholic priest, made a classification talk in which he told interesting points in connection with the life of one in his profession, introducing many humorous details.

Jess Hall was chairman of the program. Others in the group were Dr. E. O. Billington, W. C. Blankenship and Sam Eason.

The luncheon was served by the North Ward Parent Teachers' association.

KELLY AND WIFE SAY NOT GUILTY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5. (UP)—Machine Gun Kelly and his wife pleaded not guilty to arraignment on federal indictments charging them as conspirators in the Urschel kidnaping today.

Judge Edgar S. Vaughn overruled demurrers seeking dismissal of indictments and denied a change of venue.

Postal Relief Man Is to Be Succeeded

D. T. Russell, relief operator in charge of the Postal Telegraph company office here for the past month, was expected to resign today for similar work in other offices of the company.

J. F. Green of Wichita Falls was to succeed him as manager of the Midland office, it was announced.

Seven Floyd Horses Enter Hall of Fame

Seven horses born seven years ago on Timberline Floyd's ranch are in the equine hall of fame.

Three of these horses are star polo ponies at Shreveport. One is a race horse now in Kansas. Another is an army horse at Fort Reno. Another is a star rodeo horse, "Cap," who recently won honors at Springfield, Mass., and will perform for two riders soon at Madison Square garden in New York. The seventh, for which Floyd refused $1,000, is on the ranch with a badly cut foot.

Floyd has been offered from $100 to $1,000 for the horses, and sold one for $600. They were all sold by a government stallion.

Midland in 1906 Vastly Different from Present

By CELESTE HANKINS

The Midland of 1906 was a vastly different town from that of 1933, an old illustrated bulletin reveals. This bulletin, written and published by C. C. Watson, editor of The Midland Livestock Reporter, is profusely illustrated. The frontispiece shows a picture of what is listed as "Midland County's New Court House." It is the old red stone court building which was torn away for the imposing structure now occupying the same site. In front of the "new building" of 1906, it appears that a lake stands. But old-timers assure there had been a rain a few moments before the picture was taken and that the water stood only about a foot or a foot and a half deep in the ungraded street and that one could get in the front door of the courthouse easily—by carefully picking one's way around the block to the back entrance, then crossing the court yard to the front entrance.

A birds-eye view of the city, taken from the top of the old courthouse, shows three frame churches, a few windmills and plenty of prairie dotted with buildings. A street scene shows about 18 or 20 of Midland's most enterprising citizens gathered at the corner of what is now the Hokus-Fokus and United Dry Goods company. Not a vehicle is on the street, which is much different from the street scene of today, and some of the most prominent features of the photograph are the telephone poles.

Two of the four finest homes of Midland at the time were the Henry M. Half place at the corner of Midland and Maricopa, which burned a few years ago, and the present T. O. Midkiff home in southwest Midland. These and two other homes, ownership of which is not known, are in the book, were shown in the book, as were ranch and farm scenes.

The copy in the book was prepared for the Midland commercial club, and they are in the book.

Where is Midland?

"Midland gets her name by being located just half way between Fort Worth and El Paso, it being 307 miles from us to each of these two cities. We are on the Texas and Pacific railroad, which splits in two in the great South Plains of Texas, which, 'quoting from every-where' is 'the greatest country on earth.'"

"It is a wonderful country, and had the writer leave to voice his enthusiasm in description, he would wonder and amaze, of those who come to us from afar and know for the first time where we are, what we are and what we are capable of."

"In 1905 Midland had a population of 1500.

In 1906 it is 3,000.

In 1907 it will be 6,000.

In 1908 it will be 15,000.

In 1909-10 30,000 to 40,000.

"Part of this is of course a guess, but the guess will not fall far short, it would seem, for the town is putting on a growth that is rapid and substantial."

Climate and Altitude

"That the Midland country is healthy cannot be questioned. The here manifested is of that proverbial natural level—and its topography is of such beauty as to be almost beyond compare. Some of our homes here are indeed palatial, and we are becoming quite noted for splendid business establishments and the magnificence of our public buildings and institutions. It is a beautiful town, and entitled to its designation as 'The Queen City of the South Plains.'"

Citizenship

"The citizenship of Midland is most desirable, and the hospitality here manifested is of that proverbial western kind which knows no bounds nor lack of courtesy. Its spiritual and moral elements are classes that have no peer: educational, literary, and materially in evidence, while our social features are natural, without conventionality, refined and pure. It has been this way during the past fifteen months, but an enumeration of our business concerns would only tire the leader. The town has a great reputation for its wealth, and this may be verified by a consultation of the reports of our two substantial national banks."

Religious Denominations

"Midland is represented by five of the leading denominations, namely: Baptist, Methodist, Christian, Presbyterian and Catholic. The Baptist, Methodist and Christian churches now have an approximate sum of $50,000 with which they will (See MIDLAND, page 4)

5 NEW TOPICS SUBMITTED TO LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (UP)—Governor Ferguson today submitted five new topics to the legislature which has eight more working days left of the special session, with none of the major purposes accomplished.

New bills would place municipal hospitals under the public works program with a view to getting federal funds for construction; would require public works contractors to employ only Americans; regulate the furnishing of records in state departments to citizens applying for them; grant the grand lodge of the order of Sons of Hermann permission to sue the state; provide that slot machine taxes be placed in the school fund.

The senate passed bills reducing license on agricultural vehicles from $33 to $16.50; adjusting fees and salaries of assistant district attorneys of Harris county to effect a saving of $6,270.00; providing that the unexpended balance of the fund fund to be raised by one-tenth of a cent tax per barrel on crude may be used to employ additional help for the oil and gas division of the railroad commission; removing Dallas county from the fourteenth congressional district to the fifteenth.

CALDWELL ASKS SENATE SUPPORT

Every state senator in Austin will today receive a letter from J. M. Caldwell of Midland setting forth the dire need of farmers to be reimbursed for costs of the pink boll worm regulations. Caldwell, Midland attorney has many personal friends in the senate, but a letter like the following went to all members of the body.

"I notice the governor has submitted the subject of reimbursing cotton growers of the state for expense incurred from 1929 to 1932 by the establishment of regulations relating to the pink boll worm. House Bill 1115 by Metcalfe and others has been introduced in the house on that subject."

"This will necessarily reach the senate in the day or two, as it is formed, and that house committee has reported it favorably, and that it will probably pass by a large majority."

"Normally I do not take stock in these matters, but the depressing condition which exist in most of the country affected by this bill at the present time, constrains me to write you and to ask your assistance in this measure. Losses to the farmers and counties affected have been very, very considerable, and some people think useless, and added to that is the fact that in a large percent of the territory affected no crops of any kind had been raised during the current year."

"Let me suggest also that it has been an almost continuous policy of this state to reimburse its citizens for damages sustained by them upon the destruction of either crops or live stock, and that the only objection which could be urged at the present time is the depressed state of finances."

"Let me repeat that in my opinion this bill deserves your unequalled support, and I trust that you will give it."

HARDEST FIGHT IS 'AHEAD,' ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (UP)—President Roosevelt told the National Conference of Catholic Charities that the hardest fight of national recovery is ahead.

The president said efforts must be redoubled by the forces that American courage and faith will bring the nation "out of the valley of gloom."

Communities and states must do their part, he said.

ODD HOUSE HOPE OF PETS

WILMINGTON, Del. (UP)—William T. Schaffer, 77-year-old animal fancier, has solved the housing problem for his cats, guinea pigs and rabbits. On the lawn of his home he built a small house separated in various apartments and containing doors and windows. He put the rabbits on the ground floor, the cats on the second, and the guinea pigs on the third.

BEANS NETTED U. S. $619

EL PASO (UP)—Nine tons of beans seized by customs agents from smugglers who attempted to bring them across the Rio Grande netted the federal government $619 when the beans were sold at auction. Smugglers have taken up beans in stead of liquor since the El Paso price advance to six cents per pound.

TROPICAL BLOW DAMAGE SLIGHT IN KEYS SECTOR

HAVANA, Oct. 5. (UP)—Looters roamed Havana today as the hurricane became diminished and citizens, torn by wind and battle, awaited next political developments. The government ordered soldiers to kill anyone pillaging.

Two negro looters were killed and a third was wounded. Snipers in the downtown section killed a member of a radical group supporting the government.

WINNING HURLER GIVES 5 BINGLES

LIONS CHARGE A BEER PARTY HELD

Lions Wednesday not only set themselves up as friendly critics of the Rotary's "beer party" last week, but invited two Rotarians as guests for the ribbing.

Despite the fact the Rotary club served tea in beer bottle, the Lions threw jibes from every direction, and the Rev. Winston F. Borum and Paul T. Vickers, Rotarian guests, had to sit with folded hands and listen. They were given a chance to defend their club later. Both did so eloquently.

There were no speakers or music on the program, the Beasts simply walked in formally and having a good time. George Philippus, second vice-president, presided. Dr. John B. Thomas, Bill Jones and Harry L. Haight contributed to the fun-making.

DR. THOMAS TO GO TO SURGEONS MEET

Dr. John B. Thomas will leave Friday for Chicago to attend the week of clinics of the American College of Surgeons. He formerly has attended the meetings in New York. He expects also to spend several days at the world's fair.

Dr. Herman Klapproth, formerly associated with Dr. Thomas, is here from Galveston and will have charge of the Midland clinic-hospital and of the practice of Dr. Thomas in his absence.

HOME-COOKED FOOD AT QUAKER MEETING

WEST BRANCH, Iowa. (UP)—Delegates to the annual state meeting of the Society of Friends here in October will be assured of home-cooked food.

Quaker women for the past month have canned more than 800 quarts of apple butter and an equal amount of apple sauce for the meeting. Many bushels of vegetables are stored for the event.

The work was done in the Scattergood seminary, Quaker denominational school here.

CONDemn LAND, TO Let All Contracts

MINERAL WELLS (UP)—Palo Pinto county commissioners have authorized condemnation of land through right-of-way that could not be obtained for state highway No. 30 south of here to the county line.

The action is expected to permit letting of contracts at the October session of the state highway commission.

SENATORS WIN 3RD GAME BY 4-0 SCORE

With the president of the United States watching the game from his box and many of the highest officials of the government in their places, the Washington Senators, twice drubbed at New York by the National league Giants, showed again the invincible form that carried them to the peak in the American league pennant chase, beating the Giants 4 to 1.

Earl Whitehill let the Giants down with five well scattered hits, and his mates hammered Fred Fitzsimmons for nine, four of them doubles. The extra bases spelled most of the difference. Fitzsimmons left the mound in the seventh, giving way to a pinch-hitter, Peel.

The Senators gave their pitcher good encouragement in the first inning, when they scored twice. Another run was added across in the second and one in the seventh.

Myers, second baseman for Washington, led the hitting with two singles and a double in four trips to the plate. Schulte, center fielder for the Senators, hit a single and double.

The series stands two to one for the Giants. Games are scheduled at Washington tomorrow and Saturday and, if more games are necessary to decide the series, it will be resumed at New York.

"Most of the city of Washington" was in Griffith park, supplemented by thousands from out of the city. The crowd was probably the greatest ever to jam the great park, despite the fact the Nats had lost two consecutive games and it had rained intermittently during the day.

A great tarp had to be laid over the diamond during the morning, and this was not removed until warming up time for the clubs. Just as President Roosevelt entered his box and the national anthem was struck up by the Marine band, sunshine streamed through the rift of clouds for the first time during the morning and the crowd, as if to hold in light that made the great marble building stand out in relief as if edged with neon glare.

Manager Bill Terry announced his pitching choice early, but the national press were restive as time for the game drew near and Manager Joe Cronin made no announcement. Ev-ling after Earl Whitehill, great left-hander, began warming up before the Washington "Shout" of the presence of Monte Weaver in the bullpen caused a speculative wave to surge through the stands.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UP)—Simon Lake's "baby" submarine, the Explorer, is going on an ambitious cruise within the next few months which will include a search for new sponge beds at depths of 300 feet, an invasion of the pearl beds and possibly a try at hidden treasure in the hulks of sunken vessels.

Lake said the tiny submarine, his latest development in under-water craft, would start south before the mother ship, Norma. A try at the Bahamas is expected to permit letting of contracts at the October session of the state highway commission.

ROUNDS UP DUCKS

HAYWARD, Cal. (UP)—City Dog Catcher Robert Lee Pace is versatile. Business was slack the other day. A phone jangled. Said the voice, "There's a flock of stray ducks hanging around my island." EDITORIAL NOTES

If the plan to have each citizen of Melbourne, Australia, contribute one cubic foot of soil in connection with the forthcoming centenary celebration of the state of Victoria is carried out, it will mean not only the erection of a sizable memorial, but that another figure of speech, the one about making mountains out of molehills, has "gone literal."

Everyone knows, of course, that the object of agitating repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is to promote true temperance. That must be the reason why the Keeley Institute, well-known asylum for liquor addicts, resumed recently its advertising in the newspapers of leading American cities.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

I've heard that what this country needs is more men who shave blue and fewer men who spout off advice.

Did you hear the one about the government agent who appraised the farmer's holdings and filled out the questionnaire? He knew what everything was except a goat and when he mailed in a description of the goat the government office thought he was describing the farmer.

For further particulars see Percy Mims who acts as some sort of appraiser for government loans here.

And Mims is a farmer on the side too.

I think it's the south side.

Typical Holt Action in "The Woman I Stole"

Film audiences have grown to expect a good picture whenever Jack Holt is starred, and "The Woman I Stole," Columbia's newest film featuring this popular actor, showing Friday and Saturday at the Ritz theatre, is no exception. There are powerful situations, without number, a rapid-fire plot, and a splendid cast.

The strength of the picture lies, not only in the unusual love story, but in the dramatic punches and realistic oil-field atmosphere. The locale is an isolated oil port on the edge of a desert, and there men struggle bare handed to achieve personal success. They employ fair means and foul, for the desert wilderness permits only the survival of the fittest.

Jack Holt, as Jim Bradler, oil tycoon, who has built up this tremendous industry only to toss it aside as a worn-out plaything, has his usual he-man role, but he portrays it with even more than his customary punch. His love scenes with Fay Wray, a subtle adventurer who, though married, is willing to destroy her home to gratify her love for Holt, are powerful and effective.

OUR PLEDGE TO THE PEOPLE OF MIDLAND

On the opening of our place of business here—

1. To consider our vocation worthy and affording us distinct opportunity to serve society.
2. To realize that we are business people and ambitious to succeed, but we are first an ethical organization and wish no success that is not founded on the highest justice and fairness to our competitors.
3. To use our best endeavors to elevate the standard of the vocation in which we are engaged, and to so conduct our affairs that others in the same vocation may find it wise, profitable and conducive to happiness to emulate our example.
4. To consider no personal success legitimate or ethical which is secured by taking unfair advantage of our competitors.
5. Realizing flowers are tokens of sentiment in times of sorrow as well as times of joy, we will not take advantage of the bereavement of any person to profit thereby by business solicitation, directly or indirectly, allowing the bereaved or their relatives and friends to express their own personal desires.
6. Finally, to conduct our business by the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Signed O. M. Pulliam,

SCHOOL IN TRAFFIC LAW

WASHINGTON (UP) - Washington traffic law violators will, in the future, go to a special school for such miscreants instead of paying fines. If a proposal of the Washington Chamber of Commerce is adopted, "Repeaters" would be kept in school "after hours," the idea being that people eventually will decide it wise to watch their step when driving than to spend all their time in school.

SPLIT NAIL LOST HONOR

DALLAS (UP) - A split finger nail sustained early in his last scheduled game with the Dallas Steers probably kept Henry (Zeke) Bonura from winning the Texas league batting championship. Forced to the bench when a ball struck the end of a finger, Bonura bid his chances goodbye. Everett (Pid) Purdy, San Antonio outfielder, the same night raised his average to .358 to pass Bonura's .357.

BIG SPRING'S 13-13 TIE WITH THE AUSTIN HIGH SCHOOL OF EL PASO IS INDICATION BATTLE WILL BE PUT UP

BY TOM BEASLEY
BIG SPRING, Oct. 5.—Unscathed by their loss to Capitol Hill (Okla.) Sooners class B champions, the Pampa Harvesters will arrive here Friday afternoon for their clash with the Big Spring high school Steers Saturday afternoon in Steer Stadium.

Coach Odus Mitchell locked the field gates Monday at Pampa and is driving his charges through hard, secret practice before taking to bus and car for Big Spring.

The Harvesters, ranked repeatedly as one of the strongest teams of the state, are especially desirous of toppling the Steers. A victory would mean that they would stay close to Amarillo in the dope, the Pampa city team having won its start from El Paso by a lopsided score.

Pampa showed remarkable improvement in their game with Capitol Hill, losing by a 7-4 score. Interest in the game here is mounting daily.

Obie Brislow's lads seemingly go off on the wrong foot this season, but the green material with which he has to work has responded admirably.

Saturday night they gave cause for elation when they tied Austin high school of El Paso 13-13. Built around gangling Olie Corndill, the Steers are rapidly assuming more polish. The Big Spring line, considered better than the high school average is hoped to give the Pampa forward wall thrust for thrust.

Steer hopes received a jolt when it was learned through George Gentry, local high school principal and head of the district, that David "Bud" Bechtel, shrewd Big Spring half back, was ineligible. Gentry said he had been informed that Bechtel failed to pass the required number of subjects where he attended school last year.

Otherwise the Steers are in good shape and are grimly setting the stage for a victory as the home season is inaugurated here Saturday.

out of the SCRUGGS DAIRY MILK BOTTLE

COMES FOOD VALUE

The United States Labor Department suggests that if the food budget is limited twenty-five to thirty cents out of every dollar expended should go for milk or its equivalent. That is because milk contains practically every element necessary for health. And the milk should, for greatest return, be of the fine, unvarying quality in Scruggs Dairy milk.

build new houses of worship in the very near future.

"It would be pleasant to dwell on other features of the town and it would be pleasant to the reader, for Midland is certainly a bird of beautiful plumage, and in her flight to higher pinnacles and new successes, she is as fearless as the soaring eagle which gazes with dauntless eye into the rays of the fiercest sun. However, the interested home-seeker and possible investor will want more of a description of the resources of

The Midland Country

"It is perfectly safe to say that 50 per cent of Midland county and many of the counties adjoining are tillable lands, and productive. The soil is of a rich, red, sandy loam nature, with a heavy clay foundation.

"That it will produce half a bale of cotton to the acre on an average has been proven beyond any question of doubt. 'Soft Cotton' has yielded two-thirds of a bale, and it is well known that one man can cultivate here four to six acres of land to one back east, and do it with less tireless labor.

"Last year one farmer two or three miles from town, A. M. Cobb by name, planted ten acres of cotton. He planted too deep and failed to get a good stand. He went over and replanted in watermelons. In the summer and fall he marketed over $500 worth of watermelons and $200 worth of cotton. A pretty good yield for ten acres is it now, and yet, not one drop of water did this patch get except by rainfall.

"Up new innovations. I ask you, are we men or mice? Is the old pioneer spirit so feebly flickering that our entertainments are to be subjected to the censorship of a bunch of blue-nosed reformers, incapable of appreciating the beauty and artistry of a performance of this sort. 'Evil be to him who evil thinks.'

"On with the dance! Let Patsy do her stuff. The Watson School of Music has offered to supply the musical accompaniment for the dance if the mayor sees fit to grant the permit.

"The P.T.A. wishes to call the public's attention to General Hugh Johnson's dictum that an intensive 'Buy Now' drive will begin next Monday. Buy a hot dog from the P.T.A.—further the cause of education and help bring prosperity back to Midland. There are hundreds of thousands of acres identically the same as this in the Midland country, for sale, too, and ranging in price from $8 to $15. Is this not cheap land? Is there not here a rich field for investment?

Fruits and Vegetables

"California is not expected to be compared with the Midland country in the production of fruit of extra quality and flavor. We have seen single clusters of grapes, with not a faulty grape in them, weighing from two and a half to four pounds. 'No country ever produced finer peaches than this. We have seen and eaten them measuring from eleven to thirteen inches in circumference, and they were as delightfully flavored as one could desire.

"Fruits never fail to mature perfectly. The apple, the pear, the peach and the plum, all in their many varieties, do equally well here, and seem in their natural element for the most perfect development, while the production of the watermelon is the wonder of all comers to the Midland country. We have seen wagon loads of them ranging in weight to 75 pounds, and even bigger than that.

"In the exhibit at the Dallas State Fair this year of the Midland country's farm exhibits, fourteen watermelons shown were of a lot of 50 which averaged 75 pounds to the melon, the largest of the lot weighing 96 pounds and the smallest weighing more than 60. They grew, on 'sod' land which never had a furrow in it before April 1st of this year, and they were ploughed but once after planting.

"Two pumpkins were brought in last fall by the man who grew them. They grew on one vine, and were the largest and smallest of seven that grew on this vine. One weighed 94 pounds and the other 107 pounds. This we know to be true because we saw them weighed.

"One man brought in for the Dallas fair exhibit 33 varieties of farm produce, cotton, corn, milo, maize, kaffir corn, sorghum, peanuts, pumpkins, squashes, potatoes, etc., and these 33 varieties were not all the stuff he raised by a good deal. J. F. Busing was the man. He ranches at Shafter Lake in Andrews county, and he is a ranchman—not a farmer.

"Everyone of these varieties of farm produce would do credit to the richest blackland farms of the east. 'These are a few of the many instances of what the country has and what it will do, and if such proof is not convincing and conclusive, then one must certainly be beyond the power of argument and blind to the knowledge of facts.

"Rainfall
"The rainfall in the Midland country averages from 20 to 26 inches per annum, about 75 per cent of which comes in the crop growing and grass growing seasons, from early spring to fall. The winter season with bundles of clothes.

is not usually accompanied by much rain, and this fact preserves our grasses and insures us against the great loss of stock that would probably result were it otherwise; and

INCREASES AFTER SHOT

Landreth & Llano No. 1 Holt, new northern Ector county sensation, gauged 435 barrels the first 24 hours after being shot Tuesday with 360 quarts, it was reported here late yesterday. The flow was by heads, settling down to approximately twelve barrels an hour afterward.

W. C. Cochran, one of the early cattlemen of Midland, retains a substantial portion of the mineral rights on the tract where the well is located having retained them for a period of twelve years after selling the ranch to O. B. Holt. The production makes his holdings permanent.

"You, all men, are lovers of nature's handwork, and the day has now long gone by since it was known that the West was adorned by a pattern exclusive to the West, and that there are yet secrets hidden in her rich, deep, red sandy loam soil, protected by her thick clay foundation that will one day be laid bare, and astonish the world at large.

"It could not be other than this, for it is in line with the precedent established by the ages. From the drawing of civilization the march of progress has been westward, and as marks of the world have advanced onward and onward, ever toward the Orient, from which they sprang, greater and more wonderful have been the secrets unfolded by nature; and greater and yet greater must they continue to be until the West is no more, until nature's bountiful gifts, built strong to guard her precious secrets, shall have been torn asunder, and her treasures yielded to the comfort of man.

"That day is coming. Already it has dawned in the Midland country, and in the light of this early morn, realities, not fancies, comfort us in images of gold, and all nature sings her song of hope. To the horny-handed sons of the sod, she smiles in sweet witchery, and bids him come and partake of her comforts; to the man of middle circumstances her demureness is indicative of peace and plenty; and to the of wealth she is draped in regal garb, proud of her charms, and her graceful beckoning shimmers in the sunshine, and her welcome is golden."

—By C. O. Watson, Editor Midland Livestock Reporter.

W. H. L. Chesterfields are Milder

TOBACCO to grow, to ripen and become mellow, has to take in or absorb something... not Vitamin D, of course, but something that it gets from the right amount of Sunshine

It's the Southern sunshine you read about, combined with the right sort of climate and moisture, that makes the Carolinas, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, and Virginia the best tobacco country in the world.

You can stand down there in that Southern sunshine and almost see it grow.

This ripe, mellow tobacco is skillfully cured by the farmer. Then, for 30 months, it's aged—just like fine wine.

It takes the right quantity of each kind of these tobaccos, blended and cross-blended—then seasoned with Turkish, to make a milder cigarette. Sunshine helps. Just try it!
